D's Doing A Variety Of Things This Summer For Entertainment

Taking the D's as a whole, they are doing a variety of things these days with entertaining company first on the list. They seemed undaunted by the hot weather and were enjoying visits with old friends and relatives.

Some of the D's didn't seem to be doing things in a social way but were "lazing" around and enjoying things such as taking short trips over the week end and going on fishing trips.

DABNEY, MRS. G. W. was down in the basement when the reporter called, and said that she would have no more vacations this summer except for "maybe a few little trips" as I'm always running up and down the line.

DAILY, MRS. J. J.: had some news and promised to call back with it.

DALTON, MRS. N. I.: said that she and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Myers had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dozier of Kermit. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Auteve Self of Kermit visited the Daltons.

DANIELS, MRS. ERVIN: just got back last week from a three-weeks vacation with her daughter, Doris Ann, at Colorado and Yosemite National park.

DARBY, MRS. ALBERT S.: was out in the back yard, but came in to say that she had been back about three weeks from a vacation in New York with her children Billy and Jane.

DAVIS, A. F.: was reported to have left last week for New York with Mrs. Davis by their daughter, Jean Scott.

DAVIS, MRS. JAMES A.: returned last week from a 10 day trip through Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma, with Mr. Davis and their son, Allen.

DAVIS, MRS. M. D.: is home now after a fishing trip last week with Mr. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Martin and children, Billie and Lorelle. Marvin Louise Davis, Dorothy Collins and Jess Collins at Buchanan dam near Austin.

DAVIS, MRS. EMMA F.: reported that she and Mrs. Mary Yates had Mrs. Nell Richards of Reno, Nev., as a guest.

DAVIS, MRS. J. E. was out on the

For Friendship People Want Trustworthiness, Honesty, And Loyalty As Major Traits

by Zollie May and Mary Elizabeth. "A friend that sticketh closer than a brother." Thus say the people of Big Spring questioned about the "traits of one's best friend."

DOUGLASS, MRS. D. D.: was "polishing shoes" when the phone rang but reported that Barbara Ann Douglass of Oklahoma City and Gwendolyn Wilson of Abilene were guests in their home this week.

DOUGLASS, MR. AND MRS. J. C.: were in Ruidoso, N. M., on where they are spending the summer but J. C., Jr., reported that he expected his sister, Frances, and Olive Jack of Eagle, Neb., to arrive about the first of August.

DRISKILL, MRS. ARTHUR: was roused from an afternoon nap and could tell of no company or vacations in sight.

DEHLINGER, MRS. WILLIAM: said she "hadn't left town for a long time" but reported that her daughter, Le Fern, and Evelyn Merrill spent Saturday and Sunday in Seagraves.

DEVRIES, MRS. HENRY: said she "didn't know any news" and hasn't planned any trips for the rest of the summer.

DONNELLY, MRS. TOM: was also among those not able to be located for some news hints.

DUNNING, MRS. H. E.: was at work and told that she might take a trip to the New York fair but "I have just about changed my mind and backed out." But she promised the details in case she did go.

DUNN, MRS. DENVER D.: wasn't at home and couldn't be located by the reporter.

MORE FIGHTING ON BORDER REPORTED TOKYO, July 25 (AP)—Close-range fighting was reported renewed today along the border between Outer Mongolia and Manchoukuo as the Japanese launched their second offensive in two days in an attempt to dislodge Soviet Russian-supported Mongol forces from a foothold on the east bank of the Khaikha river.

Farley, As 'Peacemaker,' Likely To Be Target For All Demo Factions

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Efforts of "Big Jim" Farley to hold the Democratic party together are bringing him into the axiomatic spot of the peacemaker where he is likely to become the target for both sides.

Thus far, there are no signs he has pledged himself to any person for the 1940 presidential race. Many here wonder whether his week-end conference with President Roosevelt had lodged him among the group of third term advocates.

Those who knew Farley best had said he had fixed determination not to take sides until after he comes back from Europe in September. Certainly, they said, he would make no declaration favoring any candidate, or even of his own intentions, until Mr. Roosevelt has made a public announcement of what he intended to do about a third term.

Farley came back from his cross-country tour several weeks ago with this idea in mind. All through the trip, he argued that whoever was the candidate in 1940 the Democrats must put a new deal flag in his hand.

Ever since the intra-party dispute broke into the open in the primary campaign battles the President waged against those whom he called to conservative last year, Farley, as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has been trying to conciliate the warring factions.

Many democrats are beginning to think there is little hope for selection of a candidate who will please the two sides of the controversy. They think the wind-up will be a free-for-all on the floor of the next National convention.

The lines have formed about President Roosevelt on the one side and Vice-president Garner on the other. Other candidates and other aspirations are largely measured by politicians with relation to whether the man is in the Roosevelt camp or tenting with Garner.

Talk about Farley-for-President has sprung up to complete the National Chairman's position. It is not easy for a man to frown on such pleasant words.

Appointment of Paul V. McNutt of Indiana as secretary administrator, in a spot which brought an immediate outcropping of presidential speculation, was regarded by many as a blow at Farley, for he had held a dislike for McNutt since the 1932 democratic convention when the Indiana delegation did not swing promptly to Mr. Roosevelt.

Politicians are worrying whether the appointment may have helped push Farley toward the Garner lines. He and the Texas have been close personal friends. He has been invited to join the Garnerites.

The better prevails here, however, that the President's decision with regard to a third term is likely to be the factor which makes up Farley's mind which way to go.

Methods Against War Pondered At Baptist Meeting

ATLANTA, July 25 (AP)—Told world peace would hang in a delicate balance for the next three months, Baptists of 60 nations pondered today feasibility of a police-bulwarked international court as a guarantee against war.

A general session of the sixth Baptist world conference heard a report from Dr. J. M. Nordstrom of Stockholm, Sweden, then plunging into discussion of peace proposals in the communication, drawn by a commission of the Baptist World Alliance.

Dr. Walter Oliver Lewis of Paris said he believed in "collective security" and termed as a "crucial period" in universal peace "from now until October."

Now European representatives of the American Foreign Mission Society, Dr. Lewis served with the U. S. Army in two major offensives of the World war.

Calling attention to the report's assertion most of the people of foreign countries did not want to fight each other, he urged constant efforts to cement amicable understanding between nations.

Dr. Lewis drew a "parable parable," suggesting when two families became belligerents, the neighbors should try to ease strained relations—bound by responsibilities of brotherhood.

Dr. Nordstrom explained the international court suggestion presupposed that all nations should disarm down to the point of their inner needs, then the court should have military power to enforce its decisions if necessary.

Electric Firm Wins In Juarez Dispute

EL PASO, July 25 (AP)—Second round in the Ciudad Juarez El Paso Electric company dispute apparently had been won by the electric firm today, Juarez taking one on the chin from the Mexican department of communications in a ruling on the company's street cars.

From the department at Mexico City to officials of the company, parent form of the El Paso-Juarez traction company, came a ruling last night that Juarez officials were without authority to enforce a city ordinance limiting street cars in the border city to 40 passengers.

Conductors in the employ of the firm had been given "traffic tickets" for alleged violation of the ordinance.

The two international bridges linking this Texas city with Juarez were principals in the first round of the dispute, when the electric company announced an increase in bridge tolls that provoked a five-day blockade of the bridges by Mexican labor unions.

REPORT MADE ON TEXAS WORKERS

AUSTIN, July 25 (AP)—Of 15,308 Texas firms covered under the state unemployment compensation law, 2,458 or approximately 17 per cent are manufacturing plants, an analysis by the unemployment compensation commission disclosed today.

The figures constituted the most recent survey of the extent of industrialization in Texas, furtherance of which is one of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's principal objectives.

Orville S. Carpenter, chairman of the commission, said 800,000 workers probably represent the basic number of permanently employed in firms having eight or more employees, the number which places them under the compensation act.

WEEK'S OIL OUTPUT SHOWS INCREASE

TULSA, Okla., July 25 (AP)—Daily average crude oil production in the United States increased 50,885 barrels to 3,585,172 for the week ended July 22, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Output climbed in nearly all states. Oklahoma's was up 11,022 to 466,426, Kansas' 11,250 to 178,075 and Texas' 17,590 to 1,343,326 despite a drop of 101 to 372,996 in East Texas. Louisiana was up only 15 to 275,855.

Illinois led the hike with an increase of 15,907 to 281,650. Eastern fields' upturn was 600 to 97,900, Michigan's 698 to 68,247, and the Rocky Mountain area's 5,900 to 81,980.

California production dropped 13,250 to 613,250.

TAKES ON LIFE

TYLER, July 25 (AP)—Albert C. Emke, 51, Longview painter, parked his car in front of a country church, attached a hose to the exhaust pipe and sat back to await death.

Constable Price Killion found him dead there today after a farmer notified him he had seen the coupe parked in front of the Dean church, between Wilsons and Gladewater.

Justice of the Peace I. J. Fortner of Winona, returned a verdict of suicide.

Emke moved to Longview three years ago from Pennsylvania.

CONFERENCES HELD ON TEXAS PROJECTS

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Representatives of the Upper Colorado River Authority and the Lower Neches River Valley Authority, of Texas, conferred here yesterday with congressional leaders over a possible threat to their projects.

J. C. Deal of San Angelo, representing the Upper Colorado Authority, and M. D. Gates, Port Arthur engineer for the Neches group, urged that projects totaling $34,500,000 for construction on those rivers and their tributaries be retained in the senate rivers and harbors bill.

Senator Bailey of North Carolina had proposed that some flood control projects be eliminated from pending omnibus rivers and harbors legislation.

The visitors discussed the situation with Senator Sheppard and Representative Poage, both of Texas.

BULLET WOUND FATAL

SAN ANTONIO, July 25 (AP)—Found with a .32 calibre bullet wound in his right temple, a man tentatively identified as E. R. Hardee of San Antonio, died in the county hospital early today.

The man was discovered by Radio Patrolman P. M. Wright about midnight when he investigated a parked car with the lights burning. Wright found the man wounded and unconscious. He was taken to the hospital but died there a few hours later.

An identification card gave the name of E. R. Hardee of 1019 Willow street. An automobile registration receipt bore the same name.

The identification card also gave the name of Ola Duelsenberry of Conway, South Carolina, as the person to be notified in case of emergency.

SEAMAN FACES A MURDER CHARGE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 25 (AP)—U. S. marshals awaited arrival late today of the Texas company's tanker Duganannon to arrest Bee Swann, 42, of Gladewater, Tex., on a charge of murdering Jesse Ortega, 27, of Port Arthur, Tex., aboard the vessel early Sunday.

Robert L. Dean, another seaman, critically injured when Swann allegedly ran amuck, is in a Norfolk hospital.

EASES CONSCIENCE

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—Edward C. Ray, 30, completed last night a tiring 2000-mile hitch-hiking trip from Laredo, Texas, to face a grand larceny charge and ease his conscience.

Naassu county authorities refused to spend money to return Ray a bookkeeper, to face indictment for theft of a $700 payroll of a Part-Washington, Long Island concern.

WANTS SJR 12 READ ON GOVERNOR'S BROADCAST

DALLAS, July 25 (AP)—A request that Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel read in its entirety Senate Joint Resolution No. 12 submitting a proposed natural resource tax constitution amendment, on his radio broadcast next Sunday, has been mailed to him.

The letter's author, Larry Mills, executive secretary of a committee arranging a dinner for the house and senate members who vote against the resolution, said he believed the people would settle the issue correctly, once they understood it.

The governor declined to comment on Mills' request.

He added the letter had not been directed to his attention, although it might have been received.

WIFE-SPANKING NO CAUSE FOR DIVORCE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 25 (AP)—An Alabama wife, the state supreme court has decided, may not divorce her husband merely because he gave her a spanking.

Justice A. B. Foster held the husband in question spanked his spouse "as he would a child" and that this was "wholly unjustified and reprehensible." The court, however, dissolved a lower court divorce and ordered a $30 monthly separate maintenance judgment to stand.

The row, the justice said, started about a widow living across the street.

OKLAHOMAN WINS IN RODEO CONTEST

SALT LAKE CITY, July 25 (AP)—Eddie Curtis of El Reno, Okla., rode high, wide and handsome to capture the bronc riding championship in the Covered Wagon Days Rodeo which ended last night.

Ward Watkins of Thatcher, Colo., was second and Vic Schwarz of Wichita Falls, Texas, third.

The calf roping title went to Royce Sewall of Clarksville, Tex. Jim Whiteman of Clarksville, Tex., rode the Brahma bulls to a championship.

Force Amendments On Transportation Bill In House

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—A bi-partisan bloc opposed to putting water carriers under the interstate commerce commission upset plans of house leaders today by forcing tentative approval of a series of amendments to a general transportation bill.

A direct house vote on regulating the water carriers, however, was yet to come. After a conference of administration lieutenants, Democratic Leader Rayburn said he might appeal to all members to stay on the floor in order to get a full expression of views.

Besides the water carrier's provision, the legislation would authorize the ICC to investigate complaints of regional rate differentials on manufactured products, would repeal and grant statutes, and authorize new RFC loans to railroads if private financing was unavailable.

In the first skirmish during yesterday's debate, the waterways bloc wrote into the bill an order that the commission follow a declaration of policy which says congress wants to preserve a national transportation system "by water, highway and rail, as well as other means."

SAYS POLITICS ON THE MARCH UNDER PAUL V. McNUTT

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) told the senate yesterday that "politics is on the march" in the federal security agency headed by Paul V. McNutt.

"The parade has started," he declared, holding up what he said was an official publication of the Indiana unemployment compensation commission. "Mr. McNutt is to be congratulated on starting his campaign as soon as he has."

Bridges said the Indiana commission was financed wholly or partly by federal funds administered by McNutt.

The publication, he said, carried passages lauding selection of McNutt for his present job and projecting his future career into the White House by 1941.

'FIRST BALE' FOR NAVARRO COUNTY

CORSICANA, July 25 (AP)—J. A. Breithaupt brought the first bale of 1939 cotton in Navarro county to Corsicana Monday afternoon. The bale weighed 400 pounds. It has not been sold.

Mr. Breithaupt has brought in the first bale four years in succession. The first bale last year was brought in on August 2.

A Little Advertising

All of us could take a lesson from Texas' westernmost city, El Paso. For El Paso, practically single-handed, has shown that a little advertising of this state's climatic advantages can reap a huge harvest in increased tourist dollars.

L. A. Wilke, executive secretary of the El Paso Gateway club, told the Southwestern chamber of commerce that tourists annually spend $10,000,000 in El Paso county. This represents approximately three per cent of the total amount they spend in Texas and, while he didn't say so, most of it probably is spent in the few winter months.

El Paso carries on a planned advertising campaign in a number of national magazines, financed by a tax of five cents on the $100 valuation. From this a $10,000,000-a-year trade is garnered.

Wilke estimates that during 1939, 4,688,425 tourists—approximately two-thirds as many as the state's population—will do a business of about $305,000,000 in Texas. That's lots of tourists—but it only serves to indicate how much more could be done if the state carried on a national advertising campaign to inform the rest of the country what recreational and scenic possibilities Texas can offer.

Robbin Coons

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—The movie camera gets a lot of credit for trickery that it hasn't done. The camera itself is tricky enough, but mostly what it does is merely photograph the tricks prepared for it by experts in the art.

Veteran in trickery is short, genial Paul Wildelka, who has been doing movie magic for 20 years and still has tricks to spare. Mr. Wildelka (hereinafter to be called Paul) is Samuel Goldwyn's head wizard, and he's been doing some first-class "wizzing by Wildelka" for Gary Cooper's flicker, "The Real Glory."

Paul has been making "The Real Glory" a real gory flicker. A lot of his work will be wasted as far as American audiences are concerned, because American censors—and audiences—are a little squeamish. But in Europe the fans can take it, and they love it. They don't mind (at least we're told) seeing a Filipino's head cut off with a bolo. And they aren't particular about whose head is cut off, either.

To do this screen murder Paul found the smallest Filipino around town and put a false head and shoulders on him, with a neck of sponge rubber. Through the neck runs a tube from a bulb filled with prop blood. When the knife whacks the neck, off goes the head. Simultaneously, the Filipino presses the bulb and great quantities of gore gush up. It's nice.

Shooting a man in the head is nice, too—and simple. The victim squeals and claps his hand over the spot where the "bullet" struck, and blood gushes through his fingers. The victim is holding a pigeon's egg filled with prop blood in his hand. Clap—and the blood flows.

"The Real Glory" deals with the Moro insurrection in 1906. The Moros (who doubtless would have liked their movies straight and gory too) were blood-thirsty fellows who went around puncturing Filipino abdomens at every opportunity. There are several Filipinos given the treatment (but for European fans only) in the picture. Paul put false fronts on the selected victims—fronts equipped with zippers. A thread in the hand of a prop man off-screen jerked the zipper open at the proper moment and there you were. There everything was, in fact, but not (be duly grateful) for the American screen.

Paul and his half dozen assistants are everywhere on the sets, on call to produce miracles to order. Many of the tricks are figured out in impromptu, hurry-up style. Stone walls have been destroyed by small shells, and the debris falls on the combatants without hurting them.

Paul used to be a cabinet maker. But cabinet makers got less than carpenters, even good cabinet makers like Paul. So 20 years ago he went to work for the old Triangle Pictures, making props. He could be today the man of whom Pharaoh, in "The Green Pastures," said: "You sure are some trickler!"

Chapter Four. Cecily dusted off her hands and, leaning wearily on the shelf that was level with her elbows, studied the other girl while her brown furrowed "Hilda, are you sure you mean it? I mean wouldn't you rather I sent this stuff to storage? It didn't seem right that you should put all your furniture away. I think you're doing this as a fine gesture of friendship to take this place off my hands."

Washington Daybook

By ROBERT COOK. Editor of the Journal of Heredity. (Pinch-hitting for Preston Grover, on vacation.) WASHINGTON—The financing of America's disease-fighting and accident-prevention army bristles with paradoxes.

Infantile paralysis, which even in epidemic years makes insignificant contributions to the total toll of the killed and crippled, receives annually about $1,000,000 from one source alone—benefit bonds on the president's birthday.

A FEW CAMPAIGNS. We have our safety campaigns. We break into speeches and radio broadcasts. That compellingly gruesome booklet, "And Sudden Death," sold its hundreds of thousands. But there is no popular demand for any effective action against this futile butchery.

PROBLEMS OF HEREDITY. We are beginning to go sane about syphilis—and are talking frankly and spending money to control this universal scourge. That is, the government agencies are. Popular support of the anti-syphilis work of the American Social Hygiene association comes to only a few paltry thousand dollars a year, for hardly any of us are interested enough to aid the campaign against this great maimer.

George Tucker. NEW YORK—Your typical Britisher, particularly if he is a colonial or is on duty in the possessions far from home, is pictured by Americans as being tall and leathery, a man who goes out in the brush and shoots a few hippos, returns to the club for a Scotch and soda, and dresses for dinner. He always dresses for dinner.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Tattle tales: the lowdown on the Dizzy Dean case is just what everyone suspected. Z. C. Clevinger, Indiana's athletic director, is going to vacation in North Carolina and Wallace Wade and Ray Wolf are locking up their hallbacks. Al Hostak may become part of the Mike Jacobs fistic empire and come east to fight Billy Conn in Pittsburgh.

Today's Guest Star Victor O. Jones, Boston Evening Globe: "Our daily knock goes to Bucky Walters for masquerading as a third baseman when the Bees and Red Sox had him."

News: The Red Sox were glad to get out of Detroit what with Joe Cronin getting clipped for $150 and trainer Win Greene for $100. Gabby Hartnett expects Dizzy Dean to show up on the bench for today's double header just like nothing had happened. . . . Texas will want to tune in on their lightweight champ, Lew Jenkins, and his wife on "We the People" tonight.

Tie This One The score card sold in the Beaumont (Texas) park says the longest ball game on record was played at Eagle Pass, Texas, July 4, 1926. . . . Beginning at 10 a. m., two local teams battled till 7 p. m., when the game was called at the end of the sixth inning with the score 129 to 119. . . . One of the shortstops made 34 errors in one inning.

Personal mention: Bo McMillin, Indiana football coach, is painting his house. . . . When a numerology expert failed to find out what all the last place Hutchinson (Kas) club in the Western association, the Hutchinson Herald decided to do something about the situation. . . . So now it prints the club standings in reverse.

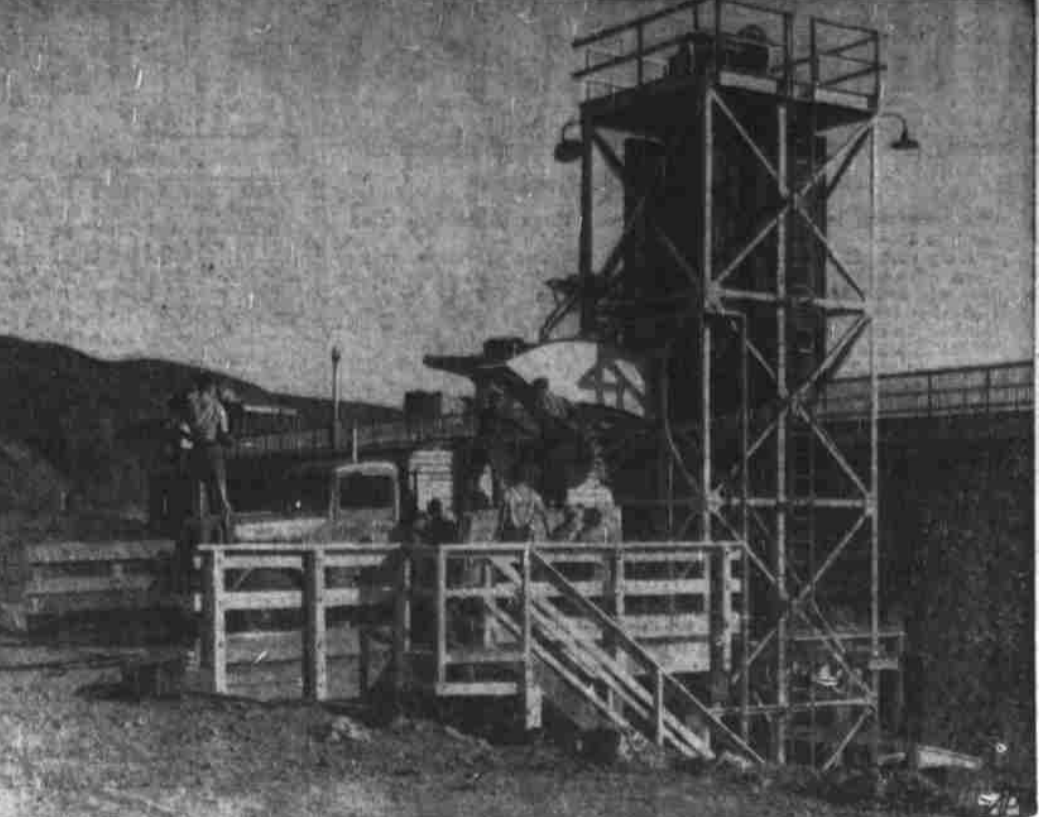

On account of the large number of tourists entering the United States from Mexico this year, additional customs inspectors were employed at international boundary bridges.

COAST YOUNGSTER SHINES IN PUBLIC LINKS TEST

COURSE, BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Two schoolboys from Seattle and Atlanta led the field into the second qualifying round of the Nation public links golf championship that was to carve the list of 177 entrants down to the championship round of 64 by dusk tonight. . . . Eighteen-year-old Gerry Bert, Jr., 206-pound Pacific Northwest Adonis, banged out a sub-par 70 yesterday on the 6,885-yard layout despite tropical heat and humidity that had the pack gasping like beached fish, canyon-deep trays and narrow fairways lined with rough tangled like a hermit's whiskers. . . . A stroke behind was lanky Luke Barnes, 19, of Atlanta, the only other contestant to crack par on this stroke-eating links. Bert's 70 set a new competitive record for the lengthened course.

Four of the field managed to equal par figures. They were Mike Gestons, 25-year-old Montclair, N. J., postman; Don Erickson, Los Angeles; Ralph A. Reed, Lincoln, Neb.; and Arthur Armstrong, who came 5,000 miles from Hawaii for the pay-as-you-play classic.

Marshall Springer, Chicago, Pa.; Genung, Dayton, O.; Andy Olliver, Washington, D. C.; Al Hugelmeier, Baltimore; Louis Orr, Vancouver, Wash.; and Blain Kroll, Utica, N. Y., posted 73's yesterday. . . . Harry Kaufman, Lincoln, Neb.; Wes Bezner, Portland, Ore.; Ted Gwin, Tulsa; Jack Taitman, Columbus, Ind.; Walter Knuch, Utica; Bill Brofoks, Summit, N. J.; Leonard

GRAND COULEE FISH FERRY—Because of importance of salmon to the Pacific northwest, a system of fish ferrying by means of trucks is in use at Grand Coulee dam, Washington. Above, a fish trap at Rock Island dam empties into a waiting truck which will transport the salmon and trout past Grand Coulee, which is too high to hurdle, to streams below the dam.

YANKS AND CINCY EXPECTED TO MOVE FAR OUT IN FRONT IN CHASES DURING HOME STAYS

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer It's hard to see any way to keep the current Major league leaders from improving their positions during their home stands which get under way today, but, by way of warning, a couple of visiting teams from other sections may be red hot. New York's mighty Yankees and Cincinnati's Reds looked practically invisible on their recent road tour. The Yankees, winning nine out of twelve games showed all their usual batting power and the pitching was so good manager Joe McCarthy was hard put to give his moundmen more than one workout per week. The Reds didn't hit so hard, but they didn't have too, with the kind of flinging they got from Paul Derringer, Bucky Walters, Whitney Moore and Co.

And its axiomatic that any team should be able to do better in familiar surroundings than can while traveling from one strange park to another. So much for the leaders, but how about such contenders as the Chicago White Sox, Boston Bees and (don't laugh) the New York Giants? Only the Pale Hose are in position to bid for the lead, but they are all in good spots to cause trouble.

Open as Boston The White Sox open at Boston today with a doubleheader against the secondplace Red Soxers. The Boston won nine games and lost five in the west and they just about had to in order to keep their three-game margin over the Chicagoans. The White Sox, who have climbed from fifth place to third with 18 victories in 25 games, took nine out of 13 from their eastern rivals, including two of three from the Yanks.

The Bees were the only astern team to get an even break against the four western clubs filling the National league's first division. And they have the pitching to go places. The Giants have lost nine straight, their mound department looks shot and they have practically no infield left. They've slipped from second to sixth in the standings, but they're still dangerous. Bill Jurgens' suspension will be up Wednesday so they'll have a shortstop again and catcher Harry Danning is due to rejoin the team in St. Louis. Tom Haffy may fill the bill at third base. He'll have to, for George Myatt underwent a knee operation yesterday and won't be back for a long time.

Brooklyn's Dodgers are the most wrecked club right now, even though they picked up a .300 hitting outfielder when they bought Fred (Dixie) Walker from Detroit yesterday. Besides Whit Wyatt, their most reliable pitcher, who is out with a leg injury, they've lost Van Mungo for some six weeks and Cookie Lavegatto and Art Parks are getting around on wobbly pins. Mungo went in to run for Parks Sunday, slid for second and broke his left ankle.

ASSEMBLY CLOSED

HUNTSVILLE, July 25, (AP)—The 190th District Assembly of Rotarians, convened here to instruct incoming officers, was concluded today. Yesterday the 135 Rotarians heard the following speakers: G. A. Marby, of Houston, Ell Rubin, of Hallettsville, Francis Dunn, of Port Arthur, Porter S. Garner of Victoria, Curly Fenley of Lufkin and R.S. Sternberg and Ray Chapman of Huntsville. District Governor Charles Harriot of Conroe presided with John H. Dinney of Bryan leading the roundtable discussion.

US Policy In China Due To Continue

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Well-placed observers predicted today the straight line of United States policy in China would suffer no deviation through Britain's recognition of Japan's "special requirements" in China. As state department officials studied implications of Britain's agreement yesterday not to interfere with Japanese forces in China, it was made clear the United States had no intention of signing a similar agreement.

There was some expectation, however, that the Japanese, having extracted some important declarations from Britain, might turn to the United States with similar hopes. Generally, high placed opinion in Washington regretted effect the Anglo-Japanese accord would have on Chinese morale. It was feared the Japanese would make the widest possible use of it among the Chinese, and give it the largest possible interpretation, to convince them that the British had backed down and abandoned China. Nevertheless many excused the British on three grounds: 1. They were in a "tough spot," being unable to exert any force or even threat of it because of being held tight in Europe by Germany and Italy. 2. They have huge investments in China and, by making a generalized concession, sought to protect them. 3. That the specific agreement with regard to Tientsin and other Japanese demands is still to be negotiated. The accord text released yesterday was only a preliminary to concrete agreement. Observers inclined to believe British would be more adamant on itemized demands.

FORMER RAILROAD COMMISSIONER DIES WINNSBORO, July 25 (AP)—Funeral services were arranged here this afternoon for W. A. Nabors, 73, former state railroad commissioner under Gov. Pat Neff. He died yesterday.

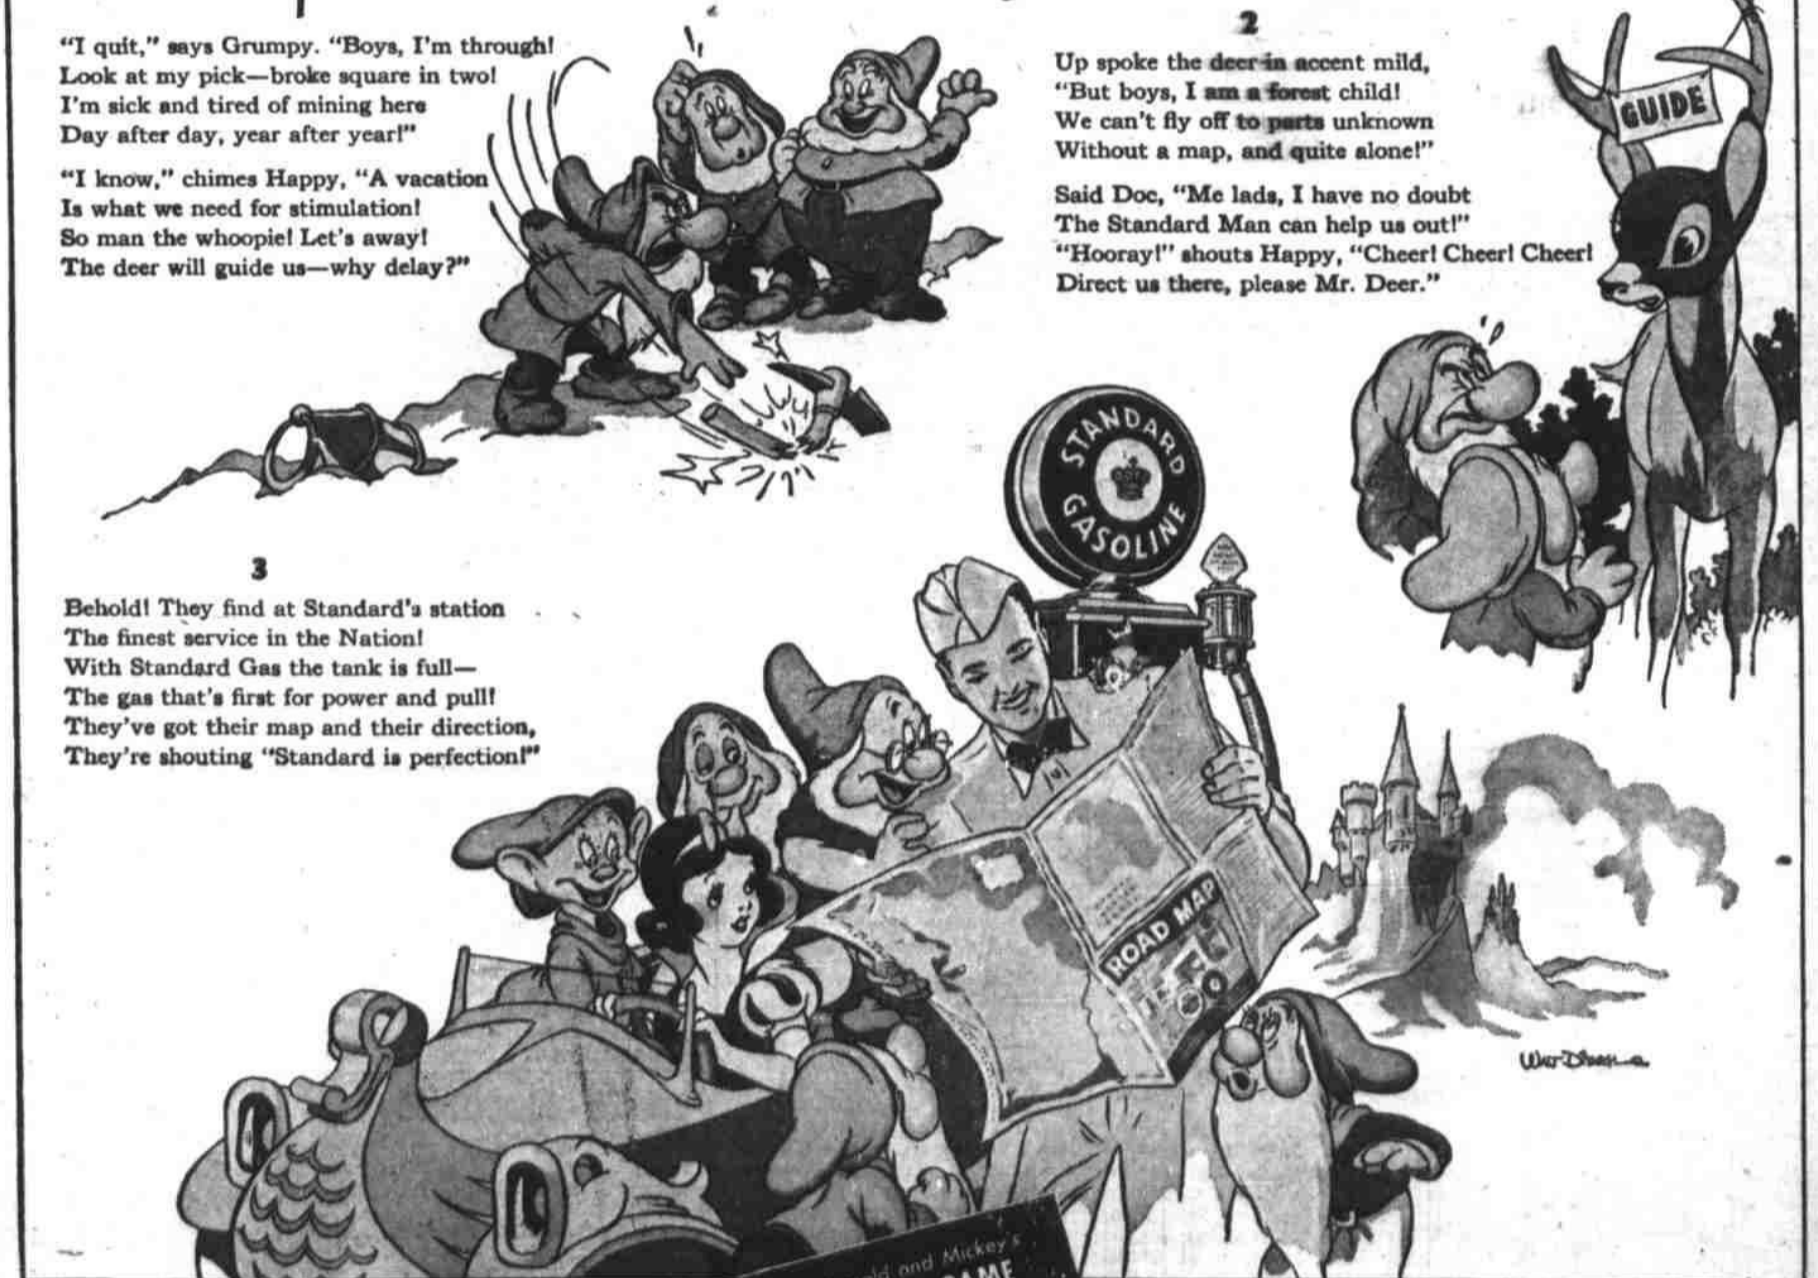

PAVE ALL STREETS WITH CONCRETE!

7 good reasons why -

- 1 Concrete is quiet. It greatly reduces the tire rumble set up by rapidly moving vehicles. 2 Traffic markers are built-in. Joints running the length of the pavement serve as lane markers without costly and impermanent stripe painting. 3 Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians. 4 At night you need a pavement with high visibility. 5 Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps . . . and stays that way with minimum maintenance. 6 You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt. 7 You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications. For complete pavement facts write to PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION 1301 Norwood Bldg., Austin, Texas
