A million and a half of Boy Scouts of America will join in a week's celebration of National Boy Scout Week running from the seventh through the thirteenth of February.

The Boy Scout organization is one of our very best for our younger boys and we have noticed most of them do their conscientious best to live up to their vows.

An unusual story was recited to us a few days ago and is said to have actually happened. According to the story a six-months old baby saved its parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Atchison of Pampa, Texas, and other members of its family by crying lustily in the night. It was discovered that the furnace vent pipes had become in need of repair and the wind was blowing gas fumes back into the house. This incident led to the disclosure that other vent pipes were also needing repairs.

The German people, it seems, are now regarding Adolph Hitler's halo as growing thinner. When he started the war he promised it would be only a short one, and said no real fighting would be done within German borders. The Germans are growing more and more tired of these unfulfilled promises and Adolph is busy trying to patch up the old halo.

Of all the nations allied with Germany in the World War Turkey was the last to make peace, the first to recover from defeat, and the only nation on the losing side with whom terms were negotiated rather than imposed.

We notice the public, in last issue of the Gorman Progress, has been invited out to inspect their new fertilizer plant. "Members of the Peanut Growers Association, as well as all other visitors to Gorman are cordially invited to visit and inspect the new fertilizer plant which is now in operation."

Any one can see through the eyes of their medium of advertising—the Gorman Progress—which is rightly named, that Gorman is proud of this feature of enterprise. We heartily extend to the Gorman people our congratulations on the facilities of this plant, as well as the plant itself. We are of the up and up type our self, and we like to see our neighbors prosper.

In our own home town we very much appreciate what our high school superintendent, R. F. Webb and his helpers have recently accomplished in beautifying the high school campus. This writer has been ill and we haven't seen it yet, but all reports coming in are in accord to the lasting beauty and benefits of this work.

We are all proud of our new high school building and this recent work only adds to the beauty and value of our high school.

The News heartily thanks Mr. Webb and his helpers and more power to them.

We said not long ago, of course every one had already heard it, that the wife is the neck that turns the head, well we are prepared this morning to prove that statement and further prove that a woman is a very lively lady, who if she cannot accomplish what she wants one way, she is plenty capable of finding another. A little story from the Blue Blaze News tells it much better than we can, so we pass it on to you just as written in this interesting little magazine:—"Take it from Ed, Mrs. Ed S. Doerr, wife of the Lone Star Gas Company meter shop foreman, has a sure method that keeps convalescents indoors to prevent their return to activity and a possible relapse.

Several weeks ago Ed was a flu victim. He weathered the usual storm of fever, medicines etc. When he was relieved of fever, he felt so well and strong he decided to return to work, told Mrs. Doerr his intentions.

Next day Ed got up to dress, went for his clothes, but couldn't find them in their usual place. A thorough search of the house still failed to produce the garments. Wondering what had happened to his clothing, Ed told Mrs. Doerr of his predicament; she solved the mystery. Mrs. Doerr had hidden the clothes so Ed couldn't put them on, return to the meter shop and thus endanger himself to a relapse. Some time later, when Ed had gained the necessary strength, Mrs. Doerr brought out the garments, but it was not until then that Ed could go to work.

Austin Newspaper Heaps Tribute On This Area's Solon

The Austin Statesman recently printed the following tribute to John Lee Smith, state senator from this district. The item follows:

Did you ever have a calf to run over you, when you were a boy? I know of no experience that will baffle you more . . . than to be standing still in a cowpen . . . and from nowhere a calf hits you from behind like a pile driver . . . you are so bewildered that you get up out of the dirt . . . and like the little girl who saw Grand Canyon for the first time, said to her mother: . . . what happened. That is the way I was an on-looker at the banquet the citizens of Austin gave to the members of the house and senate.

The governor and the lieutenant governor were there. Jim and Ma Ferguson . . . Houghten Brownlee made a good talk. Speaker Homer Leonard delivered a fine dinner speech. . . there was some horse play and all of a sudden a feller was introduced to speak for the senate. Well, boys and girls, I've heard several speeches in my life time but this one was a new variety to me. He was like the man on the flying trapeze . . . he floated through the air with the greatest of ease. He touched first base on literature, rounded second on the Holy Writ, ran into third on the significant history of the universe and headed safely for home, with a treaties up on government that would have made Blackstone blush with an inferiority complex. Where do they come from? It was the voluntary consensus of opinion that this man is a statesman. I recommended to find out more about him.

The name is John Lee Smith, who hails from Throckmorton. He represents the 24th district which is comprised of Throckmorton, Stephens, Eastland, Callahan, Taylor, Shackelford, Jones, Haskell, Fisher, Nolan Mitchell and Scurry counties. I'd rather live in it anyways. His father was a J. P. of the old school and John is a self-made barrister, in the true sense. His district can truly be proud of its senator. He's a-going places.

And making the road bed and the shoulders wider to take care of the traffic.

Ample Electricity In West Texas For National Defense

West Texas and the nation now have an abundance of electric power to meet the national defense requirements over and above present consumption in home and business.

Present-day plant generating capacity in the United States is greater than the combined electrical output of England, France and Germany, a recent survey shows.

The nation's utilities companies, owned and operated by men and women who invested in sound business enterprise and who've learned to reader emergency service through advance and without the use of tax money or government aid.

long experience, have prepared in U. S. electric power facilities now exceed 40,000,000 kilowatts compared to less than 9,000,000 kilowatts each in England, France and Germany.

The West Texas Utilities Company, now entering its thirtieth year of service to West Texans, already is serving three national defense units: the Army air base at San Angelo, Camp Barkeley at Abilene, and the air training school at Stamford. Present facilities are sufficient to all the requirements of many other defense projects should they be located in this area.

The company has three major generating stations and 14 standby power plants, maintained as a reserve supply of electricity. Eighteen interconnections give added security against shortage or prolonged interruptions.

A total of 2,713 miles of transmission lines form a network giving nearly every community served by the company at least two incoming sources of electric power and many communities three source of supply.

Such transmission systems throughout the nation have replaced small isolated plants subjects to frequent breakdowns and expensive overhead, depreciation, and operating costs. The first such line in West Texas was constructed by the company in 1915 and extended from Abilene to Merkel.

Supplying the nation as a whole are 82,000 miles of high voltage transmission lines, 60,000 volts and over, interconnected to give U. S. a higher peak of service efficiency and cost economy than any other country in the world.

SO, YOU PAY NO TAXES
READ THESE FIGURES

According to recent polls 25 to 40 percent of the working people, who are not home owners and not income tax payers, believe that they do not pay taxes. By these same polls many others who realize that they pay taxes have no knowledges of the extent of their tax burden. Such findings would lead one to believe that the tax collector in America has come close to achieving that ideal of tax collectors which is "to get the most feathers with the least squawking of the goose."

It may surprise, if not unduly concern, the workingman who believes he pays no taxes when he learns that there are 126 hidden or indirect taxes on the pair of shoes that he buys as it stands today, written into the prices of his pair of shoes are:

- 9 taxes paid by the rancher.
- 16 taxes paid by the transporta-

- tion companies.
- 12 taxes paid by the findings producers.
- 15 taxes paid by the packers.
- 14 taxes paid by the tanner.
- 14 taxes paid by the findings manufacturers (shoe laces, rubber heels, counters, etc.)
- 14 taxes paid by the shoe manufacturer.
- 16 taxes paid by the shoe wholesaler.
- 16 taxes paid by the shoe retailer.
- Even After Death

What is true of shoes happens to be true also of the other necessities of life and even the necessities of normal death because in the cost of a burial there are 277 different taxes. Here are a few and only a few, reminders of everyday hidden taxes.

- 78 different taxes on a quart of milk (the taxes just about represent the cream on a bottle of milk.)
- 148 different taxes on overalls.
- 191 different taxes on a fence.

There must be fairer fields some where
Beyond this wayside inn
Of life as we have known it here
With all its care and sin.
Perhaps we'll find new glory there
Unmarked by greed or shame,
Where one may keep his honor clean
And still know wealth and fame.

Somewhere beyond the tall skyline
That crowns our waning day—
Beyond the low green borderlands
That hold our flesh at bay—
Beyond dim hills when twilight falls
Where star-swept rivers flow—
There must be fairer highways
For restless feet to know.

What if the way is long and rough,
And hills are swept by gales?
No bold heart fears the tortured trip
To far, uncharted trails.
And if—throughout the long, dark night
No ghostly shadows creep,
Thank God, beyond the tumult here
We'll find eternal sleep.

The above beautiful poem was republished recently in the Wharton Spectator by Editor Frank Shannon and was written by his uncle, the late H. M. Shannon, who was editor of the Richmond, Texas Coaster.

Llano is a land of legend and of delight to tourists. In the southwestern part of the country is famous Enchanted Rock, a solid block of granite, a mile square. It was named by the Indians perhaps because, when struck a mighty blow, it gives an odd but inspiring sound. The story is told of a frontiersman who, being pursued by redskins, took refuge on the rock and his foes would not follow him.

Then, 18 miles southeast of Llano stands old Parksaddle Mountain. Editor Bill Collins of the Llano News says this was the scene of the fight which drove the Comanches out of the State, a force of ranchmen defeating a far larger band of Indians. The only man still living who took part in the victory is A. F. Moss, a rancher.

Llano County is, of course, a hunter's paradise. Five thousand deer, it is estimated, are killed during the hunting season. Then there are quail, doves, wild turkeys and ducks. Hardware windows, a few weeks ago when this observer was there, were filled with trophies of the hunt and the Buckhorn Cafe walls were lined with deer heads.

As for fishing, Buchanan Lake is only a few miles away—the largest in the Southwest and the second biggest artificial lake in the world. The two-mile concrete dam is the longest on earth. There are parks along the waterfront and a scenic drive runs beside the lake. There are cottages for rent; stores, rowboats, motorboats—in short, everything for one who is seeking sport, recreation, beauty or just a soothing rest.

Imagine a line of trucks and other motor vehicles, bumper to bumper, extending all the way from Texarkana to El Paso—Almost a thousand miles—and you have an idea of how many new pieces of motorized equipment the United States Army is buying this year.

The total will include 27,000 motorcycles, 1,900 passenger cars, 3,400 ambulances, 37,800 two-and-a-half ton truck-tractors, each with one trailer unit, and 283,108 other trucks, ranging in size from "pig-mies" which carry a load of only a quarter of a ton up to several thousand with a capacity of six tons or more, each.

The "pigmy" can haul three men and a light field piece at 60 miles an hour, yet is so small it can be tucked into the hold of an Army transport plane. The next-larger sizes will have many duties, such as reconnaissance, command, pickups and infantry weapon carrying. Bigger ones are for movement of 75 mm. field guns, 105 mm. howitzers, gasoline and animal-carrying. The biggest of all will transport three-inch guns and 90 mm. anti-aircraft gun mounts.

Only because the trucking industry of America has provided a market have factories been made possible that can now furnish this equipment so vital to national defense. And the trucking industry in Texas has had an important part in creating those factories, even though the 7,000-pound load limit in this state has retarded the industry. Incidentally, that absurdly-low restriction is expected to be changed by the present Legislature. The logical

ACCURACY OF FIRE IS A SPECIALTY OF THE U. S. MARINES

Accuracy of rifle fire has always been a specialty of the U. S. Marines, who have won their full share of prizes for skill on the rifle range and elsewhere.

But it is a far cry from the modern high-powered infantry rifle to the old-fashioned muskets, which also were used to good effect by the sea soldiers in the days of Old Ironsides and other sailing frigates.

A wide variety of small arms were used in the early days of the last century, including the musket, pistol, boarding-pike, cutlass, bayonet, knife, dirk, or tomahawk. Each weapon had its use in the days when war vessels often fought at close quarters.

The musket however, was the weapon of the marines. It was usually of the flint-lock, muzzle-loading, smooth-bore type and fired a ball of from one to two ounces. It was fairly accurate at 100 yards, could inflict a fatal wound at 200 yards and had diminishing degrees of effectiveness up to a quarter-mile.

While loading a musket the sea soldier had much more to do than to insert a cartridge clip and manipulate the bolt, as is the case with most of the infantry weapons today.

In those days he had to bite off the bullet from the top of cartridge so as to expose the powder. He then sprinkled a little of the powder into the pan of the gun, snapped the pan to, dropped the cartridge down the muzzle, rammed it home with the bullet on top, and then took aim and fired.

There were numerous occasions when the musketry fire of the marines proved to be an important factor in the winning of sea battles. Their marksmanship was highly praised by J. Fenimore Cooper and a number of other naval writers.

2,078 POLL TAXES ARE PAID IN THIS COUNTY

In Callahan county 2,078 people have poll tax certificates entitling them to vote in 1941 elections, according to a recent announcement from the office of Mrs. T. W. Briscoe, assessor and collector of taxes.

Resolution is felt by many who have given the problem close study to be the adoption of a scientific load-limit bill.

And here is the prayer of a colored preacher, whose mind had been stirred by the discovery nearby of a great oil field:

"O Lawd, gib Thy servant dis mornin' de eyes of de eagle and de wisdom of de owl; connect his soul wid de gospel telephone in de central skies; illuminate his brow wid de sun of hebbin; pizen his mind wid love fer de people; turpentine his 'magination; grease his lips wid possum oil; loosen his tongue wid de sledge hammer of Thy power; 'lectrify his brain wid de lightning of de Word; put 'petual motion in his ahins; fill him plum full of de dynamite of Thy glory; 'point him all over wid de crude oil of Thy salvation and set him on fire. Amen."

CALIFORNIA OIL WORTH $10,000 PER BARRELL

Radium is if course noted for being worth a fortune per ounce, but a strange oil from the hills in Colusa County, California, takes the prize for Petroleum values.

Although it is drilled for like ordinary oil wells, this oil comes in a sulphonated solution and only one gallon of oil is recovered from each 2500 to 5000 gallons of fluid pumped from the wells, which yield one to five gallons of oil per day.

It has been famous for generations in Colusa and adjoining counties in California, where people are known to have driven 150 miles and labor half a day to gather half an ounce of it where it seeped from the ground, in order to treat their ailments.

Containing no gasoline, kerosene, naphtha, asphaltum or paraffin, which are common to ordinary crude oil, this Colusa product carries about 4% of iodine, 8% "Icthyol," 07% Sulphur, a trace of camphor and turpentine, nitrogen gas and radium emanations—but no radium. Science papers by eminent physicians state that, "Radium emanation is accepted as harmoniously in the body as is sunlight by the withering plant." "The emanation is taken up in the blood and as quick as lightning, goes to all parts of the body where it kills or checks the disease germs." This remarkable oil is now sold by Smith Drug Store.
