HELEN RIBECK WRITES STORY ON TRIP DURING THE SUMMER VACATION

Ohio Girl visits Grandparents here and describes trip to Carlsbad Caverns.

This article was written by Helen Ribbeck, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cunningham.

The day following the Fourth of July, my mother, brother, aunt, and I started out for southeastern New Mexico on the Big Four Railroad in Cleveland at 7:30 a.m.

Then we traveled along the Mississippi river about 150 miles with the Ozarks at its banks.

On Sunday, the 21st of July, we started out for the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

The entrance is very gigantic and the caverns are much larger than I ever suspected anything could be under the ground.

At the entrance we followed a winding trail down until we came to a large room called the auditorium.

From there we followed a trail that wound around rocks, went up and down where we saw small, large and huge stalactites.

About 12, we reached the cafeteria which is 750 feet underground, kept 54-56 degrees the year round.

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT WINS OVER W. WILLKIE

A precedent more than 150 years old was shattered Tuesday as voters over the nation treked to the polls and overwhelmingly re-elected Franklin Delano Roosevelt President of the United States for a third term.

The Democratic standard bearer was assured 40 or more states by returns which were incomplete as the Review went to press.

Strong Texas approval for a third term for Roosevelt was indicated as returns showed the president to have garnered more than 80 percent.

As usual, the state democratic ticket won by an even wider margin. Gov., W. Lee O'Daniel, with more than 96 percent of the votes, was far ahead of the republican gubernatorial candidate, George O. Hopkins.

Closest Texas vote appeared to be that for the proposed constitutional amendment of Red River county taxes.

In Cross Plains 383 were polled, according to S. F. Bond, presiding judge. Of the 383, Roosevelt was given 317, Willkie 56 and 10 did not vote for either candidate.

TRINITY TO TRY TO HALT JACKETS MARCH TO TITLE

BROWNWOOD, — Dominating the Texas Conference football race again with the only undefeated record, Howard Payne's Yellow Jackets enter their last lap of the current season Friday night when they are hosts in Brownwood to the offensive minded Trinity University, a team that has yet to be blanked in a game this year.

Flush from a last minute thriller victory over Texas Wesleyan in Fort Worth Saturday night when they came from behind to down the Rams, 14-10, with only 20 seconds to go, the Yellow Jackets are expecting one of their hardest battles against the Trinity eleven.

A victory for the Waxahachie team would give the Tigers a chance for undisputed championship honors for the conference, since Trinity has lost only one game along with Abilene Christian and Texas Wesleyan. Trinity plays seven conference games to the remaining circuit clubs' six, thus allowing Coach Alvah Boggs' team a percentage advantage over the rest of the pack.

Another reason why so many eyes will be turned toward Brownwood for one of the greatest scoring duels of the season. The Jackets, flashing one of the greatest offensive machines in the history of the school, has already scored 150 points this season, tallying 127 of these against conference opponents. And the Tigers have not found a club this fall either in or out of the league that has held them short of a touchdown.

FAINT-HEARTED BANDIT FLEES FROM FAIR LADY

It was a timid bandit who walked into Mrs. Charles Tuminello's grocery Monday. And as timid bandits go, he went.

So did Mrs. Tuminello. She told police that the unmasked man walked in, flashed a pistol and demanded her money. She ran out the back door. The bandit ran out the front. He got nothing but the exercise, police said.

In 1932, only 40 per cent of the nation's livestock went to market on the highways. By last year, Department of Agriculture studies of 67 major markets showed that 62 per cent of the cattle and 66 per cent of the hogs went to market in motor trucks.

One of the latest scientific advances for measuring strain on automobile parts is to make a transparent plastic model of some highly stressed metal part—such as a year or connecting rod—and to examine the metal by passing polarized light through it. When the model is subjected to loads which represent the conditions of actual use, bright bands of color appear, like miniature rainbows, indicating the section of greatest strain.

Thirty American circuses and some 300 carnivals now utilize motor vehicles in numbers ranging from several units to whole fleets. The first big circus to be completely motorized, about a decade ago, estimated that for each month it was on the road it saved $20,000 in operating expenses by using motor trucks.

Residents of farms and towns under 2,500 population account for 41 per cent of all motor-vehicle registrations, while urbanites of cities of over 500,000 population operate 13 per cent of all motor vehicles registered.

Cage Tourney At Williams Are Given

Williams high school will hold their annual girls' basketball tournament December 13 and 14th according to an announcement to the Review this week by Leo Varner, superintendent.

Four trophies and twenty individual awards will be awaiting top teams and players in the tourney. "This has always been one of the best tournaments for girls in this section and we are expecting at least sixteen teams to enter," Varner said.

Seven strong sextets have already given notice of their intention to compete. A consolation bracket will be included again this year.

At the turn of the century, total motor-vehicle production in this country was 4,192 cars, not enough to serve the needs of a small city today. It is estimated that four and one-quarter million motor vehicles will be produced by United States factories in 1940.

Buses carry 3,742,000 school children daily.

When the 1900 car chugged down the road, without top, without headlights, without windshield or fenders or bumpers, it cost the driver 30 cents per mile to own and operate. Today the average is down to less than three cents.

Every man, woman and child in the United States could ride on rubber tires at the same time and have room left over to accommodate a great number of Canadians and Mexicans. Rolling over American roads and streets are 31,400,000 motor vehicles.

OVER 100,000 NEW MATTRESSES IN USE BY TEXAS FAMILIES

Members of more than 100,000 Texas farm families are sleeping on new mattresses this fall!

Late in October 100,286 new cotton mattresses had been made in the state under the Department of Agriculture's program for aiding low-income farm families and reducing the cotton surplus. This figure was compiled in the office of Mildred Horton, vice director and state home demonstration agent of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

The cooperative program provides that educational work and supervision of mattress making centers shall be furnished by the Extension Service, cotton and ticking shall be made available by the Surplus Marketing Administration and certification of eligible families shall be the responsibility of county agricultural conservation committees of the Triple-A.

To date centers have been set up in 2,654 Texas communities and mattresses are being made in 150 counties, Miss Horton reported. Voluntary leaders who supervise mattress making in the centers number 37,290-24,859 of them women and 12,431 men.

More than a million farm families in the Southern States will receive mattresses under the 1940 demonstration program, according to a report received by Miss Horton from Mrs. Ola Powell Malcolm, Extension field agent in charge of home demonstration work in the Southern area. Nearly 600,000 mattresses had been made in 17 states late in September.

H-SU COWBOYS ARE FACED WITH HEAVY NOVEMBER SCHEDULE

After a mid-season breathing spell the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, undefeated in eight starts and only once beaten and once tied in their last twenty-one games, has bucked down to tackle the heaviest November schedule in years.

Five November games, three of them with ranking Catholic schools, Loyola of Los Angeles, Catholic Cardinals in Washington, and the University of San Francisco, began Saturday with a tussle with the West Texas Buffaloes at Canyon. The Catholic foes for the Baptist Cowhands then follow in order.

The Cowboys hold a marked edge in the West Texas State series, with 12 wins in 14 meetings since 1921. Last Buffalo victory was in 1924, and Hardin-Simmons has annexed all 10 games played since.

A year ago, in the rain here, the Cowboys came from behind to snatch an 18 to 13 win, with 72 passes tossed and all five touchdowns coming by the aerial route.

L. B. Russell and Co-captain Owen Goodnight, as last year, again lead the Rancher offensive, sparking an air-minded attack that has the linemen loading the backfield in scoring.

As last year, H. C. Burrus, the high scoring end from Lubbock, is leading the scorers, with 18 points. He is chased by Russell with 12 and Murray (Boom Town) Evans, Burk-burnett, reserve center, has 10, all accounted for with his kicking toe.

After a layoff, Coach Frank Kimbrough said today his starting combination will be the same as in the latest win over Texas Mines.

Mrs. Martha Davis of De Leon was the guest of her brother, C. A. Caraway and family this week.

Miss Ruth Caraway left Saturday for Crane where she is the guest of Miss Majorie Brandon.

Feathers Featured On Ladies Bonnets Cause Controversy

Featuring of feathers again on millady's hat in West Texas and elsewhere this season is bringing some strong accusations of wholesale and ruthless slaughter of our valuable songbirds to suit the whims of the millinery trade. A recently conducted survey, for example, by the National Association of Audubon Societies indicates that illegal trade in feathers is now booming, with many kinds of birds in the United States facing a virtual extinction.

Very few people are aware of the fact feathers of more than 40 species of wild birds, including the game birds we have in Texas, are now being offered for sale illegally via the new hat route. Plummage of foreign birds is also found for sale on millady's hats in many trade zones, in violation of both state and federal laws.

This brings about a situation that is very delicate for our game wardens and other enforcement agents to handle. They cannot keep guard over every hat shop or every clump of bushes, but they can request millinery shops to be aware of purchasing hats where adornment consists of feathers from the golden eagle, the bald eagle, the osprey and the blue heron.

Texas millinery shops are in hot water over the matter of illicit feathers, since in every instance they purchased their stocks of fall hats and other goods without be-time, he probably will take up the study of Esperanto.—The election of Dorman Nickels as Wharton County prosecuting attorney attracted interest as far away as Austin where Nickels earned money as a soda fountain attendant and in similar work to complete his education. He campaigned hard—made a speech at 10 o'clock the night before the election—O. O. McIntyre once wrote that the place to enjoy a cup of coffee was in the coffee shop of Hotel Texas in Fort Worth where a colored boy by the name of Abner has brewed the coffee since the hotel opened in 1922. They change the brand sometimes but keep Abner.

"Ain't never been a boss that ain't been rode; Ain't never been a rider that ain't been thrown."

ing aware of the fact certain hat manufacturers have been illegally utilizing the coverings of our feathered friends.

Feathers from domestic fowls, it seems to us, should be entirely sufficient to satisfy the many needs of the millinery trade without resorting to the illegal practice of killing off our remaining game birds, and those birds protected from year to year by closed seasons. Turkeys and dove feathers for instance, when properly dyed, are attractive enough to adorn almost any hat turned out today.

not an eligible juror left in the little town and so the boys were turned loose. And then the three sets of jurors "fessed up"; each one would have brought in a verdict of "not guilty" but they wanted to hear Webber make another speech!

He was elected to Congress at 30, once he preceded Calvin Collidge on a program and the President referred to "my eloquent young friend from Mississippi." Wilson ran for the United States Senate but fell a few thousand votes short; served as chief justice of the Virginia supreme court and now is on the Federal Board of Pardons and Paroles.

The only plant of the kind west of the Mississippi River or south of Chicago, the Temple concern is locally owned and is actively directed by two native sons of Bell County—A. P. Brashear, manager from the beginning, and C. V. Griggs, assistant manager. These two men and two others comprised the entire personnel when the factory was started just 12 years ago. At the height of the season now, 200 workers are employed, besides the office and sales force.

A market for many Texas products is provided—Texas hardwoods, Texas cotton and Texas paints. This observer found a trip through the big factory a revelation. Wood is cured into all sorts of shapes by means of water and steam, and pressure. Solid sheets of steel are cut in strips and fabricated into chairs, desks and tables by skilled workers using powerful machines and, by means of a paint gun, the pieces are colored with amazing speed. Just another proof of the industrial possibilities of this State.

"The greatest gift of God to man is will-power." This was a favorite saying with Dr. A. C. Scott, Sr., founder of the internationally famous Scott & White Hospital and Clinic in Temple. And friends of the celebrated surgeon—whose death occurred a few days ago at the age of 75—say that his own chief characteristic was, having once made up his mind, he stuck to his purpose.

He graduated in medicine before he was 21, returned to his native town of Gainesville to enter the practice and one of his first patients was a young lawyer, whose throat needed treatment every week and after strenuous campaigning. The lawyer was running for Congress and his name was Co. Ralley. Dr. Scott was placed in charge of the Santa Fe Railroad hospital, then newly established in Temple; built it up steadily; a tract of land founded the King's Daughters Hos-

Most vivid memory brought away from Laredo on a visit last summer during the American Legion state convention was the sight of a gray-haired veteran, seated at a piano in a hotel lobby, his eyes sightless but a smile on his features as he played "Ramona" and lifted his voice in rollicking song with the words of a parody, "Kimono." That example of cheer and courage, in the face of a night that will not disappear until life ends, should make any man—blessed with eyesight, hearing and sturdy legs and arms—ashamed at having allowed petty troubles to dismay or anger him.

Reference to the recent election of a former schoolmate, Clifford Davis of Tennessee, to Congress brought to mind the fact that another schoolmate of mine has served in that August body. Webber Wilson and I went to school together in Coldwater, Miss., though he was a senior and I was only in the seventh grade; but we became comrades as we waited down at the depot in late afternoon for "Ole Miss" (the LC train) to arrive with the evening News Scimitar from Memphis and he quoted the poems of Poe and of Tennyson.

All of us knew that Webber was going to be a statesman or a great lawyer, or both. Once, a mock trial was held and he was the prosecutor. He made such a ringing speech that some of the students took the rope from the school bell and threatened to "lynch" the "defendant."

After Webber had been elected prosecuting attorney in the county to which he moved after graduating from the University of Mississippi, he came back to his old home town. He had not yet taken the oath of office, so when some of his ex-schoolmates were charged in city court with "shootin' craps," he volunteered to defend them.

The first trial resulted in a hung jury; so did the second and so did the third. Webber made practically an entirely new speech each time and spoke to capacity houses. Then it was found that there was
