Married Men With Dependents Not Wanted In Army

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Uncle Sam prefers to leave the war training of husbands to their wives henceforth. This is the conclusion one draws from the most recent war department instructions on recruits.

The new recruiting regulations are designed to eliminate from the ranks of the army married enlisted men whose pay is not sufficient to support dependents. Corps area officials point out that it is not to be construed as an effort by the war department to prevent soldiers from marrying.

Amended recruiting regulations provide that enlistment and reenlistment of married soldiers will be made only upon approval of the post commanders.

No married man or any man with dependents can be enlisted or reenlisted on his pay as a soldier together with such income as he may be receiving. Nor will any soldier be reenlisted who marries without the consent of his commanding officer and post commander. These restrictions do not apply to non-commissioned officers reenlisting within 20 days.

Highway Connecting Laredo With North-South Route Planned

LAREDO (AP)—Surveying of the route for highway 4 from Catarina in Dimmit county 32 miles to Webb in Webb county which will give Laredo direct connection with the great and south highway from the Texas-Mexican border to the Canadian border, is now under way.

The survey is being made from Catarina southeast toward Webb by Chief State Highway Engineer Yoss, assisted by four other state highway engineers and nine laborers. The line will be run in the shortest possible time, and then submitted to the state highway department and the commissioners' court of Webb county for approval or change. If the survey is approved, the work of securing the right of way will be started by Webb county and this is expected to be secured in a very short time.

After the right of way is secured bids for constructing the highway will be advertised for and the contract let. It is expected that the highway will be in course of construction within the next few months.

Hope Lost For Rescue Of British Sub Crew

LONDON (AP)—The Admiralty announced that they held no hope for the rescue of the 60 persons aboard the submarine M-2, although they were still searching for it off the shores of Portland, where she sank.

CITIZEN OF BIG SPRING

HARRY QUINCY LESTER

Harry is a native of Howard county, born almost within the shadows of the court house.

Only real oldtimers remember the white house which occupied the site of the old Lyric Theater, that was his birthplace.

When he was a youngster, one of the most thriving businesses in town was the livery stable business. Bill Cole operated a livery stable across the alley from Harry's yard, until the gasoline wagon began to replace the horse and carriage. Then the livery stable was no longer a need for the little shack at the corner of Third and Russell, which housed the drivers, or the big space allotted to the horses and wagons. Then he built a hotel and that corner has been a hotel site ever since.

Long before the hotel was built, however, Harry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lester, moved to the west side of town.

The auto business has remained his life work.

After the World War (he left the Naval Air Service, as a cadet) he went into the auto supply business for himself and was first located where J. C. Penney Co. now is.

In 1928 he moved to his present location, a very small one at the time. He is, however, one of the few business men who has expanded during 1931. He recently bought out the barber shop next door, more than doubling his space and thoroughly refurbished and refitted it inside and out.

Not long after the war, on March 3, 1921, to be exact, Harry was married to Miss Blanche Clemmer in Sycamore, Clyde was her birthplace.

In addition to being a member of the Methodist Church, he is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion and the Masonic Lodge.

Audience Of Two To Watch Horrible Picture At Ritz

At 10:30 a. m. Saturday one of the most strange public gatherings in the city's history will be held in front of the Ritz theater.

While the crowd listens from the outside to sounds from within the show house, which will be brought to the street through a special microphone, an audience of only two persons in addition to theater and newspaper men, will be inside the building.

There will be one woman downstairs, one man in the balcony. They will sit in a totally dark theater and witness the screening of "Frankenstein," the most horrible motion picture ever produced.

Before they enter the theater a physician will examine them, to detect any possible heart weaknesses or any other physical factors that might cause ill results from undue excitement.

The "Mike" will pick up spoken parts of the performance and any audible reactions to the picture on the part of the man and woman and the crowd outside will listen to these sounds via a loud speaker.

"Frankenstein" will be shown at the Ritz at the special Saturday night matinee.

The Big Spring High Steers led early this afternoon for San Angelo with high hopes of returning with their twentieth consecutive win of the year and their fourth triumph of the season over the Bobcats. Coach George Brown carried along his entire squad of thirteen men.

But the locals were expecting a tough battle before they secured a decision over Harry Taylor's Klitons, who have improved considerably since the beginning of the year. The second string dropped a ragged game to the Stanton Buffaloes in the local gym yesterday afternoon by a score of 41 to 30. Wilson and Sayles of the visitors led the scoring, while LeFevre, Harris, and Martin of the Steers split tallying honors.

BOMBS DROP IN FOREIGN SETTLEMENT

Shanghai Experiences Most Horrible Night In All History

TOKYO (AP)—Possibility of conflict between Japan and Russia appeared as Mukden dispatches reported General Jiro Tamon, leader of the Tstsihar campaign had been ordered to take a division of troops to Harbin, Manchuria, where Russian officials had refused to allow the transportation of Japanese troops over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Russia and China jointly own the line.

Chinese factions were fighting at Harbin.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Hoover conferred with the cabinet on the Shanghai situation but no decision was reached.

It was believed members differed on the proper course but there was no official announcement to that effect.

Secretary of State Stimson afterwards announced that Japan had assured the United States the Shanghai Foreign Settlement would be respected.

The Houston, flagship of Admiral Taylor, was ordered to postpone dry-docking at Manila Bay and it may proceed to Shanghai.

GENEVA (AP)—It was reliably reported that the twelve national powers in the league of nations council had proposed that ambassadors of the great powers at Tokyo be directed to go to Shanghai to investigate conditions and report to their governments.

The Chinese representative invoked the article guaranteeing independence and territorial integrity.

HARBIN (AP)—A Rango News Agency dispatch said Tingo Chao, leader of one Chinese faction, had asked the manager of the Chinese Eastern railway to request Russia to send troops to the Harbin-Kirin area.

Huey Long Allows He's 'Kingfish' Of Louisiana People On Arrival In Washington To Enter Senate

WASHINGTON (UP)—Huey P. Long sat on a divan in his hotel room, clad in lavender pajamas, a cigar in one hand, a shaving brush in the other, and explained to the press that he was "the kingfish of the people of Louisiana."

Long arrived at 4 a. m. with a retinue of a dozen supporters, to assume his seat as junior United States senator from Louisiana.

Long's hair was ruffled. He had just left his bed where he had napped a couple of hours after leaving his early arriving train and established himself at the hotel. But he was ready to discuss anything—politics, pot likker, Jews harps.

"What are your legislative plans?" was about the first question asked.

"I haven't any," Long snapped. "I may be the kingfish of the people in my state, but I'm just a little fish in a big pond up here."

Before saying this, there was one thing the governor-senator desired to get off his mind, and that concerned his colleague, Senator Broussard.

"No Option"

"I see by the papers this morning that Senator Broussard said he had not made up his mind as to whether he would escort me to the vice president's dais to be sworn in."

"Broussard has no such option. I'm responsible for him being up here and I'll probably be responsible for him being taken out."

That off his mind, Long was ready to talk freely and forcefully.

He said that for the last five years he had been under heavy political pressure down south and that it had been a one-handed up-

Jesse James?

This aged man says he is the real Jesse James of outlaw fame. He sought to establish his claim by applying to Governor Gaudin of Missouri for clemency. The governor decided, however, that official records are correct and that James was shot and killed in 1882.

Paul N. Cyr claims the disputed governorship as "entirely settled." Long took up the question of Jews harps and pot likker, two hobbies of which he is very proud.

"I didn't bring a harp with me," he said, "in fact I've given all 15 of them away. I found out recently that Sears-Roebuck makes a better one than any I had so I'm waiting for one of theirs."

Long appears to be very disappointed over the pot likker situation in Washington, but said he had some good recipes from which he thought someone here would be able to make "the old time dish."

Mrs. Long, 38, the same age as the governor, made the trip to Washington along with several state officials. She is attractive, of medium height, hair slightly gray, and described by all of the delegation as "very charming."

The Longs have made no plans yet as to where they will live here. Their three children were left in Baton Rouge where they will continue in school for the next few months.

Oil Storage Half Drained

Further Withdrawals Due From Winkler County

Almost one-half of West Texas crude storage capacity is empty as the result of steady withdrawals for a year. Deliveries during December exceeded 10,620,000 barrels, pipe lines handling a daily average of 224,004 barrels, which was greater than daily average production.

From No. 1 to Jan. 1 crude in storage was reduced 909,872 barrels to 25,807,787 barrels, leaving room for 24,309,213 barrels.

The decline in stocks should show a further drop on the next report since Stanolind is moving Winkler county oil through Humble's pipe line to Mexico, whence it will be batched north to Healdton, Okla., and ultimately will be piped to a Whiting, Ind., refinery. On Jan. 1 Stanolind had more West Texas crude in storage than any company. Atlantic was second, Magnolia third and Gulf fourth.

The Doors of the Schools Close In My Son's Face?

NEVER!

I'll Pay My School Taxes TODAY

PAY YOUR SCHOOL TAX BEFORE FEB. 1st

PAY YOUR SCHOOL TAX BEFORE FEB. 1st

The Public Schools are faced with a critical condition! School Taxes, which are held to a close margin on operating expenses, are not being paid! Only two days remain in which to pay them without penalty! Unless these taxes are paid at once, THE DOORS OF THE BIG SPRING SCHOOLS WILL BE FORCED TO CLOSE IN THE FACES OF YOUR CHILDREN!

Approximately $50,000 or only 50% of the School Taxes, have been paid to date... there are still $30,000 delinquent taxes outstanding, against which money has been borrowed. This money is due and must be paid, and will leave no money with which to run the schools for the balance of the year, unless ALL taxes for this year are paid in full.

This matter is urgent, and demands prompt payment of your School Tax to keep the doors of the Big Spring Public Schools from closing in the faces of the future citizens of the city.

Unless taxes are paid by February 1, 10% of the total will be levied as a penalty with interest at 6% on the principal until paid. The payroll of the Big Spring Public Schools is approximately $10,000 a month... practically all of this large payroll is spent in this city... unless School Taxes are paid this will mean a loss of nearly $10,000 a month to our merchants and renters.

$3,000 Per Day In Court Costs Saved To Texas

AUSTIN—With a saving of $2,900 a day in court costs already effected, and another $300,000 a year look ready for plugging, the joint legislative efficiency committee is now in session cutting itself out a full year's work.

From conferences Tuesday with University of Texas economists the committee indicated it plans to sketch the broad outlines of its work's scope, then make a preliminary survey, and finally draft a series of bills for consolidation of departments, re-organizing state functions, reeling up the leaks, eliminating waste and pegging up efficiency in state operation.

The costs of court and law enforcement are now running $2,900 a day less than they were a year ago, from the part paid out of the state treasury. This change followed work of the senate fee investigating committee, which finally will be embraced within the scope of the efficiency committee's program. Sen. Henry Sawyer, chairman of the fee committee, is with the efficiency committee part of its informal conference.

Steel Corporation, and of power companies, subject not only to regulation but to such other inherent factors as slower turnover and less immediate correspondence with boom times and the reverse. In spite of such differences many utilities, he shows, have substantially followed the capitalizing structure of these private industries.

In the case of the steel corporation the actual cost value of the property was represented by the bonds, the preferred and common stock representing hopes. As these hopes were realized in profits, surpluses were laid aside that eventually gave intrinsic value to the watered stock. If regulation, however, held down profits on power companies to a fair return on actual investment, no such absorption of original watered capitalization by profits applied to surpluses could occur.

In his analysis of power-company capitalizing Mr. Gould builds up what on its face looks like a grotesque structure of capital. He takes a typical case of the consolidation of a group of thirty operating plants, each purchased at an average price of 8 million dollars, 240 millions in all. There are thirty operating companies, each capitalizing in the general structure at 10 million dollars, making 300 millions capital to start with. They are held by holding company B, which issues its own debentures, and preferred and common stock. The common stock of this company in turn is held by holding company C, which issues in turn its own debentures and preferred and common stock.

In the financial promotion of the project of raising 240 million dollars to pay for the thirty operating units, Mr. Gould finds that 180 millions have been raised from the public in the bond issues, 60 millions on the preferred stock of underlying companies, 30 millions from the sale of holding company B debentures, 15 millions from preferred stock of B holding companies, 20 millions from debentures of holding company C and 10 millions from holding company C preferred stock—in all 315 million dollars, or a gross profit of 75 millions on the capitalization financing, plus control of the entire structure through the C common stock, which at a cost of about 10 million dollars dominates 315 millions of capital in the consolidated enterprise.

"The net effect and in many cases the reason for excessive pyramiding," says Mr. Gould, "is to make it possible to eat one's cake and have it too." This is proverbially held to be impossible. But for that matter so is "getting something for nothing." Yet by the intricacies of finance getting something for nothing accounts for many if not most of the greatest fortunes in the United States.

SUNSET PASS
by Zane Grey

SYNOPSIS: The secret of the Preston ranch worries Truman Rock, because he fears trouble for Gage Preston's daughter, Thiry. Rock wants to marry Thiry, but primarily he wants her to be happy. Possibly Preston rules out Gage; certainly his son, Ash, is a dangerous character. Rock finds a mysterious track.

Chapter 29
BURLAP SACKS

The impression of the heel was well defined, but the toe part was dim. He pointed off the road. Rock found another like it, though not so plain. For his trained eyes the trail might have been made in snow. It led into the coarse white grass, to the edge of the culvert where it vanished.

There was no doubt in Rock's mind that this imprint was identical with the one near Slagle's well. He had the little sticks with which he had measured that track. His instinct prompted him to take a look at the culvert. He walked on, stepping on stones.

The culvert was not the handiwork of masons. The aperture was large, to take care of a considerable flow of water during the wet season. Crude walls of heavy stone had been laid about ten feet high and the same distance apart. Logs and brush had been placed across the top. Above this a heavy layer of earth formed the road.

When Rock stepped into the mouth of the culvert he saw a lumpy floor, which at first glance he thought consisted of rocks lying on the dried mud.

A foot track, the one he was trailing, brought a low exclamation from his lips. Bending quickly with his little sticks he tried them. They fitted perfectly. Moreover, this one had been made recently.

When Rock rose from that track he knew what he was going to find. The tunnel appeared about a hundred feet long, with light shining in at both ends, and the middle dark. The numerous stones on the floor were of uniform size and shape, and he noted that the first of these lay back several yards from the opening of the culvert.

Rock kicked one. It was soft. Bending to feel of it and to look at it more closely, he ascertained that it was a burlap sack tied round something. He laughed sardonically. "Cowhide," he said, and went on.

that on the 26th day of Jan. A. D., 1932, the said Herman Gensberg, as aforesaid, was duly adjudged bankrupt, and that the first meeting of his creditors will be held at my office in the City of Abilene, Taylor County, Texas, on the 9th day of Feb. A. D., 1932, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

D. M. OLDHAM, Jr.,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

One remark Gage had made to Thiry had been thought-provoking. It might well be true that Ash Preston, having led or forced his father into criminal practice, dominated him wholly. Rock must know more, and if possible everything, before he could formulate any plan to stop Preston and save Thiry.

It was long past dark when Rock arrived at Wagontongue. He went to the hotel and to bed. Rested and fresh again, and with the bright gold sunrise shining in his window, Rock dared to pit himself against Ash Preston in anything. Least of all did he consider Ash particularly dangerous to face in fair gun-play.

After breakfast, which Rock partook of rather late, he went round to see Sol Winter.

"Dog-gone, I'm glad to see you!" Winter said.

"Same here, old-timer," replied Rock. "I want to find out something."

"What?" asked Winter, as Rock led him back into the store.

"Preston drove in here a couple of days ago," went on Rock, lowering his voice. "In the outfit were three wagons I know of. One was full of hides, which I helped pack. The other two were loaded with meat. Bees? Now I want to find out how many beaves there were and where they went."

"Well, I'll be darned if that ain't funny," ejaculated Winter, his eyes narrowing to mere slits. "I shore can tell you right now that you're so damn keen about knowin'."

"Good Lord!" exclaimed Rock, and he sat down heavily.

"Heard it quite by accident," went on Winter. "Jackson, who runs Dabbs' butcher shop, once worked for me. Well, I went in last night. I seen a lot of fresh meat hangin' up. All I said was: 'See you're stocked up plenty an' fresh.'"

"Preston is killin' now altogether instead of sellin' any more on the hoof," Jackson told me. 'He's gettin' thirty dollars more by killin'."

on each head of stock. He'll sell to anybody. Today he shipped thirty-six beaves, Driscoll told me. Shipped them to Marigold."

Winter paused to see what effect this news might have upon Rock.

"Thirty-six!" muttered Rock, with unreadable face and voice.

"Yep, An' I counted ten beaves hangin' up on Jackson's hooks. All fresh. So that makes forty-six. What do you want to know all this for?"

"Gee, Sol, you're a gabby old lady!" returned Rock. "Who runs the Half Moon brand?"

"New cattleman named Hebbitt," replied Winter. "Clint Peoples is foreman."

"Clint Peoples. By gum! that sounds familiar. I've heard his name, anyway. What does he look like, Sol?"

"Ousual tall puncher. Sandy complexioned. Eyes sharp like a hawk's, but tawny. Always wears a red scarf. An' he's one of the gun-packin' fraternity. Clint will be in town shore over the Fourth."

"Red scarf? Ahum!" said Rock, dropping his head. "Well, Sol, I'll run along, and drop in again."

Reaching Dabbs' new store Rock went in. It chanced that there was in stock a black broadcloth suit, with frock coat, which might have been made for him. Rock purchased it and an embroidered vest of fancy design, a white shirt with ruffles in the bosom, a wide white collar and a black flowing bow-tie to go with it.

Rock carried his possessions back to the hotel. While in his room he cut a pattern of a mask out of a piece of black cloth.

What with a late dinner and leisurely maunterings around town, the day passed by. After supper Rock went out to walk in the darkness.

Footsteps sounded behind him. A hand seized his arm, and a feminine voice he knew rang under his ear.

"True Rock, I've been on your trail all afternoon."

Cement in Cotton

AN AUSTIN dispatch announces that Claude D. Teer, chairman of the state board of control, has issued an edict that places the state government squarely behind the "use more cotton" movement.

Hereafter, the announcement says, the state will not accept delivery of any brand of cement unless it is encased in cotton bags. Most of the cement has been in paper bags up to now.

The rule applies to other commodities which the state purchases, the dispatch adds.

If other cotton states would adopt a similar measure, and if Texas would make the rule apply wherever possible—to the wrapping of cotton in cotton bagging, for example—the problem of finding new uses for the staple easily would be solved. With the purchasing agency of the state leading the way, firms and corporations should swing into line.

Last Minute Luncheon Ideas That Have Genuine Appeal

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
Only an hour until luncheon or supper time! How the hours have flown! And we have no plans as to menu, so we scurry about frantically to produce the best possible meal in the time remaining. Is there a housekeeper anywhere who does not have this experience occasionally? However, just a little extra thought and a well stocked shelf of prepared and semi-prepared foods which keep indefinitely, enable us to serve, in a short time, interesting meals that the family welcomes. Below are a few recipes for quickly prepared dishes, especially appreciated at this busy season:

Deviled rarebit: Two tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 medium can Cream of Celery Soup; 1 5 oz. can deviled ham; 2 hard cooked eggs; buttered croutons or crisp crackers. Melt butter, add flour, and when blended, add soup and ham. Cook until soup thickens slightly; add diced hard cooked eggs and serve on croutons or crackers. Garnish with slices of Spanish Manzanilla Olives or parsley.

Winter Supper Salad: One medium size can Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans; 1 cup very finely diced carrots; 3 tablespoons India or Fresh Cucumber Relish; 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion; 1-4 cup Mayonnaise Salad Dressing. Place beans in strainer and run cold water over them. Drain. Add carrots, pickles, onion and mayonnaise salad dressing. Serve a generous mound of the salad in a cup of crisp lettuce and garnish with a sprig of parsley. Serve for luncheon or supper with hot soup, whole wheat bread or rolls and a beverage. Serves 5.

Quick Supper Stew: One can Oven Baked Beans (Boston style); 1 can tomatoes; 1 cup canned corn; 1 large potato, finely diced; 1 medium sized onion, finely diced; 2 tablespoons butter; 1 tablespoon sugar; 1 teaspoon salt; 1-4 teaspoon pepper. Mix ingredients and cook slowly until potatoes are tender, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Serve hot. Served with a crisp, green salad, dessert and a beverage, this dish furnishes a delicious well balanced supper or luncheon. Serves 5.

Mexican Spaghetti: Two sliced cold boiled ham; 1 medium size green pepper; 1 medium size onion; 1 medium can Spaghetti; pepper. Brown chopped ham, green pepper and onion in ham fat or butter. Add Spaghetti and cook 20 minutes. Good for luncheon or late supper. Serves 6.

Uncle Ike's cake was decorated with 86 tiny pink candles. The slight breeze from the windows of the honoree's eyes. After the meal he blew all but two out with one puff. The beautiful dinner, as well as Uncle Ike's expressions of thanks giving were greatly enjoyed by the following guests: Mrs. I. D. Eddins, Mrs. Bicye Wall, Mrs. Ora Miles, Louise, Marie and Dorothy Allen Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Burnt O'rice and little daughter, Mary Kathryn.

Uncle Ike came to Big Spring in the year 1881, when there was no house in the city, everyone living in tents. He was employed by the T & P until he was in his seventies and was pensioned. He and Mrs. Eddins are members of the First Christian Church and have a host of friends of all ages.

TRoubled All Life WITH CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Real Relief

If you are subject to headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness and other effects that so often result from constipation, read Mrs. Turner's voluntary letter.

"For the past six months I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and cannot praise it too highly. "Am fifty years of age. All my life have been troubled with constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has not only helped me, but has cured me."

"I thought I couldn't like the taste of bran, but Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious."—Mrs. C. J. Turner, 607 Hanover Street, Fall River, Mass.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

was uncertain.

The Japanese denied a previous report at Washington, that they had signed a truce.

Heavy machine gun and rifle fire continued.

Colonel Richard S. Hooker, commanding the American Marines, reported to the navy department at Washington, five instances of bombs being dropped into the international settlement, killing a Chinese woman.

Admiral Taylor, commanding the Asiatic fleet, reported three of the four destroyers on their way from Manila to China would be based at Shanghai. The international settlement fire department was preparing to set if the fire spread to the boundary.

As midnight approached fighting was still going on at several points. Once a Chinese band pushed across the boundary of international settlement and fired on the Japanese military headquarters, but were repuled after a brief skirmish.

There has never been such a night of horror in Shanghai, those who watched it said. It began when the Japanese arrived, pushing their way through the twisting streets and clearing the way with machine guns.

Airplanes added to the carnage swooping down every 20 minutes like clockwork dropping cargo bombs which started fires at six separate points.

Station Object

The railroad station, the objective of the first drive, burned to the ground. The railroad line to Nanking is broken and telegraph and telephone lines to the capital are down.

The wounded came by scores to emergency dressing stations. It seemed certain many women and children were killed, Chinese placing their losses at 300 killed and wounded. Japanese said they had lost only a handful.

The Japanese government announced at Tokyo that it planned to hold officials of the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern Railway accountable for any delay in the arrival of Japanese reinforcements at Harbin where a battle has been in progress for three days between Chinese factions.

Hsi Hsi, governor of Kirin province, has been fighting a force led by Ting Chao, commander of railway guards. Japan attempted to send troops to Harbin for the protection of its citizens there. A government announcement reported the movement.

M. Kuznetoff, Russian manager of railways, forbids transport of troops on orders from Russian government at Moscow. He pointed out that Russia refused to transport Chinese troops southward at the time Japanese invaded Nonni river area near Taihar.

The Japanese navy department at Tokyo, ordered two more aircraft carriers, three cruisers and a flotilla of destroyers from Sasebo naval base to start for Shanghai. At Shanghai it is reported that 2,000 additional Japanese marines will be sent into city to reinforce those already in the Chapel section.

the present far-eastern developments will not be permitted to get out of hand many owners of Japanese securities, both government and private, offered them for sale. Price declines ranged from $10 to over $50 for Japanese bonds of $1,000 par value.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government prepared to follow England in a formal insistence that Japan take no action in the international settlement of Shanghai without first consulting with interested powers.

This stand applies only to the settlement and not to Shanghai proper. Shanghai dispatches said the Japanese commander intended to occupy the settlement tomorrow and said that the British consul general was reported to be willing.

What Outside People Say!

Windsor, Ontario, January 25, 1932

Mr. Settles,
Proprietor, Settles Hotel,
Big Spring, Texas.
Dear Mr. Settles:

This is just a note to congratulate you on the fine hotel you have built and are operating at Big Spring. I remember the town a couple of years ago when there was practically no hotel accommodation.

When driving to and from California, I used to stop overnight at Midland. Now I plan the trip to stay at the Settles both going and coming. It is well worth driving extra miles to reach. In my opinion your hotel is the finest between Dallas and the Pacific Coast.

You can be justly proud of the hotel and it must be a satisfaction to know you have given Big Spring a great civic asset.
