No injuries in one car unusual accident

No one was injured in this one-car unusual accident Thursday, April 21 just north of the intersection of IH-30 and Ridge Rd. David Balli was pulled up the Chevron station pumps, turned off the ignition and went inside the store, thinking the transmission shift was in the "park" position. A few minutes later, while Balli was still inside the store, his newly purchased Lexus sedan rolled down the sloped driveway, over the retaining wall and onto the Ridge Road easement. The driver said he was unfamiliar with the auto, and apparently placed the shift in the neutral position. The auto ended up on its front bumper off the roadway, not impeding Ridge Road traffic. Balli, who owns the Chiloso Mexican Bistro, reported that the car was not seriously damaged. Rockwall Police Department reported that one fire truck and an EMT crew were sent in response to the accident. Two tow trucks were used to lift the auto off the retaining wall. Rockwall Dog Park dedication Saturday at Myers Park

The only known off-leash dog park east of Dallas's White Rock Lake will officially open its gates tomorrow but a formal dedicated ceremony will take place at 11 a.m., Saturday, May 7 at Rockwall's Harry Myers Park. Festivities will run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The 1.3 acre park is located just north of the Community Room and the big playground at Myers Park. A project of the Leadership Rockwall Class of 2011 in conjunction with the city of Rockwall and Rockwall PAWS, a local animal care and placement organization, the park will feature small dog and large dog areas; is shaded with grassy areas for play and has water stations, waste receptacles and custom landscaped sitting areas. The park is also handicapped accessible with public restrooms. The cost of the park is anticipated at $20,000. While the city of Rockwall donated the fenced parcel of land for the project, the dog park was paid for with donations raised by the Leadership class. The city of Rockwall will maintain the area, which it has always done, at a minimal

Each year the new leadership class conducts a community project that must be completed during its training year. The Leadership Rockwall Class is sponsored by the Rockwall Chamber of Commerce.

Project coordinator and Leadership Rockwall 2011 class member Janis Grieser said the site met the requirements needed for a dog park: it has running water, parking, and access to restrooms. The existing fence was an added bonus.

According to information provided by Grieser, the park was designed and built at no cost to the citizens of Rockwall. It will be maintained using organic fertilizers and pest control methods for the safety of pets and humans.

The Rockwall dog park will be the first of its kind east of the Metroplex. According to the literature, dog parks across the state have proven to be well-used and beneficial to communities and citizens.

Local musicians slated to perform at Edgefest

A pair of local musicians - Ryan Stogner and Tim Allen of Heath will perform with their band, North of Autumn, at the daylong Edgefest event set April 30 in Frisco.

Stogner and Allen have been playing together in a band since both were in the eighth grade, and the two were part of the first graduating class of Rockwall-Heath High. Now their band has bested 19 other area bands to win a radio station competition that awarded North of Autumn the right to open the Edgefest event.

Edgefest is billed as a "mini Woodstock" sort of event now in its 21st year. This year's schedule includes many national acts, including Jane's Addiction, Weezer, Neon Trees and Flogging Molly.

North of Autumn has been together about a year. The band performed at the American Airlines Center in Dallas in July with Brett Michael and Fuel.

NOA's first album, "Confluence." is scheduled to be released in June. For more information on the band visit northofautumn.com.

Edgefest will take place at Frisco's Pizza Hut Park, according to the North of Autumn website.

Gifts of healing and working of miracles...1Corinthians 12:7-10 by Timothy W. Burnett

In the list of ways to manifest the holy spirit found in 1Corinthians 12:7-9. there are two that involve super natural workings. They are gifts of healing and miracles. The scriptures are packed with examples of them. It's interesting to note that healing is the only one listed as a gift. The Gospels include many examples of what a child of God can do in the area of healing. In all cases the one who was healed believed for the healing. One exception to this is where the person needing healing was below the age of accountability, or was mentally incapacitated and unable to believe. This can be seen as a whole in Mark 9:17-28 where a man came to Jesus with his son who was bound by a devil spirit. The boy was young and below the age of accountability, which is around 13, and being bound by a devil spirit he was unable to consciously believe on his own after all.

Notice how the plot builds. The man told Jesus that he brought his son to the disciples and they couldn't heal him. Then he said, "if you can do any thing, have compassion on us, and help us." (Mark 9:22). The word "if" was a huge clue that something was amiss. The man said, "if you can do any thing ... " Look at Jesus' bold reply, " If you can believe, all things are possible to him that believes." This is big big big! In both uses, the word "if" indicated doubt. The man doubted Jesus' ability to help them, and Jesus rightly knew the man was not believing for the help. Jesus said, "if you can believe." He put it right back in the hands of the man.

Alas, the man meekly and honestly replied with tears, "Lord I believe. Help me with my unbelief!" The man believed that Jesus was the son of God, but he was not convinced that Jesus could heal his son. Earlier the man took his son to the disciples and they could not help. Why? We now know that the disciples were not the of the problem, but the man's own believing.

After the man honestly revealed his doubt, Jesus was able to build lieving to the end that he could cast out the devil spirit that was tear. boy. Whether it involves healing ailments, or problems related to believing is the key to receiving.

According to the record in Acts chapter three, Peter healed a me lame from birth. It doesn't say what his condition was, except that it feet and ankle bones, and that people "laid him daily at the gate of the so he could ask for help from those who entered the temple.

Peter focused his attention on the man, and said, "Silver and goldhale but such as I have give I thee. In the name of Jesus Christ rise up and 3:6). The next verse can easily be misinterpreted to mean that Peter section 1. man's hand and pulled him up. But by rightly dividing the words, we want picture. It says, "And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him to mediately his feet and ankle bones received strength."

As we follow the pronouns, it can be seen that the lame man reads. grabbed Peter's right hand, and lifted himself up. In the King James word "him" is in italics, which means the editors added it to the texts ving this word, it would read "and lifted up." See the dynamics of Peter would have held his hand out. Then the man would have readgrabbed Peter's hand, pulling himself up. This is when the healing begun. The healing occurred as the man took the believing action in the Peter's words, "rise up and walk."

Working of miracles involves experiences that go beyond what is a understood to be possible. The highest example revealed in God's work in 1Corinthians 13:2, "and though I have all faith to remove mountain Christ referred to the same thing as recorded in Matthew 21:21, "if you and do not doubt, you shall say unto this mountain, be removed and co sea, it shall be done."

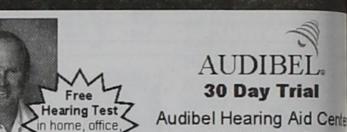

Miracles often involve the believing of a person to affect the element ture. There is no example of a man of God moving mountains, but w gives the word to somebody to move a mountain and command it tob. the sea, then it is guaranteed to be done. God's people during this are grace have the authority to command the elements of nature just like when he commanded the storm to calm (Matthew 8:24-26). This authorized power to heal and work miracles is by the name of Jesus Christ.

Please note that both gifts of healing and miracles involve the power hority that is in the name of Jesus Christ, and not that which is in our and bodies.

CUSTOMER NOTICE

On April 1, 2011 Atmos Energy Corporation, Mid-Tex Division ("Atmos Energy" or "the Company"), filed a Rate Review Mechanism ("RRM") filing to increase its gas rates and implement a new schedule of rates and riders. This filing is applicable to all customers within all incorporated cities served by the Mid-Tex Division, with the exception of the City of Dallas. The proposed effective date of the requested rate changes is August 15, 2011. If approved, the proposed changes will affect approximately 1,196,253 residential, 98,792 commercial, and 731 industrial and transportation customers.

If approved, the proposed rates will increase the Company's annual revenues for the affected incorporated areas of its Mid-Tex Division by $13,151,685, or 1.25% percent, including gas costs, or 3.15% percent, excluding gas cost. The proposed change in rates constitutes a "major change" as that term is defined by Section 104.101 of the Texas Utilities Code.

Based on the proposed rate design, the typical monthly bill for each customer class within the affected incorporated areas of the Mid-Tex Division will increase by the amount and percentage shown in the table below:

Customer Class	Current Bill	Proposed Bill	Difference	Percentage Increase with Gas Cost	Percentage Increase without Gas Cost
Residential	$60.37*	$60.93*	$0.56	0.93%	2.36%
Commercial	$228.12*	$230.20*	$2.08	0.91%	4.21%
Industrial	$2,299.71*	$2,312.13*	$12.42	0.54%	2.19%
Transportation	$669.30	$681.72	$12.42	1.86%	2.19%

Note: Bill impact ranges are subject to varying tax rates among the cities.

* Includes Rider GCR Part A cost of $4.9784 per Mcf.

The calculation of bill impacts assumes monthly consumption of 6 Mcf for residential, 30 Mcf for commercial and 300 MMBtu for industrial and transportation customers.

In addition to the rate revisions in Rate Schedules R, C, I, and T, the other proposed tariff change is an update to the factors included in Rider WNA.

Persons with specific questions or desiring additional information about this filing may contact Atmos Energy Corporation at 1-888-286-6700. Complete copies of the filed Rate Review Mechanism, including all proposed rates and schedule changes, are available for inspection at Atmos Energy's offices located at 5420 LBJ Freeway. Suite 1600, Dallas, Texas 75240 or on our Web site at www.atmosenergy.com/mtxrrm. In addition, customers can contact their respective municipality for additional information regarding this rate request.

Este es un aviso a los clientes de Mid-Tex Division de Atmos Energy Corporation (la Compañía) que la Compañía está solicitando un cambio en las tarifas del gas. Este cambio afecta a todos los clientes en las áreas incorporadas y servidas por Mid-Tex Division excepto la Ciudad de Dallas. Si usted tiene preguntas con respecto a este aumento, por favor llame a Atmos Energy Corporation al 1-888-286-6700.

Rockwall County News Friday, April 29, 2011 Throwaway Ponies give animals a second change

by Mary Thacker

Driving onto Karen Bander's property is an animal-lover's dream.

A spindle-legged colt nuzzles pockets for food, dogs vie for attention, and playful baby goats leap through the air. But this place is not your average ranch. It is the headquarters of Throwaway Ponies, a non-profit rescue operation, and it is nothing short of a miracle that these four-legged creatures are not only alive, but thriving.

Karen said she had wanted to live on a farm since she was in seventh grade. "Our house was situated where the country meets the suburbs, and there was a farm next door," Karen remembers. "My husband is a city boy, and I nagged him for 10 years to move to the country.'

When they relocated from Rowlett to their spread in Rockwall in 2000, Karen and her husband bought a horse for their daughter to ride. Once her daughter graduated from high school, Karen decided to try fostering rescued older horses.

She incorporated Throwaway Ponies in 2005. The name of the organization came from a friend who was a horse trainer.

'He was always being given horses whose owners were unable to care for them. He called them throwaway ponies," she said. Before Karen knew it, she had horses of every age plus rescued donkeys, goats, and even pigs. The two pigs, Peggy and Sue, were brought to Karen by the Rockwall County sheriff's posse. Their owners probably decided that it was cheaper to buy new livestock than pay a fine. After the sheriff's posse had spent time with the animals, they couldn't bring themselves to euthanize them they would be turned into bacon. So Karen welcomed them.

Each animal at Throwaway Ponies has its own story. The known as Fred was found hog-tied in a pasture, left to die. Shadow to Karen, because its owners could not pay for his expensive thyroid. Lynx is a horse with cancer that Karen won't give up on. Red is all owner hadn't fed him in months but who boasted that Red could to whenever he was too drunk to walk.

"You could see every bone in Red's body," Karen said with obiher voice. "When he first came here, he bit me so hard, but he has he the kindness he received here. Now he follows people around."

Currently, Karen is responsible for 48 horses. Ten are on the M. own in Merritt and two horses are living with a trainer. Each arown special needs when it comes to this haven. Since many of the abused, they require training to become tame enough to ride. All be and kindness to get over the trauma of abuse.

"When Sony and Cher, two of our donkeys, came to us, they were we couldn't touch them," Karen said. The baby goats, just two week they came to the ranch, needed to be bottle-fed by the volunteers w and rocked them to sleep. Bluff is a blind horse that is gradually in

"The Hunt County sheriff named him Blind Man, but we changeds Bluff as in Blind Man's Bluff," said Karen. the Scots by 21 strokes at the end of the first day of the district championships, Rockwall's score for 54 holes over the last three rounds has totaled just 4 shots higher than HP's.

In addition, RHS' Trey Manis was the individual champion, winning a playoff from the Scots' Scottie Scheffler after each had shot 78-70-148 for 18 holes, four over par at the Robson Ranch Country Club in Denton.

Both Manis and Scheffler were on fire on a windy, chilly Thursday. Manis' 2-under-par 70 round again matched Scheffler's score, but Manis won a playoff to finish as the regional champion among individual golfers. He scored a birdie 4 on the second extra hole to win after Scheffler recorded a par.

"Trey played well on Thursday," said RHS head coach Billy Watkins. "It was pretty nice. They both went for the green in two. Trey's ball was perfect, Scottie hit his shot in the bunker and hit a bad shot out of the bunker. He made about a 20-footer for par, Trey then made about a 12-footer for birdie to win medalist."

In the Jackets' team effort, Teal Willis finished at 78-78--156, Christian Rang at 80-79--159, Nick Ziebell with 84-77--161 and Chad Taylor at 82-80--162.

Each player matched or bettered his first-round score, with Manis recording an eight-stroke improvement and Ziebell seven shots better than on Wednesday.

Watkins said, "We played as a team with a purpose on Thursday. I was very proud of the boys and their approach to the round on Thursday. There was some rain early, but we did not let the elements affect us."

Each of RHS' players was in a foursome with competitors from the three other teams in the top four. That would have made it easy for the Jackets to think of Thursday as a match-play round against the golfer from Highland Park or Waxahachie.

"I tell them just to play the course, and play their own game," Watkins said. That's what Rockwall did.

In the Regional first round, RHS had shown balance and depth. Their 318 total was sandwiched between HP and Waxahachie, which entered the final round just five strokes behind the

Pille powers Lady Bulldogs into playoffs

Royse City softball coach Michelle three of the Lady Bulldogs' runs against of the week trying to find out about Nacogdoches, the Lady Bulldogs' Bi-District playoff opponent.

As of Wednesday, she had only a sketchy scouting report on District 14-4A's fourth-place team.

"They have a decent pitcher, one power hitter and some speed on the bases, so we'll have to keep them off the bases," Booker said. Then she chuckled at the realization that having opposing runners on base hasn't been a problem for RC this season.

That's because Royse City has senior pitcher Alicia Pille, who is far more than a "decent" pitcher. In all of her games this season, Pille has an 0.73 earned run average and 339 strikeouts. She was the biggest reason why the Lady Bulldogs (17-7 overall) swept through two rounds of the District 13-4A schedule. Pille was the winning pitcher in all of those games, for a 12-0 record with an 0.34 ERA and 206 strikeouts.

In the final regular-season game Friday, April 22, she pitched her third district no-hitter, and fourth overall this year, in a 3-0 victory over Greenville. Only a walk to that contest's second batter kept Pille from her third 13-4A perfect game of 2011.

She also has been one of Royse City's top offensive players. Pille drove in all

Booker spent most of the early part Greenville with a first-inning single and a two-run home run in the fourth

Pille's presence also makes it quite possible that RC, ranked 10th among the state's 4A teams, could navigate its way through the loaded Region II playoff field for a state tournament berth.

They could meet 11th-ranked Forney in the third round and fifth-ranked Frisco Wakeland in the fourth. That could set up a matchup against top-ranked Elgin in the regional final.

Booker said, "Forney has a good team, but their pitching's not dominating. Wakeland's pitching is not what it was last year. We played them fairly early this season and scored (four) runs against them."

First, there's the matter of Nacogdoches, which fits in well with Booker's insistence on having her team not look past the next opponent. Even when the Lady Dawgs clinched the district title with two games remaining, the coach told the team to hold off on celebrating until it finished the 13-4A season undefeated.

"It's a fourth-place team, but I don't want our girls to assume anything. Volleyball went in as a first-place team, and the fourth-place team beat us.

"Even last year, we started out strong, and we had better hitters as far as power. Then we got relaxed and lost a couple of games. So we've talked about staying focused and not looking ahead."

The coach, however, was looking ahead to this season as early as last sum-

"I saw Alicia play all summer in Gold (select) ball, and she dominated. I figured if she was facing kids who were going to play college ball all summer, in high school ball she should really dominate. In some games, she wasn't on her game and got frustrated. She was fighting through not staying focused, but she has got that focus ball.

"The only thing that has surprised me about her is her leadership. She's always been very laid-back, a good ole girl who wants to be everybody's friend. But she's been getting after her teammates, saying, 'You've got to work hard, and get this Booker said Pille's work ethic has rubbed off on the young Lady Bulldogs.

"Our sophomore class has stepped up. They've made big hits and made big plays. Tori Green hasn't been our most consistent player, but she has had key hits in big games. Kyla (Simmons, the coach's daughter) had a couple of big hits for us. She has played a big role having to catch Alicia, and she has learned

Hawks rally to regain first-place tie against Highland Par

Rockwall-Heath pulled itself back into a tie for first place in District 10-4A baseball by rallying for five runs in the bottom of the fifth inning Thursday, April 21, to defeat Highland Park 6-4.

The Hawks (26-5-1 overall, 11-2 in District 10-4A) are scheduled to play their final regular-season game Friday at Wylie East. The Raiders have a first-year program with a 4-8 district record, but that includes a victory over Highland Park. HP (27-4, 11-2) is scheduled to play third-place McKinney (8-4 in 10-4A).

Winning pitcher Jake Thompson held the Scots to six hits in a complete game. The Hawks' eight hits included doubles by Bret Boswell, Jovan Hernandez and Nick Petersen.

Highland Park entered the game ranked third in the THSBCA state 4A poll. RHHS had dropped out after an upset loss to Rockwall.

The Scots took a 4-1 lead into the bottom of the fifth at Rockwall-Heath behind pitcher Preston Edwards.

However, Edwards' game began to unravel when Jake Baxter repeatedly fouled off pitches before drawing a leadoff walk. Grayson Lewis then singled to right field on a one-ball, twostrike pitch, and Austin Stewart beat out a sacrifice bunt.

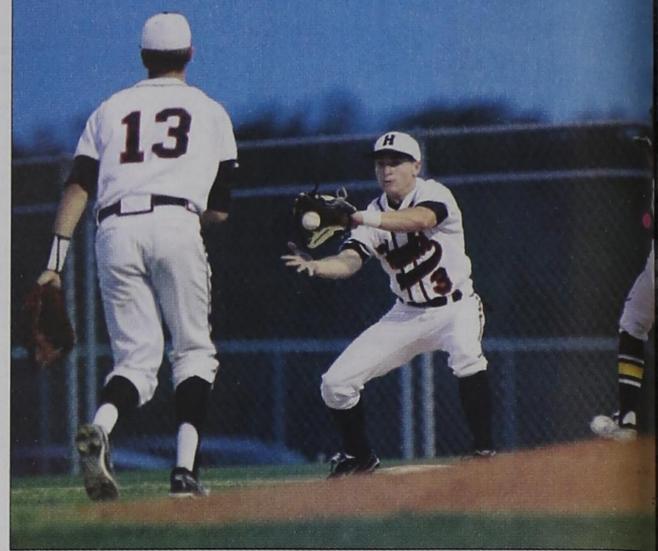

Then the Scots turned to pitcher Matt Wilson, who couldn't stop the Hawks' heavy hitters. Hernandez, who went 2-for-3 with two runs batted in, capped the rally with a run-scoring double for the final 6-4 advantage.

A night earlier, Hernandez had done it all in a 13-0 victory over Wylie. He went 4-for-4, including two home runs, and was the winning pitcher with four hitless innings. The Pirates (11-16, 3-9) managed one hit in the fifth before the 10-run rule ended the game.

The Hawks' 14 hits included an additional homer apiece by Bret Boswell and Jake Bledsoe, and a double by

If RHHS and Highland Park finish the regular season tied, they would be co-champions. But because they split two games against each other, they would play a game to determine the number one playoff seed from 10-4A.

Among RHHS' other competitors, Aly Coughlin was second in the 800-meter run in 2 minutes, 20 seconds; Brittany Huggett was third in the 300-meter hurdles in 47 seconds; Hunter Hopkins placed fifth in the discus (150-10), and Yorlynn Engmann was sixth in the 100 hurdles (15.14).

In the Region II-4A Championships at the University of North Texas' Fouts Field in Denton, both Fuller and Richardson (triple jump) are scheduled to begin their competition at noon

Also on Monday, Coughlin would run at 5:45 p.m., Engmann at 6:10, Hayden Compton at 6:30 in the boys' 100-meter hurdles and 7:40 in the 300 hurdles, and Huggett at 7:50.

Richardson would return Tuesday for the long jump at 9 a.m., with Hopkins beginning to throw at 10 a.m.

Lady Hawks finish strong with 2 more w

Rockwall-Heath had won just two of its first 12 District 10-4A softball games this season. With just two games remaining, the Lady Hawks were tied for seventh place and in danger of finishing last in the district.

Then something clicked. After four consecutive games losing by the 10run rule, RHHS saw its bats wake up. The Lady Hawks' pitching and defense tightened up.

In a three-day period, Rockwall-Heath defeated Highland Park 9-4 and Wylie East 22-7 to finish 4-10 in the district. Instead of finishing last, or even seventh, the Lady Hawks wound

Rockwall's prize for making the playoffs as 10-4A's fourth-place team is a Bi-District playoff matchup against Frisco Wakeland, the District 10-4A champion ranked seventh among the state's 4A teams. That fact might not bother the Jackets. They were in a similar position last year against a McKinney team that had two players now in professional baseball, but RHS won that best-of-three Bi-District series despite losing the first game.

Jackets head coach Jeff Payne said he already was working with the Wakeland coach on setting the time, date and place of this year's Bi-District competition. In later rounds of the 2010 playoffs, the Wolverines knocked out both Rockwall and Rockwall-Heath to reach the state tournament.

Against Wylie East, Rockwall outhit the Raiders 6-2, with Skyler Bean's double the only extra-base hit. Thomas Anderson was the winning pitcher.

In two games against the Jackets this season, Wylie East's first-year varsity team lost both by a combined margin of 5-2.

Winning pitcher Brewer Money also contributed a double as Rockwall outhit McKinney North 15-5. Corey Mills and Josh Deloach each hit a home run and Steve Bean smacked a double against the Bulldogs.

In Saturday's game at Tillery Field, the Jackets and Skeeters combined for just seven hits. Rockwall had a 4-2 edge in hits until the game's final batter, A.J. Limon, drove a pitch from Deloach up into a wind blowing out to left field for his first home run this

An error and a walk had put two runners on base with two out, so all three runs were unearned.

RHS put a runner on second base in each of the last three innings, including with no outs in the ninth, but couldn't bring any of them home.

RHS sweeps district in JV tennis doubles

The Rockwall junior varsity won all three doubles events and had second-place finishers in four of the five events overall to win the District 10-4A championship Thursday, April 14, at the Rockwall Tennis Facility.

In the boys' doubles, the Yellowjackets' Cooper Hayley and Nolt Lamela defeated RHS teammates Jake Wright and Collin Sevier in the final match. The mixed doubles team of Juli Hughes and Chance Norris also defeated teammates, with Kevin Shell and Stephanie Shell the runners-up.

Brittany Songer and Jessica Perkins won the girls' doubles. Lady Jackets teammates Karly Mathews and Christine Sullivan placed third.

RHS singles players placed second, third and fourth in both the boys' and girls' competition. In boys' singles, Doug Yancy, Ryan Rock and Clay Higginbotham finished 2-3-4. For the Lady Jackets, the order of finish was Sarah Hall, Jessica Lowery and Vaneisha Hendricks.

Bulldogs baseball aims for district fourth place

Royse City's playoff possibilities aren't on life support yet, but those certainly aren't healthy either.

The Bulldogs missed another opportunity to pull into a tie for fourth place and District 13-4A's final playoff berth by losing 13-0 at Greenville Friday, April 22. RC managed only one hit against the Lions. Greenville had just seven hits, but the defense failed losing pitcher Mitchell Venhaus by committing five errors.

Going into the district schedule's final weekend, the Dawgs now have to watch not only fourth-place Denison (4-6 in the district), but also Greenville. After going through the first half of the district season without a victory, the Lions have eaught fire to win three of four games and match Royse City's 3-7 district re-

It could help the Bulldogs if Greenville could stay hot, if only for one game. That's because the Lions are scheduled to play at Denison Friday. The Yellow Jackets have won both games against RC this season, so they would win a tiebreaker if the teams finish with the same record.

So to finish ahead of Denison, Royse City would have to win both Friday and Saturday while the Jackets lost both of those days.

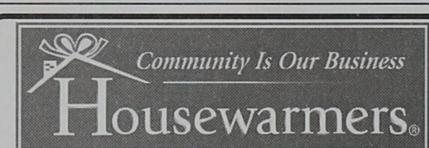

The Bulldogs would clinch a playoff berth by winning both games, with Denison losing both and Greenville winning only one. But if RC wins two, Denison loses two and Greenville wins two, the Bulldogs and Lions would be tied at 5-7. They have split their two games against each other, so it would take a third win in a playoff to put Royse City into the playoffs. It would be possible, but not easy for RC to win both. The Dawgs would play at home Friday against last-place Mount Pleasant (2-8), but would have to play at Sulphur Springs Saturday. Even if SS (7-3) loses at first-place Texarkana Texas (9-2) Friday, the Wildcats would have something to play for because they still could catch second-place Sherman (8-3). They also could still be smarting from their loss at Royse City. On Saturday, Denison would play at Mount Pleasant, so RC would need some help there too. Greenville would host Sherman, which would be playing for first or second place depending on the Sulphur Springs-Texas High result.

Confused, Dawgs fans? Just remember that Royse City has to win both games to have any chance at the playoffs.

Hungry Harry: Milano Finding the EAT in Hea

The Hungry-mobile went on the hunt to find the more illusive in Rockwall County. I decided to try Heath home of the forms Bridge which was an original access point to Dallas County. It was home to many baptisms. Today, Barnes Bridge is covered by wat as Lake Ray Hubbard. Did you also know that buffalo used to area? Children were warned by a ringing bell that warned of the pedes. Today, the buffalo have roamed on and your selection to eat is rather limited to down to the gas station or Milano's.

Milano's Italian Restaurant is quiet pizzeria that focuses mainly ery. It has subs, salads, and basic appetizers. The pizza is great and wiches were well-prepared. I would be scared for a restaurant that pizza and sandwiches. They did both well. The restaurant is invit a good place for a good meal with friends. The space is small to in a way it kind of recreates the scene from Lady and a Tramp. It personal when you dine there. Overall, it was a good time and if Heath and hungry you may want to give it a try.

Rockwall student lands Art Institute scholarship

A 19-year-old Rockwall resident, Rebecca Overstreet, was presented with a $2,000 scholarship toward her tuition at the Art Institute of Dallas at an event conducted April 12 at the Hilton Campbell Center in Dallas.

Overstreet, who is studying advertising design, received the 2011 Sam R. Bloom Memorial Scholarship from the Dallas Ad League Foundation.

"Ms. Overstreet is a talented student and up-and-comer in the media world, and we are thrilled to support her continued learning," said Denis C. D'Amico, chairman for the Dallas Ad League Foundation.

Each spring the foundation awards the scholarship to a Dallas-area sophomore, junior or graduate-level college student majoring in one of several industries serving the advertising community. The award is designed to recognize, promote and encourage academically talented students of advertising and related disciplines.

Opinions Opinions Nullifying the drug wa

By Jacob Hornberger

No doubt to the chagrin of many judges across the land, a New Hampshire jury has shown, once again, that juries are the final judges of both the law and the facts in criminal cases, contrary to what all too many judges falsely inform juries in their courtroom.

The New Hampshire case involved the drug war. A man named Bob Constantine was charged with felony possession of marijuana, to wit: growing marijuana plants in his house. Constantine suffers from arthritis, and there was no evidence that he used the marijuana other than simply consuming it himself. Apparently, some nosy neighbor snitched on Constantine to the authorities.

Constantine defended himself at the trial. Before trial, he was offered a plea bargain involving a guilty plea to misdemeanor marijuana possession with 60 days in jail. It would have been a smart move to take the plea, given that Constantine had no defense to the felony charge. However, Constantine knew that this is how the drug war is often played, and he decided not to play the game. He went to trial and rolled the dice, obviously hoping that the jury would engage in some jury nullification.

I don't know anything about the particular judge in Constantine's case, but I am familiar with the general attitude that judges have toward jury nullification. They hate it. In fact, they hate it so much that they have come to lying to juries about the power of the jury to judge the law in criminal cases.

Once both sides in a criminal case have provided their evidence to the jury and rested their cases, the judge reads a formal set of instructions known as "the charge" to the jury. In those instructions, the judge sets forth the parameters for the conduct of the jury. For example, he informs the jury that it must presume the defendant innocent and must refuse to convict the defendant unless convinced of his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

The judge also tells the jury that it is the sole judge of the facts in the case. The jury decides which of the witnesses are telling the truth and who aren't. It weighs the evidence and determines guilt or innocence.

The controversy comes with respect to the law itself. Judges tell juries that they do not have the power to judge the rightfulness or wrongfulness of the law that the defendant is being charged with. Or the jury is simply told that it must accept the law as the judge provides it in his charge.

But the judge is lying. The truth is that the jury has the power to judge the law, even if the judge fails to tell the jury of such power. Once the judge hands the case over to the jury, the jury has the power to acquit the defendant for whatever reason it wants, including the fact that the jury finds the law to be immoral or unconscionable, and there isn't anything the judge can do about it.

Consider, by comparison, a civil suit. After both sides have rested in a civil suit, the judge has the power to enter what is called an "instructed verdict." He does that if there are no facts in dispute. Since there is nothing for the jury to determine, given that both sides agree on the facts, the judge can dismiss the jury and enter judgment for the side he believes should prevail on the law.

Not so, however, with a criminal case. Even if all the facts are agreed upon -- even if the defendant openly confesses on the witness stand to having committed the offense -- the judge lacks the power to dismiss the jury and summarily enter judgment for the state. The judge mustisend the case to the jury because the jury is the final judge of facts but also the law. It has the power to acquit the defendant evidence conclusively establishes that the defendant has conoffense.

That's what happened in Constantine's case. To the judget apparently permitted Constantine some latitude in his final to the jury, during which he asked the jury to acquit him of charges. One or more members of the jury refused to convict of offense despite the fact that the evidence was undisputed that was growing marijuana plants in his home. Absent a unanimous the jury hung on the felony charges. Unfortunately, however, the judge sentenced him to the same 60-day jail sentence and that he would have received with the plea bargain.

According to an article about Constantine's case by Carl president of the New Hampshire Free State Project, entitled "Liv Nullify," the New Hampshire state senate is now considering a bijudges to tell juries the truth regarding their power to nullify and defendants and their attorneys to argue the matter to the jury.

The Constantine case make two valuable points: One, june artists can power to nullify bad laws, regardless of whether or not judges in the of such power, and, two, at least some jurors are refusing to the Tim B

Waking up to economic realities

by Ron Paul

Last week the financial markets were roiled by Standard & Poor's announcement that they will change their outlook on the fiscal health of the United States over the next two years from "stable" to "negative". The administration decried this decision as political. However, it seems the only political thing about this decision is the fact that it took so long. The Washington Post recently reported that the White House and the Treasury Department put tremendous pressure on S&P not to do this. However, if S&P made its ratings based on political pressures rather than economic reality, it would cease to have any relevance to the business community. Even if S&P delayed its announcement that U.S. government bond market would be downgraded, at some point it would become obvious that the finances of this country are out of control and our leadership is out of touch. All credibility would be lost if S&P simply continued to assign U.S. debt a AAA rating.

S&P noted in its announcement that negotiations among leaders in Washington to address deficit concerns did not sound promising, and expressed skepticism that politicians could agree to any viable budget compromise. Of course this has been obvious for years but in the midst of the current debate over raising the debt limit it is perhaps the wake-up call that Washington needs. For decades politicians and government officials have been able to maintain their denial about our real financial situation, patching the system together by passing emergency and supplemental funding bills, issuing more debt, and allowing the Federal Reserve and foreign creditors to paper over deficits with more monetary expansion. I've said many times the real day of reckoning comes when fiscal and monetary tricks no longer work and there are no buyers for our debt.

Even the most conservative budget that has been proposed by Republican leadership requires raising the debt ceiling by an additional $9 trillion by 2021. This demonstrates absolutely that no one in power right any real intention of addressing our spending problems or pay the debt. They simply expect to continue to borrow and run up forever, without limit. Yet they always imagine our dollar will no matter how many we print. This expectation is foolish and guarantee that those buying our debt are not foolish and naïve end along with this charade forever.

The S&P announcement may just be the harbinger of economic acting as a restraint on government expansion. Government is not to cap its own growth, in spite of misnomers like "debt limit" reduction". Government will continue to grow like a cancer, so country of its wealth and freedom until the laws of economics can be ignored.

Contributed by Gary Corlies

The Benbrook Water Authority asks Texans to join in petitioning the U.S. Congress to repeal unnecessary, wasteful regulations for drinking water, CO2 limits and ethanol mandates.

After an extensive 9 month investigation, petition chairman Gary Corlies, reports that the EPA has no verifiable science that justifies growing, onerous regulations projected to cost Texans billions of dollars annually. EPA research data is biased, contrived and unsubstantiated.

In 2008 the U.S. EPA started implementation of new water quality standards involving detection and mitigation of Trihalomethanes (TTHMs) and 5 Haloacetic Acids (HAA5) (disinfectant byproducts) in drinking water.

No verifiable research confirms drinking water has caused birth defects and/or bladder cancer as claimed by the U.S. EPA. Not one case of bladder cancer or birth defect has ever been attributed to TTHMs/HAA5 in drinking water in the 100 year history of treating water using disinfectants.

The U.S. EPA points to what they describe as a "difficult and incomplete empirical analysis of epidemiology and toxicology studies" as justification for the regulation. Investigation confirms that the EPA did not account for other possible sources of exposure such as diet, heredity, or life-style choices in their incomplete analysis. They have no quantifiable measure and cannot claim to understand and to prescribe the acceptable levels of TTHMs & HHA5 for drinking water.

While operating in a down economy is tough, the purpose and mission of the Boys and the Boys an Club too important to allow it to fail. Board Chair, Stephen Straughan realized the needs of this Club and Sustain bed u o help over a year ago. Stephen immediately began recruiting community leaders as board members We Service we the ibility to effect change and the hearts and commitment to see it through. Along with the guidance Girls Clubs of America and a locally based non-profit consulting group DNS Associates, lead by tockton, Mall name Kevin Bingham, the Club made an executive decision to bring in an interim Chief Professional Room to Gor 1 Eldredge. Gordon, a Boys & Girls Club professional with more than 40 years of experience, speing struggling Clubs to get re-engaged, re-energized, and re-established in communities, as well as developing program areas of which he spent the better part of 2010 doing in the Dobbs Elementary build 3 where the Club is housed.

he efforts of the Board of Directors and that of Mr. Eldredge, today when you walk in to the Boys Clul f Rockwall County you will see a much different program. You will find a welcoming facility with activities taking place in an orderly and structured environment. You will encounter an encouraging staff that works day in and day out to implement meaningful programs and activities for our memalso meet the person brought in to carry the Boys & Girls Club through the next phase of growth

Misti brings with her 15 years of non-profit experience in the areas of fundraising, itegic development, and Boys & Girls Club programming. She has worked throughout the South in 'ennessee and she spent the last three years with the Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Dallas. "I am very an opportunity to truly come home and help the kids in the community where I live." Misti grew up ere she graduated from Naaman Forest High School prior to being recruited to play basketball at a olleg n Alabama. "I have had the privilege of working for the Boys & Girls Club for the past 14 years and r mission and purpose. I have watched first hand as kids have grown up in the Club and have gone o gre things with their lives."

Girls Club is a place for all kids to have "fun with a purpose." Clubs offer an outlet for youth age 6 ey can exercise leadership skills, learn about health and fitness, join sports leagues, grow artistically, velor to productive, responsible and caring citizens. The Club is also a place where the community can aged id involved. By volunteering to teach a program or a skill, even by becoming a mentor, the Club and is nee volunteer support throughout the year.

never low the potential of a youth until we allow them the opportunity to explore and develop their skill is our b to introduce them to new things when we get the chance. One special group of young boys from an Elientary school chose to conduct their school project at the Boys & Girls Club this year. For a total of 6 of vol teer time, these young men hold a baseball clinic once a week for the BGCRC members to take part s is a eat example of kids giving back to kids and an even better example of how the citizens of our great unity pport one another.

orga ation has survived because of our community. We have an incredible partner base from the school t, the ty, to civic clubs, the Rockwall Chamber of Commerce, local businesses and other non-profits. We een s very blessed to have to the continued support of such an amazing community.

Hope at the Harbor scheduled May 28

Hope at the Harbor, a benefit for The Genesis Center Women's Shelter, will begin at sunset May 28 at the Rockwall Harbor Amphitheater, 2047 Summer Lee Drive, Rockwall.

The event will include a contemporary dance collective choreographed and performed by local professional dancers at approximately 8:30 p.m. and running about an hour.

Admission to see the performance is free for those who want to bring a chair or blanket from home; seating in the chairs in the reserved section will be available for a minimum donation of $25 per chair.

The Genesis Center is a local nonprofit that provides immediate safety and shelter, along with victim care services for victims of domestic violence, alcohol and drug abuse, and homelessness.

Sponsor for the event is Dance for Hope Charities, which was founded for the sole purpose of providing fundraising assistance for organizations that make a difference in the ebrating the beauty of art through lives of abused women and children. Members of DHC strive to

The Great One Hundred Nurses

Honored for Excellence in the Art and Science of Nursing 2011

Shonna Hansen, RN-BC, Intensive Care Unit; Suzanne Myers-Pharis, BSN, RN, CEN, Intensive Care Unit and Sheila Shaw RN, ADN, RN, Surgery Department were selected as DFW's Great 100 Nurses.

The mission of the Great 100, since 1990, is to recognize professional Registered Nurses for their contributions to the communities in which they live and practice.

The Great 100 recognizes 100 professional RNs each year that have been nominated by their peers, practice sites, families and patients entrusted to their care, primarily from the DFW metro-plex and surrounding counties.

We are proud to recognize our 2011 Great 100 Nurses!

Thank you for the positive spirit in which you do your job and live your life;
your sense of purpose is something to be admired.
The love, hope, care and compassion you bring to your patients and community is an inspiration.

Congratulations Sheila, Shonna and Suzanne!
