Chevaliers and ladies from the patriarch militant cantons, I. O. O. F. of Texas were expected to begin arriving here today for the first annual state council which opens here Monday.

First of the ranking officials to arrive for the department convention was E. Guy LeStourgeon, San Antonio, editor and publisher of the official publication of the order in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico. He came here Saturday to assist in pre-council arrangements.

Leading figures in the order are expected here for the opening session Monday at 9 a. m. in the East Fourth Baptist church. Uniformed teams from over the state will be present for the meeting, including those from the ladies auxiliary of Wichita Falls, Dallas, Fort Worth and Tyler.

Officers To Be Here

Among those to be here are W. A. Francis, Fort Worth, brigadier general; Maj. John A. Kee, Fort Worth, adjutant; Col. L. W. Mercer, Austin, inspector; Col. Waterfield, Houston, commander of the staff; Gov. A. L. Honeycutt, Chillicothe, colonel of the regiment; Elizabeth Bunch, Fort Worth, president of the J. A. P. M. Nora Gulley, Big Spring, state vice-president; Johnnie House, Dallas, state secretary; and E. N. Palsy, treasurer, Dallas.

Banquet Session

One of the high lights of the one day council Monday will be the joint banquet session of chevaliers and their ladies at noon in the Crawford hotel, council headquarters.

One of the most colorful features will be the decoration of chivalry at the high school football stadium at 4 p. m. This will be open to the public.

Reviewing The BIG SPRING WEEK

by Joe Pickle

More than 235 school girls from nine towns in this area flocked here Saturday for their semi-annual meeting of the Future Homemakers of Texas. Monday about as many patriarchs militant and their ladies from various IOOF units in Texas will convene here for their first annual council. Tuesday the Buffalo Trail council will hold its annual meeting, attracting more than 100 members here. These three meetings should offer proof that Big Spring is and ought to continue to be a popular convention city for this part of the state.

Based on figures available at the end of the year, the salary system is more costly to the counties than was the old fee system. The margin, it would seem now, is about $2,000. Of this amount, about $2,000 is due to loss in local fees, an equal amount in state fees and about $3,000 in increased pay to officials and deputies. If fee collections are now only about $2,000 off from 1935, the last year under the fee system, collections before the final report is made in March will about even that score. Apparently, the fault with the salary system is not so much in lax fee collection, but in loss in state fees, and a growing tendency of some office to hire too much extra help, and the misinterpretation of the salary law by the commissioners court in fixing their own and other officials' salaries. Since this is by no means a local condition, you can look for some adjustment in the law before long. People are demanding it.

But the county commissioners' court will find some other things to fret about beside the ill of the salary system. For example, the December report of County

Fiend Blamed In Kidnaping

Mattson Says Every Effort Was Made To Pay Ransom Asked

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 16 (AP)—Dr. W. W. Mattson tonight charged the kidnaping and brutal murder of his son Charles to a bungling fiend and an accomplice who became frightened and destroyed the boy because he "knew too much" to go free.

The physician expressed the conviction the criminal would be arrested and "brought to justice," and said he then would tell more of the story of the vicious crime.

He reiterated everything possible was done to ransom the boy and expressed the belief the tragic end would have been the same had the case been handled differently.

Not in Vain
"Is it possible," he asked, "that little Charles was sacrificed to further stimulate a previously enraged public to the enactment of even more drastic laws? Both in the prevention of and the punishment of this awful crime?"

"If this is true, we feel that Charles shall not have died in vain."

His remarks came in a signed statement given out at a press conference while federal agents and police redoubled their hunt for the kidnapers' lair in the Everett district and eliminated from the case some of the men held in various cities as potential suspects.

An Everett watchman's report that he heard a child's scream the night of January 6, possibly about the time the 10-year-old victim was slain, spurred the hideout hunt.

The informant, whose name was withheld, said he thought little of the scream at the time, believing it might have come from children at night.

DEMO FUND DRIVE

Party Hopes To Wipe Out Deficit On March 4

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The democratic national committee has selected March 4—anniversary of President Roosevelt's first inauguration—for nation-wide simultaneous dinners aimed at wiping out the party's half million dollar deficit.

Chairman James A. Farley and Treasurer W. Forbes Morgan of the committee said in a joint statement that the dinners, priced at from $100 a plate down, represented "the most democratic method of raising party funds."

Last year the committee liquidated an eight-year-old deficit by holding 2,000 Jackson Day dinners. The dinners put about $350,000 into the coffers at those dinners.

Man Quizzed At Snyder In Borden Death

Former Trapping Partner Of Slain Man Maintains Innocence

NO CHARGES FILED, INQUIRY GOES ON

Suspect Arrested After Battered Body Of Trapper Found In Gulch

SNYDER, Dec. 16—Officers continued tonight to grill a 55-year-old man held in the county jail here for investigation of the death of J. H. Reynolds, 64, trapper whose battered body was found half buried in a lonely gulch near the Colorado river 12 miles south of Gall yesterday.

The suspect, arrested Friday in Odessa, was brought here this afternoon by Sheriff D. R. Covey of Borden county, who, with District Attorney George Outlaw and County Attorney Sterling Williams, was conducting the quiz. The man maintained innocence, and no formal charges had been filed tonight.

Missing Since Dec. 20
Reynolds, who had been trapping in this area for about a month before his disappearance, had been missing since about December 20, and at that time was the object of a three-day search. Friday, members of another searching party—County Treasurer George E. Martin and Clyde Blanton, a farmer—came upon the body about a mile and a half east of the trapper's camp at the Colorado bridge on the Big Spring road.

The body was badly decomposed. The head and jaw had been crushed, and the left hand was caught in a trap. A stick was found which officers said appeared to have bloodstains and tufts of hair clotted on it.

Investigating officials said Reynolds and the suspect had been trapping together and apparently had been good friends. No motive for the death, called by Justice of the Peace C. W. Taylor "murder at the hands of a person unknown," could be established.

Authorities said they learned the man held had left Borden county shortly before Christmas, going to Odessa. Officers said he had not reported Reynolds' disappearance to them.

When last heard of Reynolds and his trapping partner were camped in a truck at the lane at the south end of the Colorado river bridge. First hunts proved fruitless, and officers surmised that Reynolds had moved on. When no trace of him was found, the new search was started.

Body of Reynolds was brought here today from Gall, and was held at the Odum Funeral home. No word had been received from a brother in Dallas and a daughter in Fort Worth. It was thought that burial would be made in Snyder, probably Sunday.

County Issues New Warrants

$10,000 Transaction Ordered To Replenish Road-Bridge Fund

In an order placed on record Saturday, the county commissioners court commanded warrants issued in the total amount of $10,000 to replenish the road and bridge fund which now has a deficit of $6,605.43.

County Judge Charles Sullivan said the loan was felt necessary to make possible the continuation of the county-WPA work relief road project in the Foran area. He indicated but for this factor, the road and bridge fund would have been closed down by the court until April when bulk of the money from automobile registrations will pour many thousands dollars into the fund.

It appears a large number of men are employed on road work who are on relief and that it is very essential to the welfare of said employes and their families that said road work should continue," read the order.

One $5,000 warrant was issued to George G. White, and Fred Stephens and Mrs. Mary E. Wilson had warrants of $5,000 each issued to them. The warrants bore six per cent interest.

WORKMEN BUSY TO CHECK FLOOD LOSS

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (AP)—A host of workmen fortified levees in the danger zones of the mid-western flood basin today.

The Mississippi, Ohio, White, Wabash, St. Francis and Kaskaskia rivers continued to rise but the return of wintry weather after unseasonable warmth and rain resulted in the recession of most tributaries.

The force of men piling sandbags on the embankments along the St. Francis in Missouri was doubled. Reinforcements increased their number to 1,500. The levee threatened to give way at Holcomb and Senath and was severely tested at Kennett. Wilhelmina and Glenonville were reported completely encircled by icy waters.

Huge Throngs Will Witness FD Take Oath

Ceremony Wednesday Will Be Followed By Key-note Address

VISITORS ALREADY ARE IN WASHINGTON

Indications Are For Fair Weather On Day Of Inauguration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt will stand before a mighty throng in front of the capitol next Wednesday noon and renew his oath of office.

Then, in a brief address to which millions in this and other lands may listen, he will sound the keynote for his second administration.

The vanguard of the thousands who will join in celebrating the second Roosevelt inauguration already is crowding into Washington. Buildings are bedecked with bunting and workmen are rushing completion of covered stands from which those who wish to pay $3.50 to $10 a seat may watch governors, military units and bands parade down Pennsylvania Avenue after the ceremony on Capitol Hill. Hotel accommodations are at a premium.

Old Dutch Bible
Best indications are that the president's traditional "weather luck" will hold for the occasion.

Fair skies will mean that an old Dutch Bible long in the president's family may be used in the ceremony, as it was when Mr. Roosevelt took the oath four years ago.

The chief executive will place his left hand on the Bible, held by the clerk of the supreme court, while Chief Justice Hughes administers the oath.

If the day is rainy, another Bible will be used.

Preparations Made For Allied Inauguration

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Activity in the Texas legislature, just beginning a four-month session, was at a standstill today while preparations were made for the traditionally colorful ceremony of inaugurating a governor and lieutenant governor.

Nineteen cannon shots will roar in salute next Tuesday at high noon when Governor James V. Allred kisses the ancient Bible on which many another governor have pledged to uphold the constitution and faithfully perform the duties of office. A few minutes later Lieut. Gov. Walter F. Woodul of Houston will be inducted.

Despite the fact that the inauguration will be the second for both Allred and Woodul, thousands were expected to attend, not only the chief event, but three balls to be held at night. The inauguration will be in front of the 50-year-old statehouse unless inclement weather forces the ceremony to the hall of the house of representatives. Former Governor Pat M. Neff of Waco, president of Baylor University, will introduce Allred.

A. J. CRAWFORD HERE

J. Crawford, owner of the Crawford hotels in Big Spring and Carlsbad, N. M., with residence at the latter place, arrived in Big Spring Saturday evening. He will remain here several days on business before returning to his home in Carlsbad.

Bombs Wreck US Consulate

Fascist Planes Raid Closed Building At Malaga, Spain

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 16 (AP)—Herbert O. Williams, United States consul, said tonight the United States consulate at Malaga, Spain, had been wrecked in a raid by Spanish fascist planes.

The man in charge of the consulate, which was closed last Sept. 20, was not hurt and the archives were saved, Williams said. It was understood the records would be sent to the Gibraltar consulate.

(The state department in Washington, announcing the building was wrecked by an aerial bombing, said that no Americans were endangered and that the date of the attack was not known.)

Two Spanish government planes dropped bombs today near an Algeciras hotel from which Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, southern fascist commander, was believed directing an anti-offensive. Damage was slight.

Fascist land batteries and a gunboat fired on the raiders. The planes fled eastward toward Malaga.

Queipo de Llano's army of 20,000 was driving toward government-held Malaga after seizing the city of Estepona.

Accounts reaching Gibraltar said fascist military hospitals at Algeciras and Linares were packed with insurgent fighters wounded in the push.

The fascists battered their way through strong government opposition, reinforced by militiamen from Madrid, to within six miles of Malaga, which lies about 30 miles southwest of Malaga.

Optimism Is Noted In Plans To End Strike

Officers' Salary System Means Loss For Most Counties

Majority Dissatisfied With Operations As Expenses Climb

DALLAS, Jan. 16 (AP)—A survey of representative counties today showed the vast majority dissatisfied with Texas' new county salary system as compared to the old fee system of remunerating county officials.

Only one county out of a dozen reporting expressed satisfaction with the new system at the close of its first year of operation—Jan. 1, 1937. Even that county—Cooke—reported salary funds lacked $3,600 the old fee basis because the state failed to pay into the county's salary fund the 14 cents per capita provided by law.

Others were unanimous in reporting losses. The Longview News reported the commissioners court of Gregg county held open hearings this week considering a possible return to the fee system. Only two officers out of about 20 broke even, the report said, and excess expenditures over the receipts for the year reached $67,000. In 1935 excess fees totaled $60,000.

John S. Baker, auditor of Lamar county, said the county salary fund had a deficit of $18,947.31. He said he regarded the present system too costly and prospected it would be even more expensive in 1937.

Former county officials showed a net deficit of $18,185.22. Tom Green officials were forced to transfer $23,000 from the general fund to the salary fund. Hale county had a $6,000 deficit.

Wichita county showed a net loss of $70,657 under the salary plan, the sum representing a levy of 24 cents on the county's total property valuation.

J. M. Tullos, auditor of Navarro county, said salaries there were $12,480 in excess of fees turned in.

Increases in operations cost and decrease in revenue resulted in the transfer of approximately $100,000 from the Bexar county general fund to its salary fund. The Gray county general contributed $31,327 to the salary fund.

Grayson county operating expenses were $71,964 greater in 1936 than under the 1935 fee system. Fees and salaries drawn from the general fund in 1935 were $12,809 less than in 1936. The commissioners' court asked county employes to exercise more care in collecting fees.

Situations in Harris, Tarrant and Dallas counties were not readily ascertainable.

Auditor L. E. Thompson said it was unlikely the salary fund would break even in Taylor county.

John L. Crosthwait, auditor of Dallas county, said he did not believe the larger counties in the state would suffer such financial losses as the smaller.

He pointed out that action on the salary plan must come through a mandate of the people, since it was a constitutional amendment.

For the convenience of taxpayers, his office will be kept open during the noon hour starting Monday, Tax Collector-Assessor J. P. Wolcott said Saturday.

This arrangement will continue through Jan. 31, final day for paying current taxes without penalty and interest.

He urged taxpayers to make payments before that date to avoid all eight per cent penalty and interest which starts July 1. The interest will be one-half of one per cent in July and will increase at the rate of half of one per cent per month until it has reached six per cent, he said.

City and Big Spring Independent School district tax offices joined Wolcott in urging prompt payment of tax obligations.

Edward To Join Mrs. Simpson?

Riviera Folk Look For A Reunion, Despite Assertions To Contrary

CANNES, France, Jan. 16 (AP)—A sudden dash of the Duke of Windsor to the woman for whom he sacrificed his throne would be no surprise to most Riviera folk.

Repeated and emphatic statements made in behalf of Mrs. Wallis Simpson that she has no plans for seeing the duke before spring and that no event will be come to Cannes, have not dispelled the local belief that he may show up at any moment.

The voluntary separator of the two who seem destined to a high place in future accounts of the great loves of history puzzles the people of Cannes and nearby resorts.

Why, they ask, should two persons who showed a disregard for conventionalism to the extent of shaking an empire, now become so scrupulous on the score?

Some fine day, they predict almost unanimously, the duke, bored with the loneliness of his Austrian castle, will rush to her, final decree or no final decree.

The coming of the former king would not necessarily prevent the granting of Mrs. Simpson's final decree of divorce. In the period between the granting of the decree nisi and the final decree, Mrs. Simpson is just on good behavior. But she is not forbidden to see any man; not even one who has publicly declared his love for her.

Cannes folk don't deny they would like to see him come—the visiting foreigners because it would provide a new thrill and the local people because it would be good for business.

Why, they ask, should two persons who showed a disregard for conventionalism to the extent of shaking an empire, now become so scrupulous on the score?

Some fine day, they predict almost unanimously, the duke, bored with the loneliness of his Austrian castle, will rush to her, final decree or no final decree.

Shirley's Newest Picture, 'Stowaway' At Ritz Theatre Sunday And Monday

China Background for Part of The Film Plot

Little Shirley Temple goes to China to provide entertainment for her followers in her latest picture, 'Stowaway,' the feature attraction at the Ritz theatre for Sunday and Monday. The child favorite even talks and sings Chinese, faces danger in Shanghai, performs in a Chinese theatre, takes charge of a romance, and in short, plays the most unusual role she's ever had.

Little Miss Temple plays the role of an orphaned waif adrift in China, the victim of bandits. She becomes an unwitting stowaway on a cruise liner on which Robert Young, a millionaire; Alice Faye and the latter's mother-in-law-to-be are travelers.

Shirley brings Alice and Young together, much to the chagrin of the older woman who promptly cables her son, Alice's fiance, to meet the boat at Hong Kong. Meanwhile Shirley, Alice and Young go out to do the town and have a grand lark, Shirley winning a prize in a local theatre by singing in Chinese.

When Chinese authorities threaten to take Shirley away from Young's guardianship because he is a bachelor, Alice agrees to marry him in time only to make the guardianship legal. She then departs for Reno, but Young follows and, with Shirley showing the way, they find eventual marital happiness, with Shirley becoming the third member of the family.

In addition to Young and Miss Faye, Shirley's supporting cast includes Eugene Pallette, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher, J. Edward Bromberg and Astrid Allyn. There are some new Gordon and Revel songs for Shirley to sing, and she performs in her usual charming manner, offering songs, dances, smiles and tears. The Chinese background enables her to present some novel sketches in Chinese.

Theatre Manager Given Film Honor

J. Y. Robb, manager of the R-R theatres in Big Spring, was among those who received an Adolph Zukor silver jubilee medallion at a banquet in honor of the film producer.

The medallions went to the 398 exhibitors who played 'Queen Elizabeth,' the first feature length picture 25 years ago. Zukor starred the immortal Sara Bernhardt in the film.

Robb played the picture here in the old Lyric theatre which was then housed in the building where Biles and Long is now located.

NEW GUARDIAN FOR SHIRLEY

Shirley Temple has a new "leading man" in her latest picture, "Stowaway," which is at the Ritz Sunday and Monday. He is Robert Young, who, in the story, becomes her guardian. Shirley recites and sings in Chinese to exhibit her accomplishments in this play about a little waif who found a home. Alice Faye is another featured player in the cast.

Tests Being Cleaned Out After Shots

No Completions In Howard-Glasscock Field During The Past Week

Five tests in the Howard-Glasscock field were cleaned out after shots as the week ended, but there were no completions to the pool's credit.

Friday the Merrick and Bristol No. 8 Hooks, 140-29, W&NW, shot with 500 quarts from 3,143-3,250 feet. The Merrick and Lamb No. 2 Clay in section 138-29, W&NW, still cleaning out from a 500-quart shot at 3,286 feet.

Imperial No. 2 Hooks, section 140-29, W&NW, was cleaning out from a similar shot Wednesday at a total depth of 3,175 feet. The company's No. 9 Hooks, in the same section and block, bottomed at 3,224 feet in lime, was also cleaning out.

The Cecil B. Rains No. 1 Chalk, section 140-29, W&NW, was showing only 24 barrels on pump and operators were considering shooting. The well failed to respond to a 6,000 gallon acid treatment.

Other Tests
Ward Oil No. 6 Roberts, section 37-29, W&NW, was drilling ahead past 1,900 feet in anhydrite. Superior No. 31-B Roberts, section 137-29, W&NW, was cleaning out at 2,490 feet from cavings which occurred when drilled to 2,498 feet.

Continental No. 2-A Overton section 8-23-29, T&P, was drilling at 2,360 feet in lime and the Continental No. 21-5 Settles, 159-29, W&NW, was bottomed at 1,282 feet in sand, ready to test.

Gartex Oil Co. was nearing completion of its No. 3 Post estate in section 6-5, K. Avcock survey, Garza county, as the week ended. Friday operators drilled to 2,650 feet and expected to set six-inch casing Saturday evening at 2,775 feet and drill the test in sometime Monday.

In Glasscock county the Moore Bros. No. 2 McDowell (unit block) was drilling at 820 feet in shale. Twelve and a half-inch casing was set at 824. Location is in section 21-34-29, T&P, 50 feet west of the original location where 310 feet of hole was lost when a bailer lodged in quick sand.

Activities in the north part of the East Howard field were tied up during the week when a water pipe line froze and broke 44 joints. Only location reported was by Continental for its No. 4-D Chalk, 330 feet west and 960 feet north from the line of section 124-29, W&NW, Howard county. Collar was dug Friday.

Jones County Tract Blocked For Drilling

First Of Fain-McGaha Tests To Be Spudded Within A Few Days

ARILENE, Jan. 16.—Announcement was made this week of the blocking of nearly 8,000 acres in central southeastern Jones county, for which the purchasers, Fain-McGaha Oil corporation of Wichita Falls, paid between $25,000 and $30,000, with drilling contracts for at least four wells.

In the same area, Humble Oil & Refining company is reported to have blocked scattered tracts aggregating more than 1,000 acres, for which they are understood to have paid a flat $5 per acre.

Locations for the first two wells to be drilled by Fain-McGaha have been announced, and operators are moving in rigs and materials for the first test. The second, which is to be started within 30 days, is a joint contract with Brown Eagle Oil company of Arilene, S. B. Roberts company, local drilling contractors, will sink both tests.

First Test
The Fain-McGaha No. 1 Cleud Lewis et al, about seven miles northeast of Hawley, will probably be spudded this week-end. It is located 1,100 feet from the west and 1,000 feet from the south lines of section 37, block 15, T&P survey.

The Fain-McGaha, and Brown Eagle No. 1 T. J. Lotspch, about two miles northwest of the Lewis test, is 220 feet from the north and east lines of section 40, block 15, T&P survey. Both are north of a block of about 1,000 acres assembled last year by Brown Eagle, and similar block, owned by Charles J. Kleiner of Cisco.

Contracts for the tests call for drilling to 2,300 feet. They are about midway between the Hawley and the Sandy Ridge fields. The two units on which the wildcats are to be sunk consist of the following leases, all in block 15, T&P survey:

South half of section 36, all of section 50, northeast quarter of section 49, all but the east 110 acres of the northwest quarter of section 37, east half of section 85, all of section 29, northeast 160 acres of section 40, southwest quarter and the west half of the northeast quarter of section 29, east half of section 28, southwest quarter and north 100 acres of the southeast quarter and the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 27.

Other Acreage
Acreage west of the Sandy Ridge field taken by Fain-McGaha consists of:

In the Orphan Asylum lands survey, the east half of section 54, all of section 55, west half of section 56, southeast quarter of section 46; in block 2, T&NO survey, all of sections 4 and 5.

The Fain-McGaha block centering northwest of the town of Luaders is composed of:

In the HT&B survey, south half of section 25, southwest 160 acres of section 26, the east 300 acres of section 24; and all of section 2, Northeast survey, excepting the southeast 80 acres.

Humble's block west of the Sandy Ridge field is all in block 15, T&P survey, being the north half and the southeast quarter of section 10, the southwest quarter of section 9, the north half and the southwest quarter of section 8, the south half of the northwest quarter of section 8, and the west half of the southwest quarter of section 30.

T&P-Bennett In Yoakum Co. Heads 80 Bbbs.

Drilling Near 5,235-Foot Level, Where It Will Be Acidized

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 16.—Yoakum county, which had the most northerly production in the West Texas Permian Basin until Honolulu, Cascade & Devonian No. 1 Duggan was brought in 28 miles to the north in Cochran county, held the spotlight in West Texas oil developments of the last week. Sharing featured position was Ector county, which offered the bringing in of a gas-filler between the Cummins and Goldsmith pools to compare with the interesting Texas-Pacific No. 1 Bennett in Yoakum, which yesterday headed 80 barrels in 12 hours and heaved final depth at which it would be acidized.

Texas-Pacific No. 1 Bennett was said assured of a better original natural flow than the discovery Yoakum well, Honolulu & Cascade No. 1 Bennett. It is a quarter-mile northwest of the Cascade well, which swabbed 70 barrels a day natural to become the county's original producer. T-2 No. 1 Bennett filled 2,800 feet in eight hours when it drilled through a 15-foot pay stratum from 5,155 to 5,170 feet and later secured increases in drilling deeper. It headed 80 barrels in a 12-hour period and was drilling ahead below 5,307 at the week-end, daylight shifts only. It will be drilled to 5,235 feet where week, with the Sinclair-Prairie No. 2-A King, in the north extension area being as one of the largest in the pool. It is flowing from Lower Hope lime below 2,220 feet. It is in the south half of section 20, Bueno survey No. 196.

N. H. Martin & Son No. 5-A Dorsey, in the center of the field, was testing Upper Hope sand at 2,155-65 feet, showing for an estimated 200 barrels per day. It is in section 5, Bueno 197.

DRILLING RUSH INDICATED AS LOCATIONS REACH HIGH MARK

57 Reported In West Texas For Week, Compared With 32 Completions

It will be acidized. The well, spudded Oct. 1, 1936, is 650 feet from the north and 1,380 feet from the west lines of section 675-D-John H. Gibson survey.

Production Boosted

Honolulu & Cascade No. 1 Duggan, northernmost producer in the Permian Basin, which like the Yoakum wells lacks pipeline outlets at this time, crept back into the picture this week by boosting its production from 158 barrels a day to 303 following a shot. It re-treated with acid later in the week and reported an increase and continued flow. Potential test is to be taken over the week-end. The Cochran well is in the center of labor 13, league 55, Otaham County school land.

The gap-filler in Ector county between the Cummins and Goldsmith pools. American Maracibo No. 1 Scharbauer, 440 feet out of the southwest corner of section 19-44-1in-T&P, was drilling at 4,225 feet in lime after making a natural flow of 552 barrels in 24 hours. The natural flow caused some to term the well the best prospect of four producers located in the gap between the two fields. Potentials, after treatment, ran as high as 1,800 barrels in the other three, Shasta No. 1 Scharbauer, Texas-Pacific No. 1 Scharbauer and Humble No. 1 Cowden.

Manson No. 1 Cummins, another Ector county wildcat, one-half mile south of Empire No. 1-D Cummins, completed this week as an 873-barrel producer, and approximately one and one-half miles northwest of the Lunning pool discovery well, was given a potential of 835 barrels at the week-end. Manson No. 1 Cummins is in the northwest corner of section 22-45-1in-T&P.

STERLING COMPANY BUYS OIL ACREAGE

HOUSTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Ross Sterling, head of the Sterling Oil & Refining corporation, today confirmed reports from Edinburg his company had purchased acreage in the new La Burcha field, Hidalgo county, involving $40,000.

The deal was closed with Carlton D. Speed, Jr., vice-president and general manager of the Pantano Petroleum company. Sterling did not disclose the cash consideration but said part payment would be in cash and part in oil.

Sterling announced location for his No. 1 J. C. Englemann, Jr., on the acreage about one mile north of the Pantano discovery well.

Andrews county, a center for wildcat activity now, added a new wildcat location this week in Wm. Hannigan No. 1 Lotus Oil company in the west central part of the county. Location is 800 feet from the north and east lines of section 18, block A48, public school land. While a half-dozen important wildcats were proceeding at closely-watched depths, Sinclair-Prairie No. 1 Emma Cowden, in Andrews two miles northwest of the North Cadden pool in Ector, at the week-end swabbed 17 1-2 barrels of oil in eight hours.

In Geines county, Amerada No. 1-A Averitt, three miles northwest of Seminole, opener of Geines' second oil pool, was completed after flowing 180 barrels a day for five days. It had plugged back to about 5,560 feet after deepening into sulphur water following securing of a 79-barrel show.

A return showing in Big Spring of The Great Ziegfeld, one of the more pretentious of Hollywood film productions of the last season, headlines the program at the Lyric theatre for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

William Powell heads the cast, playing as the great showman in a story that is based on incidents in the life of Ziegfeld. Myrna Loy appears as Billie Burke, his wife, and Luise Rainer has the part of Anna Field. Other principal players are Frank Morgan, Virginia Bruce, Reginald Owen, Nat Pendleton, Fanny Brice, Harriett Hoctor and Ray Bolger. There are 105 speaking roles in the picture and more than 5,000 players, including dancers, singers, show girls and chorus girls.

The plot of the picture was suggested by the colorful career of Ziegfeld himself. Depicting his life from the time when Ziegfeld began his career by exhibiting Sandow, the strong man, at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893, the story tells how he engaged the beautiful Anna Field, the manner in which he made her famous and the tumultuous courtship which resulted in their marriage which later ended in divorce. The story then develops the various enterprises by which Ziegfeld produced his great shows, treats of his relationships with the temperamental stars and depicts the methods by which he made household words of such names as Eddie Cantor, W. C. Fields, Will Rogers, Fannie Brice, and others. The plot tells the ups and downs of the showman's career, showing his marriage to Billie Burke, his success in the twenties and his failure at the time of the market crash.

The picture is sprinkled with spectacle numbers that surpass even those conceived by Ziegfeld himself. Included are the American Girl Circus number, the Bouquet of American Beauties sequence, the "Honey-moon Cottage" sequence and the number shown with the song, "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." Songs introduced in the picture include "You," "She's a Follies Girl," "You Gotta Pull Like a Melody."

Shackelford Test Flows

Opening Of New King Producing Sand Pool Is Indicated

ARILENE, Jan. 16.—One of the most interesting developments of the week in this oil territory was the possible discovery of a new King sand pool in northwestern Shackelford in the Owens-Snebold Oil Corporation No. 1 D. A. Ivy, about seven miles northeast of Luaders, and between the Luaders King sand field and the Simpson cement.

Cement plugs are to be drilled the first of the week on the test, bottomed at 1,937 feet, where it flowed six barrels per hour under a gas flow estimated at 2,000,000 feet found at 1,929 feet. Location is in the center of a 1,500-acre block, in the northwest corner of the south half of the southwest quarter of section 159, REB&C survey.

Showings of oil were encountered in two important Jones county wildcats this week, but both failed to attain commercial quantities.

Drilling To 3,000
The Tanshill, Kiser & Fleming No. 1 Rainwater, eight miles southwest of Anson, drilled through a "rainbow" showing in lime 100 feet below the Fisher county pay horizon at 2,845-50 feet after setting six-inch casing to test. The well is being continued to the contract depth, 3,000 feet. Location is in section 34-3-SPRR survey.

The Texas Inland Oil company No. 1 Knott Pittard, five miles east of Anson, found a showing rated at two to three barrels per day from the Hope horizon at 2,247-49 feet in lime, but after lowering casing to test, drilled into shale breaks at 2,250 feet with no further saturation. Location is in the northwest corner of section 27, OAL survey.

Around And About The Sports Circuit By Tom Beasley

A SPORTS writer on a Houston paper had this to say about Oile Cordill: "You've missed a treat if you haven't seen the Rice freshmen play basketball. One of the best floor men to turn out at Rice in a long time is a Big Spring youngster who is expected to burn up the conference gridiron, Oile Cordill. He has everything—weight, endurance, agility, speed and competitive spirit. These factors are important in any sport, whether football or basketball."

BILLINGS, the San Angelo Bobcat cager who scored 18 of his team's 28 points against the Steers here Friday night, will not be eligible after mid-term.

HEADLINE IN Saturday's San Angelo Morning Times: "Angelo Cagers Win From Big Spring, 37-28." Big Spring won the game, but the Cats probably considered it a moral victory, inasmuch as they held the Longhorns to a nine-point win.

SCORE OF THE Devil-Coahoma basketball game Friday (10-9) in favor of the Devils sounded like the tally of a baseball game. It brings to mind a basketball game played several years ago between John Reagan and San Jacinto of Houston. John Reagan won, 2-0.

ODDS AND ENDS—Three years ago the Couden Oiler basketball team played Hardin-Simmons in Abilene on a percentage basis and took only $3 of their end of the gate receipts, but Hardin-Simmons refused to play here last year when the Couden manager offered a flat guarantee of $35.

Berl Cramer, ramrod of the Coahoma invitation cage tourney, expects at least 18 teams to enter in the meeting, beginning next Thursday in the Coahoma gym. Entrance fee will be $3 and Berl announces that prizes of $15, $10, and $5 will be given for the winners of first, second and third places.

LOCKHARD ADDS TO HIGH TOTAL

DALLAS, Jan. 16 (AP)—The lanky Razorbacks from the University of Arkansas got their eye on the basket again tonight and turned back Southern Methodist's up-and-coming cagers, 37 to 28, after losing last night.

The Porkers got off to an early lead due principally to the plain and fancy basket-shooting of Hamilton, Arkansas center, one of several players who did not play all of the game because of excessive personal fouls.

The game was rough and tumble from start to finish, with Hamilton and Gilliland of Arkansas and C. Sprague of the Mustangs exceeding the personal foul limit and several others coming close to the danger line.

Hamilton, Don Lockhard and Jack Robbins of the Arkansas squad especially were hot. Lockhard, leading scorer in the conference, tallied nine points to be high man for the night and Hamilton and Robbins each counted eight to swell the Razorback total.

Arkansas led 20 to 17 at the half, the tight man-for-man defense prevented the Methodists from getting as many tries for the goal as they had last night.

DANA X. BIBLE TO CONFER WITH U. REGENTS

TO DISCUSS SITUATION WEDNESDAY

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—The board of regents of the University of Texas tonight unanimously invited Dana X. Bible to come to Austin Wednesday for a conference regarding possible employment as head football coach at the university.

After deliberating ten hours, the board issued the following statement:

"The board of regents, after long and careful consideration, has unanimously invited Dana X. Bible to come to Austin Wednesday for a conference with university officials to talk over details of a possible contract of employment as athletic director and head football coach.

"As is generally known, employment of Mr. Bible in this capacity will entail a higher salary than has been customary in the athletic department at the university. Dr. Benedict has the highest opinion of Mr. Bible personally yet doubts the wisdom of this change of policy. He will, of course, give Mr. Bible the fullest co-operation in case he enters into a contract with the university."

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Can the University of Texas afford Dana X. Bible as head football coach?

That was the big question here tonight following a long meeting of the board of regents to consider two men recommended by the athletic council to succeed the resigned Jack Chevigny.

Faculty objection to Bible's terms—unofficially reported as $25,000 per year for himself and assistants under a five-year contract—were termed the chief stumbling block to selection of the Nebraska University mentor. This would net Bible about $15,000 annually, it was speculated.

"It has been a policy that the coach not be paid more than the faculty," said Dr. J. C. Dolley, athletic council chairman. "Any change from that policy would, of course, have to be made after due consideration."

Dr. H. Y. Benedict, whose salary as university president is $8,000, declined comment but was reported opposed to paying a coach more than a faculty member.

Dr. Dolley declined to say whom the council recommended to the regents, but all authenticated reports were that Bible was one of the two. Speculation said the other might be Henry Friedman, coach at the College of the City of New York and former Michigan All-American; Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt; Blair Cherry of the Amarillo state high school champions, and H. H. Russell of Masonic Home high school, Fort Worth.

Bible, at Lincoln, Neb., continued his silence regarding the Texas job but one rumor here was that he informed the regents by telephone he would withdraw his name unless they acted soon.

Nebraska officials were reported making no effort to keep Bible, declining to compete with his reported demand to Texas regents.

H. J. Luther Stark, millionaire godfather of university athletics, has reiterated he wants a big-time coach and thinks the school can afford one. Bible meets his specifications, it is reported.

Chevigny, former Notre Dame star, received $5,000 and $2,000 expenses. The top salary for regular faculty members is $5,000.

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Regents of the University of Texas deliberated long hours today over whom to name as successor to Jack Chevigny, resigned, as head football coach at the school.

Dr. J. C. Dolley, chairman of the athletic council, announced that he had recommended two names to the regents, and well-authenticated reports were that one was that of Dana X. Bible of Nebraska university. The other name was not determined immediately.

The chief stumbling block in the way of the choice of Bible, who formerly coached at the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, was reported to be faculty objection at meeting his terms.

Unverified reports flew about that Bible had asked a budget of $25,000 for himself and assistants and a five-year contract and that amount he would receive $15,000. Some said his terms called for a much higher remuneration, but those who might know for certain were tight-lipped.

One story was that Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the university, definitely was opposed to paying a coach more than a faculty member, but the president stated he could not properly make a statement until the regents had acted publicly.

Another report was that Bible had talked to the regents by telephone and had informed them he would withdraw his name from consideration unless they acted soon.

Red-Headed Donald Budge Gets Chance To Avenge Defeat By Grant

CLASH IN FINALS AT DIXIE MEET

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 16 (AP)—Donald Budge, the Oakland, Calif., red-head who ranks first among the nation's amateur tennis players, gets a chance tomorrow to avenge his defeat by Bryan M. (Biby) Grant, of Atlanta, last Sunday.

Budge and the Atlanta mite, ranked third nationally, advanced to the finals of the annual Dixie tennis tournament with victories in the semi-finals today.

Grant, defending champion, defeated Frankie Parker, of Lawrenceville, N. J., and Milwaukee, in a grueling five-set match at the Davis Island club. The scores were 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 3-6, 6-0.

Budge gained the last round by defeating Charlie Harris, of West Palm Beach, in the first match of the afternoon, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Grant defeated Budge in the Billmore tournament at Miami last Sunday.

He staged a brilliant comeback to win the match after Parker ranked above him by the United States Tennis association took the third and fourth sets to even the score at two sets each.

HUTTO PLAYS BIG PART IN DUKE VICTORIES

HUTTO

Big Spring's Dukes will take to the road January 21, going to Hobbs to engage in a cage game with Cotton Clover's Oilers.

The New Mexico quietest will return the game during the week of January 25.

Manager Baker also has contacted the mentor of the Standalone Oilers of Wink and may play that team after the Hobbs affair.

The mighty quint keeps rolling along, setting up record after record with a high-geared scoring machine. So convincingly have they administered beatings to teams of this sector that it is becoming difficult to schedule games.

Paced by Tommy Hutto, the Dukes have swept five of their six league games by scoring 50 points or more, and set up a new record against the Montgomery Ward Westerners several weeks ago by recording 76 points.

Tommy, who lettered three years as a forward for Texas A. and M., and who later had a fling at professional baseball, has accounted for a total of 194 points in the 10 games he has participated in thus far.

He started slow against Lueders, looping in only four field goals and did not get to clicking until after the Garden City game. He garnered 17 points in that affair and was held to eight points by the Foran Spudgers.

Three field goals and a free toss was the best he could do against Texas Tech in the Matador field house, but his march began against the hapless Coahoma Bulldogs a fortnight later. He rang up 12 field goals and a pair of gratis tosses against the Coahomans and went to town against the Abilene Christian Wildcats.

The rangy Coahoman was the whole show against the collegians. He came through with 11 field goals and a free throw to do most of the locals' goal shooting for the night.

Tommy played a big part in the record breaking game against Montgomery Ward. Without getting a chance from the foul line, Hutto recorded 36 points.

He avenged the close guarding the Spudgers gave him in the first game by returning to pitch in nine field goals and a free throw for 19 points, and took high point honors against Continental by tallying 23 points.

His record includes a total of 89 field goals and 10 free tosses.

Rice Takes Top Position

Texas University Steers Weefully Off On Shot-making Against Owls

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Rice Owls gained undisputed possession of the top rung of the Southwest conference basketball ladder by trouncing the University of Texas Longhorns, 26 to 20, here tonight while Southern Methodist was losing to Arkansas.

Capt. Jack Collins of Texas, last year's all-conference center, was unable to do much about rangy, red-headed Willis Orr, who does the center chores for Rice. This aggressive, acrobatic, tireless young man played 40 minutes of grand basketball. From various distances he hooped seven field goals, and he added four free throws to total 18 points.

"Weeefully" Off

The Longhorns fought the blue-clad Owls earnestly, but were weefully "off" on their shotmaking. In 56 cracks at the basket, they were successful only seven times, and they missed half their dozen free shots.

A pronounced weakness at one forward cost the Steers plenty. The usually dependable Bill Baxter, limping around with an injured leg, was totally unable to make points. When Coach Gray pulled his erstwhile leading goal-getter, he had to substitute another near-cripple, Warren Osborne, who was favoring a wrenched knee.

Texas trailed throughout the second half but stayed close enough to keep the crowd of 5,000 intensely excited.

With four minutes to play, the Owls led by only 23-20. It was however, the Longhorns' last desperate bid. Cliff Klindworth followed up Mike Deale's long try for two points. Then Orr banged a couple more through the mesh to make his field goals for the evening equal the Longhorns' total.

The Owl freshmen made it a 100 per cent Rice night by beating the Longhorn Yearlings 26 to 25.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 16 (AP)—Dana X. Bible, University of Nebraska football coach and athletic director, said tonight he will leave here Monday for Austin, Texas, to confer with University of Texas officials Wednesday.

He receives $12,000 a year at Nebraska.

Bible's statement tonight: "I have talked with Mr. Dolley, president of the athletic council of the University of Texas, and after my conversation with him, have agreed to go to Austin for a conference Wednesday with the athletic council, board of regents and president of the university."

"I have no other statement to make at this time, and will have none until after the conference."

Sport circles are abuzz with rumors but Coach Baker himself, students and others apparently were making no effort to discuss Bible. The coach has said repeatedly he was "happy at Nebraska."

B. B. VICTORIOUS

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 16 (AP)—Daniel Baker nosed out the Texas Wesleyan basketball team 31 to 30 here tonight.

Davenport set the scoring pace for the Billies with 19 points. Five of his were Wesleyan with 12. The Billies led 19 to 13 at the half.

Glenn Loses To Unknown

CUNNINGHAM DEFEATED BY LOU BURNS OF MANHATTAN IN HANDICAP RACE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, starting in the first handicap race of his colorful career, was defeated by a comparatively unknown New York university freshman and dropped a time decision to Lou Burns, Manhattan's great miler, in the annual track and field meet at the 165th infantry armory tonight.

Starting from scratch in one of the three 1,600 yard handicap races, Cunningham failed by inches to catch diminutive David Urbach to whom he gave 55 yards.

Burns, intercollegiate outdoor half mile and a mile utility and also starting from scratch, won his heat in the good time of 2:18.7, less than six seconds back of Cunningham's world record of 2:10.1 made in Madison Square Garden two years ago. Urbach was clocked in 2:16.4 with the burly Kennan only a fraction of a second slower.

The third of the three heats went to Cunningham's perennial rival, Gene Venzke of the New York A. C. The former Pennsylvania stylist, conqueror of Cunningham four times at a mile last year, won easily but his time of 2:17.2 was the slowest of the three events. Venzke also started from scratch.

Southern agricultural leaders are seeking to found a cotton research laboratory to investigate the possibility of new industrial uses for cotton.

Wallace Tells How Crop Insurance Aims To Beat Weather

PLANS ARE MADE FOR LOCAL PARTICIPATION IN BIRTHDAY BALL FOR PRESIDENT JAN. 30

The fourth nation-wide birthday ball for the president will be staged on the evening of January 30th, Big Spring, as usual, will participate in this event, with Grover C. Dunbar again acting as chairman.

At a meeting of committeemen held in the chamber of commerce offices Friday afternoon, plans were made for staging the birthday balls in Big Spring. It was decided to have four dances, one each at the Settles and Crawford Hotel ballrooms and one at the Casino and one at the Avalon club. General admission is $1.50 per couple or single tickets, each admission entitling the holder to attend any or all four of the dances. The president's ball is the rallying point for all those who wish to help stamp out infantile paralysis. After expenses are deducted, 70 per cent of the proceeds raised will be kept in Big Spring to be disbursed to local or other hospitals, or for the treatment of infantile paralysis crippled, as the local committee decides. The remaining 30 per cent of the proceeds will be turned over to the national committee for delivery to the president, to be presented by him to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation for the continuation of its part in the national fight against infantile paralysis.

Purpose of the birthday ball for the president is to create, through the direct help of the citizens of the country, funds with which to help victims of infantile paralysis and support research efforts to wipe out the disease itself.

Infantile paralysis continues to menace the children of the country, adding thousands of new victims annually to the several hundred thousand already crippled. The need of continued effort in their behalf is greater than ever, and once more the call is made to fellow-countrymen to share in this humanitarian work, which for the past three years they have aided so generously and with such outstanding credit to the nation.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt again has consented to lend his birthday to this nation-wide series of benefit balls. The public already is responding to the charitable call. Members of the Big Spring committee in charge of arrangements were hopeful that at least $1000 could be raised as a result of the four dances to be staged here on the evening of January 30th. Of this amount $700 would remain in Big Spring, and the balance, $300, would go to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

Hotel ballrooms, dance floors of the two night clubs are being donated free of charge, for the dances, and other expenses incident to staging the dances are being donated, the committee said. "This makes it possible," said Mr. Dunbar, "for us to clear more profit for this worthy cause—the fighting of infantile paralysis in this country."

Reserve For 'Lean' Years Is Proposed

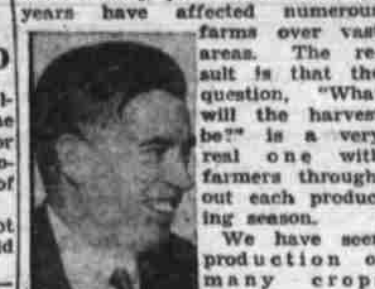

Voluntary Participation Is Part Of Agriculture Chief's Program

In September President Roosevelt appointed Secretary Wallace chairman of a committee to prepare a plan of crop insurance. This committee has made its report which will receive consideration by congress this year. In this article, prepared at the request of the AP Feature Service, Secretary Wallace discusses the background of this important subject.

By HENRY A. WALLACE, Secretary of Agriculture

If houses never burned there would be no need for fire insurance. If acres planted to crops produced consistently each year there would be no need for crop insurance.

But we know that droughts, floods, hail, and other manifestations of bad weather occur somewhere every year—and in recent years have affected numerous farms over vast areas. The result is that the question, "What will the harvest be?" is a very real one with farmers throughout each producing season.

We have seen production of many crops swing from heavy surpluses with Henry A. Wallace prices at starvation levels to small output with prices relatively high. I believe that most of us have been impressed by these sharp swings in the farm production pendulum and we have wondered why something was not done to balance off the bad years with the good years.

Crop insurance has been brought forward as a device to supply a combination of insurance with storage of commodity reserves so as to provide greater security for farm producers and city consumers, particularly in the case of those crops where the swings in production are most marked.

Would Start With Wheat

Crop failures, either resulting from drought or other catastrophes, mean that people will suffer; that often they are in the most acute need and that the government must grant assistance to tide them over. The expenditures of the government for carrying on this function either through feed loans, seed loans, relief, or by other methods, have become very high.

The president's committee gave very careful study to the whole subject of crop insurance. It conferred with farmers, representatives of state, regional, and national farm organizations, with insurance experts and with representatives of the warehousing industry. It recommended that the government inaugurate a crop insurance program, beginning only with wheat.

Reserve For Lean Years

I believe that there is a real possibility that a decade or two hence crop insurance—coupled with devices to provide an "ever normal granary" of our major food and fiber crops will be in general use in the United States. Other progressive nations will doubtless also adopt some such method to provide their producers with greater security and their consumers with assurance of adequate reserves.

In view of past failures where relatively small attempts were made by private companies to insure prices as well as yields, the committee recommended only yield insurance. In other words, the plan would provide farmers with an opportunity to insure against low yields due to bad weather but it would not offer insurance against price changes. Under this plan the payment of both premiums and losses should be in kind or cash equivalent.

It would have the effect of storing up reserves of wheat in years of bumper crops and releasing them in years of smaller crops. This would tend to reduce the fluctuations in the market supply and the fluctuations in the price of wheat. It would provide the country assurance that in case of severe crop failure the reserve of wheat would be on hand.

Insurance On Average Yield

Costs of storing grain should be borne by the government because the program would be of advantage to the public generally. Overhead administration costs of crop insurance should also be borne by the government for the same reason while local costs plus the actual costs of indemnifying crop losses should be borne by farmers.

Local administration, the committee recommended, should be in the hands of county and local committees established for administration of the soil conservation and domestic allotment acts. These committees have demonstrated real ability.

The amount of insurance on any farm would be determined by the average yield on that farm over a period of the last six years. The farmer applying for the insurance—and such application would be entirely voluntary—would be insured a yield up to perhaps 75 per cent of his average yield.

If this yield during the year when he was insured should be less than the coverage specified in his policy, he would be paid the difference between what he actually produced and the amount for which he was insured. He would be paid in kind or in cash. His losses might be paid by granting the farmer a warehouse certificate

CHIEF POINTS OF INSURANCE PLAN

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Here are salient points in Secretary Wallace's crop insurance proposal:

1. The program would begin with wheat only.
2. In good years, farmers would pay insurance premiums in cash or wheat.
3. In bad years, they would get back cash or wheat.
4. They would be insured a crop up to perhaps 75 per cent of an average yield.
5. Their insurance rates would vary according to the risks their land held.
6. Participation in the plan would be on a purely voluntary basis.

covering stored grain due him which he could sell as he saw fit. But he would bear any storage costs after the time set for settlement. That would be fair.

Varied Risks Figured

We recommended that the premium rate should be determined on the basis of two factors—the loss experience on the individual farm insured and the loss experience of the county or area. As proposed the plan would not transfer the losses of incompetent or careless farmers to the more competent and industrious farmers.

Farmers on good land would not be required to pay the losses of farmers on poor land. Wheat areas of high and regular production would not have to pay the losses of areas of low and uncertain production.

Costs of crop insurance for wheat would vary considerably as the loss experience varies considerably over the nation. Where risks were highest costs would be highest. Where rates would appear to be prohibitive the risk would appear to be so high as hardly to justify the use of the land for the production of wheat. Such land might better be devoted to some other use, perhaps permanently retired from crop production.

Stability of Prices

The recommended plan will permit farmers to pay premiums in years of large crops. This would be a sensible arrangement. By paying the premiums in years of plentiful production, an additional outlet for surplus wheat would be furnished, thus contributing to greater stability of prices in those years. This would tend to reduce fluctuations in prices and income.

The program of crop insurance recommended in this report is not conceived of as a substitute for any farm program now being administered by the department of agriculture. It would be supplementary to other programs. It is not intended to meet problems of production adjustment and soil conservation but rather to meet the very serious problems arising from fluctuations in production. It is intended to help gain for farmers a basis for obtaining protection against risks even as we have seen protection for risks in industry and other zones of activity built up on by one.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Wolf returned Friday evening from Comanche with William Ellett, under indictment here for swindling. Saturday Wolf arrested a man wanted in connection with a forgery. No charges had been filed.

CONDITIONS GOOD FOR CITRUS CROPS

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—The department of agriculture said today conditions were favorable for Texas citrus crops on January 1.

Trees were in good condition and frost or freeze had not been reported. Orange and grapefruit production was expected greatly to exceed that of the previous season.

Production was forecast at 1,600,000 boxes of oranges compared to 747,000 last year, and 6,700,000 boxes of grapefruit compared to 2,741,000. Stocks of oranges on Texas farms were low. There were 622,000 bushels of wheat remaining, 161,000 bushels of corn, as against 56,200,000; and 11,727,500 bushels of oats compared with 23,046,000. All were below the five-year average stocks.

U. S. STEEL LEADS IN STOCK ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—The bellwether of many a bull market, U. S. Steel, came back today as a resplendent leader of the stock list. In one of the fastest Saturday sessions since early November, "big steel" piloted an assortment of industrial stalwarts to new post-depression heights for gain of fraction to 3 point. There were a few much wider advances.

The upturn was attributed partly to hopes the General Motors strike would be settled at next week's conference and to signs large corporations are preparing for a continuance of business recovery throughout 1937 and longer.

Transfers of 1,705,240 shares compared with 1,448,962 last Saturday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .5 of a point at 72.7, or within .1 of a point of equalling its 1936-37 peak.

The Week

Treasurer E. G. Towler showed deficits of $2,111 in the officers salary fund and $4,998.78 in the road and bridge fund. Actually, the latter fund is in the red $6,005.43. The court is floating a loan to tide the road and bridge fund over its stressful days and by skillful manipulation may bring it through the year with a favorable balance. Commissioners are openly worried about the general fund, chiefly because of charity demands upon it and the necessity of pouring out a large quantity into the officers salary fund. There is one encouraging thing about it; commissioners realize what they are up against and that they must act squarely and without delay.

Frank Hodnett doubled production in one department of his farm north of here this week. One of his Durham cows became the mother of twin calves. To make it more unusual, one of the calves was a bull, the other a heifer.

Estimates of $240,000 in benefit payments from participation in the federal soil conservation and building program by the county agent appear to have been unusually accurate. With about 80 per cent of the applications serviced, $101,000 has been received here for farmers. The remaining payments will bring the total benefits to the county to around $140,000. Asked what most of the farmers would do with their checks, the agent smiled knowingly and added, "they've already done." Yes, sir, the federal soil program is being used as a very effective collateral at the banks.

Calves Show Weight Gain Of Nearly Two Pounds A Day In Feeding Test At U. S. Experiment Farm Here

Jot Smith (above), who is in charge of the calf-feeding tests being conducted at the U. S. experiment farm here.

Gains averaging slightly under two pounds a day have been recorded for 40 head of calves on a 180-day feed test at the U. S. experiment farm at the end of the 56 days.

The calves, divided into four groups, showed very little marked difference in gains to date. The 10 fed a full ration as individuals showed the greatest average gain of 103 pounds for the period, or an average daily gain of 1.84 pounds.

The 10 fed individually on 80 per cent of the full ration showed an average gain of 90 pounds or a daily gain of 1.5 pounds.

Ten calves fed as a group on a full ration had an average gain of 95 pounds or a daily gain per calf of 1.69 pounds. The remaining 10, fed as a group on 80 per cent of the full ration, had the smallest gain, an average of 80 pounds or a daily average of 1.43 pounds.

Cold Weather Hurts

Records of the calves were not as impressive as they might have been due to the extreme cold weather which came just as the second weighing period. The temperature fell so rapidly and so low that the stock did not partake of its water on the day the weighing took place.

The calves, from the herd of George Glass in Martin county, averaged 426 pounds when the feeding tests were started. They were fed in the pens only a few days before the beginning of the tests to accustom them to feeding.

The ration this year is the same for all lots except in the amounts given. It consists of five parts of milo to one of cotton seed meal with a pound and a half of black strap molasses mixed in each day. A daily apportionment of one-tenth of a pound of limestone flour cares for mineral needs and sumac is given for fodder. This is the first year the molasses has been included in a feeding test here.

Jot Smith, who finished out the last test as feeder, is in charge of the tests at the farm this year. He came here last year in the midst of a similar feeding test. Smith feeds twice a day and complains that the weather won't get right for good feeding—"It's either too hot or too cold."

Gov. Marland, Threatened, Doesn't Need Guard

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 16 (AP)—Governor E. W. Marland, threatened in a $5,000 extortion note, cited a personal pistol prowess tonight and declared he would be his own guard.

"I am one of the best pistol shots in Oklahoma and I can take care of myself," was his answer to a penciled note signed "Bill" threatening him and Mrs. Marland.

Dwight Brantley, in charge of the Oklahoma office of the federal bureau of investigation, immediately assigned agents to work with state crime bureau operatives.

After posting a $500 reward for information on the note writer, and turning the note to the crime bureau, Marland refused to increase the executive mansion guard.

Darrell Wilson, field executive of the Buffalo Trail council, was expected here today to assist in arranging for the annual meeting of the council scouts here Tuesday.

MARITIME STRIKE SHOWDOWN IS NEAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—A showdown in the inter-union maritime controversy on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts was predicted today by strike leaders as a result of the national labor relations board's decision to consider their charges of unfair labor practices.

Jack Lawson, secretary of the joint maritime strike council, said "we welcome the opportunity to prove we are not conducting an outlaw strike on this coast and we have no doubt of the outcome."

The board notified 35 steamship companies and the American Steamship Owners association, which have refused to negotiate with strike leaders, that a hearing will be held in Washington Friday to establish whether the board has jurisdiction.

DRIVER RETAINED AS SECRETARY OF ASS'N

Ira J. Driver, secretary-treasurer of the Big Spring National Farm Loan association, was re-elected to his post Saturday by directors of the organization.

Directors named for the year were Arthur Woodall, L. H. Thomas, E. B. Fox, C. E. Anderson, and Walter Robinson.

In reviewing the work of the association, Driver pointed out that more than 200 farmers and stockmen in Howard, Glasscock and Borden counties had been aided by the lending institution in refinancing their indebtedness on a sound basis.

Since the creation of the farm credit administration in May of 1933, the association has made land bank and commissioner loans in its territory amounting to $909,750. This figure represents approximately half the loans serviced by the association since it was organized here in 1918, Driver said.

BIG SPRING BAND INVITED TO ENTER CONTESTS AT H-SU

The tenth annual festival will be held April 9 and 10 with approximately 35 bands participating. Marion B. McClure, director of the Cowboy band, estimates.

Although the contest is open to all high school bands in the state, the Big Spring band received a special invitation because of its participation in the festival in the past.

Returning again this year to assist in the festival will be H. A. Vanderecock and H. E. Nutt of the Vanderecock School of Music in Chicago.

OLD CARS BURNED

Dealers Destroy Relics As Safety Move

HOUSTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—About 150 old automobiles, donated by 35 Houston dealers, sputtered and wheezed in a rattling, downtown parade en route to a public bonfire tonight.

Some of the machines had to have a lift from wreckers but most of them went to the fire under their own power.

The bonfire of autos, all considered unsafe for further use, was sponsored by the dealers as a safety move, the chief purpose of which was to destroy unsafe machines and keep them off the streets and highways.

JUSTICE SAYS HE'S IGNORANT OF LAW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Willis Van Devanter frankly pleaded ignorance of a duck law today on learning that federal officials had recommended that he be charged with hunting without a $1 stamp.

The 77-year-old jurist said he did not know that a stamp should have been attached to his license when he went shooting last month in Virginia.

But Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the bureau of biological survey, recalled that ignorance of the law was no excuse. Gabrielson said the bureau had recommended to the solicitor of the agriculture department that a charge be filed.

Reading And Writing

By John Salby

In these days when one can bring a symphony orchestra into the house by twisting a knob, even the comparatively unmusical have a use for books describing and explaining music. Unfortunately most books which try to put music into words are complete failures.

They either confine themselves to a dry musical analysis of interest only to be determined professionals or they burble away into a cloud of strained metaphors and stupid clichés which mean nothing at all to anybody, least of all the seekers after light.

Which state of affairs makes Sir Donald Francis Tovey's "Essays in Musical Analysis" so very valuable. Sir Donald never bubbles. Neither does he write down to the supposedly inferior level of his audience. He uses many illustrations which are useful even if you do not read music; for it is one of the fortunate properties of musical notation that themes look like they sound, even when the precise meaning of the notes is missed.

So far four of the five volumes in the set of "essays" have reached this desk. Volumes I and II concern the symphonies. The contents are given in Volume III, and illustrative music is considered in Volume IV. The fifth book will take up vocal music, and heaven knows, there is a lot Sir Donald can say on that subject which should help singers as well as musical dilettantes.

Mrs. J. B. Young and Mrs. Shine Phillips will preside at the tea and coffee services that will be placed at either end of the table covered with a cloth of Quaker lace and centered with a silver bowl holding pink snapdragons. White tapers in silver holders will furnish a further decorative feature.

Assisting in the dining room will be Mrs. Otto Peters, Mrs. M. H. Bennett, Mrs. M. K. House, Mrs. J. D. Biles, Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, Mrs. William Tate, Mrs. Wilburn Barcus and Mrs. Roy Simmons.

Mrs. Edmund Nostetune will head a group to assist guests on the second floor and will be aided by Mrs. Jack Hodges, Jr., Mrs. James Rippes, Mrs. Odie Moore and Miss Mary Louise Gilmore.

A musical program has been arranged by Miss Elsie Willis and in addition to piano selections given by her, Mrs. Lula Mae Carlton and C. A. Bulot will offer vocal numbers during the tea hour.

Others who will be present to greet the guests will be Mrs. B. O. Jones, Mrs. John Clarke, Mrs. H. W. Leeper, Mrs. C. A. Bulot, Mrs. Amas R. Wood, Mrs. Robert Utley, Mrs. Lee Hanson, Mrs. Glenn Holtzman, Mrs. L. D. Martin, Mrs. Herbert Hatch, Mrs. Roy Stallings, Mrs. Aaron Taylor, Mrs. M. W. Paulsen, Mrs. Wayne Rice, Mrs. Harvey Williamson, Mrs. Monroe Johnson, Mrs. E. R. Watts, Miss Reta Debenport, Miss Ione McAllister, Miss Florence McAllister, Miss Dorothy Driver and Miss Katherine Homan.

Breakfast Mrs. J. B. Young and Mrs. V. Van Gleason were to entertain this morning at 8 o'clock with a clergy breakfast at which members of the visiting clergy, their wives and out-of-town auxiliary officers were to be guests. Places were to be laid for eighteen guests.

Appreciative Group Hears Concert Here

Mrs. Ruth Hatfield is highly praised for vocal renditions. An audience of approximately two hundred heard with appreciation Friday evening the concert featuring Mrs. Ruth Hatfield, soprano, of Odessa who was ably assisted by Mrs. Imogene Piers, also of Odessa, pianist. Mrs. Jeddie Draper, vocalist and pianist, of Borger and Mrs. Valdeva Childers, violinist, of this city when the Music Study Club sponsored the entertainment in the First Baptist church.

The listeners, though small in number, displayed their love for the finer music by their enthusiastic applause that followed the numbers. Mrs. Hatfield delighted her audience with six numbers that demonstrated the excellent tonal qualities of her voice and drew particular praise for her rendition of the "Shadow Song" from the opera "Dinorah." Her voice is one of sweetness and strength and gives evidence of extensive training.

Mrs. Draper was well received as she sang two original compositions of Roger Cockrell, Amarillo resident. She also played the accompaniment for Mrs. Childers whose violin numbers prompted much applause. Mrs. Piers' group of four well known numbers were beautifully played, most pleasing of which were "Leibstrum" and "Moonlight Sonata." She also accompanied Mrs. Hatfield for her numbers.

Sweetwater Is Named Convention City For Spring Meeting Of Seventh District Of Future Homemakers

Eight Towns Are Represented At The First Official Meeting Held In Municipal Auditorium; Committees Named

Two hundred and thirty-six registered members of the Future Homemakers of Texas, meeting in the first official convention of district seven Saturday, selected Sweetwater as the gathering place for the spring session as the meeting held in the Municipal Auditorium came to a close.

Eight towns of the eighteen that comprise this district who joined the Big Spring group in registering for the affair were Garden City, Sweetwater, Odessa, Stanton, Colorado, Forsan, Monahans and Midland.

Following registrations, Miss Clarinda Mary Sanders, district president, called the meeting to order. After group singing she presented W. T. Strange, secretary of the Big Spring chamber of commerce, who welcomed the guests to the city and reminded them that through the channels of such an organization they were preparing themselves for the future of tomorrow which rested upon them.

Miss Virginia Hodges of Sweetwater responded and after a piano solo by Miss Mary Beth Scruggs of Midland, Miss Kathryn Hodges, district secretary of Colorado, opened official business by reading minutes of the 1936 meeting. Members and their sponsors from the eight towns represented answered roll call in groups, largest delegation being that from Sweetwater with a total of 44.

Mrs. Thomas E. Pierce, sponsor of the Forsan club, latest to organize in this district, spoke on club organization and mentioned the name of this organization was decided on at a home economics rally in San Angelo in April of 1936 and although it is sponsored by the state department of education it is not as yet a permanent institution. However, through concentrated effort it is hoped this organization will soon reach affiliation along with the Future Farmers of America.

Mrs. Pierce paid compliment to the Sweetwater club for having been the first in this district to affiliate with the Future Homemakers of America and also to members of the state clubs who were hostesses at the state meeting recently held in San Antonio. She also announced that as a new unit, mothers of members would be invited to form a group in this organization that will be affiliated with state and national home economics associations.

During the musical program before adjournment for lunch, Mrs. H. W. Broughton played several accordion selections, Miss Lola Mae Hall sang two numbers, and the Big Spring Pep Squad Trio composed of Miss Wanda McQuinn, Miss Jane Lee Hannah and Miss Clarinda Mary Sanders offered two popular songs.

Luncheon, prepared by the foods classes of the local home economics department, was served in the school laboratory to the convention guests and their sponsors following the morning session.

Afternoon Session Stunts by four towns were offered as the opening feature of the afternoon session. The Big Spring Tumbling club gave a performance and was followed by a vocal duet by Odessa girls. Sweetwater presented a one-act play and Colorado was represented by a dance number.

District constitutional committee composed of Mrs. Una Dyre, Odessa, a sponsor, Miss Mary Beth Scruggs, Midland, Miss Thelma Lee Cunningham, Garden City, Miss Lucille Coffey, Sweetwater, and Miss Albert Neal, Monahans, submitted a list of purposes and con-

Announcement of the marriage of Miss La Verne Sims to William Lewis that took place in Odessa on December 27 has been made by the bride.

Late in the evening of the wedding day the couple, accompanied by Miss Jean Hostetter and Dan Scott, both of this city, motored to Odessa where they were wed by the Rev. W. C. Harrison, Baptist minister of that city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sims and was graduated from the local high school with the class of '34 while a student there she was popularly associated with social clubs and student activities. Since finishing school she has been employed by Wacker's.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lewis of Los Angeles, Calif. He is a graduate of the Chaffey High School in Ontario, Calif., and was employed in the Holpoint factory there until coming to this city to make his home with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kimberlin. Until recently he has been employed in the Kimberlin Shoe Store but is at present in its Oklahoma City where he is planning to accept employment. During his residence here he has been active in musical presentations and last year took a prominent part in the operetta, "Rose Window of St. Joe."

As a compliment to the bride, Mrs. L. M. Gary and Mrs. Olin Hull have invited one hundred guests to a reception-shower between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Gary home. The guests are to be received by the honoree and several of her intimate friends.

Practice Is Underway For Stage Play

Ray Simmons Directing Play Sponsored By St. Cecilia Club

Rehearsals are underway for the presentation of the play "Turn to the Right" that will be given under the auspices of the St. Cecilia Dramatic Club soon and is being directed by Ray Simmons, popular director of numerous local home talent plays.

The four-act play is a beautifully written one from the pens of Winchell Smith and John R. Hazard and played two years on New York stages, later being given before Chicago audiences for an eighteen months run. It is centered about rural life and along with the cleverly handled humorous bits there is an undercurrent of serious drama.

The offering will be given on the stage of the Municipal Auditorium, the date to be announced later. Proceeds realized from the presentation will be placed in the fund for the purchase of a pipe organ for the St. Mary's Episcopal church in interest of which several benefactors have been sponsored by this club, primarily organized for this purpose.

Complete cast is to be announced in the near future and will include local actors and actresses who have been active in amateur theatrical work here.

WHEN LAWMAKERS TALK

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia is displeased with the waste of time in the senate and wants that body to make a rule against the injection of irrelevant matters into debate on specific questions. The senate, as we all know, has for years allowed unlimited talking by a member, the reason for it being given as providing freedom of speech—that as long as a senator wants to say something he must be allowed to say it.

This has resulted in frequent filibusters in the closing days of a session, whereby a senator opposed to a bill was able to prevent its passage, or even any action on it, by the simple expedient of being physically and vocally able to hold his place on the floor until the time for consideration of the bill had expired. It was not necessary that the speaker confine himself to argument on the bill in question—he could and did adventure far afield, often reading chapters from the Bible (which after all might not be a bad idea if the senators could be persuaded to listen to them) or editorials from newspapers, or even nursery rhymes and Joe Miller jokes. The late Huey Long conducted a filibuster along this line and a part of his so-called argument was his favorite recipe for compounding a toothsome dish.

Senator Glass may well be disgusted with such privilege and its abuse. Senators, and any other legislators in any law-making body, should be allowed to talk as long as they have something to say that is germane to the subject under discussion, and even to interpolate a joke or two to keep the audience in good humor, but to waste hours in uttering words having no bearing on the subject under debate is foolishness carried to the last degree.

Whether Senator Glass will succeed in having the senate enact a rule to prevent such waste of time remains to be seen. But there is no doubt it should be enacted and followed.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—When he was interviewed on his return from the south, he said: "Down there they like to talk about tar and you can see crosses burning in the hills. It's an every-day occurrence for people to call you up and say, 'By the way, Joe, tonight it's your turn to bring feathers.'"

When asked if "Jumbo" (a musical comedy of circus life staged in an opera house) would be his last venture of a spectacular nature, he said: "Certainly not. I am now working on a musical comedy that takes place in water."

"You mean, in a tank, in a theater?"

"No, I'll stage it in one of the Great Lakes—the one close to Cleveland."

When he was asked to describe a village he visited in east Prussia, he said: "It reminded me of a road company production of 'The Student Prince.'"

When he signed a contract in Fort Worth, Tex., to lend his showmanship to the centennial exposition, he leaned back in his swivel chair. "Gentlemen," he said, "I'll make Texas the biggest state in the Union."

When a reporter cornered him in the lobby during the intermission at a theatrical premiere and remarked, "Isn't it strange to see you here?" he said: "It'll be stranger than that if you see me after the next act. This show smells."

When a columnist asked him, "Shall we dress for your New Year's Eve party?" he replied: "Why the hell should we dress? For each other?"

And when that same writer inquired, "But don't you ever dress, even for the theater?" he answered: "No, but I make one of the boys dress, just to prove that the firm has a dress suit."

When he was asked for a statement on surrealist art, he said: "Sure, I attended the exhibition, and as I came out I realized what an ultra-conservative I was."

When asked for additional comment on the surrealists, he said: "They really are pikers. I could take Local No. 1 of the stagehands' union and put on a better exhibition!"

When Katharine Cornell and Noel Coward agreed to exchange matinee days, so that each could see the other in their current productions, he exclaimed: "I always thought Coward was anxious to get Cornell in his stock company."

Who is making these cracks? Who else but Billy Rose, Never Never Land's most irrepressible and unpredictable producer!

However, these aren't cracks. These are excerpts from the graver side of the man who is known as 'The Little Napoleon of Broadway!'

Sudden thought: Let's go down to the Ghetto and get ourselves tattooed. You can get a nice bleeding heart in color for 25 cents!

BEHIND THE NEWS

Roosevelt hand seen in auto strike. Effort seen to avert general shut-down. DuPonts warned against prolonged dispute. C.I.O. morale holds, but peace is believed near.

Silent Worker
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—The invincible man in the auto strike assembly line seems to be none other than bulky President Roosevelt himself. If he has not been boring a quiet hole or two in the chassis of Messrs. Lewis and Sloan, it must have been a federal ghost acting for him. His sit-down posture has belied hints that he has been active, but some of the recent strike news bears a familiar presidential touch.

Tips
For instance, the flat glass workers dedicated a few days ago that they were ready for a settlement. It appeared they had toned down their demands considerably. At the same time, John Lewis's right arm, which goes by the name of Philip Murray, began moving as if to take hold of that glass situation and clean it up peacefully forthwith.

The official inside story around labor headquarters was that Lewis wanted the glass strike stopped because it was hurting Ford and Chrysler, whereas he wanted to injure their competitor, General Motors.

It was more than a substantial guess, however, that Lewis was informed he had better not let his strike become general in the automobile industry, or else the federal government would have to step in. As long as the strike affected General Motors only, all the new dealers seemed to be content to let Michigan's Governor Murphy handle it. Somehow they cannot get excited about the sufferings of the DuPonts. That is a state matter. But the broader the aspects of the flat glass strike was something else again.

If Lewis did not get this information from an unimpeachable authority about two blocks south of his headquarters here, it was nevertheless very, very authentic.

Society
Nothing ever came out about the one-hour visit of Myron Taylor to the presidential office. It was described as purely a social call, but skeptics are inclined to doubt that the president and the chairman of U. S. Steel have enough in common socially to talk for an hour. At least, not without discussing the one subject uppermost in their minds, namely the Lewis drive to organize steel, as well as motors.

Whereas Mr. Roosevelt knows the DuPonts only by hearsay from his son, Taylor is said to be their best friend. If Mr. Roosevelt wanted to send them a message, he could find no one with a better knowledge of the road to Garcia.

In more than one well informed quarter it is accepted as a fact that Taylor's message contained advice against a prolonged dispute. It is said to have been an important development leading up to the Murphy peace conference of employers and employees.

Background
No weak spots have been outwardly noticeable in the morale around C.I.O. headquarters here, but, on the inside of labor circles close to Lewis, there has been a feeling since early this week that a settlement of the General Motors dispute was in order.

Lewis seemed to his friends to be sure of congressional help and sure of his leaders, but not entirely sure of everything.

Some impartial observers out on the scene simultaneously reached the conclusion that the well organized publicity campaign of the employers about a large number of their men wanting to work was not all propaganda.

Also, many a devoted labor authority began to wonder about the possibility of Messrs. Lewis and Green getting so completely involved on opposite sides of the controversy as to set them both back permanently.

New Cabinet
Labor Secretary Perkins has been receiving exclusive mention in the press for that new cabinet job as head of the department of social service. The best bet for it, however, is Chairman John Winant of the social security board. Around the White House he is just about tops in that line.

The other job, as head of the new department of public works, may or may not go to Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator. They say he will be offered the post, or something equal to it, but may not accept.

Transfer in Court District Proposed

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (UP)—Rep. J. Carroll McConnell of Palo Pinto said today he understood Rep. R. C. Lanning of Jackboro would introduce a bill to transfer Young county from the 30th to the 90th judicial district.

The 30th district includes Wichita, Archer and Young counties while the 90th comprises only Stephens county.

McConnell said a vast majority of lawyers and laymen in both Young and Stephens counties wanted the change made.

"Interests of the two counties are virtually alike," he said, "and their voting strengths about the same. Young county, particularly, the south part, is a long way from Wichita Falls."

If the transfer should be made, Young county would be certain to have a district attorney. A question has arisen over whether the 30th district has a district attorney or his office has been abolished and the duties transferred to county attorneys of the respective counties.

Barrimore Silent On Divorce Ariel Would Quit Caliban; Marriage Of Two Months Goes On The Rocks

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—John Barrimore, 34-year-old actor, worked as usual today on the set of a film romantically titled "Maytime," but maintained a brooding, autumnal silence on the final legal crash of his marriage to 21-year-old Elaine Barrie.

That young woman—"Ariel" to Barrimore's "Caliban" in their sensational cross-country romance which led to marriage two months ago—filed suit for divorce Saturday.

Today she studied her role in the stage play, "The Return of Hannibal" to open in San Francisco February 1. "The Return of Hannibal" is symbolic of Miss Barrie's determination to pursue her career despite her husband's objections.

As one of the reasons, she said, there was no "return of Caliban" after their quarrel New Year's eve in a Hollywood night club.

Hollywood, not the least amazed, visioned Ben F. Loomery of Dallas, only man to hold the attorney generalship for three terms, administered the ancient oath of office to McCraw and his first assistant, Scott Gaines of Angleton.

Wings for Sally

by BAILEY WOLFE

Chapter 33 LUNCH WITH GILES

Sally had thought that it would be hard to face Giles Benton the next day. But when he came to get her, she found herself tingling with excitement at the prospect of lunching with him. He had played a game with her, and until now he had enjoyed all the advantages because she had known nothing about him. Now she knew him, knew his purpose, and had resolved to defeat it.

Giles Benton took her to the dining room of the Lanier hotel, where Terry had liked to take her. She found herself tingling with excitement at the prospect of lunching with him. He had played a game with her, and until now he had enjoyed all the advantages because she had known nothing about him. Now she knew him, knew his purpose, and had resolved to defeat it.

"I shan't be here much longer, I'm afraid," Giles said regretfully. My work is almost finished. "I suppose you'll be glad to go, murmured Sally. "It's very hot here this time of year."

"I've formed some very pleasant and some very valuable connections here," said Giles. "I'm very grateful to you for showing me the town." Then he added carelessly, "There's one place you didn't take me."

"Where is that?" asked Sally. "To Milltown, understand you're well acquainted with the place. Mary tells me you took her there to see some friends of yours—the McDonalds."

"Oh, yes, I know the McDonalds," said Sally. "I didn't take you to Milltown because I knew you were pretty well informed about that part of town."

"You knew that?" Giles studied her face, as if he were trying to fathom just how much she knew. "How should I be informed about Milltown?"

"Since you are trying to improve the factory methods, I supposed you'd have to look into Milltown pretty thoroughly to get a whole picture of the situation."

"Very clever of you," said Giles, smiling and showing his white teeth. "But I am interested in the McDonalds. Mary tells me she has sent them food. I suppose the driver McDonald was in the drive that night is easily explainable—he came to thank Mary."

Sally said nothing. Should she admit that she recognized McDonald? To ignore the remark was a tact confession that she had recognized him.

"You did recognize McDonald, didn't you?" asked Giles. "You didn't say so at the time."

"I barely caught a glimpse of the man," said Sally truthfully. "I should hesitate to say who he was. Is it important?"

"It may be," said Giles. "To our friends, the Morris."

"And to you?" added Sally boldly.

"To me, also," said Giles. "I'm sorry I can't be more helpful about that," said Sally. "But now I must go. I've more than used up my half hour for lunch."

"It has been a great pleasure," bowed Giles.

"McDonald's Arrested"

Sally entered the big office to find it buzzing with talk. Lola Hopkins, the girl reporter, greeted Sally with the news.

"McDonald's been arrested for setting fire to the Palace theater. They've set his bail so high there's not a chance of getting him out."

"But he—was he here in the office last night," said Sally weakly.

"They got him this morning. Took him from home, too, so there's no chance of keeping it from Mary. May's going to the hospital tomorrow—knowing her husband's in jail."

"Surely there's somebody who can get him out," said Sally.

"The boss would if he could," said Lola. "He's hot about the collar over this. I can tell you. But I guess the only man in town who could go McDonald's bail is old Joe Morris. And Morris is the man that got McDonald, where he is now."

"I don't believe Mr. Morris knows what's going on," said Sally. "If only McDonald could talk to him."

"You talk to him," said Lola. "You're a friend of his."

"There was a hint of scorn in Lola's voice. Lola did not approve of Sally's friendship with Mary or her staying with the Morris family. She somehow included Sally as a partner in the activities of Mr. Morris."

Sally wanted more than anything to see Philip, but he was nowhere to be found. When she had finished her work at the office, Sally lingered, hoping he would come in, but he did not. Suddenly an idea occurred to her. McDonald was accused of crime and he would need a lawyer to defend him. She would go home and ask her father to take his case. Her father was the best lawyer in Warrenton, and he had taken many cases where there was no hope of pay, because he believed in the cause for which he was asked to fight.

The familiar walk down Rosemary street made Sally suddenly homesick. Although she stopped in to see her father occasionally at his office, she had not been home for more than a few minutes since she had left to stay at the Morris home. As she turned in at her own gate, she glanced at the Page house. How deserted and quiet it looked! Philip had been away, and the hedges needed clipping.

There was an odor of gingerbread in the Warren house, and Sally sniffed it hungrily. The family were all in the dining room, her father, her stepmother and even Ray.

"Hi, stranger!" Ray greeted her. She tousled his black hair as she went past him and kissed first her mother and then her father, lingering by her father's side.

"What's up, Sally," said Robert Warren. "I'll be glad when this visit is over and you can come back to us."

"The house is a different place with both you and Tip gone," sighed Mrs. Warren. "I used to think so many of you made a lot of trouble and fuss, but now it's really lonesome."

"I miss you all, too," said Sally. "I feel as if I live in a museum instead of a house. There's never anyone to scold me if I don't pick up my clothes."

She sat down and ate supper with them, listening to Mrs. Warren's gossip about the household.

Then there was a letter to be read, a ridiculously happy, childish letter from Tip, with a postscript from Terry. They were honey-mooning in Rio de Janeiro. They were the happiest two people in the whole world. Tip signed her letter "Mrs. Terry Maynard."

Sally turned restlessly in her chair. It was good to know that Tip was happy, that Terry was happy—but it brought back keen longing to see Terry again.

Mr. Warren Takes the Case

When they had finished the dishes, Sally and Mrs. Warren joined Ray and Mr. Warren on the side porch. It was time, now, to tell her errand, and Sally told the story of McDonald, as much as she felt she had a right to tell.

"You will take McDonald's case, won't you, Father?" she begged.

"I've already taken it," said Mr. Warren, puffing quietly at his pipe. "Philip Page was here before you, and I gave him my promise to do what I could."

Sally breathed a sigh of relief. She might have known that Philip would think of this too. He thought of everything.

"I don't like it," Mrs. Warren said. "Your father will get himself in trouble opposing Mr. Morris."

"What of it?" demanded Ray hotly. "It's the principle of the thing. McDonald's innocent and father's got to do what he can for him or be ashamed of himself."

"Not so fast, Ray," said Mr. Warren. "You and Sally work with Philip Page. You've got his side of it. You don't know whether the man's innocent or guilty, any more than Morris does. That's what we're trying to find out."

"If he's guilty, this whole movement Philip's been trying to push is done for," said Ray. "The paper's losing money, Morris is fighting us. We've lost ads sight and left."

"Philip's house is mortgaged," said Mr. Warren. "They won't ruin Philip," said Sally with conviction. "He's too fine, too brave for that."

"He's a very bright young man, as well," said Mr. Warren. "But none of those things may save him if he is determined to change the order of things in Warrenton."

"He'll win and he'll change things," said Sally. She got up to go. "I must get over to Mary's."

"Mary is interested in Mrs. McDonald. I'm going to ask her to take us to the hospital in the morning. I've promised to stay while Mrs. McDonald has her operation."

"Mary's been pretty swell," said Ray.

Sally walked slowly the distance from her own house to the Morris place. She was in no hurry to get there. She did not enjoy the idea of staying in the Morris house, and feeling the way she did about Mr. Morris. She determined to leave as soon as possible.

The big house was silent as usual. Sally learned from Deunson, the butler, that everyone had gone out. She felt weary and dejected. She took up a book and curled up in the window seat in one corner of the library. She did not know how long she sat there, or if she fell asleep, but she roused at the sound of voices, men's voices. Mr. Morris and Giles Benton had entered the library.

Gas Production in Texas Higher

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—The railroad commission reported today a statewide increase of 1.32 per cent in wet gas and 7.45 per cent in dry gas in November.

The Panhandle district produced 12.44 per cent of the total dry and wet gas in the state which was 4.58 greater than in October.

Gas for light and fuel purposes delivered to pipe lines increased 8.97 per cent, while the quantities treated by gasoline plants was up 4.97 per cent. There was a slight decrease in gasoline produced.

Deliveries to carbon black plants decreased slightly, but there was a small increase in carbon black produced.

Total gas withdrawal was 1,844,157,000 cubic feet daily, of which the Panhandle district produced 1,235,292,000 cubic feet.

Radio, Movies Carry Inaugural Rites To People Throughout The Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Always an event of deep national significance, the inauguration of a president has become in recent years a spectacle of immediate national interest.

Many more millions of people will hear and see the high spots of President Roosevelt's induction into office next Wednesday than could possibly crowd into the streets about Capitol Hill or find standing room on the sidewalks of historic Pennsylvania avenue.

The radio and moving pictures have been chiefly instrumental in making this possible. Whereas a small handful of early Americans witnessed Washington's inauguration a whole nation will listen when Roosevelt makes his inaugural address and soon afterward will see movie records of the event in theaters.

Harding was the first president to broadcast his inaugural. He was also the first to ride to the capitol in an automobile. Beside the incoming president was the tragic figure of Woodrow Wilson, a sick, tired man who had to be lifted into the car for his last official trip to the capitol.

Folk's inauguration in 1845 opened an epoch by reason of an obscure professor, S. F. B. Morse, who sat on the president's platform, jiggling a little key with his fingers. Thus was telegraphed the first account of an inauguration.

McKinley's address in 1897 seems to have been the first heard by absentee ears. After his speech an amusement hall here played gramophone recordings at 5 cents a listen. The inaugural voices of most, if not all, subsequent presidents have been similarly recorded for posterity.

Lincoln was the first president photographed during his address.

SOMETHING NEW FOR HEAVY EATERS, VEST TO PERMIT GORING

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16 (AP)—At last—a vest for the heavy eater! A style show presented by members of the International Association of Clothing Designers featured the item.

It was sewed with elastic thread "to permit greater girth while eating or breathing," said an informant.

SEKS WORKS FUNDS

Allred May-Make Trip To Washington Soon

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Governor Allred said today he might go to Washington this month or next to urge President Roosevelt to grant $15,000,000 federal funds for the PWA and WPA work.

Applications for projects involve have been filed and various communities have voted bonds or necessary financial arrangements in some other manner. The governor would make the trip at the request of the state planning board.

PENSION ROLLS CUT FOR $97,000 SAVING

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Orville Carpenter, acting director of the state pension department, today reduced pension rolls by 13,267 and effected a saving of $97,000 monthly.

Carpenter said the average discontinued payment was $14.74, nearly a dollar less than the statewide level of $15.50, half of which paid by the federal government.

"Reducing the small amount recipients will force the general average up," Carpenter said. "It causes there will be more grants proportion over $15."

A Decorative Chair Set

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 417

Some chair sets are made primarily to be useful (very heavy, to keep the chair clean). But others are entirely for decorative purposes, and we'd put this set in the latter category. However, you must not think it's hard to make, just because it's attractive to look at. For there's one simple motif that makes up the entire design, and the border is hardly worth mentioning. It's so simple. So bring on the crocheted hook, and the No. 20 mercerized crochet cotton, and prepare to surprise your living room.

The pattern envelope contains straight directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 417 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y.
