

Transcript.

PUBLISHED DAILY, BY HAYWARD, STANLEY & CO.
Office, corner of City Hall Place and Pearl street.
TERMS OF ADVERTISING:
Square a year, $30 00 | Square 2 weeks, $2 25
do 3 months, 8 00 | do 1 week, 1 50
do 2 months, 5 00 | do 2 days, 1 00
do 1 month, 3 00 | do insertion, 50
Sixteen lines, or less, make a square.

STEAMBOAT UNION, Capt.
PH. Tuttle, 100 of Chambers street, will leave the above place every morning (except Friday) at half past 7 o'clock, touching at Stato Prison
Dock, and landing at Hobbs Ferry, Tarrytown, Sing Sing, Grassy Point and Peekskill, and returns the same day, receiving passengers at the above places. Breakfast and dinner on board. 014

E. L. PRESTON,
DEALER IN
WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY &
SILVER WARE.
No. 320 Broadway, cor. Pearl st.
N. E. All kinds of Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired and warranted, at short notice, and moderate terms.
Cash given for Gold and Silver. 826 1/2

ANDERSON'S GREAT
MAMMOTH BOOT AND SHOE STORE
No. 172 Chatham street.
NO SPLITTING MONOPOLY.
Boots and shoes, all manufactured by honest mechanics. All those opposed to State Prison Monopoly—all those who feel curious to see the largest retail Boot and Shoe store in the United States—all who wish to supply themselves with Boots and Shoes, where the nimble six pence passes for the slow shilling, will please call at 172 Chatham square, at ANDERSON'S, immediately opposite the Tradesman's Bank, at the Mammoth Store, sign of the great shoe and boot. The proprietor is grateful for past favors and solicits the public patronage, as he flatters himself his stock is more extensive than any other retailer in the city, and his prices more moderate. 012

TO THE PUBLIC.—BROWN & CO.
having heretofore made great improvements in the manufacture of Satin Beaver Hats, PRICE THREE DOLLARS, have extended their attention to this most important branch of business, and flatter themselves they have now succeeded in manufacturing an article, which for lightness, durability and beauty, can be excelled by nothing in the line. This hat is the combined result of several years' experience in the manufacture, much attention and great perseverance in the pursuit. Brown & Co. in presenting it to the public, think they have nearly reached the ultimatum of price, cheapness, neatness, durability and comfort to the wearer. They also manufacture, and have been doing so for some time, a very superior Fur Hat, which is also furnished at THREE DOL-LARS. This hat has been highly approved by the public, and is highly appreciated for its lightness, shape, color, elasticity, and lustre. Gentlemen wishing a hat for three dollars and fifty cents, possessing every
quality of a first rate, can be supplied at BROWN & CO.'S One Price Hat Store, 175 Chatham, corner of Mott st.

WRIGHT'S FIRST QUALITY OF SATIN BEAVERS are in the greatest vogue, and are highly appreciated for their lightness, shape, color, elasticity, and lustre. Gentlemen wishing a
hat for three dollars and fifty cents, possessing every
quality of a first rate, can be supplied at WRIGHT'S, Broadway, cor. Canal st.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that he has now on hand a superior lot of his improved Satin Beaver Hats, which he offers to them at a reduced price of $3 50. He would recommend them, as they are all made under his own particular inspection, and of the finest fur bodies, which enable them to retain their own primitive color, shape, elasticity and lustre.
The subscriber also has on hand a large and splendid assortment of Cloth and Fur Caps, which he offers at reduced prices.
C. C. STEPHENS, 94 Canal st.
016

FOR SALE, a Farm beautifully situated, containing forty acres of land, that is very good,
and two story dwelling house, and barn, &c., and a great variety of fruit trees, and a well, and a milk cow, and a pig, and a horse, and a cow, and one mile from Rye village, and two miles from North River landing. No healthier situation can be found. For a further description of the property, enquire of WILLIAM MATHEWS, near the City Hall.

WANTED TO HIRE, in the upper part of the city, a House, with a stable suitable for a grocery and food business, on a moderate scale; the dwelling parcellated to accommodate from 12 to 14 of a family. Any person having such a place to let, may hear of a good tenant, if a reasonable rent is demanded. A line addressed to H. Y., and left at this office, will be attended to. 012

TO MARKET MEN & OTHERS.
The lot of Farm, in the town of South
Amboy, N. J., with farm houses attached to each.
To market men and hucksters in particular, these farms offer great advantages, on account of the facility of access to the city of New York, by steamboats from South Amboy Landing, and by making direct lines from the immediate neighborhood. The land is good, and productive.
Persons in want of such farms will find these worthy of their attention. For further particulars, enquire of JOHN J. LAGRAVE, 196 Greenwich street, corner of Vesey.
110 3/4 street

HORSES FOR SALE.—The
subscriber has removed to No. 112 Mulberry street, Newark, takes this opportunity to inform the public that any person or persons wishing to obtain good horses, either by the span or single, can be accommodated by the subscriber, who spares no pains to keep on hand a good assortment to please and satisfy customers. Horses matched at the shortest notice. Gentlemen from New York purchasing, can have their horses delivered there free of expense.
JOHN MATLOCK,
024 2/2

WOOD'S CARPENTERS' AND ME-CHANICS' TOOL STORE, corner of Chatham and Chambers streets, New York.—T. J. W. has constantly for sale, an excellent assortment of the following: Saws of every description, Stocks and Pits, Augers and Anchors, Bits, Current Saw Sticks, Callipers and Dividers, Turning and Filing Gouges and Gages, Screw Plates, Stocks and Dies, Hammers, Axes, Adzes, Bevels, Gages, Spirit Levels, Burnishers, Spokeshaives, Circular Saws, Turning Lathes, Vices, Measuring Tapes, Drawing Instruments, Wood Boxes for carrying drawers of all kinds, Rules, Files of all kinds, and all the various kinds of Squares, Compasses, Saw Pads, Oil Stones, Draw Knives, Plane Irons, Iron and Steel Squares, Hollow Augers, Drawing Squares, Screw Tools, Sashers' Patent Augers, Cabinet Makers' Clamps, Copper Glue Pots, Blow Pipes, &c.
N. B. A large assortment of Planes, manufactured by
A. & B. Baldwin, New York. 028 3/2

SOUTHERN AND WESTERN MECH-ANICALS are respectfully invited to call at No. 1 Wall Street, to examine PARKER'S PATENT PORTABLE FILTRERS, which have obtained such celebrity in all parts of the United States, as well as in Europe.
These machines, which are elegant and ornamented, will yield upwards of two hundred gallons of pure water per week, and will continue to do so for years, if the instructions of the patentee are attended to.
Rain water collected in wells or cisterns, and even water of a turbid and stagnant character, is freed from all impurities by these machines, it being rendered pure and brilliant; it is then superior, says Abernethy, to every kind of spring water.
The highest medical authority can be given as to the great utility of these Filters; and the water obtained by their use is highly beneficial to that numerous class of persons subject to Dyspepsia. The Patentee has received the Diploma of an Associate in the Society of Arts, and has been one of the most respectable families in this city as to their usefulness, as well as to merchants at New Orleans, Charleston, Cincinnati, Tampico, Mexico, and many other places.
As some persons are offering a spurious article for sale,
the public are informed that none are genuine except those purchased of the Patentee, at his store, No. 1 Wall street.
Price from $3 to $85. 028 3/2

St. MARSHALL'S HEAD ACHE AND CATARRH SNUFF.—A new and elegant article, superior to any thing yet known for removing the Catarrh, and also a Cold in the Head, and the Head Ache. Sold by the proprietor, CHARLES BOWEN, Druggist, Middlebury, Vt., and by Druggists generally in the cities and country throughout the United States and Canada. 025 3/4 1/2

NEW YORK IMPROVED PATENT FEATHER DRESSING MACHINE,
For cleaning and putting in order the feathers of old Feather Beds.
THE citizens of this city are requested to call and see the operation at WILLARD'S Feather Store, 150 Chatham street, corner of Mulberry.

All orders punctually attended to. Beds will be taken from the door and delivered again in the same order, by leaving the name and number at the above place.
N. B. No charge will be made except customers are fully satisfied. 028 1/2

FRANCIS G. BOYLE, Hair Cutter No. 2
Beekman street, at Lovejoy's Hotel.

MRS. HOLBROOK & MISS ROFE'S SEMINARY FOR YOUNG LADIES, 45 Catharine street, New York.—Mrs. H. and Miss R. continue to teach the following branches: Correct Reading and Spelling, Grammar, Geography, Writing and Arithmetic, together with Plain Needle and Sampler Work. The strictest attention will be paid to the moral, religious and intellectual improvement of their pupils. Terms very low—made known on application. 012

DAY & EVENING INSTRUCTIONS.
P. R. CORNELL continues to instruct young ladies, at No. 15 Hudson street, in the following useful branches of Education.—Spelling, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography, Astronomy, History, Natural Philosophy, &c. Hours of instruction, from 9 o'clock
A. M. until 3 P. M. Evening classes, from 6 o'clock until 8, and from 7 o'clock until 9. Terms made known on application. 028 1/2

TO MUSIC SELLERS AND PUBLISH-ERS.—NUGENT'S Patent Music Pamphlet and Letter-press, of Instant Binder. For the reception and instant binding of regular scores, music, &c. in paper prints and the penny and other magazines, receipts, counting house documents, merchants and bankers' correspondence, and all periodicals. This is not only the cheapest, superior to every other offered to the public, as being the only one which constantly presents a new and original, and answers all the purposes of a bound book. It may be had, in every size and species of binding, from 25 cents to 1 dollar and 50 cents, at NUGENT'S & BROOKS' manufactory, 52 Fulton street, corner of Cliff, and at all the music stores and publishers in this city.
02 1/2

BILLIARD TABLES.—The first Cast Iron Billiard Table in this country, and two other elegant new Tables, have just been added to Bassford's splendid Saloon, 215 Broadway, 3d story, rear stairs. The Saloon now contains eight Tables, being the largest in the known world; both the patent india rubber and cloth cushions are in use.

NOTICE.—Those who wish to purchase, and the public generally, are invited to try them; they are thought to be the best ever put up.
N. B. An excellent room with five tables is now open to the public, at 603 Broadway, near the corner of Houston street, entrance through the hair dresser's shop.— Every article in the trade for sale at those rooms.
$50 will be paid for the conviction of any responsible person infringing on this patent. 02 1/2

DR. ELLIOTT, Oculist and Professor of the Anatomy and Diseases of the Human Eye, 164 Broadway, up stairs, begs to inform those who are troubled with weak, sore, inflamed eyes, or any defect of vision, that they have now an opportunity of getting their eyes PERMANENTLY CURED, without an operation, by the aid of Skill, Medicine and Glasses. Dr. E. having studied under the most celebrated Oculists in Europe, and one of the best in America—Professor Smith of the Medical College of Ohio—is enabled to assert, with confidence, that he can cure every eye, and cure in a short time, the most dangerous diseases of the Eye, hitherto considered incurable, as from his extensive and successful practice, hundreds in New York and elsewhere can testify.

SPECTACLES.—The Patent Spectating, beautiful Medium Spectacle Glasses, having the peculiar property of keeping the eye perfectly cool, giving it immediate and permanent ease, and at the same time adjust itself to every age and defect, without the necessity of change. Dr. E.
will furnish the best Glasses to suit the particular defect.
Price of the Patent Glasses, $1 50, common do, 3 shillings.
Elliott's Patent Ointment, for the immediate cure of inflammation of the Eye. Price, 50 cents per box, warranted.
Advice to the poor gratis, on the evenings of Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

TOVES! STOVES! STOVES!—The subscriber offers for sale a superior assortment of Toves, of the neatest and most economical patterns. Among which are the Parlor Franklins, a rich and new article.
Also an assortment of Cooking Stoves, for wood or coal.
The Toves are so constructed as to make the most economical use of fuel, and are also adapted to suit the particular requirements of all purchasers. Also Stoves well arranged for Hatters and Tailors, being lined with Iron, which makes them more durable and economical, as they will consume less fuel and create much more heat than those lined with brick.
Toves for stores, offices, and bar-rooms, in great variety.
Also small cookers. Please call and see for yourselves, at JOSHUA UNDERHILL'S, 304 Grand st. 05

MOROCCO SILVERS, LININGS, BIND-INGS, &c., &c.
50 dozen unpressed Black Morocco.
100 do Superior quality pocket knives & book binding 100 do Coach Roans, various colors.
Constantly on hand and arriving, every variety of articles consisting of Black, Cochineal, and other colors, of buff, pearl, and morron silvers; unpressed, straight and French finished morocco; Cochineal, wood, red, buff, and black Coach Roans; hair and pink Linings; Stock and Shoe Binding. For sale at the lowest market prices.
T. & J. GREENE, No. 3 Jacob st.
012 3/4 1/2

TO STOVE DEALERS.—The subscriber has on hand 300 24 inch Ova Stoves 250 18 inch Ova Stoves 250 26 do do do 250 20 do do do 150 25 do do do
250 22 do do do 150 30 do do do
250 24 do do do 150 36 do do do
Also a general assortment of Cooking Stoves, for wood and coal, all of which he offers for sale by the quantity or single stove, at reasonable prices.
ROBT. FAZON, 13 Bowery
027

TWO good workmen wanted, for tin and sheet iron, at 810 3/4
012 3/4 1/2

TAILORING.—JOSEPH TWIBELL, Jr., No. 133
Chapel street, a few doors below Canal street, continues to make Clothing in the first style of fashion, at the following low prices:—
Dress Coats, $3 00 | Plain Vests, $1 75
Frock Coats, $4 00 | Pantalons, $1 75
Gentlemen furnishing their own cloth, attended to with punctuality and despatch, and all clothes warranted to fit, or the materials paid for. 014 1/2

W. M. FULLER has the pleasure of informing those who feel desirous of becoming members of the gymnasium, that he has now finished and in order for their reception. He has spared no pains to render this school of most agreeable and useful amusement; and to those whose health has become or is likely to become impaired by sedentary occupation, an invaluable place of resort both for benefit and pleasure. Besides all the exercises contained in his Ann Street establishment, he has added several very important ones to his present Gymnasium. He will particularly notice an excellent Quoit Ground, and a beautifully arranged Bowling Alley, which will be found exceedingly pleasing and useful. He has also added several new and improved light gymnastics, after the more active ones have been gone through with.
Having spared no expense in fitting up this highly useful school, and having suffered a heavy loss by the burning down and destruction of every thing he had in the Ann Street establishment, he looks forward with confidence to the generosity of the public for countenance and support.
The Gymnasium is situated in Greene street, between Bleeker and Amy streets.
For terms, apply at the Gymnasium, Fencing and Sparring at the former establishment. 026 1/2

TOVES.—N. B. HINTON, at No. 19 Carmine street, and No. 6 Sixth Avenue, has on hand a great variety of Stoves, &c., viz:
Stoves suitable for Churches, large or small, cast iron, small consumers, and most elegant patterns. I can furnish one half the number wanted. Of these,
the most respectable reference can be given. Cooking Stoves of a smaller class, such as No. 1, 2, and 3, which are adapted to winter and summer purposes in preference to all tin bakers that have been introduced.
The subscriber respectfully solicits the public to favor him with a call, there being no other stores in market like the subscriber's. 013 1/2

CHEAPEST PREMIUM READY MADE LINEN STORE, 181 Hudson street.—B. DENAUX has the honor to inform his customers and the public generally, that a premium has been awarded to him at the last of the American Institute for the best made Linen Shirts. He also, thankful for past favors, requests a continuance of the same, his intention being to make his establishment known as the cheapest in the city. He also manufactures Stocks of every pattern and quality.
He always keeps a good assortment of Hosiery, Gloves, Suspenders, and Gentlemen's Furnishing articles.
Linen made to order, warranted to set well. Shirts of every description, wholesale and retail. 02 1/2

DENTIST.—M. DAVIDS, Surgeon Dentist, 56
Canal, corner of Mercer street, inserts human, imperfect and animal Teeth, in a beautiful manner.
Those unacquainted with Mr. D.'s operation on the Teeth and Gums, are informed they are effected without the least pain or inconvenience to the patient, except extracting, which is done with the least possible pain.
Teeth filled with gold and silver foil, and his insectible pearl cement.
N. B. Charges very moderate. 020 1/2 1/2

BEAR'S OIL, in pots and bottles, two sizes, just received and for sale at 243 Hudson st. Barbers and others are requested to call. 010

THE STUDY OF BOOK-KEEPING—77 CEDAR STREET, corner of Broadway.—In G.
C. MERRITT'S method of teaching the theory and practice of Book-keeping committing to memory is disapproved of;
the various rules and principles which have made the theory of the science and variance with its practice, are discarded; the study is rendered interesting, and the student becomes familiar with practical Book-keeping in a very short time. Every person is taught separately. There are two rooms, one for private instruction. Hours from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M. G. C. MERRITT'S works are for sale at the bookstores and at the rooms. Also, just published, price very low.—A Lecture on Book-keeping, with the Balance sheet. 02 1/2

TO STOVE MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS.—Black Varnish of a superior quality, of various shades of iron work of any description. The article has been fully tested by the manufacturer, and proves to be superior to any at present in use. Price 50c per gallon, to be had of the proprietor, who continues to purchase a quantity of first rate Black Lead, to be disposed of in any quantity to suit purchasers. 017 1/2

"Economy is wealth," says Dr. Franklin.
COME AND SAVE YOUR PENNY!
MERRITT'S NEW CHEAP STORE, corner of Cherry and Scammon streets, wholesale and retail, is just opened with a large assortment of Groceries and Provisions, of every description, such as Teas, Sugars, Hams, Shoulders, Corns, Fish of all kinds, Butter, Flour, Lard, Honey, Mollasses, Pork, &c. From a long experience in the business, he flatters himself that he will sell as cheap as any other store in the city, and he offers the quick sale of the slow selling; he will sell cheap for cash. All those earning their money by the sweat of the brow, and wish to use economy in buying out the same, will call at Merritt's Cheap Store, 363 Cherry street, corner of Scammon.

TO MERCHANTS, BROKERS, AND OTHERS.—S. J. SYLVESTER, 130 Broadway, N. Y., Stock and Bond Broker, continues to purchase all kinds of Broken Bank Bills, particularly those of the "Mechanic's Bank," "Paterson," and "Bank of New Brunswick," &c. 012

S. J. Sylvester gives himself of this opportunity to inform those who are in the city and country, that his undivided attention is given to the buying and selling of Stocks, Gold, Silver, Bank of England Notes, Bills of Exchange, and
the collection of Drafts. Bills on England bought and sold.
Remittances from the country received and disposed of as
order may be given. He also continues to purchase all the "Reporter and Counterfeit Detector" is published every Monday, at $2 50 per annum, but is sent gratis to all who have transactions with the subscriber.
S. J. S. respectfully solicits a continuance of the liberal patronage of the public, and in a short time, which he is determined to merit by persevering in the punctuality which
has always marked his habits of business.
Letters per mail will meet with the same attention as personal application, if addressed
S. J. SYLVESTER, 130 Broadway, N. Y.

$500 REWARD.—BEWARE OF COUN-TERFEITS.—The subscriber has discovered and understood attention is given to the buying and selling of Stocks, Gold, Silver, Bank of England Notes, Bills of Exchange, and
the collection of Drafts. Bills on England bought and sold.
Remittances from the country received and disposed of as
order may be given. He also continues to purchase all
the "Reporter and Counterfeit Detector" is published every Monday, at $2 50 per annum, but is sent gratis to all
who have transactions with the subscriber.
S. J. S. respectfully solicits a continuance of the liberal patronage of the public, and in a short time, which he is determined to merit by persevering in the punctuality which
has always marked his habits of business.
Letters per mail will meet with the same attention as
personal application, if addressed
S. J. SYLVESTER, 130 Broadway, N. Y.

ALL Blacking Box Makers can deliver their boxes, for cash, at the following low prices.
Great was his genius,
Most bright was his thought,
Who first the Blacking art
To perfection brought. 029 00 1/2

A CARD.—DRYSDALE & GRIMSHAW, V. Engineers and Machinists, late of 31 Ann street, respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, and have established ment, 52 Duane street, (late Robert McQueen's)—where they will promptly attend to all orders in their line of business, viz: manufacturing of printing presses, of every description, and engraving and other machinery. A. D. & S. O. S. Upwards of 100 groce different sizes, packed in shipping order, ready for delivery, at moderate prices and liberal terms.
L. G. & CO.
Who first the Blacking art
To perfection brought. 029 00 1/2

FASHIONABLE TAILORING ESTAB-LISHMENT.—W. M. SHIRLEY, No. 25 Bleeker st., New York, has commenced the making up of Clothing, in the latest style of fashion, at the following low prices:
Dress Coats, $7 50 | Pantalons, $1 75
Frock Coats, 3 00 | Vests, 1 75
Surtout Coats, 3 50 | Other garments in proportion.
Gentlemen furnishing their own cloth, will be attended to with punctuality and despatch; and all orders warranted to fit, or the materials paid for. 01 3/4

CARPETING AND FLOOR CLOTHS.
The subscriber has just received by recent arrivals, and is now opening for the inspection of the public, 10 boxes Superfine English Ingrain Carpeting, 10 boxes fine do, 15 boxes fine do, and 10 boxes fine do, all of which he offers at a low price, and in great quantities. He has also on hand a well selected assortment of beautiful Wilton tufted and Turkey heavy Rugs, Matting, Mats, Table and Piano covers, &c.
Also a usual large and elegant assortment of fancy and staple dry goods, all of which will be sold at prices that cannot fail to be satisfactory. R. SMITH, Jr., at 24 1/2, 159 Chatham st. opposite Mulberry.

PREMIUM CROWN GLASS.—The agent for the Redford Crown Window Glass, has for sale a large assortment of this splendid article.
The Redford Crown Glass was awarded the FIRST PREMIUM at the American Institute, and the recent Fair of the American Institute in this city. It also received an honorary preliminary at the late Fair at Albany, and was pronounced by the judges to be "a superb article, exhibiting an improvement in the art of glass making above any thing yet known before in any country."
The Redford Crown Glass stands unrivalled. It surpasses all other Crown Glass, by its transparency and brilliancy of color; by its evenness and beauty of surface; by its uncommon strength and weight; and by the peculiar excellence of its materials.
Dealers, contractors, and others, are freely invited to examine the above Glass at 62 Water st. Terms liberal.
N. B. 013 1/2

WARD'S VEGETABLE HAIR OIL.
It is unnecessary to enlarge upon the virtues of this most valuable preparation for the restoration and growth of the Hair. The fact that this is the only preparation in the world, of every city and all parts of the United States, the Canada, British Provinces and West Indies, and that it is rapidly getting into vogue throughout Europe, speaks volumes in its favor.
N. B. Observe round each genuine bottle is a treatise on the human hair, by W. F. Ward, M. D. of New York. Sold wholesale by the proprietor, 241 Spring st. Also at Hopper's, corner Broadway and Franklin; at A. B. & D.
Sands, corner Fulton and William sts. N. Y. 030 1/2

IMPROVED SAFETY SPIRIT LAMPS.
G. MICHELL, Inventor and Manufacturer of the Safety Reflecting Spirit Lamps, 8 Catherine street, New York.—G.
M. returns his sincere thanks to his numerous patrons for their liberal support in the above business, and he also expresses his gratification in general that he has invented a Reflecting Lamp, which is adapted for stores, reading rooms, offices, and all places where a strong light is required, as they will emit a brilliant light directly underneath the lamp, without the least shadow. The subscriber respectfully solicits the public for about 100 cents. The spirit is of that nature that it will not soil any thing it may fall on, but dry up similar to water.
Spirit, &c. delivered as usual, without any extra charge.
Store Lamps from one dollar and upwards. 016 1/2

TO THE NERVOUS.
EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS exert a specific effect upon the brain and nervous fluid, that the palpitation of the heart, the tremulous hand, the dizzy eye, and the fluttering mind, vanish before their effects like noxious vapors before the benign influence of the morning sun.
This Tonic Medicine is for Nervous diseases, Indigestion and its consequences, as want of appetite, an imperfect distention of the stomach, belchings, pains in the stomach, acidity, unpleasant taste in the mouth, rumbling noise in the bowels, nervous symptoms, general debility, languidness, when the mind becomes irritable, desponding, thoughtful, melancholy and dejected.
Hypochondriacism, Low Spirits, Palpitations of the Heart, Nervous Irritability, Nightmares, Rheumatism, Spasmodic Affections, Dimness of Sight, and all the other Nervous symptoms, Evans' Camomile Pills will effect a safe and effectual cure.
Sole, wholesale and retail, at 95 Division st. N. Y.; also at 107 New York, at 241 Spring st. N. Y.; at 107 Pearl st. Brooklyn, 49 Fulton st. Philadelphia, 59
Chestnut st. Albany, 392 South Market street. Troy, 216 River st. New Haven, by D. Mitchell, Church st. 016 1/2

[From the Metropolitan.]
THE FIERY VAULT.

Venice!—The word frights editorial ringlets from their place, the revising pen flutters with revived terror, and the ink rolls in troubled waves from its silver stand. The echo of a hundred tales rings in the ear—gondolas, red masks, daggers, cows, tortures, and poison, float in an undistinguished mass before the eye. The sea Cybele fresh from ocean—would she had left her historians at the bottom! But let us see.
"Truly, my son, thou sayest rightly; there will be feasting, and music, and mirth, in the proud palazzo—morrow. But by the wings of the lion and old Carruchio paused, his eye fixed on the white towers of the Morentali mansion, but not in listlessness.
"The duke, my master, is a gallant gentleman,
father, and liberal; and I warrant me has done wild deeds. I have often, when steering my gondola, seen him glance among the female faces, as though—
"Silence, my son, would better become a faithful servant. Nay, were the duke to hear thee judging his looks, there are warmer places for rattling spies than even these stones at noon. Forget not thy friend, Miollano, who for merely recognizing a trinket in a maiden's hair, had the pleasure, as every body believes, of shrieking out his life in one of yon fiery pyres."
"True, father; but his master was not the Duke Antonio di Regola, nor, after all, is it quite certain that it was Miollano's scorched body that we fished up."
"Santi! if thou thinkest the doubt worth solving, the burning chamber is still there. For me, I love a cooler abode. Farewell, I see a fare you-der; and the old gondolier stepped upon the prow of his dark and elegant boat, a vigorous effort brought her round, and in a few moments he was far from the marble stair. His companion, a muscular young man, with features strikingly handsome, yet on a second look bearing a sinister expression, removed his broad slouched cap from a brow of bronze, and fanning himself therewith, soliloquized.
"Dungeons and death—mayhap it may be so,
yet I am free to think. That same proud Count of Morentali, too, whose daughter is to wed Lorenzo the duellist, might thank me for keeping his secret. By St. Mark, I am inclined to let him know his obligation. He would, perhaps, repay me with a lodging under the care of the Three, as he favored poor Miollano. Truly the prospect is pleasant, but how am I to blame? A grandee visits a woman who lives near me, doubtless on an errand of charity; nay, I am sure of it, for he gave her money, and on leaving her house the mask falls from his face, and I discover Count Mo-rentali. What of it? If indeed—
"If what, friend?" said a third person, advancing.
"If I could get a fare this morning, before my hour of attending my employer, it would lighten my heart, and load my pocket."
"What noble of Venice is happy in the service of so prudent and veracious a gondolier?"
"He must be a stranger here who knows not the face of the Duke di Regola."
"I am one," said the masked speaker; "I would see somewhat of your city; give me a cast of your office along the most notable streets, if you call them so, and enlighten me as to some of the owners of these gorgeous piles."
They are floating on the deep blue waters;
the stranger reclines under the half-drawn awning.
"Who inhabits that building?" said he, as the bark glided near one of the palaces of Venice.
The stone front, interspersed with marble-edged openings, long and narrow; the first and second stories centered each by a large window, richly ornamented with arabesque tracery; the terrace projecting a few feet from two doors appropriated to visitors, ascended by short stairs, the two other entrances at opposite sides, level with the water which flowed into them to dark platforms beyond, one for the domestics and humble citizens, the other for the more secret movements of the master of the mansion; the lofty turret-looking chamber, and the shaded verandae, bespoke the haughty abode of a wealthy noble.
"That is the palace of Count Morentali."
"I have heard the name, I think. What character does he bear?"
"It is not for such as myself, signore, to talk of those so far above me."
"Nay, thy words need not flow so niggardly to me. What care I for the count or his affairs?—I ask but for curiosity, and methinks thou mightest oblige me."
"You can be silent, signore?"
"I shall be forgetful, in a week, of thy whole history, which is the same thing. There is an earnest of my secrecy."
"Thanks, signore," said the gondolier, taking the piece of gold. "All I can tell you of this count is, that he is considered haughty and cruel.
We know he is rich; and that he is merciless, was shown in the fate of a fellow-boatman, who, for some trifling indiscretion of the tongue, was put to a horrible death in the dungeon of the Council."
"How is that known?" said the stranger.
"I myself, with my father, dragged up the burned and mangled body from the canal.
"Were there any witnesses of your discovery?
Such a sight is not very often seen, I should think."
"None, signore; for we speedily replaced the corpse, not choosing to meddle with the business of others."
"A prudent course, friend. Pray, is the count married?"
"His lady died many years ago, in giving birth to a son and daughter. The young countess is now in the palace, as beautiful as Venus. Her wedding is to take place to-morrow, to Lorenzo di Casaglia, the duellist, as he is called."
"Ah! and the son?"
"That part of the tale is most surprising, signore;
the child disappeared when about three years old,
and has never since been heard of. Some say that he must have fallen into the canal, and that seems most probable."
"Do you ever see the count abroad?"
"Not frequently, signore; the last time I saw him was a few days ago, and then by accident."
"How! and where?"
"You seem interested, signore; and as a stranger, I do not fear telling what to a Venetian ear it would be hazardous to disclose. I live in a street to the right of yon church, the Church of St. Mary, and nearly opposite reside an old woman and her daughter. The girl is very beautiful, and the count, I suppose, thinks so; for I saw him enter the house a few evenings since, where he remained nearly an hour."

"How could you know him? I thought the fashion of Venice was to go masked on such adventures?"
"So did the count, signore; but as he was leaving the house, in putting up his purse, his mask fell off. He seemed terribly angry at the chance, and instantly restored it."
"No wonder. Men of his age and rank should be careful. Can a stranger have access to the noble?"
"Not usually, signore; but if you were to introduce yourself as wishing to be present at the wedding of the Lady Giulia, the count's courtesy might be taxed to welcome you."
"I am determined to try, friend. So turn about, and make for the palace. Here is for thy pains."
A second piece of gold chinked in the pouch of the gondolier, as he dexterously swung round his boat, and a succession of vigorous strokes again brought them to the mansion.
"Where will you enter, signore?"
"Oh! the servant's gate. I must begin modestly."
The gondola shot through the dark passage, and reached the landing platform. The stranger sprang from the boat.

come, and we must prepare for his reception." A forced smile was on her lip, but her eye swam in moisture. We will leave her for the present.

Terrible, indeed, was the secret council chamber of the Doge of Venice. A large and lofty room, lighted not by the sun, but by several lamps carefully arranged, to throw their strong lustre away from the judgment seats, and upon a central point, surrounded by a low massive rail, was rendered utterly insipid to sound, by means of doubly quilted arras, and treble doors. The floor was thickly carpeted, save in the space alluded to, which was about twelve feet in diameter, and appeared to be boarded. Within this room deeds were whispered to have been done, at the mention of which human blood is freezingly arrested. A concealed door behind the arras led to the smaller apartment, where every engine for wrenching the joints, crushing the flesh, and grinding the marrow of their fellow mortals, had been stored by the relentless agents of Venetian tyranny. These boards surrounded by the rail could be raised, and the half-breathing body, which had undergone the agonies of that chamber, was thrown into an abyss of appalling depth, at whose bottom, it was rumored, years before a machine had been placed, which the falling mass set in motion, and by which it was mangled to atoms. A winding staircase, entered from a corner, also hidden by the tapestry, conducted down to a spot where a more hideous torture than all was prepared. A small low roofed room was there, built entirely of iron, not sufficiently large to enable the inmate to stand erect, but allowing the full range of limb in every other direction. Below was a furnace. Stripped to the skin, the victim was led thither, and though in utter darkness, ventilation was supplied him. For some hours perchance, he was thus left, until he began to dread a perpetual imprisonment. But the atmosphere grows more confined, still more so, and the blood is thrown violently to his head. Air is again admitted, he breathes again,—it must have been a fancy. But no, this time there is no deception, the heat is stifling, the floor below him is unbearable, he raises himself on his extremities, he raves, he screams for mercy. Anon his scorched limbs become blistered, and writhings and shrieks proclaim his excruciating agony. A few minutes, and all must cease in death. No. The tormentor's craft has been better taught. Suddenly the iron floor is drawn from beneath him, its place is supplied by a slab of the coldest marble, while gushes of icy water from above fall upon his burning frame. The transition is exquisite, almost too delicious for mortal bearing. For a time he lies in semi-insensibility, but not long. The chill comes over him, and the relief becomes another torment. Then is accomplished the crowning efforts of the fiends, who knew too well the indescribable effect of the unexpected substitution of one agony for another. The marble bed is drawn away, and the wretch is wreathing on a red-hot floor. Then scream follows scream, and the body is drawn into every form and posture conceivable, with terrible swiftness. Malice has now done its utmost, a few more struggles, and a few more groans, and a blackened and undistinguishable corpse is withdrawn from its fiery cavern, and hurled through a trap-door near, eventually to find its way into one of the canals of Venice. Such had been the fate of that Miollano, whom the gondoliers have mentioned as one of the last victims of Count Morentali. Who is to be the next?

The count sat alone in the secret council chamber, reclining with Italian indolence upon a richly cushioned couch. The lamps were lighted, and beneath them stood two half-dressed muscular men, in visors, the executioners of his pleasure. "Bring in the hound," and the ill-fated gondolier, Speranza, heavily manacled, stood before Morentali.

"So, thou art here. Hast any more tales of the cruel and merciless count to tell?"

"The miserable pain-dead, muttered only, "My lord! my lord!" and convulsive breathings seemed to drown his voice.

"Thou shalt know another," continued Morentali, in the same cold, sneering tone, "ere long. Pity thou wilt not be able to tell it."

"My lord I remember—your promise—"

"Was of secrecy, I believe; and it shall be kept. Look around, whom dost thou fear can overhear thy stories of the count, or thy screams which may follow them?"

"Recollect, my lord, I am servant to the Duke di Regola."

"I do not forget that; on the contrary, it shall add to thy reward. For the rest, dost thou think Antonio, though beardless, will discover thee here? Should he indeed recognize thee floating before his palazzo, perhaps he might be amazed, to prevent which surprise, thou shalt find thy way down the abyss below thee, which, I think, does not lead to the canal."

"Oh! mercy, my good lord, as you hope for it yourself hereafter, as you—"

"So! menaces and remembrances having failed, thou wouldst now try prayers—'tis well, but address them elsewhere, while thy worthy friends on each side remove thy superfluous dress, preparatory to a pleasure thou hast not dreamed of."

At a sign from the count, some of the chains were removed, with the upper portion of Speranza's garments. Morentali then spoke again.

"If there is any peculiar torment thou wouldst select, name it, and we, to the best of our poor abilities, will humor thee. There is the rack, or the screw, or the sharp pendulum, or the bath of molten lead. Or, as thou art a man of a friendly disposition, there is the burning chamber, in which thy companion Miollano some few weeks since expiated the crime of noticing a jewel in a lady's hair, as being once the property of a Venetian noble. Thou didst find his body, and therefore knowest something of the sentence he underwent. Truly he did our machinery credit; his cries were loud and his agonised struggles and contortions vigorous. I myself was present at the operation of reducing him to a cinder, and have seldom been more delighted. What sayst thou, wilt thou try that room, in a spirit of friendly emulation?"

During the count's speech, the gondolier stood as a man half awakened, but at its conclusion, as the noble's taunting laugh rang on his ear, he staggered from his companions, and sank at the edge of the rail in complete insensibility. Terror had benumbed him.

"Nay," said Morentali, "twere hardly worth while to submit the fool to the torture in this state. Remove him, let the surgeon attend, and see him prepared for my visit this night."

[To be continued.]

Piscatorial Anecdote.—A gentleman from the south Parish in this town, informs us that he is the owner of a cat, whose adroitness at catching fishes would put to blush many of the disciples of Izaak Walton, who annually assemble at the meadow for that purpose. Said Grimalkin uses neither rod, line or bait; still by "hook or by crook" she manages to catch a great many fish. Among her recent trophies, was that of a large pickerel, the taking of which was made known to the inmates of the house in the usual manner, by flapping his dripping tail on the floor! After the cat had savagely devoured a part of her game, the remainder was cooked, and made an ample repast for two boys!—[Norfolk Advertiser.]

New York Transcript.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19.

Advertisements and communications intended for the New York Transcript, may be left at the Book-Store of Mr. A. Greene, No. 1 Beekman street, or box No. 53 Hudson's News Room, and will receive the same attention as if sent to the office of publication.

From Mexico and Texas.—The steambot Columbia, Captain Coffey, arrived here yesterday, from Charleston, bringing papers up to the 14th inst. inclusive. We subjoin some interesting extracts in reference to the affairs of Texas and Mexico;

By the schr. Halcyon at New Orleans, from Metamoras, the Bee of the 5th has advices which confirm the capture of the garrison of Goliad (La Bahia) by about thirty of the Texans, during the absence of General Cos, and the sleeping of the Mexicans. Cos says he will be revenged. He is, probably, a second Bombastes Furioso. They had made a prisoner of the collector, (Sant Eno) and a portion of the inhabitants had joined them. When taken two letters were found concealed in his shoes addressed to Santa Anna.

We are informed that a battle had been fought on the Gaudaloupe, and forty men killed of the Mexican and two of the Texian troops.

Gen. Alvarez, the republican and antagonist of Santa Anna, has taken Acapulco. So that the despot must look to the Pacific, and abandon Texas to the brave Houston and Austin. Disturbances have occurred at Pueblo, and in Mexico itself, it is said, there has been a plot to restore the government of 1833. Tanaulipas has backed out from the central government.

Since the above information reached here, a respectable commercial firm of this city has received a letter from a correspondent at Matagorda, dated Oct. 12th, from which we make the following extract, in relation to Texian affairs:—

"We have about 700 men near or in San Antonio to take, if possible, the Mexican troops that are there, said to be 500 to 600, who are waiting reinforcements. The possession by us of that town will deprive the Mexicans of the strongest rallying point in Texas, and secure to us the most important inland port in the country. We are now making preparations for the defence of our town, which is in a manner the navigable key to all the Colonial Texas, but can, with a small force and good material, be easily defended.

A powerful counter revolution that has broke out in the interior of Mexico, and the constant desertion of soldiers from the cause of Santa Anna, is highly beneficial to our interests, and will undoubtedly hasten a conciliation in some way. Mexico has no navy to speak of, therefore we have not much to fear from that source."

A Rumor.—A rumor was prevalent throughout this city yesterday, originating, we believe, with the captain of a vessel just arrived at Boston from Bordeaux, that Louis Philippe, the king of the French, together with some of the members of his family, had been assassinated. We expect, however, that it is but a rumor—notwithstanding that it found its way to the bulletins of some of "the respectable sixpennies."

Sang Froid.—Colonel Stone of the Commercial Advertiser, mentions the following instance of cold, brutal, and inhuman indifference on the part of some persons attached to the boat New York, Captain Higgins or his passage from Columbia to Harrisburgh. Some time after passing Marietta we heard a noise, as if some one had fallen into the canal—on inquiry we ascertained that the look tender had given some offence to the steersman, and had, by him, been thrown into the canal. We asked whether he got out, and the answer was—"We told him we would throw him in—we did so—whether he got out was none of our concern."

Execution for Murder.—It is arranged by the authorities of the city and county, that the execution of the unfortunate culprit Jackson shall take place at seven o'clock this morning, and not in the afternoon as it was previously ordered.

Another Absconding Cashier.—The New Orleans papers of the 3d inst., offer a reward of three thousand dollars for the arrest and delivery of a man named Dudley W. Babcock, late Cashier of the Union Bank at Clinton, who has absconded with thirty thousand dollars of the funds of that institution.

Centennial Celebration.—The second Centennial celebration of the settlement at Hartford, Conn., took place in that city on Monday last.

A Cunning Scheme.—Our neighbors of "The Sun" think to force us into angry notice of them by falsely representing us to have been guilty, like themselves, of the folly of sending a person on a ridiculous mission to Bellevue, to act as amanuensis to the poor culprit Jackson, who is to terminate his career on the scaffold this morning. The plan won't take, gentlemen. You must resort to some other means than paltry fabrication to drive us into a controversy, as we are accustomed to your efforts in that way, that we have long ceased, to notice, or be astonished at, any untruth that may appear in your columns.

Singular Appearance in the Heavens.—The attention of many of our citizens was strongly attracted, on Tuesday evening, by a very singular appearance in the heavens. It consisted of a bow, of a bright crimson color, spanning the firmament from east to west. It was of different widths, apparently from one to three rods across. It was brightest in the zenith, while feathery streaks, of a paler color shot forth on each side. The evening was clear, and the stars shone brightly through the crimson bow, like the brilliant eye of a pretty woman through a thin veil of gauze. Many such eyes were admiring it, and many a lady wondered what could be the price per yard of such fine stuffs, when the whole heavens could afford to be decked out so gorgeously.

Bridge across the Ohio.—Books were opened at Wheeling on the 7th inst. for a subscription of stock to erect a bridge across the Ohio at that place, and on the 10th, the whole stock, $200,000, was taken up.

The Dumb Speak.—Our readers will recollect the conviction of a colored man named William Lisbon, in the Court of Sessions on Thursday last, on the testimony of a deaf and dumb man named Christopher Chase, who accused the prisoner of having knocked him down on the Five Points, and robbed him of some articles of clothing, and a small sum of money. Chase was examined and gave his answers in writing, and his singular and unfortunate situation excited the deep sympathy of every person who heard the trial.

Yesterday, as Alderman Labagh was taking a stroll in the neighborhood of Washington Market, he discovered this same deaf and dumb man in close conversation with some of his companions, and he watched him for some time, with the intention of giving him in custody when he met an officer.

In some way or other, Chase managed to avoid the introduction which was intended for him by the worthy Alderman, and it is supposed that he is at present in New Jersey.

It is very probable that this circumstance, thus fortunately discovered, may be the means of releasing Lisbon from prison, and at the same time place Chase in a very awkward situation—inasmuch as he has rendered himself amenable to a prosecution for felony.

Another Pickpocket.—Mr. Acoliph Rielbrook, of No. 92 Beekman street, made a complaint at the Police Office yesterday, that while standing at a store window in Broadway, looking at some articles which were exposed for sale, he had his pocket picked by some expert scoundrel of a wallet containing a large amount in bank notes, and a bill of exchange for a thousand dollars. This is the fifth or sixth robbery committed in this city under similar circumstances within the present week.

A Curious Case.—A complaint was made at the police office yesterday, against an individual engaged in the erection of the new Halls of Justice in Centre street, by a laborer employed at the same works, who accused the defendant of having thrown a stone violently at his head, and injured him very severely. It was alleged for the defence, that the stone being thrown as stated, was the means of saving the complainant's life, who was at the time endeavoring to take away the supporting pillar of a scaffold, on the top of which there was a heavy weight of iron that would, had he not been stopped by the blow complained of, have fallen upon him, and crushed him to death. It was further stated that before the stone was thrown, the complainant was apprised of the danger he was in, but he did not hear, and that was the only alternative left to avert the serious consequences which threatened. Justice Lowndes said the case was a curious one, and he adjourned the further hearing of it until to-day, to give the defendant an opportunity of proving his statement.

A Ruffian.—A desperate fellow named Canes, a Swede by birth, whose term of imprisonment in the state prison (where he had been confined five years for grand larceny) expired on Tuesday, was brought from Sing Sing in custody of one of the officers of the prison, charged with having muttered vengeance against one and all of the keepers, whenever he might have an opportunity to lay his hands upon them. The Magistrate of this city having no power to take cognizance of the matter, suggested to the officer the propriety of applying to the authorities at Sing Sing, who will doubtless again accommodate him with comfortable quarters.

Burglary.—The house of Mr. H. G. Stebbins, of No. 2 Varick Place was broken open on Tuesday night, and a large quantity of silver plate, and a valuable Spanish cloak stolen therefrom. The thief or thieves effected their entrance to the premises by the basement story, and have for the present escaped with their booty.

Fatal Accident.—A carpenter by the name of John Wright, fell from the second story of a building in Broad street, near Beaver, on Tuesday evening, and was taken up insensible. After being bled by a physician, and receiving such other attentions as could be afforded him at the moment, he was conveyed to the Hospital, but soon afterwards expired. He has left a wife and one child.

Utica Convention.—Among other resolutions adopted by the internal improvement convention now setting at Utica, is one requesting the members from this State to urge the passing of a law authorising the importation and transit, under proper regulations, of British goods from Great Britain, through the United States, to the British provinces in Canada, free of duty.

Police Office.—The only business worth notice done at the police office yesterday, was the commitment to prison of a notorious ruffian named Alexander Fanning, who, in company with two equally reckless and profligate fellows, brutally assaulted several black women on the five points, one of whom they literally stripped naked in the street, and tore her clothes to tatters. Justice Lowndes ordered him to be held to bail in a very high amount, which not being able to procure, he was disposed of as above stated.

Life of Dr. Doyle.—Mr. John Doyle of Liberty street has just published, in a neat octavo volume, the life of this distinguished scholar, prelate, and theologian. It is dedicated to the "poor, persecuted, but loyal, people of Ireland, as a just tribute to the first of bishops, patriots, and philosophers."

Large Cabbage.—We were presented, on Tuesday, with a cabbage raised in the garden of Mr. George Ray, near the turnpike, nine miles from Wheeling, in this county—which weighed twenty seven pounds. As our boy was taking it home many a wishful eye was cast upon it by the tailors.—[Wheeling Times.]

The Knickerbocker Monthly Magazine, for all November, came to hand on the 17th. As it came so late in the month, we did not think it worth a while to read it in a hurry; and accordingly we sat down leisurely to the work. And it is well we did, for had we merely glanced the pages over and read the articles—as they read bills in Congress—"by the tide," we should have been the loser of many a gem, of which we have now become the possessor by a leisure and careful reading. Among the writers of this number are Mrs. Sedgwick, Henry R. Schoolcraft, Dr. Barber, Grenville Mellen, Willis Garford Clark, and CARTAIN MARRYATT.

The article, by Mrs. Sedgwick, the author of Allen Prescott, on the "Education of Young Ladies," is a valuable one, containing important truths, which should be read and pondered upon by all those who have daughters to educate, or expect to have any. "The fact is," says Mrs. S., "that school education is too much relied on—and social and domestic education too little;" and we have been long of the same opinion.

Our Burial Place, from the pen of Mrs. Sedgwick, the author of Redwood, the Linwoods, &c., is an article written with great sweetness, taste, and natural feeling. The description of the aged pastor, at the close, is one of the finest we ever read.

The Jefferson Papers contain some valuable letters from the correspondence of that great man. We cannot forbear quoting his opinion on the subject of a perpetual motion. Alluding to Redheffer's machine, which at that time (1812) made a good deal of noise in the world, he says, "that the ALMIGHTY HIMSELF could not construct a machine of perpetual motion, while the laws exist which he has prescribed for the government of matter in our system."

The Moonshine of Captain Marryatt, the author of so many charming sea-novels, is as pleasant a thing of the kind as you could meet with of a summer's evening.

The Ollapodians of W. G. Clark, No. 7, is capital.

The—the—but what need is there of naming every thing? If the publishers could not get up a good number with six weeks' labor, it is a pity; and this number is one of the very best.

More Travels in America.—"Know then thyself," says the poet. This advice will scarcely need hereafter to be given to the Americans. We have so many pictures of ourselves, by foreign artists, each one more minute, graphic, skilfully drawn, and delicately colored, than the rest, that, unless we are very stupid indeed, we cannot fail to have a pretty clear, distinct, and accurate idea of ourselves. A period of a little over two years, has given us half a dozen works on America—to wit, those of Mrs. Tröllope and Mr. Piddler, Colonel Hamilton and Major Stewart, Mr. Read and Mr. Latrobe; the last of which is the work before us.

This work consists of two volumes, dedicated to Washington Irving, with whom he came to this country in 1832, and whom he accompanied in his tour over the prairies. Judging from the slight glance we have had at the work, and the previous notices we have read of it, we are disposed to think well of its general accuracy, candor, and fairness. That it is ably and interestingly written, there is no doubt. That it will be much sought after and read, we fully believe. It is entitled, "The Rambler in North America," and is published, where sundry other works are, at 82 Cliff st.

"The Respectable Sixpennies."—It is not very frequently that we take occasion to advert to the editorial management or mismanagement of any of our contemporaries, and least of all do we meddle with the "respectable sixpennies," as they are called, for the very special reason that if we were disposed to find fault with them we might be well employed every day. The following mendacious paragraph, however, from the Commercial Advertiser, is too good a thing to be lost, and we publish it for the benefit of the ten dollar establishments generally, as a sample of the extremely edifying and interesting matter which their papers usually contain, compared with the dullness and stupidity of those little penny concerns which they, in their wisdom, pronounce not to be daily papers:—

Somebody has sent brother Stone, of the New York Commercial Advertiser, an English turnip weighing 6½ pounds. We will swap some of our buckwheat meal for a winter's supply from the turnip.—[U. S. Gazette.]

It is a bargain. We furnish the Gazette no: only with a winter's supply for family use, but the turnip, the whole turnip, and nothing but the turnip. We have caused it to be neatly encased in a box, embedded in earth, and shipped in good order, the dangers of the railroad excepted, the Gazette paying all charges of transportation. To the barrel of buckwheat, in order to make the account square, we expect to see accompanied with it a firkin of maple sugar, and a tub of Northumberland county butter, so that our morning cakes may lack nothing of their Pennsylvania flavor.—[Commercial.]

Unfortunate Affair.—We learn from Captain Chapman, of the steambot Patrick Henry, from Richmond, that an attempt was made on Friday, by the ship Henry Leeds, aground twenty-five miles below City Point, to run out an anchor, but from some mismanagement in cutting away, the anchor carried down the two boats that bore it, and four out of the seven persons in the boats, among whom was the second mate, were drowned. A greater loss of life never, perhaps, occurred on any similar occasion.—[Norfolk Beacon.]

Canal Tolls.—The tolls collected on the New York canals for the first week in November, amount to the sum of $59,916 35. The aggregate amount of tolls received on all the State canals, from the opening of the navigation to the 7th of Nov. has been $1,414,500. This exceeds the collections for the same period in 1834, by the sum of about $230,000.

Melancholy Incident.—Last evening, soon after leaving Albany, the attention of Capt. Bartholomew, of the steambot Ohio, was attracted by the singular conduct of one of the passengers—a respectable looking man. He stepped up to the officer and observed to Capt. B. that "he had changed his name, and written it Johnson. But," said he, "they told me to do it at the tavern. I don't care, he continued, "the police officers may search my baggage," and made some further incoherent observations—evidencing mental aberration.—When the boat stopped at West Point, he was anxious to go on shore, to deliver himself up to the constable. In passing Tarrytown, very early this morning, he threw off his coat and hat, and stabbed himself in the neck under the right ear several times with a pen-knife. The blood flowed profusely, and several of the passengers upon deck seized him, or rather attempted to seize him by the arms. But he exhibited the muscular power of a man in a frenzy, and although they once had hold of him, he extricated himself, and sprang into a small boat which was swinging alongside. He now seized an oar, and kept the passengers desirous of arresting him, at bay. He said his name was Johnson, that he was a jeweller, in Utica; and that he had been smuggling watches. Finally he climbed over the side of the boat, and let himself down into the river. The Ohio was under full head-way; the captain was in his berth, and none of the deck hands were present. Of course the unhappy maniac was seen no more. He appeared to be an Englishman. In his coat pocket were about sixty dollars in bills, and a number of engraved cards, of which the following is a copy. "S. Winks & Nephew, Manufacturers and Printers, Manchester, 49 High street." His trunk, which had not been opened when we left the boat this morning, is a plain one, covered with light hair, and the letters on the top, in brass nails, are "S. W." or "M. S."—it being difficult to distinguish which.—[Commercial Advertiser.]

The Mammoth Hog, of Ohio, which was lately being exhibited at Charleston, S. C., and which, though only three years and four months old, weighed 1400 lbs., has "gone the way of all flesh," in other words, died by the enormous weight of its own obesity. Dr. Strobel has purchased the arrival for $10, to prepare the carcass.

Distressing Accident.—A little girl aged nine years, named Emeline Hyzer, daughter of James Hyzer, of the Northern Liberties, while at the public school in Third above Brown street, left the room, in the second story, to go of an errand.—While descending the stairs, which are by no means steep, she was heard to fall, and the teacher on going to the head of the stairway, discovered the child at the foot, apparently much injured, and on taking her up, found her unable to speak. A physician and bleeder were sent for immediately, but their efforts proved unavailing. The child, in falling, had struck on the back part of her head and fractured the skull. She expired in half an hour.—[Philad. Gaz.]

The Unfortunate Young Lady.—It is with painful feelings that we recur to the case of the young lady who last week procured goods at several stores in this city, under the false pretence of showing them to her friends; but justice to her and her friends, requires that the result of an investigation into the matter should be made known to the public. She is an amiable young lady, of about 16 years of age, residing with her friends in a neighboring town, whom she left in a state of mental aberration—came to the city and procured the goods in the manner above stated. She also went to several stores and dwelling houses in the character of a common beggar, and solicited alms for herself and friends. On being examined as to her name, residence, and the motives which prompted her to the extraordinary course she had pursued, she, in the most frank and artless manner, gave her name, and that of the gentleman in whose family she resided; but could give no rational account of her object in obtaining the goods. From her youth, appearance and deportment, it was evident she deserved protection rather than punishment. She was therefore conveyed home when it was ascertained she was partially insane. We regret to learn she has since exhibited symptoms of lunacy, which is an hereditary disease in the family with which she is connected.—[Hartford Rev.]

Gratis System.—Printers do a great business on the gratis system. They are exposed to more solicitations than any other portion of the community, and the truth is, they get no thanks or praise.

The Editor of the Boston Transcript remarks that "the fact is, there are no persons who earn their living by honest industry, who are so much and so often imposed upon, as the newspaper fraternity. The badge of all our tribe is assurance. We submit to every body; quarrel with nobody; let every body quarrel with us. We give away in gratuitous advertising, in support of liberty, law and religion, infant schools, lying in hospitals, &c. &c., more money annually than would build a church, and yet we are constantly threatened with excommunication from all churches, because we occasionally take the liberty to refuse to do a good natured thing, at the expense of our pockets. But no matter. We are growing wiser every day; and there are some of us who fortunately begin to think that, giving away, is not more our duty than our neighbors. Here ends the homily."

Rural Economy.—Miss G. P. of Washington, in this county, has sold during the past season seventy-two dozen eggs, and raised one hundred and five chickens, besides what eggs were used in the family (which consisted for the most part of the time of but two persons) from twelve hens. Her management has been to keep one hen in a coop, with which was placed all the chickens that were hatched; when a hen was inclined to set that she wished to keep laying, she shut her up and fed her liberally for a few days, when she would take to laying again, whilst the hen that had the maternal care of the whole community, by being fed well, continued all the while to add to the stock of eggs. What a wife she would make for a farmer!—[Poughkeepsie Journal.]

About fifty members of the Penobscot tribe of Indians have advertised in the Bangor papers that the Governor and Lieut. Governor of the tribe have conducted in such a manner as to forfeit the offices they hold, as well as the respect and confidence of the tribe, and that hereafter their authority will not be acknowledged. These same individuals also give notice that on the next Christmas they will proceed to elect a new Governor of the tribe, agreeably to the laws and ancient usages of the same. One principal charge against the Governor was, that he had too many intrigues with his subjects' squaws.

Anecdote.—Original and true.—The Rev. Mr. —, an eccentric preacher, while travelling a short time since, in some part of the State of Vermont, met a boy on horseback, going to mill. Stepping up to the horse and seizing the bridle, he accosted the boy thus: "Boy, do you know where you are going?" "Yes, sir, I am going to mill." "No your not, you are going to h—!" The boy replied—"I don't know but I be, now the devil's got hold of the bridle."—[Keene Republican.]

