Fordson is Helping Out

Joe Close was in the city Wednesday night from his fine farm southeast of town, for binder repairs and supplies. Joe says they are running two binders at his place; pulling one with a Fordson and the other with teams, and that the Fordson is cutting rings around the teams. J. H. Buchanan is driving the Fordson and Mr. Close is manipulating the binder, and they cut from 25 to 30 acres of grain per day. George Hays and Leo Dacus are knocking down about 30 acres per day with a Fordson and an 8-foot McCormick binder. The Fordson tractor is proving to be a great success.

A Great Machine

Walter Wilmet has in operation on his farm in the Grand Plains community one of the monster combined harvesting and threshing machines, which cuts and threshes the grain at one operation, thereby eliminating much labor. Jim and Wayman Edwards will start a similar machine on their farms south of town in a day or so. They are said to be the last word in farm machinery.

Harvest Season is Here

Everybody is busy in the harvest and the town of Hansford has been an almost-deserted village all this week. The weather is ideal. The hot, sultry days are ripening the grain at a rapid rate and binders and headers are shaping it for the threshing machines soon to follow. It is by far the largest grain crop ever produced in the county, and the beauty of it is that it is being saved in good shape and a big per cent of it can be shipped out over the Santa Fe from Spearman thereby saving a haul of from 40 to 60 miles and greatly increasing the profits of the farmer. Securing the additional help needed in the harvesting of this great crop has been a serious problem, but Hansford county farmers, always equal to any emergency, have about worked out the solution, and, while a few more men could be used, yet reports from all directions indicate that harvesting is progressing at a satisfactory gait. A majority of the harvest hands come from Amarillo and points on the Santa Fe. Owing to the great demand for men in Kansas, the Guyton office of the department of labor has been unable to secure men fast enough to supply the demand. In another day or so many crops will be finished and this will release men for other fields. Ten days more pretty weather and the story will be told. Hansford county's great wheat crop will be up to the threshermen and freighters.

Candidate for State Senator

Hon. W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock is a candidate to succeed the late Hon. W. S. Bell as a member of the state Senate, Governor Hobby having named Monday, July 14 as the date for the special election. Mr. Bledsoe is now serving in the house from the Lubbock district and is looked upon as one of the big men of the legislature. He is not only popular with the membership, but is one of the best informed men in Texas on state affairs. It is very important that this section of the state have in the state senate the strongest man possible and the election of Judge Bledsoe to this honored position will be no mistake.—Panhandle Herald.

FREEDOM OVER ALL THE EARTH

Due Recognition of Human Rights Now the Aim of Mankind.

Independence hall is holy ground at the entrance to which, like Moses at the bush of fire, one should remove his shoes; but it pales into insignificance beside Interdependence hall which some day we must build across the street from the "birthplace of American liberty."

One hundred and three years ago, the federation of the thirteen colonies into a federal union was a political event of prime import; today it is overshadowed by the thing of which Tennyson dreamed. "The Federation of the World." The Declaration of Independence is a state paper of such significance as to stand in a class by itself. It immortalized every man who signed it. "These united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states; absolved from all allegiance to the British crown; and all connection between them and Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved." So run the words of fire the idealism of which was to be made real if need be, by the lives, as well as the property and sacred honor of the signatories. But the Declaration of Independence of all free peoples will overtop that of July 4, 1776, as the oak overtops the daisy.

Great Patriotic Aim. But at that time independence was the biggest and best thing the fathers could purchase in a war of seven years. They could not enjoy the unalienable rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" while ruled by Great Britain, for to be subject to England meant to be robbed and exploited, jailed or hanged at the behest of a half-mad German, George III, who wore the British crown.

And so the patriots proposed to stand alone, to be independent. They proposed an equitable self-rule on lines more liberal than ever had been tried; there were to be neither kings nor kinglets but rather a state of human equality.

Across the water it was a dark day for human rights. In all Europe liberty was eclipsed; there was not one free people. Monarchs were supreme and more or less tyrannical; and so, to stand alone and even aloof, as Washington counseled, was to be prudent. No alliance was possible save with that which they had just renounced—kingcraft.

Old Order Abolished.

But "the old order changeth, giving place to new." Today, in 1919, the proper social desire of the individual is to "live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man." And similarly, to live in the crossroads of the nations and show vital interest in all that pertains to humanity is the proper attitude for the nation. The setting for the next act on the world stage must be big enough for interdependence and internationalism. Interdependence is life and opportunity for both. "We must hang together or we will hang separately."

By maintaining independence and aloofness the fathers hoped to succeed; isolation spelled safety, and so they trusted that a deep, wide moat at their front door, the Atlantic ocean, would keep their foes at a distance of 3,000 miles while they should gain numbers and wealth and experience in governing themselves. They minted coins bearing the inscriptions, "Let Me Alone" and "Don't Step on Me," the latter beneath the figure of a coiled rattlesnake, and cutting themselves off from world politics and world interests they became a self-contained, self-sufficient people, enjoying free assembly, free speech, free press and free religion, but making Americanism dangerously near a big provincialism. We helped no other people to gain our glorious liberty. All was well if we were let alone by the political and warring world.

Autocracy in Rout.

But a new world order has come in. The western hemisphere is all free. China has astonished the world by electing a president. "The bear that walks like a man" becomes human for a fortnight and is free—until his liberty, mistaken for license, enslaves him to the bolshevik. France and Portugal are free; Great Britain, our ancient oppressor, is free and is our friend. The British empire is free, a galaxy of great self-governing peoples—Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa—all free, even though a figurehead king is its nominal head; but Lloyd George, democrat, not George V, autocrat, is the real ruler of the British empire.

The Beaver Gas and Oil Company are this week unloading a deep well rig with which they expect to drill a test well on land they have leased, about 15 miles southeast of Guyton, on Coldwater creek. We now have the Beaver Gas and Oil Co. test to the north and the Heywood-Coble to the south, but nothing doing on the Palo Duro, the best bet of all.

Railroad is Coming

The rails are laid for the railroad seven miles this side of Booker and the force of 100 men are laying three fourths of a mile a day. When harvest is over help will be plentiful and the work can be pushed to a speedy completion. Then, on to Spearman.

W. L. Fain and Miss Lelis Sanders came from Ochiltree Thursday to look after the interests of the Ochiltree Telephone Company in Hansford. Mr. Fain is repairing the lines and Miss Sanders will have charge of the switchboard here.

AMERICA'S DEBT TO LAFAYETTE

Washington Paid Tribute to Great Services Rendered.

WHEN the Revolution began Americans were still pioneers and straight shooters. The country was full of men who had seen service in war against the French and Indians. Washington had been all his life a soldier. It is not surprising that American officers felt quite able to handle the military situation without assistance from the host of applicants for commissions from abroad. Therefore when Washington heard that a young Frenchman named Lafayette had left his wife and child and crossed the ocean to serve the American cause as a volunteer without pay, he muttered: "One more incumbrance." But Lafayette pleaded: "Give me a chance; I do not want to be an honorary soldier." He went to Washington's camp and there began a friendship which ran through so many years like an idyl. In 1788 Brissot visited Washington at Mt. Vernon with a letter from Lafayette.

Lafayette.

He says Washington "spoke to me of M. De Lafayette with emotion; he considers him as his child." Later, Lafayette sent to Washington the key to the destroyed Bastille, saying: "It is a tribute which I owe as a son to my adopted father, as an aid-de-camp to my general, as a missionary of liberty to its patriarch."

French Eager in Liberty's Cause. The spirit of Lafayette was the spirit of Rochambeau's army. A host of young French officers looked on the expedition as a crusade for liberty, and crowded for places. Young Bessier was a volunteer at Yorktown, and he became a marshal of France. Viscount De Noailles marched afoot the whole 750 miles from Newport to Yorktown. Young Saint-Simon, Clousen, Chastellux, a brother of Mirabeau, a brother of Talleyrand, Barras, later Director Barras, and many other enthusiasts for liberty were in the expedition. They understood Americans. Equality was the particular American trait which impressed them most, and this idea was imported by them from America into France.

Rochambeau placed himself and his army under the command of Washington. The ragged Americans always had the right of the line. In case of equality of rank, the American officer always took command. Not so much as a cabbage was taken without payment. Before Yorktown the Americans were not skilled in siege operations, and Washington gratefully acknowledged the service of the French engineers. The French fleet closed the river, and the surrender came. Without that French help we tremble to think what might have happened.

Fired Lafayette's Ardor.

Toward the close of the year 1776, the duke of Cumberland, who was the brother of King George III of England, was traveling in France, and one day he arrived at the town of Metz, then a French possession. A certain count De Broglie, a veteran of many battles, was in command of the garrison, and, to do honor to his distinguished visitor, he invited some of his officers to meet him at dinner. Now it happened that the duke of Cumberland was in disfavor with his royal brother—he was, in fact, in banishment. He had lately received news that certain of his majesty's colonies in America had rebelled and declared themselves free, declining to be subject any longer to a tyrannical king. It would seem that the duke of Cumberland told the story with some gusto, as if he were not altogether sorry that his brother was in trouble. One officer listened with particular attention. He was a youth of nineteen, tall and thin, with a long nose and reddish hair. His solemn expression and his somewhat awkward manner contrasted strongly with the frivolous ease and grace of the other young officers present. He was a marquis of long descent, connected by marriage with one of the greatest families in France, and he had at his own disposition a very large income. He listened intently, he asked many eager questions, and when he rose from the table he had made a momentous and historic resolution. He had resolved to abandon the pleasures and luxuries of the gayest court in the world, even to leave his young wife and child, and to cast in his lot with these strange rebels in America. In his own words, "When I heard of American independence, my heart was torn. I felt that I was a Frenchman in an American army went to the front in France, it merely paid a small part of the debt of gratitude we owe that splendid young officer—that true nobleman.

Appointed a major general by Washington in July, he fought at the battle of Brandywine in September and received an ugly wound. Soon again in the saddle, he went through many vicissitudes and privations with Washington at Valley Forge, his crowning exploit being the forcing of the retreat of Lord Cornwallis, leading to his surrender at Yorktown, in 1781. Although Washington and other famous American generals had joined him previous to the surrender, Lafayette, with a small force, had initiated the rout of Cornwallis at the battle of the Clouds. That the highest credit was due to Lafayette is shown by the fact that Washington warmly thanked and complimented him in the presence of the troops, after the great surrender which practically ended the war.

Patriot of Marblehead.

General Lafayette paid a tribute to Marblehead, Mass., by making two visits, to the people, by whom he was received with bands of music and a huge procession of citizens. It is related that on his first visit in 1784 there was a controversy as to how the procession was to proceed through the main streets of the town, owing to the fact that at one of the sharp turns, a house so jutted into the road that the general's coach could not pass. On the morning of the great event, it was discovered that the patriotic family occupying the property had cut off a section of the house, removing the offending corner and thus the coach was driven without a hitch through the street. The house with part of the first story missing can still be seen in this year of 1919, and is shown in the illustration.

A Small Case Thresher and Tractor

This is the ideal outfit for the man who wants to be independent and do his own threshing, and other belt and drawbar work, exactly when he wants to, without waiting.

We picture a Case 10-18 Kerosene Tractor and a Case 20x28 Thresher. The tractor will handle all farm machinery requiring belt power up to its rated capacity.

It will pull easily a 2-bottom plow 7 to 8 inches deep, or an 8-foot binder, a 22-shoe grain drill, a 5-section spike tooth harrow, an 8-foot double-action disc harrow or a large manure spreader.

For belt and field work, this small Case Tractor cannot be equalled. A Case Thresher is equally superior. Case Machinery has been famous for 76 years.

Let us tell you how you can decrease the hard work on your farm with Case machinery.

LUTHER

But I was never surprised at any resemblance that appeared when your boys and ours stood side by side in the trenches. The minuteman of Concord is the ideal of the young Englishman of today, who flung himself over the top, giving away his comforts and risking his life for every man in his company.

We long to see England rich in just such young men as your minuteman, and you make the same prayer for America, so that in this, as in all the things by which men live, you and we have the same aims—liberty and the service of our country and our God.

I saw a very beautiful expression of the feeling between us on Memorial day last year, says a writer in Scribner's. I went early in the morning to the Old North bridge with flowers for the minuteman; a Southern friend was with me, and the two lost causes, British and Confederate, were alone on the bridge. We laid flowers before the minuteman and on the grave of the two British soldiers whose fate so moved Hawthorne. His spirit may have joined us as we passed the Old Manse, but no one else was to be seen, when suddenly a ghostly procession came through the mist—six old veterans just risen from their graves; four tiny boy scouts hardly yet born; and two young men of the present carrying a bugle and a flag.

They went first to the British grave, and for the first time in history they laid on it England's flag and a branch of New England apple blossoms; they saluted, blew a bugle call, and passed on to do the same for the minuteman and his flag.

Then they stood in line on the bridge—each of the 12 threw a flower into the river and saluted, while the leader said: "We salute all the sailors who died in the Civil war."

Then after a last ghostly bugle call they melted away into the mist. Was it the mist of past or future—for they had saluted the three great facts of past, present and future history—the birth of democracy, the friendship of Anglo-Saxons, and the future peace of the world which will surely spring from it.

Gamble With THE GIANT

YOU may think you are not a gambler, but you are. Life is all a gamble. It's a game of chance since before you are born until after you are dead. You gamble every time you cross a crowded street—every time you ride in your automobile. Now, we ask you to gamble with us on an OIL WELL. We'll drill it right there in the Panhandle, close to your home, and as near the center of the district as we possibly can.

100 PER CENT Guaranteed In order to facilitate the work of drilling by getting subscriptions on record in a hurry, we are going to give you 100 per cent as a dividend if you are in on the first allotment. But this means you'll have to hurry. Don't neglect this chance! Buy today—NOW. The first ones to come in will get a bonus of one additional share FREE, for each share bought, and they get double profit if we win.

We'll Drill YOU a WELL

EVERYBODY is buying oil stocks and some of them are fine buys. All that we are agreeing to do is to drill you a well in your home territory. We'll drill it soon, too. If we get oil your share will be worth a fortune and you will be made rich by the increased value of your farms and ranches. If we don't get oil you lose what you invest. It's a gambling chance. But, remember, you are betting on your own home property. Every place in the Panhandle will be affected if we get a well.

SPEED COUNTS The first man on the subscription books is entitled to twice as much as the last man in. That's logical, isn't it? The books on this allotment will be open August 2 to 5. But the time for you to buy is RIGHT NOW.

$ - MILLIONS WILL BE MADE - $

We are going to plunge right into it with the same sort of pep that we are putting into the campaign to sell this stock. And we won't let you be fooled. We won't even let you take a big risk. The least you can buy is ten shares for one dollar or one thousand shares for one hundred dollars. We won't let any one person invest more than one hundred dollars. We know we might not get oil and you would lose your money. So, we are playing the game safe with everybody.

The Oil is There JUDGE J. M. ELLIOTT of Memphis writes to E. C. Noble, president of the Giant Company, on this point. You know both of these men. Mr. Elliott quotes figures on a well drilled in the direction of Newlin, near old Saulsbury. Elliott says this well passed through five oil sands, at least one of which was "pay stuff." But the well was never completed. The hole caved in and they ran out of money, or something of that sort.

FOR SALE—THE EARTH
If your farm or your ranch is for sale, and your price and terms are right, I can sell it. Write me a letter giving me a full description of your property, section and block number, kind of improvements, and if I don't sell it you are out nothing, as I do a strictly 5 per cent commission business, no sale no pay. The longer time and the least amount of cash you have to have as first payment, the easier it is to sell. It's my business to get the buyers and I know how to get them, and if you don't get in on the deal it's your fault not mine. Have just sold $60,000 worth of Hansford County land in the last thirty days, but can't sell yours unless you list it with me.
