Record Vote Not Taken By Lower Branch

Delay On Final Passage Vote Forced By Failure To Suspend Rules

AUSTIN (AP)—The house Monday engrossed a bill to levy a graduated tax on oil production.

The bill failed of immediate final passage when its sponsors were unable to suspend the rules requiring bills to be read on three days. No record vote on engrossment was taken.

Felton Smith Funeral Held

Knights Of Pythias Leaders Pay Tribute To Departed Member

Funeral services for L. F. Smith, 41, known popularly as "Uncle Walt" were held from the First Methodist church Monday afternoon.

Mr. Smith was an active member in the Knights of Pythias lodge here, having served as Chancellor Commander in 1929 and Deputy Grand Chancellor of that district in 1931. Members of the local lodge viewed his death as an irreparable loss.

Theo Yarbrough, Grand Keeper of Record and Seal for the state, sent his sympathies and commences in a letter to the Big Spring lodge, saying "you are right when you say one of the noblest Texas Pythians has fallen." He expressed high appreciation of Smith's service in the work.

Midland lodge sent resolutions of sympathy and a party would likely attend the funeral services from Midland. W. D. Lee, district deputy, said he would be present. Pythians were to have charge of services at the grave.

Mr. Smith's death occurred at a local hospital Saturday morning, several days after he underwent a major operation. He is survived by his wife and six children.

Members of the Kiwanis club, of which he was a former member, attended the services in a body. Rev. J. Richard Spann was in charge of the services.

All public schools of the city were dismissed at 1:45 p. m. Monday that pupils and teachers might attend the services. Mr. Smith was a popular figure with school children. He operated a grocery business adjacent to the high school campus several years.

Services Held At Coahoma For Baby

Funeral services were held from the Baptist church at Coahoma Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock for Elizabeth Sue V. a baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White of Coahoma with burial in the cemetery there. Rev. W. E. Derr had charge of the services. Arrangements were under direction of the Charles Eberly Funeral Home.

The baby, born December 2, 1932, is survived by her parents, a brother Wayne Thomas, her grandparents, Ellis Lay and J. L. White of Coahoma and a great grandmother, Mrs. M. E. White of Coahoma and a number of other relatives in that vicinity.

WASHINGTON

Britain is pushing the ball along backstage for the World Economic Conference.

It is no secret among diplomats that the British will insist on getting it started early in June. The reason for that is they want it in session when the June 15 War Debt payments fall due. They figure their chances of getting another moratorium will be materially enhanced if they have it involved in a conference at that time.

Things are being fixed up now so the conference can take two definite tariff steps. It will probably adopt a plan to end quota restrictions. Also it will promise downward revision of tariffs in very general terms.

At least that is the dual program being sponsored by this government the secret preliminary negotiations. It would open the way for State Secretary Hull to dicker on individual tariff agreements with each nation.

Silver

Treasury Secretary Woodin did not leap to the front for the cause of silver as advertised.

The basic fact behind the silver situation is that representatives from the silver states are hopelessly outnumbered in Congress. They can not put across anything, unless they make a log-rolling deal with other minorities and there is nothing new to deal on.

Even after that their road will not be easy. There is no prospect of silver legislation this session unless the administration works a plan into the legislative program.

Securities—Brave men shuddered in Congress when they read the Securities bill. It proposed a lot of things that were not intended. One thing

Buy Something

Restoration of public confidence in the future of this country was a big gain in the fight to abolish unemployment and bring back economic normalcy.

A bulletin was issued last week by Charles Edison, son of the inventor and president of the great company his father founded. It read: "President Roosevelt has done his part; now you do something."

"Buy something—buy anything, anywhere; paint your kitchen, send a telegram, give a party, pay a bill, rent a flat, fix your roof, get a haircut, see a show, build a house, take a trip, sing a song, get married."

"It does not matter what you do—but get going and keep going. This old world is starting to move."

Excellent advice. It is the stuff of which we must rebuild our nation's prosperity. If every body who is able to do so would buy something, what would mean employment for more people.

No magic formula is going to get us out of the dumps. Merely being confident of the future isn't going to do it. We must, as Mr. Edison insists—do something. That something is to come out of the buyers' funk and begin to spend what money we have for the things we need.

For three years we have been a nation of bargain-hunters. We have purchased our goods at a quality. We walked a mile to save a penny, burning a cent's worth of gasoline or wearing out a cent's worth of sole-leather.

Until we break ourselves of this habit—complex, no amount of returning confidence is going to do us any good. There are times when spending in the highest forms of thrift. Just now, with millions of unemployed waiting for jobs, spending becomes a patriotic duty.

Until people begin to spend what they are able to spend for the things they need, jobs will continue to be scarce. As long as the nation has millions of unemployed, it cannot hope for recovery.

Nobody wants a spending orgy. That isn't the way. But this country does need to spend what it's able to spend for the things it needs.

In the course of a day's business, a single dime may move a dollar's worth of goods, at ten cents a move. That is money in circulation. That is the kind of money this country greatly needs and must have—moving money.

Mrs. Tom Burgin and sister, Mrs. G. C. Harris, have returned home from Clovis, N. M., where they have spent the last two weeks visiting their mother.

Panhandle-Plains Historical Society To Dedicate Museum

Building Erected By $25,000 Legislative Appropriation And Equal Sum Donated By Citizens

CANYON (UP)—Texas will dedicate a $50,000 sanctuary for relics of the old West with the formalities of 1933 when the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society convenes here April 14.

The new museum was built with a $25,000 appropriation made by the Texas Legislature in 1931 and an equal amount contributed by citizens who live or once lived in this region.

The Historical Society began its museum 10 years ago in a spare storeroom of the West Texas State Teachers College. The first notable contribution was known as the Morgan Collection and consisted of various Mexican war relics, paintings and letters.

Documents, including records of the noted XIX ranch and unpublished letters of Sam Houston, occupy another portion of the new museum. Ceremonies will be directed by Prof. L. F. Shaffy, field secretary of the society and an executive officer of the building committee.

Panhandle Dairy Show Is Opened

PLAINVIEW (UP)—Dairy cattle breeders, dairymen and farmers interested in the business will be here from the 24th to the 28th of West Texas and 10 eastern New Mexico counties for the sixth annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy show opening Monday and continuing through Thursday.

With more than 100 cattle on the ground, today indications are that exhibits will be the largest in the history of the show.

Farmers are being given free space for sleeping quarters, free gas and hot plate for cooking. A large number of men, owners of small herds, expected to be exhibitors.

A new feature this year is an educational exhibit, with lectures by outstanding authorities, Texas Technological college and Texas A. and M. will each have exhibits in this department.

Teachers also will meet and select officers for next year. Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech of Lubbock, will address an educational section Tuesday.

On Wednesday Dr. T. O. Walton, president of Texas A. & M. is the educational section speaker, speakers Thursday are Dr. Tait Butler of Memphis, Tenn. publisher of Progressive Farmer and H. W. Wilson.

Record Shows Ft. Worth Once Reaped Heavy Tax Receipts From Saloons

FORT WORTH (UP)—Years ago when horses and men were hitched to mills and main street was lined with saloons the 1,000 traffic here netted $83,000 annually, records in the tax department show.

There were 180 licensed saloons here in pre-prohibition days. The annual city license cost $187.50, average personal tax paid was $9, aggregating $3,750 and $8,420 respectively, the records disclose.

In addition to this, however, $2,170 received by the state in tax revenues from saloons here, the county coffers received nearly $50,000 yearly.

Revenues from taxed beer gardens here in 1926, would exceed the pre-prohibition revenue, it is believed.

Holy Week Services Announced For City

Today, April tenth, is the beginning of Holy Week. It is hoped, says Rev. W. H. Martin, vicar of the Episcopal church, that all Christian people will observe it in a quiet and reverent manner; and that they will postpone social affairs until after Easter.

The events of Holy Week do not belong to any particular church denomination, but concern every Christian; and Easter will bring joyousness to those who have shown in their lives a reflection of the sacrifices made for all mankind.

Holy Week Services at Saint Mary's Episcopal church are: Mid-week Lenten Services, Wednesday night at 8 o'clock; Holy Communion Maundy Thursday morning at 10 o'clock; The Three Hours Service, Good Friday, 12 to 3 p. m.; Easter Choral Service and Holy Communion, Easter Day at 11.

There will be no mid-week service at St. Paul's Lutheran, on Good Friday evening the pastor, Rev. W. G. Buchsacher, will speak on "The Crucifixion."

Reagan Test To Be Started

Lawson Closes Arrangements For Wildcat Near Stiles

Noel T. Lawson of Big Spring has assigned to Wahlenmaier Petroleum Corporation of San Angelo most of the leases on 800 acres that he obtained last year from the Texas Company out of its 3,200-acre block near Stiles in Reagan county in consideration of drilling a test for oil.

The wildcat will be drilled on the ranch of Duwain E. Hughes of San Angelo, in the center of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 23, block F, C. & M. Ry. survey, or 1,980 feet from the south and east lines of the section. This is the same location that Lawson made last fall.

The operation will be listed as N. T. Lawson and Wahlenmaier Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Hughes. The contract provides for drilling to 3,250 feet or to oil, gas or sulphur. The time at a lesser depth.

Richmond will move the equipment to the lease from Peccos county starting Sunday or Monday. The location is 2 1/2 miles east and 1 1/2 miles north of Stiles, former Reagan county seat, and approximately 16 miles northwest of the Big Lake field in Reagan county in which are located the world's deepest producers.

In his assignment to Wahlenmaier, Lawson retained a half interest in the 160-acre tract on which No. 1 Hughes will be drilled—the southeast quarter of section 23—and a full interest in the south half of the southwest quarter of section 18. He transferred to Wahlenmaier outright the southeast quarter of section 19, the south half of the northeast quarter of section 23, the north half of the southwest quarter of section 23, the south half of the southwest quarter of section 24 and the southeast quarter of section 29, all in block F. C. & M. Ry. survey.

Wahlenmaier already is drilling a test in Peccos county and is preparing to start one in Ward county.

CHAPTER XXXI
Janet opened the door and then stepped "Oh!" she exclaimed, and then again, "Oh!"

The room was a dismal affair, but it had been overhauled. Mrs. Curtis was mounted on another chair, the skirt of her negligee pulled tightly about her. Lucy had tucked away against one wall her eyes wide with fright. And in the center of this havoc, firmly planted and imperious, stood Buster, the yellow Pouter cat.

"Do something, Janet!" Mrs. Curtis screamed. "Oh, do something!"

For, wringing in the grip of Buster's white teeth, was a mouse. The mouse was alive still and emitted sharp BUIS squeaks. Buster held his prey proudly and looked from one woman to the other as though expecting commendation that was not forthcoming.

"I'm afraid he'll drop it!" Lucy wailed.

"Take it away from him!" cried Mrs. Curtis. "Oh, Buster, how could you do such a thing!"

Janet came forward. "Here, Buster!" she said authoritatively. "Come here!"

But the Persian was not to be so easily cowed. Buster, the well fed aristocrat, had gone out and caught for himself a common mouse. He had brought it to his mistress's bedroom and in that room he intended to stay. There was much sport yet to be had with the victim. Buster's hunting instinct had been roused. No longer a docile house cat, he glared at Janet forbiddingly.

She took a step forward. The cat meowed back. She reached out toward him and Buster ducked. It was all of five minutes before, finally cornered, Janet lifted the cat and bore him from the room.

A few minutes later she reappeared. "It's all right," Janet assured her employer. "Frederick took it away from him."

Mrs. Curtis had stepped down from her chair. "You're sure?" she began.

"Oh, yes," Janet reassured her. "It's all right. Except that Buster's pride seems to be badly hurt. I left him in the living room looking rather unhappy."

The other woman moved toward the bed. "I'm feeling rather weak," she said. "I believe I'll lie down for a while. And, Janet, will you tell Bertha to have the exterminator come tomorrow?"

Janet said yes and withdrew. Half an hour later she encountered the maid in the hall.

"My, but you're not nervous!" Lucy said admiringly. "wouldn't have picked up that cat for all the money in the world!"

Janet smiled. "Well, it didn't hurt me," she said. "I've just got

National Agency Places Six Schedules Of Ads With Herald For Collins Bros.

Arrangements have just been completed by Bruce MacDowell, special field representative of the Johnson Advertising and Sales Service, Rochester, N. Y., to open schedules of advertising to run for three months in The Herald on the following nationally advertised products—Kruschen Salts, for fat reducing; Dare's Metha Peppin, to increase weight; Moore's Emerald Oil, for foot troubles and athlete's foot; Allen's for rheumatism, and Kojens, "America's Wonder Anti-Septic for Feminine Hygiene."

Collins Bros. will have its firm name featured in advertising on these products. All these ads carry a "money back guarantee" should the purchaser be dissatisfied with the results. This guarantee says to the public that the manufacturer stands behind the performance of his product. The constantly increasing sale of these well known remedies shows the esteem in which they are held by those who purchase them.

More than four and one-half million dollars is being spent this year in the newspapers from coast to coast to tell of the merit of these products. Mr. MacDowell was greatly pleased in finding Collins Bros. so appreciative of advertising in their local paper, he said. In his travels all over the country, "Mac" says that the dealers in any line of business who back their faith in their local newspaper by consistent, constructive advertising are the ones who are finding business good, because they let the public know the merits of the many items they handle and keep their name constantly in the people's mind.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood Entertain Teachers Of Glasscock Association

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood of the Fairview school entertained the teachers and trustees of the Glasscock County Teachers' Association in the last regular meeting of the year March 31.

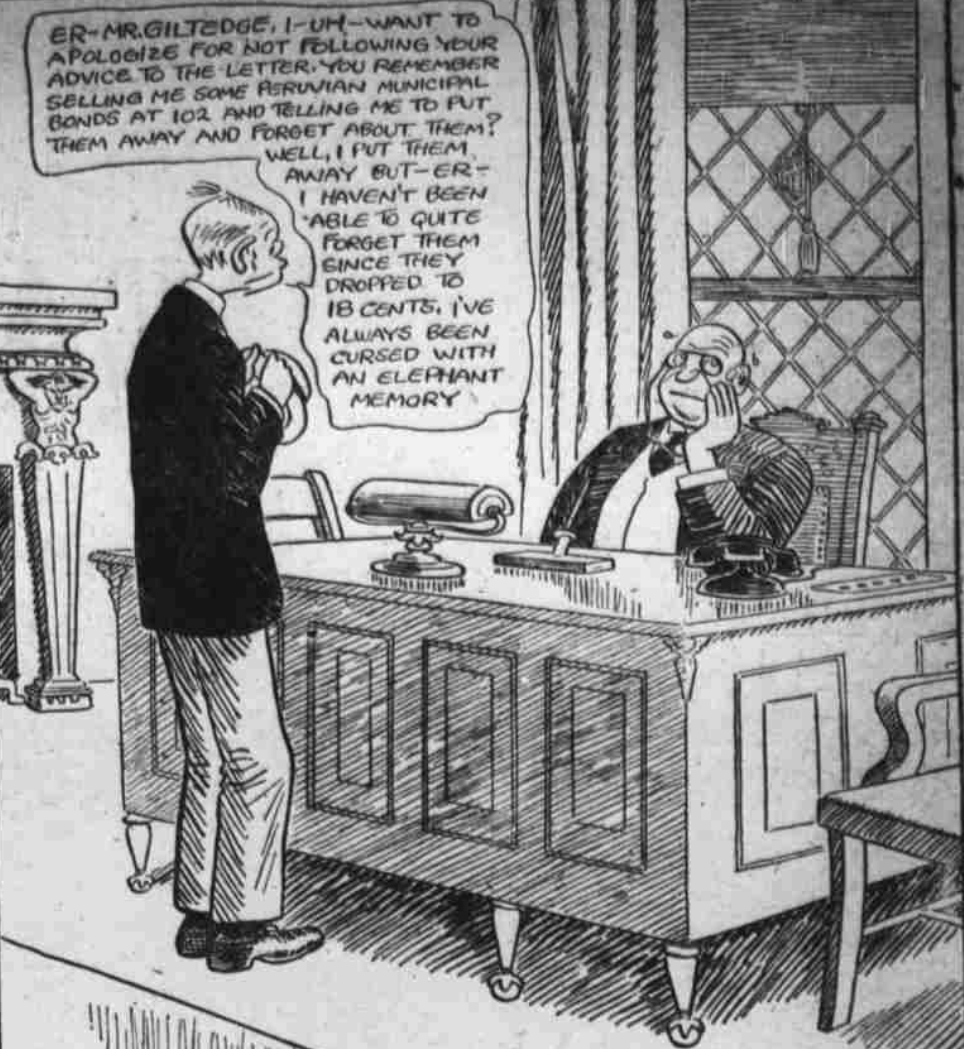

Following a delicious supper a program of well planned entertainment was followed. Champions of different contests were presented with prizes, fitting with the mood of the participants. Apples, all-day suckers, and Easter eggs were awarded winners.

It was voted to hold a special meeting of the association this year. The trustees will play host at the meeting.

was that any bank would have been stopped from lending money on stocks. Apparently some of Mr. Roosevelt's bill drafters let him down some here along the line. It will be passed as soon as they get it in shape. The clause making old securities subject to fed-

AKRON SURVIVORS TELL CHIEFS OF DISASTER

A personal account of the Akron disaster was given to high officers of the navy department by the three survivors as the first step of an inquiry into the catastrophe. Left to right: Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy; Secretary Swanson, Adm. William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, and the survivors, Lieut. Com. H. V. Willey, R. E. Deal and M. E. Erwin. (Associated Press Photo) of them have obligingly 'unintended' helpful hints to investigators. Feeling against Luce firm— is high among the loyalists. No one here apprehends any real scandal. But subjecting Morgan's to the same regulation and publicity as the other bank would destroy forever the magic of the name. There are many who are still reluctant to part with old leadership. Sentimental and practical reasons combine in this. One result may be that Morgan interests will not participate so freely in anonymous rescue expeditions for shaky institutions. Of course the rescuers were always compensated for their aid. It gave Wall Street a feeling of security to know there was someone they could fall back on. This change of policy will bring future complications for several railroads and other corporations.

Rails— The Missouri Pacific reorganization hits Alleghany Corporation hard. At present it's a bet that Alleghany itself will have to default on this fall. The Interstate Commerce Commission is reported to be working on a plan to assess Alleghany for part of Missouri Pacific's indebtedness. Legal battalions are forming to prove that it can't be done. If the plan goes through it would break Alleghany's back.

Dull— The state department has lost its humor and its color under Secretary Hull. Such things as Stimson's sailing patrol, Capt. Regnier's grant and the colored messenger Eddie Savoy have all departed. They have no counterpart in the new administration. Hull is a man of serious and solemn mien. So is the Department's.

Trade— The Irish have been trying quietly to get in first on the reciprocal trade agreements with us. That was the personal business taken up here by the recent visitor, Irish Senator Connolly. Negotiations were not actually undertaken because he had no authority. Groundwork was laid.

Bonds— Authorities here anticipate a crisis in the municipal bond market soon. They get word that municipal tax collections all over the country are way below par and numerous defaults are in prospect. May 1 will be the crucial date for a number of issues—July 1 for others.

Kent— Fred Kent—the Foreign dictator—has worked out a recovery plan which is attracting a lot of attention. It involves a government guarantee against loss to any producer who agrees to duplicate his 1928 production and to hire the same number of employees he had then. The theory is that purchasing power would be sufficiently stimulated by reemployment to absorb the goods produced thereby making the guarantee against loss academic. Washington is said to be considering the plan seriously.

Foreign Exchange— There is a lot of inside propaganda by foreign exchange speculators about letting the dollar 'sink to its own level.' The inspiration comes from shorts who got caught. The objective is to draw fire from Mr. Kent and find out what his plans are so the speculative fraternity can benefit by the knowledge. But Mr. Kent refuses to bite and the speculators are still running in circles.

Utilities— The top company of the utility group referred to recently in this column as likely to blow up is not itself in debt to the banks. The debt is owed by one of its large subsidiaries. Normally the top company could simply abandon the subsidiary to its fate without harm to itself but there are reasons why this is not feasible in the present instance.

Pressure— In the recent march of events none has shocked Wall Streeters more than the suicide of J. R. Schmeltzer, the bond broker. Before the six-month suspension of his firm on January 26 for payment of gratuities to Stock Exchange employees Schmeltzer was one of the most powerful influences in the

Tonight Mr. Harvey will speak on the subject, "God's Question To Man."

Tigers Take Sunday Game

Forsan Submerged Local Club 13 to 5 in Wednesday Contest

After suffering a 13-5 beating at Forsan Wednesday, the Tiger baseball team made a come-back here Sunday afternoon by barely losing out the visitors 6-5 in a thrilling extra inning game. Gamboa, Tiger center fielder, shone at the plate with three hits out of 4 times at bat. Hutchinson and L. Walker, first base and short respectively, starred for Forsan, while Vega and Wright showed splendid form in the outfield for the Tigers.

Names you should know

YOU like to know names that everybody knows—name of the man who tied lightning to a kite; name of the man who watched a teakettle and went out and made an engine. Just knowing such names gives you pleasure.

Yet there are names that thousands of people know that can give you much more pleasure in a much more personal way. Names that stand for the best things to eat, to wear, to sleep on. Names, that if connected with the salad dressing, hat, fountain pen you select—or any other desirable thing—mean it is most desirable. Names written large in ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements tell why those are wise names for you to know. Why such names greet you in the best grocery, department and hardware stores. Why those names are in the buying vocabulary of thousands . . . are believed in by thousands . . . justify belief!

Read the advertisements. Don't ask vaguely in a store for "cold cream," "a skillet," "a vacuum cleaner." Ask for So-and-So's Cold Cream, So-and-So's Skillet, So-and-So's Vacuum Cleaner. Use the names, you have learned through advertisements, that stand for the product that means most to you and most to everybody.

found things even worse when Gov. Ross B. Sterling took office. They looked back to the good old days of the former Ferguson administrations in expectation of finding easy access again and prompt service to the public under the re-elected Ferguson Term. But they have had a sad awakening.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson occasionally sees the press. Her husband does so more frequently but only after a series of requests to the secretary force and a long wait in the outer office.

The experiences of one newspaperman capped the climax of newspaper difficulties in the governor's office. He had sought to deliver a 'rush' query to the governor. He did not get to see the governor nor see his husband. When he sought to have a secretary deliver the inquiry to the governor or the governor's husband, he was informed by the office attendant.

"The secretary is busy dictating. He will see you in 15 minutes."

Some people are not only lucky enough to have the state furnish them an automobile but are allowed to charge the state garage rent on the car. At least that is the information State Auditor Moore Lynn incorporates in a report on state-owned automobiles on file here.

The car, a sedan, is kept at the residence of a board member. The state pays the member $4 a month for storage, Lynn says.

With few exceptions cars assigned to highway department engineers and foremen are kept at their residences.

The University of Texas was reported to have one state car in use without obeying the law requiring plain marking of state owned automobiles.

The report shows there are 871 state owned automobiles, buses and light delivery trucks which cost $376,642.

Magnolia Petroleum Company Shows Confidence In Revival Of Business With Extensive Advertising Program

DALLAS—As evidence of confidence in the revival of business activity, the Magnolia Petroleum Company is celebrating "Founders' Month" in April with one of the most extensive sales and advertising programs in the long history of the company, it is announced by E. P. Angus, vice president and manager of sales. The "Founders' Month" observance this year is of particular significance as it marks the induction into office of D. A. Little as president of the company and Ralph H. Kinsloe as vice president and general manager. Mr. Little succeeds E. R. Brown who has been elevated to the position of chairman of the board, and Mr. Kinsloe succeeds B. E. Stephens, elevated vice chairman at a recent meeting of the board.

Thirty-five years ago J. S. Gullinan, Calvin N. Payne and Henry C. Folger laid the foundation for the Magnolia Petroleum Company when they built the South's first petroleum refinery at Corsicana, Texas, where oil was first produced in the southwest. Magnolia's three founders are being honored this month by employees of the company and by the 12,000 Magnolia stations and dealers who serve motor vehicle owners in the five Southwestern states.

In the celebration of "Founders' Month" this year Magnolia is introducing new services to motor vehicle owners and operators including "Mobilization," a scientific program of specialized lubrication developed in collaboration with motor vehicle manufacturers. This improved method takes the guesswork out of lubrication and assures longer life and more economical operation of motor vehicles, Mr. Angus said.

While Magnolia's sales program for April is being devoted to "Mobilization," the company's advertising program takes as its theme the remarkable growth of the petroleum industry in the Southwest and its past and present contributions to the progress and prosperity of this territory. The part played by Magnolia, the pioneer producing, refining and marketing organization, is subordinated to the industry as a whole in presenting the story of petroleum.

D. A. Little, Magnolia's new president, and Ralph H. Kinsloe, vice president and general manager, are both veteran employees of the company. Mr. Little, a native of Corsicana, entered Magnolia service in that city nineteen years ago and advanced steadily through the accounting and executive departments to the position of vice president and assistant general manager which he held prior to his recent promotion. Mr. Kinsloe became associated with the petroleum industry in 1904 following his graduation as a mechanical engineer from Texas A. & M. College. In 1912 he joined the Magnolia Petroleum Company and became assistant manager of Magnolia's Beaumont refinery in 1913 and was elected vice president in 1929 following his transfer to the home office in Dallas.

Town Women Are Invited To Hear Miss Blair Talk
Mrs. W. J. McAdams extends an invitation to the members of the City Federation and to all other women of the city to attend the lecture to be given Friday afternoon at the Federation Clubhouse by Miss Lola Blair, nutrition specialist of the Home Demonstration Clubs. Miss Blair is sent out by the Extension Division of A. & M. College.

Miss Blair is noted not only as a good speaker but also as the originator of the 4-H-plan. She is a very popular speaker wherever she goes and has more requests for talks than she can comply with.

Mrs. McAdams states that town women need the information she will give, just as much, and in some cases, more, than rural women. Many active-minded town women who are acquainted with the work of the 4-H clubs have expressed a wish for something of the sort in town. For this reason it is suggested that town women attend this lecture and inform themselves of the movement and its advantages.

Mrs. A. S. Barnett, of Dallas, accompanied her mother, Mrs. A. L. Wasson home this week-end. Mrs. Wasson has been visiting in Dallas for the last month. Mrs. Barnett will spend the month of April here while Mr. Barnett is in England on a business trip.

Texas Almanac For '33 Issued

Many new features are contained in the Texas Almanac and State Industrial Guide for 1933, which has just been issued by The Dallas News. There are more than 1,000 articles, statistical tables, illustrations and maps, answering between 50,000 and 100,000 questions about Texas. Every phase of Texas' economic, political and civic development is covered, including farming and live stock, manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade, population, railroads, aviation, highways and automobiles, motor transportation, inland waterways, minerals and mining, government and names of State, district and county officials, education, conservation and numerous other subjects.

A large folded sheet between the leaves of the volume carries political and railroad map on one side and highway map on the other. These maps were made especially for the Texas Almanac and are up to date and accurate. As one runs through the leaves of the volume one comes across such interesting miscellaneous articles as Historic Landmarks of Texas, Archeological Research in Texas, Noteworthy Texas Caves, the Program for State Parks, Health Resorts and Places of Recreation, Arts and Artists, Libraries, Old Cattle Trails, Foundry Disputes, Kinds of Salt and Fresh Water Fish Found in Texas, Home canning and Farm Terracing and Home Tenantry.

If one wishes to know where the principal lakes of Texas are found, how to fly the Texas flag, the depth of the deepest oil well, the amount of oil and gas in Texas reserves, where the McDonald Observatory is to be built, how much is collected from the gasoline tax or the amount of the payroll of Texas railroads, he will find it in the Texas Almanac.

While many new articles have been included, the chapters of information that have become standard in the Texas Almanac are retained, completely revised and enlarged. There are more than 7,000 names of individuals in the book. Especial attention is given to historical features, particularly those of importance in connection with the tentative plans for a centennial celebration. The volume this year lives fully up to its reputation of being the "Encyclopedia of Texas."

Angelo Legion And Auxillary Prepare For Meetings Here

SAN ANGELO—Mrs. E. H. Roach of Taylor, state president of the American Legion Auxillary, and Mrs. C. J. Austin of Austin, district president, will be at the legion and auxillary convention at Big Spring next Saturday and Sunday, according to notice received by Mrs. Emmett Cox of the local organization.

Meanwhile, plans are being made for a large attendance from the San Angelo section to the convention. A parade is to be staged Saturday in which the Sweetwater band, official organization for the state, and many others will take part. Sunday morning a business session is to be held and delegates to the convention are to attend church.

Legion membership in the fifth division, which includes San Angelo, increased to 157 during March, E. E. Murphy, 48th district committeeman, announced yesterday. Total membership for the state is 18,948, for the fifth division 5,950 and for the 16th district 1,445.

Murphy has received notice of a meeting at Dallas April 23 of the 18 Texas committeemen from Carl Nesbit, state commander. He plans to attend the meeting.

THE MAN who could sell more life insurance than any man I ever heard of never shouted. Notice the men who hold the records for selling... they just talk in a quiet easy way.

Chesterfield

It's like this:
Chesterfields just go along in their own quiet way making friends from day to day.

There's no noise about it, no "back talk."

The Chesterfield slogan—just two words, "They Satisfy"—is a plain simple statement telling about Chesterfield's merits.

It means that Chesterfields are milder—they taste better.
