All Big Spring Sales-Conscious As Crusade Starts

Campaign Opened With Stirring Kick-Off Rally

The Crusade is on! There was a "selling" atmosphere in Big Spring today as the city went into its Sales Crusade, given new enthusiasm by a "kick off" rally at St. Steve's stadium Monday night when a crowd of approximately 500 gathered to hear speakers tell of the aims of the movement to voice confidence that Big Spring, like other cities, would achieve a great success.

C. J. Crampton of Dallas, acting postmaster of that city and a recognized authority in chambers of commerce work, sounded the keynote in his talk last night when he declared the Sales Crusade would mean, in the broader sense, a return of confidence.

"The customer can get what he wants," Crampton said, "the merchant will have his share of profit, the employer has his chance at job security, a fair turnover of goods means the building of an America the way we want it to be, and there will be satisfaction for all."

Other speakers at the rally were State Senator G. H. Nelson and Cliff Wiley, local automobile dealer. They, too, stressed the ultimate good due to accrue from a community's coordinated effort for better business. Said Nelson:

"You in Big Spring will get more out of this campaign than just the dollars. Your businessmen will be better acquainted, will come to know better each other's problems. Your sales people and your buyers will reach a better understanding. Your whole community life will be better."

Said Wiley, who gave the crowd a good "pepping up" with a climactic brief inspirational talk:

"It isn't necessary that we all spend a lot of money. Many of us don't have a lot. But it is essential that we all contribute interest, enthusiasm and fellowship for the improvement of our city's business."

It's Anti-Rust Day For Your Radiator Tomorrow

Druggists—and grocers, too—were taking the town for a cleaning Tuesday.

Automobile distributors and accessories dealers planned to continue the campaign Wednesday and make a "clean sweep" of it.

The cleaning was a legitimate sort, for Tuesday was Soap Day and Wednesday was Soap Day and Wednesday was Soap Day and Wednesday was Soap Day.

Whatever the success of Soap Day, automobile dealers were confident that they would enjoy an even greater volume of business in pushing the sale of compounds to prevent rust and corrosion in radiators and engines. Under the slogan of "Cooperate With Your Radiator," the car dealers were to push the sale of inhibitors which check and prevent internal rust and corrosion, thus prolonging the life of radiator and engine. They stressed the fact that the inhibitor would condition the cooling system for induction of antifreezes which will be in use in a few weeks.

Early Tuesday morning drug stores were busy pushing their special day, the first of the Sales Crusade. Every customer who entered the portals of drug establishments was given the old soap talk—and most of them went away with a bar or bundle of soap.

Cliff Wiley had his Little Star Chevrolet force out of every establishment which offered it. Soon he and his cohorts were back with a tub of the later making material to prove that Soap Day and the Sales Crusade were underway.

At the chamber of commerce office, where Mrs. Harry Wilkerson, crusade executive, has headquarters, comment had resolved into "soap sayings." Her desk was littered with assorted brands and shapes. The Crawford coffee shop laid in a generous supply of soap and business men who sent employes out after

SUDETENS DEMAND MARTIAL LAW BE LIFTED AT ONCE

Military Rule Clamped Down After Disorders Resulting From Hitler's Speech; Negotiations Halte d

GENEVA, Sept. 13 (AP)—The official Czechoslovak delegation to the League of Nations announced tonight that information had been received from Prague that the government had rejected the Sudeten German ultimatum and sent additional troops into the Sudeten areas.

PRAGUE, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Sudeten German party presented an ultimatum to the Czechoslovak government at 7:30 p. m. tonight (12:30 p. m. C.S.T.) demanding that the martial law and extraordinary police measures imposed on Sudeten communities be revoked within six hours.

The party in a memorandum to the government stated that if martial law continued it could not "be responsible for developments."

The Sudeten demand came as the climax of a day which saw emergency measures imposed on eight Sudeten communities following disorders in which at least eight persons were killed.

Earlier Czechoslovak army tanks had rumbled through the streets of Eger, Sudeten community within three miles of the German frontier, where a huge swastika—prohibited in Czechoslovakia—had been raised above the town hall by Sudetens celebrating Adolf Hitler's speech in Nurnberg.

Sudetens leaders declared that all negotiations with the Czechoslovak government for settlement of their dispute had been broken off.

"There has been no formal notice that discussions have ceased, but there can be no conversations in this atmosphere," said Oscar Ullrich, the party's propaganda chief.

"Our committee does not intend to approach the government again.

"It is impossible to talk reasonably with people who argue with bullets."

From all parts of the aroused Sudeten region reports of clashes—aftermath of Adolf Hitler's Nurnberg speech last night and the resulting Sudeten celebrations—poured into the party's Prague headquarters, which seethed with indignation and activity.

Although the government listed only eight killed, Sudeten chieftains insisted there were at least a dozen.

A party headquarters on Horská street was guarded by grim-faced Sudeten fighters.

Until now the party has been demanding territorial autonomy but tonight there was increasing insistence on a plebiscite in the Sudeten regions.

Most of the disturbances occurred during the night and in the early morning before martial law was ordered, the most serious being at Ausgig, Grullitz and Kaden, all Sudeten strongholds.

The dead included four Sudetens, a Czech soldier, two policemen and a Czech civilian.

Widespread minor disturbances resulted in a number of persons being injured. Instances of Sudetens attacking public buildings and crossing the frontier into Germany added to the worries of the government.

A responsible government source said the government would extend martial law to all other Sudeten areas and throughout the entire republic if necessary to preserve order.

No Liberalizing Of Gambling Or Liquor Laws, Says Demo Keynoter

O'DANIEL APPEALS FOR FULL SUPPORT FOR HIS POLICY ON HIKING OLD AGE PENSIONS

BEAUMONT, Sept. 13 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, Texas' future governor, appealed for united support of his old age pension, poll tax abolition and state industrialization programs in an address today at the state democratic convention.

The party's standard bearer did not say how he proposed to raise the pension money other than through governmental economies and increasing the state's wealth and withheld disclosure of his stand on several important issues. He made no reference to the national democratic administration.

Adequate old age pension payments, he reiterated, should be the first order of business at the legislative session starting January 10.

"We must cheerfully accept our duty," he said, "to tenderly provide for the care of the sick, the crippled and those unfortunate people who lack some of the essentials of a complete and healthy body and mind.

"A growing tendency of our advanced civilization has been to relegate our aged citizens to a place of inactivity in our commercial life, and many of them have been unprepared for this emergency. Our constitution has been amended to indicate a desire to care for these aged citizens, and it is now high time that the spirit of the law be respected.

"Therefore, in fairness to these aged citizens many of whom have given their lives to the development of Texas and in response to a mandate of the electorate, it is imperative that we provide for the prompt payment of their pensions, and I plead with all those upon whom the responsibility falls to make this first order of business of the next legislature, and solicit the unselfish spirit of all on the other end of the line to get this problem settled promptly and according to the law and will of the people."

O'Daniel, who was unable to vote for himself because he had not paid his poll tax, condemned that tax in the following language:

"Changes wrought by the passing of time, conditions brought on by depression, and accumulation of restrictions throughout the years have reached a point where free democracy is endangered."

New Deal Policies Not Altogether Acceptable

BEAUMONT, Sept. 13 (AP)—A keynote of unyielding opposition to liberalization of the Texas gambling or liquor laws and of implied censure of some new deal actions was sounded at the Texas democratic convention today.

V. A. Collins of Livingston, keynoter at the party convocation dominated by governor-nominee W. Lee O'Daniel, pledged that "there shall be no liberalization of the liquor and gambling laws but if anything they shall be made stricter."

The aging former state senator said the democracy of Texas "reserve unto ourselves the right to exercise judgment on the wisdom of national policies without being subjected to a party purge."

"The position taken by me on the new deal," he told his fellow democrats, "is not a test of his democracy and never should be. x x x We are unwilling to surrender state sovereignty in re-creation for any offer Washington can make."

The temporary chairman added however, that the democracy of the nation should be congratulated upon "the forward move" in relieving old age and unemployment insecurity and Texas would cooperate in efforts to banish poverty and distress.

"Strike from the federal constitution and our state constitution the bill of rights," he warned, "and what has happened in Russia, Germany and Italy may happen here. Allow our courts to become intimidated by public opinion or executive or legislative domination, so they refuse boldly to interpret the bill of rights in their proper conception and then a law abridging the right of religious freedom or the right of petition may be enforced in our own country, x x x"

"What our divisions about the organic law—the division of the government into the three branches, its limitations upon the powers of each branch—must be the true test of his democracy. Tested by his faith in and his adherence to the constitution, he may be a 'new dealer' insofar as the 'new deal' does not conflict with the constitution. The 'new deal' may be more efficiently administered in Germany, Italy or Russia than in the United States but the constitution of the United States would receive no consideration there. One may be a democrat and espouse or oppose the 'new deal' but he cannot be a democrat and be a communist or fascist. He cannot be a democrat and believe one-man rule; he cannot be a democrat and worship at the shrine of Stalin or

Tydings Has Wide Margin Over Lewis

Democrats Lose In All Contests In Maine Election

(By The Associated Press)

Democrats lost their fight today to unseat four republican officials in Maine, and the Roosevelt administration apparently was being beaten in its attempt to defeat Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland.

GOP Wins In Maine

In the year's first election, Maine voters gave clearest indications to Gov. Lewis O. Barrons and Representatives James C. Oliver, Clyde H. Smith and Ralph O. Brewster. They had done the same thing in 1936, when the state was one of two which President Roosevelt lost.

Although new dealers had held some hope of winning at least one of those Maine offices, they were disheartened principally by the growing lead of Senator Tydings in the Maryland democratic primary.

The 48-year old senator, whom Mr. Roosevelt had denounced as a "traitor" of the new deal, was running ahead of Rep. David J. Lewis in most of the state. Returns from more than one-third of the precincts gave Tydings 119,168 and Lewis 81,999.

In several counties on the eastern shore, where Mr. Roosevelt praised Lewis as a pioneer in social legislation, Tydings was rolling up leads of two and three to one. He also was ahead in four of six voting districts in Baltimore. A third candidate, Arthur E. Hungerford, trailed.

The popular vote in Maryland does not actually determine the party choices. These will be made later in a convention in which each county and each Baltimore election district has from three to seven

Wooten Boy Death Victim

Succumbs To Brain Ailment; Rites In Abilene Wednesday

Horace W. Wooten Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wooten of Big Spring, died at 2:35 a. m. this morning in an Abilene hospital.

He had undergone two delicate surgeries since Saturday for removal of a brain tumor. Mrs. Wooten had taken him to Abilene Friday for treatment.

For three years the boy—known popularly as "Sonny"—had suffered from the ailment and underwent his first operation in 1935.

His father is in charge of the W. & E. Production Co., operators here and was the grandson of H. O. Wooten, Abilene wholesale grocer and capitalist.

Besides his parents, the lad is survived by one sister, Sarah Catharine Wooten.

Funeral services were set for 10 a. m. Wednesday at the Episcopal church in Abilene, with the Rev. Willis P. Gerhart, rector, in charge. Burial was to be in an Abilene cemetery.

On learning of the boy's death, Mrs. Howard Barrett, Mrs. Marvin House and Mrs. R. W. Whipkey, close friends of the family, left for Abilene. Other friends were expected to leave here early Wednesday to attend last rites.

Murder Case Nearing Jury

Arguments Being Heard In Trial Of W. J. Short

Arguments of attorneys in the W. J. Short case were to be heard in 70th district court Tuesday afternoon, and indications were that the fate of the man charged with murder while in commission of a felony would be left up to the jury about 4:30 p. m.

The court recessed shortly before noon for Judge Charles Klapproth to prepare his charge, which he planned to read at 1:30 p. m.

Short was billed for the death of a Mexican near Coahoma last November. The state charged that he was driving while intoxicated at the time of the crash which resulted in the Mexican's death. This the defense denied.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Leith Morris, district director for the Texas Liquor Control board, was to be removed from the Big Spring hospital to his home Tuesday afternoon.

Injured in a car accident near Corsicana Saturday, Morris was brought back here for treatment of a shoulder injury. He spent a restful night Monday.

Arabs React To Hitler's Speech

JERUSALEM, Sept. 13 (AP)—Jubilant Arab reaction today to Adolf Hitler's references to Palestine foreshadowed increased resistance to government in this troubled British mandate.

"Now we are not without friends in Europe," an Arab spokesman said. "Our ultimate success as a nation lies in the hands of Hitler and Mussolini and not in Britain and France."

This was one response to Hitler's assertion at Nurnberg yesterday that "poor Arabs are defenseless and left in the lurch."

PROMINENT NEW YORK WOMAN IS DEAD OF GAS POISONING

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Harold C. Strots, 49, socially prominent mother of young Jay Gould, the great grandson of the famous railroad builder of the 19th century, died today in her Park Avenue apartment of illuminating gas poisoning.

Emergency rescue crews, called when she was found unconscious in the kitchen with gas the police said, pouring from five jets, had worked vainly for more than four hours to save her life.

Six tanks of oxygen were used in the vain attempt to revive her. When she died, a crowd was gathered outside the apartment, attracted by the concentration of ambulances and police emergency trucks.

Detective Frank Crimmins began an investigation to make an official determination of the manner of death. A sealed note addressed "To Jay" was found in the apartment.

Young Jay Gould was understood to be in Hollywood.

Mrs. Strots was found lying on the kitchen floor by her husband, who had been in another room. He called a physician living in the same building and carried his wife into a bedroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Strots also maintained a home in Hollywood and it was said at the Park Avenue apartment building that they had returned only yesterday from California.

NAZIS BITTER OVER INCIDENTS

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—A Nazi spokesman today called the action of Czechoslovakia in imposing martial law on eight Sudeten German communities as "outright provocation."

Nazis generally expressed bitterness over developments in Sudeten areas following last night's speech by Adolf Hitler at Nurnberg pledging aid to the Sudetens.

"They took the position that the clamping on of martial law and the deaths of three persons—said

BRITISH DEFENSE CHIEFS MEET

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Britain's four defense ministers were called suddenly into conference today with Prime Minister Chamberlain, who earlier had summoned a full cabinet meeting for tomorrow to consider the Central European crisis.

As the heads of the fighting services assembled at 10 Downing street, it was considered virtually certain they had been called to confer on extraordinary military measures.

They were confronted by deepening European tension, arising from today's disorders in Czechoslovakia and the threats of Adolf Hitler's speech at Nurnberg last night.

STOCKS BREAK ON WAR SCARE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A burst of selling in late dealings swept stocks sharply lower today as news from Czechoslovakia in the German minority dispute kept the market extremely nervous.

Offerings, so heavy the ticker for a time was swamped, knocked the props from under leading shares, making a complete reversal from an early upsurge. Many shares fell 1 to 5 or more under the previous close.

After overnight study of Hitler's Nurnberg speech, financial centers seemed to get a momentary feeling of relief on the assumption it had not changed the immediate prospects for war or peace. However,

LABOR LEADER FIGHTS CONTEMPT CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (AP)—Winning dismissal of one contempt count, Harry Bridges, Pacific Coast CIO leader, defended himself today against another involving a telegram in which he referred to a court decision as "outrageous."

His telegram, addressed to Secretary of Labor Perkins, said also a coast shipping "tie up" might result if the case involving an AFL-CIO dispute over control of the San Pedro hiring hall continued to go against the CIO.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey moved the studio to the present location which was formerly the Maumlin place. The building, which is 31 years old, has been made into a modern and up-to-date place and is ideal for a studio.

The exhibit is to be held from 9 a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. of each day. Portraits made by outstanding photographers from all over the world will be on display as will those of Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey.

Legion Men Hurt In Traffic Crash

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ralph W. Van Zella, 40, of Gulf Port, Miss., was in a critical condition at the station hospital, Fort Sam Houston, and seven other American Legionnaires from Mississippi were nursing injuries today as the result of a traffic accident two miles west of Schulenburg.

Three of the seven were hospitalized here. They are L. J. Lemoux, 42, of Gulf Port, finance officer for the Voltura No. 251, of the Gulf Port American Legion Post No. 119, possible internal injuries; H. N. Allen, 42, of Gulf Port, head injury and possible fractured ribs, and J. S. Gabibi, 40, of Gulf Port, fractured upper left arm and shoulder.

WATER ENGINEERS TO REPORT ON THE COLORADO FLOOD

AUSTIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—The state board of water engineers will be ready to report next week to a Texas senate committee investigating the part played by the federally-financed Buchanan dam in the crop-ruining July Colorado river flood.

Board Chairman C. S. Clark said yesterday state engineers were finishing a survey "covering essentials" but would not reveal whether the report would corroborate the Lower Colorado River Authority's claims the dam diminished the flow of water or would support charges by others it caused the flood.

Less Long-Staple Cotton Is Being Grown In The Mississippi Delta

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 13 (AP)—Cotton is still the supreme monarch of the Mississippi delta but the king's fleece is being trimmed.

More and more as the irrigated lands of the west have been turned to the growth of long staple cotton, the planters of the delta have been shortening their staple. Where forty per cent of the delta was planted to long staple cotton as recently as six years ago, less than ten per cent of its acreage will grow a staple longer than one and one eighth inches this year.

Many mills that once used long staple from the delta now spin California cotton. They say they get about the same results so far as the breaking strength of the threads is concerned. And that is what determines how long a garment will wear.

Not the least factor in their change from delta to California cotton is that the California fleece sells for about five dollars a bale cheaper than delta. Delta cotton men say that many mills have been using the threat of western competition to hammer down the premiums paid for delta staple.

The planters have found that they can grow about a hundred pounds more lint to the acre by planting seeds of a little shorter staple. In that way they get an extra bale of cotton off every five acres. That more than balances the higher price they would get for the long staple.

Portrait Display To Be Featured As Kelsey Studio Holds Open House At Remodeled Studio

At top is the remodeled house at 800 Kunnels street, the former Maumlin home which has been renewed throughout to become a modern home for the Kelsey Studio. Below are Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Kelsey, owners. They are holding a formal opening Wednesday and Thursday, with a display of outstanding photographic portraits.

The public is invited to attend an exhibit at the Kelsey studio, 800 Kunnels, Wednesday and Thursday of outstanding portraits from the American Association of Photographers along with a collection of local pictures made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Kelsey, owners of the studio.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey moved the studio to the present location which was formerly the Maumlin place. The building, which is 31 years old, has been made into a modern and up-to-date place and is ideal for a studio.

The exhibit is to be held from 9 a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. of each day. Portraits made by outstanding photographers from all over the world will be on display as will those of Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey.

Unusual pictures of children, girls and character studies of old men and women from England, Scotland, Illinois, Missouri, New Mexico and Texas are in the exhibit. A collection of the local photographers' work will also be on display including two of their studies which were accepted by Scotland, England and Czechoslovakia salons.

The new studio is equipped with a dark room, work room and reception room. The reception room is artistically arranged with modernistic furniture and the predominant colors are maroon and blue.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey invite the public to inspect their new location and they are especially anxious that all attend the exhibition either of the two days.

Unusual pictures of children, girls and character studies of old men and women from England, Scotland, Illinois, Missouri, New Mexico and Texas are in the exhibit. A collection of the local photographers' work will also be on display including two of their studies which were accepted by Scotland, England and Czechoslovakia salons.

Annally Calls for A United Democracy

Must Combat Both Fascism And Communism, Texans Told

MONT, Sept. 13 (AP)—United States Senator Tom Connally said today in accepting permanent chairmanship of the democratic convention that if the democratic concept was preserved it must be done in the United States.

Europe and in other foreign lands, forces of fascism and communism are in bitter struggle. Both are enemies of constitutional government," he said. "Both are enemies of representative government. Both would subvert the fundamental principles of democracy. Each alike is a galling enemy. Both are odious despots."

Democratic party must combat both fascism and communism. It is the champion of freedom. It is the enemy of tyranny. Whether emanating from a master or from the madness of a mob.

Champion of the People. Along as the democrats of the United States love liberty, as long as they believe in government by the people under a constitution, so will the democratic party serve and to triumph over any fascist and the wild theories and practices of communism and socialism.

Annally lauded the democratic as the "embattled champion of the people," said it always has been the great liberal party of the United States and praised the nomination of President Roosevelt.

purpose is to protect those cannot protect themselves; wide guarantees of economic freedom, as political freedom," he said.

purpose is to secure to every man and woman their economic rights as against the few and the strong. GOP "Routed"

Annally asserted the democratic party believed in the liberal and progressive, advancing reform of the "constitutional processes" which such reforms can be accomplished.

declared the "traditional enemy of the republican party" has routed and ingloriously defeated, discredited and scattered, the democratic party "under and sagacious leadership may use in power for a quarter of a century."

accomplish this end," Connally said, "the democratic party remain united. Its forces must be divided. A divided force does not win a war. No new party under any pleasing or any pretext, can destroy the party of those who adhere to the mental concepts and the traditions of the democracy."

MISTRIAL A MAJOR SETBACK FOR DEWEY; MAY FORCE A NEW TRIAL FOR HINES

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Because of a 14-word question, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey must begin all over again his attempt to convict Tammany district leader James J. Hines of selling political protection to the underworld.

Justice Ferdinand E. Pecora ordered a mistrial yesterday on the grounds that the youthful prosecutor by a verbal slip had "fatally prejudiced" the jury against the white-haired political boss.

The decision nullified four weeks of exciting testimony by which Dewey had sought to prove that Hines had served as political "fixer" for the multi-million dollar policy racket operated by the late gangster, Dutch Schultz.

It was certain, however, that Dewey, smarting under his most serious rebuff since he began his career in racket "busting," would force another trial. Whether or not he would seek a new indictment remained unknown.

In no event did it seem possible that the prosecutor—who on the basis of his courtroom record has been boomed by many republicans for the gubernatorial nomination although he himself never has said he would accept—could re-try Hines before the party's state convention at Saratoga Springs on Sept. 28 and 29.

Thus, at the time the party meets to pick its ticket Dewey is almost certain to be still deeply involved in the affairs of his own office.

The "break" that ended the first trial came last Saturday as Dewey was cross-examining Lyon Boston, former assistant district attorney. Questioning Boston on the testimony given by William Fellows Morgan, Jr., city commissioner of markets, before a special grand jury, Dewey asked:

"Don't you remember any testimony about Hines and the poultry racket there by him?"

The defense immediately demanded a mistrial.

economic setup."

Last night's meeting was the formal start of the Sales Crusade, staged for public appreciation following weeks of organization on a business classification basis. Then today, the drug store group was sponsoring its "Soap Day," and bars of soap of all kinds—were going like the proverbial hot cakes. There will be special days throughout the campaign.

Ben Cole, general chairman of the Crusade, presided at the rally. J. W. Malone, chairman of commerce president, introduced the speakers. Music was furnished by the Drifters, popular string band, and by the Big Spring high school band.

Crampton, who played a prominent part in the success of the Crusade at Dallas, outlined the general aims of the movement. It is to combat, he said, the "vicious circle" of trade in which buying is lessened, merchants in turn purchase less from wholesalers and factories and these in turn reduce employment until the producer is affected. It is to substitute the "happy circle," wherein more retail purchases mean more wholesale volume, more jobs, and better business for the producer. There, he said, is the keynote.

"Sales Mean Jobs,"

"The Crusade," Crampton said, "is miraculous in the way it gives the people confidence, brings satisfaction and pleasure to the buyer as well as the seller and develops a spirit of victory and satisfaction in cooperative effort."

"The purchaser gets a satisfaction in buying what he wants, at the same time contributing to the good of his whole community."

"Study your real and legitimate needs," Crampton said, "you can find those needs satisfied by participating in the Sales Crusade. A dollar you spend in Big Spring will be a dollar circulating here, to help trade in some 20 sources. This means a profit to your own people, and thus a profit to your whole community."

Nelson praised the spirit of the Sales Crusade as that for a better fellowship in the community. "It's fine to stimulate sales," he said, "but it is finer to live in a community where all can work together to overcome troubles and improve the mutual lot. The highest recommendation to be given for any community is that its people enjoy living and enjoy living together. The Sales Crusade develops that spirit."

Wiley climaxed the meeting with a rousing talk: "Our chins are up. Texas is the whitest spot on the business map and Big Spring ranks at the top in Texas. There are buyers here—of automobiles, of hats, of bacon, of soap. They are ready to cooperate and sellers are ready to cooperate. We'll all get out of this program just what we put into it. Let's go!"

TOURIST CAMP CABIN DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire destroyed a cabin at the O'Brien camp, 1101 W. 3rd street, Tuesday morning.

small purchases found they invariably came back with soap.

Mrs. Williamson urged all Tuesday to report to her on the number of units sold. A survey at noon indicated that the bars distributed would run well into four figures.

Food stores will have a special day during the Crusade, Lawrence Robinson, chairman of the classification, said. He called a meeting of that division for 8 p. m. Wednesday in the chamber of commerce office. The day and article to be pushed will be selected as well as an organization of retail grocers accomplished.

Addition of 23 firms to the list cooperating in the Sales Crusade brought the number to 107 Tuesday noon. Mrs. Williamson said that those subscribing had contributed a total of $378.85 to date. Many more firms were expected to join in the sales campaign within the next few days.

Firms subscribing Tuesday were Walker Smith (grocers), W. L. Crenshaw Food Store, Whitman's Food Store, Piggy Wiggy, Pool's Food Store, Linek's Food Stores, Cabaness Grocery Co., D. G. Hiller; he cannot be a democrat and ignore the legal rights of individuals and minorities.

"Jefferson, the great founder of modern democracy, said: 'That people are best governed who are least governed.'"

Later in his address Collins said that "the democracy of Texas is not adverse to a permanent policy of making public improvements with public funds paid to the unemployed, but it wants to see a dollar's worth of public improvement for every dollar expended, and 'we pledge the democracy of Texas to see that no one so unfortunate as to have to accept such employment shall ever be intimidated to voting against his judgment and will under the orders of some political hireling.'" gered by a minimum of our citizens expressing themselves at the polls. To correct this condition I am firmly convinced that the Erie-Tag which has been placed on the right of our citizens to vote for the candidate of their choice should be taken off. The amount of revenue from the sale of poll tax receipts according to our school system is so small compared to the enormous amount of money we now spend for education that it can well be replaced by taxation from some other source.

The governor-nominate said his program for industrializing Texas was not "a theory" but "a sound and practical plan of business development which can be carried out just as definitely as the carpenter follows the architect's plans in building a house."

"One of our greatest natural undeveloped resources," he asserted, "is the purchasing power of six million Texas citizens. These citizens have promised to buy products and merchandise manufactured and grown in Texas whenever available, quality and price being satisfactory."

"This promised patronage is the seed which will produce the factories which in turn will industrialize Texas, never before in history have such golden opportunities existed for capitalists and industrialists as now exists, with six million customers standing in line waiting to buy their products."

O'Daniel told the convention that "education must continue to advance; labor must be properly respected; agriculture must be encouraged; water conservation and flood control must be fostered; law and order maintained."

"All unnecessary governmental expenses," he said, "should be eliminated and greater economies practiced in the essential departments, in order that relief may be brought to our overburdened taxpayers."

Georgians watched the Maryland race for any hearing it might have on their own primary tomorrow, in which Senator Walter J. George also is seeking renomination over the president's opposition.

George is running against Lawrence S. Camp, Mr. Roosevelt's choice, and former Governor Eugene Talmadge. William G. McRae, backed by advocates of the Townsend old-age pension program, withdrew from the field last night and gave his support to Camp.

Voters in Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Utah, Vermont and Washington picked senatorial candidates today. In none of those states, however, was the new deal an issue. Most of the incumbents had little or no opposition within their own parties.

Another primary, in Louisiana, gave voters an opportunity to ratify the state democratic organization's selection of Senator John H. Overton for renomination.

Interest in Michigan's primary centered in the renomination campaign of Governor Frank Murphy, democrat, whom President Roosevelt said he supported as he did all other liberals.

South Carolinians voted in a run-off primary for democratic nominees for governor and three house seats.

Civil rights were strictly limited. Parades were forbidden and the freedom of speech was limited.

Under the emergency laws, a commission of four judges would have power to impose the death penalty for disturbances of the peace. A unanimous decision by the commission would order hanging mandatory within two hours after the sentence was pronounced.

Persons condemned to death for political disturbances were entitled to appeal to the president for clemency, but there was to be no extension of the two-hour period before execution.

The commission of judges was to move from town to town accompanied by a priest, doctor, executioner and the latter's assistants.

The Huddlers—

TWO'S A CROWD around such a lamp!

"Huddling" is perfectly proper on the football field, but it isn't so nice when all the family has to huddle around one reading lamp, just because someone forgot to get a fresh supply of lamp globes. Light is one of the smallest items of household expense, and really there is no reason to crowd around one lamp when you can have all the light you need for only a few cents a day more.

FOR TABLE LAMPS

You'll find that lamp bulbs of 100-watt or 150-watt size will give the best light for reading or studying under a table lamp.

FOR I. E. S. BETTER SIGHT LAMPS

Be sure to use the same size and type of lamp bulb in I. E. S. lamps that they originally contained to give you the best lighting results.

BRIGHTEN YOUR KITCHEN

You need a good light in the kitchen, and a 100-watt or 150-watt size will provide enough light to make seeing easier and to enable you to work better.

REDDY KILOWATT SAYS:

It's easy to buy lamp globes these days. They are cheaper and you can get them in assorted sizes at drug stores, grocery stores, as well as other stores which sell electric appliances. Put lamp globes on your shopping list and keep a supply on hand to replace burned-out bulbs.

HALF-PINT BOSSY GIVES UP A PINT—and then some—to Farmer Otto Gray who raises midget cows near Stillwater, Okla. The usual milk stool was too high, so Mr. Gray sits on a tiller; even the pail seems a runt size. TO GET REAL LOWDOWN on bossy, Mrs. Frances Gray measures one of cows raised by her father-in-law, Otto Gray, near Stillwater, with a yardstick. Gray has eight midget cows, averaging 400 pounds, and hopes that his herd will eat half as much and produce just as much milk.

GOVERNMENT AND PRIVATE UTILITIES

An offer by the Texas Power & Light Company to sell all its electric transmission and distribution facilities in sixteen Central Texas counties to the Lower Colorado River Authority is denounced by the latter organization. It is to be taken under consideration and followed by negotiations to determine the several factors involved in the proposal. John W. Carpenter, president of the electric company, pointed out the necessity for selling not less than all its facilities in the sixteen counties if it is to retire from the field, and proposed that the LCRA reimburse the company only for the actual cost of the transferred properties. How that cost may be determined is one of the puzzling problems in connection with the matter.

The Texas Power & Light Company admittedly is "on the spot" in the Central Texas area, contiguous to the great power projects controlled by the government. It is instructed by the River Authority that the projects are primarily for flood control and water conservation, although power production seems to be the principal purpose of the multi-million dollar investment. Regardless of that controversy as to original design of the projects, however, the electric company is confronted by a situation that offers little choice between difficulties certain to be encountered. It can not purchase low-cost power from the Authority because of a ruling that its power can be sold only to municipalities or cooperatives. It must, therefore either sell its properties to the Authority or enter competition with it. Under such circumstances a sale probably is preferable.

The value of the Colorado dams and reservoirs for protection against floods is yet to be demonstrated. The July floods may have been caused by bungling in the construction of the reservoirs, or by rainfall far beyond the calculated volume, and may not be repeated during the next hundred years. One's opinion of that phase of the controversy is likely to be colored by his prejudice for or against the projects. The production of electric power in the Central Texas area, however, whether it is to be regarded merely as a byproduct or as the major function of the huge government-operated project, brings to Texas a situation not unlike that long existing at Muscle Shoals and other big projects of that type. Privately owned power companies, generally victorious in their purely local contests with municipally owned power plants, now must seek a defense against a broad governmental program which jeopardizes whole systems of electric power production and distribution. One of the biggest and most essential industries in America thus is threatened with destruction at a moment when the government is doing its utmost to preserve many other industries that have encountered unusual difficulties in their operations. —(Brownwood Bulletin).

BOOMERANG OF A MYTH

The greatest weakness of government propaganda is that its makers become its worst victims. Repeating for years the viewpoint and the formula designed to appeal to the masses, those who use the words they have believed in, often long after those for whom they were spoken have begun to doubt. Furthermore the machine which they create to prevent the expression of any contrary ideas, to shut out any facts which are not in harmony with the prevailing ideology and program, operates against its makers, because they, too, become isolated from the knowledge of which may eventually be necessary to their own survival.

The two speeches of Hitler at Nuremberg, one read, the other delivered, illustrate this. In both of them Hitler presented himself to the German people as a Man of Destiny who, in Germany itself, has worked a miracle. The argument is put forward that through faith and blind obedience insuperable difficulties have been overcome inside Germany, and that through the same faith and blind obedience, under inspired leadership, the Nazi cause can be buried as entirely ineffective and definitely beyond Germany's present boundaries.

In the first speech—the one made of Germany "capitulating." No one miracle that destiny worked on us. At the beginning of this miracle stood belief. And in this speech he assured the German people that the idea of blockading Germany can be buried as an entirely ineffective and definitely beyond Germany's ready self-sufficient in peace or in war.

In the second speech—the one delivered Friday—he again emphasized that the cause of National Socialism itself was, at the outset, pronounced "hopeless," that it had to withstand "the onslaught of a world of enemies," that nevertheless it emerged victorious; and the conclusion is drawn that victory is one of its elements.

Addressing his party henchmen, he said: "Never during those fifteen years (the years of the party's existence) did you ever question the future, and, above all, you unflinchingly gave me your confidence." And the blindest Germany is advised of those fifteen years, which he described as "miraculous," he asserts, "Germany will capitulate to no one."

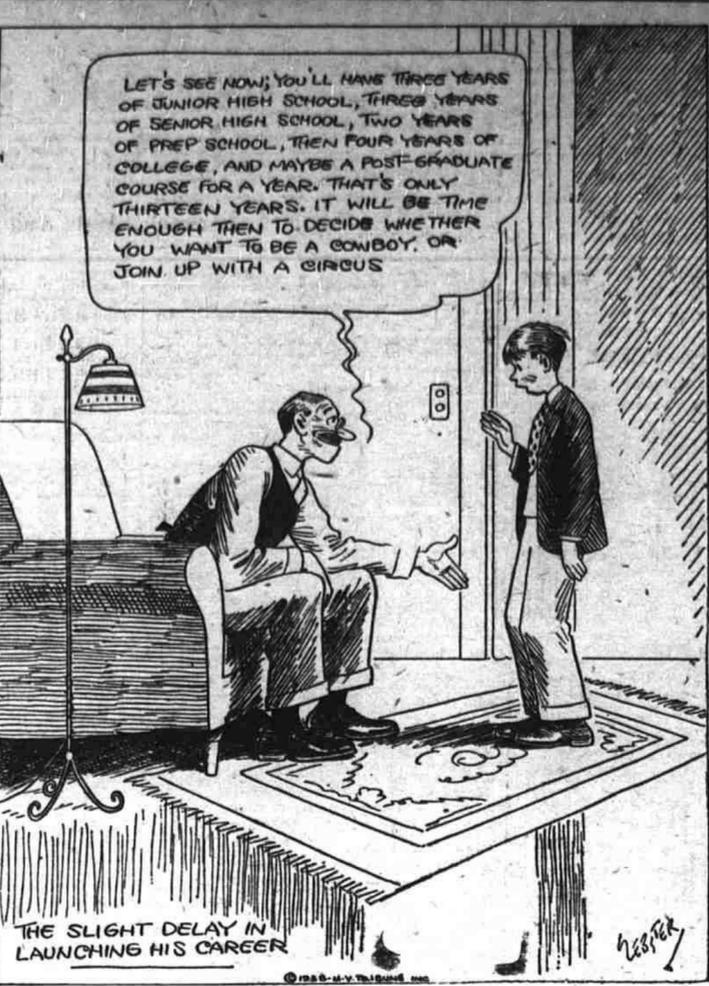

Paraphrasing it, it ought to be pointed out that there is no question of willingness of the great democracies is attacking Germany. Germany is attacking another state, whose sovereignty she wishes to destroy, and the issue is whether the Czechs will be forced to capitulate by the unwillingness of the great democracies to undertake the full responsibilities of their treaties.

But the use of the phrase in Hitler's mouth is another demonstration of the extent to which his own propaganda has warped the mind of the German dictator and his subservient followers.

For five years a myth has been built up under which Germany is miraculously protected by destiny and divine leadership, and under which any opposition to this divine leadership and inevitable destiny constitutes aggression.

And the blindest belief in the myth is in the mind of the Leader himself. In the process of making the German people impervious to any other opinion and to any contradictory facts, the dictator has convinced himself. This conviction goes so far that he actually believes for him to believe that the world will be impressed by the morality of his defense of the rights of minorities, despite the fact that he has set a standard of brutality for history in his treatment of the Jewish minority in his own country; despite the fact that in the newly acquired "Czechia"—former Austria—men and women are committing suicide at the rate of hundreds a week. It is actually possible for him to believe that the world will be outraged by the imprisonment of men openly conspiring to destroy the Czechoslovak Republic with the aid of German propaganda and German arms, and not be outraged by the thousands of political prisoners in German concentration camps, most of whom are guilty of nothing regarded as a crime by any Western power. Because the rape of Austria was successful, and universally hailed inside Germany, Hitler, possessed by his own myth, is able to discount the effect of that coup on the outside world. There is no question, however, that it profoundly changed the atmosphere in Great Britain. It is responsible for the fact that the Archbishop of Canterbury, whose power over British opinion was illustrated in the constitutional crisis over Edward VIII, has reversed his position that the formerly loyal House of Lords—that Central Europe was none of Great Britain's business—to the extent of ordering prayers throughout Christendom for the victims of German persecution in Austria. The experience of Austria is responsible for the radical change in the attitude of Lord Halifax, the British Foreign Minister.

Life's Darkest Moment

THE SLIGHT DELAY IN LAUNCHING HIS CAREER

Again, the profound belief in his own myth permits him to make the statement that Germany is already self-sufficient in time of war. Even the United States government, heading a country so overwhelmingly richer in resources, would hesitate to make any such statement. There is not an experienced general—including Hermann Goering—and not a responsible economist—including Dr. Schacht—who would dare to make such a statement. But the myth which is the basis of fifteen years of propaganda must be supported.

According to this propaganda, Germany did not lose the last war, after an incredibly heroic fight, because of the overwhelming military and economic line-up against her, but was defeated by a "knife thrust in the back" from Jews and Socialists at home, and by the false policies of the Kaiser's Reich, which in Nazi ideology was almost as bad as the German Reich which followed it.

The inexorable conclusion which follows logically from this propaganda is that, freed of Jews and Socialists, Germany cannot again be defeated by the same combination of powers.

Now, the most experienced military leaders of Germany do not believe this myth at all. But they cannot express themselves to the German people in any effective manner. A Nazi military leader like General von Metzsch can say, "I was not hungry, nor lack of food, but merely a lack of spirit and the right kind of propaganda" that defeated Germany in the last war. Like General Marx, who shared his men's ration during that war, realizes that this sort of propaganda is a criminal misleading of the German youth, who, if there should be another war, would have to fight.

Hitler, who criticized the German propaganda in the last war for minimizing the danger, is now so far the victim of his own propaganda that he makes the same mistake.

In this respect the democracies have the overwhelming advantage of being much more closely in touch with realities. They are supported by no myth of miraculous predestination. They know that war is a horrible and not a glorious thing, and that its risks are incalculable, not matter what the outcome. If they are forced to go to war for sheer self-preservation they will go with no enthusiasm. But if they go, they will go with a more certain democratic unity than Germany can be sure of. They will go only when the last possibility of negotiation and compromise has been exhausted, after every viewpoint has been weighed by everybody.

And that which is their apparent weakness—the necessity of having voluntary support from their people, on the basis of realistically considered facts—will prove to be their strength in the long run. For wars are fought with arms and men and food, and only incidentally with myths.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Frank Harling—the chubby fellow with the blue beret glued to his head for neuralgia's sake—is one musician who gives credit where credit is due.

It wasn't his music that started his career, he insists, but the fact that an exuberant foreign maestro kissed him smack on both cheeks after a performance. By the time the story got around it was a hundred foreign maestros.

Harling is writing music again for New York producer Arthur Hopkins, and that's a story. The play is "Heritage," and Hopkins wants the musical score—for a legitimate play!—recorded on sound track.

But the story isn't that. It all began long before Harling had ever met Hopkins, or Hopkins had ever heard of Harling. The musician had been conducting, arranging and doing other musical chores for Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske for seven years when he decided he wanted to compose a grand opera. He needed a libretto. Said Mrs. Fiske: "I wrote a one-act play that Bertha Kallach has been playing in vaudeville for three years. It ought to be just '—' thing."

The Italian composer Puccini, however, had an option on the operatic rights. When Puccini did "Belasco's 'Girl of the Golden West'" instead and didn't exercise the option, Harling took it over. Mrs. Fiske and her husband, Harrison Gray Fiske, did the libretto.

The Metropolitan rejected the opera, but the Chicago Civic took it on. Ross Raisa starred, and Christinas saw the opening of "A Light from St. Agnes." Harling conducted—and flat broke, too," he says.

After the success of "Deep River" in 1927 Harling's trail to Hollywood was clear. He's been scoring, with few intermissions, ever since. It's his music you'll be hearing in "Men With Wings."

Nine years ago Paramount had the play, "Come Out of the Kitchen," and wanted to film it as a musical. Harling was assigned to the score. Wesley Ruggles directing. It was all done and one day Ruggles said, "Well, I'm thinking we've got a turkey on our hands."

That was Harling's cue. "I've got a hot tune," he said.

Ruggles heard it. At once they began building a new set—a Mississippi swamp three blocks long. But they still didn't have any lyrics. They wanted something a whole chorus of negro slaves could sing in that three-block swamp.

They staged the number to Sam Coslow's lyrics—and the picture, called "Honey," was saved.

But that song today, nine years later, is a hit. It's billed as coming from the Elting Crosby and Ruggles, the same title, directed by the same Ruggles. Ruggles liked the song as a title, but except in the overture, it isn't heard in "Sing You Sinners" at all.

horrible dresses with waist lines that caught them low at the hips. There were no talking pictures.

I was thinking of all those things today, and the things 15 years can do to a town, or a man, or a vogue. The town doesn't swagger with powerful Tammany Sachems anymore. And Jimmy Walker is in moody retirement. Gone is the old Waldorf. Lena Diamond is dead. Arnold Rothstein is dead. Tex Guinan is dead. There is no prohibition and no speakeasies—at least, not as we knew them then.

I saw Jack Dempsey for a few minutes today. He too reminded me of what 15 years can do. Gone is the savage likeness that characterized "the tiger of the ring." He was well dressed, a contented, well-to-do happily married man. He has a business and a family.

Since Jack was king of the heavies there have been seven champions.

If you prowl the summer theaters no doubt you will run into "The Student Prince." It is an annual revival somewhere. But on Broadway you will not see its like for a long, long time. For it was a romantic valentine opera, and Broadway is tired of that sort of thing. It is "out-moded."

Tex Rickard, with his inevitable cigar and his shirt sleeves, is gone. In his place has come Mike Jacobs to monopolize the promotion interests. No trace of that West 40th street speakeasy remains. The ladies still wear their dresses short, but not those old time low hip lines. And the gangs have largely been busted up.

Fifteen years is a long time. People change. Towns grow into cities. It does something to you that you can never quite undo.

I was thinking of that today. It has been just 15 years since I made my first trip to New York. It was Fall. It was the night "The Student Prince" had its Broadway premiere, and I was there. By some curious chance I was drawn into the maw of that great theater where so many top hats and ermine wraps were moving in an endless, or so it seemed, stream. Jimmy Walker was there. He was the mayor of New York then.

GREENBERG NEEDS 11 HOMERS TO SMASH BAMBINO'S MARK

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the only race left in the American league, since the Yankees are only seven games away from clinching the pennant, but the test of Hank Greenberg of 1938 against Babe Ruth of 1927 is just about as close as the National League pennant chase.

Hank hit his 50th home run of the season yesterday to help Detroit's out-of-the-running Tigers whip the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, in the only game on the major league schedule. He has to hit eleven more to beat Ruth's all-time record of 59, made in 1927.

Greenberg has 20 games; almost all of them in the home park, in which to make those eleven homers. The Babe hit his 50th in his record-breaking year in the 138th game of the season then finished off at about the pace Hank will have to follow—a homer every two games.

Hank's homer yesterday broke a 2-2 tie in a neat mound duel between Al Benton and Jack Knott. A couple of innings later he scored the winning run on Rudy York's double.

Starting a final East-West series, the National League race continues as the "hot" news in the major leagues. The Pirates have a chance in the next few days to dispose finally of what threat the New York Giants still can make. Victors in 12 out of 19 encounters, the Bucs play three games against the fourth-place Giants, who now are 5 1/2 games behind.

Even at their current rate, the Pirates could lose ten more games than the New Yorkers during the remainder of the campaign should they manage to sweep the set which begins today.

The clinching point in the American league should arrive much sooner. The Yankees, 15 games ahead of Boston and 15 1/2 in front of the Cleveland Indians, invade Cleveland today. The Red Sox follow. And if those encounters don't settle the matter, the Yankees should pick up enough other victories on the side while they're in the west.

PARLIAMENT OF POLAND DISSOLVED

WARSAW, Sept. 12 (AP)—President Ignace Moscicki today dissolved parliament to pave the way for new elections, which are to take place within three months.

The president said that he took this step because of the wide changes in public opinion since the last elections, in 1935, and because of the necessity of amending the election law.

DEPOSIT INSURANCE MAY BE BROADENED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Chairman Leo T. Crowley disclosed today that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is studying the possibility of insuring bank deposits above the present $5,000 limit.

Today's mails carried to the 13,719 insured banks of the country a questionnaire asking the number of their deposit accounts below $5,000, between $5,000 and $10,000, between $10,000 and $25,000, and over $25,000. Crowley, recalling that Chairman Steagall (D-Ala.) of the House Banking committee advocated the increase, said the FDIC wanted to find out how much an extra risk would be involved.

RFC DISMISSAL IS SATISFACTORY TO CAMPAIGN PROBERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Senate campaign expenditures committee decided today that there was no basis for criticizing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for its dismissal of an attorney politically active in behalf of Senator George (D-Ga.).

The committee said its investigation showed that Edgar B. Dunlap, former RFC counsel at Atlanta, had been dismissed because he violated an RFC rule forbidding such activity.

George is engaged in a campaign for renomination. President Roosevelt has appealed for the nomination of Lawrence Camp of Atlanta in the primary, Wednesday.

PRISONER ESCAPES JAIL AT SHERMAN

SHERMAN, Sept. 13 (AP)—George Hutchings, 32-year-old federal prisoner, escaped from the fifth-floor Grayson county jail during the night, sawing his way out and sliding down sheets tied together.

He used a kitchen knife for a hacksaw.

Hutchings was held for trial here on a charge he illegally transported a stolen automobile from Oklahoma City to Denton, Tex. He was the fifth prisoner to escape since July 28, when four prisoners fled. Three of them were captured and the body of Willie Umphrey, the fourth fugitive, was found Sunday near Graham.

TOO WILLING

INDIANAPOLIS — A bandit pointed a revolver at Margaret Schilling, 24, and said: "Drop your purse and walk on."

FIGHTING VOTES

CEDAR FALLS, Ia.—You won't see any of Mayor C. N. McHugh's constituents smoking campaign cigars here, but a lot of them will be eating "campaign pickles."

With election due in April, the mayor is favoring his candidacy for re-election by following his custom of the last few years of making dill pickles and giving them to his friends.

He learned how to make pickles as the manager of a canning company cucumber station here.
