4-H Club Boys Of Mitchell County Begin Feeding Of Dry-Lot Calves

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 9 — Eighteen 4-H club boys of Mitchell county began last week the supervised feeding of dry-lot calves which will be groomed for competition in the 1945 spring fat stock show here, according to T. H. Roensch, Mitchell county farm agent. The club boys now have on feed a total of 24 calves in this division. Fifteen milk-fed baby calves went on feed the first of June. Club members who are feeding dry-lot include Floyd Barr, route three, Colorado City, who bought a calf bred by Spade ranch; Lloyd Barr, route three, one calf from Spade; Deverne Moseley, route three, one calf bred by A. L. Maddin; John Buchanan, route three, calf bred by A. P. Kennedy of Rotan.

James Roland Comer of route two, Loraine, is feeding two calves, one bred on Spade and the other by O. F. Jones herd. Darrell R. McGee, route one, Colorado City, chose a calf bred by Tom Largent, Merkel. Bob Fee, Jr., Colorado City, bought one from Kennedy and a second from Largent.

Roland Fee will compete with his brother and with the other future stockmen with two calves selected from Largent and from Kennedy. Otis Adrian, route three, has put on feed a calf from the M. L. Adrian herd, Truman Boyd, route three, has one bred by Willis Boyd, Teddy Ray Brown, route one, is feeding a calf with Mrs. Earl Brown as breeder.

Waddell Strain, Cuthbert, got his calf from the Ed Strain and Kenneth Dockrey, Westbrook, purchased a Hereford from Tom Roden's herd. Ed Warren Hammond got two from Earl Hammond, Marvin Gene Manning, Loraine, one from Pat May of Roscoe. Also feeding a May baby beef is Melvin Manning. The Largent outfit furnished the calf started toward the exhibit by Weldon McMillan, Cuthbert, and one of the two calves put on feed by Arvil Smith, Colorado City. Young Smith's second calf was bred by Les Terry.

Ration sheets and detailed instructions have been given by the agent to the 4-H'ers who have entered the project. Most of the boys, Roensch states, have never fed for showing before. The number of feeders in the 4-H dry-lot division should do much, the agent believes, to increase interest and friendly rivalry at the Mitchell stock show when FFA boys and 4-H boys will vie for awards on their feeding results.

She just ducked for a slit trench. But city living is another thing. Now home with her owner, Sgt. Marshall Kappell, the pup reacts more demonstratively to horses than she did to the roar of war at fighter bases in New Guinea.

"She goes into a dither when she sees a horse in the street," Kappell said. "She saw plenty of jeeps and planes in the last year but no horses."

The Little "Sky Jeep" Wagged Home With Four Bullets In Its Frame

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE AEP IN FRANCE, July 28 (Delayed) (AP)—Eight German Fockewulfs dived from the clouds on a lone unarmed Piper Cub flown by Lt. Homer W. "Benny" Bennett but when the battle was over, two enemy planes had been destroyed. The rest had turned tail and the little "sky jeep" was wagging home to its landing pasture with four bullets in its frame.

Bennett and his observer, Lt. Edwin M. Macey, of Lincoln, Neb., were weaving over the battlefield looking for German gun positions upon which they could call down artillery fire. "We were flying at two thousand feet," said Bennett who lives at Sioux Falls, Iowa, "and the first thing I knew eight FW190's were swarming around me, two coming directly toward me firing and a couple or more from the sides. There was a terrific clatter from the engines and guns. I thought I was a goner."

Bennett began what his commanding officer afterward described as "some of the most daring and brilliant flying of the war," he turned his "grasshopper" into the first two planes making a pass at him, causing them to overshoot. That gave him a chance to lose altitude. He slipped from beneath the nose of one over-eager Nazi plane and burst into flames. The friendly ack-ack knocked down another German and then some wandering P47 Thunderbolts pitched in on his side and sent the rest of the Nazi racing back toward Berchtesgaden. They went home and the bad bullet patches were repaired and a few hours later went on another mission. Bennett, who holds the Air Medal for 35 combat sorties in Normandy, had only one regret about the whole adventure. "We would have given anything," he said, "to have been in one of those Thunderbolts with some belts full of bullets."

Terrific Threesome Reason For Cub's Climb

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
AP Features

CHICAGO — Some of the lifting power that has pulled Charlie Grimm's Chicago Cubs from the National League dungeon into contention for a first division berth has been provided by a pair of newcomers and a pinch hitter, who, with the aid of glasses, "found" himself as well as the ball.

The terrific threesome includes Catcher Dewey Williams, South-paw Pitcher Bob Chipman and Outfielder Dim-Dom Dallesandro.

During six full years in the minors, Dallesandro never hit below .309 as his best year was in 1939 with San Diego of the Pacific Coast League when he clipped a gaudy .368. He joined the Cubs in 1946, clubbed .268 and .272 the first two seasons and then was assigned to pinch-hitting duties.

"Man Of Many Monickers" But now the sturdy little outfielder is a regular and appears headed for his best year with the Cubs, batting around the .325 mark and driving in a fine quota of runs. Dim-Dom packs 175 pounds in his compact 5 foot 6 inch frame, and these rather odd proportions have earned him the over-all title of "man of many monickers." Among his choicest sobriquets are "animated fire hy-drants" and "the tree stump that walks like a man." The "man in the hole" appeared this season with new equipment, a pair of glasses. He says "it's sure swell for a ball player to be able to see." On June 7, the Cubs traded Shortstop Eddie Stanky to the Brooklyn Dodgers for Hurier Chipman. Chipman, a former Brooklyn newsboy whom the

2.54 per game. Chipman Feels Relaxed

"I feel relaxed and loose working for Grimm," says Chipman, explaining his metamorphosis. "When I first reported to the Cubs in Pittsburgh, Grimm just handed me the ball and told me to get out on the mound. And that's the way it's been ever since. Grimm had enough faith in me to use me as a regular starter."

"You had to pitch to certain spots for Durocher and if you missed you were in for a bilge-fering. Some pitchers got the control to do it, and by trying too hard they get wilder. Guess that was what happened to me."

Sheer determination brought Williams bouncing into the big time. The Cubs bought him from Toronto on June 28 after he had been hitting .311 for Manager Buriel Grimes and killing off base runners at an alarming rate. The 26-year-old catcher—a former pupil at Macon, Ga., for Milt Stock, now a Cub coach—thus joined the Cubs quietly and without drum beating. But his fanfare was soon to follow in the form of loud praise from Grimm. "The kid has a great arm and is as alert as a cat on bunts," says Grimm. "And he's great working with pitchers. He calls 'em right and is smart at gauging ticklish situations."

St. Louis Browns Open Final Eastern Tour

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns opened their final decisive eastern tour today and even the boss was surprised to find a 6-1-2 game mattress to fall back on if the going got too touch.

"I didn't realize we had that much of a lead until I read the newspapers," said Sewell, "we just concentrate on trying to win every day."

Sewell may believe deep down in his heart that his Brownies are "in" but you won't hear him say so until the last mathematical doubt has been eliminated. With Billy Southworth of the Cardinals conceding nothing despite a 16-1-2 game lead, Sewell appeared entitled to reserve comment.

The big "if" to the Brownies chances continue to be the current road trip. If the club can play .500 ball or close to it without developing any serious slump tickets can be printed for an all-Sportsman's Park world series. Joe McCarthy hasn't given up on the Yanks, declaring "there's nothing the matter with us that a few well pitched games won't fix." He planned to send Hank Borowy to the firing line today, leading with his ace against the Browns' No. 1 man, Bob Muncief.

Four games in four days in New York will be followed by four in three days in Boston where Joe Cronin's Red Sox have hopes of blasting the visitors despite the imminent loss of Tex Hughes who is due to pitch his last game today against Chicago. Detroit and Cleveland, still in the thick of the race, staked their hopes on successful eastern invasions. To date the eastern clubs hold a 125-110 victory edge in four American league inter-sectional series.

AAFBS All-Stars To Participate In State Tourney

The Big Spring Bombardier School will send an all-star team to the amateur softball association state tournament at Houston Aug. 17-18.

More than 14 service and civilian teams from all parts of the state will participate in the event sponsored by the Houston junior chamber of commerce. Lt. LeRoy O. Bloomingdale, head of cadet physical training, has selected 15 crack players from the softball league at the post. He plans to hold workouts daily to mould the players into a smooth-working unit.

Section A, currently leading the league and a favorite to cop the title, has six representatives on the team, including Tiger Millard, first baseman, Flynn Dunham, pitcher, Ray Szymanski, third baseman, Bill Durham, catcher, Ed Gunter, infielder, and Pete Stefank, second baseman.

Section B furnished Snelster and Barbour; Section C, Kirk, Kemp and Bredemeyer; Section G, Johnson and Harrell; and Ordinance, Hauer and Haidler. Lt. Bloomingdale's starting lineup looks like this at the moment: Durham, catch; Dunham, pitch; Millard, 1b; Stenank, 2b; Kemp, ss; Szymanski, 3b; Barbour, short field; Kirk, center field; Snelster, right field and Johnson, left field. There had been considerable talk of sending Section A to the tournament, but a decision was made in favor of the all-star team. "We are confident of our chances in the tournament," said Lt. Bloomingdale. "We have a team that is strong in hitting power, fast on the bases and tight on defense."

Among service teams to participate are Randolph Field and San Angelo. SHOOTS 39-38-77 MAMARONECK, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—Samuel J. # Hunters May Shoot More Waterfowl And Over A Longer Period Of Time

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)— Hunters may shoot more waterfowl, and over a longer period this fall and winter under liberalized hunting regulations announced today. The open season will be 80 days, ten longer than last year. The general daily bag limit for ducks remains at ten, but an additional bag of five mallards, widgeons, and pintails, singly or in the aggregate, is allowed. Thus, if a hunter kills five or more of those species in a day, his bag limit on all ducks is 15.

The fish and wildlife service, which drew up the regulations, refused to permit the taking of waterfowl by means of bait or with the help of live decoys, as urged by some hunters. Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, fish and wildlife director, said the more liberal regulations were due to the steady increase in the continental migratory game bird population. He said the increase in mallards, widgeons and pintails has been "notable" and since Graduate Manager Keith Brown said the Utes also will play Washington and Jefferson Dec. 9 and Canisius Dec. 16.

Coach Can't Hide Enthusiasm Over Angelo Bobcats

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 9 (AP)— As much as Jewell Wallace would like for his San Angelo Bobcats to be taken off the spot he can't quite hide his enthusiasm over chances of the team repeating as Texas schoolboy football champions this season. Trouble is that his own summation makes San Angelo a strong favorite to sweep back to the finals.

There are fifteen lettermen, six of whom were regulars on the 1943 outfit, and the team is going to be big as high school teams go. Opposing coaches are making San Angelo the No. 1 choice for the title, listing among other teams as top contenders the Highland Park Scotties of Dallas, the Wichita Falls Coyotes, The Amarillo Sandies, Denison Yellow Jackets, Breckenridge Bucks, Marshall Mavs, Milby of Houston, Fort Arthur and Breckenridge (San Antonio). Replacing Joe Williams, the all-state center of San Angelo, will be Sam Callan, who played tackle in 1943. In some ways Callan is rated better than the brilliant Williams, especially at line-backing. Stepping into Milton Rathbones' shoes at quarterback will be Dwan Dodson, who sparked many drives for the Bobcats. Returning veterans who were in the starting line-up last fall are Callan; Vernie Horner, end; Dennis Doyle, tackle; George Hughes, guard; Ken Carley, halfback, and George Graham, fullback.

Wallace indicated the team to take the field next fall would be made up of Horner and Jack Goffman, ends; Doyle and Douglas McSwain, tackles; Hughes and Bernard Adkins, guards; Dodson, quarterback; Carley and Buddy Hudson (not a letterman last season because of injuries) halfbacks; and Graham, fullback. That means a line averaging 179 pounds and a backfield of 160. "We sure have a tough schedule," said Wallace, listing Amarillo, Denison and Lubbock in addition to strong district opponents at Sweetwater, Odessa, et al. But you should also hear what the coaches at Amarillo, Denison, Lubbock, Sweetwater and Odessa are saying.

No Site Chosen For Big Army-Navy Game

By PAT O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)— Collegiate football's super spectacle, the Army-Navy game, probably will leave the rural hinterlands and come out in its traditional metropolitan setting this year.

No site has been set for the service gridiron classic, scheduled for Dec. 2, but both Army and Navy officials here indicated a favorable attitude today toward proposals for staging the game in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington or New York.

Both leagues resumed with a full schedule today after New York's 8-4 nod over Pittsburgh held the Tuesday spotlight. Bill Voelke kept the Giants in fourth place by scattering eight hits and coming through with a double to touch off a 3-run winning spurt in the sixth for his 14th win. Max Butcher, routed in the second, was the loser.

Lt. Rubin Has Gotten More Than One Peep At Berlin From The Air

Berlin from the air is a view Lt. Frank Rubin of Brooklyn, N. Y., has experienced on more than one occasion, and many other targets in occupied Europe have been lined up in his bombsight. He has been awarded the Air Medal with several clusters at his base in England.

Believed to have been on his tenth mission when he was shot down over France December 31, Lt. Reuben Fier of Bronx, N. Y., had been awarded the Air Medal with one cluster. At least one member of Lt. Fier's crew made it safely back to his base in England, so considerable hope was held for his eventual return.

Lt. Ephraim F. Troy of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has written from England to say he had received the Air Medal for completing five raids over Germany and enemy-held Europe.

Lt. Alec H. Vestal of Cyril, Okla., has been instructing in the Childress bombardier school since receiving his wings. Likewise, Lt. Edwin E. Burkland is a bombardier instructor here.

Information concerning First Lt. Ben B. Schneider of St. Louis, Mo., is meagre, but it is known that he has been in action somewhere in the Southwest Pacific.

The Air Medal with two clusters has been awarded to Lt. William A. Nichols, stationed in England, before his plane was shot down in a raid on Emden December 11. Several letters from him written from a German prison camp, have been received at his home in Philadelphia, Pa.

Upon completion of his tour of duty in England, First Lt. Mark Schneider of Chicago returned to the States wearing ribbons of the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with three clusters. He completed the tour without receiving wounds or injury.

Serving as navigator on a B-17, Lt. Logan W. Thackrey has been in England since the latter part of April, but writes that he will always prefer bombardiering to navigation.

Another bombardier-navigator on a B-17 in England, First Lt. R. D. Carlee of Essex Falls, N. J., has been awarded the Air Medal with two clusters. He had completed by last report more than 15 missions without injury.

The Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three clusters have been awarded First Lt. Jerome Weinstein of Bayonne, N. J., for raids carried out from a base in England. He and his crew were awaiting orders to return to the States about May 1.

Missing since February 21 from his base in England, Lt. Michael J. Shonesky of New Kensington, Pa., was reported a prisoner of war in Germany in April. He was navigator on a B-17.

The Air Medal has been awarded to Lt. Erwin H. Eckert at his base in Italy. He was knocked out of the fight temporarily by injuries received in a plane crash, but is believed to have recovered sufficiently now to return to duty.

First Lt. Walter Buckpitt has been back in the States for several months, having completed 51 missions totaling 357 combat hours in Africa and Italy. He holds the Air Medal with nine Oak Leaf clusters.

Lt. Leland F. Cowan of Rossville, Ga., had completed 15 missions from England and been awarded the Air Medal and one cluster when last reports from him were received in April.

With a record of more than 300 combat hours from a base in New Guinea, First Lt. Joseph A. Stevens of Cleveland, O., is still in there doing his part to keep the Japs on the run.

After graduation from navigation school at San Marcos, Lt. Robert F. Schanker of Elizabeth, N. J., instructed for seven months at the Victorville, Calif. and Roswell bombardier schools, but was recently assigned to a B-25 unit in South Carolina.

Lt. S. J. Duva of Detroit, Mich., has been seeing plenty of action from his base in India, but no details or reports of citations have been received to date.

The hour was 11:55 a. m. November 26, and the place was in the air over Bremen, Germany. Seven parachutes were seen blossoming from a disabled bomber. Subsequently, Lt. J. W. Webb of Waco, Tex., was reported missing in action. At least four members of the crew later were reported safe. Lt. Webb had been in England since September and had made six or seven raids before his ship went down.

Among the decorations awarded First Lt. William Charles Wisniewski of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., who has completed 25 missions against the enemy in Europe, are the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three clusters, and commendations for successful participation in missions to Aukiam and Schweinfurt, Germany, and for successfully completing 25 missions in the European theater.

Buttercups are probably the most common of the blossoms in July, Lieut. York said. But later, during August, firweeds will take over. They turn some of the islands almost into a mass of flame.

Most of the flowers are hardy perennials and are of the same species found along the Pacific coast of the United States. Exceptions include the Kamchatka lily, which is of Siberian origin.

Lieut. York, who claims Round Rock and Waco, Tex., as his home towns, told of one plant—the crowberry—which blooms and thus wastes its fragrance under the snow, instead of the desert air. It's a rare winter plant.

Texan Sends Orchids To University

ELEVENTH AIR FORCE, Aleutian Island Base, Aug. 7 (AP)—It's orchid time in the Aleutians.

And fighter pilots "buzzing" the tundra might, if they came close enough, also cut the tops of hundreds of other varieties of wild plants.

A collection of 300 species were sent to the University of Texas last year by First Lieut. Christopher York, 11th Air Force. He said he expected to do as well this season.

Lieut. York, a botanist who taught sciences at the Gladewater, Tex., high school before entering the army, explained about orchids. The small, wild varieties grow in the Aleutians because the climate is humid—one of the reasons their magnificent big sisters flourish in the tropics.

There are two varieties of the flower here—one a true orchid colored orchid and the other a yellow-green shade of orchid. Collecting and pressing the many wild flowers—and writing home about them—has become a popular pastime of air and ground soldiers at this and their Aleutian bases.

10 LITTLE OCTANE NUMBERS that will help end the war sooner!

TODAY'S SUPER-FUEL is 100-Octane, as compared with 90-Octane pre-war. This difference of 10 octane numbers is definitely contributing toward hastening the day of victory, because these extra octane numbers represent extra fighting power . . . extra range and carrying capacity for our big bombers . . . extra speed for our fighter planes!

In thirty months, U. S. production of 100-Octane Aviation Gasoline has been multiplied ten times. Our facilities for producing this precious, fighting, super-fuel can now deliver 21,000,000 gallons daily. Think of it! This is a greater quantity of aviation gasoline alone than the combined total of all petroleum products available to Axis Europe.

Phillips Petroleum Company, among the first to take 100-Octane gasoline out of the laboratory and into mass production, is now one of the nation's five largest producers of 100-Octane, despite the fact that Phillips operates only in the Middle West.

This production achievement suggests how competently and completely Phillips is devoting itself to the war effort, with similar special emphasis on butadiene for synthetic rubber.

Until that great day comes, when you can say "Fill 'er up with Phillips" . . . and the service man cranks into your tank a new and improved Phillips gasoline . . . remember that Phillips refineries, in addition to producing gasoline, lubricants, and fuel oils, are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

Editorial - - - No Cause For Comfort

While it may be there is some cause for rejoicing in the settlement of the Philadelphia transport strike, more cause exists for chagrin.

When the action of a small group can paralyze and negate the activities of hundreds of thousands of others who are turning out war materials, then it is time for action, even if that action involves the invoking of armed force. Still, it is not a pretty sight to see workers performing under such duress in a country where we are supposed to be able to iron out difficulties in less stringent circumstances.

The CIO union is due a commendation for refusing to recognize the strike and thus making it an outlaw affair. On the other hand, one is impelled to wonder if unions do not lack on some element of responsibility when they cannot discipline members effectively. Whether a strike is outlaw or sanctioned is no point of comfort to the nation if it paralyzes war production. The CIO can perform a service if it takes steps to see that those who struck in defiance of union orders are properly dealt with.

Need For Positive Dealing

The spectacle, such as took place in the apartment of Orchestra Leader Tommy Worsey early this week and in which Actor Jon Hall was perhaps permanently disfigured, is perhaps no different, basically than hundreds which happen the length and breadth of the land every week. It is no different from similar occurrences in most every other country, but the fact remains that the incident is putty in the hands of Axis propagandists.

Here is something which the free American press reports honestly. This enhances its value to the Axis, for they repeat it perhaps without undue enlargement, but they hold it up as typical of behavior under "decadent democracies." Of course, it is nothing of the sort, but then the trained German and Japanese minds accept it as such. It certainly does not constitute a selling point for democracy.

What can be done about it? Frankly, not a lot except that we could deal more positively with such cases, regardless of the prominence of personalities involved. Removal of any hope of immunity is one of the most effective instruments for preventing anti-social acts.

Washington—Reading The Primary Tea Leaves Backward

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — When "Cotton Ed" Smith, veteran South Carolina senator, took the count from Gov. Olin D. Johnston in his Democratic primary fight for re-nomination, newspaper men queried informed South Carolinians in the capital for their opinion on what happened.

The views simmered down to four main factors:
1. The 78-year-old senator went into the race without the opposition of President Roosevelt. In 1938 the President invaded South Carolina and gave public endorsement to Johnston. Smith hollered "dictation" and won handily. This time Mr. Roosevelt stayed out. South Carolinians don't say his opposition would have elected Cotton Ed, but they do say it would have given Smith a target and would have cut down the margin of his defeat.

2. Cotton Ed ran a personal sort of campaign, without a strong political organization behind him. He's not so vigorous as he once was, his stumping was not so fiery, and he fell to Johnston's tight state organization, reaching into the counties.
3. Both Smith and the other South Carolina senator, Burnet Maybank, are from the lower part of the state. Johnston hails from Spartanburg, in the populous upper "Piedmont" section.

4. In 36 years in the Senate—Smith is rounding out his sixth term—any man is going to pile up a lot of grudges.
In South Carolina, as in most southern states, the Democratic nomination means the same as election because Republicans are weak in those states.

Nobody in Washington saw much national significance in Cotton Ed's defeat—nor in the defeat of Sen. Hattie W. Caraway, who sought re-nomination in the Arkansas Democratic primary.
Mrs. Caraway succeeded her husband, Sen. Thaddeus H. Caraway, after he died in 1931. She

The War Today

by Dewitt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

Whether there's truth in the report that Gestapo Chief Himmler-the-Hungarian has been assassinated and Reichsmarshal Goering wounded, the fact remains that all the leaders of the Hitler regime are increasingly in danger of violent death.

The dictator has put the already war-weary and gloomy German people under a terrific strain of regimentation in his program for total war. He has chained them to their galley seats and is using the lash to make them pull their oars. His armies are under the even greater stress of continual defeats and retreats.

Thus while Hitler may be able to keep the lid on for a time by terrorism and force, morale inevitably will deteriorate to the point where more and more individuals will seek the lives of the leaders responsible for Germany's catastrophe. The gallows which yesterday claimed eight more army officers has only begun its grim work. No wonder the fuhrer's spirits are so low that he's said to be taking a rest cure in his Alps retreat at Berchtesgaden.

The greatest test of Hitler's ability to hold his people in line is still to be made. He's about to undergo a trial by fire in the great retreats which the German armies must achieve in the western and eastern theatres to reach the inner defenses of the reich for their last stand.

The next few weeks are going to be among the most crucial of the war. They will tell us whether the out-matched Nazi soldiers can endure the bloody grip of firing and retreating—firing and retreating. They will tell us whether the German home front can stand the frightful casualty lists and growing defeat.

The greatest single menace hanging over Hitler as he tries to extricate his armies probably is the mighty Allied air-force which these days roams the skies with little challenge. The fine and good Canadian offensive in the Caen sector provides an excellent illustration of the use of air power in battle. This vastly important and difficult attack was preceded by an unprecedented bombardment by some 1,600 planes, after which the hard-hitting Canadians slammed into the powerful German defenses and shattered the enemy back several miles.

That battle, by the way, is worth watching. The Caen sector is the hinge on which the Hitlerites are swinging back their loose left flank in retreat. If that hinge is broken it will place the Nazis in a precarious position.

Hollywood—"Kitty" Is The Story Of London Waif

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — "Kitty" is the story of an 18th century London street waif who became a model for Gainsborough and thus opened the gate to marrying several fortunes before she found true love.

So you know who'd be directing that one, don't you? After "Frenchman's Creek," who else but Mitchell Leisen? Leisen sat on his high stool behind the camera on an outdoor London street set, covered with black, breeze-rippling cloth to keep out the sunlight and keep

The Unseen Audience

Ernie Pyle: The Air Was Full Of Distinct Sounds As In A Musical Show

By ERNIE PYLE

IN NORMANDY (By Wireless) Our frontlines were marked by long strips of colored cloth laid on the ground, and with colored smoke to guide our airmen during the mass bombing that preceded our break-out from the German ring that held us to the Normandy beachhead.

Dive bombers hit it just right. We stood in the barnyard of a French farm and watched them barrel nearly straight down out of the sky. They were bombing about half a mile ahead of where we stood.

They came in groups, diving from every direction, perfectly timed, one right after another. Everywhere you looked separate groups of planes were on the way down, or on the way back up, or slanting over for a dive, or circling, circling over our heads, waiting for their turn.

The air was full of sharp and distinct sounds of cracking bombs and the heavy rips of the planes' machine guns and the splitting screams of diving wings. It was all fast and furious, but yet distinct, as in a musical show in which you could distinguish throaty tunes and words.

And then a new sound gradually droned into our ears, a sound deep and all encompassing with no notes in it—just a gigantic far-away surge of doom-like sound. It was the heavies. They came from directly behind us. At first they were the merest dots in the sky. You could see clots of them against the far heavens, too tiny to count individually. They came on with a terrible slowness.

They came in flights of 12, three flights to a group and in groups stretched out across the sky. They came in "families" of about 70 planes each.

Maybe these gigantic waves were two miles apart, maybe they were 10 miles, I don't know. But I do know they came in a constant procession and I thought it would never end. What the Germans must have thought is beyond comprehension.

Their march across the sky was slow and studied. I've never known a storm, or a machine, or any resolve of man that had about it the aura of such a ghastly relentlessness. You had the feeling that even had God appeared beseechingly before them in the sky with palms outward to persuade them back they would not have had within them the power to turn from their irresistible course.

I stood with a little group of men, ranging from colonels to privates, back of the stone farmhouse.

Slit trenches were all around the edges of the farmyard and a dugout with a tin roof was nearby. But we were so fascinated by the spectacle overhead that it never occurred to us that we might need the foxholes.

The first huge flight passed directly over our farmyard and others followed. We spread our feet and leaned far back trying to look straight up, until our steel helmets fell off. We'd cup our fingers around our eyes like field glasses for a clearer view.

And then the bombs came. They began ahead of us as crackle of popcorn and almost instantly swelled into a monstrous fury of noise that seemed surely to destroy all the world ahead of us.

From then on for an hour and a half that had in it the agonies of centuries, the bombs came down. A wall of smoke and dust erected by them grew high in the sky. It filtered along the ground back through our own orchards. It sifted around us and into our noses. The bright day grew slowly dark from it.

By now everything was an indescribable cauldron of sounds. Individual noises did not exist. The thundering of the motors in the sky and the roar of bombs ahead filled all the space for noise on earth. Our own heavy artillery was crashing all around us, yet we could hardly hear it.

The Germans began to shoot heavy, high ack-ack. Great black puffs of it by the score speckled the sky until it was hard to distinguish smoke puffs from planes.

Texas Today Texas Looms As Important Field Of Materials In Chemurgic Era

By BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff

Huge quantities of Texas farm and forest products will be fed to the chemurgic industries which will be set up in the near future, creating steady markets for the surplus products farms can produce.

Chemical industries are forging to the front, making every crop and every tree in Texas a potential raw material for modern industry, says the chairman of the Texas Chemurgic organization, Victor H. Schoffelmayer.

Texas, as the nation's greatest raw materials state, will play a leading part in the chemurgic industries which, he states, are turning from inorganic raw materials—minerals and metals—to organic chemicals or those which can be grown from year to year in ever renewable quantities.

Chemurgy is nothing more than chemistry and related sciences working for agriculture through science and research, says Schoffelmayer.

"Texas possesses the climate and the vast areas of fertile soils which under properly managed conditions can keep on producing a new type of chemurgic raw materials derived from solar energy and the water and carbon dioxide in the atmosphere," asserts Schoffelmayer.

"These raw materials will be with us long after our oil and gas wells and our mines have quit producing. That is why chemurgy is so vital—it makes use of what the land can grow year in and year out."

Stating that Texas agriculture, largest in the nation, is sorely in need of new thinking, new markets, new sources of income, Schoffelmayer forecasts that chemurgy will give farmers a market for established crops when these are put to new use as sources of cellulose and lignin, starches and sugars, proteins, resins, gums and waxes needed by industry.

"Farmers will grow new crops which will be developed at our research institutions to fit our needs in a rapidly developing industrial area which now must import many raw materials from other states or foreign lands, all of which might be grown in Texas," he says.

Petroleum, states Schoffelmayer, may be replaced by other fuels in time—fuels which can be renewed from year to year from the plants grown by the sun, air and water. The hydro-carbons of petroleum and natural gas have their counterpart in the carbohydrates of corn, rice, wheat, sawdust, or molasses, he adds.

"All around us are native plants about which we know practically nothing," states Schoffelmayer. "Dr. C. L. Lundell, Southern Methodist University's noted botanist and explorer in Central and South America, recently showed he plants he had introduced in the Dallas area from which it is likely that rubber, rapid drying oils, insecticides, industrial protein, may be derived.

"Such crops will enlarge the farmer's program and will encourage age "rop rotation and help the land which has been severely hurt by growing cotton or corn to the virtual exclusion of other crops."

Through chemurgy such ordinary farm products as corn, wheat, grain sorghums, cotton and cottonseed, pine trees or oaks and cedars, rice straw, castor beans and their stalks, okra seeds and okra fiber, citrus fruit wastes and perhaps Johnson grass and common weeds can be converted into industrial raw materials, explains Schoffelmayer.

In half a dozen southeast Texas counties along the Louisiana border are 2,000,000 tons of cut-over longleaf pine stumps containing all kinds of chemicals from turpentine and rosin to pine oil, camphor and road conditioning agents and having left almost pure cellulose as a byproduct, he says.

Says Schoffelmayer: "If I tell you that a ton of ordinary East Texas pine sawdust can be made into 1,100 pounds of table sugar as good as any you eat every day, and that from this same sugar scientists are making 50 to 60 gallons of ethyl alcohol, or that the same sawdust can be converted through bacterial action into edible yeast which our livestock can eat the same as they do cottonseed and with as good results, then you will begin to see what chemurgy offers."

Deep East Texas can grow tung oil, which we import at the rate of 200,000,000 pounds a year from the Far East, he asserts, adding that the Gulf coast should be an important tung oil producer, the varnish industry's most highly prized rapid drying oil.

"The problems of agriculture for 20 years has been the problem of what to do with the surplus wheat, surplus cotton, surplus cattle, potatoe, chickens, eggs and dozens of other products whose values sink to a low ebb," he said.

"If chemurgic industries are encouraged in Texas and in the nation we will not have these periodic periods of depression because there is too much cotton or wheat. We will use them chemically and convert them into useful articles of commerce.

"Chemurgy, as you can see from all this, is the thing our young soldier boys will welcome when they come back from foreign wars. They will want to be absorbed by the industry. Agriculture alone can not find jobs enough for these millions of returning soldiers. We must have new industries, che-

ROUNDUP SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—It is customary on Hambletonian day to refer to the scene of harness racing's greatest classic as a "sleepy little Orange county town." . . . At 1 p. m. in Park Square yesterday there was only one person sleeping on a bench. Probably he was just resting up for today's job of raking in the city folks' money. . . . There's plenty of rural atmosphere around Goshen, but the Hambletonian is really a big-town show. . . . It's the city dwellers who like an outing in the country who make up most of the crowd. . . . They also provide most of the winners. In 18 previous races, the only small towns represented by winning owners were Hanover, Pa. (three times), Auburn, N. Y., St. Charles, Ill., and Andover, Ohio. . . . This year it's different: Wichita, Kas., (Yankee Maid) and Winston-Salem, N. C. (Betsey Babcock) are the biggest hometown names on the entry list.

Hambletonian handouts—

Yankee Maid, the favorite, didn't suffer a setback until she invaded real Yankee territory to race at Old Orchard, Maine. That was where she broke from her trotting stride for the one-and-only time, too. . . . Good Time Park, Bill Cane's triangular mile track, is one of two race courses in the United States where the grandstand faces the afternoon sun. . . . The other is Keeneland, which holds meetings only in the spring and fall as a result. . . . Two Hambletonian entries, Foster Hanover and Fighting Scott, sold for $325 and $450, respectively, as yearlings. Both were resold to ### their present owners for considerably higher prices. The choicest, Yankee Maid and Enac, were both $1,500 yearlings. . . . There are five fillies among the Hambletonian entries, but outside of Yankee Maid they're not in the race any more than the Phillies.

Error column— Ben Jones, who remained in Chicago while his flashy filly, Twilight Tear, took a licking from Vienna in Saratoga's Alabama Stakes yesterday, may get a little consolation by remembering that time in 1926 when Knute Rockne didn't go along to watch his Notre Dame footballers lick Carnegie Tech and then had to explain away a 19-0 defeat. . . . Dick McMahon, who drove Calumet Butler to a Hambletonian victory in 1931 and who buys a good many horses for owner Warren Wright, said the only "me the Calumet Farm boss criticized him was when he bought a mare named Dustwhirl for $10,500. . . . So now all he has to do if the boss looks displeased is mention Dustwhirl's little boy, Whirlaway.

Rewards Posted For Arrest Of Killer

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 9 (AP) — Investigation of the recent slayings of three Fort Wayne women was spurred today by the posting of rewards of $5,000 in each case for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killers.

The nude and battered body of the latest victim—Phyllis Conline, 17-year-old high school girl—was found Sunday several miles south of the city. Missing since Friday, her skull had been fractured and there were evidences of strangulation. Condition of the body prevented determination whether she had been raped. Her purse was found yesterday several miles from the scene.

First victim of the series of slayings was Wilhelma Haaga, who staggered into a farmhouse last Feb. 2 beaten so badly she was unable to tell what had happened. She died three days later.

Last May 22, the body of Anna Kuzeff, 22, war plant worker, was found along a dark road on the western edge of the city. She had been raped.

Polish Regimes Fail To Agree

MOSCOW, Aug. 9 (AP) — Rival Polish regimes failed to agree today on a plan of fusion and leaders are returning to their respective headquarters in London and Lublin with renewal of negotiations delayed at least until the Russians capture Warsaw.

Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczuk consulted the U.S. and British ambassadors late today after the Soviet-sponsored Polish committee of national liberation said his exiled government in London was clinging to the "dictatorial" constitution of 1935, blocking formation of a "democratic provisional government." He probably will leave for London tomorrow.

President Morawski of the committee departed for Lublin.

Both sides left the way open for talks in the indefinite future, but indicated they preferred to wait until the Germans are driven from Warsaw, the Polish capital, which could be the scene of their next deliberations.

Ice Shipped To Meet Demand At Houston

HOUSTON, Aug. 9 (AP) — Todd-Houston Shipyard officials, unable to meet the normal midsummer demand of 70,000 to 90,000 pounds of ice daily, are bringing half the yard's daily supply from Florida, and the remainder from other Texas cities, an official said today.

Shipyard ice scouts who have combed Texas located some of the precious commodity in a Florida resort city. They were limited to purchase of one carload a day—and the first carload arrived yesterday.

They located several carloads in San Antonio, quickly bought it and urged immediate shipment. Then they purchased additional ice in Brownsville, Pharr, San Benito and Mexia.

The yard which receives no ice from Houston still faces an ice shortage.

"Maybe we'll have to try Iceland before the summer is over," an official said.

Texaco Stakes Borden Wildcat

A wildcat has been staked in southwestern Borden county by the Texas company and rotary rig is being moved in.

The wildcat is contracted to 7,500 feet. It is the firm's No. 1 W. D. Johnson, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 41-32-4N, T.&P. survey. It is located on a block about 10,000 acres taken by the Globe Oil and Refining company, which turned one-half interest in the block to Texaco.

The test is located three miles west of a 3,375-foot dry hole drilled by Continental on Clayton and Johnson properties in southwestern Borden county.

In other oil activities reported Wednesday, Northern Ordinance No. 1 Clayton-Johnson in Borden county, in section 32-31-4N, T.&P., was at 8,667 feet in lime, and Northern Ordinance No. 1 Spaulding, section 7-35-2N, T.&P., northwestern Howard county, was at 5,722 feet in lime. John B. Hawley, Jr., Thompson No. 2, in section 14-34-18, was shut down, preparing spudder. Several Northern Ordinance wells were shut down and others were producing one to 13 barrels a day.

Interest Grows In Rodeo Event

Interest in the Big Spring rodeo, August 24-25-26-27, is mounting daily, according to J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager.

Cosden Petroleum Corp. came forward with a big measure of support for the event by posting a $150 saddle as the top prize in the sponsors' contest, it was announced.

Tickets are being placed in the hands of Cliff Wiley, chairman of ticket sales and a campaign may be expected soon in this department, he said.

Meanwhile, entries continued to eb received in the sponsors' division with Mrs. Sallie Taylor, Stacey, Texas, representing the F ranch, as the latest to accept an invitation to participate.

Dr. M. T. Ramsey, Ahilene, is to be here during the weekend to work with a Center Point team, under direction of Melvin Choate, to teach its members how to do a horseback square dance. The event is to be a part of the rodeo program.

Other program details are shaping rapidly under the guidance of M. M. Edwards and Charlie Creighton, and the grounds have been put in top condition for the event.

A Switch in Time saved Mine...

Leave me out of it.

I'd rather skip any new car rush—worse than a nylon stocking sale after War. More cars have already gone out of the running than ever were built any year! How'll everybody get his new one overnight? But I've come this far with my engine OIL-PLATED, so I figure I'll be all right. I'll just keep it safely OIL-PLATED by staying with my good old friend Conoco Nth motor oil. If you think you can beat it, okay. But remember, any engine is bound to have acids inside from every explosion. Therefore you'd risk too much grief from corrosion, as I understand, except that OIL-PLATING is made to check it.

The cans of Nth oil tell you about a modern synthetic that does the OIL-PLATING. You'd imagine it's kind of magnetized to working parts, making a protective surface to shed off acids, before the worst happens. Good thing you needn't wait for an OIL-PLATED engine; you can have that whole improvement now, using Conoco Nth oil.
