DAIRYMEN SHOULD PROVIDE TEMPORARY PASTURES FOR DAIRY CATTLE

There comes times when permanent pasture can no longer furnish adequate grazing for the dairy cows. For the most economical milk production, cows must have good pasture.

What I mean by a good pasture is one where a cow can fill up in an hour or two, grazing, and lie down and chew her cud in peace and comfort and not have to walk around all day on a stomach full, which will be used up while walking and when milking time comes, walk is all you have left. Therefore, dairymen should exert every effort to provide temporary pastures for their milk cows, when permanent pastures fail from drouth or cold. Crops most commonly used for temporary pastures are: sudan and Johnson grasses, for late spring, summer and early fall, and oats, barley, or wheat for late fall, winter and early spring. There still is time to plant sudan and it may even be planted on stubble land, after oats, barley or wheat has been harvested.

Moisture, of course, is the governing factor. Good temporary pasture should support one cow per acre. Sudan grass, usually can be depended upon to furnish good grazing for 3 months out of if properly managed. If the sudan grows too rank, it can be mowed and used and fed as hay, and the after growth will furnish grazing.

RED SPIDER AND CEDAR BAG WORMS MAY BE CONTROLLED BY SPRAYING

Red Spider and cedar bagworms which damage or destroy arbor vitae, or cedars may be controlled by simple methods. The Red Spider, cannot be seen with the naked eye. However, it is evident that he is there when arbor vitae and cedars start drying and dying at the center of the plant. A heavy beating rain or a strong stream of water, directed to reach all parts of the plant, especially the inner portions, and repeated twice weekly, will give satisfactory control. However, when rainfall is lacking, and spraying with a hose is impossible, dusting thoroughly with finely ground sulphur will give effective control.

When bagworms hatch, infected plants should be sprayed with a mixture of 2 to 3 level teaspoonfuls of lead arsenate to 1 gallon of water. See that the spray reaches all parts of the plant.

As the pests becomes older, it seems to develop resistance to poison, and therefore harder to control. Fully grown bagworms, which reach a length of about 3 inches, should be picked off shrubbery and burned.

WAR HAS TURNED UP SOME INTERESTING FACTS ON POWER

This war has turned up some interesting facts. One of them is that all the claims of public politicians for the past decade that the nation faced an over shortage and that development of power by the governments, therefore essential, were unfounded.

Now comes J. A. Krug, director of the Office of War Utilities, and says, "Electric power has never been too little too late. I do not know of a single instance where the operation of a war plant has been delayed by lack of electric power."

And remember that 85 per cent of our electric power is furnished by private enterprise. Also remember there is no rationing of power to homes or non essential industries.

No Army or Navy E's are awarded or asked for in this record. Electricity is just taken for granted in the day's work. Those who have besmirched the private electric power industry should have red faces.

MR. JEFFERS PUTS OVER SYNTHETIC RUBBER PROGRAM

Mr. Jeffers is doing an excellent job as rubber czar. He was named rubber administrator and joined forces with Secretary Jones, pushed through a program designed to meet military needs but to keep the civilians economy operating. It was his contention that America could not function efficiently unless all automobiles are kept on the road for essential use.

This appears to be a hopeless task by the bureaucrats that had been established at that time. Mr. Jeffers carefully planned a program to keep all cars moving and today the results are evident in the many synthetic plants operating over the country, such as the one operated in the Texas Gulf Coast by the Synthetic Rubber Division of the General Tire and Rubber Company. The plant will be under the management of H. J. Elwell, president of the General Lates & Chemical Corporation.

Transportation was a problem and although plans called for the making of butadiene in the oil fields and transporting to rubber making plants in Akron, this plan was soon discarded by Jeffers and today the butadiene plant of the Humble Company is next door to the rubber plant of the General Tire and Rubber Company so that the raw material may be piped from one plant to the other without delay.

There has been a lot of mystery surrounding the synthetic rubber, chemists are wanting to use chemical terms in discussing the process by which rubber is evolved and synthetic rubber is purely chemical.

It appears from reports now that there will be plenty of rubber to keep all cars moving, but it has been done by a hard headed business man, and not by politicians trying to catch votes in the 1944 election.

JOHN L. LEWIS INJURES UNIONS EVERY SPEECH, THE INDIANA TEAMSTER

John L. Lewis opens his big mouth. Does John L. Lewis know that the United States of America is fighting for its life? Is he aware of the fact that American blood has been spilled on many battlefields, and that much more is certain to be spilled before the conflict ends. Does he realize that these young men who have given their lives for their country have done so to protect the privileges of free Americans, one of which is the right to join the labor unions and to bargain collectively to improve their working conditions?

Has he considered the effect of the coal mining crisis on the morale of Americans, particularly the members of the armed forces who know that their chances of survival are lessened every time he opens his big mouth? Does he realize that the truce he signed with the United States government was an admission that he started the war against the United States? Is he conscious of the fact that his actions affected adversely every working man and woman in the country?

Is he aware if the miners are given the $2 a day wage increase which he seeks for them, that they and all other working persons will lose much more than $2 a day through inflation that would be inevitable result of giving such a wage increase. Does he realize that he organized Labor's greatest enemy? Is he aware that Hitler, Mussolini must regard him as one of their closest friends?

We believe that the answer to all of these questions is a loud yes.

'BOMBS AWAY!'

What boy wouldn't like to just sit in a flying fortress! And to fly it... well, this pilot ranks with Superman!

One look at the instrument panel and you feel the same way. It's hard to believe that ordinary mortals could ever master the maze of dials, buttons, levers and switches required to fly and fight a 30-ton bomber.

But a lot of West Texas boys are doing it with deadly efficiency. (Ask Adolf, Benito or Tojo.) And they don't learn their jobs just by reading a book. It takes intensive training and practical experience to produce the bomber teams who risk their lives together.

The electric business is like that. You can't make kilowatt-hours with theories. You've got to learn how—the hard way.

That's the way most of the men and women with us got their start. It's the American way. Do a better job—and you get better jobs to do.

It's the system of free enterprise. It's simple—but it works.

It works so well that America's big peacetime industries became great war machines overnight.

It works so well that America's electric companies, under business management, were able to supply war plants with far more electric power than any nation has ever known before in addition to normal peacetime needs.

They're doing the job without rationing—and without increased cost to you!

It works so well that we're winning the war in spite of socialistic bureaucracies. But to hasten the day of victory, the bureaucrats must concentrate on the war and desist from their plans to permanently change our system of government by which America stands to lose its freedom at home.

Texas Will Have Big Role in Rubber Output

Despite recent widespread publicity to the making of synthetic rubber, few people in Texas realize just how great this State's contribution is going to be to that industry. In fact, the publicity people for the General Tire and Rubber Company—whose tri-cities plant will be officially opened June 28th in elaborate ceremonies at Houston—hadn't thought of it.

But a little questioning brought from their President, William O'Neil, the amazing information that Texas not only will soon be furnishing the bulk of the synthetic rubber for tires for the nation and for much of the world. In addition, the State has readily at hand the ingredients for a total of 73 per cent of the weight of every casing made.

There's a lot more to an automobile casing than the rubber. In fact, the rubber (which will be made from Texas oil and gas, treated by certain chemical catalysts) represents less than half of the total weight of the tire—in the General Tire, it will be 48.37 per cent. What else besides rubber?

Well, first of all is cotton, for the cords which hold the rubber together and give it strength. The cotton bulk in a casing amounts to 15.17 of the total, and Texas is, of course, the nation's foremost cotton producing State.

The third most important ingredient of a casing is carbon black, that jack-of-all-trades by product of natural gas which goes into hundreds of diversified uses. Carbon black, in perhaps over-simplified terms, is naught but flakes of carbon, and carbon is a tough element which lends its toughness to the synthetic rubber, to make it long wearing. By weight, every casing has 6.53 per cent of carbon black in it.

The General people estimate that with carbon black, the casing will give 20,000 to 30,000 miles of service, without it, the tire would be shot in 2,000 to 3,000 miles, and Texas, as the nation's greatest producer of natural gas, also produces the most sulphur.

The fourth ingredient of substantial bulk is wire. Heretofore Texas has produced little of steel produces in general, but the war has brought them to Texas; and if the tire-making, as well as the rubber-making industry should move in on the State, it would furnish a great post-war outlet for the products of the steel foundries which have been set up.

The fifth Texas ingredient—in much smaller, but equally important, quantity—is sulphur. Texas and Louisiana constitute jointly the most important sulphur supply area in the world. Only 0.44 per cent of the casing's total bulk is sulphur, but that comparatively minute quantity makes the rubber usable—cures or vulcanizes it, makes it usable as a tire.

That in the making of synthetic rubber 25 per cent of the nation's facilities have been centered in Texas has already been widely publicized. For most of this rubber, the base is made of crude oil; the manufacture is a complicated process involving the essential elements of crude petroleum—the hydrocarbons.

But oil is not the only possible source material. Hydrocarbons also represent the basic elements of natural gas; and a plant at Borger, already is using natural gas for this purpose.

My Column
MRS. C. C. CADY

Fathers Day in Moran was celebrated in several homes with family gatherings and dinner parties. Some of our soldiers made it home for a real visit and the best meal of the season. Home grown vegetables are plentiful. Our markets have home grown sweet corn, potatoes, beans and cucumbers. Mr. Alexander who lives south of Moran, supplied the local markets with good sweet corn this week.

Most gardens have made something despite the drouth, but every one is planning to replant after the first rain. If vegetables can be grown anywhere in West Texas Moran usually grows its share but conditions this year have been the most unfavorable for gardens we have had in many years. However, there is still lots of time to raise a good Fall garden if we can get rain enough to get it started before Fall weather arrives.

Harvesting is in full swing this week. The streets of Moran are deserted as every man who possibly can work is in the field. It is reported that grain is yielding from 10 to 17 bushels to the acre, which is much more than was first thought possible. Several of our farmers have disposed of their cattle on account of the feed shortage.

Put victory first on the Fourth! The Texas Safety Association made that appeal to patriotic Texans today in launching a statewide campaign against fourth of July accidents that waste manpower, material and time vital to victory.

Thirty-eight statewide organizations are joining up with the Association in the greatest mass attack on holiday accidents ever made in this state.

Public officials, safety leaders and citizens throughout the state are being asked to enlist in this holiday campaign in a united effort to prevent accidents which last year took a toll of 87 lives in July alone.

War-time travel restrictions and the fact that many of the state's war plants will be working full blast through the holiday period may reduce the normal Fourth of July traffic volume. The Association pointed out, however, that many workers will have a long week-end holiday and that traffic hazards still prevail, even on short drives.

The Association made these specific holiday safety suggestions:

1. Stay close to home. Don't drive unless you absolutely have to.
2. Don't take any trips unless you have to, even on a public conveyance. Crowds on trains and buses increase travel hazards.

"This year," said R. B. Roaper, president of the Association, "we are not only celebrating our independence, but are fighting to preserve it. Let us not jeopardize our independence by causing accidents which impede our fight to maintain it.

The prevention of accidents is more than ever the patriotic duty of every citizen, for accidents slow production of war materials. We who are still at home can at least make sure that we do nothing to make it harder for our fighting men. If accidents keep weapons and supplies from them, then accidents must stop.

"Remember—accidents help the Axis. Let's avoid them and put victory first on the Fourth!"

How to Find True And Lasting Happiness

(By Orland W. Rury)
Minister Church of Christ

Men search far and near for happiness repeating over and over the experiences of Solomon (?) (commonly accredited author of Ecclesiastes). Some think if they could be WORLDLY WISE they would have lasting happiness. Solomon tried this and certainly if worldly wisdom would have brought true happiness, Solomon would have been happy, but he concluded (Ec. 1:17-18). "I perceive that this also is vexation of spirit. For in much wisdom is much grief, and he that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow.

Many think that happiness is to be found in WORLDLY PLEASURES, but Solomon with all his riches did not find pleasure in them

(Ec. 2:1-3), nor in ART or AGRICULTURE (2:4-6); nor in GREAT POSSESSIONS (2:7-11). He summed them all up by saying "all was mental conflict. Let us hear the and finally concluded after a long vanity and vexation of the spirit" conclusion of the whole matter, fear God and keep his commandments for this is the whole duty of man." (Ec. 12:13).

The things this world has to offer cannot bring lasting happiness; they are transitory and fleeting. TRUE AND LASTING HAPPINESS CAN COME ONLY FROM "FEARING GOD AND KEEPING HIS COMMANDMENTS." The genuine Christian is genuinely happy. What has he to fear? Let war, devastation, sickness, sorrow, even death come and he still has no fear because even though his life has ended, it has just begun. Men can persecute him and try him, even take his life, but come what may, nothing can take from him the solace and comfort of the hope of heaven.

So true and lasting happiness can come only from fearing God and keeping his commandments—living the Christian life.
