

Amelia Earhart Completes Trans-Pacific Flight

HAUPTMANN DEFENSE TO PRESENT SURPRISE WITNESS Saar To Determine Future Allegiance Sunday

Woman Flyer Makes Hop In 18 Hrs. 15 Min.

2400-Mile Trip Made At Average Speed Of 140 Miles Per Hour

SAN FRANCISCO—Amelia Earhart set her Red and Gold Lockheed monoplane down here at 1:31 p. m. Saturday completing her trans-Pacific hop from Wheeler field, Honolulu, in 18 hours 15 minutes.

The fuel tanks for the single motored plane were within a few minutes of exhaustion.

A crowd of approximately 5,000 greeted her with a roar of satisfaction as she landed.

Already the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic, America's most daring woman made it a grand slam when at 1:30 p. m. Pacific standard time she swung her Red and Gold Lockheed Monoplane in over the Golden Gate, flashed over grim Alcatraz Island, and set the ship down without a bump on the greenway here.

She landed at 1:30 p. m. Pacific standard time, just 18 hours and 15 minutes after she lifted her heavily loaded ship off a sloppy runway at Wheeler Field, army air base, near Honolulu.

She had averaged approximately 140 miles per hour for 2,400 miles. She ran into and rode out of one storm and outran another over the heaving waters and sighted her goal through a light haze. Her single motor made the trip without once faltering.

The plane came in so rapidly that watchers at the field at first were not certain of the ship's identity.

The crowd immediately went wild with excitement, thousands of persons rushing onto the field.

The daring flier did not circle the field, but shot directly onto the landing area.

Gaps of excitement went up from the crowd when it appeared for a moment that her whirling propeller would cut into the rushing spectators.

The flier made the 2,400 mile hop from Honolulu, the first person to accomplish the feat alone, making it in 18 hours and 15 minutes.

Honolulu-California Flight A Success

The above photo shows Amelia Earhart Putnam, renowned woman aviator, getting ready for her Honolulu-California airplane hop. The trip was finished successfully Saturday at 1:31 p. m. (PCT) when she set her Lockheed plane down at Oakland airport field after having made the ocean hop of some 2,400 miles in 18 hours and 15 minutes. (Associated Press Photo).

Plebiscite To Be Held Today In Territory

Rough And Tumble Campaign At End—Observers Give Germany Edge

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar Basin Territory (AP)—A ding-dong, rough and tumble campaign in which Adolf Hitler and his Nazi regime were the main issues, at an end, the Saar Sunday will choose its future allegiance. A plebiscite, the last of twelve, issuing from the world war, will be held exactly fifteen years and three days after the Treaty of Versailles went into effect.

With the voting less than twelve hours away, unbiased observers Saturday night gave Germany an edge.

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar Basin Territory (AP)—Jewish residents in Saar territory said Saturday they had been advised to go to Germany tonight and return next week after the voting is over in tomorrow's plebiscite. They said they were "advised" by Nazis to return with passports showing they abstained from voting in the plebiscite. It was said under the conditions mentioned they may escape reprisals if Saar returns to Germany.

Hauptmann Double To Be In Trial Soon

Real Estate Man Named Scanlon Says He Is Ready To Testify

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Post said Saturday it had learned a man bearing a striking resemblance to Bruno Hauptmann, will be a surprise defense witness in the trial of the man charged with kidnaping the Lindbergh baby.

The Post said the "double" is Robert Scanlon, of Menlo Park, N. J., real estate man at time of the abduction.

Scanlon, according to the Post, is prepared to testify he was in the woods surrounding the Lindbergh home and drove over roads in that vicinity about the time of the abduction.

Criminal Cases Come Before District Court

J. L. Rush Vs. Chemical Process Co. Case To Trial On Monday

Monday case of J. L. Rush against the Chemical Process company will go to trial in the 70th district court.

Rush is asking damages of $15,000, charging that the company was responsible in ruining a producing well.

After the Rush case is disposed, the court will take up a bevy of criminal trials.

Scheduled to come before the court are Sam McGee, assault to murder; A. Goolby, assault to murder; Jack Nichols, theft; J. C. Griffith, assault to murder; Raymond Cruz, assault to murder; C. C. Siles, burglary; Crockett Parks, assault to murder; Raymond Garcia, assault to murder.

Arrests had been made Saturday on 9 of 17 indictments returned the past week by the grand jury.

They include Elbert Gray, assault to murder in connection with the slugging of C. M. Gray, aged car inspector; L. L. Harrison and C. W. Rogers on two counts of car theft and one for horse theft; Gregory Alvarez, car theft; J. Wesley Dillard and Emmett Baker, car theft; Charles Loris Eggleston, forgery and passing a forged instrument; A. R. Klein, driving while under the influence of intoxicants; Aubrey Lucas, for theft of a car belonging to George Handley; Lee Brownfield, swindling in connection with collection of an alleged account from S. B. Cooke; and Mike Marcus, assault to murder.

'Tanlac' Strange To Be Toastmaster At C. Of C. Banquet

With the position of toastmaster finally and definitely filled, the Chamber of Commerce is looking forward to its annual banquet Monday evening.

E. T. "Tanlac" Strange, Longview, and former resident of the city, will fill the toastmaster's shoes. He was mentioned for the post when the banquet date was set but he had to return to his work in Longview. When it became feared he would not be here for the occasion, the job apparently devolved upon the shoulders of Dr. W. B. Hardy, president. Hardy took over the title of president, and Shine Phillips stepped into the breach and worked up the program and prepared his toastmaster yarns.

Now that "Tanlac" Strange is to be back, Shine Phillips has graciously relegated himself to the role of "toastmaster."

The program still has Shine's ingeniously stamped upon it. It goes alphabetical with the government—Food, Fun and Frolic.

C. A. "Chic" Bulot is arranging music for the occasion and Mrs. Ned Beaudreau will be heard in one of her popular violin selections.

After musical diversion, Stacy Dora will introduce one of the two speakers. Dr. Hardy will introduce D. W. Webster, next president of the organization. Mrs. Ebb Hafth will give a reading.

Perhaps the longest address of the evening, and it is scheduled to be less than 15 minutes in duration, will be C. T. Watson's valedictory.

Watson, manager of the chamber for the past 9 years, will leave immediately after the banquet for Austin where he will enter Tuesday morning upon his duties as assistant manager of Texas Rural Communities.

Rainfall Is 4.28 Inches Off In 1934

Records Released Here Saturday By Local Weather Bureau

Big Spring was 4.28 inches under the normal amount of rainfall for 1934, records released by the weather bureau here.

Total precipitation for the year amounted to 14.61 inches compared to a 30 year normal of 18.87 inches. To make matters still worse on agriculture, the precipitation was principally confined to the Big Spring area and very little of it got into the farming section north.

Wide temperature ranges were noted during the year. On June 20 and 21 the mercury rose to 106 degrees. The lowest point during the winter had been 14 on February 26. Temperature for the year ran 1.6 degrees above normal.

Snowfall, recorded on Thanksgiving morning, amounted to 2.2 inches. It was the years total for snow.

Brifly-nine cloudy days failed to yield more than 44 days on which more than .01 inches of precipitation was received. Largest amount within a 24 hour space was 1.72 inches on August 23-24.

The wind kept up its force during most of the year and averaged 12.5 miles per hour. Prevailed, as usual, from the south.

The last killing frost chilled the county on March 27 and the first killing frost in the autumn did its damage November 30.

Believe it or not, there were seven days when fog only only 3 days of dense dust storms. That's West Texas for you in a dry year.

COLD WAVE DUE SUNDAY EVENING

Cold weather, perhaps as cold or colder than the winter's minimum of 19 degrees, is due to swoop down on Big Spring and West Texas Sunday night.

Jack Cummings, manager of the weather bureau here, said Saturday night that 16 to 18 degrees were forecast for this vicinity.

County Control Committee Is Selected Here

County committeemen were elected by representatives of cotton producers of Howard and Glasscock county Saturday.

Community committeemen, balloting for their sections of the county, chose L. H. Thomas, Moore, General J. Couch, Luther and Ira McQuerry of Coahoma as Howard county's control committee.

J. J. Phillips, H. G. Cross, L. W. Woody were named on the Glasscock committee.

Thomas is the only returning member of the former Howard county committee composed of himself, B. Reagan and Walter Robinson. He succeeded the late W. B. Sneed as a member of the committee.

J. W. Coast, superintendent of Couden Refinery, has returned from New York and other Eastern cities, where he has been for the past several weeks.

Washington By GEORGE DURO Survivor

The day Huey Long came back to denounce the Roosevelt administration the Lindbergh kidnap trial was having sensational developments. President Roosevelt's annual budget message had just been made public. The Supreme Court had ruled a portion of the Recovery Act unconstitutional. A coastwise passenger steamer was in distress. And still Huey was able to make page one. The senate galleries were packed to hear his tirade and they followed him sympathetically.

Don't forget further that the senior Senator from Louisiana was able to live down that Sands Point affair. Ninety-nine out of a hundred politicians would have been retired permanently to private life on the strength of that one.

Indictment

Long's national vote-getting ability is being appraised from every angle by the powers-that-be. Few men in public life would care to follow his redistribution-of-wealth ideas, even if so minded. He has a dozen other issues that draw applause and approval from any average audience.

His colleagues on the senate floor care not debate with him. Long ignores the old rules and calls a spade a spade. He seldom makes a statement in the course of one of his hell-raising speeches which he cannot follow up with sufficient embarrassing observations to silence any would-be harasser.

The Kingfish is ready at a moment's notice to shake a skeleton in most of his colleagues' closets.

His reason for finally breaking with the White House was obvious. He fully expects to be indicted for income tax evasions—so he stole a march on the prosecution and indicted his prosecutors first.

Mexico's Feud In State And Church Flares

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Outcropping of Mexico's feud between church and state, a disturbance in suburban Tacubaya, put eight persons in a hospital Saturday. A man was shot thrice, and is not expected to live.

A policeman, and three firemen were among the casualties.

Fighting between townspeople, police and firemen began Friday night after arrest of a Catholic priest, accused of holding religious services without a permit.

Thousands Will Attend Allred's Inauguration

AUSTIN, (AP)—Brilliant inauguration festivities characterized by hospitality rather than formality were planned Saturday for the induction into office Jan. 15 of Texas' governor and lieutenant governor.

Custom and formality, however, will mark the inauguration. Weather permitting, it will be held on a platform in front of the capitol, enabling 10,000 to 15,000 persons to view the ceremony. Inclement weather would require an inauguration in the house of representatives chamber, with a seating capacity of about 2500.

According to tradition, Walter Woodall, succeeding Edgar E. Witt, lieutenant governor, will take his oath of office first.

Then Chief Justice C. M. Carson of the Supreme Court will administer the oath to Governor-elect James V. Allred. Tradition requires that the incoming governor place his hand on the century-old Supreme Court Bible during the ceremony.

A point legislative committee will supervise the inauguration plans. Festivities made traditional by Austin residents will follow the inauguration.

The governor's reception and ball will be conducted in four sections of the University of Texas gymnasium, in the capitol and at the two largest hotels. Square dancing was planned at one, probably in the capitol. A half dozen bands from over the state will play.

Order of Officials

The official receiving line will move from one hall room to another. The order of officials, planned was:

The Governor and Mrs. Allred.

Justice Of Peace Hefley Marries First Couple Here

J. H. "Dad" Hefley, Justice of the Peace won his race with County Judge J. S. Garlington, marrying his first couple since taking office.

He united Camillo Gonzales and Mrs. Domitila Ortiz Saturday. Mrs. Ortiz had received her divorce decree from Apollinar Ortiz this week.

"I've been blue about it all day," joked Garlington.

Demands For $25,000 Are Made, Or Else Son Will Be Destroyed

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—A threat to "destroy" the six-year-old son of Thomas P. Beal, president of Second National Bank, Boston, was revealed Saturday. Demands for $25,000 and warnings that Thomas P. Beal, Jr., would be "destroyed" unless immediate payment is made, were first received by Beal family two months ago.

Federal agents have been working on the case recently. Meanwhile telephone threats repeating the first written demand, have been received.

3-Act Comedy To Be Given Lomax School Saturday

LOMAX—"That's One on Bill" will be the three act comedy farce to be presented from the Lomax school Saturday evening.

The cast is composed of a group of young people in the community. Entertainment will be furnished between acts. There will be no admission charges.

Community Center Near Here Depends Land Acquisition

New Industries and agricultural and livestock committees of the Chamber of Commerce will confer with C. T. Watson Monday 10 a. m. on requirements for making an application for a rural community center.

Watson, who recently resigned as manager of the local chamber, is assistant manager of Texas Rural Communities. He leaves Monday evening for Austin.

There are five communities already established in Texas. They are located at Wichita Falls, Nacogdoches, Woodlake, Roseville, and Mexia.

Two problems Big Spring must thresh out will be location of land with ample water supply and naming of an industry or industries to be associated with the center.

A chamber official recently made a visit to Austin in interest of a community center being located near here.

Those called to meet Monday are R. L. Price, R. F. Shoemaker, H. Fisher, C. H. McDaniel, W. H. Homan, J. W. Allen, T. J. A. Robinson, Fred Sellers, Mrs. Dora Roberts, A. P. Kasch, M. I. Murphy, W. P. Edwards, Clyde Thomas, T. S. Currie, Andrew Merrick, Jim Currie, R. V. Middleton, Cecil Collings, Jess Slaughter, George White, G. C. Graves, I. E. Caulte, Fred Keating, Willie Satterwhite, A. H. Bugz, O. F. Griffin, A. J. Oliver, Marton Edwards, T. J. Good, and O. E. Wolf.

Communists Repulsed In Paris March

PARIS (AP)—Twelve hundred communist hunger marchers converging upon Paris, with cries for overcoats and increased dole, Saturday were defeated in a clash with police.

Young Son Of Boston Banker Is Threatened

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—A threat to "destroy" the six-year-old son of Thomas P. Beal, president of Second National Bank, Boston, was revealed Saturday. Demands for $25,000 and warnings that Thomas P. Two Held In Bank Robbery

CROCKETT, (AP)—Robbery of the Farmer's Guaranty State bank, of Kennard, was charged Saturday against Erwin Carroll, 30, Houston and Paul Rhodes, 30, Lufkin.

Leon Lusk, county attorney, who filed the complaint, said they had a signed statement from Carroll concerning the robbery, Jan. 8, when loot of about $1,700 was taken.

Carroll is in jail here and Rhodes is jailed at Houston.

Lusk said he had information implicating two other men.

R. E. Hendricks, W. H. Merrick and Gene Houghton of the Texas Electric Service company of Fort Worth were business visitors in Big Spring Thursday. They spent Friday in Midland before returning to Fort Worth.

Slain American To Be Buried In Durango, Mexico

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—W. Frank Carpenter, slain on his ranch near Durango, will be buried in Mexico. Mexican laws regarding removal of bodies are so stringent Carpenter's relatives feared they would be unable to obtain permission to bring the body here for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Combs of Fort Worth are guests of their son, Roy Combs, and family, at Hotel Sefton. Mr. Combs was a former resident of Oklahoma City, but now resides in Fort Worth.

The Weather

East Texas: Rain in extreme east, colder in west, partly cloudy, and much colder Sunday night.

"The Merry Widow," Million Dollar Musical Romance, At Ritz.

Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald Co-Stars In Film

Continental romance and glamour, the classic music of Franz Lehar, the famous "Merry Widow" and the reunion of Ernest Lubitsch, Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald; spectacular settings, whimsical humor, and the world's most popular musical romance brought with its full flavor to the talking screen, mark "The Merry Widow," Lubitsch's glamorous Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, which comes Sunday to the Ritz Theatre.

With Chevalier as the debonair Danilo and Miss MacDonald as Sonia, the Franz Lehar masterpiece was staged by Irving G. Thalberg on an ambitious scale unprecedented in musical romances. The filming was regarded in Hollywood as one of the most important milestones in the history of the screen.

Deft Lubitsch Touches Laid in Paris and the mythical kingdom of Marhovia, the original Lehar operetta was adapted, with many deft "Lubitsch touches" by Ernest Vajda and Samson Raphaelson, while the original Lehar music (the entire score was used) was adapted by Herbert Stohart of "Rogue Song" fame. Lubitsch directed.

The cast supporting the popular team of Chevalier and Miss MacDonald, who scored in other Lubitsch productions, includes Edward Everett Horton, Una Merkel, George Barbier, Minna Gombell, Ruth Channing, Sterling Holloway, Donald Meek, Herman Bing and hundreds of minor players.

The settings include the great Embassy, largest set ever constructed at the studio, the amazing "White Set," the gorgeous set representing the king's palace, the huge staircase set, and the glamorous replica of Maxim's celebrated resort in Paris, in which the dancing "Can-Can" is danced by Albertina Rasch corpbyses, and where the romantic interlude between Chevalier and Miss MacDonald, and the waltz episode has its beginning.

The Hitting Viennese romance deals with a debonair captain of the guard and a charming banker's widow in the mythical shepherd's kingdom of Marhovia. She goes to Paris, and the ruler, afraid she will take her money out of the country, sends the debonair captain, whose exploits among the fair sex have been the talk of the palace, to woo her and bring her back.

Dance Famous Waltz There are gay nights in Maxim's and the great Embassy Ball. In the haunting charm of the "Merry Widow Waltz" he woos and wins her. Then she discovers that he was sent on a mission and loses faith in him. They part, he is arrested, and then a whimsical denouement, rich in comedy, solves their problem and all is well. Throughout there is comedy of the gay Continental type, though romance, intensified by the wonderful music of Lehar, is ever present.

The song hits from "The Merry Widow" include the classic waltz song, "Villia," "I'm Going to Maxim's," "Tonight Will Teach Me to Forget," "Gloria, Gloria, Gloria" and the rest of the music from the original stage production. Albertina Rasch stages a glamorous waltz number, the audacious "Can-Can" dance in Paris, the Marhavian peasant ballet, and other picturesque dancing numbers.

The Highlights Dramatic highlights in the story include the first whimsical meeting of Sonia and Danilo, when he feeds her waltz, and gets into her castle garden; the comical episode in which the king finds him flirting

FRANCHOT TONE GETS KICK OUT OF PLAYING POOR BOY

Lead In "Gentlemen Are Born" Thinks He's Had Too Many Rich Youth Parts

One of Franchot Tone's prayers at least, has been answered: Over his fervent but futile protests, Franchot has been called upon to play one rich man's son after another until he had disgustedly come to the conclusion that his screen career was doomed to be a tiresome and unbroken succession of millionaires and multi-millionaires.

Then came the opportunity to play the leading role in the First National production, "Gentlemen Are Born," which comes to the Queen Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and in this he is a poor boy emerging from college with no more tangible riches than a sheepskin of dubious legal tender value—and Franchot jumped at the chance to get away from wealth and aristocracy on the screen.

As one of four boys who set out from their alma mater to conquer the world, Franchot Tone's problems are in every particular the reverse of those he has had to solve in his recent pictures.

Instead of being a thrice rich young man braving the displeasure of an autocratic father to marry a beautiful daughter of the people, Franchot is a penniless commoner this time, daring to aspire to the hand of a Wall Street magnate's daughter.

In "Gentlemen Are Born," he doesn't have a chance to get fed up in rapid succession with penthouses, Long Island mansions, hunting lodges and storm yachts. Franchot is tickled to death to have a boarding-house room, a job as a cub reported on a newspaper and enough money to pay his fare on a Fifth Avenue bus.

And—as said before—his getting a tremendous kick out of his screen poverty. The added drama of it appeals to him, perhaps because, in real life, Franchot Tone is the son of an industrial magnate, a graduate of the exclusive Hill School and Cornell University, with a course at a French university thrown in for good measure.

He knows the life of the rich young man from having been one, and has measured the precise quantity of drama apt to be found in it by his own experience. The glamour of it, so glittering to those whose knowledge of wealth is derived from novels, is somewhat tarnished and over-rated in his mind.

This is not to say that Franchot Tone is doing handstands on the set in uncontrollable joy over the role he is playing in "Gentlemen Are Born." One of the most reticent and demonstrative men to be found in Hollywood or out of it, Tone does not wear his enthusiasm on his sleeve or parade them in public.

"Gentlemen Are Born" is a picture of romance and thrills, treating of the battle of four college boys for success. There is an all star cast which includes besides Tone, Jean Muir, Margaret Lindsay, Ann Dvorak, Ross Alexander and Nick Foran. Special music and lyrics were written for the picture by the famous team of Pain and Kahal.

with the queen; his quarrel at Maxim's with the Ambassador; Sonia's departure for Paris and her adventures with Danilo at Maxim's; the discovery of the plot at the Embassy; the king's plan to abdicate, the hilarious trial scene and the witty denouement in prison.

SPORT SLANTS

by Pap

There's a lot more to this game of table tennis than meets the eye. And especially when you're watching the world's champion table tennis team in action. Then it's almost too fast to follow.

The visiting team of Hungarian table tennis stars, Viktor Barna, world's champion for the past four years, and Sandor Glancz, former English and Hungarian champion, made an auspicious debut in Philadelphia when they trounced the United States' team without the loss of a single game.

In their amazing bow they defeated Coleman Clark, of Chicago, a former national title holder, and Edward Silverglade, of Trenton, N. J.

Perry Once Ruled Roost Barna, a Hungarian living in Paris, has been the outstanding star of the game, since Fred Perry, of England, the present ranking amateur lawn tennis player of the world, last won the world's table tennis crown in 1929.

Glancz, the only player who has beaten Barna in the past two years, was world's top ranking table tennis player in 1927.

This famous international pair has been instrumental in winning the Swarthling cup, emblematic of the world's table tennis team supremacy, seven out of eight times since Lady Swarthling donated the trophy in 1926.

They recently completed a tour of Africa, after having played exhibition matches in the capitals of Europe. Their itinerary in this country will carry them, to 19 cities where they will play 22 matches.

There must be something to this game of table tennis—call it ping-pong if you prefer, if there are ten million players in America as it is claimed.

There is a lot to it! You can take any word for it—or try it and find out for yourself. Almost everyone has a table in their basement and would be glad to introduce you to the game.

The ball travels such a short distance and so fast that it seems you barely hit it before it comes bounding back at you. No time to get set for a shot when you're playing this brand of tennis.

The Old Fundamentals And yet it takes timing and technique, lots of both. Short, darting strokes, made so by the necessity of returning the ball in a split second. You don't have much trouble working up a sweat, either.

While it looks much like its big brother, lawn tennis, few lawn tennis stars have been particularly adept at the table game. Fred Perry won the world's table tennis title in 1929 before he took up lawn tennis seriously.

Most of the present day lawn tennis stars enjoy a match of the table variety and many play a fair game but it is very doubtful if one of them could extend any of the 30 top ranking table tennis stars in the country.

Bill Tilden is mighty handy with the paddle but laments the fact that the public expects him to play the table game with the same finesse he shows in lawn tennis.

New Idea In Eyelash Beautifiers Related

Something new in eyelash beautifiers, with an amusing story behind it, is catching the fancy of smart women these days.

Three years ago, the Ed Pinaud people found that sales of one of their men's products—a Pomade—were shooting up in an astounding and mysterious fashion. From France, from England, from California, unprecedented large orders began to pour in from dealers. The Pinaud people raised eyebrows—investigated. King George had ordered that the Royal Guards all wear mustaches that year. Could it be...? But no. Eventually, letters filtering in from women all over the world cleared up the mystery.

Madame had discovered that her husband's Pomade was the grandest eyebrow and eyelash beautifier yet devised.

Today it's on the market as an eyelash mascara—Pinaud's Six-Twelve—in five different colors—not a liquid, not a cake, but a salve in a little tube. Its extraordinary feature—the thing Hollywood went for—is that it's actually good for the eyelashes and brows, as well as beautifying. It doesn't make them stiff and brittle—it makes them grow, it trains them to curl up, and it adds to natural luster as well as color. The firm have been hair experts for seventy years.

Ned Beaudreau Goes With California Co.

New Beaudreau, for several years in the engineering department of the Texas Electric Service company as test engineer, has accepted a position in the engineering department of the California company, with headquarters in Midland. Mr. Beaudreau will assume his new duties Monday. He said Saturday he would continue to maintain his residence in Big Spring.

When American Airlines inaugurates the new direct passenger, mail and express service between Big Spring, Washington, D. C. and New York on January 14th, the true southern air route will be followed for the first time, according to Glenn Freeland, local representative.

This fast service, in following the new route between Nashville and the East coast, will place Big Spring but 10 hours from the nation's capital, with New York but 83 minutes beyond Freeland states. The inauguration of this daily flight over the fair-weather southern route will mark the successful accomplishment of airways and air transport development during the past four years during which time American Airlines has concentrated on the perfection of passenger, mail and express service over this low-level, all year sky way, he concludes.

Sales Tax Would Relieve Howard County Of $140,000 Real Estate Ad Valorem Tax, Figures Reveal

Adoption of a constitutional sales tax of two per cent, proceeds of which are to be used solely for meeting principal and interest installments on the more than $700,000 worth of county, city and district bond issues in Texas, would take an annual ad valorem tax load of $140,000 off real estate in Howard county, according to figures compiled by John T. Smith, of Austin, tax authority and editor of the Texas Tax Journal, who is author of the constitutional sales tax plan. The figures for this county are based upon the latest reports filed with the offices of the state comptroller and state auditor. The bonded debt of Howard county as last reported to Austin, is approximately $1,453,000, while the 1931-1932 levy to meet debt payments was $139,955.43. For general county and local expenses taxes amounting to $307,122.81 were collected. Comparison of the levies for debt payments and general local governmental expenses shows that 21 per cent of the total collections of $447,077.74 went for debt purposes and 69 per cent went to meet general expenses of the county and the cities and tax-paying districts within the county. Under Smith's plan, it is proposed that the ad valorem levy to meet these interest and sinking fund charges be eliminated and the constitutional sales tax plan be adopted in lieu of it. Should the constitutional sales tax be voted, real estate in this county would be relieved of a levy equal to the amount now being assessed to meet these bond charges. The sales tax plan, as outlined by Smith recently before the Texas legislature's tax program committee now holding hearings at Austin, provide for a two per cent retail sales levy on all commercial sales, taxing only the final sale, and limits the use of this money to pay off the county and local bonded debt in the county where collected. Smith proposes further that legislation be enacted prohibiting the issuance of bonds in the future against real estate as security.

Adoption of this plan, Smith points out, will reduce the tax burden on real estate by an average of more than 30 per cent throughout the state. As a general average over Texas, according to his calculations, of each $100 ad valorem taxes collected for local purposes, $56 is required to meet interest and sinking fund charges on a general average of bond issues. This calculation does not include ad valorem taxes levied for state purposes.

County, city and district bond issues in Texas require an annual levy of approximately $35,000,000 to meet yearly charges, many of the bonds bearing a high interest rate. As part of the constitutional sales tax plan, Smith proposes that a state authority be created to deal with bond holders to reduce the interest payment to three per cent. Present conditions are such, he says, that the holders of more than $500,000,000 worth of these local bonds would likely accept the lower interest rate from the sales tax fund guaranteed by the state in lieu of their present security. This reduction in interest would mean an annual saving of many millions of dollars. Should bond holders refuse to accept the lower rate, Smith points out that they would be denied the benefits from the state sales tax plan and would be compelled to look to their present sources of payment, some of which are bankrupt and many others nearly so as delinquency in ad valorem tax payments continues to pile up. "The inhabitants of this state,"

Under The Dome At Austin

By GORDON K. SHEAKER

AUSTIN, (UP)—Shock troops alone could have held the doors of the house of representatives when the opening session of the Texas legislature recessed. Hundreds of job-hunters packed in the capitol corridors made a rush as the gavel sounded. The members of the house and the speaker were their prey. Old members got out through a back stairway which opens onto a west corridor of the house of representatives. New members, knowing only the main exit, were caught. Senators two years ago had private offices equipped at the rear of the senate chamber. They can take refuge in them from the position hunters. The name of President Franklin D. Roosevelt is still an asset in legislative debate. It's a sure-fire applause winner. Rep. Sarah Hughes of Dallas won applause with it in succeeding the nomination of R. W. Calvert for speaker though the house showed itself for Calvert's opponent by 12 votes majority. Governor-elect James V. Allred got credit from a White House conference with the presiding on housing and rehabilitation. Governor Milton A. Ferguson in her message announced that the president had communicated with her on the topic before Allred went to Washington. Rep. Franklin J. Spears of San Antonio is the house's new orator. He made an effective effort in nominating and seconding speeches in the speaker's race. None of them probably affected a single vote, but his was most entertaining. The audience got the biggest laugh out of the Calvert supporter who said that long whiskers are to be a statesmanlike attribute but that the day of smooth cheeked youth has arrived. Mrs. Louise Snow Phinney, re-elected chief clerk of the house of representatives in beginning her fifth term in that important post. She was assistant chief clerk in the 39th Texas legislature before becoming chief clerk when Carl Phinney resigned to become secretary to Governor Dan Moody. Later she and Phinney married. Those who heard members of the house of representatives take the oath of office will not wonder that queer wording gets into acts. Instead of picking between "swear" and "affirm," they repeated parrot-fashion after Reading Clerk C. C. Dunn: "I solemnly swear or affirm."

To those who are superstitious, the absence of Rep. Augustine Celaya of Brownsville at the opening session is a good omen. With Celaya present, Coke Stevenson would have been re-elected by a majority of 13. Instead he has the same 12-vote majority that he received when elected speaker of the preceding session. Frank Putnam, former Houston newspaper man and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, complains that he has been unable to break into the Republican party to which he recently turned. He advises Capitol Dome: "Some time ago you wrote a paragraph covering the fact that I had joined the Republican party. I write now to explain that thus far I have been unable to establish contact with that party, which in Texas appears to possess more the quality of an office holders' private club than a free political association."

He announces further that "having taken up arms against the Democratic party," he will carry on alone if need be. He launched his first attack on Sen. T. J. Holbrook's proposed two per cent sales tax to retire bonds. It should carry with it a provision exempting $3000 of homestead property from all tax both state and local. Putnam said, "If the people can't get the homestead exemption through the Democratic party he predicts the need of a strong opposition party will be apparent and will bring it into being."

Speaker Coke R. Stevenson chose a section of the state constitution for applicants for assistant reading clerks to read to the house before the balloting on that office. His was the section that declared the executive, legislative and judicial departments shall be kept separate. Pressure to defeat Stevenson is unsympathetic to the incoming governor's program was thus recalled. Job-forgotten Rains county still was in the election of the reading clerk. A plea had been made to name Will A. Harris of Emory because Rains county has no representation in state departments. Harris nosed our radio announcer Frank Hester of Giddings 18 to 17 to get in a run-off with Sam Hanna of Dallas. Hanna, despite a sore throat, was elected 69 to 42. Defeated candidates include William Flat of Cleburne, J. L. Mitcham of Murchison, Joe Entzinger of Liberty county and Prudence Ball of Fort Worth.

Sun Causes Large Building To Expand

FORT WORTH, (UP)—Fort Worth has a building in its downtown section that grows on warm days, as much as half an inch. Recently a surveyor for the county regional plan survey was doing some "triangulation" observations from the top of the 19-story Park building here. As the day progressed and the sun grew hotter the engineer found he was forced to make repeated adjustments in his instruments. Investigation revealed that the sun had caused the south wall of the building to expand, while the north wall, receiving no sun, remained the same.

SOTOL AND RANCHERS SAN ANGELO, (UP)—Sotol is saving the livestock on many ranches in West Texas this year. Because of the drought and lack of feed, many ranchmen have purchased sotol cutters at a cost of about $90 and many of them say sotol feeding costs only half as much as feeding cotton seed cake alone. Read The Herald Want Ads

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 A New Kind of Motor Car—Designed for Easy Riding

New Seat Position
New Weight Distribution
New Longer, More Flexible Springs

In the New Ford V-8 for 1935, all the weight of car and passengers is correctly balanced and distributed. Seats are moved forward so that passengers on the rear seat ride nearer the center of the car. This, with new spring suspension, and longer and more flexible springs, gives new smoothness, ease and riding comfort on every road.

For 1935, Ford has taken another revolutionary step forward. To the proved performance of the famous Ford V-8 engine has been added remarkable riding comfort. And the entire car has been clothed with a new and modern beauty, both inside and out. The illustration on this page shows the distinctive modern lines of the New Ford V-8 for 1935. When you see the car in the showrooms or on the road you notice at once its larger size as well as its handsome appearance. It is longer, with more body room, more leg room and more baggage room. It is lower to the ground —easier to step in and out. The front seats are as much as 5½ inches wider in some body types. The curved gear shift lever gives additional front-seat comfort.

NEW, LONGER SPRINGS OF UNUSUAL FLEXIBILITY

The springing of the New Ford V-8 for 1935 is entirely new. The springbase of the car (the distance from the front to the rear spring) is 123 inches, or eleven inches longer than the wheelbase. This has been accomplished by mounting the front spring in front of the front axle and the back spring in back of the rear axle. This design gives you increased comfort without sacrificing ease of handling. Front and rear springs are longer and more flexible, with tapered leaves for the most effective spring action and quieter operation.

NEW FEATURES FOR SAFETY, CONFORT AND EASE OF HANDLING

See the New Ford V-8 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. They have many interesting things to tell you and show you about its outstanding V-8 performance and comfort, luxurious new upholstery and appointments, improved, quiet-stopping brakes, new easy-pressure clutch, easier steering, new rigid X-type frame, Clear-Vision Ventilation and the many other features of the car. All 1935 Ford V-8 cars have Safety Glass throughout, at no additional cost. All have all-steel bodies.

Steers Go To Finals With Win Over Hamlin

S. Flowers Pulls Game Out Of Fire

Pair Of Fine Guards Aid Steers To Go Into Title Clash

COLORADO (Special)—Big Spring jumped into an early lead Saturday afternoon over Hamlin, and held steady in the closing seconds to protect a scant margin and win the right to meet Roby in the finals of the Colorado basketball tournament.

Final score of the game was Big Spring 25, Hamlin 23. A pair of fine guards, Fitzgerald and Wilson, failed to waver before the Hamlin sharpshooters and added to the Big Spring attack with six points.

With the score knotted at 22-22 with fifty-one seconds left in the final quarter, Sam Flowers cracked down from the side and found the basket. McCoy hurriedly put Hamlin back in the running with a free toss, but Bob Flowers said the game away for the Steers by sinking a free throw.

Bob Flowers drew first blood when he converted on a free throw. Agnew put Hamlin ahead with a difficult shot from the side. Then a series of devastating long shots by Sam and Bob Flowers and Fitzgerald played havoc with Hamlin. The Steers scored 11 points before Hamlin could recover and ring 2 field goals before the first quarter ended.

Cordill made good on a back shot and then followed up neatly to slap one in. Sam Flowers followed up well to make a goal to end the Steer scoring for the half. McCoy, Holt and Jenkins ran up 5 points for Hamlin in the second frame.

Holt hurriedly drew blood for Hamlin as the half opened. Wilson came back with a pretty long shot and Sam Flowers plunked away from the side. Jenkins, Holt and McCoy each made a free throw to bring third quarter scoring to an end.

Trailing 22 to 18, Hamlin forwards sharpened their basket eyes. McCoy dropped one in from the front and Agnew followed suit. Here it was that Sam Flowers saw something had to be done and did it. McCoy got his free throw for Hamlin only to see Bob Flowers sack the game for the Steers. Roby had no easier sailing in her game with the host team, Colorado. Roby managed to nudge the defending champions out of the picture, 26-24.

Whit To Play Diltz Bakers

Two Crack Teams To Clash In High School Gym Monday Night

The Diltz Bakers, favorites to cop the city league crown, will swing into action again Monday night when they meet Whittington Cowhands in the High School gym. The Bakers overwhelmed the Hartford Wholesalers in their first start of the season to begin the season in an ideal manner and should take Whit rather handily, although the Cowhands put up somewhat of a defensive show in their last go with the Carter Chevrolet.

The Diltzmen were weakened somewhat with the loss of Diddle Young, who has teamed up with the CCC corps, but has Jack Dean and Howard Jones to offset that handicap. Vaughn and Forrester will start the tilt as forwards for the Bakers, with Jack Dean at center and Walter Smith and Jones drawing the guard assignments. Whit, who has called several practice sessions in an effort to find a greater scoring punch, should hit the basket at a better pace than he did in his last start.

CITY LEAGUE BASKETBALL TEAM

NOW FAUROT'S FROM MISSOURI TO SHOW HOW IT'S DONE

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UP)—Nomination of an ex-Tiger "pony" back to lead the way out of the gridiron wilderness brings to the University of Missouri a football system mighty like the one discarded three years ago in the dismissal of the veteran coach, Gwynn Henry. Responsibility for the football renaissance attempted in the wake of the ill-starred Frank Carideo regime has been thrust squarely and exclusively upon the shoulders of 32-year-old Don Faurot, an alumnus, who never weighed as much as 150 pounds in his undergraduate days a decade ago.

Faurot came back to Missouri after a sensational successful nine-year term as athletic director and head coach of the Northeast Missouri State Teachers college of Kirksville. Only 26 Straight! Faurot's Bulldogs climaxed a three-year all-victorious campaign last November. His teams went through 26 consecutive games without so much as a tie. When Frank Carideo resigned after winning only two games, tying Call Him: "Faw-roe" Columbia, Mo. (UP)—University of Missouri's new head football coach, Don Faurot, pronounces his name "Faw-roe," with emphasis on the second syllable.

two and losing 22, the boom for Faurot as head coach was renewed by alumni factions that beat the drums quietly for him prior to the employment of Carideo. Faurot learned his football from Gwynn Henry when Missouri was a name to be reckoned with in the football world. Henry had a liking for small, quick backs—the ponies for which his teams were famous. The Old Trickery Deception and speed were his chief threats. His 1929 team worked a fake placekick for an extra point and a touchdown in two games four days apart. After leaving Missouri, Henry tried selling insurance and officiating for a year, but football called him back and he had great success in 1933 as director of the pro St. Louis Gunners and in the 1934 season as head coach at the University of New Mexico, where his team won eight games and lost only one. Faurot, one of his prize pupils, won the Missouri Teachers' college championship seven times in his nine years as athletic director, head coach and all-around handy man at Kirksville. Most of the time he ran the athletic department single-handed. Among the victims of the all-victorious three-year march were Carideo's 1933 Missouri eleven, 26-6, and St. Louis university's big, heavy team in fall, 19-0. Faurot played fullback on the Missouri team that beat the University of Chicago in his senior year, 3-0, and he captained the Tiger basketball team. He played only two years of varsity football, his last as a protégé of Harry Kipke, the Michigan football chief, who was backfield coach here at the time. After graduating in 1925, Faurot was a Missouri freshman coach for a few months. He came here as Missouri's twenty-second football coach. They have had an average "life" of two years, the longest term having been Henry's nine-year stewardship.

Blondy Cross, in his column in the San Angelo Morning Times, says Coach Harry Taylor hopes to be in position by the latter part of this week to announce the 1935 Bobcat football schedule. Included on the roster beside the district 3 tussles are expected to be games with a Fort Worth team, San Antonio team, Abilene, Eastland and possibly Ranger and Waco. The San Angelo school board has leased an entire block with the idea of eventually fixing up a new athletic field. Felix E. Smith, superintendent of schools, said that finances are not in sight for removal of the field this year. The land was leased for a period of fifteen years with an option of renewal for fifteen years.

"Pug" LUND IS SWEDISH

RICE LAKE, Wis. (AP)—The question of whether Francis "Pug" Lund, captain and all-American halfback of the University of Minnesota football team, is of Swedish, Norwegian, French or Irish ancestry, has been settled. Alfred Lund, father of the Gopher ace, answered a query as to Pug's nationality by saying he was "of pure and unmixed Swedish ancestry."

Reports were published that Lund was Norwegian, while others said he was French and Irish.

Since Bobby Cannon is reputed to have received an offer to coach at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., some of the scribes believe he may have left of his own accord—but we doubt it. The betters couldn't stand the 48-10 loss to Amarillo.

The big Maxie Baer is the hilarious clown now. He holds the future of the fight game in his two big fists. If he so elects, he can bring back the great battles and big gates of the past, but he has some humping to do after breaking his trust with the fans—that he would be a fighting champion. It's claimed he's broke now, or nearly so, and he's been touring the country with his kid brother, putting on exhibitions in an effort to fill the family coffers, but if he'll take 'em on, and dry crack 'em like he did Levinsky, and dare some of 'em to come on and take some of the same, sooner or later there'll come an opponent who can make things interesting for him.

New Safety Deposit Boxes Are Installed At State National

The State National bank of Big Spring has recently completed installation of new safety deposit boxes in the safety deposit vault of the institution. A number of new Model all-steel boxes, in various sizes have been added to the bank's already large safety deposit vault department. The public is cordially invited to call at the bank and inspect the type of boxes, officials said.

Put Junior's Train to Use THE DALLES, Ore. (UP)—Eastern Oregon residents avoid walking a quarter-mile to their mail boxes. Housewives place letters to be mailed in a toy train and pull a lever. The train runs to the mail box, where the rural postman places mail in the cab and repulls the lever, conveying it back to the house.

Three kidnapers reported to have abducted Allen C. Bomberger (above) of Hammond, Ind., 21-year-old Wabash college student, were sought by department of justice agents in the Chicago area. The youth told police he had been tossed out of a car after his father had paid $50,000 ransom, but denials of any payment came from the Bomberger home and federal men. (As associated Press Photo)

Plans Launched For Conference Of Rotary In May

MIDLAND—Emphasizing the desire to have all of Midland represented in entertaining the forty-first district of Rotary International in its annual conference here May 6 and 7, two dozen members of the local club held an informal meeting Thursday night to launch preliminary plans for staging the event.

The conference voted last May when it convened at Abilene, to come to Midland in 1935. The district comprises 62 clubs in a territory taking in most of West Texas and all of the Panhandle.

An attendance of approximately 500 Rotarians, with probably 200 wives of the club members, is anticipated by district officials, it was announced.

Committees made a survey this week of available hotel accommodations, finding them ample. Organizations desiring to serve luncheons, four of which will be staged simultaneously with several contacted and preparations are under way to handle the large crowd adequately.

Cafes were advised of the probable number to be served meals aside from the group luncheons. J. Howard Hodge proffered the use of the Yucca theatre for daytime assemblies of the conference.

Members of the Lions club, chamber of commerce and other organizations, as well as all citizens of Midland, were asked to participate in giving the visitors a good reception here.

New Oldsmobile Now On Display

The new Oldsmobile, "the car that has everything," is now on display in the showroom at the Shroyer Motor company, 424 East Third street. Speaking of the new model, Mr. Shroyer said: "The Oldsmobile has a new streamline, longer wheelbase, more room, more comfort, greater power, increased economy and solid steel 'turret-top' bodies by Fisher. Knee-action wheels—built into the chassis as an integral part of all models, at no extra cost. Bigger super-hydraulic brakes. We cordially invite the public to call at our showrooms and inspect the new Oldsmobile."

Texas' Famous "Roller Coaster" Highway Soon To Be Thing Of Past

ODESSA, (UP)—Texas' famed "roller coaster" highway, whose dips and turns in following the natural contours of the sand dunes are so steep that they never fail to give motorists a thrill, will soon be a thing of the past.

Contract for rebuilding the stretch, which extends for seven miles in Ward county, has been let by the State Highway department. The roadway is to be turned into a level stretch of highway.

It will be made into a level stretch of highway, that is, if the elements permit. For the sand hills through which the road passes are constantly shifting with every change of the prevailing winds.

When the "roller coaster" road was built in 1917, the first road through that section, natives were skeptical. The first wind storm they said, would bury the highway under feet of sand.

The engineer on the job replied that by building the highway to follow the natural contours of the dunes, the wind could be made to sweep it clean rather than cover it up.

The first sandstorm that came proved that the engineer was right. When the air cleared after several days, the highway was clean, and polished smooth as marble.

Now the highway commission is building a new road, straight and level, utterly disregarding the century-old threat of the dunes that have buried Indian camps, fences and everything else that got in their way.

Will the dunes at last submit? Oil timers show that there is. The highway department, they say, will have to hire a crew of sand shovellers to keep the new roadway clear.

TEXAS U. OIL LANDS TO BE EXPANDED

AUSTIN—It is regarded as not improbable that there may be a considerable expansion of the development of oil and gas on land owned by The University of Texas during the current year, according to the views of men employed in the industry. At this time there are approximately 250,000 acres of University lands under lease for oil and gas exploration and exploitation. Much of this leased area is in wildcat territory. In view of the fact that there is more activity in drilling wildcat tests in Texas at this time than at any period since 1912, it is expected the University lands will share in this work of exploration.

The development of an oil field in Andrews county by the Humble Oil and Refining company may lead to the discovery of production on a block of 294,400 acres owned by the University in that county. This land is situated close to production and part of it is already under lease. The Humble Oil and Refining company recently completed the construction of a modern oil camp in the southern part of Gaines county, situated adjacent to its field operations in Andrews county.

Another significant recent development in West Texas is the discovery of oil in the test being drilled by the Gulf Production company in Crane county. Oil was obtained in this well at a depth of 10,918 feet, which is only about 400 feet short of the deepest producing well in the world, located in California. The Crane county test is also situated not far from a block of 48,880 acres owned by the University in Crane county. The well will be drilled deeper into the Ordovician in the anticipation that larger production may be obtained.

Preliminary steps have been taken by the Board of Regents looking to the drilling of a deep test of 8,000 feet or more on its 4,000-acre block of land situated on the mainland, across the bay from Galveston.

It is indicated that one of the features of the oil industry in Texas during the present year will be the drilling of many deep tests; not only in existing producing fields but in wildcat territory.

AS YOU LIKE IT BRIDGE CLUB HOLDS HOLIDAY DINNER FOR MEMBERS AT SETTLES HOTEL

Unique Place Card Arrangements And Hilarious Entertainment Furnished For Six Couples

Members of the As You Like It Bridge Club held their annual holiday dinner after New Year's this season, meeting at the Settles Hotel Friday evening for the event.

A unique blue and yellow color scheme was planned and carried out in the table decorations and the accessories.

One of the members provided for the dining table, which was laid in the clubroom, a novelty centerpiece. It was a huge head of cabbage resting on a blue reflector. Into the cabbage was thrust appetizers, such as stuffed olives, gherkins, pickled onions, almonds, on toothpicks.

Clever place cards held sentimental nicknames for the members, which they chose as they thought suited them, only to find out when the list was read that few had selected their own places.

The cards served later as tallies; they were of blue and yellow and the guests were then pinned on and were identified by those nicknames for the remainder of the evening.

Before the bridge games, Mr. Croft and Mr. Fahrnkamp put on a "rooster fight" with balloons tied to their feet that was the climax of hilarity for the whole party. Amusing prizes were awarded high and low couples. The Littles received a can of maple syrup for high score and the Houses a bottle of catsup for low.

Playing were only club members, Messrs. and Mrs. James Little, Marvin K. House, Emil Fahrnkamp, L. W. Croft, Grover B. Cunningham and V. H. Flewellen.

The Crofts will entertain the club next Friday for its regular session.

Religious Survey To Be Promoted In B. S.

Mrs. Watson Named As Tea Honoree

W.M.S. And S.S. Class Give Pretty Farewell Reception

At a farewell reception honoring Mrs. C. T. Watson Friday afternoon at the Crawford ballroom, about a hundred members of the Philatheas Sunday school class and of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church called for a visit with their departing friend.

Palms and colorful potted plants gave the ballroom the appearance of a living room.

In the receiving line to greet the guests were Mrs. H. E. Howie, present president of the Philatheas class, Mrs. C. C. Carter, president of the W. M. S., Mrs. Watson, Mrs. C. A. Bickley wife of the pastor of the church, and the following past presidents of the class: Misses Joe Kuykendall, Adams Valley, E. H. Jones, Jake Bishop, G. A. Woodward, A. Schnitzer and R. D. McMillan.

The guests were asked to register in a book presided over by Mrs. J. C. Waite, Sr., and guests then ushered to the tea table.

A cloth of Irish lace was spread over pink. Green tapers gleamed on the table which was centered with a ship on a reflector that was surrounded by ivy sprays. Tea and coffee was poured from silver services with Mrs. J. E. Pickle and Mrs. N. W. McCleskey presiding. Pink and green mints, sandwiches and small cakes were passed.

A program of music and readings was given throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Bishop read, "Crossing Paths with You." Mrs. G. H. Wood and Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick gave selections on the piano. Mrs. Fox Stripling and Mrs. E. E. Searcy gave readings. Little Eddie Houser and Charlene Kelasy appeared in "Baby Take a Bow." Gerald Anderson sang "My Spring." H. Flewellen sang a solo, "Absence."

Mrs. Carter gave a talk outlining Mrs. Watson's activities in the W. M. S. and her organization of the church into the younger women of the church into the Birdie Bailey Missionary society that was active for several years.

Mrs. Howie recalled Mrs. Watson's organization of the Philatheas class and her work with it, concluding her talk with the presentation of a lovely wrist watch from the class and associate members of the class.

Mrs. Watson responded with a speech of appreciation.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson and their son, Thomas Lee, are leaving Monday for Austin where they will make their home, after ten years' residence in Big Spring.

The closing program number was the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Thimble Club Plays Rook At Mrs. Eason's

The Thimble Club played at the home of Mrs. Sam Eason Friday afternoon. Rook was the diversion of the club.

The members held a business meeting and made Mrs. Manion club president and Mrs. Miller reporter. They also elected to membership Mrs. J. B. Lusk and Mrs. T. E. Baker.

Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Baker were guests of the afternoon. Mrs. Davis scoring the higher. Mrs. Manion made high for club members.

Mrs. O. M. Waters assisted her mother in serving the guests and following members: Mrs. W. H. Ward, G. S. True, Russell Manion, W. R. Ivey, S. P. Jones, J. B. Neel, F. D. Wilson, Arthur Pickle, W. A. Miller.

Mrs. Ivey will be the next hostess.

Mrs. Flewellen Has Dinner For Sunday School Dept. Heads

Mrs. V. H. Flewellen, superintendent of the Junior Department of the First Methodist Sunday school entertained the teachers and officers of the department with a dinner in the church parlor Thursday evening.

After a delicious meal the group held a council meeting, discussing problems and plans for their work.

Mrs. Manuel talked on evangelism, and Mr. Thomas on the boy's classes.

Present were the following: Messrs. and Mrs. Cecil Collings, Alvis Lovelace, C. E. Thomas, C. A. Bickley, Mrs. J. B. Sloan, J. E. Manuel, W. A. Miller, J. E. Paydon, J. M. Faucett, Misses Mildred Sloan and Edith Gay.

Past And Prospective Brides Get Showered

Mrs. Paul Rix Honoree For Shower Given At Hart Home; Mrs. Webber Also Entertains

Miss Lucille Stall Feted By Mrs. J. L. Sullivan In Combination Announcement And Shower Party At Her New Home

The social events of the week-end ran to showers, especially bridal showers, honoring holiday brides and prospective brides. Mrs. Eddie Burke, a bride of the summer who is leaving for Chicago and Kentucky, was also feted by a handkerchief shower.

On Thursday evening Miss Elouise Haley and Mrs. Waldo Green were co-hostesses to the friends of Mrs. Paul Rix, nee Bristow, for a surprise party at the home of Miss Haley's sister, Mrs. R. V. Hart.

After the drawing at the picture show Miss Haley brought Mrs. Rix to her home and took her out into the garden at the rear, bringing her into the house and the living room after the guests had assembled. When the two entered the living room, the guests arose and used the words of school children, "Miss Rix, we're goin' to give you a shower."

There was a big paper bag in the center of the floor such as the children put fruit in for fruit shows at school. This held the gifts all beautifully wrapped. Mrs. Rix opened the packages and passed them around for the others to see.

The guests had their lunches with them in small paper bags, which Mrs. Green had distributed beforehand. They played a number of kid games then opened their bags and enjoyed chicken salad sandwiches, date-loaf candy, apples with cups of hot coffee which Mrs. Hart assisted the hostesses in serving.

Present were: Mrs. Rix, Hart, George Gentry, W. M. Paulsen, Pete Sellers, R. Homer McNew, J. B. Storm, Misses Marguerite Wood, Ina McAllister, Marie Johnson, Clara Secrest, Lillian Shick, Lorraine Lamar, Lorena Eugenia, Eunice Thornton of Stanton; Mrs. George Long, sister of the bride; and Miss Lucille Rix, sister in law of the bride.

Miss Stall's Shower
Mrs. J. L. Sullivan was hostess Friday evening for a very clever surprise honoring Miss Lucille Isabelle Stall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stall, whose marriage to Mr. Sam Kerah of Oklahoma City is scheduled to take place sometime next week.

When the guests arrived at the Sullivan home at 1302 Johnson street, the found the living and dining room filled with a row of chairs representing an interior of The Honeymoon Limited.

They took their seats and wrote advice and recipes for the bride and groom to embark. Miss Louise Giera, niece of the hostess, played the role of the groom. She brought in gifts in bags and hat boxes and put them on the train.

When Miss Stall came in, she was given her place on the train. Her brother, Louis Stall acted as conductor and customs inspector and her friend Miss Bransford as bell boy. When the Mexican players, which Mrs. Sullivan had engaged for the evening, played the love song, "La Paloma," the border was reached and the custom inspectors demanded that the baggage be opened. At this time the gifts were unwrapped by the honoree and passed around for everybody to admire.

The guests were then invited into the dining room, where a beautifully laid cake holding the conventional bridal symbols was sliced by the prospective bride, and served with coffee.

The table was centered with white Chinese lilies flanked by white candles in silver holders. On the table was a miniature bride and groom. Favors were cards with a picture of a bride; the name of the honoree and the groom was written on them.

The remainder of the evening was spent in visiting.

Attending in addition to the honoree and her mother and brother were: Mrs. Theo. C. Thomas, Eddie Graves, H. S. Faw, W. F. Fries, G. E. Hayward and Seth H. Parsons; Misses Vernice Bransford and Louise Giera.

Gifts were sent by: Mrs. Arthur Woodall, R. Milton, Jean White, Ned Ferguson, Edna Liney, Elmo Wasson, L. O. Stewart, Will Olson, Clyde Sanders, Lawrence Robinson; Misses Edith Shive, and Jerry Liney.

Mrs. Burke's Shower
Mrs. D. W. Webber complimented her sister, Mrs. Eddie Burke with a handkerchief shower Friday evening at her home in Edwards Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Burke are leaving Sunday for Greenville, Ky. Mrs. Burke will go to Chicago and visit Mr. Burke's family before making her home in Greenville.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening. Mrs. Burns was the highest scorer. The evening was crowned with a courage of gardenias.

A delectable course was served to the following guests and the honoree: Mrs. Kelly Burns, Harold Lytle, Searcy Whaley, Gordon Graham, Erma Gooch of Abilene, Franklin Nugent, John Rosa Wilkerson, Ted Bishop; Misses Evelyn Merrill, Lucille Rix, Mary Vance Kanasater, Mary Alice Wilke and Golden Webber.

Younger Baptist Women Take Off Older Ones

The Lucille Reagan circle of the First Baptist W. M. S. entertained the older members of the church with a clever imitation of a business meeting of the Missionary society as the older women conducted it. This meeting was at Mrs. A. E. Underwood's home.

The circle members represented the older ones as follows: Mrs. L. T. Toombs, Mrs. F. F. Gary.

Mrs. Wayne Mathews, Mrs. R. E. Day.

Mrs. Horace Reagan, Mrs. B. Reagan.

Mrs. J. C. Loper, Mrs. B. F. Robbins.

Mrs. A. E. Underwood, Mrs. J. A. Boykin.

Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mrs. J. C. Douglas.

Mrs. Frank Stanfield, Mrs. D. J. Dooley.

Mrs. E. T. Smith, Mrs. K. S. Beckett.

Mrs. J. A. Bode, Mrs. L. Layne.

Mrs. H. V. Weaver, Mrs. R. V. Hart.

Mrs. C. K. Bivings, Mrs. C. B. Holmes.

Mrs. M. M. Mancill, Mrs. R. C. Hetch.

A silver offering was taken and a grab bag helped the circle to make the sum of $5.28 for their treasury.

The take-off was a great success and as greatly enjoyed by the on-lookers as the actors.

In addition to the cast, those they represented wear all present except two. The following also attended: Mrs. Joe Howell, J. P. Dodson, Cecel Coffee, L. M. Gary, R. N. Ralph, D. C. Maupin, Roy 'av, Elie Taylor, J. C. Smith, Vernon Logan.

HERE IT IS - THE CAR THAT MADE 175 EXPERTS Guess Wrong!

So Much Luxury, Style and Value in the New 1935 DODGE, Experts Overguessed its Price... Couldn't Believe It Would Sell for So Little.

175 experts—authorities in style, value, engineering—guessed too high when asked to estimate the price of the New-Value Dodge for 1935.

But no wonder they guessed wrong! Never before has any car so low-priced been so smartly designed, so sturdily built, so luxurious... with 95 basic advancements for new comfort, new economy, new high speed with safety.

And "Synchronomatic Control," which makes driving unbelievably easy and effortless... the new "Airglide Ride," which gives Dodge a steadiness, smoothness and roadability never before ever approached by other cars.

The New-Value Dodge is powered with the Dodge "Red Ram" engine. It's silky smooth, with traditional Dodge dependability. Develops 85 miles an hour and up! Built to last, to save money, no matter how fast you drive. A saving of 15¢ to 20¢ on every dollar you spend for gas is now possible—with even more astonishing oil economy!

Compare delivered prices of this 1935 Dodge against other cars! You'll be surprised to learn how low they are. Only the genius of a manufacturing organization like Dodge—with 20 years' experience building fine motor cars—could create such outstanding dollar-for-dollar value.

Del Rey Furniture

(California)

In keeping with our policy of offering our friends the finest furniture of the times, it is only natural that we should present, for the first time in Big Spring, the remarkable Del Rey Furniture. We are showing in our windows today a Del Rey Living Room Suite, Dining Room Suite and Bedroom Suite. We cordially invite you to pass our store and see these smart suites... to come in during the week and let us show them to you!

These suites are modern American adaptations of the Early 16th Century Spanish Conquistador period. Made of solid Honduran Mahogany they are hand-finished, pegged and roped, reminiscent of the old Spanish-designed pieces found in old Peruvian and Mexican ruins. Del Rey Furniture is so strikingly different, smartly modern and excellently made that you will desire it for your own home.

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

Chapter 32 THE GOWLANDS

We advanced along the roughly gravelled track, till we arrived at the gate which led into the factory grounds, where Jerry produced his keys. The lock opened without the least difficulty, and whistling to George, who had drifted off on a tour of inspection, he stepped through into the enclosure.

"Good hunting!" was his parting observation, "and don't get too fresh with Mrs. Gowland. From what I saw of her husband, I should think he was a nasty hand."

I left to myself, I continued my way along the outside of the fence, which extended in a complete circle all round the building. At the rear was another gate, also closed and locked.

From this a neglected looking road trailed away inland, and followed it for perhaps a hundred and fifty yards, I arrived at the entrance to a narrow lane which branched off to the left in the direction of the factory.

There was a stile here, leading into the adjoining field, and seating myself on the top rail, I filled a pipe and meditated for a little while on the problem that confronted me.

What would be the best way of dealing with Mrs. Gowland, if I were lucky enough to catch her alone? It would be easy to open the conversation by asking for some milk, but to switch from the subject to the private affairs of the late Mr. Osborne was a diplomatic feat which would be likely to involve considerable difficulties.

Now was I to account for my knowledge of the dead man's visit to Hambridge? No mention of this had been made during the trial, and since she must certainly be aware of that fact, her natural conclusion would be that I had derived my information either from Sir William Avon or through some private channel of my own.

I should be forced to put forward one of these explanations, and the question was which of the two seemed the most promising. She had already been closely questioned by Avon's representative, who had apparently come away empty-handed, and any further catechism from the same quarter might only result in arousing her resentment.

On the other hand, if I were to go, boldly as a friend and confidant of Osborne, I should be running a big risk. Quite conceivably her opinion of him might coincide with my own, and in that case, any small chance I had of winning her confidence would be irrevocably lost.

It was a thorny question, and after brooding over it carefully, I came to the conclusion that I had better postpone my choice until I discovered what sort of woman I had to deal with.

She might prove a sour-natured old crone who would bang the door in my face or she might be a simple and garrulous soul quite ready for a friendly gossip.

One supposition was just as probable as the other and the only thing to do when the moment arrived would be to adopt whatever tactics struck me as being the most suitable.

Having reached this decision I slid down from the stile and relighting my pipe which had come out in the course of my reflections, set off along the lane.

It was really little more than a mere cart-track, leading from all appearances, only to the farm. On both sides a low hedge shut it off from the neighboring fields, while the surface was so deeply rutted that in wet weather traffic must have been almost impossible.

I trudged along steadily for about half a mile and then, turning a sharp corner, I found myself suddenly confronted by a wooden gate. Beyond this lay a large straggling farmyard, flanked on either hand by thatched outbuildings.

An old hen with a family of young chicks was scratching about busily in the mud—her contented clucking being the only sound that broke the silence. From somewhere close by came the faint pleasant smell of burning leaves.

I advanced to the gate and leaning over the top bar, took a leisurely survey of Mr. Gowland's property. On closer inspection I noticed that the whole place had a certain air of neglect. From several of the roofs the thatch was hanging down in ragged patches, while the windows of the big barn, which had apparently been broken for some time, still waited disconsolately for a fresh pane of glass; it seemed to offer a silent but eloquent comment upon what I had already observed of the owner's habits and disposition.

I was looking about and taking in these various details when I heard the sound of approaching footsteps. The next moment a woman appeared round the corner of one of the outhouses. She was walking slowly, with a heavy bucket in either hand, and on seeing me she came to a sudden stop.

Mrs. Gowland, for it could scarcely be anyone else, was so utterly unlike what I had expected that I was almost betrayed into an exclamation of astonishment. In the first place she was unquestionably beautiful. Even the common print gown that she was wearing failed to conceal the perfectly moulded lines of her figure, while a great mass of black hair, twisted into a roach level at the back of her head, gave her something of the appearance of a startled geyser.

But it was her face that chiefly fascinated me. Never in my life had I seen a face on which the marks of tragedy and unhappiness were so deeply stamped. With its lonesome eyes staring out from under their dark lashes it reminded me of a picture of Francesca by some unknown Italian which I had once come across in a Florence gallery.

For a second or two I stood motionless, then, collecting my wits, I pushed open the gate. "I hope I'm not trespassing," I said. "I'm off the little yacht which came in this morning, and I wondered whether you could let me

CAN'T BALANCE BUDGET EITHER!

Joseph G. Lavezzo, Washington, D. C., vegetable merchant, found that balancing the budget this year is somewhat harder than it was a year ago. The new 1936 budget, shown on the scales, weighed three pounds, 14 ounces, or three ounces more than its predecessor. (Associated Press Photo) have some milk." She put down her two pails and came slowly towards me. "We don't sell it as a rule," she said, "but I could spare you a pint if that would be enough."

Her voice was low and deep, with a kind of faint huskiness that I found rather attractive. "A pint will be plenty," I assured her.

She crossed over to an open door on the opposite side of the yard, and after a brief interval reappeared with the jug. I searched in my pocket and found some coins.

"Thank you very much," I said. "I suppose I'm right in thinking that I'm talking to Mrs. Gowland?" She gave an almost imperceptible nod.

For good or evil I decided to take the plunge. "There's no mystery about it," I answered. "I am an old friend of someone you used to know—John Osborne."

The effect upon her was extraordinary. A look of utter panic flashed into her dark eyes, and with a terrified movement she glanced round over her shoulder. "Don't be frightened," I continued. "It's perfectly all right. I only want to have a little chat with you about him. You see—"

"But I don't know anything; I've nothing to tell you!" She put her hand on my arm and almost thrust me towards the gate. "You must go; you must go away at once. My husband doesn't like strangers coming on to the farm. He would be very angry if he found me talking to you."

Her voice scarcely rose above a whisper, but there was an agony of entreaty in it that no words can convey. For an instant, however, I still hesitated. "Very well," I said soothingly. "only if Mr. Gowland is so unpleasantly disposed, it will be possible for you to meet me somewhere else?"

With a loud crash the door of the big barn was suddenly flung open, and the gentleman I was speaking about stumbled out into the yard. To judge from his appearance he had evidently been enjoying a mid-day nap. Coolness, hatless, his grizzled hair all over the place, he stood blinking at me savagely out of his bloodshot eyes.

Dodge Engine Boasts "Synchromatic" Controls
Now, pretty nearly everything is automatic
The Dodge automatic carburetor heat control is shown in the upper left. It does out the proper amount of heat to the fuel mixture—without help from the driver.
In the circle, the Dodge water control is seen; its automatic action causes the engine cooled water to flow faster or more slowly until the power plant reaches its best operating temperature; at that time the apparatus goes out of action until its aid is needed again.
In the lower left is the automatic vacuum spark control which advances and retards the ignition in strict accordance with every spark timing change that is needed.
The diagrammatic cut at the right pictures the automatic engine choke which makes starting easy, especially in winter driving, because it chokes the carburetor intake passage as much as is required by the engine at any particular moment.
Because Dodge engineers have provided this group of self-acting features, the driver's work now consists of little more than starting, stopping and steering the car.

Howard Well Represented At Lubbock

Rural School Officials And Teachers Interested In School Music Program

Howard county was well represented in general educational conference of district No. 2 Friday evening held in Lubbock, although this county is not in that district.
Interest in the public school music program prompted several rural school officials and teachers to attend the meeting.
Pat Bullock spoke briefly on standardization of rural schools. He was followed by Miss Nell Parmley, also of the state education department, who spoke of music in public schools of Texas.
Marie Finney, national demonstrator for RCA, gave a practical demonstration of Victrola and record use in teaching public school music. It is through the Victrola medium that the state rural school music program is to be taught.
In conclusion L. A. Woods, state superintendent, brought an address.
Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Leland L. Martin and daughter, Mrs. J. E. Brigham, Miss Ann Martin, county superintendent, M. L. Blackwelder and George Boswell and two teachers from Coahoma.

Texas Wait For New Deal

Allred To Be Inaugurated Tuesday Noon; Change In Departments

AUSTIN, (AP)—Texas eagerly awaited Saturday "the new deal from a new deck" promised by the young dynamic James V. Allred, after he becomes governor of the nation's largest state at noon Tuesday. Allred, working ceaselessly since his election, has planned a sweeping reorganization of departments under his immediate control, and will go to the legislature with a program of major reforms in taxation, public utility regulation, criminal control and departmental reorganization. A clean sweep will be made in the adjutant general's department and the livestock sanitary commission, now controlled by appointees of Governor Ferguson, who, with her husband and adviser, former Governor James E. Ferguson, will return to private life after twenty years in the political spotlight.
New personnel also will be installed from top to bottom in the secretary of state's office.

Progress Shown
 In Southwestern Life Statement

Of all the indices of Texas business conditions, perhaps none offers more definite and specific proof of progress than the annual statement of a large life insurance company, which for thirty-two years has done business in every nook and corner of Texas, but which writes no insurance outside of Texas. Such a company is the Southwestern Life of Dallas, the third one of the large Texas companies which does not go outside the state for business. It is by far the largest United States company operating in only one state. Its reports show an increase of more than fifteen per cent in the force during 1934, the first substantial gain since 1930, this Texas institution offers significant evidence of business improvement in Texas.

A record of the company's size for the past five years writes the history of the depression. Up to the end of 1929, the Southwestern had made large gains annually for many years, having doubled in size during the previous six years.

Early in 1930 losses and surrenders began to be felt, and the gain during the year was small—approximately one-third of that for 1929. On December 31, 1931, the company had less insurance in force than it had at the beginning of the year. The next year, 1932, generally conceded to be the worst for nearly all lines of business, proved the most difficult for Texas policyholders. Notwithstanding the production of thirty-seven millions of new insurance by the company's agents, the total volume in force fell off more than fourteen millions. Recovery commenced in 1933 when a gain of about one and a half millions was recorded. The gain of fifteen millions for 1934 has just been announced in the annual report to policyholders of President C. F. O'Donnell.

A comparison of the annual statements for 1929 and 1934 reveals some interesting changes in the company's investment practice, due to the introduction by the New Deal of its government lending agencies. Prior to 1930 the Southwestern Life found a ready outlet for its reserves and surplus funds in the mortgage loan field, and 85 per cent of its assets were invested in loans on Texas farms and city property. At the end of 1934, only 38 per cent of its assets were in mortgages, while the bond item had increased from 8 per cent to 22 per cent.

The tendency toward increasing liquidity is revealed in the larger proportion of cash and United States government bonds, now more than five millions, or approximately 12 per cent of all assets, as compared to 8 per cent at the end of 1929. While the normal income of a legal reserve life insurance company far exceeds its normal disbursements, the companies have been called upon in recent years to meet heavy withdrawals of policy reserves or "cash values." Many millions of dollars have been loaned to Texas citizens on the security of their policies, and doubtless many a business and family budget has been saved by these emergency funds.

President O'Donnell says that the demand for policy loans has been steadily decreased, however, and the life companies are turning again to long-term investments. With gradual retirement of the federal government from the real estate loan business, the companies are anticipating an improved de-

RUSSIAN DON COSSACKS TO APPEAR AT THE MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM JANUARY 21st

Believe it or not—but there exists a group of able-bodied men, some of them almost seven feet tall, all of them at least thirty years old, who would rather sing than eat or sleep!

The Russian Don Cossacks, organized as a male chorus some ten years ago still rigidly observe the same strict discipline that was found in the army of the czar before the revolution. The greatest tragedy that can befall one of these singing Russians is to be told that they must forego one of their concerts—the penalty for missing a rehearsal. Only once in the ten years of their existence has any member of the Don Cossacks received what is to them—the severest of all punishments.

This organization, which will be heard here on Monday evening, January 21, at the Municipal Auditorium, has an almost unbelievable number of songs in its repertoire. While the singers seldom rehearse when on tour, each year sees a complete change of program, which is rehearsed for five hours a day during a six weeks annual stay on the Riviera.

The Russian chorus comes to Big Spring under auspices of the Roy E. Fuller post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Car Registrations In Seasonal Decline

AUSTIN—New passenger car registrations in fifteen representative Texas counties showed about the usual seasonal decline from November to December but were considerably above those of December, the preceding year, according to reports to the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. Registrations for the month in these counties of 2,011 cars represented a decline of 29 per cent from the previous month but an increase of 11 per cent over December a year ago, it is stated. For the entire year registrations in these counties totaled 47,040, an increase of nearly 28 per cent over 1933.

Business Failures Increase In Texas During December

AUSTIN—Failures in Texas during December showed about the usual seasonal increase over November, it is shown by a report of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. According to R. G. Dunn and company, there were twenty-one failures in December, against twelve the preceding month and 25 in December, 1933. Total liabilities were $329,000, an increase of 248 per cent over the month previous and 32 per cent above December a year ago. Average liability per failure, $33,000, was 92 per cent above that in November and 56 per cent greater than in December, 1933.

Lumber Statistics Are Not Very Optimistic

AUSTIN—Lumber statistics still are not very optimistic, the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas points out. Reports from the Southern Pine association show a decline in average weekly production per unit from 185,000 board feet in November to 178,000 in December, or 29 per cent, and about an equal decline from December last year. Average weekly shipments per unit, 144,900 board feet, were down 20 per cent from November but 7 per cent above those of December a year ago. Average unfilled orders per unit on Dec. 31 totaled 523,000 board feet, 5.2 per cent above November and 18 per cent above those of the corresponding date in 1933.

WHAT YOU LIKEE FO' WOE-SIN FO'DO WITH MISSY PLIME MINISTEE UNIFLUM, MISSY PA?

WHO CARES? I'LL BE WEARIN' UNITED STATES DUDS FROM NOW ON! AND AM I HAPPY I'M SO SICK O' EPALLETS AN' GOLD BRAID I CAN'T SEE!

NOW WE'LL HOP UP ON DECK AN' SEE HOW TH' GOOD SHIP PROGRESSES!

AH! GREETINGS, SIR LEMUEL! ISN'T THIS GLORIOUS? THIS IS MY FIRST SEA VOYAGE, YOU KNOW AND I THINK IT'S TOO MARVELOUS FOR WORDS!

GOOD! COME ON AN' TAKE A HIKE ROUND TH' DECK AN' GET YER SEA LEGS!

IN FACT, IT'S QUEENIES AND MY FIRST TRIP OF ANY KIND! YOU MIGHT CALL IT OUR HONEYMOON TRIP! AND--TO THINK THAT WE'RE BOUND FOR AMERICA--- THE COUNTRY I'VE ALWAYS SO GREATLY ADMIRER!

AN' WHAT A COUNTRY! BOY! WILL I BE GLAD T' SEE IT AGAIN!

UH--BUT, SAY---WHAT'S A MATTER WITH THIS BOAT? LOOKS T' ME LIKE WE'RE GOIN' ROUND IN CIRCLES!

EH? OH, BUT SIR LEMUEL, THAT WOULD BE SILLY! WE'D GET NOWHERE DOING THAT!

WELL--BY GOLLY, WE ARE! WE'VE WALKED CLEAR AROUND TH' DECK AN' TH' SUN'S BEEN WITH US ALL TH' WAY!

D-DEAR ME--SO IT HAS! BUT--IF WE ARE GOING 'ROUND IN CIRCLES, THE CAPTAIN MUST HAVE A REASON FOR IT!

YEAH---I GUESS HE HAS! IF HE'S ANY KIND OF A CAPTAIN!

OH HE'S QUITE COMPETENT, I'M SURE! HE CAME VERY HIGHLY RECOMMENDED!

YOU SEE, LEM, POOCHBURG IS ANYTHING BUT A SEAFARING COUNTRY--THE ONLY MEN CAPABLE OF NAVIGATING A SHIP ARE, AT PRESENT, IN OUR MERCHANT-MARINE! SO, WHEN I ACQUIRED THIS YACHT, I WAS AT MY WITS' END TO FIND A CAPTAIN FOR HER!

YEAH! SO WHAT?

WELL--I'D JUST ABOUT GIVEN UP HOPE OF FINDING A GOOD NAVIGATOR, WHEN LADY SPLUTTERFUSS CAME TO MY RESCUE!

HUH? MA?

B-BUT--GOSH-BLINK IT MA NEVER KNEW ANY SEA-CAPTAINS T' MY KNOWLEDGE!

Y-YOU? OH, MY GOSH! I MIGHT'VE KNOWN!

AH--WHAT HO, OLD CHAP! AN--I SAY--I WONDAR IF YOU WOULD KNOW WHAT ALL THESE BALLY MAPS, DOO-TIDJAWS AND WHAT-NOTS ARE FOAH? AND--AW---IS A SHIP'S CAPTAIN SUPPOSED TO WORK THEM?
