An old story, but always news in West Texas—variable nature of the weather.

Driving to near Crane, he drove through a heavy rain. Reaching Midland, he witnessed a severe electrical display in the heavens, with more rain.

At midnight he got up to get more quilts when the thermometer in the north room showed and above the mercury far below freezing.

At noon Dallas reported a light snow falling, while El Paso reported a dust storm.

El Paso, shielded by mountains, had not felt the full force of the blizzard, reporting 40 degrees at 7 a. m.

Maximum Fall Maximum fall reported was 59 degrees at Pueblo, Colo.

A light snow fell here during Tuesday morning, following light rain early Monday night. Snow flurries continued to noon.

Forecast for Wednesday in West Texas was generally fair and not so cold in this, the northern portion.

WEATHER

Big Spring and vicinity—Partly cloudy and continued cold to night. Wednesday probably fair and not so cold.

West Texas—Partly cloudy and colder in south portion, with temperature 20 to 24 in southwest portion and 17 to 20 in southeast portion.

The Comforts of the American Home

IT IS a well-known fact that, home for home, the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation.
In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities.
In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the radio, the vacuum cleaner, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless labor-saving appliances.
There is a well-kept look about residence, store or outbuildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content.
Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how this condition was brought about?
It is largely due to advertising. And a big share of the credit belongs to newspaper advertising.
Stop and think how many of the foods you eat, the things you wear and other articles entering into your every-day life, you first heard of through newspaper advertisements.
You will then realize what a part they do play, or should play, in your daily life.
Read the advertisements in the newspapers regularly and thoroughly, if you are not already doing so.
They mean more to you than you can tell.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to ex-

Street Cleaners Paid For Shoveling Snow

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Not only did the street cleaners and ash men of Philadelphia work overtime to clear the last big snow from the streets, but actually paid for the privilege of doing it.

The system of high finance—peculiarly Philadelphia's—was revealed when they received their last pay.

An ashman or a street cleaner draws $48 per pay. Under the economy measures now in force, all employees receive a ten per cent cut. But the ash men, not receiving $50 per pay, are exempt.

But for working 11 hours overtime in clearing the snow from the streets, they draw $4 each which made their checks total $52. So at once the 10 per cent economy order applied, and they were cut $5.20 each, receiving checks for $46.80, or $1.20 for the pleasure of working 11 hours overtime in shoveling snow.

are deductible if they are not covered by insurance. A loss arising from fires, storms, shipwrecks or other casualty need not be connected with the taxpayer's trade or business, the bureau has decided.

Bad debts constitute a considerable item in the returns of many taxpayers and may be treated in one of two ways—either be deduction from gross income in respect of debts ascertained to be worthless either in whole or in part, or by a deduction of a reasonable reserve for bad debts.

Billy Disch Begins Diamond Training For 20th Pennant

AUSTIN (UP)—The University of Texas team, which under William J. (Uncle Billy) Disch has won 19 championships in 22 years, began its 1933 campaign preparation today.

Eight lettermen from the 1932 title-winning team were available to the diminutive, gray-haired coach who has sent such stars as Bob Falk to the pinnacle of the national pastime. Missing from today's candidates were Ray Ater, last year's captain and shortstop, who graduated from college baseball directly into shortstop for Tyler in the Texas league.

A merry battle is anticipated for four other vacant berths, firstbases, shortstop and two outfield posts. Ernie Koy, plunging fullback on the football team and captain of the baseball team, will retain his old post in the outfield. His heavy hitting was one of the factors in bringing the 1932 flag to Texas.

John Hilliard, sophomore backfield ace of last fall's football squad announced his candidacy for a position beside Koy in the outfield. He also probably will be tried in the infield. At least three other promising players have bid for outfield posts.

Bennie Rundell, basketball guard who will not be able to report until the end of the basketball season and John Lovelady, Celine, last year's reserves, will find competition from several for the keystone berth.

Any of various combinations for second and shortstop ultimately may result, with Pat Anekman, Houston letterman, in one of the places. Ed Price, basketball player and Van Viebig, both lettermen, are available for the hot corner. Price, however, may be shifted to first base, because of his hitting ability, leaving Viebig to defend his regular post against Ronald Fagan, another basketball and football player aspiring to baseball.

Disch has two lettermen for catching, Ox Stanton and Douglas Bloebaum. The two aces of the 1932 mound staff, Vernon Taylor and Charley Winton, probably will carry the burden of the pitching.

The Longhorns will have a month and a half to get ready for their engagement here with the Detroit Tigers on March 15. Disch plans 16 conference games. He expects games with all conference schools except the University of Arkansas, which has abandoned baseball.

Internal Revenue Department Interprets Income Tax Act In Plain English To Help Public

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Internal Revenue bureau interpreted the Revenue Act of 1932 in simple language and illustrated it with clear examples in an effort to help millions of persons required to file income tax returns for last year.

Income tax levies, which affect the pocketbooks of many Americans, were explained along with exemptions, deductions, and valuable information pertaining to business and professional expenses, taxes paid, and depreciations.

Returns are required of every single person who for the calendar year 1932 had a gross income of $5,000 or more, or a net income of $1,000 or more and of every husband and wife living together, who had an aggregate gross income of $5,000 or more, or an aggregate net income of $2,500 or more.

Personal Exemptions Personal exemptions include $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for married persons living together and for heads of families. In addition to personal exemptions, a the maintenance and operation of the taxpayer's business or business properties; it must be an ordinary and necessary expense.

Typical business expenses of a mercantile establishment listed by the bureau include: amounts paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, rent, light, heat, water, stationery, stamps, telephone, property insurance, and delivery costs.

"The farmer" the bureau has ruled, "may deduct all amounts paid in the production, harvesting and marketing of crops, including labor, cost of seed and fertilizer used, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings (other than his dwelling) and small tools used up in the course of a year or two."

A professional man may deduct all necessary expenses incurred in the pursuit of his business.

These include the cost of supplies used in his practice, expenses paid in the operation and repairs of an automobile used in making professional calls, office rent, cost of light, water, fuel and telephone in his office and the hire of office assistants.

Society Dues Deductible Membership dues in professional societies are deductible. Physicians and dentists who keep in their waiting rooms current magazines and newspapers for the benefit of their patients may deduct this item as a business expense.

Who, When and How of Income Tax Report

WASHINGTON—The Internal Revenue Bureau today summarized the Revenue Act of 1932 under which individuals required to pay income taxes must file returns by midnight March 15.

Under the title, "Income tax in a nutshell" the bureau said: WHO? Single persons, who had net income of $1,000 or more, or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $2,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period began January 1 and ends March 15, 1933.

WHERE? Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? See instruction in income tax returns—FORMS 1060A and 1060.

WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption and credits. Eight per cent tax on the balance of net income. Sur-tax on net income in excess of $6,000.

Taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each dependent; defined by income-tax law and regulations as a person under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support, because mentally or physically defective.

The term "mentally or physically defective" means not only cripples and those mentally defective, but persons in ill health and the aged, according to the bureau.

The normal tax rate is four per cent on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the personal exemption, credit for dependents, etc.; and eight per cent on the remainder of such excess amounts. Sur-tax in excess of net incomes in excess of $6,000.

"Deductions for business expenses form a large item in the return of many taxpayers and must have certain qualities to be allowed," the bureau said.

Excuse For Deductions "Such deduction must be for an expenditure in connection with

SPOTLIGHT

CHAPTER XXV
There were signs of spring in the air when the "High-Bo" company arrived in the small city of Spencer. It was to be a full week's engagement and Sheila and Jappy were glad. They could unpack some of the things in their trunks and make their little hotel room seem more homelike.

Spencer was a factory town but it had its social life also. The factories, it seemed, were owned by aristocratic families. Some married and brought their wives back to Spencer as a matter of course. Daughters went away to attend finishing schools, traveled, but when their fashionable weddings took place they and their husbands, always returned to take their places in the family circle.

Spencer's leading citizens drew strict lines of social prestige. They were rather snobbish. They made ceremonies of every public gathering and they particularly enjoyed the theater. Business was good that week for the "High-Bo" company.

Sheila soon found herself becoming something of a celebrity here. Her dancing was applauded nightly. When she left the theater—usually with McKee's protecting presence—it was she and not the comedian who received the acclaim. McKee took this good-naturedly. It mattered little to him that Sheila was registering a hit in this inland community.

By the middle of the week people recognized her on the street, turned and stared as she passed. "That's Sheila Shayne in the show at the Capitol," she would hear them say. "She's the girl who dances in that feather outfit, you know."

Sheila, with her years in the theater, didn't mind being stared at. She knew it was the price of success. "Coming to walk?" she asked Jappy one morning as she emerged from the bathroom and began rummaging in a suitcase for clean underthings. Jappy, wrapped in a brilliant eucaly coat, was watching a run in a stocking. She looked up and thrust back a cloud of dark hair from her face.

"Can't I have to see Fletcher at 11?"
"Here are some bus rides," Sheila considered. "And think I'll take a ride and see if I can find anything interesting."
"You could have taken a ride with us last night," Jappy observed reproachfully. She had invited Sheila on a blind date and the invitation had been refused.

"But I couldn't have looked around much. This seeing America by moonlight..."
Jappy wrinkled her nose in displaying with the tendrils of her hair. Yes, spring was definitely in the air. Or, it was good to be alive on such a day!

It was late morning presently a whistle blew and from the brick factory far across the field men in overall uniforms emerged. Some walked to a building which, though Sheila did not know it, was a lunch room. Others settled beneath trees to open lunch boxes. Still others ran immediately to the ball field and began a game.

Sheila smiled, sighed and watched them lazily. These signs of brick activity only served to increase her own indolence. Presently she discovered that she was not alone. A few yards down the brook a young man was lying full length on the grass, his clasped hands pillowing his head, his eyes staring at the branches above him.

"Probably one of the factory workers," Sheila thought to herself. "Maybe he hasn't the money to buy lunch—or maybe he wants to enjoy all this, just as I do."
Further investigation assured her that the young man had come from the factory. He was clad in overalls, a blue shirt and wore no necktie. His arms were smooth-tanned as if work kept him in a great deal in the open.

Sheila wished that she could see his face but he was lying with his head toward her. His blond hair, which was almost gold colored, was the only part of his head that was visible.

Presently, without moving, the young man drew a package of lunch from his overall pocket and began eating.

The baseball game was evidently a good one. Abouts arose frequently and flying figures sped around the diamond in whirls of dust. Then there was a lull and another player came to bat. There was the sharp sound of the impact of the bat and the ball, a roar, and then a black speck whirled within a dozen yards of Sheila's feet. It bounded and dropped again in a tangle of green vines. The crowd rushed across the field to the roadside. Sheila was wondering if she should find the ball and toss it back, thus protecting her solitude from interruption, when the young man rose to his elbow and, turning, faced her.

"Did that ball strike you?" he asked.
She shook her head. "No, but I wish you'd find it. I like it here and I don't want all those men tramping about looking for it. It's somewhere among those vines."
The young man rose, stamped about in the thick tangle, found the ball and tossed it well into the center of the field. Then he looked toward her again.

"You should be pitching for them," Sheila said. "That was a grand throw."
He laughed, settling himself once more on the mossy bank, this time facing her. "Maybe you do a few things well yourself," he hazarded.
"Don't we all?" she asked gayly.
He shrugged slightly. "I don't know. However I do know there aren't many girls who can dance as well as you do, Sheila Shayne."

Theories Banned For Short Course To Which Farm People Are Invited

There will be no theory thrust upon the public when the Farmers Short Course convenes here Friday and Saturday. Only programs already in force and proven methods will be suggested by speakers and demonstrators brought here by the Chamber of Commerce.

Grover Cunningham, local representative of the Federal Land Bank at Houston, has mailed cards to all farmers and stockmen possessing loans from the bank urging them to attend the course, especially the portion of the program which will feature A. K. Short, head of the bank's terracing and conservation department.

The former offices of the Chamber of Commerce in the Settles hotel are being equipped to handle a poultry demonstration. Room No. 1 is being arranged to care for canning demonstrations and addresses on home care and food conservation.

Placards of Miss Gladys Kimbrough, Munice, Indiana, are being distributed over the city advertising her demonstrations on home cooking and canning. Urban as well as rural women are urged by officials to hear Miss Kimbrough.

Youth Issued Checks To Self

BUTLER, Pa. (UP)—It was "bad stewardship," punned Alderman John W. Bider, when Robert Rollins, Slippery Rock, was arraigned on charges of issuing checks to himself under the name of "William Steward." Rollins, a negro youth, was ordered held on charges of issuing worthless checks after it was testified neither he nor "Steward" had an account in the bank on which the checks were drawn.

DETROIT (UP)—An invalid since he walked into the path of a hand's bullet four years ago, Esther Kunin, 22, daughter of Rabbi Joseph Kunin, hopes to walk again as the result of three recent operations. Surgeons at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich., where the girl was taken for the operations, expressed belief that her dream of the past four years may be realized.

FEWER DEER SLAIN IN 1932
KALISPELL, Mont. (UP)—Despite the fact that almost twice as many hunters entered the forests near Kalispell during 1932, some fewer elk and deer were bagged during the season than in 1931, state game warden report. The elk kill was estimated to have totalled 470, compared to 509 in 1931; the deer kill 266, compared to '31's preceding year.

IRAN MOUNTAIN, Mich. (UP)—When three-year-old Kathleen Schenk lost one of her hand-knit mittens she spoiled a family heirloom which her mother had hoped would last 100 years. The mittens were knit in 1857 and used by three generations. They were washed and stored carefully after each child had outgrown them.

MARSHALL (UP)—B. F. Rogers, Jefferson, former president of the Rogers State and Savings Bank of Jefferson, will be tried here on an indictment alleging he made a false entry in a report to the state banking commissioner. The case, pending since 1927, was sent here on a change of venue from Morris county.

ROOSEVELT PROPOSES VAST TENNESSEE VALLEY DEVELOPMENT

The shaded area on map indicates the Tennessee watershed where President-elect Roosevelt proposes a vast internal development encompassing reforestation, reclamation, water power and agricultural rehabilitation. Development of fertilizer possibilities at Muscle Shoals was included in the proposal. Through development of huge flood control basins, beginning at Cove Creek dam, Mr. Roosevelt estimates the power to be produced at Muscle Shoals can be increased to between two and three million horsepower. In addition he believes the proposition would provide employment for 200,000 men in the Tennessee valley alone. Picture shows a view of the fertile Tennessee valley as seen from Signal mountain near Chattanooga. (Associated Press Photo)

Silver Tea Given By Auxiliary

Episcopal Group Shows Many Visitors The Parlor Furnishings

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal Church gave a lovely silver tea at the close of the Auxiliary meeting Monday afternoon to display the furnishings of the parish house room which had been made into a comfortable parlor.

The members of the auxiliary met with Mrs. Spence presiding. Mrs. Gilmour gave the devotional. The program was turned over to Mrs. Garrette who reported the convocation at Abilene at which she was delegate from this group.

After her talk the visitors began arriving and were shown the curtains, upholstery and cushions which the Auxiliary members had made for the parlor. Tea, cakes and sandwiches were served. A silver offering was taken.

The members present for the Auxiliary meeting were: Mmes. E. V. Spence, W. A. Gilmour, George Garrette, C. S. Blomsheld, V. Van Gieson, Wayne Rice, Frank Johnson, O. L. Thomas, Wilburn Barcus, Shine Phillips, and Miss Ione McAllister.

The tea guests were: Mmes. J. B. Hodges and John Hodges, Steve Ford, R. W. Henry, A. Taylor, E. L. Le Fevre, E. E. Cardwell, J. K. Robb, M. H. Bennett, Ray Simmons, Paige Benbow; Misses Elsie Willis and Martha Edwards.

Birdie Baileys Hold Short Prayer Retreat

The Birdie Baileys met for their regular business meeting Monday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Fridge conducted the Prayer Retreat. Mrs. Waters gave the devotional and talked on Prayer.

The social service superintendent reported 215 calls, 7 trays, and $12.30 worth of clothing given to the poor. Mmes. Schnitzer, Stripling and Fridge were appointed to cooperate with Mrs. Fiewellen, superintendent of children's work, in organizing the three divisions of the children's nursery.

The members voted to join the W.M.S. in the study of the book, "Christ and the Coming Kingdom," which will be taught by the Rev. J. R. Spann for the next four Mondays.

Those attending were: Mmes. H. G. Keaton, O. M. Waters, V. W. Laitson, Hayes Stripling, C. C. Carter, W. H. Remel, L. A. Talley, O. R. Bollinger, M. Wentz, L. M. Pyeatt, C. T. Watson, Will Knox Edwards, and J. E. Fridge.

Mrs. Underwood of Foran spent Tuesday in town.

City Basketball League Race Again Free For All-Four Tied

Aces Win From Collins Bros. 20 To 19 - Christians Continue Campaign By Beating Baptists

Predictions that the city basketball race belonged to anyone were borne out in play of Monday evening when the Aces went into a four way tie. Aces clinaxed a thrilling game with a field goal to win over Collins 20-19, and Christians continued their jinx over Baptists by a 42-24 win.

Vaughn, making his reappearance in the Christian lineup, spelled defeat for the Baptists by personally arranging for twenty-one points. Loper, his running mate and loop leading scorer, trailed closely with sixteen points. Whittington's valiant efforts to keep the Baptists in the race netted him fourteen points.

But despite the splendid play of the two Christian forwards, the outstanding man on the floor was Collins Huggins, Christian guard. His bang-up guarding and bullet passing spelled more than the margin of victory. Robinson, Baptist center, started off in top form but bumped again in the latter part of the game.

Howard Schwarzenbach did his best to redeem the ill fortune of Collins Bros. but saw Glenn loop the Aces basket for two points and the game was but seconds left to play. Schwarzenbach accounted for eleven of his team's points.

Bill Tate led the Aces attack with six points. The husky forward sustained an injured knee when he ploughed into a chair in the last half, however he continued in the game.
