Jared Bowker, a student at Williams Middle School, tosses a pumpkin to Randi Soldat, a member of the Rockwall High School National Honor Society, as they and many other local students helped unload an 18-wheeler full of pumpkins for the Rockwall Pumpkin Patch. The youngsters represented Royse City High School and Royse City Middle School, Williams Middle School, Rockwall High School, Rockwall-Heath High School, and the confirmation class from Our Lady of the Lake Catholic Church. Sandy Barrow, Pumpkin Patch liaison with the school volunteers, said the unloading had to be postponed for a day until Wednesday due to last week's heavy rain, but the students all showed up the next day to tackle the muddy, sweaty work. "They have really come through for us," she said. "We were rained out on Tuesday and had the Heath parade on Monday, but they all came today and I can't sing their praises enough." The annual Pumpkin Patch is co-sponsored by the Rockwall County Friends of the Library and the Council of Catholic Women at Our Lady of the Lake Catholic Church. The Pumpkin Patch is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily through the month of October on Ridge Road in front of Brookshire's.

Hawks edge Royse City 31-24, tie for second place in District 10-4A

Heath wide receiver Tyler Harding (88) reaches for a pass during the Hawks' 31-24 homecoming win over Royse City last Friday at Wilkerson-Sanders Stadium. By Matt McGillen

Withstanding a monster night by Royse City's quarterback and playing without their leading rusher and scorer, Rockwall-Heath still had enough weapons to hold off the winless Bulldogs, 31-24, in the Hawks' homecoming game at Wilkerson-Sanders Stadium last Friday.

The win lifts the defending District 10-4A champion Hawks to 5-2 overall and to 3-1 in district, good enough for a tie for second — behind Highland Park (4-0, 6-1) — with Newman Smith (3-1, 5-2) and their next opponent, Richardson Pearce (3-1, 5-2).

RC slipped to 0-4 in district and to 0-7 for the year.

After Jess Irokwe slipped into the end zone from three yards out at the end of a 52-yard drive to cap a string of 21 consecutive Heath points, the Hawks led 31-10 with exactly seven minutes remaining in the game.

Heath quarterback Kevin Rodgers had connected twice on near identical post pattern throws of 22 and 26 yards to Cameron Wilson to help the Hawks break away from a game that was knotted 10-10 prior to yielding to the halftime show.

Rodgers, a senior, had an excellent game, finishing with a season and career-high 316 yards passing with two touchdowns and only one interception.

He also scored himself on a one-yard run, picking up 68 yards on eight carries.

"Kevin Rogers has been doing a great job at quarterback making great decisions," said second-year Heath coach Mickey Moss.

But while Rodgers played well, his bulldog counterpart, sophomore Corbin Taylor played exponentially better, hitting 28-of-46 passes for a career-best 445 yards, also with two scores but with no interceptions.

"Their sophomore quarterback did a good job of completing passes. I think we had a few breakdowns and they just played really well," said Moss, who coached with RC coach Greg Strahm when Moss was the head coach and Strahm was the offensive coordinator at South Garland. "They had a great game plan. I think Greg Strahm is a heck of a football coach. I think he is a little shorthanded with all the players they lost (to graduation)."

The Bulldogs weren't the only ones playing shorthanded.

It's always a delicate situation when an apparently uninjured star player is on the sideline in uniform rather than in the game.

And so it was with Rockwall-Heath's leading rusher and scorer, sophomore running back Dorian Lawry, who leads the Hawks with 645 yards on the ground and has scored 11 touchdowns, but did not play against RC.

Moss said he preferred not to comment about Lawry's non participation.

Irokwe finished with high 89 yards on 21 lead the Hawks' run while Wilson topped receivers with six catches.

On the other side it was the Bulldogs' Smith who took gain with a whopping 226 yards on 11 catches. Ryan Fedric who had 132 yards.

"At the end we were 'slow' ball," said the Hawks' mostly offense the last few minutes. "It was a greenery to get some of in the game."

The Hawks will need tire arsenal when the Richardson to take over scoring Mustangs. will be rematch of a Hawks' won 56-49 in last year.

Heath volleyball takes two of three matches, can clinch playoff spot tonight at Greenville

By Matt McGillen

GREENVILLE — It's still just a little too soon for Rockwall volleyball coach Maggie Younger to utter the words that has actually locked up a playoff spot, but with only three 10-4A matches left after winning two of three outings last can almost see the Promise Land.

"I can't say that," said Younger after her team rallied Carrollton's Newman Smith Turner 21-25, 27-25, 15-25, 13 Oct. 9. "But I am excited about the opportunities that presented to us."

Heath has yet to advance beyond the regular season in volleyball program's five years under Younger, though the La

Pearce outscores Jackets 43-36 for 2nd district loss

Bump
 ll rolled up 579 yards of offense, and powered by 32 first downs, led to possess the ball for 88 plays Thursday night – and won.

Pearce's own high-powered offense, which didn't have a touchdown more than the Yellowjackets did to win a 43-36 victory.

Pearce dropped RHS to 2-2 in District 10-4A and 4-3 overall. The Jackets improved to 3-1 and 5-2.

In the first half, the teams had scored a touchdown on each possession, when Pearce held Rockwall and forced a punt. Even though the Jackets pulled within 26-22 just 25 seconds before half, the Mustangs drove to RHS' 38 yard line.

Seven seconds left, quarterback Caleb Lewis threw toward the end zone. Rockwall sophomore safety Spencer Edwards jumped to intercept the pass at Pearce's 3 yard line as the half ended.

It was the first of two interceptions in the game for Edwards, who had a pickoff for a touchdown a week earlier.

"The first one was a good one just before the half," said RHS head coach Mike Younger.

Younger set up the Yellowjackets for success in the second half. He wanted them to receive the kickoff and if they scored a touchdown, they would take the lead. If each team scored on every possession, it would be very possible in this game, the team with the ball last in the game.

Pearce's strategy became clear. Give the ball to running backs Jacob Roach and Del Myles. That would accomplish several goals: the Jackets could score to take the lead, it would shorten the game, keeping the clock running, it would establish dominance over the Mustangs, and it would wear out Pearce's defense.

Roach was working on that drive. In six plays, Broach (32 yards) and Myles (15) hooped it down to Pearce's 28. Then, Smith said, "They got themselves in the foot."

A 15-yard penalty and a false start pushed the Jackets back 15 yards on third and 18, the Mustangs intercepted Adam Dingwell's pass.

Pearce drove downfield, but after a third-down lateral went to the end zone, the visitors took a 41-yard field goal by Michael Hunnicutt.

With the score 29-22, RHS still was behind by just a touchdown.

On fourth and 16, Pearce called for a fake punt that nearly worked but Dingwell's pass was intercepted by Edwards in the end zone, stopped at the 10-yard line.

At that point, Rockwall showed another advantage of its ground-offensive strategy. Pounding the ball into the line set up play after play, and Will Beasley turned Dingwell's pass over the top into a 62-yard gain by breaking tackles.

Two plays later, Myles took a direct snap in Rockwall's version of the Wildcat offense and ran 9 yards for the first of his two touchdowns. Travis Shinn's extra point tied the score 29-29.

Younger said, "We had enough stops in the second half for us to break the game open."

After regaining the lead, Pearce scored on a 9-yard run with 7 minutes, 45 seconds remaining, but the Mustangs stopped the Jackets on Dingwell's incomplete pass on third and 16. They needed to go just 32 yards to Gold's fourth down, from 4 yards out.

"The distance of the field didn't matter," Smith said. "It came down to 'Can we stop them, or can we not.' Time was more important."

Pearce's seventh touchdown, 3:37 remained. Was that time for Rockwall to score two TDs and keep the Mustangs scoring?

On a passing attack, the Jackets drove 78 yards in 13 plays, scoring on Dingwell's 19-yard pass to Beasley with 58 seconds remaining.

With a 43-36, RHS needed to recover an onside kick – and it did! Smith called "maybe the best onside kick I've ever seen," and Loftis ran past Pearce's front line to grab the ball at the Mustangs' 47 before it could go out of bounds.

On the next play, a running play to Broach moved the Jackets in to the 30-yard line, but a fourth-down pass fell incomplete, ending Rockwall's drive to win.

Mateer, Pettit lead HCA to rout of Lakehill

The experimenting is over. Heritage Christian Academy found its six best players on offense and defense in time for an impressive win in its TAPPS District 2-I 6-Man opener.

High school coaches use non-district games to learn about their team and apply the lessons to winning in the district. For HCA this season, with no starters returning, those preliminary games were especially important.

The Eagles were just 2-3 in their non-district games, but that record and Lakehill Prep's 6-1 non-district mark meant nothing Friday night at Lakehill. HCA routed the Warriors 60-15 in a game stopped with 8 minutes, 44 seconds remaining because of six-man football's 45-point mercy rule.

The biggest change for Heritage Christian has been switching junior Austin Pettit, its most experienced player from quarterback, with freshman Nathan Mateer moving in.

As a running back and receiver, Pettit carried 25 times for a game-high 228 yards and two touchdowns. He also completed a pass.

Said HCA head coach Robert Huckabee, "We had some kids who were sick during the week. Austin wasn't feeling well before the game." Sick or not, the Eagles must have been feeling better after the game.

Mateer completed 8 of 10 for 108 yards and two scores. Nathan's older brother, junior Aaron Mateer, scored 12 points on six 2-point conversion kicks, including the points that clinched the victory.

"We can do other things with Austin now. He's capable of playing came within two wins last year. But a win over the Greenville Lady Lions on the road tonight will seal the deal. Heath swept Greenville earlier in the season.

Although the Lady Hawks were swept 25-15, 25-17, 25-13 by second-place Highland Park Tuesday, they rebounded to sweep Royce City (1-10, 5-24) 25-11, 25-18, 25-20 last Friday to stand tied for third with Rockwall (7-4, 12-12) – the top four teams advance to the postseason – at 7-4 in district (22-13 for the season). Both the Lady Hawks and the Lady Jackets are full two games ahead of the current fifth place team, Greenville (5-6, 10-14).

A win over the Lady Lions will put Heath up by three games in the standings with only two to play.

"We need to take care of business," said Younger.

Highland Park, meanwhile, improved to 9-2 and 26-11.

The Lady Hawks will finish out the season against the top-ranked 4A team in the state, district leader Richardson Pearce (11-0, 34-5) Oct. 23 on the road before hosting third place Rockwall (7-4, 12-12) in their district finale Oct. 27.

Should the Lady Hawks beat a team they should beat – Greenville – and not pull off a gigantic upset by beating a team they probably shouldn't – the Lady Mustangs – their game with the Lady Jackets will decide the final two playoff spots.

If the two teams end up tied for third, they would need to have a mini-playoff for seeding purposes before bi-district action begins.

Against Highland Park, which finds itself in the unusual position of not being on top of the district, the Lady Hawks found themselves in an 8-0 hole in the first game, but battled hard all the way.

"I think we played well," Younger said. "It was another step in the right direction."

Heath rallied back from that 8-zip deficit to pull to 16-10 in the opening game, before the Lady Scots pulled away.

In the second game, the Lady Hawks traded points with the Lady Scots for most of the game, trailing only 16-13 before Highland Park's superior passing allowed them to finish with a 9-4 run.

The third game was mostly Highland Park as both teams used their reserves liberally.

Great individual efforts not enough as RC falls to Heath 31-17

By Matt McGillen
 ROCKWALL — Coming into his game with defending District 10-4A champion Rockwall-Heath, Roysse City sophomore quarterback Corbin Taylor was having a decent year, averaging about 165 yards passing for the 0-6 Bulldogs.

RC was also averaging about 167 yards rushing per game, as they tried to control other teams' offenses by controlling the clock.

However, when the Hawks slammed the door on Roysse City's running game, Corbin stepped up in a quantum-leap fashion, more than doubling his previous best effort, throwing for a career-record 445 yards, completing 28-of-46 passes for two touchdowns without a single interception.

But in the end, it wasn't quite enough, as a furious Bulldog rally fell short as Roysse City lost for the seventh straight time, 31-24, at Wilkerson-Sanders Stadium.

Corbin wasn't the only Bulldog who raised the bar on their performance.

Wide receiver Kristopher Smith snagged a game-high 11 passes for an also game-high 226 yards, including a nine-yard TD catch with only 0:07 left in the game. All purpose back Ryan Fedric had six receptions for 132 yards and a 46-yard score and also rushed for 32 yards and another TD.

Despite the glittery statistics, the result was not quite what Bulldogs' coach Greg Strahm wanted.

"The bottom line is that we had some stats," said Strahm. "The loss drops the Bulldogs to 0-4 in district and consecutive game losing streak to eight in a row going back to last year's first-round playoff defeat. Heath improved to 3-1 play and to 5-2 overall.

After a 10-10 tie at the half, Heath ran off 21 straight minutes left in the final quarter.

But with Corbin taking exclusively to the air, the Bulldogs back quickly, going 60 yards in just 56 seconds.

The big play was a 46-yard strike to Fedric down the center field that cut the score to 31-17 with 6:04 left.

After Heath burned just two minutes off the clock, Corbin took the Bulldogs 50 yards to the Hawk's 30, but came up empty straight incompletions, turning the ball over on downs left.

But the Hawks went on a five-and-out drive and punt back to RC with 90 seconds to play.

Corbin, who managed to throw 23 passes in the Bulldogs two and half minutes of possession, drove RC 80 yards score, connecting with Smith on three straight passes 14, 42 yards.

The ensuing onside kick, however, traveled a little too far out the clock.

"We felt pretty good about our clock management," Strahm said. "We work on it; it doesn't just happen by accident. Still, to score and get the ball back with a little time on the clock had their 'hands' team in and it just didn't happen."

As a former assistant to Heath head coach Mickey Moss was at South Garland, Strahm had some insights when it came to clock management.

Spirited RCA comes up short against big Canyon Creek

It wasn't just the number of players, but their sheer size, that allowed Richardson Canyon Creek Christian Academy to overcome Rockwall Christian Friday night.

Even though the Cougars, the defending TAPPS IV state champions, led by as much as 40-7, it would be going too far to say they overwhelmed RCA.

Fighting to the end with just 15 players in uniform, the Warriors (2-5 overall, 1-1 in TAPPS IV-District 2) scored twice in the closing minutes to reduce the final margin to 40-20.

"This showed me a lot about my football team," said RCA head coach Caleb Palmer. "I'm disappointed with the loss but I'm excited with the effort. From how bad we were our first game to this point shows a lot of improvement."

"This was by far the best team we've played all year. We've come a long way, but we still have a lot of work to do."

With Randy Castaneda sidelined by a fractured tibia, undersized freshman Shelby Sharpless had to step in at offensive tackle. He was going a Richardson team whose 33-man roster included seven linemen weighing 225 pounds or more.

Palmer said, "Shelby at about 120 pounds was playing against a guy about 6'4". He keeps cutting the kid's legs, then he stands up and blocks him again."

That worked well on the opening series. Playing before a Homecoming crowd at Dobbs Field, RCA took the opening kickoff and drove to a touchdown on Stephan Turner's 12-yard pass to Aaron Eastin.

The 6-0 lead didn't last long. A 43-yard run by Cougars quarterback Cohl Tufford and Trevor Marcinko's extra point put them ahead to stay 7-6.

At halftime, Canyon Creek led 21-6, but the Warriors showed they were still in the game.

"They took the kickoff, and we got a defensive stop," Palmer said. "Stephan broke loose for a touchdown but it was called back because of holding. On fourth down, they stopped us."

"It could have been a seven-point game, but that kind of changed the momentum."

Canyon Creek (7-0, 2-0) scored on its next three possessions to stretch its lead to 40-7.

Turner then threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to Raymon Stewart and Charlie Wilson ran 71 yards for another score in RCA's too-late rally.

Palmer also was pleased with his team's defensive effort.

"(Canyon Creek's) Leland Moorehead ran for (259) yards in their last game, but we pretty much shut that off. We were not going to let Leland Moorehead beat us," Palmer said, pointing to Moorehead's 13 carries for just 39 yards.

Instead, for a team that passed just twice, Tufford gained 214 yards in 16 carries. He scored three touchdowns.

For RCA, Turner played the latter part of the game with a cut on his right index finger that could have affected his passing accuracy. Linebacker/safety Cody Wallace's injured shoulder popped out twice, but both times he returned to the game when it was put back in place.

Out of the frying pan, the Warriors will return Friday to Dobbs Field to face the fire of Frisco Legacy Christian (4-3, 1-1). The district loss came against Canyon Creek 42-28.

any position we have," Huckabee said. "Nathan is just a freshman, but he has great athletic instincts. He sees the field well and brings a sharp edge in terms of making decisions."

In one of its best defensive efforts this year, HCA held Lakehill's offense to 142 yards and took the ball away four times. Included were interceptions by Pettit and Aaron Mateer. Junior Sam Lyon led the way with nine tackles, two sacks and a fumble recovery.

HCA had built the foundation for the defensive improvement by stopping Arlington Fellowship Academy to preserve a victory the previous week.

Huckabee said, "We kind of picked up where we left off a week ago. Sam Lyon really stepped up. He and Caleb Cathey."

The Eagles scored first, on Nathan Mateer's 7-yard pass to Cathey. The home team came back to tie the game 8-8 on Mac Kelly's 10-yard pass to Harrison Boyd and conversion kick.

Before the first quarter ended, Asa Burke's 3-yard touchdown run put HCA ahead to stay. The Eagles stretched their lead to 32-8 at halftime and 52-8 after three quarters.

Burke scored another touchdown on a 19-yard pass from Nathan Mateer; both Austin Pettit and his freshman brother, Evan Pettit, ran for a touchdown; Eric Bradley scored on a 10-yard run, and Cathey ran a yard for his second TD.

After Lakehill scored to cut the lead to 52-15, Austin Pettit's 31-yard run and Aaron Mateer's conversion ended the game.

Huckabee said, "We've still got young kids, but the last two weeks have been really good. That experience we've needed, we're getting it."

The Eagles will continue their district season Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Rockwall High School against Dallas The Covenant School, ranked first in TAPPS I 6-Man at 7-0 overall, 0-0 in the district).

Lady Eagles open playoffs at Canterbury

Heritage Christian Academy's volleyball team clinched its berth in its final regular-season match Tuesday, Oct. 13. Playing at Greenville Christian, which had a chance to win the Bi-District title, the Lady Eagles won the match three games to one. The Lady Eagles record at 4-4 in the district (8-17-2 overall) dropped Greenville's Lady Eagles to 2-6 in TAPPS 4-2.

The Lady Eagles will open the playoffs Tuesday at 7 p.m. at a Bi-District match against TAPPS 3-2A champion Canterbury Episcopal School (5-1, 13-5).

The winner of that match would travel for an Area playoff Saturday against the winner of Tuesday's Bi-District match between El Paso Jesus Chapel (2-2, 7-9) and Denton Christian (5-16). Each was its district runner-up.

In Our Opinion

Happy Birthday, Fox News

Bill O'Reilly
 Birthday this week: Fox News Channel is 13 years old. I was there on the air in 1996, when the channel was launched with about 15 million subscribers. We have about 90 million. Back then, if "The Factor" received 50 e-mails a day we were happy. Now, we average about 2,000 electronic letters a day. Perhaps the biggest media success since the networks were formed in the 1940s. Fox News is a billion-dollar enterprise that dominates cable news and is consistently in the top five of all cable programs. Simply put, it is on fire even after all these years.

There are two compelling questions on our birthday. First, why the big success? Second, why do many media people despise us? The success part is no question that FNC leans to the right, because it gives conservative voices a prominent place on the air. No other TV news operation is as successful. Conservative Americans tune in for long periods of time. Fox News is not boring! This, I believe, is the biggest reason for our success. Like us or not, we move things along. We have lively people on the air who take chances and do things differently. In primetime especially, Americans do not want dull programming. Many news programs simply recite the news. That will not cut it anymore. You have to give viewers something new, something unique and entertaining. FNC does.

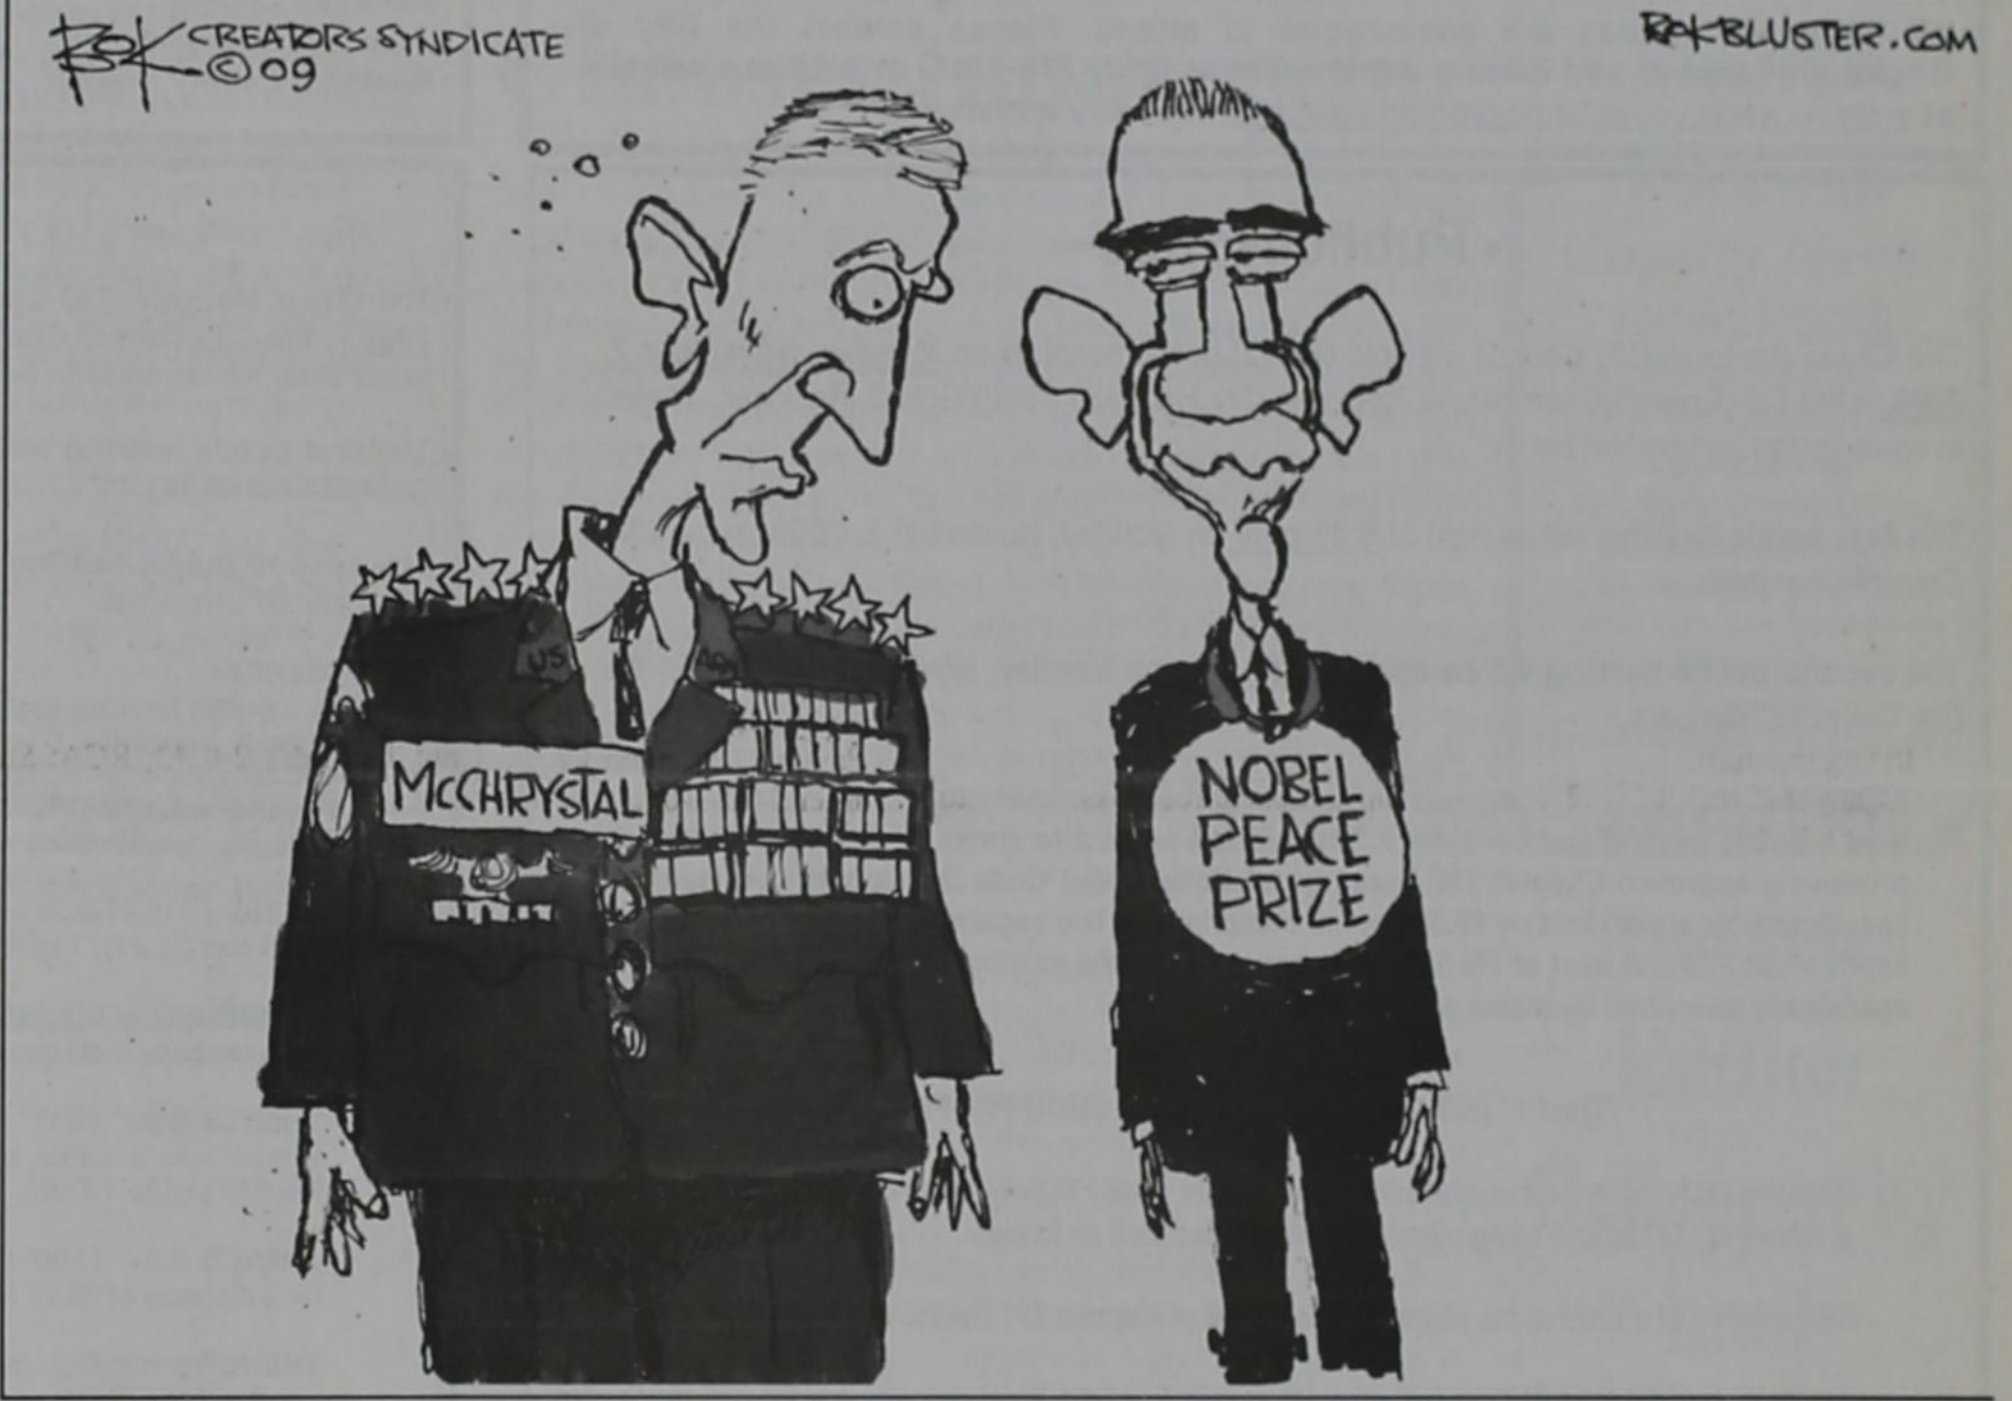

It makes our competitors and the ideologues running many of the nation's news programs furious. They don't like the traditionalism of Fox News, and they don't like our success. Thus, on any given day, you can view scathing personal attacks against FNC anchors. Think about it: Why the rage? Nobody is forced to watch Fox News. If you don't like Beck, Hannity or O'Reilly, watch the other channels.

The hysteria over Glenn Beck is a great example of why Fox News dominates. Glenn Beck is a guy with an opinion. He has a television show. That's it. Beck admits he's not a newsmen in any sense. He's just a guy who loves his country and wants to talk about it.

Presently, that is driving the intelligentsia insane. They can't stand a guy who is speaking his mind. So he's entitled to speak his mind. A big corporation is smart enough to do that, and millions watch. Isn't the USA a great country? I'm happy to be celebrating 13 years on Fox News. When I took over "The Reilly Factor" I was just looking to make a nice living and have a little fun. But now, "The Reilly Factor" is part of the American fabric, a broadcast that actually influences the debate in this country.

Back in 1996, who knew?

Eight Years of Big Lies on Afghanistan

James Bovard
 It seems like only yesterday that President George W. Bush was bragging about having brought "freedom and democracy" to 25 million Afghans, a key theme in his second inaugural address.

Eight years, the American people have been fed one big lie after another about Afghanistan. Now, when the Pentagon is saber-rattling to vastly increase the number of U.S. troops sent there, a refresher course on the Big Lies is in order.

In his State of the Union address on January 29, 2002, Bush frightened Americans with a bogus nuclear threat: "Our discoveries in Afghanistan confirmed our worst fears.... We have found diagrams of American nuclear power plants and public water facilities" in caves used by al Qaeda.

Senior CIA and FBI officials followed up with "background" briefings to the media, revving up the threat that Afghan-based al Qaeda fighters were using U.S. nuclear power facilities. This made the terrorist threat far more serious and spurred support for Bush's preemptive war policy against Iraq.

Two years later, Bush administration officials admitted that the president's claim was completely false and that no nuclear power plant diagrams had been discovered in Afghanistan. Nuclear Regulatory Commissioner Edward R. Mayfield, who had testified in 2002 on this falsehood at closed hearings in Capitol Hill, commented that Bush was "poorly served by a speechwriter."

It was a farce — as if the deceit stemmed from some speechwriter's poetic license, as opposed to the conniving of a phalanx of high-ranking officials.

PL Tillman was a star defensive back for the Arizona Cardinals who, in the wake of 9/11, turned down a multimillion-dollar contract extension to enlist in the U.S. Army. He was the highest-profile military recruit of the Bush administration.

Tillman was killed in Afghanistan on April 22, 2004. Within minutes of his death, it was clear he had been slain by fellow soldiers. The Pentagon refused to release an information lockdown — cutting off all communication to the military base where Tillman had been stationed.

One week after Tillman's death, Maj. Gen. Stanley McChrystal, then a top commander in Afghanistan, notified the White House that Tillman had been killed by U.S. troops: "I felt that it was essential that you received this information as soon as we detected it to preclude any unknown statements by our country's leaders that might cause public embarrassment if the circumstances surrounding PL Tillman's death became public." The same day McChrystal sent his report, the Pentagon announced that Tillman had received a posthumous Silver Star and was killed while leading an attack on al Qaeda forces. Pentagon officials referred to the "Silver Star Game Plan" (to distract attention from the "friendly fire" killing).

In May 1, 2004, Bush exploited Tillman's death for the finale of his speech to the White House Correspondents' Dinner. The Pentagon and White House tried to deny that Tillman had been killed by Americans until after a high-profile memorial service rallied public support for the war and Bush's policies.

The Bush administration perennially claimed that the U.S. invasion in 2001 was to bring "freedom" to Afghan women. But women in many parts of Afghanistan continue to be oppressed. For example, Afghan President Hamid Karzai approved a new law in August that entitles a husband to starve his wife if she refuses his sexual demands. Both Bush and Obama touted the U.S. occupation of Afghanistan as promoting democracy. But the election in August showed Afghan democracy as an onion-layer of frauds. A top UN official estimated that a third of Karzai's votes were bogus. (He was later killed after he refused to muzzle himself.)

Some Obama administration officials probably cringed at the scale of Karzai's corruption. But it is only a question of time until we are again told about our mission to defend democracy in Kabul. The elections did not fool the Afghan people — they know Karzai is an American puppet. But the election may help the U.S. government con slow-witted Americans into believing the war has a legitimate purpose.

There are other perennial four-star howlers — the claims that the United States is speedily building up the Afghan army, that the United States is making sure Afghan opium no longer floods the world, and that U.S. experts are

by Walter E. Williams
 Rep. Diane Watson said, in praising Cuba's health care system, "You can think whatever you want to about Fidel Castro, but he was one of the brightest leaders I have ever met." W.E.B. Dubois, writing in the National Guardian (1953) said, "Joseph Stalin was a great man; few other men of the 20th century approach his stature. ... But also — and this was the highest proof of his greatness — he knew the common man, felt his problems, followed his fate." Walter Duranty called Stalin "the greatest living statesman. . . a quiet, unobtrusive man." George Bernard Shaw expressed admiration for Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin.

John Kenneth Galbraith visited Mao's China and praised Mao and the Chinese economic system. Gunther Stein of the Christian Science Monitor admired Mao Tsetung and declared ecstatically that "the men and women pioneers of Yenan are truly new humans in spirit, thought and action," and that Yenan itself constituted "a brand new well integrated society, that has never been seen before anywhere." Michel Oksenberg, President Carter's China expert, complained that "America (is) doomed to decay until radical, even revolutionary, change fundamentally alters the institutions and values," and urged us to "borrow ideas and solutions" from China.

Even Harvard's late Professor John K. Fairbank, by no means the worst tyrant worshipper, believed that America could learn much from the Cultural Revolution, saying, "Americans may find in China's collective life today an ingredient of personal moral concern for one's neighbor that has a lesson for us all." Keep in mind that estimates of the number of Chinese deaths during China's Cultural Revolution range from 2 to 7 million people. Mao Tsetung was admired by many academics and leftists across our country. Just think back to the campus demonstrations of the '60s and '70s when campus radicals, often accompanied by their professors, marched around singing the praises of Mao and waving Mao's little red book, "Quotations from Chairman Mao Tsetung." Forty years later some of these campus radicals are tenured professors and administrators at today's universities and colleges, as well as school-teachers and principals indoctrinating our youth.

The most authoritative tally of history's most murderous regimes is in a book by University of Hawaii's Professor Rudolph J. Rummel, "Death by Government." Statistics are provided at his website: (<http://www.hawaii.edu/> assuring that the Afghan government is non-corrupt.

There is no reason to expect the U.S. government to ever become trustworthy on Afghanistan. At best, Washington will rotate its lies, the same way it rotates the National Guard units sent to the Afghan badlands. Americans need to recognize that once their government commences warring, truth will be target number one.

James Bovard is the author of Attention Deficit Democracy (2006) as well as The Bush Betrayal (2004), Lost Rights (1994) and Terrorism and Tyranny: Trampling Freedom, Justice and Peace to Rid the World of Evil (Palgrave-Macmillan, September 2003) and serves as a policy advisor for The Future of Freedom Foundation.

powerkills/welcome.html). The Nazis murdered 20 million of their own people and those in nations they captured. Between 1917 and 1987, Stalin and his successors murdered, or were otherwise responsible for the deaths of, 62 million of their own people. Between 1949 and 1987, Mao Tsetung and his successors were responsible for the deaths of 76 million Chinese.

Today's leftists, socialists and progressives would bristle at the suggestion that their agenda differs little from Nazism. However, there's little or no distinction between Nazism and socialism. Even the word Nazi is short for National Socialist German Workers Party.

The origins of the unspeakable horrors of Nazism, Stalinism and Maoism did not begin in the '20s, '30s and '40s. Those horrors were simply the end result of long evolution of ideas leading to consolidation of power in central government in the quest for "social justice." It was decent but misguided earlier generations of Germans, like many of today's Americans, who would have cringed at the thought of genocide, who built the Trojan horse for Hitler to take over.

Few Americans have the stomach or ruthlessness to do what is necessary to make their governmental wishes come true. They are willing to abandon constitutional principles and rule of law so that the nation's elite, who believe they are morally and intellectually superior to the rest of us, can have the tools to implement "social justice."

Those tools are massive centralized government power. It just turns out that the century's notables in acquiring powerful central government, in the name of social justice, were Hitler, Stalin, Mao, but the struggle for social justice isn't over yet, and other suitors of this dubious distinction are waiting in the wings.
