Strauss Warns Don't Underrate Red A-Weapons

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) says "it is idle to assume that it is beyond the capabilities of our potential enemies to develop atomic weapons with a tremendously destructive capacity."

"It is also a fallacy," he said, "to assume that a stockpile of atomic weapons in our hands is in itself any longer a complete deterrent to aggressive action."

Strauss made the statements in a letter to Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), dated Aug. 19 and evidently written a few hours before Moscow announced that a type of hydrogen bomb had been exploded in a Soviet experiment.

The AEC chairman shortly thereafter issued a statement confirming that U.S. monitors had detected an atomic explosion in the Soviet, on Aug. 12, and that it included "thermonuclear" reactions—the scientific name for the hydrogen fusion process.

His letter, made public today by Wiley, came as members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee who could get here were assembling for a closed session to discuss "current events."

Obviously, the latest Soviet atomic development was the big item on the agenda. Asked to brief committee members were officials of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). It seemed doubtful that there would be much elaboration, for the public, on Strauss' statement of early yesterday, which said the United States had produced in 1951 and 1952 atomic tests the same sort of reaction detected in the Aug. 12 Soviet blast.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), chairman of the Atomic Energy Committee, said "we must assume" the Soviet claim of having tested a type of H-bomb is true, but Rep. Hineshaw (R-Calif.), a member of the group, said he doesn't believe Russia has such a bomb yet.

Wiley, in New York as a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, said Russia and the United States should try anew to reach a basis for agreement on control of atomic weapons and world disarmament.

The correspondence with Strauss was made public by the senator's office here.

Wiley, Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, had written Strauss to ask his views on vulnerability of this country to possible atomic attack, saying many people live in "a fool's paradise" believing that possession of more atomic bombs would prevent an enemy attack.

"The destructiveness of atomic weapons is such that no one with any feeling of responsibility for the nation's welfare and his own and his family's safety can afford to dismiss, or ignore, or minimize the impact," Strauss replied.

Strauss said he agreed with Wiley that "the public generally should know everything that can be revealed that does not compromise military information and that concerns the nature and threat of atomic warfare." He added:

"The public should also have the most thorough familiarity with civilian defense requirements, and the apathy which has characterized this area in past years must be dispelled."

Automobile Driver Dies, Not Hit Child

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An automobile driver died yesterday after his car hit a child.

Phone Strike Meeting Planned For Monday

By The Associated Press
An attempt will be made Monday to settle the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. strike that hit Texas and five other states Thursday.

Both the union and company have agreed to attend a conference in St. Louis, called by the federal conciliation service to resume contract talks.

No other negotiations were scheduled.

The state union director told the 23,000 striking Bell employees in Texas the strike might be a long one.

Slowed down but nearly normal service was reported by company spokesmen. The union asserted "effectiveness and participation is well above 90 per cent over the state."

T. E. Webb, state director of the CIO Communication Workers of America said the "strike went off quietly and smoothly."

Only one incident of violence was reported. At San Antonio, a policeman said a telephone company warehouse worker, Ray Cullen, had a tooth knocked out by a picket.

The picket denied the charge and asserted Cullen must have stumbled and suffered a fall. The picket's knuckles were skinned, the policeman said. No arrests were made.

Frank Loneragan, vice president of CWA-CIO's district 6, indicated the union and the company were fairly close to agreement:

"The union's entire proposal for contract improvement called for a top increase of 7 1/2 cents per hour. The union proposed a minimum from 5 cents an hour to 7 1/2 cents maximum. This would average 5 9-10 cents an hour. The company's offer averages 5 1-3 cents an hour."

Webb said in Dallas, "The workers are fully aware this may be a long strike and are prepared for it."

Ray Acker, Southwestern Bell's division manager, said, "We are hopeful that some settlement can be reached soon and our people will be back on their jobs."

Acker and E. E. Scurgis, division commercial superintendent in Houston, both said there may be some delay in calls placed during rush periods but that the company planned to take them as they came.

The president of the Dallas CWA local, G. E. Terry, urged union members to hunt temporary jobs, but many of the women said they would just "go home and rest."

William White, federal mediation regional director at St. Louis, said no meetings would be held Friday. White said the recess would allow both parties and government conciliators to review the situation.

The utility, which serves 500 towns in its six-state area, has 4,190,000 telephones, 76 per cent of which are dial operated. Local calls placed through the dial phones will not be affected by the strike unless there is mechanical failure.

Near Normal Phone Service Maintained By Local Office

Telephone workers stayed off their jobs here today while supervisory personnel manned long-distance switchboards and other well-maintained almost-normal service.

Clifford Fisher, local manager for Southwestern Bell, said five operators came here from Dallas to assist with placing of toll calls. Thirteen supervisory workers of the regular Big Spring force also were staffing switchboards and operating the company's business office.

Fisher reported all long distance calls were being placed, although there are some delays. Only four cases of trouble in local dial service were reported Thursday and supervisory personnel corrected all of these.

About 125 Big Spring employees of the company left their jobs Thursday morning as part of the six-state CWA-CIO strike against Southwestern Bell. Dispute involves wages and classification of workers.

France's Strike Wave Rolls Back

PARIS (AP)—Non-Communist unions ordered thousands of workers back to their jobs today, the first break in the wave of strikes that has strangled France for 16 days.

The back to work trek was slow. Unions were meeting all over France to discuss the terms of settlement.

The Socialist Workers' Force (FO) and the Christian Labor Federation (CFTC) agreed with Premier Joseph Laniel's government early today for postal, telegraph and telephone workers to end their strike. Other government workers were expected to join the back-to-work movement.

Attempts to put in telephone calls to other cities in France were fruitless. The communications services were not expected to be back to normal before Monday in any case.

On other strike fronts there was little change. Only a few railroad trains were running, though Socialists and Catholics ordered their men back to work.

The Paris subway and bus system were partly paralyzed.

Coal mines were still idle.

A 48-hour strike of metal workers called by non-Communist unions began today. Thousands were idle at steel mills and other factories.

The Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGT), left out of the negotiations, had not yet indicated any end to its walkout. The CGT controls the bulk of the railroad workers and transportation officials said the lines could operate only on a reduced scale without its members.

The agreement between the government and the two non-Communist unions followed two days of negotiations prodded by a delegation from Laniel's own MRP (Popular Republican Movement) party. Despite its anguished pleas, the CGT was not taken into the negotiating circle.

Although only the postal, telegraph and telephone employees received immediate return-to-work orders, the pact also covered workers in the nationalized industries, the railroads, gas and electric service employees and miners.

In a communique early today, Laniel promised to consult interested unions before putting into effect decrees cutting public payrolls and increasing retirement age limits for government employees. He also agreed to have

GPO Official Questions Code Book Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top official of the Government Printing Office (GPO) said today he "would certainly question" testimony that Edward Rothchild stole a secret code and other confidential matter from the printing plant.

Phillip Cole, deputy public printer, also said the GPO has not yet decided what it will do about Rothchild.

Rothchild, 42, a bookbinder, was suspended this week when he refused to tell the Senate investigation subcommittee whether he is a Communist spy, or has ever pilfered confidential material.

Sen. McCarthy's (R-Wis.) investigation subcommittee has taken testimony the past few days that Rothchild, 42, "on a few occasions" pocketed pamphlets "pertaining to military stuff and once from another workman's machine" "a secret code for the U. S. merchant marine." Although no dates were given, it was apparent the time of these alleged actions was during the early 1940's.

This testimony, taken in secret session last week from a former GPO worker, was read in public session yesterday. The former employee was Miss Clea Guess, now a New Orleans shopkeeper whose age was given as around 45. She is the old GPO loyalty board never called on her to testify concerning Rothchild when it held a loyalty investigation in 1948. He was cleared.

Miss Guess, according to the testimony read in public session, did not make clear what Rothchild did with the secret code and other documents she alleged he took.

McCarthy has called the GPO's security set-up "fantastic" and "inconceivable" under new regulations issued by the Eisenhower administration, the GPO again gave Rothchild a clean security bill last month.

The agency's top personnel officials told the McCarthy committee they had received no new information on Rothchild since the 1948 loyalty hearing. They also said that in 1948 loyalty hearing, Rothchild denied being a Communist party member and said he never took any secret documents.

Rothchild was suspended immediately following his own appearance on Tuesday before an open session of the subcommittee. He refused then to say whether he was a Communist, whether he stole a code or whether he engaged in espionage, invoking a constitutional privilege against possible self-incrimination.

McCarthy, meanwhile, moved his investigation to Los Angeles where he said subpoenas have been issued for five persons he wants to question in connection with possible Communist influences at GPO. He planned to resume public hearings here next Wednesday.

Luther Test Unloads Oil

Free oil has been recovered from an unidentified mine in a deep prospector at Luther in North-Central Howard County.

Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil Company, L. A. Tom Spencer, located near the center of the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 14-32-2n, T&P, recovered 60 feet of oil and 180 feet of oil-cut water blanket before unloading for an estimated total of 2,480 feet.

After this, another 130 feet of oil was recovered in the tool. For more complete details on this and other oil news, please turn to page 2.

HITCHHIKER NOT SO NICE TO HER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A hitchhiker she picked up looked like "a nice guy," but he turned out to be just the opposite, a woman pharmacist from Georgia complained to police yesterday.

Mrs. Marion Begg of Hapeville, on vacation, said she picked up a young man near San Bruno.

He seemed "so nice," she said, that she stopped twice en route here for refreshment with him in bars.

He stopped being nice at a corner here. He slapped her face, took her purse and disappeared with her out of the car, driving off in it with several suitcases of her clothes, $67 in cash and $1,500 in travelers' checks, she told police.

Mossadegh Is Held Under Heavy Guard

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—The Shah of Iran, triumphantly en route from exile in Rome, landed here today.

Mohammed Reza Pahlvi, 33, is returning after five days of exile caused by the turbulent events in his oil-rich land. He started his return journey after Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was overthrown Wednesday in a brief, bloody Royalist revolt led by Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, the new premier. Mossadegh, clad in pink pajamas and deeply depressed, shakily surrendered yesterday, and is under heavy guard in Tehran.

The Iraqi Crown Prince, Abdullah II, was at the Baghdad airport to greet the smiling young Shah.

Also on hand were the Iranian ambassador, Mudhaffar Aalam, and other embassy officials, but the young ruler did not receive them.

The Iranian diplomats, beholden to Mossadegh, gave their ruler the cold shoulder when he made a stopover here Sunday on his flight from his country where Mossadegh police were busily rounding up Royalists.

The Shah's chartered Constellation, with 20 reporters aboard, landed after a seven-hour flight from Rome. An army band played the Iranian National Anthem as he descended the gangplank.

He will stay here over night in the company of his "good friend," King Faisal, 38, and personally fly his own plane to Tehran tomorrow.

It was in this plane that he escaped to Baghdad Sunday with three suitcases as his only luggage. He said Queen Soraya, who remained behind in Rome because trying events would follow him "very soon."

Awaiting him in his hand of carpets, caviar and oil were a new Premier loyal to the monarchy, jubilant crowds cheering their 30-year-old ruler and a panama-clad prisoner under heavy guard—shaky old ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

Rome's Iranian colony and legation, which turned its back on the Shah's arrival as a fugitive Monday with 20-year-old Queen Soraya, came out in force to cheer his departure by plane early today.

In a chartered Royal Dutch (KLM) airliner, the Shah and a party of officials and newsmen headed for Baghdad, capital of his own country's next-door neighbor, Iraq.

The young monarch planned to lunch early this afternoon with Iraq's King Faisal, then perhaps fly on to Tehran later today.

Queen Soraya, exhausted and upset by the week's excitement, remained in Rome to rest up.

Also left behind was the Shah's strongest ally, Princess Ashraf. Mossadegh had expelled her because she sought his coronation on the royal power. She hurried from the Riviera to her brother's side yesterday. Last night she told newsmen she might drop in on Tehran later for a visit.

Baghdad had been the Shah's first haven Sunday after Mossadegh's armed forces foiled the attempt of palace guards to enforce.

Scandinavia For Indian Meet Seat

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Cuba became today the second U.N. member to line up with the United States in opposing inclusion of India in the Korean peace conference. Nationalist China came out against India earlier.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The Scandinavian countries joined the growing list of U. N. governments lining up today in favor of India's participation in the Korean peace conference.

Sweden and Norway later told the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee they would support the proposal.

Sweden's Richard Sandler also told the committee his government "sees no reason for Sweden to be a negotiating member" of the peace conference. He was commenting on a Soviet resolution member of the parity.

Sandler and Norwegian Delegate Hans Engen supported the inclusion of Russia in the conference, as well as all the countries who took part in the fighting on either side.

First Bale On Sale Saturday

Chamber of Commerce officials today expressed hope that Howard County's first 1953 bale of cotton will bring more than $300.

The 550-pound bale, ginned last Saturday morning, will be sold at Chinese auction at 3 p.m. tomorrow on east side of the courthouse square. Proceeds will go to the producer, Ernest L. Newsom of Vealmoor.

J. H. Greene, Chamber manager, said this morning he hopes the auction will result in substantial premium for Newsom. He expressed opinion that any farmer able to produce a bale of cotton this year has earned a reward.

A steering committee has been active encouraging attendance at the sale. Greene stressed that anyone who wants to have a part in paying tribute to the cotton grower may do so by calling the Chamber office if unable to attend the sale.

A big turnout for the auction is urged, also.

Members of the steering committee are Curtis Driver, D. W. Lester, R. V. Middleton, K. H. McGibbons, John Davis, Boone Horne, V. A. Merrick, R. E. McKinney and Vance Lebkowsky.

Delegate studied a new Indian proposal, which some said would give Communist China and North Korea a veto over the U. N.'s choices for the conference table.

The new Indian move coincided with a stepup by the United States in its drive to keep India out of the negotiations. U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. announced he would vote against inviting India to the conference table.

The General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee meanwhile kept up its efforts to pick a slate of representatives to sit at the conference. Committee Chairman Joao Carlos Muniz of Brazil said if the delegates didn't hurry up, they couldn't finish by next week.

TEACHER SAYS HE LOST JOB Witness Says He Saw Ballots In Duval County Jailor's Room

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN (AP)—A witness in ouster proceedings against Judge Woodrow Laughlin of Alice testified today he saw what he believed to be stacks of ballots in a Duval County jailor's room Jan. 7.

Ponciano Ruiz of Benavides, rancher and oil field worker, said he was "rushed through the room but noticed the papers on a table to his right."

"They looked like ballots," he said.

Laughlin is accused of making it possible for Duval County political boss George Parr's forces to examine general election ballots by releasing them from court impoundment Jan. 1.

Ruiz was the first witness in the fifth day of the hearing.

He was questioned at length about the papers he saw by Supreme Court Master D. B. Wood of Georgetown, who is hearing the case.

Ruiz testified he was jailed Jan. 5 on a child support complaint. He said the deputy sheriff who arrested him knocked on the jailer's room door on the night of his arrest, Jan. 5.

"They just cracked the door and said we couldn't come in, that they were busy in there."

Two days later, on his release, Ruiz testified, he was hustled through the room.

Wood asked him to describe the papers he saw.

"They were 10 to 12 inches wide," Ruiz replied, "and I'd say—oh, about 16 inches long. There were various stacks of them on top of that table."

More than a score of witnesses remain to be heard.

Robert Leo, Oiltown school teacher, who formerly taught in Duval County, testified five or six persons lost their jobs after they supported the Freedom party, opposing Parr.

He said both he and his wife were fired without notice.

On cross-examination, he was asked:

"Don't you know mothers down there were aroused because you

McCarthy Given Marine League's Service Citation

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Marine Corps League awarded Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) its annual distinguished Service Award last night. National Commandant John O'Brien said the senator was the league staff's unanimous choice.

McCarthy, a former Marine captain, addressed 600 league delegates.

The senator said he "wouldn't be in a position to know" whether any hydrogen bomb information might have leaked to Russia through the government printing office.

The FBI has had the facts in the Rothchild case for years, and the committee has dug up nothing new, the senator said.

Thomas Talks Right Back At Carl

Thomas, a seventy-pound African monkey, chatters something in monkey language to SPCA Agent Carl Lee after a brief, wild life of freedom in Philadelphia, Pa., during which the monkey behaved like a grocery store robber, dodging 16 red car policemen, escaped from a locked cage, rapped the SPCA agent over the head with a piece of pipe, escaped again, led agents and police on a several-hour several-mile chase. Lee had the last word, caught the monkey and locked him up again. (AP Wirephoto).

Grunewald, Woman Found Overcome By Fumes Of Gas

JERSEY CITY (AP)—A man identified as Henry Grunewald of Washington, was found overcome by gas fumes with a woman in an apartment early today.

Police Lt. Michael Mannion said papers in a wallet gave his address as 4100 Cathedral Ave., Washington. This is the address of Henry (the Dutchman) Grunewald, who figured prominently in an inquiry into influenza peddling.

Police said Grunewald, 63, and Mrs. Ann Anderson, 46, were found overcome by gas fumes from two open jets of a kitchen stove, on which food had been cooking.

Both were reported in good condition today. The wife of Grunewald (the Dutchman) was en route there to see the man.

Police Lt. Michael Mannion said, and Grunewald was dead only in underclothing. Mrs. Anderson wore a robe.

Police said they would be booked on a technical disorderly persons charge.

Grunewald (the Dutchman) attracted national attention during a House ways and means subcommittee inquiry into political influence on tax cases in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

He recently was fined $1,000 and given a suspended 90-day jail sentence for contempt of Congress.

A neighbor upstairs from the apartment smelled gas fumes after midnight. The building superintendent broke in and called police. An emergency squad revived the two.

Police said a coffee pot, found over one of the open jets, might have boiled over and smothered the flames. Open liquor bottles were found in the kitchen.

When officers went through the man's wallet, they found a memo to a Washington gallery section—a pass to a reserved gallery section of the U. S. Senate signed by former Vice President Alben Barkley.

In Washington, employees of the apartment house where Grunewald and Mrs. Anderson lives said he apparently had been out of town for several days. He has a summer home at Spring Lake, N. J.

AF Slated To Release 4,000 More Officers

Four thousand additional Air Force officers have been scheduled for early release from active duty, according to the second release message handed down last week from Headquarters, USAF.

The new order brought the total number of officer cuts to 8,600 since the appropriations slash by Congress.

A breakdown shows the latest release order affecting approximately 100 lieutenant colonels, 600 majors, 1,500 captains, 1,000 first lieutenants, 240 second lieutenants, 70 warrant officers and about 228 officers in the medical and chaplain branches.

Only about 2,000 of the officers affected so far, have volunteered for early step-downs from active duty.

This latest order has opened the way for the separation of many flying officers and some with previously desired skills.

It has not yet taken full effect. Future releases, if necessary, will cut into strength the Air Force is reluctant to lose and separate officers not wishing to shed their active-duty status.

In connection with the release, Webb Air Force Base received the following message from Brig. Gen. R. L. Waldron, vice commander of Flying Training Air Force: "Officers who are being released from active duty fall into two major categories: (1) Those who volunteer for release, and (2) those who prefer to remain on active duty but are forced out due to budget limitations."

The great majority of released officers are those who are serving in positions where their releases would have minimum effect on the Air Force's mission. They were chosen by board action at Headquarters USAF and there is no stigma attached to their involuntary release.

McCarthy Suggests Threats To Assure POWs All Freed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said last night the United States should tell Chinese Communists to return every American prisoner "or we will wipe Red China rather than Chiang Kai-shek's government be a member of the United Nations."

McCarthy said he is stepping up shipment of the sinews of war to the enemy that has been killing the sons of America as well as the sons of Britain as well as the sons of America.

"This is the sort of thing which makes it easier to understand the statement recently made by that great American — no longer with us — Bob Taft, when he said we might ultimately have to go it alone," McCarthy said.

"We do not want allies who cringe and surrender in the face of an enemy threat or who lick the boots of the enemy and give him weapons of war."

"We do not want to go to it alone, but if the United States is left alone we may well be on an island in a Communist sea, then we will go it alone — and so help us God, we will win."

Hunt Continues For Hall Plane

A large number of planes have been pressed to the search, but up until Friday morning no trace had been found of the plane missing in flight with Ellis Hall, Texas oilman, and his family aboard.

No word of the plane or its passengers has been received since Monday evening when it left Juneau Island on a flight from Juneau, Alaska to Bellingham, Wash. Beside Hall, his wife and two daughters, of Abilene, Patrick Ilben, Albuquerque, N. M., was aboard.

John Fair, in charge of the Condor Oil Company offices in Abilene and who started out here with Hall, was in Oregon on vacation at the time of the crash. He has gone to the area to keep in close touch with the situation. Fair was bookkeeper for Hall when he started out on his own in the oil business and moved to Abilene when headquarters were moved there from Big Spring a score of years ago.

Hall has a brother, Leonard Hall, who lives on the Condor base on the Tom Good ranch. Leonard Hall has his own plane and does considerable traveling on company business. Dub Hollis is in charge of the Condor operations here.

Fund Drive To Be A Real Test

The plan for combining welfare and youth agency fund drives here will get a critical test this fall. Kiwanis Club members were told at their Thursday luncheon in the Settles Hotel.

R. L. Beale, campaign chairman, and R. W. Whitkey, general chairman of the United Fund, explained details of plans for this year's drive, which will be conducted early in October.

The United Fund has nine participating agencies, four more than the old Community Chest served, it was explained. The organization to raise operating funds for the various agencies has been patterned after similar units now functioning in over 300 cities.

Since the scope of service has increased, the campaign this year will be a test which will determine if the city and county really want to eliminate a dozen or more separate drives by putting them all in one package, the United Fund officials said.

Beale said he hoped the drive could be completed in two weeks, but that full cooperation of all citizens would be required to meet the objectives.

Boy Who Admitted Shooting Assessed Probated Sentence

A 16-year-old youth was paroled to the custody of his parents in Juvenile Court yesterday after being declared a juvenile delinquent for shooting Juan Juarez last Saturday night.

The boy admitted shooting Juarez in the hip with a .38 caliber pistol. He said that Juarez had first hit another boy in the head with a bottle, however.

The boy's probated sentence will last until he is 21 years old, and he must report to Juvenile Officer A. E. Lowe once a month. County Judge R. H. Weaver warned him to stay off the streets at night.

The youth said the shooting occurred after a platform dance being held at Kate Morrison school. He said he and a friend found two of their tires punctured after the dance and that some boys were under another car nearby.

The boys came out from under the car, saw the other boys, and hid with a bottle. When the boys came toward him, he pulled the gun and started shooting. He said he just happened to have the gun.

Collision Results In $35,000 Suit

Norman Newton and the firm of B. M. Newton and Sons filed a $35,744 damage suit in 118th District Court today against the Compton and Compton Transport Company and E. L. Brown.

The suit results from a collision on Highway 80 about 11 miles west of Big Spring. Plaintiffs alleged that trucks belonging to the transport company and Brown were blocking the highway at time of collision.

Newton was in a pickup traveling east, according to the petition, and was injured in the night collision with the two trucks. It is alleged that one truck was trying to pull the other out of mud on the side of the road, blocking the road with a chain stretching between.

Newton is asking $600 damages for car repair, $144 for hospital bills, and $35,000 for loss of past and future earning capacity. R. H. Weaver is Newton's attorney.

another look at the problems of the lowest-paid workers and get something in motion toward the idea of full employment.

The Premier's communique appeared to make only slight concessions to the strikers. Observers said, however, there may have been other agreements that were not made public.

The walkouts began as a protest by the FO and the CTC against Lanier's plan to finance his budget by firing surplus employees and upping retirement ages. The Communists came in later with demands for increases in wages and cost-of-living allowances.

All the unions argued the government should begin its campaign to rescue the national Treasury from near bankruptcy by moving against the tax-evading rich.

The walkouts completely disrupted transportation and communication facilities. The nation's mines also have been almost completely shut down.

In recent days, the strikes spread to private industry. Metal working plants, chemical firms and the building trades were especially hard hit.

150 American POWs Are Freed By Reds

By FORREST EDWARDS
 PANMUNJOM (U) — A rollicking 150 Americans, the largest single-day delivery yet in the Korean War prisoner exchange, rode out of Red captivity at this wayside village today.

Eager as youngsters, they shouted and danced as they were freed with 300 South Koreans.

The Americans were from Camp 1 at Chongson on the Yalu River, the Red stockade for "incorrigibles" who actively resisted Communism.

The repatriates said the first group of Americans from a fourth Red prison—Camp 9 Kanggye—arrived Thursday night at Kaesong, the Red clearing site just north of Panmunjom.

All other American POWs sent back have been from Camps 1, 3 and 5, including some men transferred to these camps from other stockades.

Saturday's shipment was expected to include some Camp 9 prisoners, a number of whom were reported only recently captured.

The Reds said Saturday's delivery would include 94 Americans—

30 of them sick or wounded—300 South Koreans, 23 British, 13 Canadians, 3 Australians, 2 French, 1 Turk and 1 Colombian.

Three Canadians, 2 British, 1 Australian and the Turk were listed as sick or wounded.

The 150 Americans returned Thursday brought the total to 1,465 of the 3,313 the Reds said they held. In all, 6,983 Allied prisoners have been returned of the 12,763 listed by the Communists.

No Communist POWs were sent north Friday for the second straight day, but more were scheduled to be handed over Saturday, Typhoon winds earlier in the week halted shipments from the Allied island prison camps off Southern Korea.

The Americans returning Friday were in high spirits, but they also bore more reports of Red brutality and mistreatment, especially against Allied airmen.

The Reds were "death against American aviators" said Cpl. Philip E. Rogers of Denver. He said one Navy flier from the U. S. Carrier Leyte was stripped to a light shirt and summer pants, and forced to remain outside in 25 below zero weather.

Another repatriate told of a mentally-ill American soldier tied to a tree outside the hospital at Camp 1 and left there until he died.

"I think they tied him to that tree and let him die there because they just did not want to take proper care of him," said Cpl. Melvin R. Heath of Indianapolis.

Others told of beatings for minor infractions of prison camp rules, imprisonment in dungeons and small cages for men who opposed Communist indoctrination, lack of food and medical care, and small groups of POWs who collaborated with the Reds and informed against their fellow Americans.

Cpl. Gildo Rodriguez of New York City said he saw Communists machine gun five truck-loads of wounded American POWs just after they had been captured.

Capitol Newsman Dies At Age Of 52

NEW YORK (U)—Bert Andrews, chief of the New York Herald Tribune's Washington Bureau, died early today in Denver, the newspaper reported.

He had been in Denver covering President Eisenhower during the President's vacation there.

Andrews suffered a mild heart attack Wednesday night, but had been believed to be recovering.

Andrews, a Pulitzer Prize winner and one of the nation's best known newspapermen, was 52.

He became chief of the Herald Tribune's Washington Bureau in June, 1941, after serving as the newspaper's Albany, N. Y., state capitol correspondent.

Andrews wrote "Washington Witchhunt," a book in which he hit at what he called political hysteria in Washington.

He won a Pulitzer prize in 1948 for distinguished reporting. The work that won the prize was a series called "The Case of Mr. Blank," dealing with loyalty and security measures in the State Department.

Andrews traveled with presidents on many trips and reported a number of international conferences.

DAD GONE, MOM DEAD Youth May Find Home In Oklahoma Capital

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—Oklahoma City may turn out to be that pot of gold on the end of the rainbow for Roy Edwards, 17-year-old homeless Eugene, Ore., youth.

Sheriff's officers found Roy sitting dejectedly on the courthouse steps. He told them he had tried to locate his father at Antlers, Okla., and failed. His mother, he said, died recently in an auto accident.

A quick check with his hometown authorities showed Roy was telling the truth. Officers there said he had a fine record, was an excellent football center (185 pounds) and baseball catcher for Coburg consolidated schools, eight miles west of Eugene.

That's when the city decided to take Roy to its bosom.

The sheriff's officers liked the amiable youth and offered to put him through high school if he wanted to stay here. When the news leaked out, the phone at the sheriff's office began ringing off the hook.

An Oklahoma City couple who lost their son in a Florida plane crash—the tragic accident that carried 24 University of Oklahoma ROTC cadets to their death—asked Roy if he wanted to take the place of their son.

"I think maybe we could do something for him and he could do something for us," the husband said.

A mother of another reservist who lost his life telephoned to offer her son's clothing.

One man called and said he had adopted five boys and put them through college—now he was interested in doing the same thing for Roy.

The others were similar. Sheriff Bob Turner, pleased as punch, grinned, "We appreciate all the offers, but we want him to make up his own mind."

Roy, meanwhile, not quite ready to believe this is happening to him, is going to take a day or two to decide exactly what he wants to do.

Town Stood On Ear By Bard Of Avon

By WILLIAM GLOVER
 STRATFORD, Ont. (U) — This town has been stood on its ears—magnificently—by two men 300 years and 4,000 miles apart.

Will Shakespeare, bard of Avon, actor, and all-time playwright champion, is one of the pair. The other is Tom Patterson, who fretted a boyhood dream into glowing reality.

On the streets the signs proclaim Shakespeare, but the natives talk mostly of Patterson. This rustic railroad junction of 19,000 that never lured vacationists before, has during the past six weeks played host to 63,000 visitors from Europe, the United States and all Canada. They have all come to see the first Stratford Shakespeare Festival produced by Patterson.

In alternate performances Alec Guinness and Irene Worth have performed in "Richard III" and "All's Well That Ends Well."

Originally scheduled for four weeks, the festival was twice extended until its "positively final" performance tomorrow.

Literally overwhelmed after critical buzzes transformed a speculative gamble into a roaring theatrical success that can make Broadway rub its commercial eyes, the community set to work. Volunteer amateur committees set up a cafeteria to serve tourists daily in a vast church basement. Every room in the several small hotels and boarding houses was marshaled under central registration and separate residents of the region were cajoled into providing additional lodgings.

Tom Patterson is pleased in a quiet way over how everything has come out.

"We've played capacity all the way," says Patterson waving toward the 1,500 seats which half encircle the Elizabethan period stage. "Perhaps," he adds there'll be a small margin of profit to give things a head start for next year."

But he seems mostly pleased by the fact that "After the first week's rehearsal all the supporting players asked to come back again next year."

British Cabinet To Meet Tuesday

LONDON (U) — Prime Minister Churchill told his vacationing ministers today to be back in London for another Cabinet meeting Tuesday.

This will be the second Cabinet meeting Churchill has presided over since doctors ordered him to take a rest two months ago. The meeting is expected to deal with Iran and the Korean peace talks.

He Suspects This Sentence Was Phony

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (U) — A New Jersey soldier said today the Communists arrested several American prisoners and sentenced them to jail on phony charges the day an armistice was signed.

"One man was sentenced to 18 months for rape," said Cpl. Lawrence Mitchell of Woodbury.

"Now how could that be? There wasn't anyone in that damned camp to rape."

Russia Close Behind U.S. In Atomic Race

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 WASHINGTON (U) — Russia is following closely in the path of the United States, if not actually catching up, in the race for mastery of atomic weapons.

It may or may not some day overtake this country in the number of stockpiled weapons, but the point is relatively unimportant, in the opinion of many experts.

For the time will come, these authorities believe, when the Soviet Union will have at its disposal enough bombs to pose an extremely dangerous threat to American security—regardless of how many bombs the United States may then possess.

Even now, said Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) in a letter made public today, it is "a fallacy to assume that a stockpile of atomic weapons in our own hands is in itself any longer a complete deterrent to aggressive action."

Officials here said the measure of Soviet progress in the drive for greater and greater military power is one of the more significant aspects of Moscow's announcement that a type of hydrogen bomb had been exploded. The announcement was followed by a statement from Strauss that an explosion involving "thermonuclear" or hydrogen fusion reaction had occurred in the Soviet Aug. 12.

It was not an unforeseen development. Soviet Prime Minister Malenkov had declared on Aug. 5 that the United States no longer had a monopoly on the hydrogen bomb.

The fact that the explosion came off, and that Moscow's report of it was supported by outside observation, marks a new stage in parts said it was reasonably safe to say that the United States was two years ahead of the Soviets in work on hydrogen reactions.

The Russians are assumed here to have a number, perhaps relatively small, of atomic bombs and the know-how at least of the hydrogen bomb device. Assuming that they have the industrial resources, they should now be able to go forward steadily in the production of weapons of both types or either, a choice lying in the fact that much material which goes into a hydrogen bomb could be used instead to make several uranium bombs.

As policy makers here see it, it will not be necessary for the Russians to make as many bombs as the United States in order to establish a kind of balance with this country. It will merely be necessary for the Soviets to have enough bombs, coupled with the capacity to deliver them, to be able to do this country vast damage should war come.

Income Tax Law Breakers Sought

DALLAS (U)—Internal Revenue agents, on orders from Washington, are searching for income tax law violators in North Texas.

A major phase of the campaign has been completed with a tax survey of Fort Worth business places, District Director Ellis Campbell Jr., said yesterday.

The survey showed that of about 25,000 Fort Worth business places at least 800 had not filed returns, said Campbell.

Being Mike Hammer's Wife Has Problems

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Being married to the toughest guy in fiction's bloodiest detective lineup is something of a shock to Betty Elliott, who comes from a long line of law-abiding Maine sea captains.

The guy she married, while both were attending the University of Maine, was a big-man-on-campus named Biff Elliott, who had all the coeds in a dither over his soulful eyes. He looked tough, but really was gentle as a lamb, says Betty. But that was before Hollywood signed him to play Mike Hammer, the love-em-and-shoot-em detective hero of Mickey Spillane's "I, The Jury."

Now Biff can't remember whether he's Mike or himself, and sometimes starts Betty by growling "Tilly, baby!" in his best film manner.

Biff and Betty lived in a one-room New York apartment for the last four years, considering life just one long honeymoon. When Biff decided he had to become an actor, Betty cheerfully took a job as a model to pay the rent and buy the meat and potatoes.

Then a Hollywood scout saw Biff playing a tough role on TV, and tagged him as the perfect Mike Hammer. He was whisked to Hollywood for a screen test, met Producer Victor Saville, was signed and started work in a matter of days.

He was gone six weeks, while Betty fidgeted in New York. When he came home, she was at the airport to meet him. But so were a couple of voluptuous blonde twins.

who played in the picture, a publicity man and a battery of photographers.

Betty was left standing on the wrong side of the gate while the photographers took pictures of Mike embracing the blondes. Then Betty remembered that she is a descendant of Nathan Hale, and walked firmly up to the guard at the gate, saying:

"That's my husband out there being mauled by those blondes. Will you let me through?"

"Yes, ma'am!" said the guard, undoubtedly a married man himself, "and you'd better hurry!"

Biff protests his heart belongs only to Betty, and that Hollywood isn't going to turn his head. That's okay with Betty, but she's going with him when he goes back next fall to start work on the remaining four Spillane thrillers for which he has been signed.

WMU Elects New Officers At Associational Meeting

Don't Expect To Marry The Boss, Secretaries Warned

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Girls who expect to marry the boss aren't likely to progress rapidly either in business or office romance, says a girl who might be called business's No. 1 secretary.

She is blonde, attractive Anna F. Woessner, just elected secretary of P. Lorillard Co., first woman officer in the history of the 123-year-old tobacco firm.

This blue-eyed ex-WAVE, daughter of a newspaper press mechanic, advanced in six years from a routine secretarial job to the top brass post. Says she:

"The story of the secretary who marries the boss is confined mostly to movies and magazines. I'm afraid. My experience has been that most bosses are too busy to want any romantic distractions in the office, and besides are old enough to be our fathers."

Anna, who is 30 and looks like a poised college girl, has some advice for secretaries who have big business ambitions:

1. Realize that an office is a place of business and not a social club or matrimonial agency.
2. Try to understand the duties and problems of your boss, and take as much detail as possible off his shoulders.
3. Accept the fact that you have been hired for your efficiency and not because of your big blue eyes or that new perfume.
4. Make yourself as unobtrusive as possible while in the office and try to anticipate the wishes of the boss. Have the file on Whois ready before he asks for it, make his luncheon reservation before he reminds you, have the most important letters on top of his pile of mail.
5. Keep yourself neat and well groomed at all times, but avoid heavy perfumes, gaudy jewelry and provocative necklines. There's a time and a place for everything, and the usual high pressure office is not the place for secretarial allure.
6. Familiarize yourself with the business procedures, policies and techniques of your firm. When the boss is away, you may have to pinch hit for him.
7. Don't be too proud to show the proper respect for your boss and his associates. Don't be afraid to say "sir."
8. Don't try to run your boss' affairs unless he asks you to. Some men don't want to be reminded to get a haircut or send flowers to their wives. The secretary who attempts to run the private life of her boss can be just as annoying as the one who dodges responsibility.
9. Keep your personal grievances to yourself.
10. Take an interest in the bust to yourself.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Woo Her, Win Her

Dear Beverly:
I am a boy of seventeen and my problem concerns myself and a girl whom I think I love very much. The trouble is that she likes my best boy friend. Most of my friends tell me I should keep out of it, but I love her. What can I do?

Remember what Priscilla said in the "Courtship of Miles Standish": "If I am not worth the wooing, I surely am not worth the winning." If your girl friend is not going steady with anyone, there is no reason why you shouldn't try to win her away from your best friend. "All's fair in love and war," you know.

If you want her to like you best, woo her best. —And I am using the word woo with the original connotation meaning court or date; not pet, spoon, or neck.

All girls fall for really smooth fellows, but unfortunately there aren't many around today. Lots of times all a girl can find to date is a character who dresses and acts like a bum. You be extra smooth and you'll win her in nothing flat.

Here's your plan of attack. Dress up in a suit, shine your shoes, comb your hair, and go call on her with a box of candy tucked under one arm. Old fashioned? Maybe, but girls love this attention and no boy ever went wrong trying it. It makes a girl feel good when the four eyed neighbors tell her that you seem to be "such a nice lad" and a real catch these days. —And believe me neighbors never miss a chance to comment on a girl's date.

Brush up on your Sunday manners and concentrate on making a favorable impression on her parents. This will go a long way in putting you in solid with her. The places you take her don't necessarily have to be expensive—but try to make them unusual. Put your imagination to work. Tour the high points of interest in the city. Maybe the zoo, the aquarium, or the art museum.

Be the date that's different, and different in such a nice way. I guarantee this approach will gain the fond attention of any girl.

Retreat Is Held By Church Group

A Spiritual Prayer Retreat was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. Cauble by the members of the Ladies Missionary Society of the First Church of God.

"Insight to know more of God" was the theme of the program and the Scripture, Hebrew 13:15, was read in union by the members. Mrs. J. M. Lee gave the devotions and sentence prayers followed.

Mrs. J. E. Kohr gave the plans and purposes for the day and as the women gathered each put her name in a basket. Later the women drew names for prayer partners for the day.

Mrs. Kolar led the group in singing several numbers and a short dish luncheon was served at noon.

In the afternoon, the members each gave a brief testimony concerning how they had learned to make their prayer lives more satisfying and fruitful. Mrs. E. L. Herring told of the needs and opportunities of India, Mrs. F. P. Hickson spoke on Germany and Mrs. A. L. Holley, Greece. Mrs. Cauble gave the benediction. Sixteen attended.

Grand Strategy Session

Eddie Arcaro comes in after his first spin on Native Dancer and reports to trainer Bill Winfrey (right) as the three prepare for the big race Saturday in the American Derby at Washington Park, Chicago. Arcaro will ride the Dancer because his regular jockey, Eric Guerin, is under suspension.

Eddie Arcaro To Be On Spot In Rich Derby

By TOM BRANAGAN
CHICAGO (AP)—Eddie Arcaro may have put himself on a spot by taking over Native Dancer for Saturday's $105,000 American Derby but it's a spot every other jockey would like.

This particular spot should be worth at least 10 percent of the $70,000 the Dancer is expected to earn by running nine other 3-year-olds into the Washington Park turf.

The spot also is considered much more desirable than the one Arcaro has occupied in other races involving himself and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's great gray horse. As Arcaro himself pointed out last night:

"I'm an expert on Native Dancer's stall. I finished behind him eight times. Five times this year. Three times in 1952." Eddie got the assignment because the Dancer's regular rider, Eric Guerin, is under suspension. Guerin, who guided Native Dancer to 17 victories in 18 starts, drew 10 days on the rails for a foul Saturday at Saratoga.

Now Arcaro, like Native Dancer something of a celebrity in the racing world, could be a party to one of the most embarrassing upsets of many a season.

The Dancer is expected to be a 1 to 5 favorite for the mile-and-an-eighth derby on the basis of the sensational win record—compiled under Guerin. He should easily raise his lifetime earnings to about $750,000.

But even the greatest of thoroughbreds have off days and it's not inconceivable that Saturday, with a strange rider, Native Dancer could falter. Arcaro's lean, leathery face undoubtedly would be tinged with red should this happen.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart
The Austin College football guide book for 1953, which has just reached this desk, says of Big Spring's Chop Van Pelt, a 240-pound guard who will be playing his last season with the Kangaroos:

"Very fast for his size. Regular tackle last fall, but he will be on the bench this year if his defense does not improve. Has the ability and will use it when mad, but not the aggressive type." Who does the author think he's kidding?

Chop usually played offense last year but was good enough to rate All-Conference honors. He's one of only two lettermen tackling returning to the Sherman school's campus and the only one who has lettered more than one season. Van Pelt will be after his fourth numeral.

Despite its ability to hang onto a first division berth, Midland's financial losses will probably exceed that incurred by Big Spring in the Longhorn League this season.

The Indians haven't done too badly at the gate, all things considered, but the management has insisted on keeping 20 to 22 ball players around all year, and players get very testy unless they're paid every two weeks.

Over at Roswell, Manager-Operator Pat Stasey doesn't figure to make any money at the gate but is figuring on picking up a few shekles through player sales. A number of his lads are in demand.

Carlos (Potato) Pascual, who gained a measure of fame as an all-around baseballer while wearing local flannels, had won nine decisions, lost four times for the Havana club, according to the latest Florida International League averages released.

Ray Knoblauch, who used to toil on the mound for Odessa, sported a 14-6 won-lost record for Augusta in the Class A Sally League recently. That team is in serious financial straits, incidentally.

Remember Juan Izaguirre, who tried to win a spot in the Big Spring infield several years ago? He's now third in individual batting in the Evangeline League with a .347 mark, could conceivably win the league mace crown.

Juan could never get going here, was finally released because he looked at too many curve balls.

Murray Teachers of Kentucky is set to make a major splash in the big league collegiate basketball wars, will contend with such teams as the University of Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky and Western Kentucky for sectional honors.

Why don't basketball officials wear shorts like the players in a game? The idea will be tried in some places in the East next season.

The Apaches are half a game above Port Arthur in fourth place. The secure league-leaders, the Galveston Sea Hawks split a doubleheader with Harlingen. The White Caps had their first game, losing, 2-1. They roared back with 13 hits to capture the nightcap, 11-1. Corpus Christi topped Lake Charles, 4-3. The Texas City vs. Brownsville game was rained out.

But even the greatest of thoroughbreds have off days and it's not inconceivable that Saturday, with a strange rider, Native Dancer could falter. Arcaro's lean, leathery face undoubtedly would be tinged with red should this happen.

Guerin experienced this very sensation at the Kentucky Derby, where the Vanderbilt horse lost his only start—a head decision to Dark Star.

Jamie K., the horse Arcaro has ridden for Jim Norris in a number of duels with the Vanderbilt ace, has given up trying to beat Native Dancer so Saturday's secondary choice seemed to be Harry N. Ead's Sir Mango, James Cox Brady's Landlocked, Duntreath Farm's Van Crosby and the English-bred gelding, Stan.

The schedule (times Central Standard): 6:30 p. m.—Cherry Point, N. C., Marines vs. Louisville, Ala.; 7:45 p. m.—Retugio, Tex., Vets vs. San Diego, Calif., Naval Air Station. 8 p. m.—San Diego Marine Devil Doga vs. Casa Granda, Ariz.; 10 p. m.—Syracuse, N. Y., Falcons vs. Grand Junction, Colo.

Teams Scramble For 3rd Place

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
The race for final positions in the major league standings appears to be all over in both circuits except to find out who's going to finish third.

Although there are still five weeks to play it's mostly just a question of waiting for the World Series—for Brooklyn and the New York Yankees—and for next year.

The third place races, however, are close in both leagues. Cleveland holds third in the American League by only half a game over the Boston Red Sox. St. Louis has a game edge on Philadelphia in the National.

To an individual player it is worth about twice as much to be a member of a third place finisher instead of with a fourth place club. The players on the first four clubs share in World Series receipts.

Except for the third place battles at least six games separate the clubs in their present positions in the National League. Only seven games divide the last place St. Louis Browns from the sixth place Athletics in the American League, with Detroit sandwiched in between.

The league leading Dodgers and Yankees each have a nine game edge. Brooklyn has 36 games to play, New York 35.

In yesterday's curtailed activity the Dodgers thumped the New York Giants, 10-0. St. Louis defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5-3, and Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 5-2 in the National League. The Yankees whipped Washington, 7-0, and Cleveland bounced Detroit, 13-7, in the American.

Carl Erskine, Brooklyn's biggest winner, posted his 15th victory of the season and his second straight four-hit shutout over the stumbling Giants. One of the league's best pitchers when he has his control, Erskine didn't walk a man and struck out six. Junior Gilham, Jackie Robinson and Bobby Morgan hit home runs.

Robin Roberts fell victim to Philadelphia's sieve-like defense as he failed for the second time to win his 21st game. The Phillies LUBBOCK (AP)—Thomas Trinkets of Lubbock edged Northern Star of Waco, 1-0 last night in a 11-inning duel that sent the Lubbock team into the State Women's TAAF Softball quarterfinals. Nina Hobbs was the winning hurler and Juanita Sheppard the loser.

Tandy Morroettes of Fort Worth gained the quarterfinals with a 4-2 win over Hires Root Beer of San Antonio and a 13-0 defeat of Freeman Flowers of Amarillo.

The San Antonio Independents became quarterfinalists with a 13-0 defeat of Chance Vought of Dallas and a 5-0 win over Harry Rhoades of Midland.

Clark And Burrows Sideline Aussies

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—The prospects for American success in not only the National Doubles Tennis Tourny but the Davis Cup challenge round as well appeared extremely bright today at Longwood.

Although it still has two fairly strong teams among the six sets of survivors in the men's division, Australia's chances here were discounted sharply when its 18-year-old ace, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, were knocked out in the quarter-finals action.

Hoad and Rosewall faltered against hard-bitten campaigners Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., and Hal Burrows of Charlottesville, Va., 5-7, 14-12, 18-16, 9-7.

"We beat Hoad and Rosewall by handling their service and Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert should do better than we did," Clark said. However, Seixas is handicapped by a wrenched right knee.

Today Seixas and Trabert are down for a quarter-finals test against Australian newcomers Clive Wilderspin and Ian Ayre. The latter's teammates, Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig, are paired with Grant Golden of Chicago, and Bernie Bartz of San Angelo, Tex., in the remaining quarter-finals bracket.

Gardner Mulloy and Bill Talbert defeated Frank Guernsey of Garden City, N. Y., and Hamilton

Richardson, Baton Rouge, La., 7-5, 6-2, 11-9.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington, Del., became semi-finalists by defeating Mrs. Thelma Long of Australia, and Anita Kanter of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-0.

The British Wightman Cup team's top players, Helen Fletcher and Mrs. Jean Quertier Rinkef, defeated Jane Breed of New Haven, Conn., and Juliana Copeland of St. Augustine, Fla., 6-0, 6-1.

Raiders And Twins In Tie For Fifth

By The Associated Press
The Pauls Valley Raiders swept a doubleheader from the third-place Ada Hereforths Thursday and went into a tie with Sherman-Denison for fifth place in the Sooner State League.

Dick Naylor pitched a one hitter in the seven inning opener, winning 3-1. In the second, the Raiders won 15-1.

Shawnee upset league-leading Ardmore, 10-2.

Another fine pitching performance was Ron Sautter's 4-hit shutout over the Sherman-Denison Twins which gave McAlester a 2-0 victory.

At Gainesville, the Owls won a 6-5 thriller from Lawton in the ninth.

Quarterback Club Barbecue Is Scheduled For Sept. 10

Members of the Big Spring High School football team will be guests at a Quarterback Club barbecue the evening of Thursday, Sept. 10, at the City Park, it was announced at a QB Club conclave here last night.

Practically all of the food for the picnic has been donated by local merchants and business men. The party will serve as a sort of kickoff for season ticket sales, part of which will be shouldered by the Quarterback Club.

Elmo Phillips, secretary-treasurer of the club, said membership of the organization now totaled 428 and the rolls were still growing.

Omar Jones, a co-captain of the club, revealed one member of the club had sold 105 memberships. The individual selling the most memberships by Sept. 3, next meeting date of the club, will be given a life membership in the organization.

Assets of the booster organization now total $718.13, but a few minor bills have not been paid.

Jones stated additional funds would be needed, since the club has an ambitious program at hand.

Carl Coleman, head football coach here, made a brief address to the estimated 75 persons present at Thursday's session. He recommended to the parents of grid-ders that the boys take it upon themselves to start running and getting in shape for the season ahead.

He added he was not allowed to discuss such matters with the boys themselves before Sept. 1, under Texas Interscholastic League rules.

Trinkets Advance In Lubbock Play

LUBBOCK (AP)—Thomas Trinkets of Lubbock edged Northern Star of Waco, 1-0 last night in a 11-inning duel that sent the Lubbock team into the State Women's TAAF Softball quarterfinals. Nina Hobbs was the winning hurler and Juanita Sheppard the loser.

The White Caps had their first game, losing, 2-1. They roared back with 13 hits to capture the nightcap, 11-1. Corpus Christi topped Lake Charles, 4-3. The Texas City vs. Brownsville game was rained out.

Murray Teachers of Kentucky is set to make a major splash in the big league collegiate basketball wars, will contend with such teams as the University of Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky and Western Kentucky for sectional honors.

Why don't basketball officials wear shorts like the players in a game? The idea will be tried in some places in the East next season.

The Apaches are half a game above Port Arthur in fourth place. The secure league-leaders, the Galveston Sea Hawks split a doubleheader with Harlingen. The White Caps had their first game, losing, 2-1. They roared back with 13 hits to capture the nightcap, 11-1. Corpus Christi topped Lake Charles, 4-3. The Texas City vs. Brownsville game was rained out.

Guerin experienced this very sensation at the Kentucky Derby, where the Vanderbilt horse lost his only start—a head decision to Dark Star.

Jamie K., the horse Arcaro has ridden for Jim Norris in a number of duels with the Vanderbilt ace, has given up trying to beat Native Dancer so Saturday's secondary choice seemed to be Harry N. Ead's Sir Mango, James Cox Brady's Landlocked, Duntreath Farm's Van Crosby and the English-bred gelding, Stan.

Refugio Plays Coast Fliers

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament wound up its first week of play today with only five teams eliminated from the original field.

It'll take two more weeks of competition to find the champion in the 32-team bracket. Two losses puts a team out of the meet.

In last night's play the Alpine, Tex., Cowboys handed New Carlisle, Ohio, its second defeat. The score was 8-0.

Yazoo City, Miss., suffered its first defeat, losing to the strong Casa Granda, Ariz., Cotton Kings, 5-0. The Fort Wayne, Ind., North Americans walloped the New Orleans, La., Hoium Sunbeams, 11-1.

Louisville, Ala., shaded Tollesboro, Ky., 8-7, and Grand Junction, Colo., defeated Jersey City, N. J., 3-2, in 11 innings.

Four second-round games were scheduled this afternoon and tonight.

The schedule (times Central Standard): 6:30 p. m.—Cherry Point, N. C., Marines vs. Louisville, Ala.; 7:45 p. m.—Retugio, Tex., Vets vs. San Diego, Calif., Naval Air Station. 8 p. m.—San Diego Marine Devil Doga vs. Casa Granda, Ariz.; 10 p. m.—Syracuse, N. Y., Falcons vs. Grand Junction, Colo.

U.S. ROYAL MASTER

A MEASURED LIFE-SAVING DIFFERENCE!

Direct from a California proving-ground comes this dramatic action-photo. These two speeding cars applied their brakes on oil-slick track at the same instant. Car at left (on U. S. Royal Master) stops promptly in straightaway safety. But car at right (on regular tires) slides three car-lengths further—out of control!

LIFE-SAVING ROYALTEX TREAD TREATMENT
More than 2,000 gripping edges hold where tires never held before!

DAY AFTER DAY, YEAR AFTER YEAR, the great U. S. Royal Master holds its undisputed position as top tire of its time.

WHY IS THIS? WHAT CAUSED IT? The answers are plain: The U. S. Royal Master is America's super-tire, of recognized extra mileage, with positive life-saving differences throughout its construction, and in all of its performance.

IN SKID PROTECTION AND STOPPING POWER, the U. S. Royal Master has its own unique tread treatment, continuously renewable, holding peak safety to the last mile of its long life.

IN SIDEWALL CONSTRUCTION AND CURB PROTECTION, the U. S. Royal Master is also entirely original and unique. The tire walls themselves are shielded from scuffing damage; the trim, clean whitewalls remain spotless, free from solar and abrasion.

AND WHEN TIRE COSTS ARE ADDED UP, there seems to be nothing to compare with this great tire's year-after-year economy. It rightfully remains America's top favorite in quality, outlasting because it deserves to outlast.

The protection that's always with you!

- The Only ROYALTEX TREAD and TRACTION —skid protection and stopping power beyond all previous standards
- The Only RENEWABLE SAFETY TREAD —offering you up to twice as many safe miles—without retreading!
- The Only EVERLASTING WHITEWALLS —preserving their trim beauty from cleaning nuisance and expense!
- The Only CURB GUARD® PROTECTIVE RIB —preventing sidewall scuffing, abrasion and damage!

Texans Favored Over Sooners

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
WICHITA FALLS—Texas galvanizes a blistering aerial attack tonight aimed at making it nine victories in a row over Oklahoma in the Oil Bowl football game. With the brilliant Doyle Traylor of Temple manning the guns, the Lone Star Staters rate one-touchdown favorites.

It could be a high-powered scoring game, however, as the Sooners flash what they think will be the most deceptive offense—the Split T with a corps of Houdini-like ball-handlers—that ever has come out of Oklahoma schoolboy football.

Oklahoma has yet to win in this

All-Star game but is rated its best chance of all time. Coaches Elvan George of Ada and Cleo Beavers of Comanche are quite proud of the colony of fakers and feinters at their disposal, headed by Jay O'Neal, the Ada quarterback, and aided and abetted by the El Reno nifty, Charles Wynes.

Traylor was the talk of the town though and justly so.

Playing in his third All-Star game in three weeks and proving a sensation at throwing the ball in the previous two, the Temple All-Stater, the No. 1 Texas schoolboy footballer of last year, has the kind of guys to chunk at to suit his taste—Mike Brady of Lubbock and Ray Chapman of Temple, two great ends, and Dan Villarsal, the speedster halfback from Wink.

Oklahoma will pass some but mostly it will be a gridding ground game, said George, who also thinks he has a pass defense that may slow Traylor down more than in his previous games.

Floyd Wagstaff of Tyler Junior College and Max Bumgardner of San Angelo Junior College, who are coaching the Texans, each termed Traylor the finest quarterback and passer he had seen in high school football.

The Oklahoma's will throw up a 190-pound offensive line, outweighing the Texans five pounds to the man, but Texas can show an advantage in the backfield, especially with Jack Throckmorton, the truckhorse 218-pound runner from LaMarque, Texas, lost some of its running power when Ken Low of Stamford reinjured a knee in practice and probably won't be able to play at all but still has enough ballcarriers to virtually match Oklahoma on the ground.

All tickets have been sold and a capacity 13,000 will be in the Midwestern University Stadium for the 8:15 p. m. kickoff. The proceeds go to the aid of crippled children in the two states.

Texas will use the Straight T formation against Oklahoma's Split T. George complained that he had had trouble making his offense work to a smooth satisfaction because too many of his boys are accustomed to the single wing style. On the other hand, most of the Texans have been playing under the T.

"I am fortunate in having two Split T quarterbacks though," said the Sooner mentor.

Details Of Fishing Rules On Lake Thomas Listed

Fishing and hunting regulations for Lake J. B. Thomas will parallel state statutes with few exceptions. Details of rules are listed in an ordinance on the books of the Colorado Municipal Water District.

Fishing, closed until May 1, 1954, is restricted to the use of pole and line, rod and reel, fly rod, throw lines and trotlines. No throw line may have more than two hooks. Maximum number of hooks for a trotline is 30, with a limit of one line per person and no more than two per party of two or more. No two trotlines may be joined, nor can they be put out nearer than 200 feet within a boat dock or swimming area.

No bottles or floats may be employed in fishing unless they are made fast or are held by the fisherman.

The use of seines, nets, slugs, traps or snares is prohibited. The possession of tackle or fishing gear prohibited in Lake J. B. Thomas will be prima facie evidence if taken within 200 feet of the lake. The ordinance provides that such gear may be confiscated if seized in violation of the regulations.

Fresh water rough fish may not be used as bait unless they are cut apart. The taking, catching or possession of bullfrogs during the months of March, April and May is unlawful.

Except for peace officers and game wardens, in pursuit of their duties, the firing of pistols or rifles near and over the lake is banned. Shotguns may be used if shot no larger than No. 4 is employed.

The district is empowered to retain officers to enforce the regulations, and persons convicted of violations in the courts of Borden or Seury counties could be subjected to fines up to $200.

LOCAL HORSES RUN AT RATON

Big Spring race horses will return to action this weekend with all three locally owned scheduled to appear on Sunday's program at Raton.

Equichall, who had been idle since winning the "Centennial Handicap" at the New Mexico track two weeks ago, is named for the weekend feature, "The Amarillo Day Handicap," at a one mile distance.

Bidding to continue a brilliant campaign this season, the mare will be making her last start prior to the running of the "Denver Mile" at the Colorado track on Aug. 29th. Final decision on competing in the tough Denver classic will be made by owner J. T. Dillard and trainer Johnny Ray Dillard following this start.

Weight assignment for the big Denver race will possibly influence the Dillard's decision. Meanwhile, the Raton handicapper, Harvey Foster, has assessed a robust 119 pounds on the Big Spring mare for Sunday's sprint against 114 for Count Cimmaron who will carry second heaviest impost.

Normally a mare is given a 5-pound advantage over a horse or gelding.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tucker's Miss Cobra, will return to action in the fifth race, a two-year-old allowance. Though in fine shape physically the young filly has been suffering with a severe case of girth rash and has been erratic in her works.

The other Tucker-owned mare, Jolly Kay, showed a partial return to form last week and will go in the first race, a five furlong affair.

Johnny Ray Dillard who also trains the Tucker horses has placed her in a shorter distance race in hopes of speeding her recovery to early season form.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dillard are at the Raton track and will accompany Equichall to Denver if a decision to compete in the big event is reached. Meanwhile, the Big Spring mare will face a rough time in Sunday's race where the heavy weight impost will put her at a decided disadvantage in the mile event.

Equichall was nominated for the "Denver mile" following an invitation from the track there. Final entry is to be made Thursday. Thirty-nine of the nation's top thoroughbreds are original nominees and a full field is expected to start.

An extra day, Friday, has been added to the usual Saturday and Sunday program at Raton this week. Twelve races are on tap each day. Racing is held daily at the Denver track, Tuesday through Saturday.

Potashers Fall Farther Behind

By The Associated Press
 After two straight victories over the Longhorn League leaders Carlsbad "choked-up," made nine errors and blew a 5-3 decision to San Angelo, Thursday night.

The Colts moved their lead to 2 1/2 games by winning the series finale.

Odesa scored a 2-2 victory over Artesia to prevent the Drillers from sweeping the series. A 2-run eighth inning by the Oilers got them into a tie with the Drillers and they won it in the ninth when Leo Eastham singled and Art Neal doubled.

Midland also struck back, dumping Roswell, 7-4, after two straight lickings by the Rockets.

Rain Stops Play

SAN ANTONIO—Rain washed out last night's games of the TAAF State Softball Tournament here. Six first-round games were on today at 1 p. m.

Strafaci Sure Of His Game

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Frank Strafaci's putting has dashed the Western Amateur Golf championship, but it's not the best part of his game.

The reason Strafaci has surged into the favorite's role in today's quarterfinals is something you can't see. He's got his confidence back.

"I played in a lot of tournaments after I won the national Public Links Tournament in 1945, but I lost the will to win," said the Garden City, N. Y. veteran.

He had the will yesterday. He submerged Dr. Wendell Aldrich of Angola, Ind., 4 and 3, with a wave of seven birdies in 15 holes.

In the morning round he trimmed George Busch Jr., Grand Rapids, 3 and 1.

Strafaci's play even overshadowed the upset of Harvey Ward Jr. of Atlanta, Ga.

Ward, a Walker Cupper, was troubled by unknown entry Loeb, Highland Park, Ill., 4 and 3.

Walker Cup member James Jackson of Glendale, Mo., was eliminated by Dale Morey, Martinsville, Ind., veteran 2 and 1.

Only Don Cherry, among the Walker Cuppers, was able to advance. The Wichita Falls, Tex., crooner, defeated David Reniger of Lansing, Mich., 6 and 4, and Robert Benning of Dayton, Ohio, 3 and 2.

Today's pairings:
 Upper Bracket:
 1:30 p. m.—John Levinson, Chicago, vs. Dick Norton, Grand Rapids.
 1:50—Bob Cochran, Normany, Mo., vs. Strafaci.
 Lower bracket:
 1:40—Cherry vs. Ray Palmer, Wyandotte, Mich.
 2:00—Harold Foreman, Highland Park, Ill., vs. Morey.

Eagles Regain Winning Stride

By BARD LINDEMAN
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 Dallas opened up its 17-game home stand Thursday night and gave indication to the Texas League it has lost none of its proficiency in Burnett Field.

The Eagles topped Beaumont 2-1 on Red Murff's 4-hitter and Buzz Clarkson's 2-run homer. Dallas won 12 out of 15 games in its last home stand. It leads second-place Shreveport by four games.

The Sports stopped Fort Worth 4-3 with two runs in the top of the ninth inning. Tulsa drubbed Houston 8-1 and took over third place, Fort Worth falling to fourth, only a game and a half in front of the fifth-place Oklahoma City Indians who belted out San Antonio 10-8.

Clarkson, the big Dallas third baseman and club's top hitter, socked his homer in the sixth inning with Beaumont ahead 1-0 at the time. Eddie Knock, tapped for 12 hits, was the loser. It was his seventh defeat, he's won 11 times. Murff is now 14-11.

Jim Ackert slammed a 2-run double after two out in the Shreveport ninth inning to defeat Fort Worth's ace, Pete Wojey.

Finals In TAAF Meet Upcoming

HOUSTON—Sixteen champions are to be determined tomorrow night here in the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation's state boxing tournament.

Last night, two knockouts and three TKOs were scored in the 15 opening matches. In the top fights: Charlie Cox, Bellaire, 4 Golden; Gloriel finalist, won a TKO over Henry Mendez, Fort Worth.

Mickey Brown, Houston, took an open class TKO from Paul Burton, Fort Worth.

Tommy Myrick, Wichita Falls, knocked out Henry Cortez, Deer Park, in 51 seconds of the first round in a bantamweight match.

Robert Flores, Houston, knocked out Claude Yessels, Wichita Falls, after one minute and 26 seconds of the second round of a featherweight bout.

Tom Cottis, Bellaire, TKOed Pedro Chapa, San Angelo, after 82 seconds in the first round.

Albuquerque Gains Game On Hubbers

By The Associated Press
 Albuquerque came through with the pressure on Thursday night. The West Texas - New Mexico League Leaders, only a game ahead of Lubbock, crushed the Hubbers, 13-2, and added a full game to the lead.

Lubbock made six errors and had its win streak clipped at seven.

Plainview smacked Clovis 11-9 when third baseman Frosty Kennedy slammed a homer over the left field wall with one man on in the 11th inning.

Pampa rallied for three runs in the third inning to tie Amarillo at 3-3, then chipped away to grab a 6-3 decision.

Ahlens stopped Borger, 7-3, with Eddie Garnett throwing an effective 9-hitter at the Gasers.

Washington Prison Riot Ends; One Dead

MONROE, Wash. (AP) — Three hundred inmates of the Washington State Reformatory last night went on a destructive spree that ended hours later with one man dead, three injured and five of the institution's sprawling buildings destroyed by fire.

Half the rioters were in a cell block, the others on the grounds in the center of the buildings they had set torch to in a sudden outbreak of frenzied viciousness.

The rioters struck without warning during the evening recreation period. One group took over one of the reformatory's two large cell blocks and the other ran through the grounds setting fire to the buildings surrounding the recreation area.

Three-hundred other prisoners took no part in the uprising.

Guards at first made no effort to stop the stone-throwing, burling, cursing, howling convicts. The Monroe volunteer fire department was called and was inside the walls within minutes. But they were driven back by stones and bats.

Other fire equipment arrived but none ever got inside the walls despite the hundreds of peace officers who came from all over western Washington, including Seattle, 20 miles to the southwest.

No attempt was made by the Warden F. J. Squier or other officials—except to hurl taunts, imprecations and debris through windows and at guards.

No explanation for the outbreak could be had from Squier. One guard said, however, that there had been trouble during the day. He would not explain further.

Most of the inmates at the reformatory are younger offenders in their 20s. Older and more hardened criminals are kept in the Washington State Penitentiary.

Inmates rioting in the cell block tore up plumbing, broke windows and destroyed furnishings. They, too, howled and cursed.

Seven several hours after the first outbreak at 7 p.m. PST, a group of the men on the grounds tried to break through the gate. Guards, almost shoulder to shoulder atop the 30 foot high walls and armed with everything from riot guns to tommyguns, opened fire.

Four men fell. One was mortally wounded. Another, struck by a ricocheting bullet which passed through his head right behind his eyes, lay on the ground screaming.

Doctors said later he would be forever sightless.

The other two were not wounded seriously.

Then, the law officers started moving into the cell block and onto the grounds. They were greeted with a barrage of debris and curses. But this subsided quickly.

The inmates on the grounds huddled in circles as midnight came, stark figures under the pitiless glare of the prison's bright floodlights. They started bonfires to ward off the night chill, using wood which littered the grounds from one end to another.

"We're in no hurry to get them into cells," the warden said. "We have plenty of time."

Prime Minister Gets Construction Action

TOKYO — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida fretted and fumed on the way to Hakone summer resort last weekend while his car was delayed 15 minutes at a one-way detour.
 Back in Tokyo, Yoshida summoned the Construction Ministry. He was told the project, started in June, 1952, would be finished by December.
 Now it's Sept. 1.

Teenager Wanted Cash, Not Jewelry

HOUSTON — A teenager who punched a 50-year-old woman in the stomach and escaped with her purse wanted cash instead of jewelry.
 The purse, with three rings valued at $3,300, was found in a ditch. The youth had taken $33 in cash.
 Mrs. Byrdine Harrison told police yesterday a teenager struck her and grabbed the purse while she was walking on a Houston street.

6 Texas POWs, 'Incorrigibles' To Reds, Freed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Six more Texans, called "incorrigible" by their former Chinese captors, were back under United Nations command Friday after their release as prisoners of war in Korea.

The Army identified 43 more Americans reported by the Communists to have died in captivity. Two were from Texas, Cpl. Richard Aguilar of Houston and Sgt. James Black, husband of Mrs. James Black of Teague.

In Houston, the parents of another prisoner learned Thursday that he had died of yellow jaundice in 1951. Still another Texan, Cpl. Bernard Welchman, West Columbia, was reported by the Communists to have escaped from one of their prison camps.

All the six released prisoners were among 150 men who would not go for Communist propaganda and had been placed in Prison Camp 1 near the Yalu River border separating Korea and Manchuria. Told his son had been released from an "incorrigible" camp, Joe Vasquez, father of Sgt. Manuel Vasquez of Dallas, snorted: "Manuel, he's the best boy you could find in the whole State of Texas!"

Joe, a Santa Fe Railroad worker, gathered his whole family, the mother and 10 sisters and brothers of Manuel's, at the home of a sister Thursday night when the good news was received.

"That's wonderful," the father said. The mother, Mrs. Margarita Vasquez, had received a letter Thursday morning from Cpl. Jose Martinez of Questa, N. M., that Manuel would be in the next batch of prisoners released. Martinez was released a day earlier.

Other Texans released in the exchanges Friday (Korean time) included:

Cpl. Ralph Ramirez, El Paso; Cpl. William Mann, San Antonio; Sgt. Leonel Trevino, San Juan; Cpl. Jack Noble, husband of Glynna L. Nobel, who recently moved to Tennessee from San Angelo; and Cpl. Raymundo Almdarez, Edinburg.

The deaths in prison of Aguilar and Black were announced Friday morning by the Defense Department. Earlier, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ross of Houston, were notified that their son, Cpl. Tommy Ross, 20, had died March 31, 1951, of yellow jaundice.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross had heard nothing of their son's whereabouts from the time of his last letter, seven days before his capture, until Thursday. The Defense Department said Army officials learned of young Ross' death through a friend who had been released in April. The information was not confirmed, the Army said, until this month.

"We never gave up hope until now," the father said Thursday. Noble, 23, a medic, told of a 9-month march around Korea after his capture in February, 1951. "I walked about two-thirds of the time," he said Friday at Freedom Village in Korea. "The rest of the time I was too sick to walk."

Noble said he was allowed to treat wounded POWs from his 2nd Division outfit for a couple of days after the Reds captured them. "Then they took my medical equipment away and we had to depend on them for bandages," he said.

Noble said he washed and laundered the bandages over and over again.

"After about a week they started marching 300 of us north, then south. We zig-zagged for months. If a man got sick they left him by the road. If a large group of men got sick they left them in huts until transportation was rounded up. Lots of men died."

Four Cattlemen Die In Plane Accident

Killed were L. D. Stokley, San Antonio cattleman and pilot; Phil Webb, San Antonio; Paul Fields, San Antonio; and J. Whitecotton, Uvalde.

Man Kidnapped From Hospital And Then Beaten

FORT WORTH — Marvin Stone, sent to a hospital after being stabbed in an alley early Monday, was kidnapped from his hospital room yesterday by three men who beat, slugged and kicked him.

Stone was back in the hospital today with cuts on the head, a possible broken left jaw, possibly broken ribs, a cut over the left eye and a smashed mouth.

There was no apparent motive for the attack.

Stone, 30, told police the men who took him to the country yesterday and beat him warned him "We'll kill you" if he complained to authorities.

Stone told police of the beating and returned to the hospital. He said the men, one armless, called during visiting hours shortly after noon, and that one shoved a pistol at him, saying "let's talk and laugh about it."

After about half an hour of visiting, one of the men said "Now let's walk down the steps and laugh while you're doing it." Stone related. An interne and nurse recalled seeing the men in the hall. Stone's absence from his room did not alarm them because he had not been confined to his bed and had been visiting other patients earlier.

Internal Revenue Service Settles Claims With Texans

By TEX EASLEY WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service has settled tax claims of $872,000 against Texans for $213,000 in the past year.

Since last August 41 such settlements have involved Texans. The amount of actual back taxes claimed amounted to $493,000, but with interest and penalties in some cases added, the total claimed by the government was $872,000.

The smallest was a $130 claim settled for $45. The largest was $433,244, settled for $154,807.

The big claim involved the estate of Bennie Markusfeld, a Waco produce business owner who died Sept. 4, 1946. His executors were his brother-in-law, Herman Alexander, and a sister, Frieda.

The government claimed $182,048 taxes on income for 1942-1946. The government contended interest and penalties raised the amount to $433,244. The compromise settlement, accepted June 10, provided for an immediate payment of $26,807 plus $128,000 to be paid in 18 months.

The revenue agent said in the case: "In view of the fact that it appears that the present offer ($154,807) represents the entire forced sale value of all of the assets left in the estate, plus substantial amounts from the transferees, equal to the entire amount received by them, . . . it is believed that the offer represents the total amount that the government can collect in any manner, and therefore it is recommended that this offer be accepted."

He noted, further, that considering some overassessments the settlement from a bookkeeping standpoint would reach $228,730.

Houstonian Stops For Expensive Cup

HOUSTON — Alfred Burt, 37, stopped for an expensive cup of coffee while en route from a suburban bank to his grocery store.

During the 10-minute stop yesterday at a cafe, someone stole $4,000 in cash from Burt's automobile.

Burt said he had placed the money bag under the front seat and parked the car. Police said a left front window ventilator had been pried open.

Anderson Orders Navy To End Its Race Segregation

WASHINGTON — Commanders of Navy shore stations are under orders to let Secretary of the Navy Robert B. Anderson know at two-month intervals what they are doing toward eliminating racial segregation.

The Navy disclosed the instructions yesterday after making a study which showed that separate facilities for white and Negro civilians were still maintained in about half the Southern shore stations investigated.

Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the association hoped the first report would show "that all Jim Crow facilities have been eliminated."

Murder Charge Filed

DALLAS — A murder charge was filed yesterday against J. B. Bernard, 53, in the shooting yesterday of his wife, 27, mother of seven small children. The body, shot in the chest with a shotgun, was found on the floor of the Bernard bedroom.

Eisenhower Apparently To Get Report From Stevenson On Tour

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, home after a world tour of nearly six months, apparently will give President Eisenhower a report on his global tour.

The defeated Democratic nominee for President in 1952 was asked by reporters if he had been invited to consult with the President.

"Before I left," Stevenson said, "I was asked to see the President when I came home. Every American responds to his President's requests."

The former governor of Illinois, who visited some 30 countries since last March 1, discussed his world tour—and politics—with reporters in news conferences in New York and Chicago yesterday.

He told the New York newsmen he didn't know whether he would be a presidential candidate in 1956. He also told them that Russia appears to be in retreat in the cold war and that the danger of a major shooting conflict has eased for the present.

In Chicago, when he was asked if he considered himself "head of the Democratic party," Stevenson smiled and said: "I don't know," adding he would be active in politics "to the extent that circumstances permit."

Stevenson said he had not been in close touch with the political situation and had made no specific plans as to the role he would play in next year's congressional elections.

"But I want to do everything I can to help the party and the country," he told reporters.

He said the Democrats have "excellent" chances in the 1954 congressional races—better in the House than in the Senate contests. He commented that the "Democratic party in Congress has given the country the best example of loyal opposition."

He said that "under no circumstances" would he oppose Sen. Paul A. Douglas, a Democrat, in the Illinois senatorial contest next year.

"I would like to help Paul Douglas if he is a candidate," Stevenson said.

Told that Douglas has recently stated Eisenhower was "deservedly popular" with the people, Stevenson declined to comment, saying he had been away too long. However, he added, "I'm sure the President is trying to do his best."

Stevenson, who met earlier yesterday with party leaders in New York, was greeted at Midway Airport by about 100 party leaders, including Stephen A. Mitchell, a Democratic national chairman. A party rally is scheduled in Chicago Sept. 14-15 and Stevenson is listed as the principal speaker. He said he may go "up north" for a short holiday before the rally.

Stevenson Reports On World Tour

Adlai Stevenson, defeated Democratic candidate for President in 1952, reports to the press in New York on his return from a six-month world tour. He told newsmen that his over-all conclusion was that American postwar policies have been successful. "The danger of world war has diminished, at least for the present," he said, "but this is no time to relax or lower our guard." (AP Wirephoto).

Kinsey Report On Women Sets Off A Number Of Controversies

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a raft of issues in controversies touched off by the new Kinsey report on women.

The issues hinge on personal, religious, moral, and scientific viewpoints.

The scientific arguments are not likely to get really underway until after Sept. 14 when the book, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female," goes on sale.

For as one scientist explained: "It's a hot potato. I don't think most scientists will want to say much specifically until after reading everything the book has to say."

A famous anthropologist, Prof. Earnest A. Hooton of Harvard, declined comment, adding, "Heads, not sex, are my business."

A personal issue for many people is whether to read the book at all. Some women declared they'll never look at it, aren't interested, or find the subject repugnant. Others look forward to reading it.

Here a churchman terms the sex study project anti-religious and damaging to morality. There, another says religious leaders should accept the findings as a guide to help youths in sex matters and to strengthen married life.

Some experts wonder if publication of the findings will upset present habits of sex life, influencing people to do things they learn that others are doing. Other experts feel there won't be any real changes. On this point, Dr. Kinsey says he finds no statistical evidence of changes in male habits since the first book five years ago.

Dr. Lester S. Pearl, Drake University sociologist, says he thinks the book will help persons "throw off unnecessary fears—many persons are unduly concerned about their own personal behavior regarding sex and feel that what they do is abnormal when it is perfectly normal."

Parents will disagree whether book is suitable to put within reach of children and youths at home or in libraries. There are parents who are reluctant to give their children any sex education and those who feel ignorance about sex is more dangerous than knowledge.

There is criticism that only or mainly exhibitionists ever volunteer to be interviewed by Dr. Kinsey, and that this makes the statistics untrustworthy. But other scientists and individuals besides Kinsey deny this, and say Kinsey's approach enlists cooperation from persons who never dreamed they could be persuaded to talk about their sex lives.

Some critics say people don't tell Kinsey the truth, that they exaggerate or cover up facts. Defenders praise his method of detecting boasting or overcoming reticence.

Some statisticians criticized the first book as failing to get a representative cross-section of people because Kinsey didn't use tested methods of random selection of interviewees. Kinsey replies he can't because pre-selected persons approached "cold" would often refuse to talk. He says their confidence must first be won, they must be convinced their records would be kept secret.

He admits lack of sufficient numbers of less well-educated women, of Catholic and devoutly-Jewish women in his present sample, and lack of enough case histories from some sections of the country.

A criticism is that interviews with 5,940 women aren't enough to find the typical habits of all American women. Kinsey admits the findings report behavior typical of only a portion of U. S. women, but says it's probably "a not inconsiderable portion." It is, he adds, the largest number ever interviewed this way.

Perhaps the biggest bombshell to set off arguments is the finding that women who have experienced a sexual climax before marriage are much more likely to succeed early in marriage in achieving sexual satisfaction. Kinsey finds this holds whether the climax is experienced through actual sex relations with a man, through petting, or through self-stimulation.

He says this must be studied, but makes no recommendations.

Haymes Gets New Trouble

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Legal troubles proceeded according to pattern for Dick Haymes today: the crooner settled one problem and acquired another.

Haymes, who faces deportation proceedings, signed a property settlement yesterday with his present wife, Nora Edgington. But a previous wife, actress Joanne Dru Ireland, had him cited to answer her charge that he is $2,433 behind in payments for support of their three children, Richard, 10, Helen, 8, and Barbara, 4.

Haymes' property settlement with Miss Edgington, former wife of Errol Flynn, calls for a payment of $8,000 in cash and $100 a week for life, whether she remarries or not.

Miss Edgington will sue Haymes for divorce today, on incompatibility grounds, her attorney said. Under California law, this would mean at least a year's delay before Haymes could marry actress Rita Hayworth, his most recent romantic interest.

Haymes' difficulties with the immigration authorities stem from his recent trip to Hawaii, where Miss Haymes was visiting. Under the McCarran Act, an alien is not permitted to re-enter the U. S. mainland after once leaving. Haymes was born in Argentina and never became an American citizen.

Two St. Theresa men, Kelly Bouchard, 22, and Willie Tremblay, 28, were sentenced last night to a month in jail each for unauthorized travel in the forest while a ban was in effect. Police who took them into custody Wednesday night said they were "important witnesses" in a case of suspected arson.

150 Evacuated As Fire Threatens Village In Quebec

FORESTVILLE, Que. (AP)—More than 150 women and children evacuated last Sunday from the forest-fire-threatened village of Ste. Therese headed home today.

The main blaze, which started Aug. 7 and charred 165 square miles of timberland, has made little progress the past day or two, woodsman said. They would not give assurance that it was completely under control but said villages in the area did not appear to be in immediate danger.

Two St. Theresa men, Kelly Bouchard, 22, and Willie Tremblay, 28, were sentenced last night to a month in jail each for unauthorized travel in the forest while a ban was in effect. Police who took them into custody Wednesday night said they were "important witnesses" in a case of suspected arson.

New Kashmir Vote Try Set

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India and Pakistan agreed today to make a new try at arranging a plebiscite in the disputed border state of Kashmir. Tentative plans call for the appointment of a neutral plebiscite administrator by next April 30.

The accord was announced in a joint communique released early today at the end of four-day talks between Prime Ministers Nehru of India and Mohammed Ali of Pakistan. The two countries each occupy part of the divided state.

The future of Kashmir and its four million inhabitants has embroiled India-Pakistan relations since the establishment of the two nations following World War II.

The United Nations previously attempted to set up a plebiscite to determine which nation the Kashmir people wished to join but India and Pakistan couldn't agree on conditions under which the voting would be held.

One of the biggest points of difference was the number of troops each nation would be allowed to keep in the part of Kashmir it occupies.

The communique said that Nehru and Mohammed Ali would consider these issues "directly in order to arrive at agreements." Political observers said, however, there was no indication that the two nations were any closer to accord.

Pravda Gives Lady Civil Defense Boost

SAN ANSELMO, Calif. (AP)—Pravda won't like this but the Moscow newspaper gave Mrs. Carmel Booth an assist in her appeal for civil defense volunteers.

Mrs. Booth, the local civil defense director, was right in the middle of an appeal when she was handed a message—Pravda had announced the Russians had exploded a hydrogen bomb.

Eight people leaped to their feet and volunteered.

Riding THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

When B. M. Newton, who has a lease on the Bob Middleton Ranch near Vealmoor, heard about the good job Hence Brown had done on his place in the Vincent Community with the SCD's range pitting machine, Newton made arrangements to get it and has had it in operation. He had pitted some of the grassland before last Sunday's rains and figures that with those pits he saved all the water that fell on that part of the ranch.

On the Brown place two or three grass seedlings are showing up in every pit while none have appeared on the part of the range that was not pitted.

It's well worth a drive through the north part of this county to see how the grass is greening up from recent rains. Looks like West Texas is coming to life again, and there's a lot of good grazing in the ditches along the roads.

W. A. Taylor, who farms in the Northeast Loraine area in Mitchell County, is one of the five members of the Board of Supervisors of the Mitchell Soil Conservation District and a practitioner of what he preaches.

Not long ago he planted eight acres of cropland to Guar. He planted in three-foot rows at the rate of six pounds of seed to the acre. The principal purpose of his planting was to give him an opportunity to observe the guar for adaptability and for soil improvement.

Soil conservationists are most highly recommending it over the entire area both as a cash crop (there is a ready market for the seed) and for soil improvement and the increased production of such following crops as cotton, wheat and grain sorghums.

Taylor is mighty proud of a four-acre patch of Blue Panic Grass which was seeded in the spring of 1952. In spite of the drought since it was planted it has furnished a good deal of grazing and Taylor says he just wonders what it will do if he should get a good rain on it.

Yesterday we talked with a farmer who had been poisoning cotton.

"The government owes me half the cost of that poison," he commented.

"How's that?"

"Well, they're selling the ranchers feed at half price. They're no drier than we are. What about the farmer? If the rancher is entitled to things at half price we should be too."

"There's some sense to that," we had to agree, "but suppose the thing should be run on and on, with gasoline and groceries and school books and clothes and medicine, all at half price?"

"That would be all right," said the farmer.

A few days ago in the "Around the Rim" column on the editorial page we mentioned the — a Special, a deadly little rim-fire .22 calibre sixshooter that was eventually outlawed by the demands of wives and sweethearts because so many fancy women shot so many fine citizens with them.

The next morning Bernie Freeman, firearms fancier and authority, notified us he remembered the little guns well, although not from personal experience, let us hasten to explain. A few minutes later Chief of Police York appeared with a little .22 calibre seven-shooter made on an 1879 patent, that he thought might have been one of these weapons, but it wasn't. York recalled that the little ivory-handled gun he had was one that had been forfeited by a North Side girl several years ago.

Bernie also recalled, as we couldn't the more polite name for the — a Special. It was christened "Lady Smith" as he reminds us, it was manufactured by Smith & Wesson and was evidently such an embarrassment to them that it was not included, either by illustration or in print, in the history of Smith & Wesson handguns that was published a few years ago.

We hear there is one of these little weapons in Big Spring, although not in the best of condition. We just haven't located it yet.

Just recently A. J. Carriger and Don Smith of Sweetwater decided that maybe something should be done about getting moisture out of the clouds that were showing up in that area, through cloud seeding.

They called on 22 persons at random around town and in a short while had raised more than $2,000. Twenty-one of those solicited made contributions. Only one person turned them down. Four persons contributed $200 each; nine persons contributed $100 each; two persons each gave $50, and the balance was made up of smaller contributions ranging down to $1.

Experience Had On Irrigation By White

COLORADO CITY, (SC) — A. L. White, who is farming in the Payne Church Community is getting some very valuable experience in irrigation this year, he says.

He has had previous irrigation experience but that was out in New Mexico with the flood type or row irrigation. This year he is having his first experience with sprinklers. He drilled his well this past spring and got it equipped in May. At that time it engaged showed the well was pumping 450 gallons per minute.

At this time he doesn't have enough electric power to carry a large pump or motor as he would like to be using but he has the promise that this situation will be corrected next year with the installation of a three-phase line. He says he really hasn't tried to pin things and get all possible out of his irrigation system this year, and that he has just "kind'a piddled around" from about daylight until dark day after day.

While just "piddling around" he has watered 30 acres of cotton once and some other cotton twice. He has four acres of mixed summer peas of which he is quite proud. He has hickories, purple hulls and Crowder summer peas that he plans to cash in on by selling to a commercial canner. He also has a watermelon and cantaloupe crop which will be ready to start moving to market about Sept. 1. His "few acres" of corn and maize is producing bumper yields.

White started in some time ago making plans for his 1954 farming program. He plans to mulch the pea vines into the surface soil, because he says he believes that such mulching plus the roots will give considerable improvement to the soil. Right now he is laying out a program that will give him the greatest benefit from his irrigation system. He plans to seed from 12 to 15 acres to alfalfa and from eight to 10 acres to winter grasses next month, and says that possibly some small grain will be sowed for cover and grazing. In addition to this he will plant another 12 to 20 acres to winter peas for cover and soil improvement.

Next spring he plans to go stronger on the truck farming route with larger acreages of melons, cantaloupes, peas, corn and other garden products. Then he will fill out the remainder of his irrigation program with cotton. He believes it is a better deal to fill out with cotton, than to fill out around cotton. He says he is proud of the fact that he has this water available and that he plans to make the most of it by raising vegetables for the market as well as for family use.

Turfman Removed As Estate Guardian

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Turfman Lindsay C. Howard, who bought gems from his daughter's estate for $75,000, now wants the sale set aside, the money returned to him and the jewelry turned back to the estate.

But Superior Court declined yesterday to sanction a reversal of the transaction, terming it a fraudulent act because Howard bought the jewels through a dummy bidder.

Howard was guardian of his daughter's estate at the time, but has been removed by court order. The gems were inherited from Howard's mother, Mrs. Fannie Mae Herracher.

Johnson Against New Foreign Aid Program

TYLER, Tex. (UP) — Unless the situation changes and "some nations put their houses in order, I have voted for my last foreign aid bill," Senate Minority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said yesterday.

Johnson spoke here at a country club luncheon.

"We will have to find a stopping point on foreign spending before we bleed ourselves white," he said.

"If Chancellor Adenauer (of West Germany) goes under in September," Johnson warned, "we will have to rely largely upon ourselves to face our big enemy in the world—communism."

The Islamic religion met with strong opposition when it was founded 13 centuries ago but now has 370 million adherents.

Sugar Heir Jailed On Suspicion Of Beating Ex-Wife

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UP) — Sugar heir Adolph Spreckels II was jailed last night on suspicion of beating his fifth former wife, actress Kay Williams, so severely that she had to be taken to a hospital.

The beating took place Wednesday but the story didn't leak out until detectives booked the 41-year-old millionaire. Neighbors said Miss Williams, 36, suffered head and body injuries when knocked to the ground by blows from her own shoe.

The actress, who divorced Spreckels last year on grounds of physical abuse, leased an apartment here to be near her children, Joan and Adolph III, who are staying with their father in his nearby Balboa Island home.

Spreckels was booked on suspicion of felonious assault with intent to commit great bodily harm.

Spreckels was released on $10,000 bond after spending several hours in the Orange County jail.

The Christian's Prayer Life

CHRIST TEACHES DISCIPLES HOW TO PRAY

Scripture—Matthew 6:7-13; 1 Timothy 2:1-2; Romans 8:26-28.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

DO PEOPLE generally pray less than they did? That might be a subject for argument. In our troubled, warring world, do not more people turn to God for strength, and comfort to bear their griefs and bravely face their problems?

Fighter pilots and bomber crews pray. I am sure, when they go into battle, not knowing whether they will return safely or be shot down. Sailors in storms at sea, soldiers going into battle, the wounded on the battlefield, all turn their thoughts to God and pray for His help.

Possibly some of us at home do not pray as often as we should, or give little thought to our prayers, repeating the words without really thinking what they mean.

However, millions who have lost loved ones—wives whose husbands have been taken; husbands who have lost their wives; mothers and fathers whose children have died whether in battle, by accident or disease, turn to a very few minutes and play happily together again.

How can you repeat the Lord's prayer about being forgiven for your sins if you know in your heart you have not forgiven those who have offended you?

"Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." That may be our most earnest prayer. Temptations come to us all, but we can gain the strength to resist them, if we pray with our whole hearts.

In writing his first epistle to Timothy, Paul says: "I exhort therefore, that first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men; for kings and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty, for this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour."

The comparatively few kings and queens left in the world, as well as the rulers of all lands, including our own, need our prayers, for there are many heavy

Two Ministers Back After Trip; Variety Of Topics Slated Sunday

Two ministers will return to their churches Sunday while two others will be out of the city for the day. A wide variety of sermon topics will be discussed by local pastors.

BAPTIST
Ed Welsh, pastor of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, is conducting a revival at the Lake View Baptist Church, 14 miles west of Big Spring on the Andrews Highway. Arvil Bryant is directing the music for the services. Services are held each evening at 8 o'clock.

In the absence of the pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, the Rev. Roy Fish of Sweetwater will speak at both services of the First Baptist Church Sunday. Dr. O'Brien is attending a camp meeting in the Davis Mountains.

CATHOLIC
The Rev. William J. Moore, O. M. I., will say Mass at 7 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. at St. Thomas Church. The 9:30 Mass will be followed by Benediction. Confessions will be heard from 4-6 p.m. and from 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Masses will be celebrated at 6:30 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, the Feast of the Assumption, a holy day of obligation.

MEMORY VERSE

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven."—Matthew 6:9-10.

our Father in heaven for help and comfort.

In the Sermon on the Mount Jesus told His disciples how to pray, "not as the heathen do; for they think they shall be heard for their much speaking."

"Be not ye therefore like unto them; for your father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask Him."

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven."

What can each one of us do, we may ask ourselves and our children, to make this prayer come true? Not much? We can obey moral laws, love one another; be kind to everyone and considerate of their comfort.

We also can be helpful to those in sorrow; rejoice with them that rejoice and weep with them that weep," as Paul said. This may not seem much, but it does help.

"Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors." Many professing Christians fall in this. Haven't you known members of a church who were not on speaking terms with other members? How many husbands and wives are not speaking to each other because of some probably silly dispute?

Children get "mad" at each other, but adults may well take a lesson from their little children who forget their disagreements in problems to solve, and every person in authority, in our own land and all others needs great wisdom and foresight to cope with them.

To the Romans Paul wrote, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to His purpose."

Do we doubt this? We all know people who allow their sorrows and disappointments to crush their spirits; but we also are acquainted with others who rise above almost overwhelming griefs and disasters to become finer characters—the world's saints.

Seek God in prayer and He will help you. Teach your children to take life's blows in stride, and to seek help from above, that they may grow into fine adults who will have courage and stamina to triumph over life's ills.

The younger members of a Sunday school class may be asked to talk about their earthly fathers, and what they talk about to them, what requests they make, and their closeness to them.

Then they can be led to see that God, our Father, is even nearer to us than our earthly fathers, and all our lives we can ask help from Him.

The older pupils should be reminded that Jesus and Paul "prayed always." If they and other saintly men felt the need of prayer, how much more do we in this day of repeated crises?

TV Brings Quarrel Out In California

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (U. S. —) Television has come to Santa Barbara, bringing with it just about the hottest public controversy this normally peaceful community has ever experienced.

The new 50,000-watt station, KEYT, Santa Barbara's first, went on the air July 25 and since then the storm has been raging.

Because of peculiar geographical features, Santa Barbara viewers had been able to receive telecasts from Los Angeles, a hundred miles away, long before the Federal Communications Commission assigned any channel to this city.

But with the advent of the Santa Barbara station, local set owners have complained that it seriously interferes with reception of Los Angeles' seven channels, particularly Channel 2, which is CBS, and Channel 4, which is NBC. The Santa Barbara station operates on Channel 3.

Mayor John T. Richard has directed the city engineer to make a survey of the problem.

KEYT has an investment of more than $500,000 in its installation. The station contracts for selected programs of the CBS, NBC, Dumont and ABC networks.

Owners of the estimated 8,000 sets in this area claim they have an investment of as high as 10 million dollars in sets.

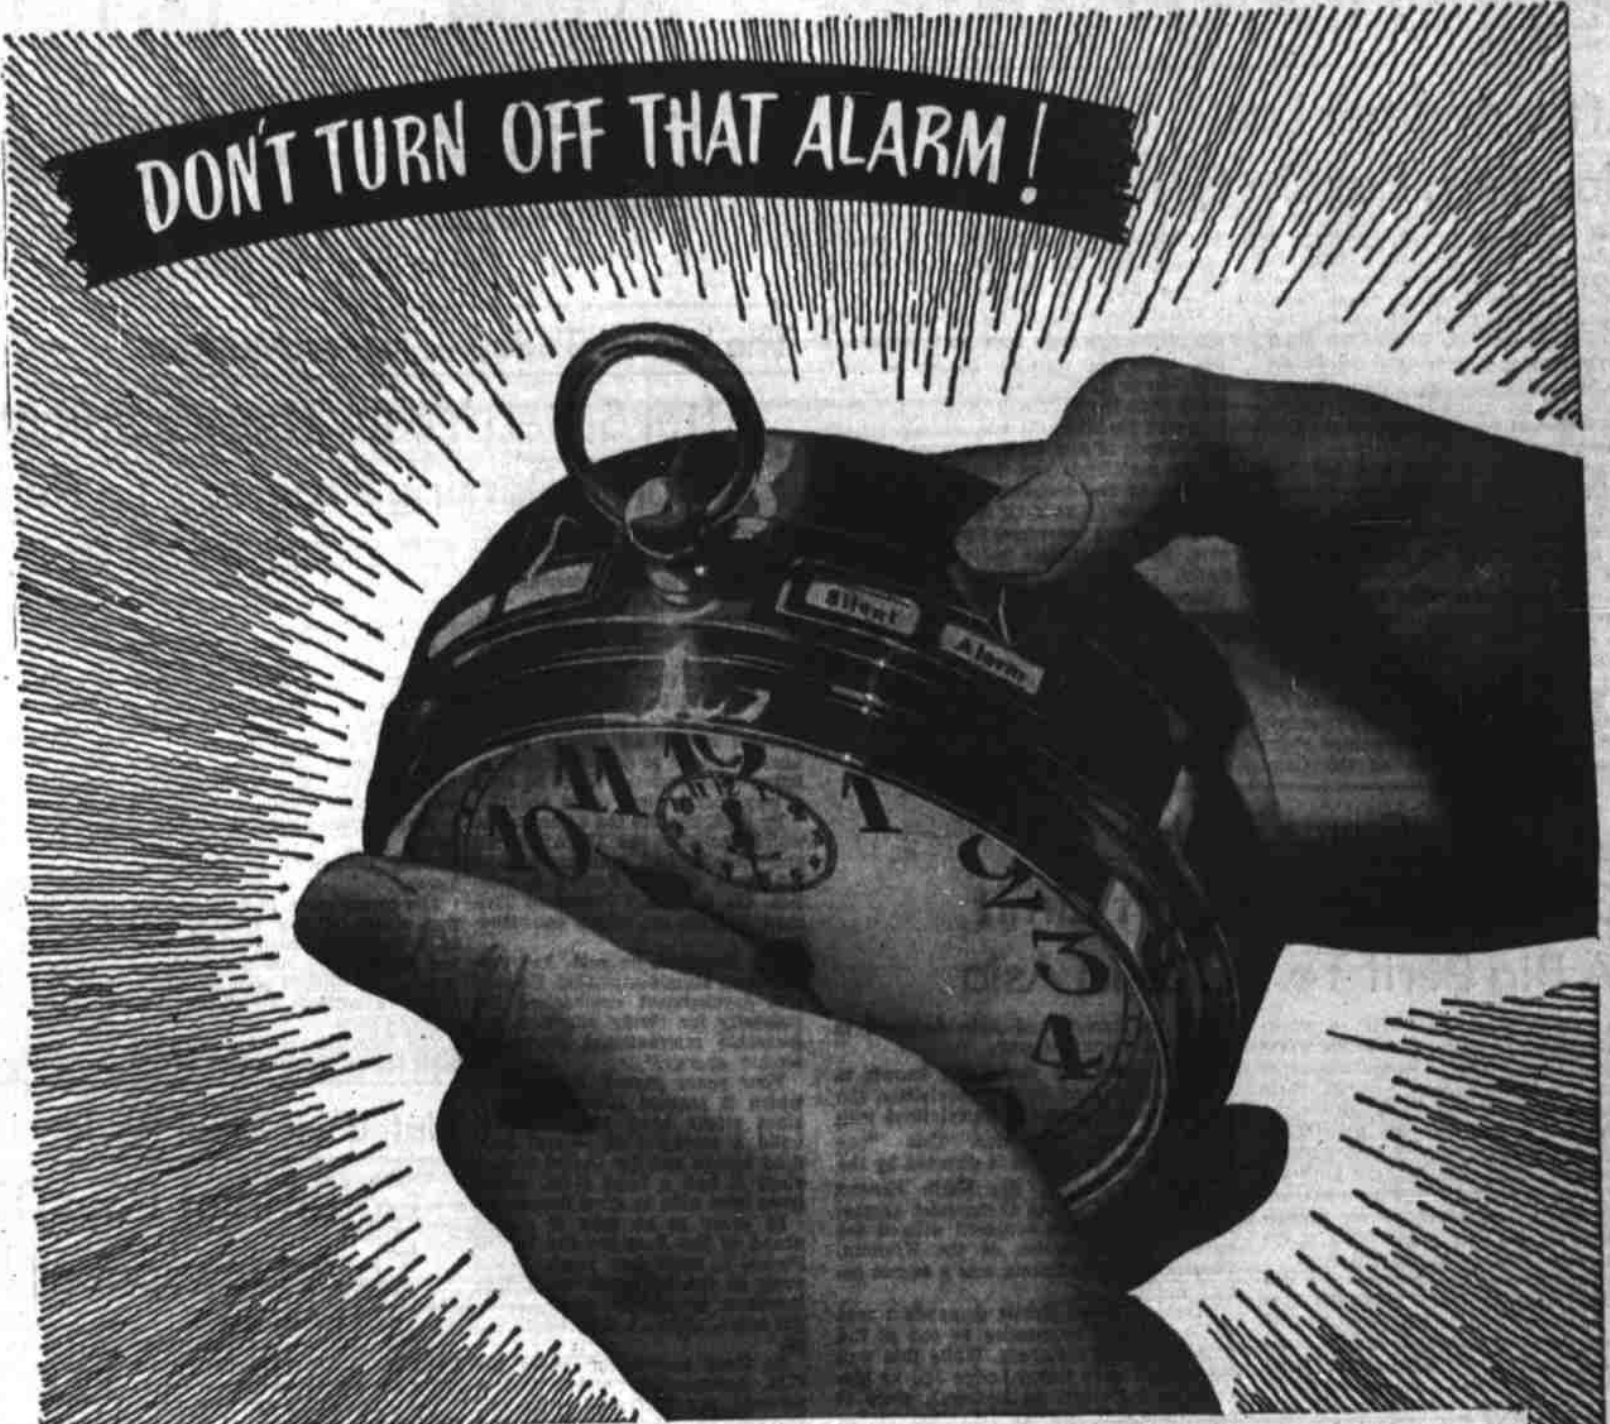

A few days after the station went on the air, Colin Selph, president of the KEYT corporation, scheduled a televised round table discussion of the interference problem. Special equipment was installed to try and cut down the interference. But TV fans claimed there was no improvement.

Selph has defended KEYT's operation and suggested that set owners unhook outdoor antennas and install inexpensive indoor antennas to improve the quality of KEYT reception and cut out Los Angeles transmitters. He said many Santa Barbara residents have not purchased TV sets, waiting for a good local station to start operations because they could not receive a satisfactory picture from Los Angeles channels.

Families in the northern part of Santa Barbara County say were unable to have any television reception before the new station went on the air.

DON'T TURN OFF THAT ALARM!

It's time to be up and doing! It's time to return to religion! That's what conscientious leaders are crying. Civic, educational, spiritual, political, even military men are urging a return to religion.... Why?

Because the principles found in the Bible are those upon which our western civilization is based.

Because the teachings of the Bible are the foundation of our own government—that each human has equal rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Because the commandments to love both God and man—to do for others as we would have them do for us—these are the laws of living as we have known it.

But greed for wealth, lust for power, jealousy, disregard for human life—such are the evils that weaken the pillars of our existence.

Right this minute appoint yourself a vigilance committee of one. Make certain that you and your family support your church and its activities. Let's have a return to religion.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Bible Thought For Today -

There are fundamental similarities in all mortals. The Great Nazarene showed how to rise above heredity and become sinless sons of God.

monist mainland which could be expected to provoke Red retaliation and thereby involve the U. S. 7th Fleet."

Nothing happened that had not been happening for a long time before—Chiang's forces continued their hit-and-run sweeps at Communist offshore islands, with may be a poke or two at the mainland at obscure points.

Obviously, the administration doesn't want Chiang kicking any possibility of peace in the teeth by some sudden move that would involve the U. S. in a war with the Chinese mainland.

British Policy Doesn't Limit A Big Peril To Peace In Asia

The Korean War was fought to establish a principle, namely, that military aggression is not tolerable in the affairs of nations.

efforts in Europe and Asia designed to prevent a victorious war.

The Communist Chinese aggression was war. They used the device which the Russians had employed in the Spanish Civil War, namely, that their huge armies, well-organized, admirably provisioned, were volunteers.

Furthermore, as should be known to the American and British specialists, the Soviet world is a unit in its relations with non-Communist countries.

Today, the Chinese Communists are in possession of North Korea and nothing in the true agreement requires them to leave the country.

Lodge's arguments were sound and correct. That they have not prevailed is due to the intellectual incapacity of the State Department to stand up to the British when they are wrong.

The political conference was to have been made up of nations which had participated in the Korean War.

After aggression was permitted to stand unpunished, the League ceased to have meaning and World War II became inevitable.

Soviet Russia was a secret co-belligerent, providing army, planes, tanks, and other supplies, maintaining a world-wide propaganda in favor of North Korea and against the United States.

There is one factor in this situation which needs mention because the British believe it to be true, namely, that at some time the Chinese Communists and Soviet Russia will split.

After Seven Years There's Still No A-Bomb Barring Progress To Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—If this story had a title it would be: A tale of no progress, or how history repeats itself.

In January 1946, five months after the first atomic bomb had been dropped on Hiroshima, the General Assembly of the brand new United Nations held its first meeting.

plans had been offered since October a year ago. And yesterday—just as on the day in 1949 when Truman told the world of Russia's atomic explosion and called for renewed efforts to control the bomb—Sen. Wiley, Wiscon. Republican, made a plea.

At once it voted to create a commission to find an answer to the question: how to get all nations to agree to outlaw the bomb in such a way that no one could cheat?

In the seven years since January 1946, had the commission found a way to control atomic weapons and a formula for general disarmament? No. The commission just wanted to report its failure to agree.

And yesterday, the Soviet delegate, Andrei Vishinsky, the Soviet delegate, was reported to have said yesterday that he may have something "in time," which means he'll suggest a Russian disarmament plan in the Assembly in September.

The Russians, he said, had produced an atomic explosion. He said in a nation's atomic development, the commission, in fact, had not met since October 1952, because of a deadlock between the West and Russia.

Sometimes around the office, he tried to put on a mask of irascibility, but it wouldn't have fooled a child because he could never get the grin out of his warm brown eyes. So vivid a man he was.

His diagnosis was correct. He went to a doctor. Then he went home and told his family. That was the hardest part, he said. The only time he ever flinched was in the moment when he must face Helen and the boy.

This Day In Texas

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

Around The Rim - The Herald Staff
Typography Isn't Only Cause Of A Newspaper's Headaches

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

A lot has been written and said about errors that get into newspapers. Sometimes they are humorous, sometimes they are not exactly funny, and on other occasions they are positively embarrassing.

That was the one about signs in the Pyramids. Then there can be errors in "playing the news." Some thought must be given to what news editors refer to as make-up, each item, ranging from the one-paragraph short on page 13 to the top story on page one gets some attention before it is published.

There are errors of judgment and there are errors that stem from carelessness. The latter two cause much concern to people who sit on the news desks of the hundreds of publications over the country.

Then, take the case of our colleague, Wayland Yates, who contributes to "Around the Rim" every Thursday. Yates does a few dozen other things besides this weekly column. So, he thought he was really in good shape when he got a subject this week that enabled him to get the column on the hook a few days early.

Naturally, the bigger stories get more consideration than the little ones, but even here there is a chance for an error in judgment. Occasionally a newspaper will go off on a tangent in selecting its top story of the day. And, like the baseball manager who tries peculiar strategy at a crucial moment in a game, they often look silly, but occasionally they score a huge success.

Lodge's Realistic View Seems Unpopular, But It May Prevail

UNITED NATIONS, New York - The failure to stand up to armed aggression destroyed the usefulness of the old League of Nations. When the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea three years ago, the United Nations responded with a resolution empowering the U. N. to put down that attack.

The U. N. effort was successful, since with the true territorial integrity of South Korea is restored. But the success was obtained at such great cost that it has put a well-nigh intolerable strain on this frail young institution.

those who resent America's power. The crudity and ineptitude of Andrei Vishinsky, head of the Russian delegation, is also a help. He usually manages to go so far that the West is forced to come together again. That was illustrated by the Vishinsky resolution on the Korean political conference.

There is, of course, first of all the great strain it put on the United States in terms of life and treasure. This country provided at least 90 per cent of the material and most of the manpower up to the point at which South Korean divisions were trained and equipped to take over two-thirds of the front line.

With the restiveness one senses among the other delegates here, there is a question as to how long America's power will prevail. This turns on issues beyond the Korean conference and specifically on the question of whether Communist China is to be admitted to the U. N.

The fact of this disproportionate share contributed by the United States in what was supposedly a joint effort has created deep resentments in this country. It is the psychological factor in American public opinion that most of the other delegates to the present General Assembly session simply do not understand.

They are, therefore, remains divided - two hostile forces existing each on its side behind a jealously guarded neutral zone in the manner of Berlin. Since Communist China is the principal in the hostile force on "their side," the question of the admission of Communist China can hardly be pushed by America's friends. Consequently, the American view continues to prevail and Red China is kept out.

Their view of it is roughly as follows: Yes, we know that the United States carried most of the burden. We know that the war was fought under a U. N. command that was actually a U. S. command. We know that the United States, next to South Korea, took by far the greatest number of casualties.

That is venturing a long way into a dubious future. But one thing seems certain. If America's victory is achieved in this way, it will be at a great cost in the prestige and influence of the U. N. itself.

All that is true. But now that the fighting is ended, Korea becomes once again a matter for the whole U. N. to consider. The vote on the resolution to repel aggression was approved by virtually every member of the U. N., with the exception of the Soviet Union. So now the U. N. has the authority to make the peace.

Ripping Job

This view is firmly rejected by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the head of the American delegation. While he does not say it quite as bluntly in public, he insists on the reality of a war fought by America and South Korea and, therefore, on the reality of a peace made by the belligerents as being the only peace acceptable to an aroused opinion in this country.

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The prisoner was known as "the Beaver," police told the judge, because of his talent for ripping his way into stores with his bare hands. He admitted tearing a hole in a jewelry store roof with his hands, climbing out again with $5,500 worth of watches.

That has not made Lodge popular with the other delegates. They suspect him of making speeches to an American public in the interests of an ambition that projects stopping point of U. N.

Many Pigeons Were Slaughtered

Passenger pigeons used to nest in the Great Lakes area, especially in the states of Michigan and Wisconsin. They flew southward in the autumn, and spent the winter between the Ohio River and the Gulf of Mexico. During their migrations they were reported to "darken the sky."

In filling the barrels. They are shipped to Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, being packed in ice for distant points. From 10,000 to 30,000 birds are forwarded daily.

Flying to places where they could find a good food supply, the passenger pigeons consumed grasshoppers and other insects, and also feasted on beechnuts, wild fruits, and the seeds of various weeds. Oak forests were like magnets to them because they enjoyed acorns.

By the start of the present century, passenger pigeons were almost completely gone. A few were kept in zoos, but hunters failed to find this game anymore. The Milwaukee Zoo contained four males in 1907, but only one left there in 1909 died in that year.

Population Increase A Cause Of Concern

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—A couple of Texas tourists, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Quinn of Grand Saline, recently stood in the Commerce Department lobby and stared at the huge speedometer-like device that records the steady climb of the nation's population.

"It makes you wonder how we'll take care of everybody in a few years," Quinn said.

Officials are wondering the same thing.

The figure 160,000,000 appeared on the contraption the other day. It is figured that the U.S. will have 190 million people by 1975 and 200 million by the year 2000 — barring unforeseen disasters.

In the light of those estimates, the question of conserving the nation's natural resources to get the greatest possible benefit draws considerable attention.

On one resource front, Rep. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., McAllen, Tex., just before Congress adjourned pointed out to his colleagues the need for conserving more of the rains that now run off unused into the seas.

"We must recognize the problems which will confront us tomorrow if we are to be ready for the future," he said.

"Every night when this Nation sits down to dinner about 7,200 more people need to be served than on the night before. No one wants smaller portions."

And the Population Reference Bureau, a private study organization has put out a report declaring that natural resources are being drained away at an alarming rate.

This means, the Bureau added, that science will have to find ways to tap the vast reservoirs of minerals far below the earth's surface and in the oceans.

"Unless technology is applied to control the birth rate as well as the death rate," the study continued, "it is not likely that the world will gain the breathing spell needed to develop a rock-sea water-sunlight economy which could nurture five billion people."

Although the reference here was to the problem on a worldwide scale, the Bureau dwelt specifically on the natural resources of the United States. It pointed out that while coal is plentiful, oil and natural gas reserves "are dwindling rapidly."

The report was prepared by Robert C. Cook, the bureau's director, who used data gathered by the U.S. Geological Survey, U.S. Reclamation Bureau and other such agencies. He analyzed it and came up with his own conclusions as to what will happen under given sets of conditions.

Questioned about the rate Texas resources are draining away, Cook answered:

"I have made no specific study regarding Texas, but it would be safe to say that the resources there are being depleted as rapidly as any place in the nation."

He declared that, in his opinion it is folly on the part of Texas and detrimental to the national interest to pipe natural gas from Texas to the East to displace coal as an industrial fuel.

Remaining in Texas, natural gas would attract industry and get greater use than it now gets in "export" areas, he explained.

Advanced Diploma Earned By Agent

Walter W. Stroup, a representative in Big Spring for the Southwestern Life Insurance Company, has been notified that he has qualified for the company's Advanced Underwriting diploma after completing the Tax and Business Insurance Course, the last of a series of study courses offered to Southwestern Life Underwriters.

The three-year educational program completed by Stroup includes a study of life insurance for the purposes of family income, retirement income, mortgage liquidation of business interests, key-man protection, and many others.

Company President James Ralph Wood said: "The life underwriter today must know his business thoroughly in order to serve his clients adequately. In order to become properly qualified to serve, one must devote many hours over a long period of time to the study of his business. Mr. Stroup is to be congratulated upon his perseverance in completing the company's comprehensive educational program and thereby equipping himself to provide sounder life insurance advice and service to the people of his community."

Iranian Oil Still Problem

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Iran's oil, should it start flowing again into world trade routes, might prove as embarrassing to the oil industry as its stoppage proved in diplomatic circles.

Internationally operating oil companies have long ago increased production to more than make up for the loss of Iran's oil. They already are talking about ways to handle a possible glut of world petroleum supplies. Iran's oil would just add to their distribution and quota problems.

It would be less than welcome to independent oil producers in America, who are seeing their own production cut back because of big supplies—and, they contend, because of imports of oil from the Middle East.

Iran's oil won't be flowing again any time soon, of course. Even if the new government gets a firm hold, there still would be long and ticklish negotiations with England and the United States before the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.'s old properties could be put back into operation. Oilmen here are far from sure the revolt in Iran will stick or that it spells out such an outcome.

Before Mossadeq seized the oil fields and the Abadan refinery, Anglo-Iranian was exporting 150,000 barrels of crude oil daily and some 450,000 barrels of refined products daily from its holdings there, valued at 1 1/2 billion dollars.

In the two years since Iran's oil industry closed down, the company has expanded its production in other lands and has now regained the loss completely.

"Oil output in other Middle Eastern countries was also expanded greatly. Much of it goes to new refineries in Europe. Some has been coming to the refineries on the Eastern Seaboard of the United States."

Battery Additive Order Rescinded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department wiped off the books yesterday its previously suspended order against use of the mails in promotion of the controversial battery additive AD-X2.

The original order was issued Feb. 24 after the Bureau of Standards had rejected the claims of Jess Ritchie of Oakland, Calif., that the material would add greatly to the life of electric storage batteries. AD-X2 is made by Ritchie's company, Pioneers, Inc.

The fraud order was suspended March 3 in the midst of a raging controversy over the product involving the Bureau of Standards, the Commerce Department, the Senate Small Business Committee and scientific groups.

The row brought about an order from Secretary of Commerce Weeks firing Dr. A. V. Astin as chief of the Bureau of Standards. Weeks later asked Astin to stay on while an independent committee of scientists evaluates AD-X2. That study is not yet complete.

Today's order, cancelling the fraud order, said there is still "substantial disagreement" as to the value of the product but said there is a lack of "proof of an actual intent by Ritchie to deceive."

Such proof is required for a fraud order denying use of the mails.

Potter Suspects H-Bomb Espionage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said yesterday Russia's progress toward a hydrogen bomb may have been speeded by espionage in this country that "would make the Alger Hiss case look like petty larceny in comparison."

Potter's statement was read by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) at a public hearing of the Senate investigations subcommittee. The group is investigating charges that secret information has been leaked from the Government Printing Office (GPO).

Potter said in his statement the subcommittee's disclosures of "lax and inept" security measures at the printing plant give rise to the question whether these are "typical of the security procedures in other government agencies."

"We may rightfully ask how much the Soviet espionage system hastened" development of the Russian H-bomb, Potter said.

"If such tactics were employed, then the importance and effect of such information if placed in enemy hands would make the Alger Hiss case look like petty larceny in comparison."

Hiss, one time high State Department official, was accused of giving secret government documents to the Communists. He swore he did not and was convicted of perjury, lying under oath. He is now serving a prison sentence.
