

From The Editor's Window

The Kitchener Daily Record, published in Kitchener, Ontario found its way to our desk a few days ago, compliments of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Heist.

We wish all our readers could have read the weekly article by Jeff D. Ray in the Dallas News last Sunday.

Our hat is off to Judge Frazier and what this country needs is more of his kind.

It is reported that a great factory town, known as Exxon-Geber, on the Red Sea and built by King Solomon in the tenth century before Christ, has recently been uncovered.

During the recent visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to New York a strip of plush carpet was laid for their majesties to walk on to their car.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners Court held Wednesday of last week, a board of six directors were appointed.

An interesting and rather pathetic bit of news reached us this week through the papers concerning what is believed to be the oldest set of twins in the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Tabor of Clyde visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Nelson Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson together with their guests visited Cisco in the afternoon, and spent a very pleasant afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Culwell returned Sunday from Fort Worth where they had been visiting relatives for the past three weeks.

3 Plead Guilty To Charges Of Theft In District Court

Three pleas of guilty were received in 42nd district court Monday by Judge B. W. Patterson of Eastland, presiding in the absence of Judge Milburn S. Long.

All the defendants waived jury trial. They were Buster Lyon, who received a year suspended sentence for theft of chickens April 17 from J. E. Walden; Alfonso Williams, assessed a five-year suspended sentence for burglary of the home of Mrs. Julia Pickard; and Jack Robinson, who was sentenced to serve a year for chicken theft.

Judge Patterson also heard several minor civil matters, and it appeared business of the current court term ending this week, was all completed.

Judge Milburn S. Long, who last week underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis was removed Monday evening from Hendrick Memorial hospital in Abilene to his home.

Case of Pete King, of Putnam, continued to next term of court.

Civil cases disposed of were: City of Baird vs Baird Sewerage Company for damages of $44,000, continued to next term of court.

City of Baird vs the West Texas Utilities Company for $49,000, continued to next term of court.

Marshall E. Wagley vs Mrs. Marshall E. Wagley for divorce, granted.

In the Scranton pool Northeast of Cross Plains, near the Eastland-Callahan County line, L. A. Warren has staked a couple of new tests. One location North of the discovery well he has staked his No. 2 Cozart, with the No. 3 Cozart to be drilled one location West of the discovery well.

Warren et al. No. 1 Clinton, section 14, BOA survey, also in the Scranton pool, damaged casing seal with second 20-quart shot, necessitating bridging above the sand and cementing.

One mile North and east of the Warren No. 1 Cozart, the Grooce et al. No. 1 J. M. Rush, section 150, H&TC survey, ran 10-inch casing at 500 feet to shut off water and were drilling ahead below that depth.

PUTNAM GETS GOOD RAIN THIS WEEK

The Putnam trade territory received another good rain this week. The fall being about two and one quarter inches. The ground was getting dry and all row stuff was needing rain. The rain will very greatly benefit growing crops and a number of farmers have been in this week, and most of them think the damage to small grain, will not be very much.

The rain will delay harvesting for several days. Several combines have been running the past several days and the wheat is making from five bushels to 20 bushels per acre, very little making as much as twenty bushels, only the low places. Oats are making from five to about thirty bushels per acre. The wheat being offered for sale is a good grade, most of it where it is cleaned is testing above 60 pounds. There has only been one car shipped, to date and it sold for 60 cents, while B.L. Boydston is offering 61 cents bases for wheat.

L. G. Ball, who has resided in Cisco for 14 years, is manager of the Western Supply store. He reports that business now is good.

ROAD WORK NORTH ON PUTNAM-MORAN ROAD MAKING PROGRESS

The work on the Putnam-Moran road is making good progress. They have the hard surface on to about 1000 feet north of the Burnam place. There is two or three culverts that will have to have a little more work before they are completed. The Putnam-Moran end will be a much better road, than the one going towards Cross Plains, as they have better road material for use. Commissioner Allen and others are working on the Texas highway commission trying to get them to take over the road from Cross Plains to Moran and maintain it. If this can be done it will be a great relief to Callahan county, as it will leave the small amount of road and bridge fund for the other county roads.

THE TEXAS & PACIFIC LAKE WASHES OUT AT BAIRD

The Texas & Pacific lake at Baird which covered about fifty acres washed out Sunday night, caused by the big rains. The gage showed that they had about five inches of rain.

With the big rain and the breaking of the dam at the lake the valley east of Baird was overflowed. The water by the time it reached the highway bridge at what is known as the Barbecue ranch, it was more than twenty feet deep and floated a good size feed barn up on top of the concrete bridge on the Lanthead highway.

By the time the water reached the Texas & Pacific bridge, it was very near the top of the bridge and undermined it until there were no trains going over the bridge late Tuesday evening. Putnam has been the terminal where passengers were transferred by bus from east bound trains to Baird, and from West bound trains to Putnam, in the same way.

Monday afternoon there was three big Texas & Pacific trucks used to take baggage and express from the Sunshine Special from Putnam, to Baird while it took five Greyhound busses to transfer the passengers from the same train. All that valley near the Octane Refining Company was overflowed, and the water went over the road at the Mexia bridge, the first time since the old bridge was washed out about 1921.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Yeager and daughter, Ruth Yeager visited relatives in Cisco Saturday night.

FROM CONGRESSMAN CLYDE L. GARRETT

ADJOURNMENT:

Even though much has been done in this session of congress, adjournment will not likely come before July 15th. Much legislation is to be taken care of yet, including: National Labor Relations Act amendments, revision of Wage-Hour Law and the Social Security Act; Extension or revision of existing neutrality laws; Repeal, modification, or continuance of certain provisions of tax laws; definite legislative action must be taken on export and domestic subsidies on farm products, and will facing Congress is the question of how much and what method will be applied to Federal relief funds during the 1940 fiscal year.

TRANSPORTATION:

The Senate debated and passed the Wheeler Bill tightening Federal regulatory powers, through the Interstate Commerce Commission, over the inter-related freight and traffic rates on inland, coast-wide and intercoastal shipping, interstate motor bus, truck rates and rail rates. The Railroad Reorganization Court bill, was later debated on by the Senate.

COAST GUARD BASE:

The House passed a Senate bill authorizing construction of a Coast Guard Base at Kodiak, Alaska, at a cost of $2,733,000 to be built jointly with a naval air base there. This bill is for the purpose of strengthening the Coast Guard as an arm of national defense. The bill also authorizes building a new cruiser at a total cost of $9,000,000 and the construction of fifteen new Coast Guard airplanes totaling $2,490,000.

NAVAL PUBLIC WORKS BILL:

The Senate amendments to the $54,900,000 naval public works authorization bill were accepted by the House, and the bill has been sent to the President for his approval.

INSURANCE ON MORTGAGES:

Under a bill agreed to in conference the Federal Housing Authority's power to insure mortgages is to be extended to July 1, 1941, and the amount of such insurance it can issue is increased from three to four billion dollars.

SOCIAL SECURITY AMENDMENTS:

The Social Act amendments which would hold old-age insurance taxes at the one-percent rate; inaugurate payments of these benefits in 1940 instead of 1942, and would restrict unemployment compensation taxes to wages of $3,000 per annum or less, have been reported favorably to the House by the Ways and Means Committee.

RADIO STATIONS:

The Federal Communications Commission issued new rules and regulations for international broadcast stations, and for the experimental service. Principal changes in the new rules governing international stations is a provision which allows these stations to include commercial or sponsored programs, under certain restrictions. The new rules governing experimental service eliminate the former general and special experimental license and divide the licenses of this service into three groups.

MURALS:

The American Indian pictured neither as a scalping "savage", nor as a member of a dying race "at the end of the trail", but as a vital human being passing through the transitions required by the invasion of an overwhelming foreign civilization; this is the portrayal of Indian life in the murals of Maynard Dixon, just put on view in the Indian Office section of the new Department of the Interior building. Mr. Dixon an old friend and staunch advocate of the Indian, was chosen from a large field of aspirants for the difficult and exacting task of painting the Indian as he is today and as he was at the close of the period of military conquest. The first group of murals shows a scout carrying a Sharp's rifle and a soldier, resting on his sword, facing two Indians. One has a war-club, the other a pipe of peace. The second mural, shows the white man teaching the Indian the arts of peace and civilization. A farm agent holds a handful of soil, explaining to an Indian boy, new agricultural methods and techniques, while his parents, representing the former culture, look on.

WITH OUR WILDLIFE

By JOHN R. WOOD State Game Warden

Federal Aid to Wildlife in Texas Texas is ahead of all other states in the amount of money received to date from the federal government for wildlife restoration purposes. The Game Department was advised this week by the American Wildlife Institute.

A total of $53,600, three-fourths of its federal money, will have been spent during the fiscal year ending July 31 for wildlife restoration in Texas under the terms of the Pittman-Robertson "Federal-Aid-to-Wildlife" act passed in 1937. Pennsylvania ranks second with a total of $52,383 available at present for game work. The total cost of Texas' five-year project now under way will be $300,000 approximately twice as much as will be made available to any other state included in the last American Wildlife Institute report.

The Pittman-Robertson act earmarked for wildlife a fund of about $3,000,000 annually, an amount equal to the federal excise tax on arms and ammunition. The money is being allotted to various states through their game departments, which were invited to submit projects of the approval of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey and the Secretary of Agriculture.

Texas was one of the first states to submit a project—a long range state wide wildlife survey, demonstrations and management program intended to last five years, its purpose being to determine what makes certain species of wildlife "click," and, with this information at hand, to launch game bird and animal restoration programs as soon as possible.

The project won immediate approval of federal authorities and was started in August 1938, with 13 trained wildlife experts in the field, directed by a supervisor. The federal government allotted $40,200 for the project, and the Game Department matched it with $13,400 as required by a regulation that each state must match federal funds in the ratio of 1 to 3 on each project.

The research phase of the Texas program, described as the first ever proposed on a large scale, won national attention and was initiated by several states—notable Missouri and New York. Of 25 states listed as participating in the Pittman-Robertson program June 1, 17 had research programs of some kind.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS BY BOYCE HOUSE

It is rumored around Austin that Senator Joe Hill may run for the United States Senate next year. He is a ready debater, a natural-born fighter dynamic campaigner and he would have to be reckoned with.

est joke" contest, so here are several entries: An Irish immigrant was asked as he stepped off a boat in New York "Are you a Democrat or a Republican?" He answered, "I dunno but I'm ag'n the government." A 90-year old mountaineer, with long whiskers, was sitting in the doorway of his cabin when a stranger inquired, "Have you lived here all your life?" He replied, "Not yet". And of course you remember the one about the farmer visiting a big city for the first time. He was so impressed by the trucks and automobiles whizzing through the streets that he wrote a postcard to the folks back home. "They sure behind in their hauling here."

If you were one of the several thousand who attended Casa Manana in Fort Worth in 1936, you still remember the thrill at hearing "The Night Is Young and You're So Beautiful"—a song written especially for the magnificent show. Well, there will be another beautiful ballad in this year's Casa Manana and it will be written by a Texas song-writer. Lou Wolfson, executive director, has announced a contest for the best song written by a Texan and the melody will be sung by golden-voiced Kenny Baker to the lucky girl who is chosen as Texas Sweetheart No. 1.

Puebla, Mexico, was the scene of the victory of 2,000 Mexicans over 6,000 Frenchmen on Cinco de Mayo and it also recently was the Waterloo of Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth past International Lions' president who led a pilgrimage of Lions into Mexico. Famous as an orator and conversationalist, Hyer met his downfall, ironically enough at the hands of a street vendor.

A group of the Americans were sitting in Puebla's dreamy central park and Hyer was in the midst of a monologue when a native silently displayed a serape. "No," said Hyer, and attempted to resume his discourse but the street salesman held his ground. "No, no, señor," Hyer exclaimed but still the Mexican stood there like the boy on the burning deck or the unwelcome raven perched above Poe's chamber door.

"How do you say 'Serape' in Spanish?" appealed to his fellow travelers.

Up to this point, the native had said nothing. Now he said in excellent English, "If you wish me to leave, you should say, 'No quiero comprar nada', meaning 'I do not wish to buy anything'." And he stood there smiling until Hyer, carrying out the ritual, said, "No quiero comprar nada." And then the serape-vendor moved serenely on.

A deep silence descended except for the light rippling through the trees and—will you believe it?—The sound the wind made was very much like a chuckle.

United States Marshal Guy McNamara of Waco, in conversation in Austin recently, called to mind an old-time political campaign in which one candidate accused his opponent of inconsistency, quoting a fable about "the big snake that went through the county."

"He wobbled in and he wobbled out; He kept the people all in doubt As to whether the snake that made the track Was coming in or going back."

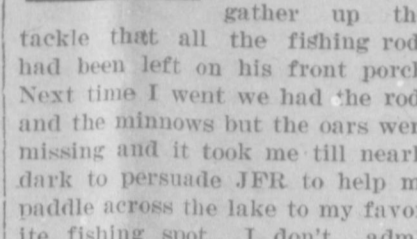

Passing by a Dallas garage recently, this observer saw a car, or what had once been a car. The front wheels had been ripped off, the hood had been crumpled into a shapeless mass and the top had been crushed in. The thought of being inside such a bullet when it crashed at 90 miles an hour made one break out in a cold sweat.

A young immigrant from Italy decided that citizens of Italian birth and descent in the Southwest should have a constructive newspaper of their own. So Chas. Papa,

THE BOOK SHELF

Lexie Dean Robertson "On this book shelf always look for anything except a book"

Recently I have been desperately trying to go fishing. The first free afternoon I donned the new slacks, gathered up my crowd and sallied forth. After we had paddled out to the middle of the lake I reached for the bucket with one hand and for my rod with the other. Then it was discovered to the blushing embarrassment of the FF (Family Friends, the GF's husband) whose duty it was to gather up the tackle that all the fishing rods had been left on his front porch.

Next time I went we had the rods and the minnows but the oars were missing and it took me till nearly dark to persuade JFR to help me paddle across the lake to my favorite fishing spot. I don't admit that I've gone fishing unless I am moored by the south pier where I have taken several almost world's record crapple. Finally he gave in and said we would attempt it so the boat would be in place and I could fish there the next day. What a struggle it was... I suffered much in silence and made three blisters on my hand with the broken board I was using for a paddle... the boat insisted in going weird directions but after much tacking back and forth we made it. JFR tied the boat securely... not in silence... and we left the minnow bucket tied to the boat because one of the times I didn't go fishing was because a dollars worth of minnows had died in the gold fish pool. Next afternoon I could hardly wait to reach the lake, climb arduously up the high dam and perilously down the ladder that reaches from the pier to the water—much hampered on account of the bulky life-jacket JFR insists that I wear since I can't swim. And then the boat was gone! Somebody had borrowed it to go fishing!

So I have given up fishing till I get back to Yellowstone Park. There in a hay meadow where the sweet grass grows is a sweet little stream that is teeming with red-speckled trout. Even catching a record-breaking crapple doesn't give me the thrill of the quick unexpected yank on the line by one of those little boogers. Texas has everything, but I do wish Eastland County afforded some icy swift-who arrived in Dallas in 1908 to establish a fruit and produce business, started La Tribuna Italiana a few years later and will commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary on June 30 with a special edition. The newspaper has subscribers in 33 states and its articles on opportunities offered in Texas have been frequently reproduced in Italy. At first, La Tribuna Italiana was entirely in Italian but now four-fifths of the contents are in English. The newspaper cooperates with civic organizations, more especially those of course in Texas cities having a large number of Americans of Italian descent.

running trout water! Did you see how Otto Borden kircher augmented my garden orchestra in his Vignettes in the Star-Telegram one recent Sunday? Give Otto a single fiddle and he can Billy Rose it into a world premiere.

Many people seem surprised to discover that the King and Queen of England are simple, lovable persons. I expected it because I have been trained from childhood to believe that true aristocracy is always like that, and the only snobbish persons I ever met were those who were not sure of themselves. The greater an individual is, the more at ease he makes you feel in his company.

And aren't we all glad that the President has insisted upon entertaining the royal guests in the "American Way". That should be a lesson in hospitality for each of us from the humblest cottage on up. Never try to impress guests a style which is unaccustomed. Be your natural, every day self. If you don't serve fingerbowl after each meal, for Emily Post's sake don't try it when company comes.

In our family we have a very distinguished, aristocratic, much-traveled Aunt. I'll never forget the first time she visited me and I made every effort to treat her in the style to which she was accustomed. I dressed my small maid in black mohair and white ruffles and coached her for days just how to act when Aunt Lady arrived. On the first evening when I heard a strange voice in the living room I went in to discover the maid's brother who was the village junkman calmly seated by the fire and entertaining Aunt while his sister and I made dinner ready!

The only books I am reading now are travel and map books. If you want me to plan a trip for you just write and I'll tell you how to do it more cheaply than you can stay at home.

Now comes the Pauls Valley (Oklahoma) Daily Democrat interviewing a Texas neighbor, Mrs. Bedford, well-known club woman of Desdemona who says that LDR "likes better than most anything else to wear a red velvet dress." Dear Mrs. Bedford. Naturally anybody would think that after seeing me at public functions for the last three winters, but it isn't altogether a matter of preference. I would love also to wear blue lame or hyacinth lace but the wardrobe offers only the same old frock on its long hanger!

NEW COUNTY HOSPITAL TO BE READY SEPT. 1

The New $55,000 Callahan county hospital under construction since early in January is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy by September first, it has been announced by County Judge L. B. Lewis.

The cost runs a few thousand dollars above the original estimate due largely to the fact that builders had to go deeper for the foundation than figured.

County Agent's Column

Callahan County ranked 23rd out of a total of 108 counties that entered the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Soil and Water Conservation contest that recently closed.

Dane Robinson, president of the Clyde 4-H club, Scott Hays, Billie Sol Estes, and Marshall Jolly members of the club are planning to attend the Boys' and Girls' short course at College Station July 5, 6 and 7. The trip will cost about $7.50. Boys from the county that have attended in former years say the trip is worth every penny it takes to make the trip. It is hoped a few more club boys from Callahan county will be able to make the trip.

Short course—Between five and six thousand farm people will visit the Texas A. and M. campus during the Short Course period of July 5-14. H. H. Williamson, director of the Texas Extension Service, estimates.

Accommodations have been provided for 2,500 boys and girls during the 4-H club Short course of July 5-7, he said, around 200 boys are expected to camp out and another 900 will be housed under the stadium, while the girls and the remainder of the boys will have dormitory rooms.

Registration of farm and ranch men and women at July 12-14 Farmers' Short Course is expected to reach 2,500. In addition, a number of special groups will meet at the same time. These include the Institute for Cooperatives, the Texas Agricultural Workers, Texas Agricultural Writers and Texas Horse, Jack, and Mule Breeders' Association.

County agricultural and home demonstration agents will gather July 10-11 for their annual session between the two Short Courses, as will workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

D. L. Weddington, in charge of arrangements for accommodations, said rooms and meals would be available in excess of the expected attendance. "No one who wants to attend the Short Course need stay away," he pointed out.

Farm and ranch survey blanks have been sent to all farmers and ranchmen of the county with the request that they be filled out and returned to the office of the county agent. This is the second step in the land use program that is destined and planned to work out a program that is made for the county and by the county, instead of having an agricultural program handed down for agricultural workers in the county to work from. Those receiving the blanks may be assured that the information will be very valuable in the formation of an agricultural program for the county and are asked to fill out and return the forms promptly by the chairman of the program planning board Earl C. RUSTIC THOUGHTS

Earl A. McDowell

Instead of doing unto others as we would have them do unto us, we usually do unto others as we think they would do unto us if they had the same opportunity.

Money doesn't worry most of us worries at all. Trying to make enough to live on is what worries us.

SCRANTON

Rain estimated at five inches fell here Sunday night doing considerable damage in soil erosion, breaking of terraces and washing away fences. Corn was badly blown down by the hard wind and ripened grain greatly damaged. It is thought however, that the moisture that was badly needed for growing crops and pasture will far out weigh the damage done.

The Scranton cemetery is looking nice after the working it received last week. If all people who are interested in this work would see the community and help in a financial way the cemetery would be kept in a neat condition at all times.

HIGHER DAM OKEHED FOR BROWNWOOD LAKE

Herman Bettis, manager of the Brown County Water Improvement district, has been informed that the secretary of war has approved a report recommending increasing the height of the Lake Brownwood dam by 25 feet and providing for a flood control gate in the spillway. The report, it is understood, had been forwarded to the president for his action.

The freeboard of the 85-foot dam is now 25 feet and this would be increased to 50 feet. The purchase of necessary acreage on Pecan Bayou that would be flooded by the impoundment is also proposed.
