Texas Schools Place Emphasis On Courses In Vehicle Safety

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Emphasis on teaching youngsters how to drive safely has resulted in 586 secondary Texas schools giving safety training to 61,000 students this year.

These figures were reported this week by R. B. Rooper of Houston to the administrative committee of the safety association meeting here. Rooper, the committee's vice president for schools and colleges, said this represents a substantial increase over the 435 schools and 47,000 students enrolled last year.

A survey of traffic court conditions in Texas has been completed, the committee was told. The survey, made cooperatively by the safety association and the junior bar of Texas, covered 90 full-time 65 part-time corporation court judges and justices of the peace.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduce the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutrients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm, fresh, fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

The CHIROPRACTOR—and You

This is One Of A Series Of Articles Published In The Public Interest To Explain And Illustrate The Practice Of Chiropractic.

CASE HISTORY No. 274. A girl of 17 who came to a Chiropractor suffering from severe headaches which she attributed to her eyes. She had worn glasses for five years, changing to a stronger type of lense every six months. However, analysis revealed that the headaches were caused by nerve pressure at the base of the skull. A series of spinal adjustments released the nerves from pressure and the headaches promptly ceased. Further, eyesight so improved that within a short time she was able to discard her glasses and has not worn them since.

CASE HISTORY No. 742. A severe case of asthma resulting from the drainage of mucous from diseased sinuses which had affected the bronchial tubes. This middle-aged man had tried every available means of relief without success. Brought to a Chiropractor "doubting that anything could be done," he was restored to normal health within a few weeks. The cause of his condition was simply nerve pressure between the brain and the sinuses. When this pressure was removed by spinal adjustment the abnormality quickly cleared up.

CASE HISTORY No. 17. A typical case of gastritis. The patient complained of headaches, pain in the stomach, a feeling of fullness and distress, heartburn, and was

Boys' Ranch Is Explained At Rotary Meet

The problem of the individual boy, who is not important to anyone, is the problem of the West Texas Boys' Co-op Ranch, Frank Varney, San Angelo, told Rotarians Tuesday.

For it is the purpose of the ranch to take boys "about whom no one seems to know what to do," he said, and to put them to work in as near a home life atmosphere in producing and learning to live.

Varney headed a group of San Angelo men here to stimulate interest in support of the campaign which would purchase the river-bottom ranch 15 miles west of San Angelo and to equip and make it available to misplaced boys of 19 West Texas counties.

In the group with him were Sol Mayer, San Angelo rancher-banker who has made the 965-acre ranch available at $25,000 less than its market value; Ben E. Godfrey, E. E. Armistead, Reynolds Johnson, and Doris Davis, co-op ranch secretary.

Boys accepted for the ranch would be brought up as nearly as possible as though they were in private homes, learning to do their chores, going to the Sunday school of their choice, getting an education, learning team work. When natural or foster parents offered proof of providing acceptable homes or when boys graduate from high school and are secure in a job they will be "discharged" from the ranch.

Also on the program Tuesday was J. A. Jolley, in charge of the Howard county Junior College evening school program, which, with the vocational school division, has an attendance of 150. He touched briefly on the salesmanship course which he teaches, pointing out how individuals are taught confidence, approach, and most of all how to sell themselves. He mentioned also evening courses in business math, business law, conversational Spanish (which has 42 enrolled in it), typing, bookkeeping, woodwork and other.

Visitors included Nelson Phillips, Dallas, general counsel for Corden Petroleum Corp., and several Big Spring men who had come to hear the story of the co-op ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Holley and children, Betty Jon, Danny Boy, and Michael Lee, together with two friends, Lillian and Julia Mason, of Richmond, Calif., have been visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Holley, Sr. and his brothers, R. L. Holley, Jr., wife and daughter, Dianne, and James Holley.

Youth Jailed After $8,500 Found In Bag

ANTIOCH, Calif., Oct. 6. (P)—For a week, 15-year-old Vernon Beard carefully guarded a paper bag, letting no one see its contents. Then police got a look, took the $8,500 it contained and jailed Vernon.

Chief of Police Harry Boyer said the cash was loot from a burglary, and that the boy admitted, he didn't know quite what to do with it. He spent a little for candy and milk shakes and was wondering if he should take a trip.

The money was stolen Sept. 27 from the home of Jack Wolfe, Antioch merchant.

Police said they matched Vernon's fingerprints from their juvenile files with prints discovered at another break-in and picked him up Sunday night.

Lighter winter-grade Nth gives you faster starts. Saves you wear on the battery... and wear on the nerves... when you step on the starter on frosty mornings.

What's more, a change to Conoco Nth Motor Oil

Old John Overlooks A Point In His Blistering Attack

No doubt Harry S. Truman has written off John L. Lewis' vote in the general elections. If he hasn't, then on the basis of old John's latest oratorical outburst, he may chalk it off now.

Old John, who has been called many things but never a novice when it came to handling the more blistering elements of the English language, turned loose both barrels on the President. He had some rather harsh opinion to express, among them that Mr. Truman wasn't qualified, lacked a proper regard for the truth, was a schemer and a dangerous character to the United Mine Workers and the nation.

Then he came upon the cause of the forensic foray—the injunctions against and fines imposed upon the United Mine Workers of America in the wake of two abortive strike attempts. Those fines amounted to $2,130,000 on Lewis and the UMW.

Papers Worth Their Salt Have Civic Responsibility

If anyone ever put a ruler and a pencil to free space given by newspapers in community interest, we never heard about it. The totals, we venture, would be both enlightening and amazing. Amounts devoted to community chest, TB seal sales, Red Cross roll call, fairs, rodeos, certain chamber of commerce projects, welfare campaigns, some private and most public institutions, various athletic, amusement and recreational activities would be far more than even those closely associated with the passing scene would dream.

We mention this not to make newspapers seem as suffering heroes, which they are not, but to bring into focus the element of community service which is part of any paper worth its salt. It is this quality that gives the newspaper its peculiar old John knows it. "Men have to dig coal to pay that fine," he said. "How many men are going to die to pay it?" How many men will break their backs to pay that fine? Harry doesn't care.

The recourse, he told the UMWA convention's opening session, is plainly at the ballot box. Nobody will dispute him on that point. It's a cherished American right to vote for whom you please without accounting to any mortal.

Where old John is not exactly lily white is in neglecting to mention that it wasn't so much a chastizing chief executive as it was his own bullheadedness in flaunting the courts that brought his miners to financial woe. He should remember that there isn't any law such as being in contempt of the President (as his blistering attack will testify) but rather time-honored laws of being in contempt of courts.

semi-public status. It is the thing which contributes a good measure to the unconscious hometown regard for "our paper."

All enterprises certainly are bound to progress of a community, either for better or worse, but none more openly than a newspaper. Perhaps it is through tradition or through right that people expect a paper to help carry the ball on various undertakings, but whatever the reason the expectancy is fixed. It becomes a responsibility to lead or to inform or certainly not to get in the way.

Those charged with operating newspapers may sometime sit in the critic's chair or they may become referees or counselors, but if they justify the public's faith they cannot ignore the challenge for civic righteousness and community service.

Vishinsky Argument Gives U. N. Cause For Amazement

THE LONG-SUFFERING UNITED Nations Security Council Monday heard an argument in Paris to end all arguments when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky took the floor and, with a perfectly straight face, declared that there is no Soviet blockade of Berlin.

A few members of the council smiled wryly at the audacity of this claim. Mr. Vishinsky has a very agile mind, as befits the noted lawyer who formerly was Soviet public prosecutor, but this is the first time so far as your correspondent recalls that he has ventured such an acrobatic stunt.

However, he was pursuing typical Communist tactics. The existence of the blockade has been a recognized fact by both sides for months, until the other day when Marshal Sokolovskiy, Russian commander in Germany, made the same crack about there being no blockade.

The deputy foreign minister argued that the issue should be sent to the big four Council of Foreign Ministers. This in its turn was another astonishing proposal. In view of the fact that the Council of Foreign Ministers has long been rendered impotent by Soviet obstruction. Obviously the Russian are stalling for time.

Well, it's easy to understand the anxiety of the Bolsheviks to keep the UN from passing judgment on the charge of aggression. They have no intention of abandoning their cold war, but they can have no desire to be branded as aggressors by a majority of the world's nations. Russia was booted out of the League of Nations in 1939 for aggression against little Finland, and it didn't boost Muscovite stock any.

SO VISHINSKY FOUGHT TO ESCAPE the ignominy of this brand, and the United States battled with equal vigor to get a council hearing of the charges. Philip C. Jessup, speaking for America, charged Russia with systematically violating international agreements by "continuing use of force or the threat of force against the United States, the United Kingdom, and France."

VISHINSKY WAS, OF COURSE, FIGHTING to keep the Security Council from consideration of the charges by the western powers that the blockade is a menace to world peace. He declared the demand for UN consideration of the dispute was groundless. "That it does not fall within the scope of the Security Council." So in order to elude his argument he coolly caused the

Middle-Aged Little Man Makes His Plea For Boxers

NEW YORK (AP)—THE NEAT, MIDDLE-aged little man had sad, blood-shot eyes, and he rapped his heart a blow.

"I don't know how you say it," he said to Ted Smith, Associated Press sports editor, "but I have things in here I want to say. It is on my conscience like."

And the rest was hard to understand, because Puerto Rican emotion filtered through a veil of words. The little man said he was Honey Rojas, fight manager and Latin American sports promoter. Wordlessly he held out a letterhead.

It was printed in purple ink and it showed the picture of a clean-cut, tawny-skinned boy in boxing trunks, fists poised wide apart. That was Kid Dinamita, 147, and the purple sheet of stationery said he was "The Sensational Welterweight Champion Of Central America, Authentic."

But Rojas doesn't manage him any more. The kid died last Wednesday night in Chicago after a fight.

Rojas looked silently at the letterhead. Then slowly he began to find the words he had walked into the office to say:

"What I want to say is... boxers..."

"YOU THINK HE READS IT BETTER THAN I DO?"

Washington Merry-Go-Round — Drew Pearson

Thomas Is Suspicious Of Lawmen Following Him, Demands A Probe

WASHINGTON.—Cong. J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, chairman of the un-American Activities Committee, is a most suspicious person. Not only has he investigated all sorts of alleged Communists, but he also sought to investigate a policeman who arrested him.

Thomas is not, however, at all happy over the current FBI investigation of himself and the kickbacks he received from four women who returned all or part of their government salaries to him. Nor does the congressman relish the investigation of the way in which he kept two soldiers out of combat and then later collected several hundred dollars from their families.

The policeman Thomas wanted investigated was Maryland State Trooper Kaplow who arrested the congressman near Port Deposit, Md., some time ago, for violating a 50-mile speed limit and passing other cars on a curve.

Complaining about the incident in a letter to W. Lee Elgin, Maryland commissioner of motor vehicles, Rep. Thomas wrote: "I signaled to the trooper to stop and then told him who I was."

The trooper phoned headquarters for instructions, and was told that since Congress was not in session, Thomas had no congressional immunity. The congressman was then taken before Magistrate J. Howard Pugh at Port Deposit where, despite his plea that he was in a hurry to keep important engagements in Washington, he was fined $17.50.

Apparently, Thomas' behavior was such that State Trooper Kaplow was suspicious. He didn't really think the congressman was an un-American Communist, but he did think he might be un-American in jeopardizing the safety of other vehicles. So Trooper Kaplow decided to keep a friendly eye on the gentleman from New Jersey.

The congressman's own description of the matter is much more graphic than anything that could be written by a columnist. So we will quote from his own indignant letter to Commissioner Elgin.

After going about two miles, Thomas said, "I noticed that Trooper Kaplow was following me. At the time I was driving about 30 miles per hour. We were traveling on a road where there were signs showing the speed limit was 50 miles per hour. I lowered my speed, Kaplow lowered his. Then I raised my speed to see what he would do, and he still followed me."

The chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee has tapped the telephones of a great many people. He has employed a young Army of investigators to shadow suspects and dig through their past. But he became highly indignant when Maryland state trooper trailed behind his automobile. In fact, he became so indignant that he stopped and demanded that Kaplow stop following him.

"To which Kaplow replied," as Thomas later reported to the Maryland commissioner of vehicles, "that he was going to follow me. And for ten miles Kaplow trailed my car. As far as I could find out, he did it for just one reason, and that was to annoy me."

UN-AMERICAN COP? All of this touched off the congressman's suspicions. A suspicious soul anyway, Thomas de-decided that there was something dire and foreboding in the action of this policeman. Probably he was un-American. So he asked the Maryland commissioner for an official investigation.

"I appeal to you for an investigation of this case," he wrote Elgin. "I do not want any favors. I am perfectly willing to take my medicine along with everyone else, but I am convinced that there were aspects to the case that were not only unduly annoying, but which led to suspicion."

The congressman was so suspicious that he also got the support of his then colleague, Cong. Dudley Roe of Maryland, who wrote Commissioner Elgin that Thomas was "a very outstanding member of Congress and a warm personal friend of mine."

"He has been driving a car for thirty years," continued Roe, "and has never had a summons before. Public officials greatly regret having any summons appear on their record, and anything you can do in this matter to straighten out the incident for Congressman Thomas will be sincerely appreciated by me."

The Maryland authorities, however, weren't worried about Trooper Kaplow's possible un-Americanism. They did absolutely nothing.

Meanwhile, Rep. Thomas was so suspicious, so irate, and so indignant that he even asked A. W. Magee, New Jersey motor vehicle commissioner, to investigate.

Embarrassed, Magee gave him the brush-off.

"I am sure," he wrote back, "that the Maryland authorities will thoroughly investigate. I know you will appreciate that it will be difficult for the department to do anything inasmuch as it happened in another state."

Thus ended another chapter in the palpitating life of J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey.

DEWEY SHUNS MICHIGAN Tom Dewey is sticking to his traditional role of crime-buster in the Michigan sense. Despite the fact that big GOP politicians are involved, plus important auto-dealer contributions to the GOP campaign chest, Dewey is not intervening to help them. He has decided to let the Michigan chips fall where they may.

It happens that Michigan's attorney general, Eugene Black, who first started after his fellow Republicans, is a strong Dewey supporter. Furthermore, his sister, Mrs. Lois Black Hunter, is on the Dewey payroll as New York's assistant labor commissioner.

Only move the Dewey forces have made was a quiet warning by Ed Jaeckle of Buffalo, Dewey's chief political brain-truster, to Mrs. Hunter to stay out of the Michigan fight.

It happens that GOP National Committeeman Arthur Summerfield, who spearheaded the big Republican campaign contributions from motor men, was against Dewey at Philadelphia. Summerfield was 100 per cent for Vandenberg, and today is accused by some Republicans of not working hard for Dewey in Michigan.

If true, this may be because Mr. Summerfield is being kept rather busy himself by a federal grand jury which is probing his end other GOP bigwig violations of the Corrupt Practices Act.

Summerfield is credited with raising around half a million dollars from Michigan Motor magistrates in 1944, and a similar amount in 1946. Only trouble was that he didn't report all of this big money. Furthermore, a state grand jury in Detroit has found that some of these motor men reneged on sales taxes to the tune of several million.

Attorney Gerald Black says this was a payoff. Having contributed to the GOP, the state's Republican tax collectors looked the other way when it came to auditing their books.

This forced the rest of the people of Michigan to pay higher taxes, points out Black.

Studios Seeking Loan Of Lund From Paramount

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Proof that John Lund is well on his way to top stardom: other studios are seeking to borrow him from Paramount.

Lund is being sought by 20th-Fox for the leading male role in "Come to the Stars." He would play a popular composer who seeks rest from the mad world at a country estate, only to be beset with some suns who live next door. Loretta Young and Celeste Holm will portray the leading suns.

Glenn Ford is reportedly sore at Columbia and has broken off negotiations for a new contract. Glenn, who has done picture after picture dutifully, is irate about the nice deal handed Larry Parks who raised considerable trouble with the studio.

Garba is eager to get back to work after all these years of inactivity. She calls Producer Walter Wanger regularly and talks about their future film. Wanger says she's a "great girl."

Jimmy Durante is still undecided about whether he'll do a Broadway show. He's like to be before the footlights again, but he's tied up with his air show and has to do a film for MGM this fall.

Helping Solve A Murder Isn't Like Movies At All

It's not like the movies, books or radio. In fact, being a newspaper reporter is pretty much like being a clerk in the corner dry goods store. Mostly its just plain digging and figuring and dressing up for public consumption.

I regret that in my years of experience in the trade I have not been able to wear a floppy hat with a turned up brim, a wise-guy smirk, and smartly tailored tweeds and tuxedos. Nor have I felt secure enough to walk in and tell the publisher off, insult the composing room foreman and treat the pressman like a lackey. More than that, I have not possessed the legendary ability to lecture to a cringing public official, who fears the lash of a righteous crusade, or the occasion to bare my breast and tell the underworld to do its worst.

Perhaps the biggest disappointment has been in not being able to chalk up the solution to one great mystery right under the nose of a befuddled law. The "whats these bright young boys in the stories seem to do every Thursday night. It's almost given me a complex—this business of never having been remembered at the pay window for having exposed the town's leading citizen as a mobster and murderer.

ropes around the corners was the corpus delect covered.

There's absolutely nothing so revolting as the odor of decayed human flesh. But being young and innocent, I grew green around the gills with officers as they ransacked the clothing and personal effects for some clue of identity. The clothing bore no tell-tale laundry or trade marks. There was only a ring and some odds and ends that clutter the average pocket. The law had a corpse with a hole in its skull and nothing to indicate from whence it came, who it was, or what had happened.

Nobody seemed impressed by the ring, but in a stroke of near genius, I saw it was a Herff-Jones product, and I assumed, a class ring. Then we made out the name of the town, which, by elimination, turned out to be in Pennsylvania. Inside were two letters scratched dimly. It developed this wasn't the victim's ring at all but what was more important, it belonged to a young girl who had given it to him before he and a companion had left on a bumming trip to California. From this point it was comparatively easy to locate the other guy and to bring an admission from him how he had slugged his pal, took his money and tossed his body into the reifer.

Modesty dictated that nothing be said by a humble reporter how he had picked up the thread that unraveled the mystery. Years later, however, the story was told in one of these detective magazines. And who was the hero? Why one of the laws, a sort of two-gun Texas ranger type who had a bird-dog intuition and a mouth full of "you ails."

That's what I mean. It isn't like the movies at all.—JOE PICKLE.

Did The Politburo Make Stalin Go Back On Word?

WASHINGTON (AP)—DID THE POLITBuro tell Stalin to go back on his word? That seems a fair question in view of the Russian double-talk on the Berlin crisis.

The Politburo is a committee of top Communists in Russia. It checks on every problem before the government acts. It can issue orders independently.

Now look at what happened:

Early this year the United States, Britain, and France began setting up a new German government in their zones of Germany. The Russian zone is not included.

Such a government, sponsored by the West, would be friendly to the West and a block to Russian efforts to control all Germany.

withdrew their money from Berlin and let the Russian money be the only kind used, provided all four powers had control ever how: it was used?

Molotov was balky but Stalin said "yes."

After the Moscow talks on that high level, representatives of the four powers sat down in Berlin to work out details of the agreement.

But—the Russians now not only said there could be no four-power control of Berlin money but even talked of extending their land blockade to a blockade of some of the supplies reaching Berlin by air.

The western powers looked upon this as breaking Stalin's promise made in Moscow. They dumped the whole Berlin crisis on the United Nations.

BUT THE WEST SAID THE "DOOR IS open" to Russia. The new government hasn't been set up yet. The western powers and the Germans in their zones are working on it.

Just keep that in mind a moment and go on to something else.

Last June Russia and the three western powers started two separate money systems in Berlin. The Russians did it first. When the others did it, Russia stopped letting them send supplies overland into Berlin for their troops and for Germans in their sectors.

Russia could do this because, since Berlin is in the Russian zone, supplies for Berlin must pass through that zone.

Since June the western powers have had to send in supplies by plane.

To try to get the blockade lifted, the western governments told their ambassadors in Moscow to see Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov. The ambassadors had two talks with Stalin, 11 with Molotov.

They reported this:

FINALLY, JUST AS THE UN DEBATE on Berlin was about to begin, this happened:

Russian officials—but not Stalin—indicated that if the West wants the Berlin blockade lifted, it must abandon its idea of a western German government.

But if that's the price of lifting the blockade, why didn't Stalin say so in the first place?

The ambassadors who talked with him said he mentioned the new German government and said he wished the West would drop the idea.

But they say he did not demand that it be dropped as the price of lifting the Berlin blockade.

But why didn't he, since that's what the Russian government now says it really wants?

Because the Politburo may have looked over the promise he made—after he made it but before the Russian government could act on it—and said: "No go. You didn't make a tough enough bargain."

So Stalin changed his mind—or the Politburo changed it for him.

Only U. S. Arms Will Fill Out Military Vacuum In Europe

WASHINGTON—Will the United States make the great effort necessary to help fill the military vacuum in western Europe? It is now clear that this is likely to be the gravest issue to face the next President, the next Congress and the country as a whole.

The issue has, of course, been brought to a head by the mounting crisis in Berlin. The five nations of the Western European Union—England, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—have responded with almost desperate urgency to this crisis. Compromises have been made, agreements which earlier seemed insurmountable have been overcome. The five nations have agreed on common strategy and on the pooling of their forces under a unified command. But until or unless the United States decides to infuse life into it, this agreement will remain a mere paper pact without real meaning.

This is so simply because the Western Union countries do not now have either the arms or the capacity to make the arms to equip a force capable of halting an onslaught by the huge Red Army. This does not mean, as is commonly supposed, that the Red Army could, if ordered into action tomorrow, sweep on to the Atlantic in a few days or weeks. There are more than 350,000 Russian troops in Europe. These are scattered throughout eastern Europe, and moreover by no means all are combat troops.

Before the Red Army in Europe could attack to the west, it would have to be reinforced and re-equipped, stockpiles would have to be built up, and units would have to be deployed for an attack. All this would require weeks, perhaps even months, and would certainly become known to the West. The Western nations would thus have at least some weeks of warning.

Yet the fact remains that if the Kremlin so willed, these preliminary measures could at any time be taken. The Red Army could then invade western Europe, with the Western military forces fighting no more than a delaying action. This fact is the Kremlin's trump card, for the sense of helplessness in case of Russian aggression hangs like a dark cloud over every western European capital.

The cloud can be dissipated only by placing western Europe in a posture of defense. The experts of the Military Staff Committee of the Western European Union have estimated what will be required to do this job. This estimate, with which the American experts largely agree, is believed to call for a western European army of forty or forty-five first class divisions. The expert assessment is that, given narrow front until the whole weight of the non-Soviet world could be organized for the counterattack.

The soldiers to man such an army already available in western Europe—indeed, France alone already has more than half a million men under arms. But the bulk of the equipment necessary to bring existing divisions up to the high standard required, and to arm new divisions, must be supplied by the United States if it is to be supplied at all.

Moscow Job Obtained Without Trouble, Nazis Strike And Oleg Called War

Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.
 (In today's installment of her story, Mrs. Kasenkina tells of her mission to Moscow to get a job teaching at a model school, and of Oleg's belated recall to colors.)
By OKSANA S. KASENKINA
 Edited by Isaac Don Levine
 Upon my arrival in Moscow I went straight from the railroad station to the office of "Obolono," the department of education for the province of Moscow, where I was received with open arms by the veteran educator Mikhailov. He had been seeking an experienced instructor in natural sciences to fill a sudden vacancy. I was left to guess what had caused it, but during the great purge even a shrug of the shoulders told a familiar story.
 My chief worry was how to deal with the inevitable question of my marital status. I decided to answer it with the simple statement that I was a widow. To my great relief there was no further probing by Mikhailov who was delighted with all my diplomas and documents, as there were not many qualified natural science teachers to be found.

 During the four years I taught at Tushkovo, in the Muscovy countryside, from the fall of 1937 to that of 1941, I managed to keep a deep secret. For my boy, Oleg, the change was a blessing. He found a mentor in the teacher of Russian literature, a pre-revolutionary educator, who stimulated his interest in the classics.
 My first task was to start a garden, as the food problem continually beset the institution. In this region the soil is rocky, but we did raise vegetables and were especially successful with potatoes. But our difficulties lay in getting bread, meat, sugar, kerosene and other necessities for which we had to forage in the villages and towns. Sometimes we teachers had to go to Moscow to shop in the open markets for these provisions, and on occasion the NKVD would raid the train and confiscate the food and kerosene as illegal goods. One was lucky to escape arrest as a "speculator."

I was encouraged to try poultry farming, as all part of our school experiments in agriculture, but soon discovered why my predecessor Ivanov had failed in this endeavor. Our region was thick with foxes, and hawks were common. Instead of multiplying, the chickens melted away.
 I was more successful with bees. What with the scarcity of sugar, it became quite a fashionable feature of the five-year plan to cultivate honey. I once overheard one high Soviet functionary ask another: "And what is your wife doing?" The reply was: "She's taking courses in apiculture."
 I studied the literature on beekeeping, and succeeded in constructing a whole palace of a hive. Our honey became the talk of the countryside. I stored enough honey as food for the bees in the winter to save them in the rigorous climate, but our Communist director Kukhmarov regarded this as a luxury for the bees. He removed the food, all the bees then died, and that ended my experiment.

 The summer of 1939 was upon us. The Stalin-Hitler pact, which apparently stirred the world deeply, made little impression on the common people. To us non-Communists the world war was brought home only with the outbreak of Russo-Finnish hostilities. The Soviet government's joining Hitler in the partition of Poland was received with apathy by the population.
 It was different when we went to war with little Finland. Many of our peasants' sons were called to the colors. Our own director Kukhmarov went off to the front. He bragged, as so many Communists did: "Shapkami zakidayem—we'll snow them under our hats." But the ordinary folks just could not understand why the great Soviet power had to pick a fight with tiny Finland. And when the boys began to come back with frozen legs and arms, there were murmurings in the villages: "What are we fighting for? Why must our sons perish?"
 When the director returned to his duties, he punctuated his bragging of the victory over Finland with this story:
 "We gave it to those accursed Finns. When the armistice was already signed, our command decided not to cart any shells back, so we opened up with all the guns and let them have it."
 Many of the boys did not return. One of them was a favorite pupil of mine, Igor Gummell, a blue-eyed, slim youth, whose father, a widowed teacher in Moscow, had placed him with a distant relative in a village near our school. An ardent idealist, a prodigious reader, Igor joined the Komsomol and held forth at meetings, often criticizing the abuse by the new bureaucrats of our workers. The Communist officials and their sons in the Komsomol did not like his zeal. Although without any military training, he was sent off to the Finnish front. I received but one letter from him, full of the horrors he experienced. Then came word of his death.
 My own son, Oleg, who was 18, was called to register for military service. Although he had become chummy with Igor, I was happy

Soviet Travel Ban Explained

MOSCOW, Oct. 6. (U.P.)—Foreigners are not confined to Moscow by travel bans the Soviet Union issued to foreign embassies Oct. 1, but they are told what cities and areas they cannot visit.
 A high ranking foreigner found this out when he applied to visit a city several hundred miles from Moscow. He was told officially he can go when he likes.
 The State Department said Monday the Russian restrictions virtually confined foreign diplomats to the Moscow city limits. It said news reports about the regulations had been help up by a Soviet censor.
 Under the new regulations foreigners desiring to visit places not located in forbidden zones must notify the proper Soviet authorities in advance. Foreigners may travel through restricted zones to get to their destinations providing they proceed directly to their destination.
 Several regions of the Moscow district are restricted.
 Zones which cannot be visited under the new regulations are said to include Kiev, Minsk, Archangel, Khar'kov and Gorky.

Cleveland Listed As 5 To 1 Favorite In World Series

Johnny Sain Faces Feller

BOSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Prospects of chilling rain and mid-50 temperatures threatened today's World Series opener at Braves Field with Bobby Feller of the Cleveland Indians and Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves primed for a classic duel.

Rain or not, the rollicking American League champs with the bristling power in their batting order are strong 5 to 1 favorites to beat off the stubborn Braves with their Sain-Spahn pitching pair, in the best-of-seven series.

The Indians, who won the pennant from the Boston Red Sox Monday in the first tie playoff game in the league's history, are about 5 to 7 in the man-to-man wagering to take the opener behind Feller. Game time is 1:00 p. m. (EST) with a full house of some 30,400 assured.

Long lines clogged the streets around the Braves ticket offices last night as they put on sale 2,500 standing room permits.

Some 1,500 seats in the "jury box" bleachers in right field also have been sold as well as about 15,500 grandstand tickets at $5 about 17,800 pavilion seats at $5 and 1,800 boxes at $8.

It adds up to gross gate of around $208,000, after the taxes, most of the remainder goes to the players who are counting on a fat payday.

Boston's last series was in 1946 when the Red Sox met the St. Louis Cardinals at Fenway Park but the Braves' loyal fans have been waiting since 1914. That was the year George Stallings' "Miracle Men" upset the highly favored Philadelphia A's in four straight games.

Feller, the farm "boy" who now is a personal corporation with a six-figure income, will be realizing one of his few unsatisfied ambitions in pitching a series game. He already is the all-time strikeout leader and is generally accepted to be the top paid player in the game.

Manager Billy Southworth naturally leads with his ace—Johnny Sain, the curve-balling righthander from Belleville, Ark., who won 24 and lost 15 for the Braves. That's five better than Feller's final mark of 19-15.

All season long the Braves heard that they didn't have a chance in their own league. Even when they were eight games ahead in July they were expected to "blow." When the chips were down, they had it and they don't figure to be the kind to fold in going—not even against Feller.

Gene Besden or Bobby Lemon.

A long ball has a good chance in the Boston Park where the right field line is only 319 feet away, with only an eight foot fence to clear. In left field it's 337 but the double-decked signboard barrier is about 30 or 40 feet high.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

What causes a football team like Odessa to maul Big Spring year after year? Does it lie in the coaching, the fruits of an all-out recruiting system or the fact that the pessimistic attitude of the homelings is always leading to their own defeat?

Possibly it could be any one or all of the three but it is not probable. Big Spring has had three different coaches, each well schooled in fundamentals, the past three seasons and none has fared too well against the Bronchos.

Charges have repeatedly been leveled against the Odessa team for its alleged campaign to bring in players from other sections but such a policy is contrary to district and Texas Interscholastic league regulations and no such accusation has ever officially been brought before the 3AA executive committee or the league.

The spirit might have a lot to do with the outcome of the games but spirit is born of ability and the talent must be there.

BOYS MUST BE TAUGHT GAMES EARLY IN LIFE

The reasons, then, must lie elsewhere.

Coach Mule Stockton and his aides are reasonably certain they know where the trouble is: Failure to give the boys a basic knowledge of the sport before they attain high school.

The solution is simple, when you discuss it with the fellow sitting next to you in the stands: Start a football program in all the grade schools and keep the boys interested in the game until they have a chance to report to the regulars.

EQUIPMENT, COMPETENT INSTRUCTORS NEEDED

Regrettably, the problem is more complex than that. No. One drawback is a lack of equipment; e. g., footballs. There simply is not enough equipment to go around. Each school yard should be outfitted with not one but six or eight balls, enough to go around so that each athletically-inclined boy could get the feel of the ball regularly.

Some service club or civic organization which would like to see the fortunes of the school's grid eleven improve could help supply the students with the equipment. Their gratuities would be appreciated and could help but have effect in a few, short years.

Another weakness in the local system is a shortage of competent instructors in the grade schools. Lads who have a working knowledge of the sport and who could take the time to orient the little fellows and prepare them for their chores with the varsity are desperately needed.

WE MUST KEEP STEP WITH OTHER SCHOOLS

Practically all other schools in this area have such programs underway. We must rise to the challenge or admit we are being outclassed and seek a weaker level of competition.

In practically all of the those communities where football is emphasized, the coaches have civic groups they can call on for aid and suggestion. Such is needed here.

Perhaps it is time we quit sitting back and expecting miracles to happen. The mentors would doubtless tackle their assignments with renewed vigor if they realized that behind them were live wire organizations designed to promote their work.

The challenge is ours, and right now it feels like a hot rivet.

HOMER WILLIAMS DEPARTS ON TRIP TO BOSTON

Homer Williams is one of those lucky parties who is going to see part of the World Series between Cleveland and Boston.

Homer left via plane last night for Boston on an all-expense paid trip to the baseball classic. He'll catch the first two games of the set.

Williams won the right to the trip by finishing in first place in a sales contest with his company.

RAMSDALL VICTIM

Fort Worth Cats Seek To Even Dixie Series

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association held a two games to one lead over Fort Worth of the Texas League after last night's 5-4 victory in the Dixie Series.

A crowd of 11,553 saw the Barons score two unearned runs off Willard Ramsdall in the second and fall behind, 3-2, in the fifth when the Cats grouped five singles off Pete Modica.

Walter Dropo's two-run homer in the seventh brought the Barons from behind. Ben Cantrell walked and scored as Tommy O'Brien and Ed Lyons singled for the fifth run.

George Wilson's bunt single, Dick Adkins' long fly to left and errors by Walter Fiala and John Legros gave the Barons their two runs in the second.

Fiala's double and Gino Marionetti's single scored a Fort Worth run in the second and Manager Bobby Bragan's single drove in Homer Matney and Dee Fondy in the fifth. Fondy scored again in the ninth on a single by Marionetti.

Comiskey May Hire AA Prexy

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Comiskey Family is expected to continue its organizational house cleaning of the last-place White Sox by appointing Frank Lane, American Association president, as general manager.

Sources close to the club's front office said official announcement will be made Thursday or Friday that Lane has succeeded Leslie M. O'Conner, Charles Comiskey II, 22-year-old secretary of the White Sox and only grandson of the club's founder, "The Old Roman," is ticketed for vice president under the new deal.

Comiskey eventually will become president, succeeding his mother, Grace Comiskey, under stipulations made by his grandfather before his death.

Despite well founded reports of the shakeup, which started Sunday by the resignation of Manager Ted Lyons and appointment of Jack Onslow to replace him, young Comiskey was non-committal.

Robert E. Hoey, sports editor of the Ohio State Journal in Columbus, the American Association's headquarters, reported Lane had signed a five-year contract with the White Sox for an annual salary of $30,000. He quoted a "highly authoritative source" as informant.

Williams Wins Batting Title

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Ted Williams, counting one hit, a single, in four trips during the Boston-Cleveland playoff, took his second straight American League batting crown with .369.

Cleveland's Lou Boudreau was second with .355 after gaining three points in the dramatic extra game with four for four. Williams lost one point.

The playoff statistics were included in the season's averages.

Dale Mitchell of Cleveland took third place with .335 after losing two points in the playoff. He had a six point edge over fourth-place Al Zarilla, St. Louis. Bill Goodman also dropped two points to .311.

Leaders of the specialized departments:

Joe DiMaggio, New York, with 39 homers and 156 runs batted in.

Tommy Henrich, New York, runs scored 140, and 13 triples which tied with Washington's Ed Stewart.

Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, hits, 207, and stolen bases, 28.

Williams, doubles, 44.

The league's only 20 game winners were Cleveland's Gene Bearden with .207 after victory in the playoff; Detroit's Hal Newhouser with 21-12 and Cleveland's Jack Lemon with 20-14. Boston's Bob Kramer had the best won-lost percentage with 18-5 for .783.

Tribesman Bob Feller won 19 games, and captured strikeout honors with 164.

Farmer, Hodges Winners At CC

J. R. Farmer and Lois Hodges were the winners in the weekly putting tournament staged at the country club last night.

Farmer finished with a 68 to win the men's division. He finished one stroke ahead of Sam Heimer and four ahead of Earl Reynolds and Dr. J. E. Hogan, who tied for third.

Reynolds was ultimately declared the winner of third place.

Mrs. Hodges carved out a 75 to earn the blue ribbon in women's play.

Nevada Aerial Ace Nation's Leading Gainer

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Stan Heath of Nevada, who went on an aerial spree against San Francisco last Saturday, is the new individual offensive leader among the nation's college football stars.

The Nevada quarterback held the No. 1 spots in both forward passing and combined yardage gained by running and passing in the weekly statistics announced today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

In two games, Heath has completed 34 passes in 60 attempts for 611 yards and picked up an additional 25 yards on four running plays.

His total yardage of 636 is far ahead of his closest challenger, Lindy Berry of Texas Christian, who, like most of the leaders, had appeared in three games.

Berry has gained 466 yards on 68 running plays and 17 passes out of 44 attempts. His 107 plays in three games make him the hardest working back among the major colleges to date.

The season's best all-around performance in a single game was turned in last Saturday by Charlie Justice of North Carolina, who carried the ball 21 times for 106 yards and completed 13 of 22 passes for 198 yards in leading the tar heels to a 21-14 victory over Georgia.

He also returned three punts 125 yards, ran back one kickoff 20 yards, punted four times for a 42.5 yard average and scored three touchdowns.

His efforts brought him from nowhere into fourth place among the total offense leaders, behind Heath, Berry and Clyde Scott of Arkansas, who has accounted for 443 yards in three games, a dozen more than Justice. The Carolina star also is sixth in passing and third in punting.

Fred Wendt of Texas Mines, last week's leader in both rushing and total offense, clung to the top spot among the ball carriers although idle, but Scott closed in on him by picking up 140 yards in 17 plays against Arkansas.

Wendt has covered 367 yards and Scott 340, followed by Jackie Jensen of California with 322 and Walker Jones of Wyoming with 308.

Jim Finks of Tulsa hit 15 of 26 passes for 179 yards against Florida to climb into second place behind Heath among the passers with 26 completions in 44 attempts.

Rudy Ruppe of Oregon State leads the pass receivers, having caught 14 in three games, but Jim Powell of Tennessee is close behind with 13 catches, made in only two games.

TORNADOES' BIG GAME

Rose's Kicking May Decide Lamesa-Big Spring Game

If kicking will swing the tide of fortunes, the Lamesa football Tornadoes should hold a decided edge over Big Spring in their 'big game' there Friday night.

Punting has been one of the local team's big weaknesses all season. In contrast, the Tornadoes have one of the finest booters in West Texas in Frank Rose, a guard who pulls out of the line to do the Lamesans' punting.

Rose, a veteran who saw plenty of action against Big Spring here last year, once sent a kick 70 yards through the oomes against Brownfield. He can consistently kick over 50 yards.

The Tornadoes' starting backfield will consist of Art Bizzell, weight 160; John Tankersly, 180; Larry Lattimore, 135; and Tommy White, 145.

Bizzell, Tankersly, and Lattimore all played big roles in the Tornadoes' 6-0 victory over Big Spring here last year.

The game with Big Spring is the top attraction on Lamesa's schedule every season, especially those years when the contest is booked in Lamesa. It is one of the Tornadoes try hardest to win and usually it attracts the biggest turnout of the campaign. They've been pointing for this one all along.

Bob Harrell, Lamesa's new head coach, is a former TCU grid stand-out who coached at Odessa at one time. He's assisted by O. Folis, Joe

Some 600 tickets, half of them adults, have been sent here for sale by the Lamesa school officials. The adult ducats are reserved and sell for $1.20 each, standard 3AA fee. They are available at the school tax office.

Campbell No. 2 Lime Thickness Is 159 Feet

Thickness of the Canyon lime section in Seaboard No. 2 Tora Campbell, eastern edge and sixth producer in the Vealmoor pool, has been announced at 159 feet.

Top of pay has been pegged at 7,783 feet, or 5,165 feet below sea level. Top of the water section at the base of the Canyon (of the Pennsylvanian series) was set at 7,952 feet. The test is to continue to the Ellenburger and now is below 8,200 feet.

On a drillstem test from 7,917-42 feet, it flowed 80.72 barrels in 40 minutes and an additional 15.18 barrels were unloaded from the pipe. This would be at the rate of 99 barrels per hour. A second drillstem test from 7,942-62 feet resulted in recovery of 5,800-feet of oil and gas-cut salt water and 2,000 feet of salt water. Drilling continues. Location is 650 feet out of the southeast corner of section 28-32-3n, T&P.

To the north in Dawson county, Seaboard No. 2 Lee (in the Sprayberry San Andres pool) was reported to blow 9,005 feet in lime. Ray Although, Progress Petroleum No. 1 Parramore, northeast Sterling deep venture, was at 5,634 feet in the Strawn lime, topped at 8,410 feet. Humble No. 2-B Ellwood estate was below 6,448 feet in shale and Humble No. 1 R. T. Foster plugged back from 5,122 in shale to 4,465 feet to make tests and was waiting for cement to set. Seaboard No. 1 Thompson in Mitchell county was below 5,914 feet in hard shale and Skelly No. 1 Moore was at 4,765 feet.

McAlester Fuel Co. plans to spud its No. 1 Bernard Longbottom, an Ellenburger venture in southwestern Scurry county. It is to go for 8,500 feet and will be 663 feet from the south and 670 feet from the east line of the northwest quarter of section 171-97, H&TC, six miles southwest of Snyder. It is three and three-eighths miles southeast of the Sun No. 1 Emil Schattell, a completed Canyon lime opener.

Chinese Abandon Manchuria Capital

NANKING, Oct. 6 (AP)—Long beleaguered Changchun, capital of Manchuria, was abandoned by the government today, a high military source said. Russian planes from the Port-Arthur-Dairen area buzzed American operated planes carrying evacuees from Manchuria, retired U. S. Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's air line announced.

The government was said to have voluntarily evacuated Changchun, where upwards of 200 persons a day were reported starving to death. The city had been under Communist siege for a year.

Changchun's defenders, some 100,000 strong, were reported moving toward Mukden, some 200 miles to the southwest.

In Shanghai, the commercial air line operated by Chennault, famed Flying Tiger leader of war days, said two of its American pilots reported they were harassed by Russian P-39 lend lease planes out of the Port Arthur-Dairen area. No shots, the American pilots said, were fired. The air line did not name the pilots.

Evacuation of Changchun, Peiping reports said, came after President Chiang Kai-Shek of China flew to the north country. He ostensibly went there to try to straighten out the tangled military web that resulted in the fall of Tsinan, Shantung province capital, last week. Evacuation of Changchun, these sources said, was ordered reluctantly by the generalissimo.

Farm Bureau Meet Is Set

One of 13 district meetings of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation has been scheduled for Oct. 14 at Snyder, J. Walter Hammond, state president of the organization, has announced.

C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma, director for District No. 6, will preside at the session.

Purpose of the session, Hammond said, is to bring farmers and ranchmen first-hand information on the immediate agricultural situation and the economic conditions of the nation.

Plans for the Farm Bureau's fall membership round-up will be discussed, and an added feature of the district meeting will be the selection of a district Farm Bureau queen to participate in the state queen contest to be held during the state convention.

Texas Farm Bureau's membership goal for 1948 is 60,000.

Other October district meeting sites are Wichita Falls, Mercedes, Alice, Floresville, Rosenberg, Waco, Groveton, Brownwood, Lubbock, Amarillo, Dallas and Paris.

Grand Jury To Probe Jim Wells Returns

ALICE, Oct. 6. (AP) — District Judge L. Broeter has announced that the next Jim Wells County grand jury will be instructed to investigate charges of fraudulent voting in the recent Democratic primary.

He made a similar charge to the grand jury in a meeting at San Diego, Tex., in Duval County.

Jim Wells and Duval counties are two of three South Texas counties in which Coke Stevenson, senatorial candidate, has charged voting irregularities.

WEST VIRGINIA SWING

Warren Pointedly Ignores Endorsement Of Revercomb

EN ROUTE WITH WARREN TO Chicago, Oct. 6. (AP) — Although control of the next Senate shapes up as a crucial factor in the present campaign, the top GOP "Team" gave pointed indication today of coldly snubbing the hard-pressed candidacy of West Virginia's Republican Sen. Chapman Revercomb.

The quiet but long-smouldering differences between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and the West Virginian were reflected with hard clarity today in the wake of Gov. Earl Warren's campaign swing yesterday through preponderantly Democratic West Virginia.

A Charleston audience, filling the Charleston municipal auditorium to about two-thirds of its 4,000 seating capacity, gave enthusiastic attention to an attack on monopolistic "road hogs" and a demand for economic traffic enforcement by the GOP vice presidential candidate. But it waited in vain for an endorsement of Revercomb's candidacy although it had cheered mention earlier of his name and applauded his glowing introduction of the Californian.

The night rally capped a day in which Warren all but ignored Revercomb during train-side stops, at which he nonetheless called for election of a Republican Congress to back up a Dewey administration next January.

Though Revercomb appeared with him on the rear platform of his special train, Warren ignored him in Clarksburg. At two other stops he stated simply he was glad to see him on the train. At Parkersburg, Warren asked West Virginians to elect "a Republican senator."

It was not until the final stop of the day before reaching Charleston—at Point Pleasant—that the No. 2 GOP candidate told a small crowd he considered Revercomb a "valued member" of Congress and that he held "a tremendously important position" as chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee.

Coolness between the GOP "team" and Revercomb has its source in differences arising between Dewey and the West Virginian at the last special session of Congress.

TRUCKER A LITTLE SURPRISED AT INHERITING CANADA FORTUNE

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 6. (AP) — A 52-year-old Scranton truck driver says he has inherited from a little known uncle in Canada an estate consisting of $363,000, a 14-room mansion and a hunting and fishing lodge.

The truck driver, Walter Pearson, said yesterday he was named sole heir of an uncle bearing the same name who died in Montreal, leaving the money, the mansion in Montreal and the lodge on the shores of Lake Ontario.

Pearson said last June a man who said he represented the law firm of Mackenzie and Mackenzie in Montreal came to Pearson's home, and asked the truck driver if he ever had an uncle in the Canadian city.

"I told him I did," Pearson said, "and he told me I would hear from him later."

Subsequently, Pearson said, he was informed that he had inherited his uncle's estate. The uncle, a bachelor, had gone to Canada about 80 years ago, Pearson said, and made his fortune in the brewing business.

In Montreal, however, reporters were unable to locate anyone who had ever heard of a brewer named Walter Pearson. There is no law firm of Mackenzie and Mackenzie listed in the Montreal directory.

"I really can't tell you why I was left all of the money," Pearson said, "but the lawyers up there agree that it's probably because I have the same name as my uncle."

"I guess you would say I was a little surprised," he added. "I'm going to keep on working."

Corpus Christi Man Charged In Death Of Young Daughter

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 6. (AP) — Ernest D. Gonzalez, 28, has been charged with murder in the death of his two-month-old daughter, Rose Ann Gonzalez.

The baby was found dead in its crib late Monday. Justice of the Peace B. A. Carter said death occurred after the child was squeezed about the body by hands.

Wallace Will Speak Twice

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6. (AP) — Presidential Candidate Henry Wallace, fresh from a verbal assault on what he called the "bipartisan octopus," today covered the strikebound waterfront and planned two speeches.

The Progressive party leader was expected to talk here on foreign policy before the Commonwealth Club and on the CIO longshoremen's strike tonight at the civic auditorium after a tour of the dock areas.

Last night in Sacramento it was Wallace versus the "octopus." He carried the "octopus" theme throughout his address. He defined this creature as the corporate "greedy power" that stands between the common man and the "promise of abundance."

He said the octopus "is a bipartisan animal. He has one arm curled affectionately around the neck of the elephant and a firm grip on the donkey's tail."

He denounced the octopus as a monster that grabs wealth, engages in "red-baiting" and "spy scares," smashes labor unions, keeps prices high, and wages a "cold war."

The crowd at the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium was estimated by police at 1,700. The hall holds 4,444. The audience cheered Wallace.

John Loftus and Fred M. Messmer were in Brownsville yesterday after a tour that has taken them from Washington to the West Coast.

At the Brownsville meeting, Ed Shaughnessy of Washington, special assistant to the commissioner of immigration and naturalization, discussed the need for revision in present immigration quotas. He said more technicians and scientists should be allowed to enter the U. S.

Martial Law Is Tightened Inside Peru

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 6. (AP) — Military authorities tightened martial law measures throughout Peru today following new flareups in two widely separated sectors of the country yesterday.

Army leaders issued a public warning last night that they were ready to act sternly against any violators of the decree suspending civil rights.

Yesterday's disorders were at Arequipa, near the southern tip of the country, and near Paramonga, about 110 miles north of Lima. In both instances armed civilian bands tried to storm army barracks without success.

Meanwhile, in Callao, port of Lima, where the abortive revolt flared Sunday, order was reported restored after loyal troops forced the surrender of rebellious naval leaders.

Fighting broke out early yesterday in Arequipa when civilians, disguised as soldiers, attacked the salaverry barracks in a suburb called Miraflores. The attackers were routed after wounding one soldier.

The Paramonga clash occurred when civilians attacked loyal troops who were preparing to send several agitators to Lima. After an exchange of fire six soldiers and several civilians were wounded.

The government sent in reinforcements by truck from Lima and announced order had been restored.

Compton Will Head Military Research Work

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP) — Dr. Karl T. Compton has been named head of the nation's military research and development board.

President Truman chose the president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology yesterday to succeed Dr. Vannevar Bush.

Compton, a noted physicist, has been connected with the government off and on since the first world war, in which he served as an aeronautical engineer in the signal corps. He was scientific attaché to the U. S. Embassy in Paris in 1918. From 1924 to 1930 he was consulting physicist for the Department of Agriculture and General Electric Co.

Compton, who has been head of MIT since 1930, resigned the presidency last night to take the government post.

During the last war Compton served on various scientific missions, among them an atomic survey in Japan. He has been chairman of the joint chiefs of staff evaluation board on atomic bomb tests since 1946.

Bush, who has been chairman of the military establishment's research board the past two years, is retiring Oct. 15 to give more complete attention to the Carnegie Institution which he has headed since 1939.

The research and development board provides overall supervision for scientific projects relating to the nation's military progress. Serving under a civilian chairman are two representatives each of the Army, Navy and Air Force.
