essica Widener hopes to irn hobby into career

twall Christian Academy senior Jessica Widener has used the freedom of expression cultivated in her home her relationships with teachers and other students at her school to develop a deep love for horses.

ener hopes this hobby will lead to a future career. She plans to attend the University of Montana Western to a double major in horse science and natural horsemanship. Natural or sympathetic horsemanship encourages idler to become intimately familiar with the horse's nature and body language.

n one compares natural horsemanship to any other harsher horse training method, it often appears to be oo slow for most modern day young women. For example, the method of "breaking a horse" provided faster, less predictable results. Widener's temperament is ideal for natural horsemanship., It was acquired from the ng she obtained through years of involvement in church and sports activities.

ears, Widener had to watch and interpret the body language of opponents in sports. She has played volleyball sketball since sixth grade and thrown discus in track. In the future, she will need to use natural, gentle methods e training, emphasizing "feel" of the horse and observation of its responses to the handler.

y, she is practicing her training methods on her horse, Remington.

ener is a well-rounded student and young woman: ambitious and athletic, but also gentle and kind. During nmer, she went on a mission trip to Guadalajara, Mexico. It was a great opportunity to serve by cleaning the giving the church leaders a special dinner, helping paint the church and just playing with the children.

is also on the student council at church. They plan youth church events and help new youth feel welcome. Saturday, Widener participates in a community activity for Church in the City called, "Adopt a Block." Adopt k helps Rowlett neighborhoods by picking up garbage off the streets. These volunteers also go door to door away all sorts of useful products such as tomatoes, muffins, potatoes, bread and cookies.

r her formal training in college, Widener would like to begin her career by managing a ranch in Montana that trains and sells ranch horses. Eventually she would like to own a large ranch.

ity of Heath settles ith Fulton—Residents omplain about decision nade behind closed doors

City of Heath has reached a settlement agreement with Fulton Academy that resulted in re-routing construction for the city's new water tower, according to the final judgment issued late last week. Meanwhile, affected foring residents continue to express their objections to city officials and the Rockwall County News, claiming ere left "in the dark" until after the city made the decision and actually signed the settlement agreement.

City of Heath had pursued condemnation proceedings against Fulton, winning a judgment in the 439th al District Court of Rockwall County. The judgment awarded Fulton Academy $6,561 as compensation for an ent consisting of about .47 acres of land that would enable construction access to the long-anticipated water site behind the school.

Rockwall City Council postpones decisions on Comprehensive Plan Update and taxation of goods in transit

by Jana Edwards

The Rockwall City Council tabled two major items at the Dec. 5 regular meeting, continuing the public hearings until a later date. Council voted unanimously to postpone approval of the Comprehensive Plan Update, as well as the taxation of goods in transit, to allow time for more discussion and review.

Development Director Robert LeCroix presented the Comprehensive Plan Update, which he reported the committee has been working on since early 2010. After two public hearings at the Planning & Zoning Commission level, feedback from citizens, and "due diligence with public notice," said LeCroix, the committee recommended approval to move forward with the update.

LeCroix detailed the process and pointed out the factors included in the plan, including the categories created for land use, specific corridors identified for diversified development. Major considerations involved density, sustainability, and open space plans.

Mayor David Sweet opened the public hearing, with only one person coming forward to speak - Ross Ramsey who spoke in support of the plan.

Councilwoman Michelle Smith moved to table the item to hold a work session within 60 days to conduct a more thorough review before bringing it back for action. The motion passed unanimously.

"It's going to take some time to look at this and to be able to vote on it with any intelligence," said Councilman Bennie Daniels, who seconded the motion. "The consensus might be that's what we want, but it would behoove us to take that time and feel more comfortable about what we want to do."

The second public hearing of the night was also continued by a motion to table any action on the matter. Senate Bill 1, the taxation of goods and transit, requires council approval to continue to levy that tax. The tax, which the city already levies, is paid by the warehouse owners and applies to goods and transits stored in town, ultimately to be sold within the state of Texas. According to the appraisal district, the City of Rockwall could collect $56-221,000 per year by approving the continuation of this tax.

Councilman Cliff Sevier made a motion that passed unanimously: to delay action to the Dec. 19 meeting to allow for more discussion. The public hearing is continued to Dec. 19, with emphasis that council must vote at that meeting, immediately after public hearing, as action is required to be taken before the end of the year.

During the open forum, a citizen who attended a recent presentation by the North Texas Municipal Water District expressed alarm at the drought situation and lack of public awareness. He went on to propose a solution involving more intense community education, based on good conservation management, rather than the long list of don'ts prescribed by the city.

"The city's guidelines are restrictive and punitive," said Ruble. "We have not been told: what is the goal?"

Interim City Manager Rick Crowley acknowledged the city's plan for stage three "seems a bit punitive" and reported that the city is considering a number of solutions offered by consultants.

The consent agenda was passed unanimously, in its entirety, including approval of a Special Use Permit to expand a boat and trailer dealership, and an amendment to the Unified Development Code to allow outside storage on the I30 corridor for a business selling custom playground equipment.

Star Transit, which provides public transportation to Rockwall, presented its annual report and request for funding for the 2011-2012 budget year. Star Transit reported a total of 138,120 rides for the year, traveling 1.4 million miles on 20,043 trips. Councilwoman Margot Neilsen moved to approve the request for the budgeted amount of $20,000, with an amendment that, in the future, this presentation would be made prior to the annual budget workshop. The motion passed unanimously.

According to Councilman Mark Russo, council brought two official actions back into the open meeting out of the second Executive Session. First, a motion passed to purchase a property on Hwy. 66 for $719,000, to provide a building for municipal court. The building is north on Hwy 66 from downtown, said Russo, who supported the purchase. "It's the most cost effective way to achieve a long term goal... it's a good building - we're not spending millions to refurbish, build, or upgrade...this is being mindful with our money."

The second action approved a small pay increase to acting City Manager Rick Crowley, due to the increased responsibilities involved in his interim role following the former city manager's departure.

At this time of year it is especially important to remember that hunger and financial crisis don't take a holiday - in fact, needs are greater.

Since 1976, Helping Hands has served Rockwall residents with the help and support of the community. Donations of goods to the Thrift Stores and food for the Food Pantry, the time and talents of volunteers and financial donations allow the agency to remain the first line of defense for Rockwall residents in crisis. The agency not only serves low-income families, but also solid middle-class families accustomed

These are the types of households the agency serves: An average middle-class family that recently suffered a financial setback due to unforeseen circumstances. The wife fell ill and was in and out of the hospital, which led to her unemployed status. Her husband couldn't work for a while due to needed repairs for his vehicle. That bill plus medical bills on top of expenses for their two children starting school had caused this family to need assistance. Helping Hands paid a utility bill and provided food.

· An elderly Rockwall woman who had suffered a stroke lived alone surviving on Social Security benefits that barely paid for her routine expenses. Neighbors called police when her air conditioner quit working -- they feared the high temperature in the house was dangerous to her health. Family members couldn't help with repairs or a new air conditioner so Helping Hands bought her a new window

· A couple with a teenager was referred to us after the father suffered two strokes and was put in an induced coma and the wife had lost her job. On God's Word

by Timothy W. Burnett Believing...

Believing is the key to receiving anything. Believing God is the key to receiving anything from God. The Gospel accounts of Jesus Christ's life prior to his ascension is packed with references to believing. The basic law of believing still exists during the current age of the grace of God. In fact, one of the nine ways to profit from the manifestation of holy spirit listed in 1Corinthians chapter 12 is "faith."

Believing is not simply mental ascension unto imagining that something is done. It is an active verb that is accompanied by fulfillment. It involves taking an action toward accomplishing something.

Believing comes from the heart, "For with the heart, man believes unto righteousness" (Romans 10:10). With the heart people believe. Our overall selves were designed to believe. So much so that it is the key to being filled with God's holy spirit. With the heart people believe that God raised Jesus from the dead unto righteousness.

Believing to receive from God does not involve heavy laborious thought.

It's just as simple as sitting backward into a chair with the confidence that the chair will hold us. We don't even think twice about the stability of the chair. Believing is essential to get results from prayer. Jesus Christ explained it this way, "Therefore I say unto you, whatever thing you pray desire, when you pray, believe that you receive them and you shall have them" (Mark 11:24). Whatever we desire in our lives, when we pray, believe to receive it and we shall have it. Whether or not we agree with it, that's what it says.

Believing to receive from God often requires patience and due diligence. Jesus Christ was approached by a woman who had been sick for over 12 years. She probably didn't even know Jesus until after he began his ministry. She spent her all her money trying to get healed with the help of physicians. She never gave up! (See Luke 8:43-48).

Alas, the time came that she knew without a doubt that all she had to do was touch Jesus' garment and she would be healed. She did so ... and she was healed. This was after 12 years of patiently enduring the problem and diligently seeking help from physicians. What did Jesus say to her? "Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace."

Believing to receive from God a basic understanding of God's will promises. We learn from 1Corinthians 1:20, "For all the promises are in him yea and in him amen, unto the glory of God by us." The accurately translated, "For all the promises of God are in him indeed him guaranteed." We know God's will for us by His word.

It's written, "And this is the confidence that we have in Him, tha ask any thing according to His will, he hear us; And if we know that I us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we of Him" (1John 5:14).

Acts 3:1-16 includes a record of a person getting healed. I want to fe the function of believing. Peter said, "in the name of Jesus Christ of N rise up and walk." Verse seven reveals the dynamics of his believing he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up; and immediately and ankle bones received strength."

The King James Bible has the word "him" before the word "up" in The King James Bible used italics for words that were added by t tors. By rightly dividing the use of the pronoun him, and removing the "him" from before the word "up," it can be seen that the man took F his right hand and lifted himself up.

Verse 16 includes Peter's explanation of what happened, "And hi through faith in his name hath made this man strong, whom ye see and yea, the faith which is by him hath given him this perfect soundness presence of you all."

Once again, by rightly dividing the use of the pronoun "him," it ri both the faith of Jesus, and the faith of the man, "the faith which is [Jesus] has given him [the man] this perfect soundness."

God's word is believable. God is faithful and just to back His we is able to lovingly help build up our believing as we move forward promises with confidence and trust in Him. In Romans 4:20-21 Al is used as a great example of believing, "He staggered not at the pro-God through unbelief. And being fully persuaded that, what he had ised, he was able also to perform."

ockwall County New outpatient imaging center opens in Rockwall

Texas Health Presbyterian Hospital Rockwall has announced the opening of the newest Outpatient Imaging Center in Rockwall. The imaging center, located just inside the hospital campus, offers a full range of services and allows the hospital to serve more patients in the Rockwall area and surrounding communities.

"We are very excited to be able to offer all of these imaging capabilities in one convenient location" states David Whittington, ARRT, director of Imaging Services. "In most cases, it will not be necessary for patients to check in at our main hospital for their imaging needs. This process, which is more efficient, will allow us to concentrate solely on the needs of our outpatient population in this one facility; reducing patient wait time."

The new imaging center is located at 3136 Horizon Rd. in the medical building that directly faces the Horizon thoroughfare. Housing the newest technology available for CT, MRI and digital radiology, patients can rest assured that they receive the same exemplary treatment as they would in the hospital setting. Expert radiologists pay special attention to every patient with the goal of providing each one, and their physician, with timely and accurate diagnostic results.

The existing Rockwall Women's Imaging and Breast Center will relocate to the new location as well, with a private entrance, and offer expanded mammography services. Still providing bone density, ultrasound and 4D Baby Faces

Taking time with family

Christmas time is near and that means family time, which means spending time with those you love and a couple of people you don't. Catching up on the previous year events and hearing Uncle John's stories the previous 50 Christmas

However, according to a recent British study you may want to take time for more family meals. The study found those who ate as family had less fussy kids and more willing to try new foods. It also showed less stress at the dinner table. (This study apparently didn't invite my Uncle John.) A second study found that family meals reduced risky behavior in teens.

I don't know if I needed study to truly know that family time is important when Christmas is time for remembering all the good times and making new memories.

I did want to mention that not everyone has the luxury of family. Meals on Wheels has been integral in Rockwall providing food and help to our seniors. They do a great job and could always use additional help and donations during this season. Give them a call at 972-722-3111.

In keeping with the family theme. There is one family name that exemplifies good food. Campisi's is a name known for great service and fantastic Italian fare. David Campisi has brought the family business to Rockwall and is a welcomed addition in the former Scooter's Coffee location in the Harbor.

Their menu is more limited than the Dallas original and smaller. However, it delivers the same energy and delight to your belly. The pizza is fantastic and the crab claws are great. The only thing I can say is this restaurant packs easily. The good news is their catering is equally impressive and would be great for those not wanting to cook for those Christmas parties. Campisi's is a welcomed addition to my food visit list.

TxDOT plans work on FM 552

The Texas Department of Transportation will perform maintenance on a portion of FM 552 beginning in early January, according to a news release received this week. The project, which will run from SH 205 in Rockwall to SH 66 in Fate, will include the addition of three-foot shoulders to each side of the roadway; reconstruction of the subgrade; and a resurfacing of the road.

Construction time is projected to be approximately 188 days with 20 workdays per

During the day, the road will be reduced to a single lane in the construction area, with flagmen routing traffic. The road will be open in both directions during nonconstruction times at nights and on weekends.

At various times during the subgrade reconstruction, the roadway will have a gravel

Delays should be expected during construction, according to the news release. For more details, contact Kerry Lively, TxDOT project manager, at 972-962-3617 or Chuck Todd, Rockwall city engineer, at 972-771-7746

Rotarian presidents ...

In his hand, Richardson held a small paperweight featuring the Rotary International symbol that represents the organization's influence on the world. The paperweight had been presented to the late Bob Cook, president of the Rotary group from 1981-1982, by the club in appreciation of his service. He and his wife, Laura, were owners of the Cottage Book Store in the Old Goliad Place Village. They were active and respected in the community, and the prayer garden at the First Methodist Church is named Laura's Garden in Laura Cook's Following Bob Cook's death, the paperweight was passed on to past president John Foster, a dedicated Rotarian who was always on hand for fundraisers and events "... and the only person who could get the membership to sing 'Happy Birthday' to a member and make everyone laugh about it," Richardson said. The meeting room at Rotary Hall is dedicated to Foster.

"John became a very close friend, mentor and always encouraged me to be a better Rotarian," Richardson said. "He really helped me to get outside of my comfort zone and into Rotary leadership. His untimely death in 2001 was hard Richardson became president in 2004 and invited Foster's wife, Wilma, to a meeting. Following the meeting, she presented him with the paperweight and shared with him its history.

"However, the most important thing to me was that John had asked her to give me the paperweight," Richardson told the Rotarians.

Richardson took the paperweight to his office, where it sat on his desk for

"I have enjoyed the honor of the paperweight and its legacy," he said, "but I have also felt the need to make the tradition public and pass it on to a deserving Rotarian, so I began to develop the criteria to use for the recipient."

The paperweight should be passed on to a Rotarian who represents the current membership, Richardson said, and one who has leadership roles in all major fundraising activities sponsored by the organization. The recipient also should be a member who will remain in the club and the community, where he or she will remain active. That's how Childers was tapped as the next holder of the paperweight.

Ultrasound, the center continues its focus on the principle of compassionate and caring service while supplying the expertise to coordinate routine or specialized care for each woman.

Additionally, Texas Health Rockwall has introduced Susan Allen, RN as the new nurse navigator for women who are diagnosed with or facing a potential diagnosis of breast cancer. Allen will partner with these women providing education, information and support as they make the journey through their health needs. As a cancer survivor herself, Allen understands the concern and uncertainty that accompanies cancer diagnosis.

Susan Allen

Using her personal experience, her medical knowledge and her compassionate nature she will offer these women hope, comfort and support when they need it most.

Commenting on the planning process, Whittington mentioned that the commitment to provide the best imaging care possible drove the plans for expansion. Therefore, extensive discussion and planning went into everything from equipment and site selection, to facility layout and even the interior décor and color selection.

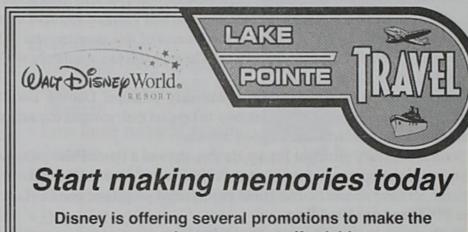

"Our guide was in response to the desires of our population. We will continue to look towards our patients and community, their needs and wishes, when determining where and when we will grow," he said.

Texas Health Rockwall will open the doors of its new Outpatient Imaging Center and Rockwall Women's Imaging and Breast Center on Dec. 12 and begin seeing patients in the new facility the following day.

GT students give presentation for Royce City ISD trustees

by Timothy Downs

School campus reports, student recognition and presentations were delivered to the Royse City Independent School District Board of Trustees during its Nov. 14 meeting.

Ruth Cherry Intermediate Chess Club students presented "Promotion of critical thinking and logical reasoning skills." Sponsor Stephanie Cole and students Timmy Booher, Karina Revilla and Matthew Earnhart discussed the benefit of the club. Students meet once a week, after school, just for fun. Through playing chess, they learn how to think ahead and develop strategies.

"The students are able to put strategic thinking in what they are doing," said Cole.

Scott Elementary fourth grade Gifted and Talented (GT) students presented "Hands-On Equations, a hands-on approach to teaching algebra."

Sponsor Lisa Pogue asked students Savannah Russell, Hannah Odell, Prestynn Pogue, Jack Edwards, Colby Richie, Adam Steele and Brenna Merillat to demonstrate to trustees how to solve algebraic equations using manipulatives to find the value of "x" and using advanced thinking skills to determine the solution.

"We use manipulatives to teach kids this age to solve equations they normally do not see until they are much older .. from manipulatives to pen and paper," said Pogue.

Education Foundation president Scott Muckensturm reported to trustees amounts received this year in gifts and contributions totaling almost $50,000 in lead gifts and nearly $30,000 in employee contributions, along with auctioned student art pieces. With $82,469 total gifts, the annual goal of $100,000 is drawing near.

"To have administration and staff give at the level this school district does is unprecedented," he said. Beginning in 2009, the foundation enlists 24 directors who volunteer their time for the benefit of Royse City ISD

Former teacher and foundation director Mary Ellis informed the trustees about the grant submission and selection process. Thirty grants were submitted and 21 awarded for a total of $42,672.21.

Every campus was represented in receiving of awards.

Board vice president Dr. Rhonda Phillips-Black accepted check of $42,672 for the district presented by Muckensturm.

"To staff that have taken the time (it is work) to write these grants, get creative and do things outside the box ... our students will benefit from it," superintendent Randy Hancock said. "Who knows the impact that some little project that otherwise would not be done if it was not for this foundation."

Gary Clark of Energy Education presented an award to the trustees for the success of Royse City energy management program.

"The partnership program saved just over $1 million in energy costs to date. That is one million dollars that will be used to benefit kids that otherwise would have been used for energy costs," said Clark.

The award was a plaque that reads "for conserving our nations precious resources through the excellent implementation of energy education's transformational energy management process and serving as a model of energy conservation to fellow educational organizations - Royse City ISD is hereby presented the environmental energy excellence award for outstanding environmental and financial resource stewardship."

Hancock added, "A critical piece to the success of this program was to hire the right person. We could not have chosen anyone better than Brad Sherman. The program has absolutely worked and we understand that Brad is a key

Campus reports began with Fort Elementary principal Danette Dodson thanking the board for allowing the elementary administrators an opportunity to brag on their campus teachers who are working so hard, planning longer than ever before and with such a good attitude.

Scott Elementary principal Jimmy Hughes showed a PowerPoint presentation detailing the similarities of the four elementary campuses and the different challenges each faced. All campuses have ESL programs, most have Bilingual classes, all have accelerated or gifted and talented programs, one has Life Skills, one Behavioral Adjustment Unit, one PPCD and one Head Start.

Hughes introduced the board to the All Pro Dads program that was initiated originally on a national level by former NFL coach, Tony Dungy. The purpose of the program is for dads to meet with other dads and students to talk about the importance of families.

Hughes displayed the "Wall of Honor," a memorial for military soldiers, at Scott Elementary. The wall has artwork of the famous raising of the flag at Iwo Jima.

Denise Goza shared a story of her involvement with the Rachel's Challenge program, originally created to honor Rachel, the first student killed in the Columbine shootings April 20, 1999. Rachel was quoted as saying you never know what each day will bring. Rachel's Challenge teaches participants to turn tragedies into positive outcomes. If one person shows compassion to another person and that one to another, it starts a chain reaction. A common theme is that bullying is not okay.

Goza, living in Colorado at the time of the Columbine tragedy, knew many of the family and school employees affected by the tragedy and as such, Rachel's Challenge has touched her to prompt May Vernon Elementary to "accept the challenge." She is hopeful other campuses will make this commitment as well.

Davis Principal Cynthia Pense talked about partnering with Rotary Club to provide an adult literacy program at Hughes concluded with success Scott Elementary has had in collecting canned foods for the City of Royse City and Police Department annual food drive. To date, Scott students and faculty have contributed 2,324 cans of food and predict they will donate more than 3,000 items at the conclusion of the campaign.

Hancock commented that good things happen not by accident but from terrific leadership. He thanked Goza for her passion for Rachel's Challenge and agreed that it would be wonderful to have every campus take the challenge. Lloyd Blaine and Shanna Brown presented the Intermediate Campus reports.

Shanna Brown prefaced the presentation with the statement, "We work together to bridge the gap."

Teachers from both campuses have embraced C-Scope and are working together to produce results. Both intermediate campuses share similar programs nurturing students and encouraging success oriented thinking.

Texas Education Agency Section 1119 of The No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB) focuses on improving teacher quality at the local level. To achieve this goal, the act requires all teachers teaching core subject academic areas to meet specific competency and educational requirements. Teachers who meet these requirements are considered

Jeff Webb, associate superintendent, reported the district teaching staff is 100 percent qualified and 99.98 percent highly qualified. Enrollment as of Nov. 4 was 4,651, showing a 3.6 percent increase since the end of last school

Hancock informed trustees that the Texas Education Agency continues to present new documents addressing additional questions that arise daily regarding End-of-Course (EOC) assessments. TASB has recommended that districts hold off making policy decisions until they see how it will affect class ranking and GPA.

Director of Federal and Special Programs Kenny Kaye Hudson, explained the need for establishing a Federal and Special Programs Manual. When Hudson began working with federal programs more than a year ago, she found there was not a procedures manual in place and this is generally one of the first items an auditor will ask to review. The manual covers guidelines for supplementing not supplanting district funds.

Hancock said that the grants are not competitive grant but are "required" grants such as Title I, II and III funds. "There are many hoops for lack of a better term that must be jumped through to receive the funds," Hancock said.

Each fall, employees' daily schedules must be reviewed and accurate allocations appropriately divided among applicable funds. All expenditures are examined to verify they are allowable under the conditions specified by federal and state governments, specifically those for ESL/Bilingual programs.

Hancock commended Hudson on her hard work.

"When we give Kenny Kaye a task no matter how overloaded she already is, somehow she manages to get it all done," Hancock said.

Students of RCTV! compelled trustees to approve a trip to St. Croix, Virgin Islands. Previously, the class traveled to national conventions, but this year's convention is in Dallas. Steve Vaughn, Advanced Video Production teacher, said he believes the 12 students are trustworthy and will greatly benefit from the trip.

"There is a small ABC affiliate there and students can intern and put together a story," said Vaughn. "We are raising the money from sale of computers given by the high school of over 100 units for approximately $60 each.

Hancock added, "It always boils down to -- can we trust you and are you doing what we have asked you to do." The students convinced trustees they could be trusted.

this Week in Heath First Presbyterian continues tradition of philanthropy

The First Presbyterian Church of Rockwall has a long history of philanthropic activity.

In the late 1800s, the Zollners, one of First Presbyterian's early families, operated the Hobo Ranch, which cared for the homeless in the Dallas area. Dr. James Glenn, pastor of FPC in the 1950s, was instrumental in bringing lowcost housing to Rockwall. The Rev. Robert Reeves, who served as minister at First Presbyterian from 1976-2007, began the community outreach program Helping Hands from the trunk of his car more than 30 years ago.

First Presbyterian's current pastor, the Rev. Cheryl Taylor, encourages the congregation's legacy of giving. This past summer, Taylor facilitated the church's participation in creating 16 sleeping mats for the homeless of downtown Dallas. The congregation also serves breakfast once a month at The Bridge by volunteering through The Stewpot, a Presbyterian mission that provides services for the homeless of Dallas.

To further assist those in need, the members of FPC have allocated $1,000 from the church budget to purchase coats for the homeless. Sixty hooded jackets and coats were purchased and were delivered to The Stewpot for distribution on Nov. 30 by James Tunnell.

The first recipient of a coat was a homeless woman named Alma. When she zipped up the black quilted hooded jacket, her eyes lit up. She said she has been living on the streets for the past seven years and does not reside in the shelter, but chooses to live in the encampment, a section of downtown where others without homes live outside, exposed to the elements. The coat will help her stay warm during the bitter winter.

Stewpot director Jean Jones said she was appreciative of the donation.

"I would like to thank the membership of First Presbyterian Rockwall for your years of committed partnership," she said. "With helping hands, loving hearts, generous donations and thoughtful prayer, you are truly walking the walk in Christian service and are making real differences in the lives of our homeless and at-risk friends ... and you do it all with such joyful enthusiasm

Toy drive, Santa visit set at Harbor The Harbor will play host to a toy drive and visits with Santa beginning

Toys can be dropped off from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., while photos with Santa will be available from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The event also will feature live music, caroling, a DJ dance party, a snow machine and hot chocolate.

Participants are urged to drop by the Rocky Mountain Chocolate Factory for a chance to win a three-foot chocolate Santa.

Blane's Run set Dec. 10 at park

The 4th Annual Blane's Run 5k will begin at 9 a.m. Dec. 10 at Harry Myers

The race will begin and end at the east pavilion near the pool. Registration costs $30 for adults, $20 for students and $15 for children.

Blane Thompson was a local youth who was interested in helping others and planned a career as a vet. He died from injuries sustained in a tragic snow skiing accident in 2003.

His family, parents Chris and Carol Thompson and his siblings Christopher and Patrick, decided to begin the annual fun run to carry on his mission of helping others. Over the past three years the annual run as generated almost $35,000 that has benefitted six graduating Rockwall High students.

Anyone interested in running or donating to this cause should visit run4blane.org. Registrations also may be completed the day of the race.

that adds to the blessing of all you touch through your ministry."

There are many ways to help the homeless population of Dallas. Many suggestions are listed on the Stewpot website, the stewpot.org. Monetary donations are welcome, and new or gently used coats and blankets are needed for the winter months. The Holiday Boxes for the Homeless project involves filling a shoebox with practical items, including a knit hat, gloves, socks, tissues and lip balm. Another easy way to help is to assemble Shave and Shine kits, which are small zip-topped plastic bags filled with a razor, comb, toothpaste and soap. Sponsors for meals at the Second-Chance Café are needed, and the Stewpot has a wish list of always-needed items, including bus passes, coffee, toiletries and trash bags.

The First Presbyterian Church of Rockwall also donated $1,000 to domestic disaster relief and will donate an additional $1,000 to a local Rockwall charity before the end of the year. The congregation is doing its best to make sure it helps spread God's love through acts of kindness.

"During Advent, we focus on how we can do the work of Christ while we await his coming," said Taylor. "Helping to clothe those in need is one of the ways we can continue the loving work Jesus began during his time on

Over 13 million males suffer from low testosterone, are you one of them? Only 5% of males with low testosterone are being treated medically for this condition. Physical signs of low testosterone are:

Increased body fat and BMI

 Reduced muscle bulk and strength Low bone mineral density

Symptoms of low testosterone are: Decreased energy and motivation

Diminished libido

 Erectile dysfunction Depressed mood

Sleep disturbances

If you are suffering from low testosterone syndrome we can help at Dr. Les T. Sandknop Family Practice. Several treatment options are available including injections, gels or creams and pellets. We now offer Testopel which is the only FDA approved testosterone pellet to be used in the treatment of the signs and symptoms associated with low testosterone. The procedure is minimally invasive and takes about 15 minutes in the office.

Rockwall County News • Friday, December 9, 2011 Page 9 Men, Ladies of Honor program set Dec. 10

Young men and women from all over North Texas will gather in Rowlett Dec. 10 to be recognized for their accomplishments and choices at the Men of Honor & Ladies of Honor annual awards ceremony.

The youth will be lauded and challenged to further transform their communities through chivalry, honor, leadership and addressing social issues. The success stories will include decisions to stay drug-free, avoid gangs, honor and obey parents, confront bullying and remain sexually pure until

The event will be conducted in the Church in the City Auditorium, 6005 Dalrock Rd., beginning at 5 p.m.

"These students are world-changers who are being to trained in principles of chivalry, honor, moral excellence, and courageous leadership," said Tony

Rorie, who founded the character education program while working as a principal of a public charter school in the Pleasant Grove area of

Since its inception in 2003, Men of Honor and Ladies of Honor has made a significant impact in the public school system by reducing bullying and disciplinary incident

"We are very excited that our program reduced disciplinary incident rates by 40 percent for the entire school population and by 80 percent of those in the program within one school year, including drug use and bullying. We're now being invited into other cities. The program and corresponding curriculum make a great character education component for afterschool programs and also powerful discipleship program for churches," Rorie said.

Other public schools and churches are adopting the program, with plans to begin additional groups in Africa, Mongolia and Mexico also in the "Young people are facing a tough road when it comes to sorting out choices and making positive decisions concerning their future. They are given a declining moral example by popular culture and the results are devastating. Teen pregnancy, suicide and juvenile delinquency are on the rise largely because the rates of absentee fathers are also on the rise," Rorie said. "We want to celebrate these young men & women for the decision they have made to live a life of honor and give them the tools they need to reinforce those decisions."

The program has trained young men and women in North Texas, Arizona and Oklahoma through a strategy that includes camps, conferences and weekly curriculum based meetings. Men of Honor curriculum consists of books, workbooks and DVDs written and produced by Rorie and Dr. Edwin Louis Cole.

More than 360 Girl Scouts in Rockwall County have been visiting several neighborhoods throughout the county to Carol for Cans. Friday and Saturday are the last days Girl Scouts will go house to house to sing Christmas carols and holiday songs in exchange for donations of canned goods for local food pantries. Girls will be visiting neighborhoods in Fate, Heath, Rockwall and Royse City. Pictured are members of Troop 7412 - Natalie Ullrich, Haven Hodges, Sydnie Covington, Peyton Hodge, Anna Albertorio and Landyne Olive - preparing to hand out fliers announcing their project. The canned goods collected will be donated to Helping Hands, Community of Believers Pantry (Your Season Ministry) and the pantry at the First United Methodist Church in Royse City. This will mark the eighth year the Girl Scout Service Unit serving Rockwall County has organized this event.

'hy are liberals so desperately unhappy with the Obama presidency?" New York Magazine's Jonathan Chait, a self-proclaimed "Obama answers his own question: "Liberals are dissatisfied with Obama se liberals, on the whole, are incapable of feeling satisfied with a ocratic president."

? It isn't Obama's fault. It's something in the so-called liberal, ogressive, psyche. ("Liberalism" originally meant a philosophy of num individual freedom, free markets, and minimum government, not 's support for intrusive, comprehensive bureaucratic management.) e wades through the 5,000-word essay hoping to witness Chait at least owledge that Obama has let his supporters down with his "war on terror" ies. But all we get is this: 9, 2012 ama ... has enjoyed a string of foreign-policy successes-expanding er. The B ted strikes against Al Qaeda (including one that killed Osama bin Laden), ig the war in Iraq, and helping to orchestrate an apparently successful national campaign to rescue Libyan dissidents and then topple a brutal ocratic regime.

cuse me? Progressives - who properly savaged George W. Bush for utocratic presidency, civil-liberties flouting PATRIOT Act, undeclared on Iraq, use of detention and torture at Guantanamo and elsewhere, and antless surveillance - are supposed to be happy with Barack Obama, has essentially carried on most Bush policies, even kicking them up a notches?

we listen to Chait, there is nothing at all disappointing about Obama's nsion of drone attacks in Pakistan and Somalia, with their routine ateral damage" to innocents; his flagrant violation of the War Powers lution (not to mention the Constitution and his campaign promise) with ntervention in Libya; his intensification of the war in Afghanistan; his tions (an act of war) against Iran; his broken pledge to close Guantanamo; upport of indefinite detention without charge; his policy of assassinating American citizens abroad without due process; his renewal of the RIOT Act; his placement of Marines in Australia with the words, "The United States is a Pacific power, and we are here to stay"; his failed attempt to lift the UN ban on cluster bombs; or his invocation of state secrets to keep torture victims out of court.

Chait thinks Obama should get credit for "ending the war in Iraq" - but hold on. The December 31, 2011, withdrawal date is set in the Status of Forces Agreement negotiated between the Iraqi government and the Bush administration. Obama tried - but failed - to persuade Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki to let U.S. troops stay longer. As it is, they will simply be moved down the road to Kuwait, and a large contract mercenary force will likely be left behind at the humongous embassy in Baghdad.

For Chait and his ilk, these all must count as "foreign policy successes." And what about torture? Nothing upset Progressives more during the Bush years. Toward the end of the administration, the criminal policy was abandoned and was forsworn by Obama. Yet the detention center at Bagram airbase in Afghanistan has been called "worse than Guantanamo" by Daphne Eviatar, an attorney for Human Rights First. Adds John Glaser of Antiwar

There are now 3,000 detainees in Bagram, up from 1,700 since June (!) and five times the amount there when Barack Obama took office. Many of them have not been charged, have seen no evidence against them and do not have the right to be represented by a lawyer, aren't given fair trials, and the U.S. claims it is not even obligated to explain why these people are caged.

A U.S. special operations "black site" at Bagram features "sleep deprivation, holding detainees in cold cells, forced nudity, physical abuse, detaining individuals in isolation cells for longer than 30 days, and restricting the access of the International Committee of the Red Cross," according to Jonathan Horowitz's investigation for the Open Society Institute.

Finally, in a move that bodes ill for the future, Obama refuses to criminally or civilly investigate Bush administration officials for illegal torture of prisoners. He won't even empanel a "truth commission" to bring the facts before the American people. Future administrations will thus have little to fear when they break the law.

Most progressives are silent about Obama's shameful record. But it may explain the disappointment Chait can't understand.

to dissolve political bands When it becomes necessary

From the American Declaration of Independence:

When in the Course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. - That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, - That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. — Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government.

Newell leads Hawks to 1st gymnastics 1st place

The Rockwall-Heath boys' gymnastics team won a meet for the first time in its history Friday, Dec. 2.

On top of that accomplishment, the Hawks' score of 169.600 in the nineteam Hurst L.D. Bell Toys for Tots Invitational surpassed any other in the RHHS needed almost all of that score to place first ahead of runner-up Euless Trinity at 167.900 and third-place Rockwall with 166.900.

Leading the Hawks was Trevor Newell, who placed third all-around among more than 100 gymnasts. He was the individual champion on the pommel horse with a score of 9.7. Newell also scored 9.7 on the parallel bars, tying for second place, and on the rings, tying for third.

Freshman Nathan Chennault tied for fifth all-around for RHHS. His best events were the floor exercise, in which he finished third, and the high bar, where Chennault tied for third. Teammate Cameron Callaway tied for

A night earlier, the RHHS girls' team competed on the first night of the L.D. Bell Toys for Tots Invitational, and placed fourth.

Lady Hawks take 3rd at Royse City tourney

By finishing third in last weekend's Royse City Tournament, the Rockwall-Heath girls' basketball team appeared to turn a corner on its season.

The Lady Hawks won three of four games at RC, losing only in the semifinals to 5A Allen. They bounced back from that loss to defeat Emory Rains 59-38 in the third-place game.

Back at home Tuesday, RHHS (5-8) took a 25-15 halftime lead over Royse City, only to see the Lady Bulldogs dominate the second half by a 37-13 margin for a 52-38 victory. April Brown's eight points led the Lady Hawks.

After winning its first two games in the Royse City Tournament to reach the semifinals, Rockwall-Heath lost to Allen for the second time this season.

Unlike the first time they met, at Allen's tournament when the game was tied at halftime, the Lady Eagles took charge early. They led 14-2 after the first quarter and outscored RHHS in each quarter on the way to winning 57-31. Brianna Richardson led Rockwall-Heath with just six points.

Against Rains, it was RHHS' turn to dominate each quarter. Brown and Webster tied as the game's high scorers with 13 points. Deandra Maxwell RHHS had gone into the tournament after three consecutive close games - an overtime victory over Little Elm at the Allen tournament, followed by 1-point losses to Richardson (46-45) and in a rematch at Little Elm (45-44). The Lady Hawks broke on top in Royse City's first round Thursday, Dec. 1, taking a 20-10 lead after one quarter against Quinlan Ford.

The margin grew to 13 points at 40-27 a minute into the fourth quarter, but Ford went on a 6-0 run to slice it to six points. Then RHHS' Brown set up Richardson for a fast-break layup. Jordan Mitchell took over the game from there, hitting a 3-point shot and stealing the ball twice to set up baskets by herself and Webster for a 49-33 bulge. The final score was 49-34.

Webster and Mitchell, who each hit two 3-point shots in the first quarter, led the Lady Hawks' scoring with 14 and 13 points.

They returned to nail-biting mode the next day, with a 1-point overtime victory, 49-48, over Texarkana Texas. The teams exchanged the lead throughout the first four quarters before RHHS outscored the Lady Tigers 10-9 in overtime. Webster again was the high scorer, with 13 points. Mitchell added 10.

At Allen, despite playing shorthanded because of injuries, the Lady Hawks had been able to come back against Little Elm by using a pressing defense to force turnovers. They managed to do that in the next two games and in the RHHS outscored Richardson 14-7 in the fourth quarter to force overtime, but couldn't quite catch up at Little Elm in a game that was tight all the way. Rylee Maldonado was the scoring leader at Richardson with 14 points, and Mitchell topped the Lady Hawks with 11 at Little Elm. Richardson scored 10 in each game.

3 Rockwall County players in All-Star Game

Both of Rockwall County's high schools playing six-man football will be represented Saturday night at the TAPPS All-Star Game.

Heritage Christian Academy's Quincy Terrell will join The Fulton School's Tanner Treadway and Terrence Kennell in the game at 7 p.m. at Holy Trinity Catholic High School's Matous Field in Temple.

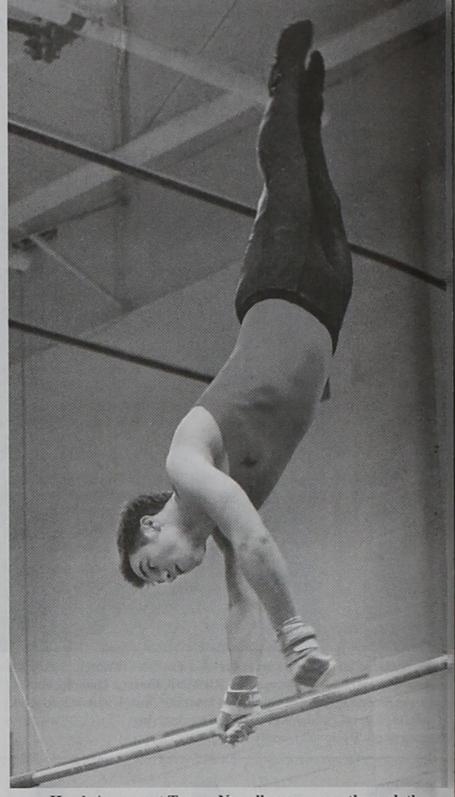

HCA ended its season sixth among TAPPS 6-Man I teams in the sixmanfootball.com rankings. Fulton was eighth among TAPPS 6-Man II

Hawks wrestlers sweep 3 matches

Rockwall-Heath hosted three other wrestling teams Friday and came away with three victories, outscoring its opponents 161-56.

"All the kids wrestled well," said RHHS head coach Shane Seleznoff. Three Hawks wrestlers - Zac Whitaker at 106 pounds, Jacob Glastad at 170 and 195-pounder Troy Mercer – remained undefeated for the season. The closest match was against Frisco, which RHHS defeated 39-27. The other wins were over Houston Westside 62-16 and Trinity Christian Academy-Addison 60-13.

Fulton downs Covenant Classical for 1st win

The Fulton School boys' basketball team came back home from three losses in a tough tournament last weekend to win its first game this season Tuesday night.

The Falcons (1-3 overall, 1-0 in the district) opened its district season with a 54-17 victory over Fort Worth Covenant Classical at Forney Sports Tanner Treadway led Fulton with 15 points. Qwe'terrious Conley added

11, and Tim Borgen scored 10. Said Josh Johnson, who earned his first victory as the Falcons' head basketball coach, "Tanner is our point guard. He played well on both ends. "We were a little worried about Qwe'terrious because he only scored three points in two games at the (Edgewood) tournament. He really played well. Tim did a good job rebounding. He shot well from the outside last year, but we wanted to get him inside.' Fulton competed against mostly larger private and public schools at Royse City finished non-league tournament competition at home Dec. 1-3 with a 3-1 record. In the first round of the contest, Triple A Academy beat the home team 59-53 in a hard-fought game. The Bulldogs played well against a very athletic team, yet too many turnovers and failure to get back and stop the ball resulted in the loss.

The second round against Zion Academy Saints produced a 52-40 win. Coach Anthony Howerton said, "This was an early game and we played just good enough to win."

At the consolation semifinal, a solid Seagoville Dragons team fell to the Bulldogs 47-36.

The final game witnessed a victory against Trinity Christian Tigers in the consolation championship.

"The tournament was tough and to go 3-1 is impressive. Cayce I and Jaime Briceno were standouts for us and earned All-Tournament for their play," said Howerton.

Non-tournament play Dec. 6 hosted a very talented Highland Park The Bulldogs fell to the Scots 32-86 in the non-league game.

Royse City (4-6) travels to Wills Point (4-2) Dec. 13 @ 7:30 p.m.

Lady Jackets win 6th in a row at full strengt

Warning to District 10-4A girls' basketball teams: Rockwall is back, in any sense of the word.

The Lady Jackets not only won three games by wide margins over a 9-day span to stretch their winning streak to six games, but they also returned almost to full strength when seniors Paige Turner and Mary Hinton returned to the court for the first time this season during the second half of a 70-23 blowout of Dallas Conrad at RHS Nov. 29

Their teammates broke out in big smiles after Turner and Hinton checked into the game at the scorer's table. The fans stood and cheered, and one every one of their combined 10 points, changed "Ma-ry Hinton!" or "Pa-

Lady Jackets head coach Jill McDill said, "It was great to have Mary and Paige back. The whole team played well. Everybody scored. We played good team defense."

That defense included 18 steals. Alyssa Lang had three of those, to go along with three blocked shots and 24 points. She played little more than half of a game the Lady Jackets led 26-5 after the first quarter, and 58-7 in the third after a 40-2 run.

Morghen Day and freshman Sara Williamson scored eight points, and Kendyl Pirkey provided a first-quarter spark with all seven of her points off the bench.

McDill said, "Kendyl Pirkey played well. She had five or six assists and three steals. And of course Alyssa continued to play well."

With Turner out for the first 10 games and Hannah Hughes, last season's Metroplex Newcomer of the Year, out for the season, Williamson and Ellen Baker have stepped into the starting lineup and performed well. Turner adds an inside presence, and Hinton should provide another outside shooter even though she's playing with a brace protecting her injured right shoulder.

Even without Turner and Hinton, RHS had played well in its preceding Royse City seems to bring out the best in the Lady Jackets. They took their first win this season by defeating RC 66-33 at the Frisco ISD Tip-Off Classic, and overcame the Lady Bulldogs again at home Monday, Nov. 21,88-31.

RHS raced to a 44-10 halftime lead. Against teams other than Rockwall, Royse City was 5-1 at that time.

For the Lady Jackets, Lang scored 25 points. Baker followed w Williamson had 16 and Kayla Smith added 12. Williamson also rebounds, eight steals and six assists.

At Lovejoy the next night, RHS won 65-41. Lang scored 28 point Williamson adding 18.

What A Fantastic Football Season!

Congratulations from your loyal fans, friends and families!

WOMEN'S IMAGING GAVE ME A GREAT LOOK.

The Women's Imaging Center at my hospital got the best look at my breast cancer. And I received the nicest treatment from the most caring and understanding health care professionals you would ever want to meet. Everyone treated me like family.

Texas Health Rockwall has made a significant commitment to our entire community, but while I was there, it felt committed to caring only for me. For more information, please visit www.texashealthrockwall.com.
