THE SOCIETY REALM

Mrs. J. G. Merrill, Editor

One of the nicest things in a long time was Mrs. John Person's reception Thursday from 3 until 5 o'clock. The weather was at its best, the wind did not blow and the sun shone brightly; all during the afternoon throngs of ladies resplendent in beautiful autumn gowns filled the house and partook of the hostess' cordial hospitality. Mrs. Robt. Terrell welcomed the guests at the door in her most gracious manner, while Mrs. Carter introduced them to the receiving line which consisted of Mesdames Person, Hart, McDonald, Eugene Payne, J. T. Harness, T. Q. Mullin, T. J. Payne, Johnson, and D. N. Arnett. Mesdames Bertner, Griswold, Waldo and Brennand were in the parlor also and assisted in the entertaining. Mrs. Blandford and A. J. Payne ushered the guests into the dining room which was exquisitely decorated in chrysanthemums and roses the whole house was fragrant and beautiful with them, but here they were scattered over the table in profusion while bowls and vases on every hand were filled.

Misses Terrell and Rogers together with Mrs. Jim Smith Shropshire, Earnest and J. T. Johnson served the delicious refreshments. There was still more in store. From the dining room the guests were shown into the punch room where Mrs. M. C. Knott, Vivian Shropshire and J. L. Shepherd served delicious mint punch from a bowl reposing on a bed of red chrysanthemums. The entire afternoon was a feast of wit, beauty and pleasure, and Mrs. Person's success as a hostess will not soon be forgotten.

Mrs. Shropshire entertained pleasantly and delightfully last Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Vivian Shropshire and Mesdames Hart and McDonald of Missouri. The hostess received the guests at the door and introduced them to the guests of honor who composed the receiving line. Mesdames Adams, Bailey, Earnest, Waldo, Bertner and Allen were in the house party and ably assisted the hostess in entertaining. The house was bright with flowers and cheerful fires burned in the grates and a most delightful afternoon was spent by those present.

Musical selections were given by Mrs. John T. Johnson, Misses Blandford, Ruddick and others. After a time spent in pleasant conversation, delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Misses Ethel Majors, Pearl Ruddick, Ralph Dallman, Eloise Shropshire and Jessie Person. 'Twas an afternoon most pleasantly spent with a most charming and cordial hostess.

One of the swellest functions ever given in Colorado was the first open meeting of the Card Club at Mrs. Bertner's given to the husbands and sweethearts of the members. Under the direction of the Club president, Mrs. Bell, the beautiful Bertner home had been most charmingly decorated. The club colors, scarlet and gold, were draped over the entrance hall with a big red heart suspended from the center. In the parlor, hall, library and dining room, cards had been most effectively used as decorations. They were festooned and arranged on cards across the rooms, caught up at intervals with spades, hearts, clubs and diamonds, in their card colors. The scarlet and gold drapery was also fully used over the punch bowl. The arrangement of drapery, hearts, clubs, spades and diamonds was particularly good. The whole house was a blaze of color and warmth. The guests were meet by Misses Isla Wulfjen, Martha Earnest, Maggie Smith and Bessie McMurry, who introduced them to the receiving line, the hostess, Mrs. Bertner, who wore a beautiful black lace gown over white satin. The president of the club, Mrs. Bell, who was beautiful in a gown of Nile green chepe-de-chine. The secretary and treasurer of the club, Mrs. Radford, who was most becomingly attired in golden brown aeolian. After the greetings the guests were shown into the dining room where punch was served by Miss Mitchee and Rountree. Then the score cards were passed by the young ladies. They were beautiful playing cards tied with the club colors, with clubs, spades, hearts and diamonds in miniature to mark the lone hands, and now the real business of the evening began and continued until a late hour. When the last game was played it was found that Mr. Wes Allen by his matchless playing had won both prizes, a beautiful bust of Mozart and a stein were presented by Mrs. Bell with an appropriate little speech to which Mr. Allen replied in his happy manner. Delicious refreshments of chicken salad, olives, sandwiches, bread, butter and coffee were served and the card club dispersed to hold its regular meeting Thursday with Mrs. V. D. Payne. In the meantime it will live over individually the pleasures of its first open meeting.

The Hesperian Club held its meeting last Friday with the Misses Drv. The regularly appointed program was given and a most pleasant and profitable afternoon spent. The social hour was enlivened by the presence of Mesdames T. H. Roe, T. Q. Mullin, and Johnson. Delicious pressed chicken, wafers, pickles, coffee and cake were served by the hostesses. The meeting next Friday is with Mrs. Radford.

FRESHMAN EXCURSION TO SEVEN WELLS SATURDAY

Thru the kindness of Howard Hookers and John Whitten, a large number of students and three teachers were transported last Saturday to Seven Wells. The two big black teams had about all they could do to pull the merry crowd thru the sandy roads. Several buggies brought up the rear, and altogether it was a jolly procession that wended its way to Seven Wells.

The trip was not only pleasurable but instructive for the entire class took a geology lesson on the surrounding rock formation. And as the lesson was something out of the ordinary, the abnormal curiosity of the Freshmen seemed to be fully satisfied.

It was a memorable day for the students. They climbed rocks, gathered red berries, sang merry songs, drank copiously from the famous wells, and at last rested under the shade of the trees, where they partook of an excellent lunch. The girls prepared the lunch, and during the dinner hour the young men of the crowd were treated with great deference.

After a day of a full round of pleasure, each student took his seat in the bottom of the big wagon to jolt his way homeward.

It is enough to say that each enjoyed himself to the fullest extent, and still stayed on his good behavior, and just as the sun was hiding himself behind the western horizon, the merry excursionists reached Colorado.

Mesdames Hart and McDonald of Missouri, who have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Payne, left Tuesday night for home.

Mrs. and Miss Rix of Big Springs are visiting Mrs. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Payne, after a visit to the home folks, have returned to their home in Garza county.

Mrs. M. Phelan, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Landers, returned home Tuesday.

AND THEN IT SNOWED

Up to Sunday morning the fall weather had been mild as a lamb and gentle as a spring zephyr. The wood yard philanthropist had begun to regret his piles of useless fuel and the merchant repent his heavy investment in winter goods. Corydon gave little thought as to whether the Lord, the merchant or his father would provide an overcoat, while Phyllis switched gaily around in drop-stitch hose and peek-a-boo, waist with elbow sleeves. No one anticipated a norther until it came, and then everybody had been expecting it just when it came, as was proven by the fact that nobody was prepared for it when it came. But it came all right Sunday morning, in the good old regulation style, and kept coming until Monday about noon. At six o'clock Sunday morning Old Boreas began to breathe a frigid warning to the improvident, who began to wonder what they had done with their summer earnings. By 10 the old gent was whistling a rag time tune as people went to church in great coats, wraps and furs. By noon he was blowing great guns and raining, the cold increasing hourly. A slow freezing rain began in the night which later turned to snow and continued until Monday noon. Roaring fires were in demand and the wood man and stove dealer jig-stepped as they took in the shekles and wondered how poor folks got along during cold weather.

ARTISTS ENTERTAIN

Quite a treat was accorded the music lovers of Colorado last Thursday evening at the opera house. About 200 citizens for two hours listened with wrapt attention to a program of classical music, rendered by three genuine artists. Piano-violin and voice—a combination indeed to please even the most varied fancy. To lovers of the art divine there is nothing more pleasing, so satisfying, as to sit and listen to a piece of music exquisitely rendered.

When it was announced that Miss Viola Henry had secured for Colorado Messrs. Magee, Wylie and Gilbert, we all expected something good. Clarence Magee, tenore robusto; Ralph Wylie, violin virtuoso, and Harry M. Gilbert, pianist, are surely artists in the realm of music.

The first number on the program was by the violinist, with piano accompaniment, "Devil's Sonata," by Tartine. This, and indeed every other piece on the program, received a hearty encore. It was here that Mr. Wylie first demonstrated to his audience the depth and power of his art. In the varied fantastic trills that run through the piece he imparted to his violin a rhythmic swing and a singing undertone that in very truth suggests devils.

Next came two solos by the tenor, "Creole Lovers' Song," and "Boots and Saddles," both by Buck. Mr. Magee, who possesses a very sweet and highly cultivated voice, pleased his audience immensely. He responded to an encore with a catchy little Irish love song. Here it was that the range and piancy of his voice showed itself best. He executed several little runs and trills with the greatest ease and touched the highest notes in the piece with perfect surety.

Moszkowski second Polonaise was next rendered by the pianist. Mr. Gilbert's style in this time-worn favorite was full of dash and fire. During the evening he played two pieces of his own composition, "By Sylvian Paths" and "Scherzo," and demonstrated satisfactorily that it is not only in playing some one else's pieces that he is an artist. The program was carried out in full before an appreciative and well pleased audience.

All credit must be given Miss Henry for bringing these three great musicians to Colorado. If they should ever find occasion to give us another entertainment they will find a cordial reception awaiting them.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1907.

There is one place where you can always find money and sympathy—in the dictionary.

There is one howl of the people that the present depression has effectually crimped—the car shortage.

It is during times like the present that the "pore man", with nothing but hope, can serenely contemplate the worry of the well-to-do.

In many counties candidates are already announcing for the various offices. Some of them will have run their race before the campaign opens.

Two inches of "the beautiful, beautiful," and not a line from the young poets. Send it along; we may have read worse, and we have an ample waste basket.

Latest advices state that our new $2,000.00 printing press with all the latest attachments and fixtures will be here in a few days.—Coming West.

Wh-e-e-e-w! Je-ru-sa-lem!

"Country Sees Flurry's End. Money Will be Plentiful Everywhere in a Few Weeks." So read the flaming head lines in a city paper. Thanks; please pass the dish usward.

An Indian at Muskogee, I. T., attended a church lawn party, wearing a suit of sky-blue underwear and a claw-hammer coat and a puritanical policeman felt compelled to arrest him.

The Wtchita, (Kan.) Eagle says: A man in Texas printed a circular in which he calls senator "Baley a liar, a bribe-taking scoundrel and a coward. As yet there has been no exhibit of cutlery.

A farmer can realize quicker on an investment of stock hogs than on any other live stock, and Texas farmers are falling into the idea of diversifying their productions by raising a hog crop.

Hard times develop curious facts. It's surprising how many people have "money in the bank but can't get it out." Go 'round collecting and you'll find people with alleged but inaccessible bank deposits, on whom suspicion has never before rested.

When the citizens of a town are indifferent to the appearances and the standing of its newspapers, they are practically without town pride, and where this does not exist, there's a dead town.

The Dallas and Fort Worth papers paused in their solution of the financial problem long enough to announce that Senator Bailey and Col. Bill Crawford had passed each other on the street, without the shedding of blood.

An old bachelor who had been to dinner in a fashionable house was asked by one of his female relatives about a certain lady among his fellow guests, "What did she wear?" was the eager inquiry. "I don't know, I did not look under the table," he replied.

Syrup! Syrup!

Genuine home made ribbon cane syrup, absolutely pure, at Birdwell's.

Every year the myriad insects which live their lowly life scarce noticed, cost the farmers of the United States more than is required to run every department of the government. The Agricultural Bureau estimates their annual ravages at $800,000,000, while the entire budget of the national expenses is only $570,000,000, including all the grafts, steals and sops from the "pork barrel."

And now Miss Gladys Vanderbilt is announced to be engaged to an Austrian Prince with a hyphenated patronymic of seven syllabic joints, whose pedigree runs back to pre-historic times and is lost in the obscurity and confusion of Darwinian evolution. The most unusual feature of this matrimonial deal is that Miss Vanderbilt is getting more for her daddy's hard earned millions; in manhood, morals and wealth, than any American girl who ever went title shopping.

Commercial men who have recently traversed the greater portion of Western Texas, tell us that nowhere they have been are conditions as good or the farmers as well able to hold out in a "smoke out" game with the cotton consumers for better prices. The farmer, who is the only creator of wealth in this section, is being hurt less by the present squeeze than any other class. This wealth is largely in his hands now; the consumers have the price but want the cotton for less than the farmer is willing to take. The mills must have the cotton or close down; the farmer can probably worry thru till next September without the money for his cotton. And so it is, while the upper and nether stones are pounding each other, the trading and professional classes, who are not creators of new wealth, but depend merely upon its exchange, get somewhat shaken up and pinched.

A vigorous effort will be made by southern congressmen, during the coming session, to secure for the cotton producing section, in times of money stringency, the same sort of relief afforded the business interests of New York and other larger cities of the north. The plan is to make crops the basis of increased circulation at times when ready money is needed to move them to the market. It is believed that Representative Burleson's proposition to have cotton warehouse receipts accepted by the treasury as security for increased circulation, will receive serious consideration. It would be a departure from all precedents, but in the opinion of those who have studied the subject, the government would be as amply secured in this manner as it is now in accepting only approved bonds for circulation purposes. These certificates would circulate as currency and would be automatically created and retired at times and places needed. This plan would increase the circulation of the country each year by exactly the amount needed to handle the crops, and when the certificates had performed their function, they would be retired.

Roosevelt is a man who will go down in history as one who does things, even if they be wrong. But he did but little in that last "bar" hunt.

CHARGES IT ALL TO DEMOCRATS

A good republican friend of ours who closely reads the republican San Antonio paper, clipped from its columns the following articles with request that we publish them, which we do without comment, not that there is any merit in the articles, but for our friend's sake.

It is well known that the National Republican administration caused the panic, and not Gov. Campbell. We admit the 30th Legislature was bad, but we can not blame them with the financial depression. But here are the articles:

According to the Paris Advocate of November 4:

"All over the country yesterday there was a general preaching on the present financial crisis. Many of the divines of the country believe that incorrect living is the cause of the present wild condition of the money situation."

"At nearly all the Paris churches yesterday there was a general discussion of the subject and the opinion of the preachers was that the people should get right before God and then matters would adjust themselves.

"At the Cumberland Presbyterian church Rev. Dr. Manton made a most eloquent appeal for better living and closer walking with God. That gentleman quoted the record of the immortal Joshua and drew out some wonderfully fine thoughts from that source."

And there you are! Doubtless, if the information he generally distributed, that "many of the divines of the country believe that incorrect living is the cause of the present wild condition of the money situation," the financial skies will immediately clear, the troubled seas of finance will at once become calmed and a welcome shower of gold and greenbacks will inundate the land. But just what "the record of the immortal Joshua" has to do with the financial embarrassments of T. W. House of Houston and the West Texas Bank and Trust Co. of San Antonio, is not exactly clear to the lay mind, however illuminating it may be to the ministerial imagination. Now, had the reverend gentlemen quoted the records of Gov. Campbell and the Thirtieth Legislature, the dullest mind could readily have formed the connection, without leaving anything to doubt or to—Faith.

The millions of dollars driven from the state, through the communistic policies of Gov. Campbell and the agrarian enactments of the Thirtieth Legislature have borne their illegitimate fruit, and the unfortunate victims of demagogic rule and anarchistic legislation are reaping the natural harvest of tares and failures.

With the millions of cheap money driven from the state through the enactment of so-called insurance, direct tax, tangible and intangible, automatic, double-acting and other laws, curtailing of currency circulation, increase in rates of interest and utter destruction of public confidence, were but the natural and logical sequence.

Fortunate, indeed, will be Texas and her people, if the virus of anarchy and hostility toward capital injected into the state's business and commercial affairs by Gov. Campbell and his trained automatons of the Thirtieth legislature, work no further and greater harm; harmful and disastrous as has been the result up to the present.

THE DEADLY SET-SCREW

While the attention of the public is being called to the frequent fatalities by rail, explosions; live wires and all the various things that combine with human carelessness to populate our cemeteries, there is one, which tho unpretentious and small, never fails to add its quota to the silent city—the lowly set-screw in line shafting. For the fourth time during the present ginning season we have seen accounts of fatal accidents caused by a revolving set screw catching in the victim's clothing and breaking every bone in them. Being usually close to the wall or floor, the accident is always horribly fatal and done with lightning quickness. The list of such deaths increases with the multiplying number of plants throughout the country, and if the manufacturers can not be induced to countersink the set-screw or employ a less dangerous method of coupling, a law should be enacted requiring it.

SPEAKING OF KIDS

"As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined."—An old saw.

There are a few boys in Colorado who are ripening for the pen or gallows as fast as stone walls and hemp can grow; whose age alone keeps them even now from behind the bars. Lacking the courage to ply their meanness openly, they think the only crime is to be caught. Many parents encourage their children in crime and grease the skids to Gatesville and Rusk, by taking the child's part against the testimony of faithful friends and neighbors who tell them of their children's faults. This they often do in the presence of the child, who knowing that it will be upheld and protected by the parent hesitates at no lie. Curbed by no authority, taught by neither discipline nor example, the child soon loses respect for its parent and will in the end curse him to his face and throw his neglect of itself in his teeth 'Tis then they understand the wormwood of King Lear's cry: "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have an ungrateful child."

Parents who blindly condone the faults of their children and refuse to see their meanness are equally guilty with the child in every sin it commits, besides the added guilt of responsibility for the child's neglect. Your blind infatuation for the kid is its own ruin and the price of your very soul—your "thirty pieces of silver."

If a child WANTS to do disobedient and hurtful things there is no human way to prevent it. You must submit or lock the child up or kill it. You have waited too long. Your father ought to have begun on your child before you were born!

A boy properly brought up by dutiful parents, will not WANT to do these things but will gravitate toward the good—obedience, and eschew evil.

When a man thinks more of making a few dollars than raising his boy—well, God save the boy. When a mother's ambition is for social distinction rather than her children's welfare,—alas for the children!

When patience can train animals to do anything but talk, so that they persistently do things directly contrary to the laws of their nature, why cannot similar patience, joined to love and prayer, train intelligent children to abhor evil and love the good? It can; it will; here is the warrant for it:—Prov. 22:5; Eph. 6:4; and here too lies the ultimate solution of the long vexed temperance question.

Texas people are taught to believe that railway operation has been highly profitable, or at least is so now, considering the actual cost of construction. One of the railroad commissioners asserts that the roads "are earning from 10 to 25 per cent. on what it would cost to reproduce them." If this is so why do not the communities which want railways furnish the money to build them, and thus secure double profit—in the increase of their business and land values and in big dividends on their investments? Commissioner Colquitt estimates that the banks of Texas have $100,000,000 loaned at 6 per cent. in eastern and western commercial centers; wherefore he urges the people to "build their own railroads," adding that "the banks of this state can furnish the money."

RILEY PREDICTS PROHIBITION

San Antonio, Tex.—"We are here for the purpose of putting liquor out of the state with our organized force. There are now over 90 per cent of the people of Texas in favor of prohibition. We are now organizing the counties and precincts of the state, when that is done we will go to the Legislature and ask that the matter be submitted to the people, and when this time comes we will sweep every barroom and brewery from the state, as sure as you are within these walls."
These words were spoken by Dr. B. F. Riley of Dallas, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, at the Baptist ministerial convention of Texas, in discussing the report of the committee on the liquor tariff, which was made by Dr. J. B.
Cranfil Saturday afternoon.

Letter to R. N. Gary,

* Dear Sir: Not one man in ten knows whether he's wasting money or not when he paints. It depends on the paint.

With one paint your job will take ten gallons and cost $50 for paint and labor.

with another 12 and cost $60;
with another 14 and cost 70;
with another 16 and cost 80;
with another 18 and cost 90;
with another 20 and cost 100;
with another 22 and cost 110;

Here's an example. Professor Irvine, of the Academy, Merceburg, Pa., painted the floors of his dormitories every year, one year with one paint, next year with the paint of another dealer there—to divide the business there—till Devoe came to town.

The job took 90 gallons; takes 60 of Devoe. The difference, 30 gallons $150.
He didn't know he was losing $150 a year till he got Devoe.

Another example. example. When
Geo. W. Brown, Union, S. C. painted
B. F. Arthur's house first time it took 30 gallons "cheap" paint; repainted
Devoe; 14 gallons.

Yours truly,

A strong and all-important distinction. Is especially designed as a poultry and rabbit fencing, it is sufficiently strong to stop all larger animals. Costs practically the same as the lighter nettings, while in the matter of service and durability it is worth ten times as much.

When a man says he always was sick troubled with a cough that lasted all winter, what would you think if he should say, he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Such a man exists. Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Col. writes: "For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough left me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballard's Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me." Sold by W. L. D. ss

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Austin, Tex., Nov. 11.—The Governor's Thanksgiving proclamation was issued today. It is as follows:

In accordance with the proclamation of the President of the United States, appointing a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, I, T. M. Campbell, Governor of the State of Texas, in consideration thereof and in conformity with law, do hereby designate Thursday, Nov. 28, 1907, as Thanksgiving Day, and proclaim it a legal holiday for the offering of thanks and praise to the Governor of every perfect gift, for the bounties of nature, for the rewards of toil and for the blessings of peace and prosperity vouchsafed our State and Union.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Texas, at the Capitol, in the City of Austin, on the eleventh day of November, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seven.

THE WORK OF VANDALS

Complaints were made last week of the acts of vandalism being committed at the Odd Fellows Cemetery in the destruction of the flowers and shrubbery, and the Record believed it only need to mention the fact to have the depredations cease, as they were likely the result of thoughtlessness. But this apparently is not the case, as the ghoulish acts continue and in a more aggravated degree than before; so that nothing but vicious degeneracy or hopeless ignorance can be imputed to those who are guilty of the desecration.

The noble women of the town have for years taken over the care of the cemetery and have devoted much of their time and means to beautifying and making attractive the last resting place of the dead. To them it has been a labor of love and the least appreciation they had a right to expect, was that the flowers and shrubbery be let alone. If the damage is done by thoughtless boys, their parents should deal with them, but if it is the work of older hands, then the discipline of the law ought be invoked to supply what nature omitted. Patience with this type of meanness is no virtue, and sterner people than our good women will hereafter employ stronger means than moral suasion to stop it. A watch will be kept on the cemetery hereafter and anyone caught molesting the flowers and shrubbery or defacing the monuments, will be prosecuted to the limit for such offenses.

The sheriff, deputy and rangers took up the hunt, but as yet nothing has been heard of the missing man.

Dave Hughes was but a boy convicted of horse theft at Big Springs and given two years in the penitentiary and was brought here until he could be transferred.

Considerable excitement prevailed, as it was feared the prisoner might take another horse with which to make his escape.
