FDR Says US Must Double Tank Output

No Number Called, But President Says Army Needs Increase

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Withholding all figures, President Roosevelt announced today that the American program for producing tanks for United States armed forces would be approximately doubled at once.

The chief executive told a press conference that the projected expansion was part of an over-all revision of the defense picture.

Mr. Roosevelt would not say what the present tank program called for nor what the increase would provide. That, he asserted, was information which the axis would like to have.

It does call for many thousands more tanks, he asserted, along with certain items of ordnance relating to them.

The principal reason for the decision to make a tremendous increase in tank output, the president disclosed, grew from the experience in the use of tanks in North Africa last year.

Some new plants probably will have to be built to turn out the enlarged volume of tanks, Mr. Roosevelt declared, while factories now making them will have to step up their operations.

Reminded that William S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management, had mentioned a goal of 2,000 medium tanks monthly, Mr. Roosevelt said the new program went beyond it.

Service Men Make Talks At Legion Meet

S. L. Cook, U.S. navy recruiting officer, spoke to the legionnaires about the structure and function of the navy, and H. P. Jones, assistant recruiting officer, outlined the navy's recruiting arm.

Their appearance on the program coincided with the Legion's plan to observe Navy Day here Monday.

Sgt. L. W. Bobb, district aviation cadet officer, and Sgt. Troy Gibson, local U.S. army recruiting officer, also attended the legion party and called attention to the observance of "Keep 'Em Flying" week and the need for more young men as aviation cadets.

As "Keep 'Em Flying" week comes to a close in Big Spring, Sgt. Troy Gibson, U. S. army recruiting officer, said Friday that more applications were needed from young men in order to insure a "refresher" aviation cadet course here.

There are four who are ready to enroll, having been approved by the flight examining board, when the course is opened. However, there must be at least six others who are interested and who can qualify before the training will be practical.

Nazis Present Alarming Threat On Ukraine And Moscow Fronts

Brief Reprieves Granted 100 French Hostages After 100 Slain By Germans

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Oct. 24 (AP)—Fifty French hostages died before the firing squad wall today in a 50-lives-for-one forfeit for the assassination of a German officer at Bordeaux—the second such measure of retaliation within three days.

At the same time 50 additional hostages at Bordeaux and 50 still alive at Nantes out of 100 selected for execution in reprisal for the killing of the German commander there won brief reprieves while the Germans gave additional time for the capture or surrender of the actual assassins.

The news today from Bordeaux meant that a total of 100 hostages already had been put to death, evenly divided, for the assassinations of the Nantes and Bordeaux officers. Fifty were executed in the Nantes case Wednesday.

The German commander at Nantes, Lieut-Col. Paul Friedrich Hott, was waylaid and shot last Monday and on the following day a high-ranking officer named Reimers, counselor of the German military administration at the occupied port of Bordeaux, met a similar fate.

If the full measure of threatened reprisal is carried out it will make a total of 100 lives for one. The Bordeaux executions brought to 184 the total of French hostages killed for the assassination of five Germans during the occupation.

The Bordeaux-Nantes reprieves were granted by German authorities at the personal requests of Chief of State Petain and Vice Premier Darlan.

Resulting from appeals by Petain and Darlan as well as pressing demands made to German authorities, a communique said "these latter willingly consented to a delay of grace for complementary groups of hostages whose executions were designated following the two assassinations at Nantes and Bordeaux."

Consequently, the deadline which expired for Nantes Oct. 23 and that which was to have expired for Bordeaux Oct. 26 at midnight, conforming to the other order of the commanding (German) military general in France, have been prolonged respectively until Oct. 27 and Oct. 29 at midnight.

Reds Tell Of Huge Losses By Germans

By Associated Press

Russia's hard-pressed armies faced new emergency today. Soviet front-line dispatches acknowledged that the situation was alarming in all sectors on the Ukraine front today, with heavy fighting raging on the approaches to Rostov-on-Don, while claims from both sides listed a staggering total of more than 10,000,000 men killed and wounded in the four-month-old campaign.

Although the Red armies clearly appeared to be holding firmly before Moscow, the grave new danger to Russia's vital war foundries on the southern front was emphasized in reports to the army newspaper, Red Star.

The newspaper reported "bloody hand-to-hand fighting...immense losses" in battles around Stalino, 100 miles northwest of Rostov, and at nearby Makeevka, with the Germans hurling great masses of tanks and troops into a drive to engulf the entire Donets River industrial basin.

The situation on all the principal sectors of the southern front remains critical, Red Star's correspondent telegraphed. Pravda sounded the same note.

In Berlin, the authorized commentary, Diens, Aus Deutschland, even went so far as to say that "the liberation of the Donets Basin is imminent." If true, this would strike a hard blow at Russia's war supplies, since the Donets Basin is the source of great iron, coal and manganese deposits, and Rostov, near the mouth of the Don river, is the key to the Caucasus oil fields.

German conquest of the Donets Basin would in all likelihood precipitate the long-awaited hour of British troops entering the conflict at Russia's side.

British Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief for India, has nearly 1,000,000 men in the Middle East awaiting the signal to march north through Iran (Persia) into the Caucasus to bolster the battered Red armies in the Ukraine.

Perhaps in a move to seal the Middle East's "back door" for just such an operation, British and Free French troops were reported striking into French Somaliland today, driving 30 miles into the little French colony on the Gulf of Aden.

On the Soviet war front, the Russians declared officially that several hundred thousand Germans already had been killed in the 23-day-old drive on Moscow and that naval losses in four months equalled the total casualties suffered by Kaiser Wilhelm's imperial armies in the four years of the World war.

According to U. S. state department figures, the Germans lost 1,773,700 killed and 4,216,058 wounded in the 1914-18 conflict—a total of 5,989,758.

They have not taken and will not take Moscow, said S. A. Lovovsky, official Soviet spokesman.

Stalemate May Bring Invasion Of Isles

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sir Gerald Campbell, director general of British information services says that a winter stalemate of the war in Russia may result in a speeded-up invasion of the British Isles.

Plane Plant Crews Dodge Pickets To Return To Work

By The Associated Press

An eight-day interruption of operations at the Great Lakes Steel corporation in a Detroit suburb ended today when strikers accepted settlement terms and began returning to their jobs.

Other strikes, however, gripped coal mines in Alabama, held up welding operations at some shipyards in the northwest.

Several automobiles were overturned near Bendix, N. J., after a group of non-striking employees eluded CIO pickets in order to work in the plant of Air Associates, Inc., manufacturers of airplane parts.

CIO workers at the Great Lakes Steel corporation voted last night to go back to work as soon as the firm could call them, and men began reporting for the midnight shift.

The non-striking employees at the Air Associates plant at Bendix had to outflank a CIO picket line twice yesterday, going to and coming from work in a caravan of 150 automobiles. A strike was called September 30 by 100 workers who charged the company with unfair labor practices and failure to sign a contract.

In hearings before the defense mediation board, the union insisted that 250 members be returned to work immediately. The company, which maintained the plant in operation despite the walkout, refused to agree to the union's demand.

More than 20,000 Alabama coal miners remained idle while their representatives and the joint conference of Alabama coal operators negotiated for a settlement of their differences. The CIO miners seek an increase of 40 cents a day above the current basic level of $5.50, also paid vacations and additional compensation for washer loss.

The mediation board has recommended a wage increase of 25 cents a day, an additional four cents a ton for washer loss, and $20 in two installments as vacation pay.

Operators of commercial mines in the state, representing about two-thirds of the diggings, announced acceptance of the mediation board's recommendations. However, the problem of captive mines remained. The Alabama captive workings, owned by steel companies, are included in the national captive mine strike called for Saturday midnight.

Employees of the captive mines are demanding a union shop.

At Seattle and Tacoma 1,800 welders stayed away from their jobs in shipyards, seeking recognition of a separate union for welders and reinstatement of 177 welders at the Lake Washington shipyards. The 177 had been removed from their jobs by the Seattle Metal Trades Council which has a closed shop agreement with the shipyards.

COLOrado CITY, Oct. 24 (SpI) Funeral for Mrs. E. W. Wallington, 65, resident of Mitchell county since 1906, was held at White Church of Christ in northeastern Mitchell county Thursday.

Wallington of Houston; a brother, T. A. Rigney of Billings, Mont., and three sisters—Mrs. E. B. Davis of Tyler; Mrs. Lou Grambo of San Pedro, Calif.; and Mrs. G. B. Hills of Texarkana. There are 11 grandchildren.

'Collision' Likely On Short Notice, Navy Chief Thinks

By The Associated Press

Secretary of the Navy Knox declared flatly today that a "collision" in the Far East was virtually inevitable and could develop on 24 hours notice, while in Tokyo, a Japanese government spokesman took the opposite view that the situation between the United States and Japan had eased.

"The situation in the Far East is extremely strained," Knox said, addressing a group of naval munitions manufacturers.

"We are satisfied in our own minds that the Japanese have no intention of giving up their plans for expansion. If they pursue that course a collision there is inevitable. It can occur on 24 hours notice."

By contrast, the Japanese cabinet spokesman, Koh Ishii, declared that the long-smoldering crisis in relations between the two countries had been modified by an indicated American decision to ship war aid to Russia via the Arctic port of Archangel instead of through the sea of Japan to Vladivostok.

Knox's electric pronouncement came less than 48 hours after the Japan Times and Advertiser, controlled by the Tokyo foreign office, offered the anti-axis powers a "last chance" to use Japan's services as a mediator in the European war.

The newspaper warned, however, that Japan was ready to fight the United States to protect her interests in the Orient, and other Japanese newspapers bitterly assailed the United States, charging that this country was attempting to gain bases in Soviet Siberia for use against Japan.

Otherwise, news from the Far East in recent days had given increased tension in the Far East is directly connected with the problem of delivering American munitions to Russia.

Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, in saying today that a "collision" in the Far East is virtually inevitable, added that he had just left a conference at which British and Russian needs for war materials had been stressed as matters of great urgency.

This coincided with an earlier announcement that most materials for Russia would now be exported through the port of Boston. (See map below).

"Keeping the Russian army fighting is one of the most vitally important things we have to do in this war," Knox said emphatically. There are, Knox continued, "just three ways" of getting supplies to Russia.

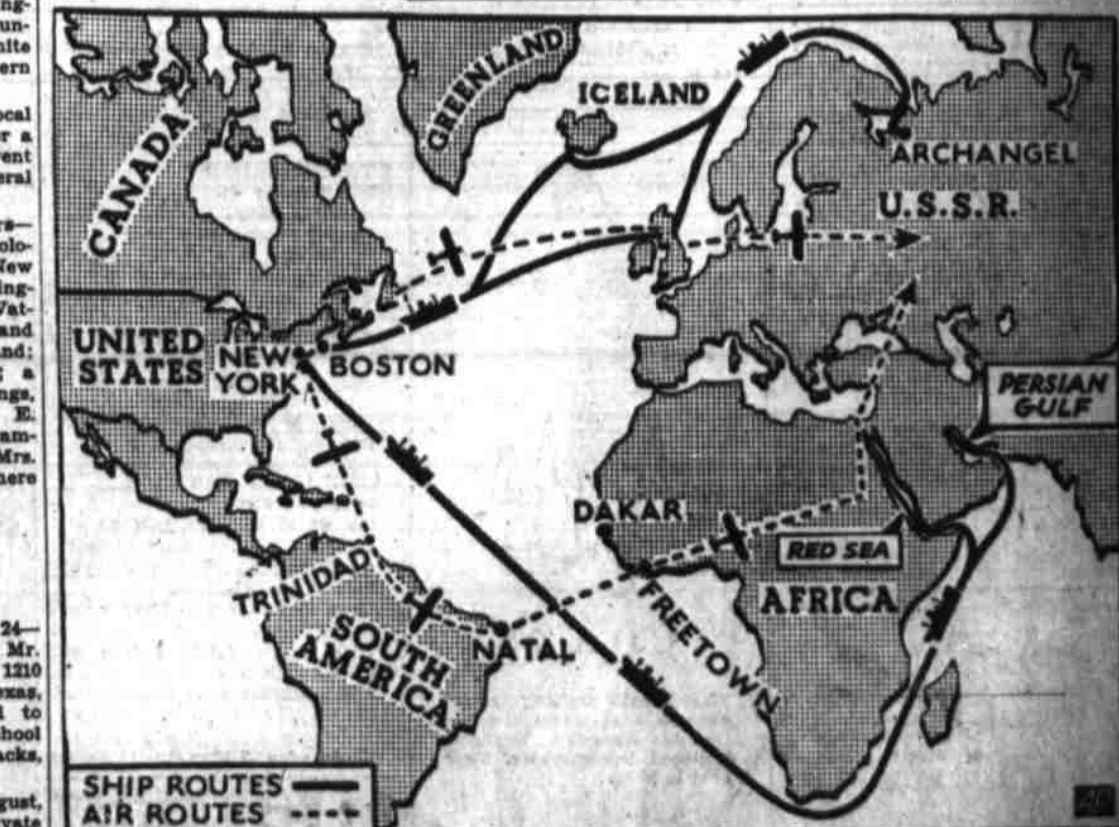

These he named as: Across the North Atlantic to the Arctic port of Archangel, across the Pacific to the Far Eastern port of Vladivostok and down through the South Atlantic and around Africa to Freetown.

The Archangel route, Knox said, is the best of the three despite great handicaps imposed by its extreme northern location. The port can be kept open only by the use of icebreakers and this means, he said, that slow-moving supply ships make easy marks for German bombers which can readily reach the harbor. Moreover Archangel offers but limited transport facilities.

The Far Eastern situation, Knox said, makes the continued usefulness of the Vladivostok questionable and means that it is not to be presented equally with Archangel.

The route through Freetown, Knox noted, involves a sea voyage of 12,000 miles. He said that even when supplies were delivered there great difficulty would be encountered in moving them inland and it would be necessary to build rail facilities through the country.

Under a maritime commission order, effective next Tuesday, it was indicated that Boston will become the shipping point for American aid-to-Russia supplies moving over the North Atlantic, probably to Archangel, as indicated by top route. Previously laid out shipping and air routes to England, Africa and the Middle East are also indicated.

Rescue Crews In Motorboats Buck Strong Rio Grande Flood To Save 80 Persons

RIO HICO, Mexico, Oct. 24 (AP) Motorboats bucked the raging current of the Rio Grande today to begin the dangerous task of rescuing 80 persons marooned on a slowly-crumbling island in the middle of the treacherous stream.

The flooded Rio Grande, striving violently to change its course, gobbled at the Mexican approach to the 366,000 international bridge, leaving only 80 yards of the earth fill unencouraged.

The 500 inhabitants of this Mexican border town opposite Mercedes, Tex., fled from their homes when the river overflowed through the main street. Banks gave way under 25 houses, which toppled into the stream.

Rescue workers were balked last night in their efforts to take the marooned persons from their fast-fading haven in the center of the stream. Cross-currents and pounding driftwood were feared, but the first boatloads were carried to safety as soon as daylight permitted.

Belief was expressed all would be removed before the island crumbled. Huddled on the bridge were 75 persons with goats, cows, chickens and other household belongings. They may go to the U.S. side of the river if danger of collapse becomes imminent.

Delegates Asking Road Improvements

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—Increased traffic due to defense efforts was cited by several county delegations seeking road improvements from the state highway commission at a statewide public hearing today.

Among 25 delegates docketed, others gave as reasons for road construction or completion a growing tourist trade, oil transportation and hauling agricultural produce to market.

Members of the commission, headed by Brady Gentry as chairman, made no commitments on requests of delegations and repeatedly informed them that limited funds made only the most meritorious projects possible.

Trinity Canalization Opposed By Rail Men

HOUSTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—A mass meeting sponsored by the railroad workers' brotherhoods laid plans last night to oppose canalization of the Trinity river.

Four hundred persons at the meeting attended by representatives of both A. F. of L. and C. I. O. unions heard the project denounced as a pork barrel scheme fostered by real estate promoters which would give Dallas and Fort Worth lower freight rates to the detriment of Houston.

They designated themselves as a committee of the whole to urge the city council, commissioners court, Houston port authority, and chamber of commerce to fight the project.

Kitchen Bridge Party Given For The Matinee Club By Mrs. Allen

Sahib Barker Has Weekly Fling At Telling Future

By HERB BARKER
NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Taking the customary wild swing at the week's football slate:

Michigan-Minnesota: The game of the week, maybe of the season. Both undefeated, both untied, both top-ranking outfits. The habit of victory is strong at Minnesota and so is the football guesser's habit of picking the Gophers to win.

Fordham-Texas Christian: The loss of Kyle Gillespie was a terrific blow to Christian. Taking Fordham.

Texas-Rice: Doubt if anyone's going to stop the Texas juggernaut Texas.

Ohio-State-Northwestern: Maybe this is where Ohio State gets off. Not too confidently, Northwestern.

Tulane-Mississippi: Two good Southeastern conference teams, and one of them, Tulane, may be great. Subject to revision, Tulane.

Harvard-Navy: Another real test for the Tars in view of Harvard's great play against Dartmouth. Superior man-power should turn the tide toward Navy just as it did in the Cornell game, Navy.

Army-Columbia: Purely a guess, Columbia.

Vanderbilt-Princeton: The Tigers are big and slow and seem no match for unbeaten Vanderbilt, which rates a decided nod.

Notre-Dame-Illinois: Looks like the Irish will trip somewhere along the line and this might be the spot. But this corner strings along with

Texas Starts Down Glory Road Saturday

Rice Is First Of Six Mighty Opponents To Be Met By Biblemen

By The Associated Press
The Texas Longhorns swing down the glory trail tomorrow—the trail Orange followers believe will lead to their greatest gridiron glory.

The first of six mighty opponents bar the way to a Southwest Conference championship and a bowl invitation.

At the bend in the road are Rice's embattled Owls, a team that already has gone to the heights and wallowed in the mire in the short period of two weeks.

Texas' games with Colorado, Louisiana State, Oklahoma and Arkansas were taken in stride; everybody expected the Longhorns to win those.

But the real business is ahead—Rice, Southern Methodist, Baylor, Texas Christian, Texas A. and M. and Oregon.

It's the pace that kills unless the runner is rugged and confident. Texas is all that—but so are some of those opponents.

A crowd expects to go on the sunny side of 42,000 will roll into Memorial Stadium to watch Texas battle for revenge from a typical Rice upset—that 13-0 thing that pitched the Longhorns out of the conference race last season.

Bob Brumley and his injured mates, who had to sit by and watch Louisiana State beat the Owls, are ready. And by no great stretch of the imagination you could see a beaten Texas team Saturday night—a team whose Rose Bowl hopes were rolled into the sod by the most surprising team of them all.

Down at College Station, the Texas Aggies will be driving for that great climax now being freely predicted among the gridiron cronies—Texas vs. Texas A. and M. for the Southwest Conference title on Thanksgiving Day.

The Aggies' competition will be Baylor's lusty Bears, who will be shooting both barrels—and both barrels in this instance are Jack Wilson.

Elsewhere two conference members will be attempting to add to the intercollegiate record that stands at eleven victories and three defeats.

Tomorrow afternoon Texas Christian tackles Fordham's unbeaten Rams in New York with Kyle Gillespie, its great back; Bierman unable to play because Guard Bill Crawford, Center Billy Blackstone and Back Gus de la Cruz.

Arkansas vs. Detroit—The Razorbacks ought to score but not enough to win.

Texas vs. Rice—There's no reason to think Texas will lose this one but that's what the folks said last year.

Texas A. and M. vs. Baylor—The Aggies ought to win on manpower but Jack Wilson represents a lot of one-manpower for Baylor.

Texas Christian vs. Fordham—Don't be too surprised if the Rams upset Fordham; but Texas Cards still say it will be the Rams.

Yearlings Plaster Crimson Tide, 25-7

Big Spring high school's Yearling gridgers did something at San Angelo yesterday that had not been done in two long seasons—beat the San Angelo junior high Crimson Tide. And this two-year-awating defeat handed the San Angelenos wasn't by a close margin either. Coach Good Graves' Big Springers plastered the Tide 25 to 7, giving them an unbroken string of victories thus far in the year.

Big Spring got in all its work in the last half of the contest, marking up two touchdowns and one conversion in the third quarter and a pair of trips across the double stripe in the fourth. San Angelo passed its way into scoring position in the final frame, then drove over in two cracks at the line.

Bobby Barron returned a punt 55 yards in Big Spring's first count. Following that, Jimmy Byars, guard, took possession of a San Angelo aerial attempt and romped across the goal line. Cheney placekicked for the extra point.

After being called back from a trip across the final marker when he stepped out of bounds, Hugh Cochran, halfback, cooperated with Barron to put the ball on San Angelo's nine-yard line. Cochran then blasted through to the one-yard stripe, and on the next stab went over left tackle for the score.

San Angelo's Watkins, Johnson and Childress got together for a series of passes that put the ball on Big Spring's six. Robert Hill Cy Leland will be the play-by-play announcer and Ves Box will handle color.

Rice and Texas renew their ancient rivalry in Austin. Kern Tipton will be the play-by-play announcer on the broadcast of this game, with Hal Thompson handling the color. It will be heard over stations KPRC, Houston; WFAA, WBAP, Dallas-Fort Worth; WOAI, San Antonio; and KNOW, Austin; beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Dan Rice goes to the Polo Grounds in New York to send back to Texas listeners a play-by-play account of the T.C.U.-Fordham game. This broadcast can be heard over stations WACO, Waco; KRBC, Abilene; KTEM, Temple; WRR, Dallas; KPJZ, Ft. Worth; KRLH, Midland; KBST, Big Spring; KOKL, San Angelo; and KABC, San Antonio; beginning at 12:30 p. m.

Three S'west Games To Be Put On Air

Radio followers of Southwest Conference football may listen to three broadcasts sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining Company on Saturday. Two of the broadcasts feature important games in the Southwest Conference race, while the third takes Texas listeners to New York for Texas Christian University's clash with the undefeated Fordham Rams, the third time Humble has sent crews to New York this fall for football broadcasts.

The Texas Aggies meet the Baylor Bears in College Station, and this game will be broadcast over stations KOKO, Fort Worth; KTSA, San Antonio; KRIS, Corpus Christi; KRGV, Weslaco; KTYE, Houston; and KPDM, Beaumont; beginning at 2:30 p. m. Cy Leland will be the play-by-play announcer and Ves Box will handle color.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (Herald Special News Service)—While Georgia Tech's tub-thumper was around town last week with a mournful tale of how Frankie Sinkwich was subsisting on a liquid diet, a reporter walked into the team's training quarters and found Frankie working his way through a veal cutlet... Ben Jones is going to unvell a half-brother to Whirlaway in California this winter... The coin, named Don By, will become a two-year-old jockey... Although Johnny Ray, Billy Conn's manager, and Jimmy Johnston have been carrying on one of the fight business' hottest feuds for a long time, Ray was out in Cleveland the other night hollering for Johnston's fighter, large Abe Simon... Minneapolis bookies are giving away six points to get bets on Michigan against the Gophers.

Irving Jaffe, the speed skater, will speak at the convention of the National Diving association on the rhythmic acquired from dunking... Now to get Johnny Weismuller (a charter member) to talk on "stalker swim"... Havey Boyle of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette wonders how come Pitt overlooked Texas in fixing up this year's schedule.

Cowboy Jack Crain, whose broken grid running has put the Texas grid team on top in the southwest this season, also is rated the best advertising salesman the Texas athletic department ever had. He and two other Longhorns had the job of selling ads for the football program last summer, and while the other boys were taking things easy Crain sold $1,500 more advertising than the program ever had carried.

Big Spring's hopes for its first district 3-AA victory of 1941 hinges on two things—the Steers' ground attack and their ability to bottle up the Midland Bulldogs' aerial thrusts. A soggy field here today will likely slow up both items, but a measure of advantage lies with the Big Springers. Heavy downpours during the day leave no doubt that by game time tonight, 8 o'clock, the best team of mudders will come out of the fray victors.

Shush--Texas Is Just Toying With Rose Bowl Ideas

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—They have a half million dollar secret at the University of Texas.

No one knows about it except the 130,000,000 or so persons living in the narrow confines of the United States.

In order to keep folks from imagining Texas might have Rose Bowl aspirations they're telling the press services the football team at the university isn't even thinking—or must not think—about any kind of bowl.

"We're taking them as they come," says the Longhorns.

All this shush-shush about the Rose Bowl has already drawn 100,000 persons through the turnstiles for the four games Texas has played this season.

If they can keep it hushed up the next six weeks more than a quarter of a million fans will have paid to see for themselves and pick up some gossip that maybe, after all, Texas would like to go to the Rose Bowl.

Just gossip, now mind you.

But you know how gossip spreads. For instance, it was bruited about so much that 15,000 saw Texas play Colorado, 15,000 turned out for the Louisiana State game, 44,000 for the Oklahoma clash and 25,000 for the tilt with Arkansas.

And this gossip has already caused more than 40,000 to decide to see Texas play Rice Saturday.

The following week when Texas meets Southern Methodist at Dallas, 25,000—that's all they can take care of at Ormyr Stadium, Dallas—will turn out.

Then, an expected capacity crowd of 18,000 is announced for Texas' game with Baylor at Waco. They're not certain how many will witness the Texas-Texas Christian game the following week but there ought to be 20,000 or more.

A sell-out is already reported for Texas A. and M.-Texas at College Station and that means about 40,000.

Then Texas plays Oregon in Austin. That should be worth 40,000 more and maybe capacity of 46,000 if Oregon is still a Rose Bowl contender by that time.

But don't tell anybody Texas would like to play in the Rose Bowl. It might hurt the attendance. As things stand curiosity and a desire to pick up some gossip are keeping the box office booming.

Raiders Wary Of N. Mex. U

LUBBOCK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Texas Tech's speedy Red Raiders, members of the nation's fast-twirling group of undefeated, untied teams, go against New Mexico university tonight quite wary of the team that beat them when it really hurt last season.

The Raiders ruled heavy favorites to win the game—their fifth of the season. Already Tech has downed Abilene Christian college, Oklahoma A. and M., Loyola and Centenary.

A crowd of 18,000 was expected for the kick-off at 8 p. m.

Permian Basin Drive Starts In Colorado

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 24 (Sp1) Annual membership drive for the Permian Basin Association got underway in Colorado City on Thursday, with Frank Kelley in charge and the Colorado City chamber of commerce assisting.

The drive will continue for a week, according to Kelley.

Injuries Put Lamesans On Spot Tonight

S'Angelo Slated To Be In Top Form With Hopes Of 3rd Dist. Win

LAMESA, Oct. 24 (Sp1)—Rain and a deluge of injuries and sickness have combined to put the Golden Tornadoes in the role of underdogs for their battle here Friday night with the San Angelo Bobcats, unbeaten in two district 3-AA starts.

Last week the Tornadoes downed a tough Big Spring eleven though the Lamesa line was sprinkled with injured men. Coach Lester Gregg doesn't see how his boys can triumph again for this time they're in even worse shape.

Big Tackle Kent Morgan, who saw service against Abilene and Big Spring while nursing an injured shoulder, hurt a knee in scrimmage Wednesday and is definitely out of the Bobcat battle. Gene Smith, dependable starting halfback, is down with the flu. Tom Wade, the other first-string tackle, has a bad ankle and is a doubtful quantity. Dale Cartmel, varsity center and guard, suffered a bruised kidney in the Abilene game and is still on the shelf. Kenneth Earnest, number one reserve back, still moves slowly on an ailing leg.

Gallop's Gus White, spearhead of the Tornado attack and one of the state's top five scorers, is ready to run. Bruce Fields, C. G. Eudy and Ashley Hardwick, reserve backs, will probably all see service at Smith's post. If Wade can't go the route, replacements will probably be Hall Cutler, E. V. Dunn and Suggs, who normally plays guard. The rest of the squad is in pretty good shape Gregg said.

The Bobcats, led by Chase at fullback, will be seeking their third district victory against no losses in this clash. They have already beaten Midland and Colorado City. The revenge motive will be aiding them for the Tornadoes triumphed in last year's meeting. Rocky Rundell's crew are tied for the district leadership with Sweetwater and are rated a strong dark-horse in district futures.

San Angelo high school has reserved 120 tickets here and plans to encourage the Bobcats with the presence of both the band and pep squad. Many San Angelo fans are expected to trek to McCollum Field for the fray.

The Tornadoes, back on the triumph trail with a 20 to 7 victory over Big Spring last Friday, will be seeking their third straight win against one defeat. Lamesa edged Odessa 14 to 13 besides beating Big Spring. Abilene's Eagles handed them their only loss, 8 to 0.

Gasoline Fumes Are Fatal To Engineer

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Walter T. Bovell, 52, Magnolia Petroleum company sales department who was killed yesterday at Beaumont by fumes from gasoline which poured from a tank at the Magnolia refinery.

Pressure from the inside of a 50,000-barrel tank where Bovell was changing base connections forced the valve from his hands as he was preparing to substitute plugs.

Gasoline poured from the tank and Bovell collapsed from the fumes. Two other workers climbed a ladder against the concrete fire wall surrounding the tank and escaped.

Lookin' em Over

With Jack Douglas

It's all out for home throughout district 3-AA this week. San Angelo risks its clean district record at Lamesa, Colorado City takes a swing into a lower bracket by entertaining Roscoe and Abilene goes to Sweetwater to put the Mustang juggernaut to what is slated to be its first real test.

Adding to a list of mighty poor guesses, we'll go out on the limb again this week by picking Lamesa over San Angelo—or should we say, Gus White over San Angelo. The Bobcats are in full cry for district honors after talking too much of the little end of scores in the last couple of seasons—will be hard to handle—but, Lamesa should be the one to do it.

As for Midland and Big Spring—well, it appears to be Big Spring, so far as the book is concerned. What the final score is may be an entirely different matter—still, it's Big Spring's day.

Colorado City's scrappers should take Roscoe by a good margin. After all, it's a case of a AA club visiting with an A.

Odessa is the only one that can be counted safe—Odessa's taking a rest.

'Conscience Money' Flows To Treasury

By JACK WINNETT
WASHINGTON—Strange things happen in Washington, but there is no recurrent phenomenon stranger than the facts packed into the treasury's "conscience fund."

Just 180 years ago, President Madison received a letter enclosing $5 and explaining that the sender wanted to pay up what he had cheated the government out of.

It can't be said positively yet that world conditions and the national defense effort have had any effect on these conscientious donors, but 1941 has brought in some running into the thousands and several have been inspired by government needs for defense funds.

A farm woman, living near Wichita, Kas., mails in a money order for $5.80, saying, this is "to run the government in peace. It is not to be used for war to kill people."

The largest contribution to the conscience fund in recent months was from a nurse who has spent many years in Peking, China, and who visits her home in Charleston, S. C., once every seven years.

An investigation by secret service disclosed the nurse once had worked for the government (she refused to say where or in what department). She insisted that she idled away that year and didn't really earn the salary which she returned.

The treasury's first conscience fund receipt from a soldier in the new army in training, came from Fort Benning, Ga. It was bills and change folded in a blank sheet of paper in the sum of $4.81. There was no explanation.

Often there is no explanation. There was the letter enclosing 24 cents, with the simple, scrawled sentence: "I owe this to Uncle Sam, a friend." And with a $100 bill from Sioux Falls, S. D., an almost illegible line, "For tax to the government."

From Maywood, N. J., came a money order for $6.50 from a man on WPA. "I think everybody should pay taxes," he wrote, "and the enclosed amount is one per cent of my year's wages from WPA."

Another $500 came from a death-bed. A pioneer North Dakotan's last request was that his daughter send the treasury $500. For many years he had had a wheat farm in Canada, and had run his grain across the line for sale in the United States without paying duty.

The money doesn't always come directly to the treasury. A large part of it is sent to the president, with such varying salutations as "Dear F.D.R." and "Dear Mr. President, Your Highness."

Where the treasury can investigate, it does and occasionally the money goes back. An upstate New Yorker sent in $100. An investigation disclosed he was under observation in an institution for insane.

His obsession was that he owed everybody money and the $100 sent to Uncle Sam was the only one of many payments he had made. The treasury department's check went to his wife, who was struggling to make a living for herself and a six-month-old baby.

Another treasury check went back to an old Kansas pioneer. Although living on nothing but the old age pensions paid him and his wife, he had scraped together $30 to reimburse the government "for driftwood and hay which I sold off river land adjoining a claim I settled in Kansas in 1854."

EDITORIAL -- Challenge For Service Made

It is not too early to be looking to our annual Red Cross roll call. Although the real campaign is more than two weeks hence, the cornerstone is being laid quietly and effectively in the solicitations of special gifts. The results of this work will count much toward the success of the roll call, but the ultimate achievement must come as an expression from the bulk of the people.

This year the Howard-Glasscock county chapter of the American Red Cross has a double quota, amounting to approximately $4,800. The term double quota is used because last year's quota has been multiplied by two for every chapter in the United States in order to meet the demands of an emergency program.

Curiously, the new quotas are thus based on what has been done and not upon population. This might tempt some to an attitude of defeatism because of imagined injustice; but we believe that it should be regarded rather as a challenge. When big things are done they must be done by a big people, when generous efforts are made, they must be by generous people.

Challenge indeed, for the local chapter has it within its power to challenge all of Texas with its effort, and to be used as an example all over the United States. Enthusiastic revival meeting talk? Hardly. For your information, the Howard-Glasscock chapter has been right up among the first six chapters in the state for several years in memberships per capita. The work of the Howard-Glasscock chapter in knitting and sewing is the pride and joy of Texas Red Cross circles, and the quality of locally made Red Cross garments is being held up as an example over the nation! These are facts.

When disasters have come, the local chapter has responded fully and quickly. If there is any chapter that has carried on a more effective and complete first aid and safety program than the Howard-Glasscock unit, it has not been publicized. And over and above this, the chapter has done a big amount of welfare work and has carried out some commendable service projects, regular live saving courses and junior Red Cross activities.

Yes, there is more than a quota to be raised here. There is a record to be preserved, and a challenge to be met and in turn hurled to the rest of the state. There is no honest reason why an unselfish and cooperative people can't do this and do it quickly. We hope that all will be planning now to do their part, whatever it may be.

Guest To Preach At West Side Baptist
The Rev. W. C. Harrison, district missionary, will be guest preacher for the West Side Baptist church Sunday night. The worship hour begins at 7:45 p. m.

New Mitchell Wildcat Staked
COLORADO CITY, Oct. 24 (Sp) Standard tools were being rigged up this week for a new Mitchell county wildcat, Gibson Drilling company's No. 1 Chas. C. Thompson six miles southwest of Colorado City.

Location is 933 feet from the north and 467 feet from the west line of section 71-72, T&P. Cellar and pits were being dug for Westex Oil Co. No. 1 Mrs. Dora L. Jones, 467 feet from the north and 217 feet from the east line of section 22-29-1n-T&P.

Humble's No. 1 Ellwood, Ordovician wildcat on the Renderbrook ranch 20 miles south of town, was drilling below 7,396 in shale and lime. It is contracted for 8,500 feet. Location is in section 49-16, H&T.C.

Owby No. 1 Morrison, a western Mitchell county wildcat, was drilling Wednesday below 2,345 in lime. It is in section 34-29, T&P. R. J. Wallace's No. 3 Foster on the western edge of the county was completed at 2,762 for 124 barrels on a 24-hour pumping test.

Two Dockrey & Robbins wells in northwestern Mitchell county were testing; the Brookover No. 1 E. T. Strain at 1,740 feet and Forrester No. 1-B Mills at 1,891 feet.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— And Here's What The Lads Wear At Night

By ROBBEN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Today, in keeping with the seriousness of the times, we depart from our somewhat frivolity to report on a matter which, if you ponder it, must bear on national defense. I refer to the sleeping habits (i.e., pajamas, nightshirts, and nothing at all) of the brawny movie males.

Before accepting your applause for this endeavor, I feel it only fair to introduce my collaborator, Mr. Carlisle Jones, Mr. Jones, a kindly, omniscient little gentleman with a hole in his cheek where his tongue brooks through, makes his living finding out interesting things about Warner Brothers stars.

Mr. Jones recently gave all of us a bad turn by spending too many weeks in a hospital, wearing one of those abbreviated pinafores peculiar to such institutions, which doubtless explains his eager cooperation in this project. Together, therefore, we present the following important summary:

As between pajamas and nightshirts, neither can be said to chalk up a decided victory. Also, perhaps to the distress of both manufacturing camps, our findings show that many actors, perhaps a majority, leave all their night garments in the high-boy drawer from April to October.

James Cagney's vote went to pajamas, comfortable ones always, occasionally fancy ones. But Alan Hale stuck by the old-fashioned nightshirt. Errol Flynn, said his personal valet, clings to the inexpensive white cotton pajamas he wore in his semi-tropic, "down-under" days. Dennis Morgan submissively enough wears clothes in walking hours, but casts them all aside, and dons no others, when he retires.

Monty Woolley, the man who came to dinner, sleeps in his beard—but in what else, if anything, whether Mr. Jones nor I could ascertain Jimmy Durante, according to best information, sleeps in an old-fashioned night-gown, but no pictures are available.

Though many actors sleep in pajama tops only, George Brent is not one to sleep as does the herd. He reserves the scheme, and prefers trousers only. Wayne Morris, who is in the navy now, was reputedly an as-you-were sleeper. Though our research failed to show that Wayne ever fell asleep in the shower, it indicated plainly that if he did, he still wore what he had on when he dozed off.

Edward G. Robinson has an elaborate bedtime wardrobe, including fancy pajamas, fine silk and wool matching robes—nice colors too. Humphrey Bogart, ordinarily a "raw" sleeper, likes checkered pajamas when he likes any. Jeffrey Lynn retires properly clothed in austere simple pajamas, and Ronald Reagan goes for stripes.

Nightshirt addicts include Herbert Anderson (the jockey boy of "Navy Blues") and George Tobias. But Craig Stevens and Henry Fonda use the whole-suit variety.

Man About Manhattan— British Theatre Turns To 'Escape' Plays
By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—A great deal could be written on the difference in taste imposed on American and English theatre audiences by $,000 miles of salt water. Today, for instance, there are 18 plays running on Broadway, and there is a like number in London. It is interesting to note that not one of London's plays deals with the war. Yet, here in America, where we have peace, two of our biggest hits are concerned with the war: "Watch On The Rhine," and "The Wooley."

From Broadway's detached viewpoint, the realism of war in the drama is welcome. But the English stage has gone purely escapist. "Chu Chin Chow," that venerable British musical which flourished in London during the first World War, has been resuscitated. Noel Coward's new play, "Billie Spirit," which is all about a husband with the ghosts of his former wives bedeviling him, is an outstanding hit.

London is also flocking to presentations of the perennial favorite Gilbert and Sullivan opera as put on by the D'Oyly Carte troupe. To sum up, the New York theatre has always been more realistic than the British theatre. American dramatists largely are reporters translating the political and social trends of the day. Most English playwrights seem to recoil from anything with a social theme.

If Wallace Wellington Forbes will communicate with the "Court of Missing Hats," C. B. S., they will be glad to turn over to him the prime sum of $17,700 in cash, plus a congressional pension of $125 a month for life.

Forbes was one of six soldiers who volunteered for Major Walter Reed's famous yellow fever experiment in Cuba in 1900, permitting himself to be bitten by fever-bearing mosquitoes. This dramatic episode is famous in medical history and has been dramatized for the Broadway stage under the title of "Yellow Jack," which ran here several years ago. It was based on a chapter of the book by Paul de Kruif (rhymes with life), "Microbe Hunters."

A man had to be a hero to do what Forbes did. For all he knew he might have been going to his death. . . . Therefore, it is a little sad to mention that Forbes is alleged to have deserted from the army in 1926. It is this fact that has complicated the search for him. This won't affect his claiming the money, however, as there is a three-year statute of limitations on the offense. The army wants him only so that it may turn over the estate, accumulated since congressional vetoed the pension in 1929.

Bob Hope, who is about the best comedian in the country today, gives himself a fine sleigh ride in a brief history of his own life, "They Got Me Covered." . . . In telling how he signed his contract for a toothpaste broadcast, Hope says "The must have figured I was a little anxious to sign. I bent over and four fountain pens fell out of my pocket. . . . They told me to come down Friday and they would give me an answer. I hate to be late for appointments, so I went down Tuesday and waited. And then to the world's surprise we signed the contract. It was a simple affair. My sponsor signed his name to the contract while the Hall Johnson Choir stood behind him singing 'Careless'."

Methodist Conference Will Open Tonight
DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—The annual North Texas conference of the Methodist church will open tonight when Bishop Ivan Lee Holt leads the conference delegation in communion served according to a newly revised version. Prepared during the summer by the commission on rituals and orders of worship of the church, the revised communion service will be used tonight for the second time in the southwest. Bishop Holt used it to open the New Mexico annual conference last week.

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter 16 ANOTHER CALLER
Waiting for the bus at the end of the Waller's drive, Sue Ellen tried to analyze just what Deedora had said. Deedora was the girl seen in White Sulphur Springs with Riv. Down in her heart she had known it all the time.

From the moment Major Faber described the girl he had seen as tall and smartly dressed, her thoughts had jumped immediately to Deedora. She had heard rumors throughout the summer of Riv's infatuation for Deedora Waller. Unlike herself, Deedora was modern and sophisticated and took what she wanted from life with no thought of conventions.

Now Deedora regretted her adventure. Regretted it bitterly and hated Riv. As for Riv—he no longer loved Deedora. She was sure of that after her talk with him on his last visit.

All that was necessary to make things right was her own understanding and forgiveness. That would be hard, but she must assure Riv that their life together depended upon mutual faith and understanding, then the future would be different.

She was growing up, she told herself standing there with the November wind stirring the dark oak trees overhead and feeling cool and welcome on her feverish face.

Absorbed in thoughts of Riv, she did not hear a car start down the drive from the house until its bright lights burst full upon her. Then she drew back with a little cry of surprise, for the car door opened and Johnny Harris stood beside her.

She had a wild impulse to run forward and throw herself in his arms. There was something so strong and yet so gentle in his glance, something so understanding in his grave, sweet smile.

Her uncurled quivered, the tears sprang to her eyes and streamed down her face. She groped for her handkerchief and dabbed at her cheeks angrily. She was weeping, fast losing all self-control, unable to speak.

She stammered a protest, but his fingers gripped her arm and urged her forward. She mopped away the tears, furious with herself that she should see her so hysterical—wondering how she could explain her presence in the Waller's drive, terrified as she realized that Johnny must have been at the Waller home this evening and possibly had been a listener to her accusations.

But he would have heard Deedora's story, too, and surely Deedora would want no one, least of all Johnny Harris, to overhear the confession she had made.

She hated Johnny for overtaking her. She hated herself most of all, for she wanted nothing so much as to put her head on Johnny's shoulder and cry her heart out.

Ahead a road branched from the highway and Johnny turned off and stopped the car when he came to a twist in the road. "Cry it out," he suggested. "He made no move to touch her. He lighted a cigarette, and stared straight ahead, while she wept softly for a while. Finally he said, without changing expression or moving his head: "You could solve your whole problem so easily, my dear."

"What problem?" She straightened up and angrily brushed aside her tears. "Why not marry me? I love you, I'll be good to you. I'd take you on your own terms."

Sue Ellen said stiffly: "I'm not making any terms. I'm trying to bother you, but please take me home."

Proposal
He turned then. It was dark—so dark that his face was in shadow, but she did not need to see his face to sense his emotion.

"I mean it. I'm offering to marry you tonight—tomorrow, whenever you want to accept it. I tell me. I love you. These three words are all I have to say. Loving you, I can promise you that willfully I shall never hurt you, Sue Ellen."

"Please take me home," she started the motor and turned the car around.

At Magnolia House, Sue Ellen thanked him for bringing her back. "Deedora told me you were in the lane. I deserve no credit for bringing you home," he said briefly.

The thought that he might have overheard her conversation with Deedora made her face flame. Possibly pity incited this sudden proposal of marriage. Possibly he thought it clever to make his proposal at the moment when she was least and angriest with Riv Moore.

"Good night," she said curtly. "I'm grateful to you and Deedora for being so thoughtful."

He made no reply to this. He did not start his car until after she had closed the door. She reached her own room without encountering anyone and went directly to the window. She saw that Johnny's car still was parked at the curb.

She was disturbed, curious, impelled by some strange impulse to raise her window and call: "Good night."

After this evening things would be so different. She would be Riv's wife when she saw Johnny Harris again. She wished she had talked over with him the whole miserable problem which upset her. He would have understood as no one else could understand. Her antagonism had been a silly attempt to defend herself against the emotion which he aroused in her.

Just for a moment, when she sat back there in the car, she had yearned to creep into his arms and have him hold her fast. Right now—she walked away from the window and sat down on the bed, lost in gloomy thought. She smiled grimly.

Just then her door opened softly and Aunt Caroline Fairhope entered. She wore the flannel dressing gown she had worn for years. Her soft grey hair was done up on curlers. Her eyes were anxious, her voice apologetic. "I'm sorry to disturb you—"

Sue Ellen interrupted: "I'm glad you came. Listen, Aunt Car, can you lend me the money you've put in the bank for the interest due on Belle Acres?" She hurried on to explain: "I have to go to Washington and see Riv. It's important. There's been some unpleasant gossip, and we'll have to be married right away." Then, as her aunt stared at her wide-eyed, she smiled faintly. "You guess, there's no gossip about me. It's about Riv, but it concerns us both."

"Why should you marry Riv to cover up some silly gossip?"

"Because I must, Aunt Car. You would never understand."

"But I do understand."

"I know that you don't love Riv Moore, Susie."

It was not often that Aunt Car used the name by which she had called her when she was a little girl. Suddenly, Sue Ellen felt not at all grown up - suddenly she wondered if she had grown up and could understand what she really wanted. She was confused.

The knowledge of her own uncertainty made her curt and defiant when she answered: "I do love Riv."

"You're not following your heart," Aunt Car insisted stubbornly, bending to smooth out the folds of the dress Sue Ellen was placing in the suitcase on the bed.

"Aunt car's fingers linger, as though the garment were part of me," thought Sue Ellen miserably. "As though by touching the dress she can show me the tenderness which right now I resent, for if I allowed Aunt Car to touch me, I'd lose all self-control and never have the courage to carry through this trip to Washington."

She said carelessly: "What am I following, Aunt Car?" and moved away to collect her toilet articles from the dresser.

"Your pride. The foolish Fairhope pride which wrecked my life and is going to ruin yours, Sue Ellen."

"I love Riv," said Sue Ellen, as though repeating those three words would convince herself, as well as her aunt, that she meant them. "You going to marry Riv?"

For years I've planned that, told it-boasted that I would be Riv's bride someday, and now I'll carry it through in spite of all the gossip in Tyler Springs."

"And the gossips will go on gossiping after you are married to Riv Moore and you'll hate him because he's weak and unworthy of you and you'll have nothing but your pride to reward you for your folly. I know," said Aunt Car quietly. "I know what it means to lose real love, to pass it by."

"It's love I'm fighting for," cried

Sue Ellen passionately.

"It's pride," Aunt Carolina arose and said: "I'll give you the money to go to Washington, if that is what you want, but you're turning your back on something else which you are too blind to see."

Sue Ellen tried to face her and then turned before her steady glance. "Johnny Harris, I suppose," she said defiantly. "Because he's your John's son, you want a casual acquaintance to develop into a romance. There's no use discussing that; I refuse to."

For the second time that night she had lost all self-control and wept bitterly, while her aunt's slender hand gently smoothed her tumbled hair.

"When do you leave?" asked Aunt Car finally.

"I'll have the money, I'll explain to Floss."

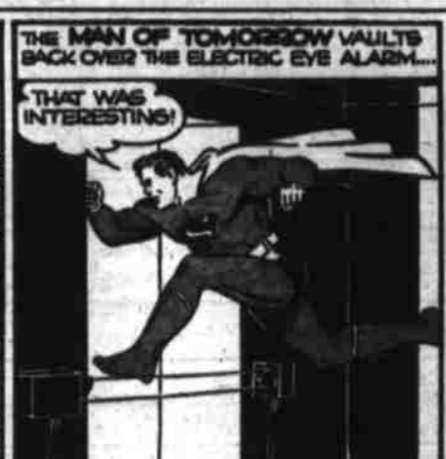

A moment later the door closed softly behind her. Sue Ellen worked on until her bags were packed. She dropped into bed at two o'clock, tired to the bone. She slept and dreamed nightmarish dreams in which she was following Riv through the darkness. Then the dream changed and Deedora was laughing hysterically and mocking her. She was crying and clinging to Johnny Harris. . . .

"Sue Ellen! Wake up. It's nine o'clock and your train leaves at ten-thirty. I brought your money -" Aunt Car spread a sheaf of bills out on the bed.

Ship's Crew Never Saw Sub Which Torpedoed Lehigh

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone, Oct. 24 (AP)—The United States-owned freighter Lehigh, sunk 75 miles west of Freetown, is pictured by her skipper as the victim of a hit-and-run torpedo attack from a submarine which none of the crew ever saw.

Capt. Vincent Arkins, the commander, said last night the torpedo struck the Lehigh at 8:55 a. m. Sunday on the starboard side of No. 5 hatch, blasted down the main topmast and injured two of the 44 men aboard.

A falling hatch beam cut off four tons of a seaman, and a junior assistant engineer, Joseph Brady, was shaken up by a fall when deck plates were torn apart beneath him.

Neither before nor after the attack, Captain Arkins said, was the submarine seen, and there was no offer of aid.

All four lifeboats were manned and launched by the men aboard—the crew of 50, one man working his way and four Spanish stowaways—30 minutes after the explosion and headed east to Freetown. The men were picked up by British vessels.

The Lehigh, with two large American flags on her sides and a 20-ton cargo consigned to New York from Bilbao, Spain, went down 34 minutes after the last boat had pulled away. She was to have loaded manganese for the United States at Takoradi, on the Gold Coast.

Army Sergeant Talks To ABC

Sgt. L. W. Bobb of Fort Bliss, El Paso, spoke to the American Business club members at luncheon Friday noon on the proposed refresher course to be offered here for prospective aviation cadets without college education.

Speaking on the increased size of the air force, Sgt. Bobb pointed out that rules for entrance that formerly required at least two years of college education for young men had been reduced. Through the aid of refresher courses to be offered in the high school here, a class of a minimum of ten men is to begin November 15th. These students will take high school subjects for twelve weeks, three nights a week, three hours a night.

At the end of the course, those passing a mental and physical examination will be eligible to enter the air force for training. Sgt. Try Guy Gibson, local recruiting officer, accompanied Sgt. Bobb and also spoke on the need of backing from the club in securing these students. Applicants must be from 20 to 26 years of age and unmarried.

Vorda Taylor had charge of the program. J. D. Jones won the attendance award.

A proposed amendment to the constitution to pay a secretary-treasurer for the club was discussed. W. D. Carnett, Roy Redner and Hugh Duncan were named to write the amendment.

An Armistice Day program November 14th and a Ladies Night combined were planned. Other guests were L. E. Johnston and Ray Compton.

Here 'n There

Sheriff A. J. Merrick and Deputy Bob Wolf went to Lubbock today to take into custody W. A. Turner, under charge of check swindling here.

Burl Hayne of Big Spring has graduated from the highway patrol training school at Austin and placed on the active force.

Dees of Southwest Texas State Teachers college at San Marcos have been notified of the school's annual homecoming, November 3.

Folks out at the Burnett-Uhl machine shop found a piece, which appears to be off a rotary bit or stem, with an express tag to the Geophysical Research Corp., Tulsa, Okla. It is from W. B. Kendall, Brownfield, but at present is lying around the office floor here waiting for someone to come get it.

Scout Leaders Go To Lubbock Conference

Scout leaders from Big Spring participated in a western sectional regional meeting Thursday in Lubbock when Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive, addressed the gathering.

Approximately 300 men from some 19 in council in the western part of region nine were present for some of the all-day sessions. Charles Faxton, Sweetwater, president of the Buffalo Trail council and chairman of the sectional party, presided at general sessions. The Buffalo Trail, of which Big Spring is a part, had the largest delegation in attendance other than the host South Plains council.

Dr. West, in his several addresses during the day, said that he never reached a decision involving Boy Scouts without first asking the question of "What will this mean for the boy?"

In the evening, he said that scouting offered a definite approach for solving two of the nation's most pressing problems, that of non-participating citizens and the crime wave. During the day he revealed changes in some training methods.

Attending from Big Spring were Stanley Mate, field executive, B. Reagan, member-at-large of the national executive board, W. S. Morrison and Joe Pickle, commissioners, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Reagan.

Midland-Sterling Road Requested

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—Members of the Texas highway commission yesterday informed county delegations requesting road improvements at a public hearing that limited funds severely restricted new projects.

The commission made no commitments on new projects. By counties, the delegations and their requests were:

Midland, Glasscock and Sterling—construction of state 137 from Midland to Rankin and state 158 from the Midland county line via Garden City to Sterling City.

Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—A quick jump of 3 cents a bushel at the start of trading today apparently exhausted buying energy in wheat and most of the advance subsequently faded away in lethargic dealings.

Business boomed for a few minutes as the trade digested Washington dispatches saying that the congressional farm bloc was laying the groundwork for a favorable bargaining position for agricultural prices during the impending fight on price control.

Wheat closed 3-4 to 2 cents a bushel higher than yesterday's finish, December 1.16 1-2 to 5-8, May 1.21 1-4 to 3-8, corn 1 5-8 to 1 7-8 up, December 76 3-5, May 82 3-5, oats 2-8 to 7-8 higher, soybeans 1-8 to 5-8 advanced, and lard 12 to 15 up.

Wool Market

BOSTON, Oct. 24 (AP) (USDA)—A number of inquiries were being received today in Boston for spot domestic wools of fine and half blood grades. Sales of graded good French-combing length fine territory wools running bulk good secured basis. Original bag territory wools running bulk good French-combing length, with some staple length, also brought $1.10, secured basis. Strictly staple half blood territory wools brought $1.00-1.07, secured basis, and graded French combing half bloods brought $1.05, secured basis.
