THE GREAT AND ONLY

Big 16 Days Fall Festival Sale

Is Now Going on at A. J. Payne's

NEVER did goods go so fast as in THIS MIGHTY, STUPENDOUS SALE. All former efforts have been eclipsed, all former bargains pale into insignificance when compared with this sale. Never before have we placed our stock on the market at such SLAUGHTERING PRICES at the beginning of the season.

We Are Selling the Goods

And we are getting in NEW GOODS daily to keep our stock complete, so that the last buyer may do as well as the first buyer, if possible, Come and see us during the remaining seven days of THIS GIGANTIC SALE.

A. J. PAYNE

Buy a Home Now for Almost Nothing

Read this Ad Carefully and Come to See Us

We have the exclusive sale of a nine-section ranch which we can cut up into 160-acre tracts and sell on the following terms:

$200 cash, then nothing to be paid for 5 years, except the 8-per cent interest, which is payable annually. At the end of 5 years you pay one-fourth and one-fourth each year thereafter until complete payment is made.

This land is priced at from $16 to $20 per acre. Better come at once, as we are selling from one to three of these tracts per week. This is the best land in Mitchell County and only 10 miles distant from Colorado, the county seat. So you can get a home for only $200 cash. It is understood that all purchasers must move on the land and reside thereupon.

DISTRICT MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

The Big Springs-El Paso Association Hold a Delightful and Profitable Session this Week.

The Big Springs-El Paso District Medical Association held a most successful meeting on the 17th in the Colorado club rooms. This association includes a membership extending two counties north of the railroad from Eastland to El Paso. Under these circumstances meetings are necessarily attended with difficulty, which fact adds greater success and gratification to meetings as pleasant and hospitable as this of the 17th.

The program as published last week was carried out with but few changes.

The papers were thoroughly worked out, interestingly written, and fully discussed. The meeting was profitable to the profession, and through the profession was valuable to the public. Adjournment was followed by dinner at six o'clock, specially prepared by the ladies of the Kindergarten association, who thus contributed a very large portion of the work and interest to which the day's success was due. They and all others assisting are to be congratulated most heartily upon their cordial and efficient co-operation.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President J. H. Preston, M. D. Abilene; Vice-president, W. W. Lynch, M. D. Midland; Secretary-Treasurer, N. J. Phenix, M. D. Colorado.

After the District Medical Association had completed the business part of their program they were entertained at 6 p. m. with a delicious turkey dinner prepared by the ladies of the Kindergarten association and served in Mr. Armstrong's tailor shop.

Covers were laid for twenty-eight, this included the visiting doctors, those of Colorado and their families, the druggists and the ones on the program of the business meeting. Those present were Doctors Davis, outgoing president of the association, Phenix secretary and treasurer, Scott, Merrill, Ratliff, Coleman, Smith, Judge Crockett and wife, Rev. and Mr. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Arbuthnot, Mr. and Mrs. Guinn, Mrs. Homan, Mr. and Mrs. Gustine, Mrs. Phenix, Mrs. Ratliff, Dr. and Mrs. Neal.

At the conclusion of the meal Dr. Davis most pleasantly thanked the local doctors for their entertainment, and introduced Dr. Preston, of Abilene, who invited the entire company to the next meeting of the association and expressed his pleasure at being and his appreciation of being honored by the association. The company then repaired to the opera house where the evening meeting was held. The house was full and an invocation by Rev. Elliott began the exercises. Misses Jennie Knott and Lela Whipkey gave vocal and instrumental selections, also Miss Dupree.

Dr. Phenix then talked on "Tuberculosis as a contagious and preventable disease." His talk was a revelation of the dangers and scientific methods of dealing with this great plague. A committee solicited members for the Colorado Sanitary Association which was organized with Judge A. J. Coe as president. The association adjourned to meet next at Abilene.

All parties knowing themselves to be indebted to Ferguson & Person are requested to call and settle during the dissolution sale.

DISTRICT APPOINTMENTS

The appointments for the Colorado district for the ensuing year are as follows:

Simeon Shaw, presiding elder. Big Springs, W. S. P. McCullough; Big Springs mission, J. C. Carter; Colorado, J. R. Henson; Colorado mission, to be supplied; Camps Springs circuit, J. C. Trice, to supply; Coahoma mission, W. C. Hart, to supply; Clairemont mission, J. M. Baker; Dunn circuit, S. T. Cherry; Fluvanna mission, W. C. Hinds; Gail mission, J. L. B. Cash; Hermleigh mission, C. H. Ledger; Loraine, A. B. Martin; Lamesa mission, J. B. Curry; Roscoe and Loraine, J. G. Irwin; Roby mission, J. W. Childers; Sweetwater station, J. B. Dodson; Stanton, Frank Jackson; Stanton mission, J. W. R. Backman; Semipole mission, C. W. Irwin; Snyder, W. P. Garvin; Snyder mission, A. B. Keen; Westbrook circuit, J. A. Sweeney.

Deacon Ernest Keathley returned this week from the state Baptist convention at Ft. Worth. He did not miss any of the proceedings and there is a suspicion that he did not leave the hall at all. He visited Dallas, and the Buckner's Orphan Home. He reports the time of his life.

BAPTIST CONVENTION NOTES AND MATTERS OF LOCAL CHURCH
INTEREST FROM THE BAPTIST MESSENGER

On account of the thoughtfulness of Col. T. Q. Mullins and the kindness of those who co-operated with him, this pastor enjoyed a free ride to the convention and return. It is indeed nice to have a wide-awake brother on the outskirts to see that nice things are done for a plodding pastor. Thank you, brethren.

Our recent state convention at Fort Worth was great in many ways. The attendance went beyond the 3000 mark. There were more than 2000 messengers present on the first day of the meeting.

The Baptists of Texas raised $130,000 during the conventional year just closed for state missions. The work was laid out at the beginning of the year on a basis of $125,000, but we went $5000 beyond the amount asked for.

The public collection for the Memorial Sanitarium at Dallas was one of the largest offerings ever made at the convention. It reached the $127,000 mark. Seems unreasonable, does it not? But remember Texas Baptists do not do things by halves. Col. C. C. Slaughter started the collection with $50,000.

Just a few days before the convention Mrs. Rameur of Paris, Tex., gave a landed estate of nine thousand acres in Bowie county and $15,000 in cash to the Sanitarium in memory of her husband. Such monuments will live till Jesus comes.

The convention passed strong resolutions against the Dallas Fair keeping open house on Sunday. The resolutions were broad enough to hit turf gambling and Sunday excursions.

The collection for the Buckner Orphanage at the convention was not as large as usual for some unaccountable reason, only $15,000.

The pastor was the guest of Dr. Allridge and his good wife during his stay at the convention. We also enjoyed preaching for Rev. J. M. Dawson's noble flock Sunday morning.

We will take our collection for the orphans on the 2nd Sunday in December. When you make your contribution remember that there are more than 600 children in the home, and that we have there three from our own town.

We visited the tuberculosis exhibit at Fort Worth while in attendance upon the state convention, and heard a very interesting lecture on how to prevent the "white plague." The lecturer had much to say against the use of tobacco in all its forms, and it was the only speech that we heard against this sinful and filthy habit while in Fort Worth. It is a burning shame that a cowardly ministry will let the medical profession take the lead in condemning the tobacco habit.

The denominational press has been saying some nice things about Colorado Baptists, as may be noted in the following clippings.

Rev. Holmes Nichols of Colorado City is one of the most successful and happiest pastors in Texas. He has a great church and is doing big things in the west. — Baptist Standard.

Colorado Baptists are inaugurating a new move that promises to be of great help in a certain line. Their Onesiphorus Band has started a fund known as the "Helpers' Fund" of $100 to help in cases of need. The whole church is going to add to it, thus having a charity fund always at hand. — Western Evangel.

The city of Colorado is aware that the Baptist church of which Holmes Nichols is the pastor is in existence. Doubtless they have the best Sunday school to be found anywhere in the west, under the management of Robt. M. Webb. In all the work of the Kingdom does the church have a part. — Western Evangel.

PAPER FROM CORN STALKS

The chemists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have at last solved the problem of how to turn into paper the millions of tons of corn stalks wasted annually. After years of experiment, the department now reports that the vast quantity of material heretofore considered valueless and destroyed every year by the farmers of the country can be utilized, thus saving much of the wood reserve of the United States and bringing about the manufacture of paper from an annual crop.

The first practical samples of this new paper were manufactured in Washington, and consists of five grades in five colors. One grade is dark gray, thick and heavy, resembling parchment. There is a lighter grade of the same character, two shades of yellow and one of white. The latter are manufactured from the hard outside part of the cornstalk, and the former from the interior or pith. The yellow grades have much longer fibre, and resembles paper made from cotton rags or linen, being soft to the touch and pliable, and appearing to have been made from material of entirely different character from that used in the yellow product.

The belief is freely expressed by the scientists who have been conducting these experiments that when proper machinery is brought out, and the farmers grow cornstalks in localities where they can be moved cheaply to the mill, the cost will be fully fifty per cent less than paper now manufactured from wood.

No special growth of corn is required, as the experiments have shown that any kind will answer the purpose of manufacture. The kind used however, was the common Maryland and Virginia field corn, but any kind will do. The discovery is one of the most important of its kind made in recent years, and will add millions of dollars to the income of the farmers, and partially reduce the drain on the forests of the country, besides furnishing an equally good and a much cheaper paper than can be manufactured from wood pulp. — Scientific American.

POLL OF NEXT CONGRESS

The Republican party will, according to present returns from all Congressional districts in the United States, control the next National House of Representatives by a majority of forty-one. The figures so far received show the election of 216 Republicans and 175 Democrats, a gain for the latter party of nine.

The majorities in several districts are reported as extremely close, and it is possible that in a few instances the official count may change the figures given below.

An Interesting Budget of News from our Enterprising Neighbor to the East.

BY MISS IRENE GARLAND.

Mesdames Jake Gregg and W. E. Erwin entertained the D. S. club at the beautiful home of Mrs. Gregg on last Friday afternoon. The rooms were darkened and lighted with red and green candles and decorated in cyprianthems and ferns. Each guest was given the name of a song and requested to illustrate it, and had one entered the room after the work was finished one would have thought this is indeed the palace of fine art. A prize was offered to the lady who could guess the largest number of what each drawing represented and was captured by Miss Mary Gregg, a beautiful embroidered merry widow tie. The guests were then shown in to the dining room where delicious cake and punch were served and each one presented with a souvenir card with a glass of punch surrounded by cherry leaves sketched upon it and bearing this verse:

"The D. S. Club have met to-day
To laugh and sing and romp and play
So may our lives forever be
As bright and happy as to-day."

The two charming hostesses will long be remembered for this delightful afternoon.

Miss Estelle Garland has recovered after several days illness caused by grippe.

The Cross Plains Mercantile Co are at home in their new brick on Depot street.

"Dot, the Miners' daughter or one glass of wine" will be presented at the new opera house on the evening of Nov. 27. The curtain will rise promptly at 3:30. The play is composed of characters every one whose home and interests are all in Loraine and each member will do his or her best to amuse and entertain the audience. The proceeds will go for the I. O. O. F. and W. O. W. lodges. The following is the cast of characters:

PE-RU-NA RECEIVES PRAISE

For Relieving Such Symptoms as Debility, Backache and Headache.

Mrs. Tressie Nelson, 609 North 5th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "As Peruna has done me a world of good I feel in duty bound to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eye of some who has suffered as I did."

"For five years I really did not know what a perfectly well day was, and if I did not have headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going. "A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

MRS. TRESSIE NELSON.

There are a great many phases of woman's ailments that require the assistance of the surgeon.

But by far the greatest number of such cases are amenable to correct medicinal treatment.

A vast multitude of women have been relieved from the ailments peculiar to their sex through the use of Peruna as prescribed by Dr. Hartman.

He receives many letters from all parts of the country relating to subjects of vital interest to womankind.

Of the vast multitude of women Dr. Hartman treats annually, only a small per cent. of them consider it necessary to write to the Doctor at all. While it is not affirmed that Peruna will relieve every case of this kind, it is certainly the part of wisdom for every woman so afflicted to give Peruna a fair trial.

MRS. JOSEPH LACCELLO.

Mrs. Joseph Laccello, 124 Bronson St., Ottawa, East, Ontario, Canada, writes:

"I suffered with backache and headache for over nine months and nothing relieved me until I took Peruna. This medicine is by far better than any other medicine for these troubles. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable, half-dead, half-alive condition."

"I am now in good health, have neither ache nor pain, nor have I had any for the past year. If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

Mrs. M. Kilmer, 3048 E. 36th St., S. E., Cleveland, Ohio, writes:

"I am enjoying good health since taking your medicine. I had suffered for a good many years previous to taking Peruna, and ever since I can say that I do not know what headache or neuralgia is. I can most assuredly say that anybody afflicted with catarrh in any form can be cured by taking Peruna."

THE SOCIETY REALM

Mrs. J. G. Merritt, Editor

The Hesperian club in spite of bad weather held a very pleasant meeting Tuesday with Mrs. Johnson. The lesson and papers were very interesting indeed. An open meeting with Mesdames Dupree, Johnson, Misses Dry and Hallie Dupree as hostess will be held Friday at Mrs. Dupree's when the Thanksgiving program will be given.

"Thanks be to God for winter time,
That bore the Mayflower up,
To pour amid New England's snows
The treasure of its cup;
To fold them in its icy arms,
Those sturdy Pilgrims sires
And weld in iron brotherhood
Around the Christmas fires."

Roll call. What am I most thankful for.

Saturday afternoon a few of Mrs. J. B. Annis' friends surprised her by calling to see her on business, each carrying a dish to be used in her new kitchen which has lately been completed. There were pans, kettles, spoons, and baking dishes all ready for their new home. The hostess soon made some hot coffee and her Sunday dinner consisting of delicious salad, crackers, cranberry sauce and cake was brought out and served most temptingly to her guests. It was a delightful party for all who were present.

Junius Merritt entertained a few of his school friends Saturday night in honor of Ethel Dodson. The usual good time was had by these youngsters who were only warned by the near approach of Sunday that it was time for the party to break up. A salad course, and tea were served by Mrs. Merritt during the evening.

The Tuesday Study club enjoyed a lovely meeting Monday at Mrs. Gross', the day being changed on account of the dinner the kindergarten ladies served the doctors Tuesday evening. The program was very interesting and all had fine papers. The club with many regrets accepted Mrs. Griswold's resignation on account of her leaving town. This left the office of president vacant and an election was called. Mrs. Merritt was made president, Mrs. F. B. Whipkey, vice-president, Mrs. Bass was continued as secretary and treasurer and Mrs. Collier as parliamentarian. Mrs. Griswold was made an honorary member of the club. She and Mrs. Smoot being the two to whom the club has given this honor. Mesdames A. L. Whipkey, Broaddus and McDonald were appreciated visitors. At the close of the program a delicious salad course were served by Mesdames Gross and Whipkey. The club will meet next Tuesday with Mrs. Whipkey.

Mrs. Bailey was hostess for the Whist club Wednesday and a lovely afternoon spent by the members and guests.

Mrs. A. J. Payne entertained the 21 club Wednesday in her most hospitable manner. At the close of the game delicious chicken salad with crackers, coffee and pickles were served, this was followed by a fruit salad and cake and this by mints. Mrs. Bass will entertain the club next week.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES

The Union Thanksgiving service will be held at 11 a. m. on Thursday 26th at the Baptist church this year and Bro. Bond will preach the sermon. There will be a special program, and the pulpit will be prettily decorated with the fruits of the harvest. It is hoped that we the town, or as many as feel they have reason to be thankful for the years blessing will be there. Following is the program:

Opening Hymn—"Come ye Thankful People, Come."—United Choirs.

Hymn. "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" by united Choir and Congregation.

Prayer.—Bro. Nichols.

Reading Scriptures.—Bro. Elliott.

Presidents' Proclamation.—Rev. J. T. Henson.

The HOG is not a Cleanly Animal

Did you know that nine-tenths of the lard you buy is made from "any old" part of the hog, according to the public admission of the leading lard packer? Why, then, under the sun will people who are otherwise particular about their food continue to eat lard-soaked dishes? No matter how temptingly they are prepared, if they contain lard they are sure to cause future trouble.

Cottolene is not only purer than lard, being a vegetable product containing no hog fat, but it is more economical, more palatable, more wholesome.

If you care for your health you cannot afford to longer take chances with lard.

COLORADO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1908

Fifty-two per cent of the children of Texas are out of the public schools.

President Neil of the Farmers' Union places the Texas cotton crop at 3,000,000 bales.

The dispatches say that the negro lynched at Biloxi, Miss., has what satisfaction there is in being hustled off by an "orderly mob."

A son of Henry Waterson, who was a brilliant young lawyer of New York City, fell from the ninth story of an office building in that city last week and was instantly killed.

Even Sweetwater has figured it out that it is also the "logical metropolis of west Texas." We trust the deduction of the Reporter has no parallel in those "logical" candidates for the presidency and rises in the cotton market which never materialize.

The Cubans have had another election and will try again at opera-buffe government. But the Cubans have learned much during the American occupation, and as the liberal party won out by a large majority, they may be able to stand alone when Uncle Sam withdraws his strong right arm.

Galveston, already the greatest cotton port in the world, is looking to still greater prosperity and distinction in the near future. Both the rapid development of the southwest and early completion of the Panama canal will contribute to this end. Texas may in a few years possess one of the greatest commercial centers and ports of the world.

The common people of Texas would like to know the inside history of Pierce's coming to Texas, giving a $20,000 bond, being toasted, feted, and departing with expressions of gratitude for the royal time accorded him. How was his terror of one year ago of coming to face a Texas court shorn of its risk? Did he come fresh from a consultation with our worthy attorney general at Washington with assurances of bond in a "reasonable" sum? The entire transaction may have been as straight and correct as the bookkeeping done by the recording angel, but the common people who foot the bills and think they do the ruling, would like to know.

THE NEGRO FRANCHISE

In a banquet speech before the Atlas Club by Judge J. A. Green at Birmingham, Ala., last week, he diagnosed our political ills in these words:

"When the negro attempts to dominate the white man and exercises political privileges which may lead to preferment, the limit is reached beyond which we can not go. Take from the negro the right of franchise, and you remove the chief cause of friction between the races."

He referred to the visits of President-elect Taft through the south and recalled his words regarding southern negroes and promising fairness and justice to all alike, but saying:

"You can't expect a share in sharing policies of state so long as the south is arrayed against the government."

"These were the words of a patriotic and sincere man," the speaker said, "and they naturally cause us to pause and consider the situation of political isolation which the south occupies today. It is a condition we must meet and remedy."

EMERY MUSICAL COMEDY CO

The Oklahoma City Times says of it. "The best show of the season appeared last night at the majestic. The Emery Musical Comedy company in "Our Little Widow" opened a weeks return engagement. The house was packed and the performance pleased immensely. The chorus was above the average, the musical numbers catchy, and the work of Dainty Phyllis Daye was immense. Her singing and eccentric dancing brought her a half dozen encores. Ernest Pitson clever all round work as a comedian was fine. The singing of the Emery Male Quartette was delightful, and the Italian songs impersonated by Mme. Louisa Bjornsen was well received, and not overlooking the melodious soprano voice of Haysel Coulter. The show as a whole is good and deserves a large patronage.

The above company will appear at the Colorado opera house for two nights and Thursday matinee on Thursday and Friday nights Nov. 26 and 27. Special engagement of Leo Adde comedian for the Texas tour, Mr. Adde is late of the Olympia Opera Co. and also for the past three summers with the White City opera company of New Orleans.

BIG SPRINGS AGAIN VICTORIOUS

On last Friday two closely contested games of basket ball were played in this city and thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd. The contestants were the young ladies basket ball team of Colorado and the girls basket ball team of the high school. The first game proved the most interesting and resulted in a score of five to six in favor of Big Springs. The second game also went to Big Springs and the score stood 6 to 10.

About fifteen visitors including the team in charge of Prof. McDonald came from Colorado.

The visitors were tendered a royal reception here and they also made many friends during their stay in the city. Nothing occurred to mar the contest and a return engagement is urged.

The girls basket ball of the high school have thoroughly demonstrated that they can play the game as they had a string of victories to their credit last year and have made a good record so far this year.—Big Springs Herald.

TWO FIRMS SELL SAME RANCH

A suit involving the sale of about 30,000 acres of land which sold for approximately $175,000 is on trial before Judge Tom Simmons in the 67th district court. The title of the case is C. S. Knott vs. W. Godair et al, and involves the sale last fall of the famous Godair ranch.

The suit is over the commission on the sale of the property, which was listed with two real estate firms, the Bob Pyron Land company of this city, and C. S. Knott of Colorado City. From the testimony brought forth, each must have sold the property at about the same time. Higginbotham Bros. & Harris purchased the property from the local firm. C. S. Knott claimed that the owner had notification by telegraph of his sale to another party, he being one of the would-be grantees, before the deal was consummated by the local firm. The commission on the sale amounted to $7,000.

Later advices are to the effect that C. S. Knott lost the case, the judge ruling that when an agent becomes a purchaser, he forfeits the commission as agent.

Entertainment of Central West Texas Commercial Clubs is Perfectly Arranged.

COMMITTEES COVERING EVERY DETAIL OF THE PROGRAM ARE NAMED AND WORKING

Much Other Important Business Was Transacted Monday Night—Rural Routes and Peanut Factory Were also Discussed.

Quite an enthusiastic meeting of the Colorado Commercial Club was held at the Fire House hall on last Monday night. A number of representative citizens were present, but not as many as the club would wish to have had.

The object of the meeting was explained by President Robt. M. Webb to be the entertainment and taking care of the convention of the Central West Texas Commercial Clubs which meet in Colorado December 8th, composed possibly, of more than one hundred delegates. These will be representative business men from some forty west Texas towns, as far east as Cisco and west to the Pecos, and Colorado must entertain them in a manner befitting the importance of the interests they represent.

Financing the arrangements was the first question to be considered. A strong committee composed of Brook Bell, (Chr'n) J. E. Hooper, R. H. Looney, P. A. Hazzard, and John T. Johnson, was raised to secure the money to defray the expense of the entertainment. The money so raised will be used solely in the offices of hospitality, so when you are solicited by the committee, subscribe as if your own hospitality were at stake.

A reception committee was appointed to meet the trains, receive the delegates, escort them to hotels or place of meeting and take care of them. This committee will wear Reception Committee badges, and its members are: W. W. Gross (Chr'n) Y. D. McMurry, W. L. Doss, H. L. Hutchinson, W. B. Crockett, F. B. Whipkey, Robt. M. Webb, J. J. McLure, Samuel Gustine.

The place of entertainment of the visitors was then discussed, and quite a number of suggestions made, the matter was finally referred to a committee to be known as the "Entertainment and Program Committee" consisting of C. M. Adams, (Chairman), Ben Van Tuyl, F. M. Burns, P. C. Coleman, J. L. Doss, Allen Payne, Dr. W. C. Neal, C. S. Knott. This committee was augmented by the ladies' auxiliary committee as follows: Mesdames C. M. Adams, (Chairman), P. C. Coleman W. B. Crockett, Victor Payne, J. G. Merritt, F. E. McKenzie, and Miss Jennie Knott.

This committee is to arrange a program, decorate the opera house and entertain the crowd all day and in the evening. The program as far as is now determined upon, will consist of short speeches, music, recitations, lunches, drives to points of interest, etc. It is a live committee and they will see to it that the visitors while within our gates are entertained as befits the occasion.

This much being arranged, the club went into the discussion of collecting monthly dues to keep money in the treasury. W. W. Gross volunteered to collect the back dues and also the monthly dues hereafter, solely to keep up the club and for the benefit of the town.

With but few exceptions every dollar contributed to support the club, has been returned many fold, not alone in the general improved conditions, but in individual profit as well. Those who pay their dues under protest and believe the club is doing nothing, should attend a few of the meetings and learn what is being done. Of course it were impossible to spend the money just as each contributor thinks it should be spent, but as a rule the combined judgment of the club is a safer guide than individual opinion. Just a few items: Does anyone think Colorado would have gotten the new depot any time soon if the Commercial Club had not taken the matter in hand. The railroad company would have built it only when it got ready, but the club helped the company build it when the people of Colorado got ready. If the club had done nothing but cinch the depot at the time it did, it had been worth all the money, time and trouble that has been expended.

But this is not all. The club has expended $75 assisting the county fix the public roads leading to Colorado. The club spent $57 in erecting hitching posts for convenience of the farmers.

The club was also instrumental in holding the star mail routes for Colorado, which Snyder tried so hard to get.

The club has mailed out more than 10,000 booklets advertising Mitchell county and Colorado. The club has done many other odd jobs of scotching and pushing for the town and county that never would have been done otherwise. It has made "everybody's business," which is nobody's business, its business, and the only reason the club has not accomplished more is that the members in general take so little interest in its meetings.

The following communication was read by Judge Earnest:

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 14, '08.

Hon. Mayor, Colorado, Texas,
Dear Sir:— I have investigated your city and surrounding country relative to location for a peanut factory. We want to move our factory to some location in southwest Texas, where we expect the farmers to raise a large acreage and will ourselves put in not less than 1000 acres in peanuts. To carry out this work, we propose to issue $50,000 worth of 8 per cent, ten year bonds, guaranteed by a substantial bonding company, and will ask if your citizens will subscribe at least $5000 worth of these bonds? In so doing they will establish confidence and it will be an easy matter for me to sell the balance. Hoping through you to reach the proper parties, we remain, Yours very truly,

C. E. BASSANO.

Mayor Earnest explained that this was a large factory at Paris, Texas, and that it wanted to move here. He has written to several business men at Paris about the reliability of the concern, and the club referred the matter to him as a committee of one. He will report the result of his investigation to the club at a future meeting.

Mr. Bassano came to Colorado about six weeks ago and went over the country on a tour of investigation. He was so favorably impressed that he now wishes to locate his factory here, and should it be done, 1000 acres of shinnery land would be needed for the planting of peanuts.

Mr. Hazzard then explained to the club the good it had done in retaining the star routes, and announced that the Winston star route was to be discontinued on December 28th, and that Colorado must secure a rural free delivery out to Winston, which can be done if a few farmers on the route could be induced to open a few lanes, which end could be attained by a live committee. As such committee Postmaster Hazzard and J. R. Hastings were named, with instructions to proceed to work this week.

The club is alive to the interests of the town and is in better position than ever to do more efficient work for the town. But its hands must be upheld and its efforts encouraged, at least by not laying upon its already heavy load, the weight and handicap of adverse criticism. To criticize is the cheapest and easiest thing in the world. Those on the outside and the members who never attend its meetings, see only the net results of the club's work. They see nothing of the many impediments and friction it must meet and overcome. When some member volunteers to drop his business and put in a day or two of time (just as valuable to him as your time is to you), collecting subscriptions, he is met by stinging criticisms, grumbings, payments under protest, threats of quitting, broad insinuations of graft, waste of money, nothing accomplished, etc., etc. It is a thankless task when every subscriber cheerfully pays and bids the club "good speed," but when the collector is made to feel like he is taking unwilling tribute with a club, the wonder is that anyone volunteers on the job at all.

Let's quit this "sulking in our tents" and if the club is not being run right, let's make it a civic duty to attend every meeting hereafter and take a leading part until the thing is run right—run just as we think it should be. Let's push awhile, instead of riding on top the load the other fellow is pulling. And finally, brethren—when Mr. Gross comes around for your dues, pay him promptly and wish the enterprise success, for it can't accomplish anything without helping you. If not a subscriber now, put your name down and gladden his heart with a generous subscription. The Colorado Commercial Club is all right!

DOCTOR DULANEY'S HENNERY

Our friend, Dr. B. F. Dulaney is trying the poultry business on a large scale. He is having houses built, pens for the different breeds erected and subscribed for several poultry magazines and as a poulturer is fast coming to the front. He will start with 2000 hens and 4 large incubators and a considerable investment of money. Later on he will have his large profits augmented by a varied and valuable experience.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES

The services on next Thursday, will be a union meeting under the auspices of the Presbyterian Brotherhood, and will be held at the Baptist church at 11 o'clock a. m. An interesting program has been prepared and short addresses pertinent to the day and its sentiment will be made and a collection taken to be devoted to the relief of the local needy. This is a patriotic as well as religious aspect of good citizenship, and a spirit of thankfulness and beneficence should prompt us to share with a generous hand the blessings of Providence, with those less fortunate than ourselves. Come out and bring a friend next Thursday.

THE GENUINE AUTHORIZED VERSION

A special revival of the "Two Orphans" will be seen here Wednesday Nov. 25th, under the direction of Fred G. Conrad with a carefully chosen company of tried actors thoroughly experienced in the great roles of this famous play. The genuine authorized Kate Claxton version will be used, it being the only one that gives a complete idea of the full power of this drama. A complete equipment of special scenery has been supplied which will permit the entire production in its original strength to be given. The management through its agreement with Miss Claxton, has secured the great benefit of her many years experience in the part of the blind girl, Louise and therefore it will be played just as it used to be in detail. In the excellent cast will be found a cruel Frochard of unusual power and a crippled Pierre of the most appealing type, while the Countess, Jacques, the minister of police and the numerous other celebrated characters will be thoroughly well acted.

The Swine or the Flower?

Ah me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty, Wherein a drove of wallowing swine
were barred,
Whose banquet shocked the nostril and
the eye;
Then spoke a voice, "Behold the source of lard!"
I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first One glistening mass of roses pure and white,
With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage
nursed;
And, as I lingered o'er the lovely sight,
The summer breeze, that cooled that Southern scene,
Whispered, "Behold the source of COTTOLENE!"

A FREE CONCERT

On to-morrow night, the people of Colorado will be favored with a select band concert lasting one hour, at noon, and also at 7 p. m. 20 solo musicians under directions of Prof. C. M. Davenport, this being one of the many features of John F. Stowe's "On the Frontier."

WINSTON NEWS NOTES

As it has been some time since I wrote I thought I would give some of the happenings from our little village.

We had last week some awfully cold and severe weather, which will stop cotton picking for awhile tho' there isn't much cotton in our vicinity to gather.

The people in our midst are making preparations for Christmas.

W. M. Mahoney and family, R. Mosley and family visited E. J. Leggett and family Sunday.

Miss Blanche Wemken will leave this week to enter school at Abilene. While Miss Blanche will be missed in our circles, we wish for her much success.

Messrs Bloom and Higin are building on their land which will add much to our locality.

Willie Moore left Saturday for Cisco on a visit to his sister Miss Isabell, we wish him a pleasant visit.

Little Tommie Whatley is out on a visit to his sister Mrs. W. M. Mahoney.

Messrs Kirkpatrick and Gardner from Rannels county are out making preparations to move to this country.

Mr. Johnson and family will move next week.

Miss Johnnie Whatley visited Miss Dee Mahoney.

I will ring off by wishing The Record force and its many readers much success during the Christmas holidays.

The Voice of Gold.

BY IRENE GARLAND.

CHAPTER III.

"Gladys, why have you brought me here?" What can come of such an interview now?" She bent her head as though in shame and answered him. "I do not know, I only know that I am miserable, what is all this horrible wealth to me—I hate it, I hate everything that his money has bought. Majel in God's name why did you not tell me that last day at the spring what an empty dream wealth is. I cannot bear this miserable sham much longer, two months of this life have been like twenty years in a gilded palace. Majel, you know you are dearer to me than anything on earth, my misery has made me bold and I shall not hesitate to speak and you must listen, you shall listen," and Majel saw her start to her feet, saw the nervous fingers clutch the rubies at her breast and snatching them from their resting place, fling them to the floor where the white slipped foot ground them into the carpet.

"Yes, you shall listen to me. I was not born for this life of misery, you must take me away. It makes no difference where, only I must go. You must hear me Majel. I married for wealth, I have it, but God alone knows what I have suffered; you have not been deceived. Take me to the ends of the earth, I will die for you. I must go and with none but you."

Majel stood transfixed. He was so shocked that he did not speak but stood like a statue while she threw herself to her knees and the hot lips burned kisses on his hand. Suddenly he realized what a dreadful thing was taking place and looking her steadily in the eyes and his noble countenance soft with pity, said, "Gladys dear girl, you do not realize what you are saying. What has put all these dreadful things in your mind. You must go back to your husband and never let such thoughts come to you again. I am your friend until death shall have claimed me, but you must not talk to me in this manner again. I may not be as strong again as I am tonight. You are a wife, you pledged your vows, you must live up to them. Come now, dear girl you must go back to your duties. No word of this shall pass my lips. You are not yourself now, and I would not utter one word that I would regret when it is too late. I must leave you now, Gladys remember you are a wife, poor girl, poor girl. I hope God will have pity upon you. Now Gladys good-bye."

He turned and quickly left her presence, left her to struggle back to her senses for she had been almost mad. She calmed herself and within twenty minutes was back among her guests, calm, cold, beautiful but with a crushed heart and a conscience that had begun to know remorse.

Majel left the elegant home and the light snow crunched beneath his feet as he hurried home. The stars above never seemed so bright nor the stillness of Thanksgiving night never seemed so sweetly solemn for he had proved a man, strong in the time of a woman's weakness. The night was far spent when he had finished packing his trunk and laid down to rest, the no sleep came to him and all through the remaining night he tossed and thought of Gladys Stanley. He arose early in the morning and hurriedly getting his business arranged took the first train for the growing west, and friends and things that had known him once in DeKalb knew him no more.

One week later found him on the banks of the rolling Pecos five hundred miles from the scenes of his childhood and the woman who would have given up her honor to go with him.

He plucked a tuft of grass to which the fertile soil still clung and flinging it into the river murmured softly, "There little wanderer, carry a message to old Rio Grande, tell him I am coming and to him I will tell him my secrets. He shall be my friend for in El Paso the city of my destination I have no other friend."

The sun-kissed waves leaped up around the little messenger and the young man waved farewell as it disappeared around a bend in the river.

Majel Grantley proved true to his promise to tell his secrets to the old Rio Grande, and in this majestic stream he found his truest friend. When success sat like a crown of glory upon him the glad river rolled in sparkling waves to kiss his feet, and when over its broad expanse he poured out a tale of disappointment the sympathetic stream rolled on sharing his burden as a friend whose lips were sealed and could not speak of his sorrows to others.

The boy had become a man. Seven times had glad Thanksgiving day come and gone, since he stood with Gladys Stanley in the flower paraded library of her home in old DeKalb, seven years of mingled joy and sorrow had measured their slow length. Success had placed her crown upon our young physician, El Paso the city of the Pass, had opened her arms to bid him welcome, and though far from home he found friends beside the beautiful Rio Grande.

Letters from his mother came at intervals of one week until one day those letters ceased. That beautiful one had gone to the realms of the beautiful where the father had already gone and the last tie that bound him to scenes of childhood was severed and no news of Gladys Stanley ever came to him now. He had heard once that her home was the home of most complete unhappiness; of how Robert Stanley had discovered her aversion for him and in his disappointment had given himself up to a reckless life of drunkenness, and gambling, and his heart ached in sympathy for Gladys, and yet (it was but human) he felt that she was only drinking the draught she deserved. The only letters he received from DeKalb were curt business ones from his lawyers, for since his marvelous success in El Paso he had purchased much valuable property around the town. He had never heard that rumor had put it lightly that Robert Stanley the rich winner of his boyhood sweetheart had lost the beautiful home, had given up everything and the beautiful wife and little infant were turned into the world with no place to lay their heads; for human nature does not handle with tender hands the poverty stricken woman and helpless babe. The man who had promised to love and protect her had broken his vow, had paid dearly for the woman's heart he had bought. Why should he stay with one who loathed him, why should he be responsible for her welfare when she had nothing to give in return.

So one morning when she found herself alone, she was glad. She was glad to take her baby girl and go out to find sustenance for her. She went, and DeKalb soon forgot the brilliant marriage, the elegant receptions and the broken heart in the Fairview mansion.

It was a cold day in November; again it is Thanksgiving. A drizzling mist fills the air and forms little pools on pavements. People hurried along happy, contented, for the turkey and cranberry sauce were ready to be eaten when home, that haven of rest was reached. Dr. Grantley hurried down the street on his way to his office, where he knew patients were waiting. On his way he had to pass a miserable little den which interested him much lately; for one morning he had seen two childish blue eyes and the most wistful little mouth he had ever seen. As he passed the child pressed her face against the pane and gazed after the stylish young man and he had never been able to forget that countenance, for in its expression was a history, and from experience he knew it was one of patient suffering and misery. Each day as he hurried by he had looked for the tale-telling little face but he had never seen her again.

As he neared the house this morning a huge, lean dog ran toward him growling and barking fiercely, but above the noise, he heard something which made his heart stand still with horror; the wailing, terrified shrieks of a child and the blows mingled with muttered curses. He stood transfixed and listened and the noise grew more heart-rending. At last he could stand it no longer and knocking the dog away he ran up the shaky steps and turned the bolt. The door had no lock but it could not be pushed open. Maddened by the tragedy on the other side, he threw himself against it and the rusty hinges gave way and the door fell.

What met his glance gave the young physician strength to do anything. There was the history-faced child in a miserable crouching little heap in one corner of the foul room and it was from her those moaning cries had come. The blue eyes fixed in terror were raised to the bloated, brutal terrible face of a man who held a strap ready to bring down again upon that tender child. Already she had been beaten and kicked till she was bruised and bleeding and almost fainting from pain and terror. When the drunken brute saw Majel he straightened up and let the strap fall to the floor. He staggered forward and thickly murmured, "Usted break me door—por—que—vamos parantha—usted no weina—vamos infernono—weina carre combata usted!"

"Why are you beating that child, you infernal scoundrel?" "You combata usted" muttered the Mexican as he started toward the young man, the scent of the liquor making him sick. Majel caught him by the shoulder and gave him a shove that sent him staggering to the other side of the room. He huddled a moment there, then toppled over and in three minutes was snoring in a drunken sleep.

Majel went over to the little girl who still lay in the corner shivering and sobbing and tried to raise her, but she shivered and shrank and whispered "Please, please, mister don't let him have me, take me and run away, quick, before he wakes. He whips me all the time, but not like this. I think I will die soon."

"Hush little one, and tell me, is he your father?"

"No, oh no sir, he not my papa, he found me and brought me here to sell hot tamales on the street. Mama died and I was trying to find some where to go and he found me. Please, please take me away."

The young doctor was moved beyond expression and he took the child in his arms and started to leave the awful place but she turned and twisted in his arms and he saw she wanted something before leaving.

"What is it little one?" I'm going to take you away."

"Its in there" she said pointing to a kind of closet. He put her to the floor and she limped noisily, drops of blood staining the floor, at every step and returned with something clutched tightly in her hand. He did not attempt to see what it was, but took her in his arms and regardless of waiting patients carried her to the hospital two blocks away and provided for every comfort, instructed the nurse to take the best of care of her till he should learn her story.

The Mexican had a kind of moving restaurant and chile stand and each day had sent the child to a certain corner with tamales. On this occasion he had slipped around to see how she was selling her wares, and had found her sitting on the curbstone, her feet huddled under her dirty little cotton dress, her basket setting beside her. When he came up she started to her feet and the poor little weak voice began to cry "tamales, hot tamales, tamales," her eyes staring in terror at the swaying figure of the Mexican. He did not speak to her then but holding her firmly by the arm carried her back to the squalid den, and the rest has been told.

When Majel left the police station, where he reported the case, he hurried on to his office and one by one disposed of the waiting patients, but all through the day the cries of the helpless child kept ringing in his ears and a startled terrified voice whispered to him "Take me away, mister please take me away."

When the business of the day was finished and again he donned the long overcoat and turned his footsteps homeward he stopped to buy a basket of fruit and with this in his hand, turned into the hospital where he had left the little girl. The nurse met him at the door and he asked to see the little one.

"She is sleeping now, poor, poor little soul, she has been so nervous all day, it has been impossible to quiet her until now; come and you may see her. He followed the nurse to a clean white little cot, where lay the beautiful child, her little bruised figure enveloped in a clean white gown, all the blood and dirt washed away. The young man gazed pityingly upon the little sleeper, as she turned restlessly upon her pillow and muttered, "take me away; please take me away." The young doctor could do no more and he turned away and hurried from the room.

"Do all you can for her and spare no expense in making her comfortable and I am responsible for the bill, when she is stronger I'll see that she has a home." He left the hospital and returned to his rooms where awaited him, comforts which he had not always enjoyed. When he was leaving the hospital the nurse had put something into his hand saying as she did so "she has held this clasped tightly in her hand all day, I took it from her as she slept, perhaps it is yours." He took the little bundle and put it into his pocket and did not think of it again till after supper when he came across it searching for a match, he unrolled it and a tiny gold locket lay in his hands. He pressed the spring and the delicate pensive face of Gladys Moore smiled into his eyes. The face was the same as that of the child except the expression of a happy woman; the same expression which had sat like a halo around the beautiful face of Gladys Moore when she had wandered with him on that July day seven years ago, took the place of the sad pitiful look in the blue eyes of the little girl.

He studied the face and it seemed that those laughing soulful eyes beamed thankfulness to him, that he, her girlhood lover, rescued her child. He wrapped the locket again and sacredly put it away, as he did so he spoke aloud, "Smile sweet face playmate of my childhood; your darling has found a friend and she shall never know more of sorrow or crime if Majel Grantley has power to prevent it." To old Rio Grande the young physician went with the burden of his heart and the river rolled in sympathetic waves till it kissed his feet and the gentle murmur of its rushing was exceedingly sweet and it healed the wound, leaving no whisper from "The Voice of Gold."

THE PAT NOBLE CASE REMANDED

District Clerk Jesse Bullock received from the appellate court Monday the mandate reversing the finding of the lower court in the case of the State of Texas vs. Pat Noble and remanding it for new trial.

This is the negro who was tried for the murder of Ed Marshall and was given a life sentence. L. W. Sandusky was attorney for Noble and appealed the case on nine exceptions, every one of which were sustained. The case will doubtless be tried at the January term of the district court.

SHAKE IN A BOTTLE

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble weather is here and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home made mixture at the first sign of rheumatism or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home and at small cost.

Druggist in this town and vicinity, when shown the prescription, stated that they can either supply the ingredients, or, if our readers prefer, they will compound this mixture for them.

A REMARKABLE OPERATION

A remarkable operation was performed a few days ago at the Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, by Dr. Herbert L. Northrop, dean of that college. The surgical feat was simple and of daily occurrence, consisting in removing a portion of the skull which for years had been pressing on the brain of a man, who had received an injury to the head in early life. Previous to that he had been the soul of honor, temperate in his habits, loyal to his friends, respected and valued by his employers. After the accident his nature underwent a radical change. He began to steal money from his employers, to lie, to cheat, and so great was his appetite for liquor that he consumed a quart or more of whiskey daily. He lost his job, friends, money, self-respect and that of the world at large. He became a chronic offender at the police courts and was sent up time and again to the work house.

Some doctors learned of his case and prior history and suggested an operation in advancement of science. He consented, and in five minutes after being anaesthetized on the operating table, his skull was sawn thru, the brain exposed, and a portion of the parietal bone removed. The man was sent home and his mental, moral and spiritual transformation awaited by the doctors with keenest interest.

It came. The man rose from his bed with the light of a new life shining in his eyes; with a love for humanity animating his breast; with all desire for whiskey gone; with a mental exaltation never experienced before. And the physical change was hardly less wonderful. "It is probable," says a medical writer, "that the startling success attending this case will draw public attention to the fact that pressure on the brain is responsible for thousands of criminal acts as well as personal idiosyncrasies. The matter is not new, but the Philadelphia case will stimulate inquiry and interest in the thousands of unfortunates who are annually consigned to the asylums, penitentiaries and undertakers as being hopeless. Many of them might be amenable to the process of trephining. If the blood does not flow freely through all parts of the brain, abnormality must, as surely as night follows day, result in the individual. And criminality and insanity are abnormalities—they are interchangeable terms."

THE PERFECT WAY

Scores of Colorado Citizens Have Learned it.

If you suffer from backache, There is only one way to cure it.

The perfect way is to cure the kidneys.

A bad back means sick kidneys. Neglect it, urinary troubles follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills are made for the kidneys only.

Mrs. J. R. Owens, farmer living one mile southeast of Abilene Texas says: For several years my husband complained of pains in his back. He could not lift or stoop over without a sudden intense pain darting through him. At night his rest was disturbed by the too frequent action of the kidney secretions. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills he has been an entirely different man and thinks nothing of getting out and doing work now which a few months ago it would have been impossible for him to do. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, Sole Agents for the United States. "Remember the name Doan's—and take no other."

THE NEW STATE OF PECOS

Official of Orient Has Pipe Dream of Partitioning Texas.

The new state movement now being pushed in the famous Pecos valley of Texas, is making headway, according to Fred A. Hornbeck, land commissioner of the Orient railroad, who has just returned from an auto and stage tour of the trans-Pecos region. Said he, "this new proposed state will contain 55,000 square miles, and embrace one-fifth of the area of Texas as the great state now exists. Alpine, on our line to old Mexico, will be the center of this new state, which should be called Pecos, comprising as it does the rich irrigated and undeveloped Pecos valley. El Paso is striving to be the first capital of the new state, and will be perhaps until the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient builds through Alpine, thence south to El Oro. Fort Stockton is another competitor for the new state capital. I was in Fort Stockton a week ago, and it is as pretty a site for a town of 10,000 in three years as I ever saw. The largest natural springs in Texas are located here.

The new state of Pecos comprises all the land lying south and west of the Pecos river, with a frontage of 400 miles on the Rio Grande. It is now a cattle country except where reservoirs have been built and artesian wells dug, then the soil, naturally rich, produces fruit and alfalfa in abundance."

 Sausages must be ripe about now, though we have heard none of our subscribers says a word about their crop. If there is one thing we like better than all else, that particular thing is old fashion, home made stuffed, linked and smoked sausage.

 Big Springs-El Paso District
 Medical Association. His daughter, Miss Gladys accompanied him on his visit to Colorado.
 Remember the date of "On the Frontier," is To-morrow night.
 Many of our citizens, not members of his congregation heard with regret that Rev. B. W. Dodson had been stationed at Cisco by the conference. He has been pastor here for two years and besides building up his church, has been active in every question effecting the moral, and educational welfare of the people of Colorado.

 Miss Mary Akers who lives at Roscoe spent the week here in the interest of Fort Worth Telegram. Miss Akers won a Colorado trip but is now western representative for the paper.
 D. S. Kirk tells a wonderful snake story. He spent last Sunday down on Champion with a friend and upon a rock cliff they scratched around in an old rats nest and killed 18 big rattle snakes, all of them very large ones. This was alright so far but he went on to say that some boys had killed 17 just before that. Kirk tells it in seriousness which is at least a big snake story.

Plenty meal and hulls for local trade at oil mill.

Jim Plaster went to Weatherford Tuesday to attend the trial of the man Clark who killed Ranger Homer White last spring. The case was set for Monday but owing to some irregularity in the venire, it was quashed, and the defense tried to get a continuance, but Judge Patterson reset the case for Wednesday of this week and had a new venire summoned. The case is now on trial.

 Parker county Tuesday to answer charges before the court.

There were no services at the Baptist and Methodist churches Sunday owing to the absence of pastors Nichols and Dodson at Fort Worth and Waco.

W. L. Doss has been my druggist for 20 years and has never made a mistake. This is good enough for me.
 Signed John Doe.

As a matter of information, solely, we would like to know if chewing gum is a part of the duties of the ushers at the opera house. If so, they are never dir-elict. Just notice 'em.

There will be an evening performance only of "On the Frontier." To-morrow night.

In the press notices of the conference at Waco, we notice that Rev. J. T. Griswold, presiding elder of this district, whose four years are now up, was presented with a gold watch by the preachers of the district, through Bishop Key, and Brother Griswold repounded feelingly. Bro. Dodson was appointed on the conference relations committee.
