

From The Editor's Window

Christmas was observed by fewer people this past year of 1941 than ever before since Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world, came.

When the Savior of men left this world He said, "My peace I leave with you," and after these almost two thousand years have passed, we find ourselves in a terrible war of hatred and turmoil which surpasses any condition.

The teaching of peace and good will should be taught in our homes, schools and other institutions and until this has been done and accepted by the world, war or the continual threat of war will be with us.

During these troublous times our thoughts and energies should be directed toward the winning of the war and in all things be faithful, loyal and patriotic.

One of our exchanges has announced that Texas ranks high in the purchase of Defense Savings Bonds. On November the first our status was seventh from the highest and we had purchased up to that time $26,768,000 worth of bonds.

The Federal loan administrator, Jesse Jones, has announced that arrangements have been completed for the United States to purchase the entire sugar-cane crop of Cuba for 1942.

It is noble of men to think of future generations, but we are so selfish we are concerned more about what the world is today than we are about what it will be when we aren't.

"Pa," said Johnny, looking up from his composition, "is water-works all one word or is it spelled with a hydrant?"

It is said of Evangeline Booth, retired international commander of the Salvation Army, that she took a horseback ride recently on her 76th birthday to prove she is still "young in spirit, young in action and young in work."

We like frank folks. A woman of that type was in our office the other day and said bluntly, I used to read your column for first thing, but I don't any more.

We expressed regret that she had lost interest in the corner. "No, it isn't that, but food and other prices are going up so fast that I read the ads first and if I see what I want I go right down and get it before the supply runs out or the article goes up again."

Smart woman! We have to admit that the ads pay bigger dividends than the front page.

SECOND TERM ASKED BY LESLIE BRYANT

I am indeed grateful to you for your support and cooperation and the many courtesies extended me during the year I have served you as your County Clerk.

I feel I am even more capable of serving you in the future, as the year's experience has acquainted me with the duties of the office.

Again let me say I appreciate all favors and courtesies shown me in the past and please feel free to call on me any time for any service I am able to render you in the future.

Respectfully, LESLIE BRYANT

What To Do In An Air Raid

- 1. Above all, keep cool. Don't lose your head. 2. Do not crowd the streets; avoid chaos, prevent disorder and havoc. 3. Don't believe rumors—spreading false rumors is part of the enemy's technique. 4. Air raid warning signals generally are short blasts or rising and falling pitch, or whistles or horns. The all clear is a steady tone for two minutes. 5. If an incendiary bomb falls, cover it with sand, or spray it with a garden hose (never a splash or stream!). Switch to a stream to put out any fire started by the bomb. Switch back to a spray for the bomb. A jet, splash, stream or bucket of water will make bomb explode. 6. Under raid conditions, keep a bathtub and buckets full of water for the use of the fire department in case water mains are broken. 7. If you have a soda-and-acid extinguisher (the kind you turn upside down), use it with your finger over the nozzle to make a spray. Don't use the chemical kind (small cylinders of liquid) on bombs. It is all right for ordinary fires. 8. Should gas be used, go at once to the most "inside" room in your house (farthest doors and windows). Paste paper over glass. Stuff rags in window cracks and under doors. 9. Choose one member of the family to be the home air raid warden, who will remember all the rules and what to do. 10. Whether or not a blackout is ordered during a raid, put out all lights at once. 11. If a light inside the home is necessary, use rugs, blankets, portiers, over-drapes, or curtains, arranged in double thickness over your windows. Don't crowd or stampede stores for special material. Be ingenious—in provide. 12. During a raid, remember to shut off gas stoves, gas furnaces, and gas pilot lights. 13. If bombs start to fall near you, lie down, you will feel the blast least that way, escape fragments and splinters. The safest place is under a good stout table—the stronger the legs the better. 14. Above all, keep calm. Stay home. Put out lights. Lie down. Stay away from windows.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kennedy and daughter Wanda, spent a few days last week visiting with Mr. Kennedy's mother Mrs. Ella Kennedy.

Rev. J. Morris Bailey, former pastor of the Methodist church was here for the funeral of Mrs. W. J. Biggerstaff Tuesday afternoon.

News From The AAA Office

Dairy cows oft to shiver and shake in the cold and wet of the open field during winter have little reserve remaining with which to make milk, says E. R. Eudaly, dairyman of the A. and M. College Extension Service. An open shed facing south will keep cows dry and warm, and anything which adds to their comfort adds milk to the bucket. National defense, Eudaly adds, justifies every precaution to prevent a drop in milk production this winter.

Dairy cows also need plenty of hay, bundle feed, straw or other dry roughages, and if possible, some silage. The more roughage a cow eats the less grain mixture is required. As a cow on dry feed puts about one-fifth of the water she drinks into the milk bucket, sufficient for her needs should be provided. It is desirable to warm the water during cold, bad weather.

Cows cannot maintain good production without an adequate supply of Vitamin A, which is obtained from green feed, even though the ration is perfectly balanced as to protein, carbohydrates, mineral and water. When getting more than they need, cows can store enough vitamin A to last 90 to 99 days, depending upon the amount of milk they are producing. This is an important reason why they need out or some other green pasture during the winter.

Eudaly says that farmers who have no hay containing some green or silage, can supply their cows with enough vitamin A to maintain production by feeding one pound of alfalfa leaf meal daily, four lbs. of peagreen alfalfa hay, or any other peagreen hay daily, or six pounds of yellow variety sweet potatoes.

As most of the roughage furnished to cows in Texas is low in protein, grain mixtures will have to be high in that element in order to supply the amount needed. Protein is the only element in feed which stimulates milk production. Cows getting sorghum cane hay, Johnson grass hay, grain sorghum bundles, bermuda grass hay, prairie grass or other hays should be fed a grain mixture which will analyze 21 to 22 per cent protein, depending upon the quality of the hay. Further information may be had by writing to the Extension Service.

Texas farmers will exceed the minimum goal of 17 percent increase over 1941 set by the Texas USA defense board for hog production in 1942, according to E. M. Regenbrecht, swine husbandman of the A. and M. College Extension Service. "The woods and the plains literally are turning to pigs," he adds.

Available figures indicate that the increase in production from the 19-41 fall Texas pig crop will be about farrowing. The increase for 1942 applies to the spring farrowing as 15 per cent over this year's spring compared with the corresponding period of 1941.

The outlook for hog prices for 1942 is good, the specialist says. The slight drop in prices in the latter part of October was seasonal and temporary.

Regenbrecht suggests as a means of increasing production the saving of a high percentage of the 1941 fall farrowed pigs by giving them good care and good feeding. As further steps toward increasing production, he suggests:

Fast feeding of the 1941 fall farrowed pigs on a good balanced ration for economical gains. Fast for some butchering before warm weather.

Breeding all available gilts and sows for spring farrowing. In many instances additional gilts of better breeding should be bought.

Providing better equipment and pasture to care for spring farrowed pigs.

Feeding pregnant sows on good balanced rations in order to develop large litters of strong pigs. Avoid getting brood sows too fat.

Fast feeding of 1942 spring farrowed pigs on good balanced rations

"Roll Your Own" May Be Common Practice Soon

A hike in the cost of "ready-rolled" cigarettes possibly will not affect West Texans as much as it will the pocketbook of the folks in the Eastern states.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson recently froze manufacturers' prices at levels prevailing December 26, but his move was not fast enough to catch several brands which jumped in some towns as much as two cents more a package.

The reason this town and others in this section will not notice the increase is because a large percentage of the smokers would rather roll by hand the five-cent tobacco than to buy cigarettes already rolled and put in packages.

Home Making Hints

With the fats and oil situation giving this country considerable worry rural families with cooking fats available can save by making soap at home.

For cooking small batches of soap, enameled or granite ware is suitable and for larger batches an iron kettle may be used. When the stir method is used crockery is suitable. Strong lye solution will attack copper, zinc and tin to a certain extent. Never use aluminum utensils. A large granite or wooden spoon is best for stirring.

The four ingredients of soap are lye, water, fat and perfume. Lye should be pure and uniform, and if possible soft water should be used since it will improve the quality of the soap. The fat should be clean and light yellow in color or white and if soap is made clean fat it will be very light in color. Care must be taken in collecting fats. Burnt or dirty grease is not of use in that state; but if not badly burnt it can be clarified by melting, straining, then frying a few small pieces of potato in it. Clarify the fat as it accumulates and keep it in tins, well covered until a sufficient quantity is on hand.

oils must be washed free of salt. Rancid greases may be purified by boiling with a solution of one part of vinegar to five parts of water. Allow it to cool, then skim off the cleaned grease. If rancid greases are employed, one of the boiling processes of soap making will give best results.

Scents such as oil of citronella, bergamot, oil of lavender, geranium or sassafras may be added as to perfume the soap, thus destroying the odor of the fat used.

Soap may be molded in the pan in which it is made, but it is better to pour into a mold. Wooden boxes or pasteboard boxes lined with a damp cloth make very good molds.

It is easier to cut the soap after removing it from the mold. A more satisfactory cut can be made with a fine wire or a string rather than with a knife.

Soap should cure at least four weeks before using. This allows it to dry out better so it will not wash away so rapidly. It would even be better to have it six months old before using. The older soap is the better. Soaps made by the boiling process require longer aging before they become hard and ready for use.

Recipes

Hard Soap: 6 pounds melted (but not heated fat. 1 can (13 oz.) lye dissolved in 2 quarts water.

Melt fat gently to a liquid, strain through two or three thicknesses of cheese-cloth. Mix the lye and water, and stir to dissolve lumps, then cool to lukewarm before adding the melted (but not hot) fat. In a fine stream add the fat, which should be at the creamy consistency, and keep stirring continuously until the whole mixture is thick and light colored. Pour quickly into shallow pasteboard boxes or dripping pans which have been lined with damp cloth. When firm and nearly cold, cut into bars or squares. Pack the soap with open spaces between and allow it to dry at least a month before using. If dried thoroughly before using, it "spends" better.

White Floating Soap: 6 pounds strained fat 1 and 1-2 gallons water. 1 can (13 oz.) lye.

Dissolve the lye in one-half quarts water. Pour one and one-half gallons water into an old porcelain or enameled boiler, add the fat and then the lye. Allow the mixture to boil slowly for about 2 and 1-2 hours to 3 hours. The soap is ready to skim out when it becomes flaky, and the liquid looks clear. Test the soap. If it sticks on the hand when squeezed and has a greasy appearance the soap would be improved with a little more lye; if it is too flaky, more fat is needed. Line a wooden box with a piece of wet cloth. Skim out the soap and place in the lined box to drain over night (10 to 12 hours). Next morning cut into bars, dry, pack and store. The liquid left can be used for scrubbing.

Toilet Soap: For a good toilet soap use four and one-half pounds of olive oil, cottonseed oil, or coconut oil, one and one-half pounds of lard, one can (13 oz.) lye, two quarts water, and six drops oil of lavender and oil of geranium. If desired the soap may be tinted with vegetable coloring.

Combine the melted lard and oil with the lye and water solution and stir until it is the consistency of

S. navy aircraft carrier in the Pacific gives the "go" sign to a fighter plane (at right) about to take off from the flight deck. Photo at left was made from a plane which had just left the flight deck of an unnamed U. S. aircraft carrier somewhere in the Pacific. It gives you a bow-on view of the floating airdrome.

It is but a step from zeal to bigotry but it is a step that is most generally taken.

Fame is climbing a greased pole to win a purse of $10 and spilling a suit of clothes worth $15.

A man who is good company for himself is always good company for others.

It is very difficult for me to tell why the lion should be so strong and the ant so weak, when one is nothing but a grate loafer and the other the very pattern of industry and thrift.

There is no punishment of the human heart that promises so much and pays so little as revenge.

An alleged loan shark in this State stands charged by indictment with having forged a man's name to a note. It's bad enough to have to pay 400 per cent on a loan but when (as alleged) a man doesn't even get the loan—well, that's pretty flagrant.

Wandering through the North: On the main stem of Omaha, the sidewalks are on a level with the street—no step-down, which seems a good idea. And there is a big clock on a corner that revolves (the clock, not the corner) even if you haven't had a drink; after two drinks, probably the corner revolves.

In Kansas City in the railroad station coffee shop, they charge a dime for a cup of coffee, even when served with an order of ham and eggs—and Missouri has a sales tax with tokens that represent a tenth of a cent and ones with a hole in the middle (like Chinese money) for a half cent.

Odd signs: A Minneapolis bakery is named the Hasty Tasty and a St. Paul tavern is called the Tip-Top Tap.

"Now that this country is at war, it is certain that the demands on the oil industry of this country will far exceed previous estimates," says an article in the Petroleum Engineer. "A well-planned, long-range program to increase its crude oil reserves, refining facilities, and its transportation and distribution systems is essential if the oil industry is to cope with the exigencies of a world-wide war." And the Gulf Coast Refiners Association points out that the "necessity of continued operation of refineries at near-maximum capacity to meet the growing demand for gasoline and other products", shows the growing need "for increasing crude oil production in Texas."

Hava laff: Smith-Gilbuffy the banker has skipped off with $100,000 of the bank's funds and the hotel-keeper's wife.

Brown—That's terrible! Who will teach his Sunday School class?

A teacher asked little Willie, "Why aren't you writing your composition?"

He said, "I ain't got no pencil." She exclaimed, "Such grammar. You should say I have no pencil; he has no pencil; we have no pen-

The successful prosecution of the war calls for focusing upon the one single objective of victory all the resources—material, personal and spiritual—that the nation possesses. —Donaldson Brown, vice-president, General Motors.

Cotton Ginned in Callahan County
4,206 Bales, 1941

The United States census report shows that 4,206 bales of cotton were ginned in Callahan County prior to December 13th, from the 1941 crop, as compared with 4,144 bales for the 1940 crop to same date. This is only 62 bales over last year's crop. Figuring an average of 80 dollars per bale for the cotton and the seed it would equal an income of about $340,000 from the cotton crop in this county.

ARMY RECRUITING OFFICERS STILL TAKING RECRUITS

The News has received from H. M. Gilbert, Lt., AGD the following regarding army recruiting: "Disregard any previous remark and clear the decks. Get set for the highest recruiting job we have had yet. The announcement that recruiting would cease in favor of Selective Service is erroneous. Rather than suspend it, we see about to enter upon a greatly enlarged recruiting campaign for enlistment in the Army of the United States and for aviation cadets.

Please notify all of your personal accordingly to allay any apprehensions. Recruiting is not washed-up and will not before a long time to come according to the latest up to the minute official information.

20-to-44

President Roosevelt Monday set February 16 for registration of all male citizens of the Na- tion between the ages of 20 and 44 who have not registered previ- ously.

Men in this age group will be subject to military service. The date was fixed in a pro- clamnation. It made no mention registration of men from 45 through 64, who are to be re- gistered later but who will be exempt from service with the armed forces under present legis- lation.

Will "Insure Victory" In his proclamation, the Chief Executive noted that this and other registrations under the Se- lective Service Act "will be re- quired to insure victory, final and complete, over the enemies of the United States."

The registration will apply to all male citizens and some non- citizens born on or after Feb., 17, 1897, and on or before Dec- ember 31, 1921. It is to take States, but also in Alaska, Haw- aii and Puerto Rico, between the hours of 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Provisions were made for regis- tration before February 16 and after that date in exceptional cases through arrangements with selective service officials.

The President, for the sake of full co-operation with the selec- tive service program, urged all employers and all Government armed forces under present legis- lations to give workers sufficient time off to register.

17,500,000 Registered Recent legislation has made men between 20 and 44 years old liable for military service, and all between 18 and 64 eligible for some type of war duty.

About 17,500,000 men already have been enrolled under the Se- lective Service Act, and local draft boards have speeded up their classifications.
