LOCAL MAN SHOOTS GIRL, KILLS SELF Old Settlers Gather In Fifth Annual Reunion Record Field At Texas Ballot Barrier

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

TODAY is the day all the candidates can figure out just how they'll win; and the day a lot of the boys lay odds on one or the other of the thousands of aspirants to offices, great and small, throughout the state.

The Herald has staunchly supported the candidacy of Ross S. Sterling for governor. It did not make this move without due consideration of others in the race. Nor without careful examination of Mr. Sterling's record and his platform.

Decision to support him, let us say, was made by one person—the editor of the paper. No one else in the Herald organization or in any other newspaper organization—or anyone, anywhere for that matter—had a part in making that decision. Nor did any one else attempt to have any influence upon it.

The Herald supports Mr. Sterling because his candidacy—the man—is like a breath from a rose displacing the stench of a mosquito. It offers relief from petty personal politics, shot through with untrue charges, unfulfilled pledges, lack of leadership. This is his first time to seek an elective office. He holds an appointive office, but he did not seek it. The office sought the man, as it should. Sentiment has been steadily growing throughout Texas for three years for Mr. Sterling to seek the governorship.

The tremendous strength he has so rapidly gained in this campaign testifies to the fact that the people want a new deal. They do not want a man who is running because he voted for Hoover or for Smith two years ago; nor one who talks incessantly of the democratic principles of Thomas Jefferson, without offering anything constructive for the Texas of 1930; nor one who has been a perennial candidate for years, went to the United States senate, spent most of his time fighting a contest over his seat and was summarily rebuffed at the polls at the end of his very first term; nor, yet, a man who pleads for adjournment of politics and development of industrial resources but would take from the state sources of revenue it ought to have and who seeks votes in one section because he is its "favorite son" yet pleads against "sectionalism" in other sections, and who, finally, voted for the tax relief plan of Mr. Sterling during the last session of the legislature yet was afraid to sponsor it in this campaign and offered an impossible substitute.

Neither do the people of this state want the disgraceful spectacle in the governor's office of a good woman holding the title while her husband, a "practicing attorney" sits by her side and dictates the policies of the executive.

James E. Ferguson is the shrewdest politician of our generation. He has gained much lost strength in this campaign. We quite expect his wife to top the ticket tomorrow. But we do not expect her to become governor.

Why? Simply because the Ferguson strength will practically all be polled tomorrow, while most of the votes cast for the nine candidates eliminated tomorrow will go to almost any candidate who oppose Mrs. Ferguson and Love, or Mayfield, in the run-off primary.

Small, Miller, Young or Sterling could defeat Mrs. Ferguson handily in the second primary.

To begin with, and regardless of what may have gone on "behind the scenes" before the senate, sitting as a high court, impeached James E. Ferguson, a majority of the people of this state do not

750,000 TO SETTLE IT SATURDAY

Candidates Hit Final Blows and Head For Home

DALLAS, Tex., July 25 (AP)—Candidates for favor at the hands of voters in the Democratic and Republican parties today gathered up the loose ends of a long campaign and tomorrow some 750,000 Texans were to express a preference at the first primary.

The Democrats had an unprecedented number seeking the governorship, there being 11 candidates for the nomination, and the Republicans had five aspirants to the chief executive's chair.

To Nominate Both parties were to nominate candidates for the United States

BIG SPRING GUESSES An illuminating local side-light on the election is shown by a telephone poll taken from the Herald office among a number of representative Big Spring women and several of the lawyers of the city.

Even the women agreed on one thing, "Ma is bound to be in the run-off. Eighteen women said so. Ten women place their bets on Sterling, six on Small and two on Tom Love.

Among the lawyers it was much the same. Twelve flatly gave Ferguson a place in the run-off, six placed Sterling, four placed Small and two placed Love.

senate and for places in the national house of representatives. Heretofore, nomination in the democratic party has been tantamount to election, but the republican party in the general election of 1928 mustered enough strength from the independent democratic faction to carry Texas for President Herbert Hoover.

The presidential campaign was an issue in the democratic gubernatorial campaign, with State Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, one of the leaders in the bolt to Hoover two years ago, basing his bid for the nomination on his opposition to former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Other democratic candidates were Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller of Dallas, James Young of Kaufman, Miriam A. Ferguson of Austin, Earle B. Mayfield of Austin, C. E. Walker of Grapevine, Frank Putnam of Houston, C. C. Small of Wellington, C. C. Moody of Fort Worth, R. S. Sterling of Houston and Paul Lovell of New Braunfels.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard was opposed within his party by C. A. Mitchell of Sherwood, little known in Texas politics, and Robert L. Henry of Houston, former congressman.

Republican candidates for governor were George C. Butte of Austin, H. E. Exum of Amarillo, John P. Gaines of Wichita Falls and John F. Grant of Houston. Republican candidates for the United States senate were Doran John Haesly of Dallas, Harve H. Haines of Beaumont and C. O. Harris of San Angelo.

Claude L. Hudspeth of El Paso was the only democratic congressman not seeking renomination, and Harry M. Wurzback of Seguin, only Texas republican congressman, was opposed for renomination by Jesse A. Chase of Beeville, in the 41st district. Ten of the 18 Texas places in congress were contested in the primaries.

Local Voters Told Bounds of Four Precincts

Big Spring voters, when they go to the polls Saturday, should know which precinct they are voting in and who the candidates for the posts of county commissioners are.

According to the records of the commissioners' court, the last revision changed three of the precinct lines.

All of the precincts have their starting point in the center of the courthouse, going from there into Big Spring and on into the rural sections.

Precinct One emerges from the west door to Seelye street, then south to West Fourth, then west, penetrating the rural sections, coming in on Highway Nine, going south on Cedar street to Main, then south with Main to Third street.

Precinct Two starts through the south entrance of the courthouse, extending through the alley crossing Block 28 to West Fifth street, then south with Main, covering all streets in that vicinity. Returning to the starting point, the line goes along West Fourth street to Main, then north on Main to the original starting point.

The third precinct starts at the south entrance to the courthouse, going east with West Fifth to Main, then south with Main. It continues to the south county boundary line, going east with the south line to the corner of Precinct One.

Precinct Four's line goes east to Main, then south on Main to Fourth, going east on Fourth into the rural district. Cedar street is the starting point on the return, coming south on Cedar to Main and on Main to Third.

QUAKE LIST TOTALS 2,573

ROCHETTA, SAN ANTONIO, Italy, July 25. (AP)—General Diastrocchi, commandant of the Neapolitan zone, today said the total dead in the province of Avellino was 2,573. His figures added 375 deaths to the total of other provinces, bringing a grand total in the earthquake of 2,930 killed.

The revised figures contrasted sharply with the government's total of 1,526 for Avellino.

TAKES LEAD IN AIR DERBY

The filer and the ship which has led the All-American air derby, in a race across the continent, on every lap, is shown above. Gehlbach, the pilot, led the pack into San Angelo this morning, his elapsed time from Buffalo having 17:38 minutes.

COUNTY CANDIDATES MAKE FINAL APPEAL AT RALLY

The cannons of county office seekers were quiet today, following the final public speaking held Thursday night on the Courthouse lawn, at which time all candidates presented their claims and asked for the support of Howard County voters.

Penrose B. Metcalfe, unopposed candidate for representative, District 91, was introduced by W. R. Pursler, chairman of the meeting, and opened the speaking program. Several hundred Howard County voters attended the political rally and stayed until the final speech had been made.

The meeting was brought to a close by Clyde E. Thomas who spoke in behalf of Robert E. Bobbitt for attorney general. C. P. Rogers spoke in the interest of the candidacy of Cecil Storey of Vernon for the same office, preceding Thomas.

Following is a short summary of the speeches made by the various candidates:

Ory
J. F. Ory, for public weigher—"I have had two years experience in this work and feel I will be better qualified to handle your affairs in this line during the next two years. I do not have an opponent."

Ogden
John H. Ogden, for Constable, Precinct One—"There are two issues in this race—the office and

Sterling Spends Ten Millions On Buildings, All Erected By Union Labor; Workers For Him

HOUSTON, Tex., July 24.—Having come from the ranks of those who toil with their hands, Ross Sterling promises to labor, if he is elected governor, with a sincere desire to serve its interests and protect its welfare.

"I have toiled as a laborer," Mr. Sterling said in his opening speech at Huntsville, "and I am proud of that class of citizens known as the common people, for I am one of them."

Behind Mr. Sterling's declarations of friendship for labor lies a long story of his dealings with craftsmen and other workers through the years which marked his rise to success in both public and private endeavors.

Ten million dollars in construction work in Houston has been completed for Mr. Sterling, either as a private citizen or in various public capacities. All of this immense building program has been carried out with union labor and organized workers have shared in the millions expended.

HISTORY IS RE-TOLD BY HUNDREDS

Cottonwood Park Is Scene of Friday Gathering

Out the dusty highway to the east a steady stream of cars has moved all the day. Over the hill at Coleman's and turn to the left at Cottonwood Park.

The old settlers of Howard County have gathered for the fifth time in an annual picnic, all day meetin' and barbeque.

To the tune of fiddlers, shouts of the men, shrill cries of the children and chatter of the women the history of this town and county is retold and relived wherever a little knot of "old timers" gathered.

The cars are parked in long steaming lines under the sun. They will not return until late this evening. Their owners have spread their possessions and their children on the grass and under the Cottonwood trees.

"Sody pop, b'loons," is the cry of the booth tenders.

You can buy pink lemonade, peanuts, hot dogs and hamburgers. The crowd mills and mixes. Most of the men and women "get acquainted." The prescribed program moves haltingly. There is much hand-shaking and back slapping.

Many of the old timers have been in Howard county more than fifty years. Among those registering the year of their arrival as in the 1870s are the following: G. L. Brown, Mrs. B. Jones, Mrs. J. W. McCutcheon, Sterling Price and J. J. Barnett.

The 80s
A steady influx of pioneers came in the 1880s however and 1890 seems to be the most outstanding year. Here are the forty year old timers: C. E. Talbot, 1885, Mrs. R. B. Zinn, 1883, T. B. Prather, 1890, S. E. Deats, 1884, Mrs. Boydston, 1881, D. A. Rhotan, 1881, Mrs. A. Miller, 1880, Kan Powell, 1889, Bob Hill, 1890, J. L. Wade, 1890, Steve Colverly, 1889, William Fisher, 1884, H. W. Leeper, 1886, Joe Fisher, 1884, Bernard Fisher, 1884, A. L. Wasson, 1883, W. W. Inkman, 1888, Mrs. J. S. Anderson, 1889, C. E. Shuman, 1890, J. J. Thompson, 1885, Mrs. G. W. Sikes, 1885, Dr. W. C. Barnett, 1885, W. J. Wooster, 1889, J. B. Tyler, 1889.

Here is quite a list of names all registered at 1890: Charlie Robison, W. C. Alfred, Jim McKinney, Bud McKinney, Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mrs. Esther Elliott, Maggie Richardson, W. J. Elliott, E. A. Hull, A. M. Rendleman, Lawrence Rendleman, W. R. Rigby and C. M. Hull.

Other forty year settlers are: J. S. Winslow, 1886, J. J. Curlee, 1888, A. Miller, 1888, Frank Lester, 1881, L. S. McDowell, 1885.

Others
Other names on the official registry at 1 o'clock were: Carl Barber, W. F. Paschall, T. E. Satterwhite, Jim Caubie, R. L. Powell, W. N. Spears, Jim Campbell, B. J. Campbell, G. E. Amos, Eugene Long, G. E. Fleeman, L. S. Patterson, L. S. Hamlin, L. C. Mathis, W. T. Read, Hart Phillips, E. M. Newton, Levi Robinson, J. W. Shortis, Frank Hodnett, W. T. Roberts, W. Wilson, G. Y. Wilson, Emma Smith, W. B. Skeen, J. W. Skeen, Ray Skeen, Lucia Skeen, Jess Slaughter, C. W. Shafer, Harry Lee, W. J. Crawford, J. J. Jones, W. S. Satterwhite, A. G. Troop, R. L. Shafer, G. O. Broughton, A. D. Henry, Roy McNew, Monty Hamlin, Robert Hill, T. W. Brannon, Lloyd Brannon, O. A. Moore, J. A. Nelson, Carl Gray, E. Lawley, Albert Edens, W. C. Yell, P. H. Coburn, Jim Robinson, L. A. Wheeler, E. T. Cobb, W. B. Allen, J. P. Messer, J. H. Scoggins, Dave Leatherwood, Bob Ashberry, P. M. Broadley, Jean Crenshaw, Joe Wheeler, Tom Good, O. L. Bacon, J. P. Hendricks, J. A. Castlow, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Castlow Hall, James Caubie.

"My relations with organized labor and with all labor have been pleasant and satisfactory. Labor can expect from them the same desire to serve its interests and promote its welfare, which I feel toward all classes of our citizenship. My remarks in this connection apply to women as well as men. I have made it a point of humanity

Allowance Periled

Now that she's married Mrs. Ruth Mix Gilmore, 17, may lose her $250 a month allowance from her father, Tom Mix.

THREE MEN HURT HERE

One Loses Hand Under Train, Bones Broken

Three accidents, one last night and two at noon today, took a toll of broken bones and caused the loss of one hand by a man injured in a train accident.

Roy Green, 35, 109 North Nolan, had his hand crushed to such an extent amputation was necessary, at 10:30 o'clock last night while crossing the Texas and Pacific tracks at the Goliad Street crossing.

According to Green he stumbled just as he reached the trolley, his arm going beneath the wheels. He received a slight head injury.

Rubin Fagan, Burnett, Texas, employee of the Texas Power and Light Company here, received a crushed foot at noon today when it was caught between a trailer and a truck body. His instep was broken.

Jack F. Smith, 24, was injured when the motorcycle he was riding crashed into a sandbed. His right leg was broken in two places. According to Smith he was attempting to turn on the Bankhead highway when a car forced him into the sand. The machine fell on his leg.

All of the men were taken to the Big Spring Hospital for emergency treatment.

Choice Stories Heard At Reunion Of Old Settlers

Many are the stories told by the "old timers" as they gather at the Cottonwood park for their fifth annual celebration.

One elderly woman tells of moving from East Texas. "We came," she said "as far west as the T. P. came. When it ended in Big Spring we got off."

Another told of the first town. "It was nothing but canvas tents and one saloon had a board front when we got here," she said. "The cowboys were then just as wild as Easterners have always thought them. Gunplay was as common as spittin' and after dark it was mighty dangerous to leave a light burnin' in your tent 'cause the 'boys' would shoot through it until they hit the light."

"The Indians were pretty well tamed and pushed backwards when the town was reached by the railroad, but dirty blanketed Comanches still skulked about the streets," one rancher, who has been here over fifty years said.

"I think I told you this before," said another old timer, "but talkin' about the cowboys. I remember when they used to make their horses drink whiskey outen their hats and get 'em drunk!"

Rev. M. C. Bishop of Post will conduct services at the First Baptist church here Sunday, both morning and evening. It was announced Friday.

HOBBS, N. M., IS SCENE OF TRAGEDIES

Robert H. McAlpine, Electrical Contractor, Victim

Robert H. McAlpine, owner of the McAlpine Electrical Co., 2109 Scurry Street is dead and Miss Lorean Clark, 21, formerly of Big Spring, is in a critical condition in a Hobbs, N. M. hospital, as a result of a shooting there about 10:30 o'clock Thursday night.

According to reports received from Hobbs today, McAlpine had come there Thursday to see his estranged wife. She was working in the telephone office there.

The body of McAlpine was being brought here from Hobbs this afternoon by Ralph Rix of the Rix Mortuary, Hobbs, the local Rix offices were informed.

Talked To Wife McAlpine talked with his wife in regard to returning to Big Spring. They went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, with whom she was residing, where they parted, said a Hobbs report.

In a few minutes, it is alleged, McAlpine returned to the home and went inside. The house was dark. The Clark girl was standing in front of a dresser when McAlpine entered.

One shot from a 38 caliber pistol penetrated her stomach, and lodged in the liver. Reports from the Hobbs hospital today were that she had a chance for recovery.

After Miss Clark left wounded, McAlpine went into the back yard and when about 50 yards from the house sent a bullet through his brain. The slug entered his forehead and he died three-quarters of an hour later without regaining consciousness.

Resided Here Miss Clark formerly resided here with her parents. They lived near the airport, and moved to Hobbs about three weeks ago, according to Big Spring residents who knew the girl. About three months ago, she was a waitress at the Blue Moon Cafe, located in the building on Scurry street owned jointly by McAlpine and T. H. Crow. The cafe is two doors from the electrical concern.

The theory advanced by Hobbs officials was that Miss Clark was a victim of mistaken identity.

McAlpine left Big Spring about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in a Ford truck belonging to his company. According to F. E. McKnight, East Third street, employee of the firm, he did not say where he was going.

Survivors Friends of his were informed of the fatal shooting late Thursday night. Two sons, aged 6 and 11, besides his widow, survive McAlpine. The boys are in Abilene.

The McAlpine family lived in a duplex in the rear of the building where the business is located. McAlpine is believed a native of Canada. Friends of his here knew nothing of his former home, except that he came here from Abilene, after completing a contract job in Sweetwater.

He has handled the electrical business of several large jobs here, and has been in business for himself for about a year. The business was closed today pending arrival of his wife. No funeral arrangements had been made this afternoon.

According to employees and business associates of McAlpine, he had never mentioned any existing trouble between himself and his wife. His wife is from Wichita Falls.

Castrell
P. F. Castrell, for tax collector—"I have been a resident of this county for 29 years. I spent three seasons in the tax collector's office. I feel I am qualified and will appreciate your vote."

Bates
John Bates, for tax collector—"For eight years I served you as tax assessor and I feel that record enables me to justly lay my qualifications before you in this race. I have lived here 32 years, am well acquainted, and know the tax business."

Acuff
Loy Acuff, for tax collector—"If elected to this office I promised efficient and courteous service. The place will help me financially. I feel I am fully qualified to hold the office."

Tamsitt
J. O. Tamsitt, for tax collector—"I have served as deputy tax collector for seven years, under three office holders. I know I have rendered good and faithful service. I would like to have the honor of being the first tax collector of Howard county. I want to be elected on the first ballot."

Tucker
C. E. Tucker, for tax collector—"I will appreciate it if the voters of Howard county see fit to install me in this office. I have been here for 30 years, and feel I am fully qualified for the place."

Towler
E. G. Towler, for re-election county treasurer—"The people called me to run for this office when I was elected. Before that I was beaten once. My record is an open book. I have worked hard and kept your accounts straight. My office records are always open to the public. I will appreciate your vote."

Prescott
W. A. Prescott, for county treasurer—"My opponent was drafted into this office and it looks as if we are going to have to draft him out. I have lived here seven and one-half years. I want to be your next county treasurer. Your vote and influence will be appreciated by me."

Little
James Little for re-election County

Attorney—"I don't ask your vote because I have lived here for so many years. I have tried to make you an efficient and capable public servant and it is upon that record that I am basing this race. The office is yours. It was leased to me two years ago and the lease is about to expire. If you feel I can make you a better official than my opponent, then I ask your vote. If not, then it is your duty to vote for Mr. Whitaker. My opponent declares I have served for two terms and should try and go higher. Many in this county have served longer terms than I. I want to make you a better officer."

Whitaker
John G. Whitaker, for county attorney—"My opponent and I started this race friends, and it looks as if we are going to end it friends. Two years ago I sought to be your legislator from this district and Big Spring gave me a hearty vote. I am just as well qualified as my opponent. You have given him the office twice without opposition. It is different tonight. Our experience is about the same. I have had three years in the practice of law, taking in both prosecution and defense. My opponent has told you of the work brought on by the oil boom. You shouldn't work a good horse to death. I ask you to elect me to this office, on my qualifications, on my merits, and on my record as a citizen of your city and county."

Friedhard
J. I. Friedhard, for re-election County and District Clerk—"I have been your public servant for many years. I do not have an opponent this time. I want you to feel my office is your office. The records are yours, to inspect and use. We keep a staff of employes to serve you at all times."

Hooser
H. C. Hooser, for county judge—"I have never asked for a public office before. If elected I will do my best to serve you, rendering an economical administration. I am fully qualified to hold the post. My opponent has held the office for seven years. I have no record as a public official, because this is my first experience in seeking an office. I will appreciate an opportunity to serve you."

Lebenport
H. R. Lebenport, for re-election County Judge—"I was appointed to this office and have been re-elected three times. I am back tonight asking for your vote. I have been denied the privilege of being among you, but my record as a lawyer and a county judge is before you. I base my campaign for re-election on that record. I want you to feel that if I can't be of service to you to vote for the best interest of yourself and Howard County. I have dealt with the problems of this county every day I have served you. I have worked with your rural schools, aided in the bond issues and otherwise served. I will appreciate your support again in this race."

Miss Cantrell
Miss Pauline Cantrell—for re-election County Superintendent—"I am asking for your vote on my record for the last two years. I am proud of the progress of the rural schools of Howard County. I have spent much time working toward getting the schools standardized, and will not be contented until all of them are. I am seeking a second term, basing my claim on the record I have established in my first."

Lawrence
R. F. Lawrence, for county superintendent—"It is upon my qualifications that I ask for your vote in Saturday's election. I am a Big Spring resident. I want to your high school here. I am a graduate of Texas A. & M. College, and have taught school in this county. I will appreciate your support in this race, and if elected will give you a courteous and efficient service."

TOOK ARGOTANE FOR SEVEN YEARS TROUBLE—IS NOW IN BETTER HEALTH THAN FOR YEARS

"After I had gotten so much relief by taking Argotane I began telling my friends and acquaintances about it and have been surprised at the number of them that tell me they also have been benefitted by using it," said Mrs. J. D. Foust of Sweetwater, Texas, who lives on Star route while in conversation while in Bowen's Drug store recently.

"I was in a bad fix from stomach and nervous indigestion," continued Mrs. Foust. "And this trouble had been with me for seven years. I didn't have any appetite to speak of and what little I did eat just seemed to sour on my stomach and form gas and I would suffer terribly afterwards. Sometimes it looked like everything I would eat would just lodge in my stomach in a hard lump and feel heavy like lead and I was awfully nervous and didn't seem ever to have a particle of energy about me. I was troubled a lot with constipation too and had to be taking something all the time for this trouble and at times I would suffer with terrible headaches and have dizzy spells. I used to have such awful spells. I used to have stomach trouble until I just couldn't rest at night and finally got to where I felt all fagged out and no account that it just seemed like a drag for me to try to do my work."

"I was feeling in just this shape when I got to reading where some of the people around here had gotten relief by taking Argotane so I decided to try it myself. I didn't have much faith in it to start with but I certainly changed my mind in no time because I hadn't taken more than about four doses of the medicine till I could notice a difference. My appetite picked up and the first thing I commenced to relish what I would eat and didn't suffer so much with gas on my stomach and now my system is in fine shape and I can eat just anything and everything I want and am never troubled a bit with my stomach afterwards, and as for my appetite, well it hasn't been so good in seven years. I have been relieved of constipation entirely. My nerves have been straightened out in fine shape and I can sleep like a log at night and don't get up in the mornings feeling all worn out like I used to. In fact, I am in better general health right now than I have been in years. Argotane surely did the work for me and I'm glad to speak a good word for it."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drug Co.—adv.

Texans Pay More In Premiums On Fire Insurance

AUSTIN, Texas, July 25 (AP)—Texas property owners paid almost twice as much in premiums as was collected in fire insurance during 1929, according to the annual report of the state fire insurance department. The figures showed that premiums totaled $30,660,542, while the amount paid out on contracts was $15,664,858. The average rate was 1.038, while the loss ratio was .519.

Insurance companies, however, expended $13,286,457 in administering their business, the total of the losses paid and expenses being $28,950,315, leaving a net profit of $1,710,227.

Of the total expense, $7,498,697 was paid in agents' commissions.

The amount collected on Texas business for operating expenses of the home office was $3,105,655.

In 1928 the companies collected $29,916,856 in premiums; paid $15,319,467 in losses, and had a total expense of $12,729,162.

The total value of the property insured in 1929 was $2,790,023,869, while in 1928 it was $2,591,673,661.

Value of Terracing

VALU OF terracing and contouring farm lands for moisture and soil cultivation now is being demonstrated in Howard county.

In a terracing campaign led by the county farm demonstration agent, 7,365 acres were terraced.

Now farmers are reporting terraced land snading the dry weather much better than un-teraced fields.

L. B. Raney of the Richland community testifies that the last rain which fell on his contoured land continued for three or four hours and that twelve hours later water was still standing in the middle furrows.

Before he contoured the land, he declares, a two-inch rain such as the recent one would cause water to stand but two or three hours.

"I do not have to wait until the harvest to know this is doing good," declares Mr. Raney.

Tom Spencer declares he is sold on terracing and contouring for a tight land, such as his farm. He declares the only fault he finds with his terraced land is that the terraces ought to be thicker.

People who have seen his crops noting that they are growing faster and standing dry weather much better also are becoming sold on the practice.

"I am even going to terrace my pasture, and I am going to do it right away," says Mr. Spencer.

Aside from this terracing program the county farm agent has led in the standardization of poultry flocks and many run-down, mixed flocks are disappearing.

Four-H club boys are doing much of this work.

A 4-H Club boys' poultry judging team will be sent to A. & M. college Short Course in a few days.

This is not only a method of further familiarizing them with poultry but also is calculated to develop leadership.

A total of 240 demonstrations have been conducted during the past years by the county agent.

These were held among the farmers and 4-H Club boys. Each demonstration was designed to show the practicability of various improved methods.

Marshall News: IT SEEMS to us like Candidate J. H. Young is using pretty poor argument to get Ross Sterling to resign as Highway Commissioner.

When he cites what other candidates have done who are holding office and resigned when they became aspirants for other offices.

He tells us that R. V. Davidson resigned as Attorney General when he became a candidate for governor.

Davidson was defeated. He also tells us that Judge M. M. Brooks resigned a state office when he ran for governor.

Brooks was defeated. He also cites that Judge W. F. Ramsey resigned from the State Supreme Court when he ran for Governor.

Ramsey was defeated. Then Mr. Young goes to national characters and tells us that when Charles Evans Hughes received the Republican nomination for President that he at once retired from the United States Supreme Court.

Hollywood Sights

BY ROBERT COONS HOLLYWOOD—Stuart Erwin, who in the past year has been rising as a portrayal of a distinctive type of "dumb" comedy characterizations, is like Will Rogers, a most natural actor.

Both as a natural actor on the cob, Rogers on and off the screen is pretty much the same character. Erwin is not, for nobody could be that dumb and live. He has, in fact, a keen mind, and common sense.

NO EARMARKS He has none of the traits which sometimes unpleasantly identify the professional actor. He looks more like a salesman or a stolid mechanic than a movie figure. He never wisecracks, but talks well. Wholly unpretentious, he doesn't care for a swank.

He lives in a large, rather fashionable apartment house, in a comparatively inexpensive apartment—but doesn't know the name of the establishment, or if it has one.

The slikeness of his apartment's furnishings, selected by someone else, he found objectionable. He has substituted sturdy mission, upholstered with some rough-woven goods. Substantial things have replaced more delicate and fragile.

The new ensemble still is in good taste. Before the change, the place might have been the abode of any one of a hundred Hollywood actors. Now it looks more like "Stu" Erwin's.

"REGULAR" FELLOWS Erwin, if he worked at a certain other studio, would be what they call a "slug."

"A slug" is an accredited member of an informal group of professionals on this other lot. Only a few, qualified by personal characteristics, are admitted to "membership."

A slug is a regular fellow. A slug has knocked around a bit, can tell a good story and listen to one, is a square shooter and a sport.

Among the members are William Seiter, the director, and actors include Joe E. Brown, Frank McHugh, the comedian, Dorothy Mackall, Sidney Blackmer and Marilyn Miller.

The greeting "Hello Slug" (to the "members" at least) is the highest compliment one professional can pay another. Miss Miller received it the first day she reported on the set.

STATES PASS 2,000,000 MARK NEW ORLEANS, July 24 (AP)—Louisiana and Mississippi have both passed the 2,000,000 mark in population on the basis of figures unofficially compiled by the Associated Press, and both have shown substantial increase since the 1920 census count.

Louisiana 1930 census, the compilation reveals, is 2,098,876, and Mississippi's 2,011,388. The former increase in the past decade was 300,387, or 16.7 per cent, and the latter's 220,770, or 12.3 per cent.

for tuberculosis, however, we have been able to study the disease, and through added knowledge, to combat it more effectively.

In the 50 years since Robert Koch discovered the tubercle bacillus, deaths from tuberculosis have been reduced to less than one-fifth of their former number.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

SYNOPSIS: The morning of her wedding day does not bring happiness to Mary Lou, for she is marrying Brynmor because Tony, the man she loves, did not seem to want her.

Resigning herself to the prospect of a dull future with Brynmor, she prepares for the wedding in a half-hearted manner. The church is filled with guests as Mary Lou and Jay start to leave the Leslie home for the ceremony.

As they are about to step into a cab, Mary Lou spies Tony skywriting a message of good luck to her from his plane. He had promised to do this. Just before the message is finished, the plane suddenly goes into a nose-dive and crashes in a neighboring field.

Chapter 33 PROMISES For a moment Mary Lou stood motionless, too horror-struck to move. Then, gathering the flowing skirts of her wedding dress about her, she rushed down the street, away from the waiting taxi, away from the church—toward the field, toward Tony.

Jay followed breathlessly, and tried to grab at her arm. "Mary Lou! The wedding!" Mary Lou shook herself free. "What do I care about any wedding? ... If Tony is hurt?" Jay let her go. She knew there would be no wedding, whether or not Tony had been injured. Her principal sensation was a sense of overwhelming relief.

Golden slippers crushed golden buttercups as Mary Lou fled on, across the field. There was a prayer on her lips, "Oh, he must live. ... he must live. Tony can't die. ... Tony ..."

The clock in the church steeple struck two. Inside, the guests grew restless, and looked at each other expectantly.

Brynmor, waiting by the altar, was painfully nervous. With each moment his nervousness grew. But he was only a ghost who might never have lived to the swift-footed girl who fled away from him, away from all of them, toward the wreckage that had been Gay Girl.

As she reached the crumpled mass, Mary Lou stopped short and gasped. Then she shrieked in hysterical joy, for Tony was slowly extricating himself from the damaged plane. He was alive!

There was a bloody gash across his cheek, and one arm hung limp at his side, but Mary Lou was not impressed by such details. She rushed up to him and did all the things she had longed to do, but hadn't dared.

She threw her arms around his neck, ran her hands through his hair and cried, "Oh, Tony, darling, I love you. ... I love you." Tony looked down at her and laughed exultantly. He tightened his uninjured arm around her, threw off the wedding veil and kissed her.

Feeling a sudden embarrassment, Tony started talking of Gay Girl. "Lost control, I guess," he muttered. "Suppose my hand wasn't steady after last night."

"I love you, Tony," was Mary Lou's logical reply. His retort was whispered, but it seemed to satisfy Mary Lou. By this time she was sobbing in sheer happiness. The blood from his cheek had run onto her wedding dress, ruining it, but she didn't care. "Rather unconventional behavior for a bride on her wedding day, isn't it?" queried Tony, in his old mode.

ling way. "There isn't any wedding," Mary Lou said firmly, "unless you happened to bring a special license with you. ..."

Tony admitted he had been thoughtless. In excuse he pointed out that gentlemen guests invited to a wedding, ordinarily do not bring a special license in the hope of running away with the bride.

"But what about old Brynmor?" he questioned. "Brynmor doesn't mean a thing," Tony gave her a lopsided grin and held her closer.

"I'm sorry about Gay Girl," said Mary Lou. "Gay Girl doesn't mean a thing," he laughed. Jay watched them from a distance, and sighed blissfully. Not until fifteen minutes later did she think about Brynmor and the guests waiting in the church.

"I suppose it's up to me to do the dirty work," she thought, as she rushed to the church. She had to admit that Brynmor took it very well. In fact, he was so noble that his remarks didn't ring true.

"Tell Mary Lou I hope she will be happy with Titherington," he said as he left the church with his father. "Tell her I don't bear any ill will toward her."

"I always knew the man was too perfect to love," Jay thought to herself. "If I were in his shoes I'd shoot them both."

Doctor Leslie remembered urgent business in his office, and scurried home as though something had stung him. He locked the door of his study and pretended to be busy the rest of the afternoon. Secretly he thanked his good luck for being spared the trials of listening to Brynmor for the rest of his days.

that he suddenly affected, "You know I'll stick by my promise, don't you? Have you ever known me to go back on my word?" "Never, sweetheart—of course not," said Mary Lou, throwing a kiss at him. "You are an idiot."

She didn't explain, but she winked at Jay and Jay winked back at her. And Jerry wondered what was the cause of all the winking.

Miss Titherington merely gave them a look of disgust. "Come along into the registry office, you two lunatics. I'm going to see you safely married this time. I'll eat my hat if I don't."

"I wish you would aunt," laughed Tony. "Then maybe you'd get a new one, after all these years."

"Ungrateful wretch!" chided Miss Titherington. "As a matter of fact, however, she was not in the least displeased. With Mrs. Fawcett safely at home, she was enjoying herself immensely. Graciously she took all credit for having brought about the wedding. And she had done well by the couple, she felt, in the matter of an allowance. They should get along nicely on five thousand a year. Henceforth it wouldn't be her fault if things didn't go well. She remembered, with considerable self-satisfaction, that day when she first told Tony that he would be smart to win Mary Lou's hand."

Miss Titherington looked down into the dreamy eyes of the little grey-gowned bride and felt assured that everything would go well. And Ton, trying to be flippant and skeptical about the whole ceremony, was so absurdly happy that it was both laughable and pathetic.

It was three weeks later—after the honeymoon—when Miss Titherington gave a luncheon party for the newlyweds at Ham Green cottage, shortly after their return to town.

"Isn't it great?" cried Tony, interrupting some remark of his aunt's about the fairness of the weather. "I'm having this new plant built immediately. It will be much more powerful than Gay Girl, and with it I'm sure I can break all the records on the books."

"I thought you promised to give up this wild flying after your marriage," Miss Titherington interposed dryly. There was a twinkle in her large blue eyes.

"Give up flying!" Tony shouted, the exclamation in a tone of genuine astonishment. "When did you get that mad idea, Aunt Ethelberta?"

"Why, I'd die if I had to give up flying. And Mary Lou assures me that she actually wants me to continue with it. Isn't she wonderful? She swears she won't worry a bit, will you darling?"

His voice dropped, and he reached for Mary Lou's hand under the table, and squeezed it fondly.

Miss Titherington looked over at Mary Lou. "They're the real heroes, after all—these girls who encourage their men to perform these daredevil stunts," she thought. "But I wonder ..."

Mary Lou was smiling straight into Tony's blue eyes. "Of course I won't worry the least bit, you silly old dear. I want you to break all sorts of records—for my sake," she lied.

TOMATO RECIPES NEXT ON LIST OF PRIZE OFFERINGS: $2 FIRST AND $1 SECOND

Mrs. R. McMillan and Mrs. D. W. Jones Win This Week's Prizes for Best Candy Concoctions

BY THE MARKET PAGE EDITOR And having flooded me with candy recipes and shown me that your mind turns much more easily to the so called frivolous phase of cookery I tremble to ask you to descend to the lower levels by sending in mere tomato recipes.

But come to think of it—some of the most frivolous things in the whole of cookery may be done to the old-fashioned Love Apple. So send in your tomato recipes, cooked or uncooked. The first prize offered is $2 and the second $1.

Mrs. R. D. McMillan, 602 Lancaster street, wins the first prize of $2. Her list of recipes was both long and interesting.

Mrs. D. W. Jones of Monahan wins second prize, which is $1. Mrs. Jones' recipes always excellent, make us want to go home directly and try them out.

The following deserve prizes, but since we haven't any more to give, we give them honorable mention: Mrs. M. C. Stullings, Mrs. J. A. Hambrick and Mrs. T. S. Jenkins.

Here are the winning recipes:

LOG CABIN ROLL

- Mrs. R. D. McMillan, 602 Lancaster 2 1-2 cups sugar 3-4 cups white Karo 1 cup water whites of 2 eggs 1 tsp. vanilla.

Boil sugar, Karo and water to the soft ball stage. Remove from fire and pour half the syrup over the beaten egg whites. Return the remaining half to the fire and cook to hard ball stage. Remove from fire and pour into first half. Beat until stiff enough to make a loaf. Pour on cloth which has been wrung through cold water and is barely damp, and roll in long loaf. Let stand for 4 hours. (Flavor when first half of syrup is poured over the egg.)

LOG CABIN FUDGE

- 1 cup syrup 2 cups sugar 2 tbs. butter 1 cup cream flavoring

Mix sugar, dates and milk. Boil slowly to the soft ball stage. Remove from fire and add nut meats (chopped), butter and flavoring and beat until it will hold in shape. Pour on a damp cloth and roll in long roll.

PECAN PRALINES

- 3 cups sugar 1 cup whole milk 1 cup caramelized sugar 3 cups pecans vanilla

Mix sugar and milk in saucepan. Place over fire and when it begins to boil add caramelized sugar. Boil to the soft ball stage. Remove from the fire and add butter and flavoring. Beat until creamy and add pecans and drop by spoonfuls on waxed paper.

FRENCH FUDGE

- Mrs. D. W. Jones, Monahan 2 cups granulated sugar 1 cup of cream 1-2 lb. marshmallows 2 squares of unsweetened chocolate a small piece of butter Heat the sugar and cream. Add

Hints For Homemakers

The new cotton chenille rug, in gay colors and striking patterns are the very thing to brighten up the rooms in the summer home. The fact that they are washable is a great advantage. The better kind are absolutely color fast, and will emerge from the harshest laundering without the slightest loss of shape.

A little grated orange peel gives squash a different and wonderfully delicate flavor. Squash should always be steamed. When tender, mash in a hot bowl until smooth. Season with salt to taste, one-half teaspoon sugar, and butter the size of an egg, for each quart. Beat well, adding four tablespoons thick cream. File in hot dish and serve.

IDEAL CLUB HAS EVENING PARTY

Mesdames Piner and Inkman Hostesses To Group

Mrs. W. W. Inkman and Mrs. Bob Piner were hostesses to the members of the Ideal Bridge Club and their husbands at Mrs. Piner's home Friday evening.

Chilled Soft Drinks That Warm the Heart

BY EDWINA NOLAN

Hot summer days and evenings bring the urge for cooling, refreshing drinks and there are many that are literally loaded down with minerals and vitamins, so much so that you might believe them little short of a doctor's prescription. Yet they can be made easily in the home and they add so much to a big party, tea party or an ordinary meal.

Three Tests For Cooking Jelly

First method—If a thermometer is used a temperature of 103 degrees Centigrade, or 216 degrees Fahrenheit, indicates that the jelly is done.

Second method—If the jelly falls from the side of the spoon in wide sheets instead of dropping, it is considered done. This is called the sheeting test and is the test commonly used by the housekeeper.

Third method—Take a small portion of juice from the kettle and place on a cold saucer. If the juice, when cool, does not run when the saucer is tipped and seems to form a jelly lump when pushed with a spoon, it is done.

For a special milk drink, there may be added a beaten egg white, a cherry and the top powdered with chopped nuts. A milk shake takes on a company air if a sprig of mint is put into each glass. Sometimes grated orange rind may be added. Such drinks, though, must be served cold.

A SIMPLE STEP TOWARDS HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a Daily Essential and Millions Know Its Effectiveness in Relief of Constipation

Perhaps the one simple thing you are not doing to guarantee permanent health is having sufficient roughage in your food. Absence of this roughage is the direct cause of constipation which results in so many other ills—headaches, listlessness, general depression, indigestion and, sometimes, serious disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. It is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded. Two table-spoons daily (in serious cases, with each meal) is the proper amount.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also helps you to health in other ways. It is rich in iron, practically all of which goes into the blood, bringing red, healthy color to the complexion. It helps prevent anemia. Be sure to include it in reducing diets.

Many eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with cream or milk added. It is a delicious addition to cereals, fruits and soups. In cooked foods, such as bran muffins, it is just as effective in the relief of constipation. Recommended by doctors. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Bridgeport, Conn. What do you think of the attitude of many writers toward life eternal mysteries of God, man, death and the hereafter? I insist that young people should not be allowed to read this stuff. Your insistence is useless. They will read it, and what is more, some will heed it. Of course no sensible person wants to suppress knowledge. But it should be imparted in its essential forms, not forced upon the public draped by flippancy or uncleanliness. The brilliant wit, Sydney Smith, once asked "Who can answer a sneer?" The answer is, nobody with brains, because a sneer has nothing in it deserving an intelligent answer. Much about what you complain is written under the plea of art or freedom. But the main motive for its production is to commercialize the known weaknesses of humanity for the benefit of its authors. An agnostic confesses in a recent letter to "London Spectator" his irritation at the irrelevance and clownish jestings of these would-be guides to reality. They brand common decency as Victorian prudery and reveal as egotism when confronted by the immensities that surround mankind. He suggests that the effective counterattack is not censorship, but ridicule. The suggestion has value, but it is limited. Of course those who know life at first hand can afford to laugh at what is cheap and "childish," and they will throw sheer filth into the fire. But what of the young who take these literary coterie seriously? Surely the oncoming generation has a premier claim to our consideration, especially when compared with the gangsters of the press who are out for graft at any cost to society? The remedy lies in educating youth in the home, the church and the school to distinguish between the true and false prophets of life.

East Orange, N. J. Aside from Biblical assurances, would you say there is any evidence of God's existence? Theology, which means the study of God's being and whatever pertains thereto, does not confine itself to Holy Writ. It begins with the assurance that the universe is unintelligible without a sufficient, a directing and a personal Cause. The development of organic life out of original chaos and its crown in man's existence are the foundations of all theological thinking proceeding on scientific lines. To be sure, the Bible confirms the testimony of nature, and Christ completes the revelation of God's being and purposes. That testimony and that revelation satisfy the demands of humanity. Turn to your end—your characteristics of self-consciousness, antionally, ethical sense, spiritual aspiration and infinite capacity for growth. Then confronting these inward possessions, ask by what possible stretch of imagination they can be explained in the terms of former ideas and non-existence. The fact is, we can make ourselves and our relation to the universe intelligible only by conceding that creation is the instrument of the Supreme Mind. Through its implementation He produces other minds stamped with His likeness. But man is more than nature's child. He is the child of God's creator, who seeks His unveiling of Himself in man to inform him with the divine temper and render him obedient to the divine aims. When rightly directed your conscience and affections are drawn toward God as flowers are drawn toward the sun. These are the arguments which furnish the lifeblood of a true theology.

Indianapolis, Ind. Do you believe that international exchanges of representatives of schools, churches and fraternal societies are a valuable means of cultivating good will? Yes, especially if they are made with the determination to profit from the variety of ideas thereby made available. Some people go abroad to foster their prejudices and proclaim their national superiority. Others keep an open mind and learn much which is valuable. The noisy foreigner who exudes his patriotism at every turn is a depressing spectacle both in Europe and America. Fortunately his tribe is on the decline, but it is still too obtrusive both here and elsewhere. On the other hand, Germany and Great Britain have arranged for pupils in their schools to exchange visits. The Masons and Rotarians of the United States have rendered excellent service by their excursions to European countries in behalf of friendly relations.

The recent visit of General Jan Smuts to our country and to Canada shows the immense benefits derived from a thoroughly competent ambassador of good will. The delegates of the Bar Association of the United States have visited their brethren of the law in London, an occasion which the late Chief Justice Taft did much to promote. We should endeavor to appreciate the differences in natural life which enrich without dividing the life of the whole human society. The finest type of patriot is he who loves his own land the best, but loves it with a broad outlook and a cheerful recognition of the contributions made to its welfare by other peoples and their civilizations.

ROBINS AND REDS SPLIT Kolp Raps Homer, Darkness Ends Second. BY HUGH S. FULLERTIN JR., Associated Press Sports Writer. About the time Babe Ruth's astounded the world of baseball by hitting 29 home runs in one season, a feat described in the next official baseball guide as "a regular mauling of a record," it was something almost as amazing when a pitcher knocked the ball for the circuit. In the current era of long distance hitting, with the Babe travelling along far ahead of the pace that brought him the current record of 60 homers, it is so common for pitchers to hit home runs that even the moundmen who do it hardly get a thrill.

SPORT SLANTS ALAN GOULD ASSOCIATED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR. "Is baseball better off with the so-called lively ball? Are the games more interesting now than in the old days of more scientific, inside stuff?" I put these questions to John Arnold Heydler at Chicago where the major league magnates gathered recently and drew a quick reply from the National League's able chief executive, the man who came up from printer, score-keeper and umpire to the presidency of the league.

Stalling Ray Kolp of Cincinnati was the only hurler to turn the trick yesterday. His homer in the second inning of the first game between the Reds and Brooklyn Robins gave Cincinnati a 3-0 lead and with one later run was enough to win the contest, 4 to 2. Brooklyn came back and took the second game, 9 to 0, before rain stopped them in the sixth inning. This game produced one of the season's best exhibitions of stalling as the Reds tried to make the approaching storm wipe out Brooklyn's 2-0 lead and the Robins tried to prevent this. The needed 4 1-2 innings were completed just in time and as darkness began to fall the Robins fell on Benny Frey's pitching for seven more runs to keep themselves a half game ahead of Chicago. The Cubs were unhampered by the weather at Philadelphia and after 2 1-3 hours of slugging came out ahead by a 19 to 15 score. Thirteen of Chicago's runs were scored in the first two innings. Giants Win The same storm that stopped Brooklyn's proceedings, gave the New York Giants a 1 to 0 triumph over Pittsburgh. The Giants had a homer by Fred Lindstrom left from the first inning while the Pirates, after getting only one hit off Carl Hubbel in six frames, had the bases full in the seventh when the game was stopped. Boston's Braves won the remaining National League game, beating St. Louis 5-4, and finally broke the sixth place tie with Cincinnati. The Braves went a half game ahead of the Reds and the same distance behind Pittsburgh. Babe Ruth again provided one of the big features of the American League's day by clouting his 36th homer of the year as the New York Yankees defeated Detroit, 5 to 2. The clout was made off Guy Cantrell, who was starting his first game in the American League with a good pitching performance, and put Ruth 12 games ahead of his 1927 pace. Jimmy Foxx, Philadelphia's long distance star, also clouted a homer and although it was only his 27th, it meant more at the time than did Ruth's. Foxx's circuit blow was made in the ninth inning with the score tied and gave the Athletics an 8 to 6 triumph over the Cleveland Indians. It also put the A's five games ahead of the tottering Washington Senators, who were the victims of an uprising on the part of the Chicago White Sox and lost a 10 to 4 decision. Ted Lyons scored his 15th victory for Chicago by pitching the entire game. The Boston Red Sox threatened to make another change in the American League standing, coming within a half game of St. Louis with an 8 to 5 victory over the Browns.

Cost of Running State Is Higher. WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Per capita cost of government in Texas mounted from $4.59 in 1917 to $10.55 in 1927 and $12.85 in 1928, it was shown in a survey prepared by the Texas state comptroller of accounts and announced today by the United States department of commerce. In 1928 payment for operation of general state departments was $70,101,079, including $23,803,923 for education to the minor civil divisions of the state. The increase in per capita cost the last year was said to be due to increased expenditures for highways and schools. Permanent improvements cost $14,076,254 and $135,092 was paid for interest on debts, making a total outlay during the year of $84,512,424. As against the expenditures, receipts were $17.07 per capita, totaling $93,140,051. The excess of revenue receipts, the report said, is reflected in reduction of debt, and in purchase of investments and increased cash balances. Per capita property and special taxes were $6.22 in 1927, $4.92 in 1927 and $3.10 in 1917. Earnings of general departments represented 4.9 per cent of the total revenues in 1928; and business and non-business licenses constituted 44.6 per cent. The net indebtedness (funded or fixed) debt less sinking fund assets) was $4,266,722 or $0.78 per capita. The assessed valuation of property subject to ad valorem taxation was $988,421,517; the amount of state taxes levied $25,525,898; and the per capita levy $4.68. want again to see an impeached man, who cannot hold office in own name, returned to power in the governor's office. Aside from whatever mitigating circumstances there might be, it is a matter of record that he is, with the exception of one other, the only governor ever impeached in this state.

Next, the theory of government by proxy is one diametrically opposed to the genius of free government. The honesty and integrity of a "governor by proxy" ought not even to be taken into consideration. The thing is wrong, fundamentally. It would be wrong were the most honest and able man in the state the occupant of the proxy governor's office.

Throughout the state informed observers are predicting that Mr. Sterling will be in the run-off with Jim and Miriam A. Ferguson. This writer, believing conscientiously that Mr. Sterling would make a better governor than anyone else in the race, would rather see him pitted against Mrs. Ferguson, via Jim in the run-off than against several other candidates.

We speak the editorial opinion of this newspaper. And, we say these things in the face of the belief on our part that this county will return a plurality for Mrs. Ferguson. We expect to continue speaking our views on state politics, without fear of loss of friendship of those who do not agree with us. For to them we grant the same right we expect for ourselves—the right to vote and to work in politics as we believe. For those who disagree with us we have no criticism. Take to it.

and pride to safeguard their welfare in private business and shall continue to do so in the state's business, enforcing the female labor laws to the utmost, and striving to better their condition in every way possible.

J. B. Stephenson, former secretary of the Texas Allied Printing Trades Council, recently wrote his friends in every section of Texas urging them to inform union workers of Mr. Sterling's labor view. His letter, which sums up the situation aptly, follows:
"Dear Friend: I am making an effort to correct the impressions left by a number of assertions made in the state political campaigns, criticizing the labor record of R. S. Sterling. Assist in keeping it there, because Mr. Sterling has been a consistent friend of organized labor and deserves credit for it. He will make us a fair executive. His buildings and civic enterprises (amounting in construction work to some $10,000,000) were built 100 per cent union. Even his Bay Shore home was built 100 per cent union.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing. The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice. But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house! Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return.

That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months. They apply only to residence telephones.

'QUAKE TOLL MAY REACH 3,000

OFFICIALS LIST 1,778 AS RESCUE PARTIES DIG INTO RUINS OF ITALIAN TOWNS

NAPLES, July 24 (AP)—Government officials this afternoon expressed fear that the earthquake death list, officially given out at noon as 1,778, might be far exceeded as the count progressed. Unofficial reports said 3,025 bodies had been taken from the ruins throughout the devastated territory.

NAPLES IS HIT BY HURRICANE, SUFFERS MORE

At the same time the strong wind blew down trees and fragile summer cottages along the coast. The residents were still nervous over the earthquake and were badly frightened by the newest outbreak of nature. Many of them had spent a restless night in the parks and public squares, afraid to return to their homes because of the possibility of new quakes.

ROME, July 24 (AP)—Government agents today counted the dead in 85 cities and hamlets in the earthquake area and announced the known death list was 1,778 with 4,284 known injured. That more victims would be taken from the ruins as rescue work progressed was most probable.

SAN ANGELO RAIL PLEAS BEFORE I.C.C. Texas & Pacific Fights Santa Fe's Opposition

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24 (AP)—Bifurcated arguments in the contest over a proposal of the Texas and Pacific Railroad to build 40 miles of new line from Ballinger to San Angelo, was submitted today to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

T. D. Gresham, chief counsel for the Abilene and there, a subsidiary organized by the Texas and Pacific to undertake the construction, argued that with the new line the Texas and Pacific would be able to serve 38,000 square miles of Texas territory which now has but a single railroad.

The Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, which touches San Angelo, is the property of the Santa Fe system, a powerful competitor of the Texas and Pacific throughout the Southwest. Gresham said, only by constructing the new line could the Texas and Pacific be placed in a position to render service comparable to that of the Santa Fe in Texas, he stated.

Gresham's viewpoint was supported by a number representing Texas interests but Alfred Crager, attorney for Paint Rock business interests, requested that the Abilene company be asked to divert its intended construction to touch that town.

G. E. Ross, attorney for the Santa Fe system, led opposition to the construction project. He said the Santa Fe is purchasing the Orient and maintaining its operation on a basis of high grade service was entitled to credit and protection against the necessity of dividing the traffic with its competitor as it would have to do with the Texas and Pacific, should that system reach San Angelo.

Reviewing the history of his company's operations, Ross said adequate railroad service had been afforded the San Angelo territory by the Santa Fe and he urged the commission not to allow an investment of new capital to duplicate rail facilities now adequate to all needs.

GAUGE OF PENN POOL WELLS ORDERED AFTER MEETING IN FT. WORTH

FORT WORTH, July 24 (AP)—Instructions to make potential gauges on all wells in the Penn pool of Ector county were issued today by W. Richmond, proringing empire of the Yates pool, who will be in charge of Ector county proration temporarily, at a meeting of the advisory committee meeting in Fort Worth Thursday morning, at which W. L. Todd, chairman, presided.

Another meeting will be held next Monday in Fort Worth at which time allowable production figured from Richmond's gauges will be discussed and necessary adjustments made. No official order from the railroad commission has been received, but it is understood it will cover allowable production based on market outlet from pipe line company nominations and will set a maximum production of 15,000 barrels daily.

COMMUNISTIC LINK POINTED TO BY PROBE

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Michael Handler, a grey-haired timid little man who said he formerly was a member of the soviet oppo, or secret police, and had been smuggled into the United States from Cuba, today gave testimony tending to show that the Amtorg Trading Corporation was connected with oppo.

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—The congressional committee investigating communism in the United States has issued a subpoena for V. P. Delgass, vice president of the Amtorg Trading Company, who has been mentioned as the American head of the oppo, soviet secret political police.

Delgass had been ordered to appear at the hearing yesterday but was not there. Again this morning he was absent, and P. A. Bogdanov, Amtorg president, said he had told Delgass on both days to present himself.

Counsel for Amtorg, official soviet purchasing agency in the United States, told the committee he believed the cause of Delgass' non-appearance was the statement of Grigory Bessedovsky, former soviet charge d'affaires at Paris, that Delgass was American head of the oppo.

The Bessedovsky statement, presented several days ago also asserted that communist propaganda is being disseminated in America through Amtorg.

During the examination of Feodor Zivakin, general manager of Amtorg and secretary of the board, Chairman Fish brought out that Zivakin had held government positions in Russia and asked him if he had not been held of the checka, secret police, in Postoff. Zivakin said he had not been.

Chairman Fish elicited from the witness that he had long been a communist in Russia but had resigned from the party when he came to this country.

Zivakin testified that although he was sent to this country as general manager of a company spending more than $100,000,000 a year, his previous business experience consisted of apprenticeship in the shops of a locksmith and a carpenter and service for seven years as a bookkeeper.

John L. Spivack, New York newspaper reporter, was asked about stories he wrote characterizing former Police Commissioner Whelan's resignation.

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Development of rural communities in Howard and adjoining counties is very apparent. Two large sections of the county are petitioning for free mail delivery service. The Knott community is as a community enterprise, arranging to install a telephone exchange.

Growth in rural population of the county was as rapid during the past decade as that within the city. This was due to two factors; agriculture and oil.

One of the best signs of development in the county is the erection of new, modern school buildings in several districts. Knott arranged a consolidated district the past year. Elbow, Lomax, Moore, Sonsh, Hartwells, Midway and other districts have made or provided for either improvements to the present buildings or entirely new structures and equipment.

The county commissioners court is to be complimented for the work done on county roads. Bridges, culverts and grades have been kept in good condition.

The man who cannot vision very much more development in Howard, Glasscock, Mitchell, Martin, Midland, Andrews, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Ector and neighboring counties is indeed short-sighted.

When Captain Marcey and his soldiers fought in 1849 for possession against Indians of water holes near where this city now is he did not believe that what he then termed a desert would ever be cultivated to a variety of crops. He did not believe, we fancy, either that the soil was fertile or that there would be sufficient rainfall.

He did not believe any city could be sustained along the slopes of the rugged mountain-hills hereabouts. The stage road he surveyed, we are sure, he figured would always be a stage road, and that could never be supplanted by a railroad.

Much vision would have been necessary to have believed anything else.

But we have today persons just as bereft of vision as Captain Marcey would have been if he did to believe all these actualities of today were impossible.

There are folks who believe Big Spring will not grow any stronger or larger than she is today. They are those who feel that, after all is said and done, this is not a farming country.

As long as men and women of the hardy pioneering instinct, the will to work and to win are born and emigrate into these parts this country will develop. More people raising more stuff to more consumers and shipping to more buyers will

Who Will Be Elected

Every Texan will be anxiously awaiting returns from Saturday's primary elections.

Every man, woman and child in Howard county is interested in one or all of the races for county and precinct offices.

The Herald, following its policy of providing absolutely modern newspaper service to the people of this and neighboring counties, will post returns from the fifteen county boxes on a large board that will be placed high enough above the street on West First, immediately east of the Herald building, for everyone to see.

In addition, a public address system, the same efficient one used several times in the past for local broadcasts, will be installed by THE ANDERSON MUSIC COMPANY of Big Spring and this will be used to announce returns from the other 253 counties of Texas.

To make the service even more complete, results of the races for congress, governor, attorney general and other state races will be totaled for the entire state, every 30 minutes, and broadcast.

This will be your only chance of obtaining the returns Saturday evening, as the radio broadcasting stations will not be furnished any returns except the mere ranking of the candidates, about 10 p. m., without any figures.

Rev. Heard Quits Local Pastorate

Resignation of Rev. Dow H. Heard, for the past six years pastor of the First Baptist church, was tendered to a conference of the congregation Wednesday evening by the pastor, effective immediately, and was accepted, according to leading members.

Mr. Heard was called here in July, 1924, from Waeelder, Texas. He was the oldest local pastor in point of service. During his pastorate the First Baptist church withstood loss of a building by fire and came back to build a new $100,000 house of worship that is one of the most complete church plants in West Texas.

Election Judges Must Give Returns Every Two Hours

DALLAS, July 24 (AP)—The Texas Election bureau has directed attention to the state law which not only permits but requires election judges throughout the state to give out unofficial totals of the vote for each candidate as soon as the polls close and thereafter every two hours until completion of the count.

A. F. Henning, manager of the election bureau, said "Article 3022 of the revised statutes makes it mandatory on election judges to make these unofficial announcements and this law has in no way been changed."

Exotic Plants Grace Lobby of Of Bank Here

The lobby of the First National Bank is comparable to a hot house or a hanging garden with its array of exotic plants.

There is a Bricconia, which propagates from the root. It does not go to "seed," nor is it a bulb. The roots just sprout the new plant. It comes from India.

Then there is the Auroarea which is one of the most symmetrical of all plants. It sprouts only one set of leaves a year. This is a Brazilian plant.

The Devil's Ivy is a plant which will grow just as well in the darkness of a closet as out of doors in the sunlight. The plant comes from Mexico.

The Fancy Leaf Caladium has a colored leaf and hails from South America.

The begonia, a common plant to many, will lose it leaves if water is put on them and they are exposed to the sun. The Ponderosa is a dwarf lemon tree, growing in a pot. It produces real lemons which yield from their skin the lemon extract used in flavoring. The plants belong to the Ribble Nursery here.

MURPHY IS HEARD HERE

Thomason Attacked By San Angelo Candidate

Continuing his remarks for the most part to issues he considers dominant in the rapid congressional race, but taking time out at intervals to report to personal defense of charges of and to attack his opponent, R. E. Thomason of El Paso, E. E. (Pat) Murphy, San Angelo, candidate for the sixteenth district chair fired his final political cannon in Big Spring Saturday night. He spoke to a small crowd on the courthouse lawn. He was introduced by James T. Brooks, local attorney.

Brooks read a telegram from R. E. Hughes, San Angelo, president of the Central Labor Council, addressed to Murphy.

"The Central Labor Council and all members of organized labor in Tom Green county are behind you in your race," the telegram said.

"Tom Green county labor officials know my record," Murphy said. "Back in 1922 when the railroad strike was in force I represented laboring class in their cause in San Angelo. I married into a railroad family, and have always upheld the cause of the man or woman that earns a livelihood by the sweat of the brow and a bending back."

"I published my platform when I began this race," he continued, "and I stated then my position on immigration and the unemployment question. I challenged my opponent, Mr. Thomason to do so. He evaded the question, but was finally harassed so much he had to take a stand. He stated, finally, he was in favor of the Box bill with an amendment to include seasonal labor. He said he was for amending the immigration laws to admit Mexicans under bond. You can't be for and against restricted immigration. You have to take a stand. I am in favor of a uniform restriction of immigration, to apply to every country. I believe in America for Americans, and a job for every one of them."

Murphy declared "if this invasion of unskilled, underpaid Mexican labor continues, and Americans continue to see their jobs taken from beneath them, there is going to be a revolution in this country."

His opponent's record while in the state legislature regarding prohibition also was rapped by the San Angelo candidate. He declared he is in favor of the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

"It is not enforced," he declared, "but it should be. It will never be repealed. I think it is a dead issue, but my opponent, Mr. Thomason has injected it into this campaign. One of my opponents says he is west, and that is his business. Mr. Thomason flopped over the dry side of the fence."

"Back in 1917 when Mr. Thomason was a member of the Thirty-fifth legislature he voted six times with the whiskey interests, when an effort was being made to rid this state of the saloons."

"Flopped Over"

Murphy quoted a passage from a speech made by Pat Neff regarding Thomason in the governor's race of 1920.

"Just as soon as prohibition went into effect, Mr. Thomason started voting dry like a slot machine," Murphy said.

Regarding the charge of "socialism," which also has been charged by Thomason, Murphy ridiculed the idea of "a war between El Paso and the district."

"The petty politicians of El Paso and an El Paso newspaper have fostered that idea of having El Paso grid for battle against the district. Those political machines are gathered in the city hall and Mr. Thomason is the granddaddy of them all."

Murphy's "bust that rust and combine" policy was reviewed by him, declaring a protective tariff on crude oil is needed, that "the trusts need a knock between the eyes," that gasoline prices should be regulated with crude prices, and that South American crude should be kept out with a tariff high enough to protect the independent oil operator.

He pledged himself to aid the farmers by doing what he could to favor legislation designed to stop the cotton exchange from gambling on products of the soil. He declared the government should reimburse the farmer for fumigation expense, and declared he would launch legislation to obtain such relief.

His plank to aid disabled war veterans was discussed. "The world war was a nation's war and the nation should foot the bill," he declared. "The government paid for the profits allegedly lost by the railroads and munition plants, but they gave the soldiers life insurance. And they took money out of his pay every month to pay for it. Then the government gave them a cold check in the form of an insurance bond. The date of that policy should be set back to 1918 to enable the veteran to borrow fifty per cent of its face value."

"Too Young"

"My opponent Mr. Thomason has been flying around talking about me being too young for a congressman. Well, back in 1917 I was pretty young, but Mr. Thomason didn't kick about me being too young to represent him on the battlefield. And Mr. Thomason was about my age now at that time."

Murphy declared he is in favor of the universal service law in time of war, but believes in the policy of world peace, and eradication of combat. "If war does come to pass," he declared, "I would say put Wall street beside Main street and make them fight like the masses do."

In closing Murphy declared he is better qualified than his opponent to hold the office.

NEW MAIL LINE ASKED

138 Families Reside On 44-Mile Route

Application for a new rural free mail delivery route in Howard county, which would afford daily service to many families for the first time, will be forwarded to the postoffice department in a few days through Postmaster E. E. Fahrenkamp. Petitions prepared by the Chamber of Commerce and circulated by citizens residing along the proposed route indicate about 750 persons would be served.

There are 138 homes on the proposed route, which would be approximately 44 miles long. The route is: beginning at the northern city limits, thence to Fairview, thence a mile west, two miles south, two miles west, three miles north to Highway; thence two miles west, a mile north, two miles west, two miles north to Oscar Gaskin's place; thence three miles south, three miles east, two miles south, one mile west, two miles south, three miles east, past the Moore school; thence two miles south and a half mile east to the highway, thence south to Big Spring.

This is the second rural mail route proposed recently. The other would serve, principally, the Elbow and Lomax communities southwest of here.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By Robbin Coons

SYNOPSIS: It is the day before Mary Lou's marriage to Brynmor, whom she does not love.

Chapter 32 AT TEN MINUTES OF TWO there were clear skies for the wedding.

Bundles and Jiggs, which were not the given names of Mary Lou's two younger sisters, were far more excited about the affair than the bride-to-be herself.

Mary Lou, however, had been awake most of the night, but it was not because she was too happy to sleep.

By ten minutes of two the little church was packed to overflowing.

The bell rang lustily as the sexton tugged at the rope.

Colonel Whitmore, nervously pulling at his short grey mustache, sat stiff and soldierly beside Mary Lou's aunt.

Bundles and Jiggs, eagerly awaiting their sister's appearance, clutched tremulously at their bridesmaids' bouquets and giggled to themselves. Their eyes were craning down the hot, dusty road for the first glimpse of the taxi that was to bring Mary Lou and Jay to the church.

Brynmor and his best man, a fellow named Tomson, already were in the vestry.

Brynmor looked unusually handsome in his morning coat, with dark grey striped trousers and a top hat.

He fidgeted with the white cravat in his buttonhole, and interrupted Tomson's chatter every minute or two to inquire if he still had the ring...

Outside, by the church steps, Dr. Leslie shifted uncomfortably from one foot to the other.

She was a study in white and gold. Her white brimmed gown, of soft flounced chiffon, was a rather unusual choice, but it suited the frail, dainty bride.

Jay, ultra-smart in grey georgette, urged her to get into the cab.

"What are you looking for?" demanded Jay. "The taxi is too late."

"Look, Jay! See! He's come, just as he promised he would."

There was Gay Girl, circling in the clouds almost directly over them. The plane seemed to be coming lower.

"Oh, Jay, wasn't that grand of him? Mary Lou's shout carried a triumphant ring."

Jay began to cry. She was unable to keep back the tears. Now she knew—and there was nothing to be done about it.

Gay Girl began to circle over a neighboring field. The machine now was much lower, and the silver colored wings gleamed in the sunlight—just as they had done that morning when she took off from Crocyden.

"Just forget it, Jay," was Mary Lou's parting comment. She concluded it was too delicate a matter to broach again at that stage of the proceedings.

Shortly after noon every one except Mary Lou and Jay left for the church. Mary Lou had insisted that they allow her at least an hour of peace in which to dress.

Ferguson, speaking for his wife's candidacy, was booked for an address at Eastland at 8 p. m. Thomas B. Love, hovering nearer Dallas and a hometown engagement tomorrow night, planned to speak this afternoon at Bonham and tonight at Greenville. Earle B. Mayfield was to appear at Gatesville in the afternoon and at Temple tonight. Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller also circling back toward his home at Dallas, was due appearances at Greenville in the afternoon and tonight at McKinney. Jim Young was listed to speak at Vernon this afternoon and tonight at Seymour. Frank Putnam, C. E. Walker, Paul Loven and C. C. Moody, the other four candidates, had no speeches scheduled. Love's Platform Vindication of the "Anti-Tammany demonstration in the Democratic party in Texas," abolition through a constitutional amendment of the ad valorem tax and equalization of educational opportunities in each county, were put forward by Senator Love as platform planks justifying his election, in a speech last night at Texarkana. Prediction that he would "get more than 100,000 votes in West Texas" was made by Small in a speech at Cisco, where he appealed to the people of West Texas to stand behind him in the election Saturday. He said he would get his share of support in other sections. At Houston, Frank Putnam, prohibition repeal candidate, issued a statement asserting that Sterling, also of Houston and a dry, had countenanced the spending of excessive sums in his campaign. His statement called upon Governor Moody and Attorney Bobbitt to enforce the election laws. The annual picnic of the Texas Retail Grocers' Association at Dallas, provided a veritable utopia for candidates. The crowd heard speeches by Mayfield and Miller, candidates for governor; James V. Allred, for attorney general; Walter

Reid and J. Hayden Moore, for congress; and numerous legislative and local candidates. More Experience Speaking at night at Sherman, Miller declared "It is no vain boast for me to tell you that I have had more experience in conducting the affairs of your state than any other man in the governor's race." He pledged himself to more equitable readjustment of taxation. Jim Young of Kaufman warned an audience at Hillsboro that "a flood of display advertising and biased news stories will appear in the Sterling-controlled press during the last few days of the campaign, to lure votes to the highway commission chairman." He asserted Small's campaign had collapsed and predicted that he himself would be in the second primary "with Ferguson" and would "beat her like I would beat any other candidate." Houston Rally Sirens were sounded, giant firecrackers were set off at the back of the hall and newspaper flashlight cameras rent up smoke last night as Jesse Jones, introduced Ross Sterling to an uproarious hometown audience in the Democratic national convention hall in Houston. Sterling, in his address, denied that the proposed highway bond plan would take away the portion of the gasoline tax assigned to schools, saying the bill voted on in the last legislature proposing the bond issue especially reserved one cent out of the four cent gasoline tax for schools. "It is demagoguery of the worst sort and cheap politics for any candidate for governor to pretend otherwise," he declared. Communists— (Continued From Page 1) documents about communist activities as forgeries. He said he discovered that the Amtorg letter heads on which several of the Whelan letters had been written had been printed by a New York printer named Max Wagner and declared he obtained a written admission from Wagner that he had printed the letterheads. He said he gave this evidence to Representative F. H. La Guardia, who turned it over to a congressional committee. Chairman Fish and the other members of his committee said they had never been informed that these papers were in the possession of congress, and indicated that an immediate request would be made for them. Chairman Fish ordered a subpoena issued for Wagner, the printer, in an effort to have him brought before the committee for testimony this afternoon. LOMAX LOMAX, July 27.—Miss Nora Wells left for Commerce this week to attend summer school. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Stallings of Pecos were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stallings one day this week. Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wood of Junction were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Riddle this week. Miss Minta Riddle accompanied her sister, Mrs. A. N. Wood, for an extended visit to Junction. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stallings and family have returned after a two weeks' vacation in Houston. Miss Verma Chapman is visiting relatives in Lamesa. A large crowd enjoyed the singing Sunday afternoon directed by W. R. Purser of Big Spring. Mr. Purser is here the third Sunday afternoon in each month. Lomax scored another baseball victory over Elbow Sunday afternoon, 10 to 2. Victorles over Elbow Wednesday and Hartwell Friday are expected. A crowd from this community enjoyed the singing held in the Cuable community Sunday night. Miss Cranshaw New Club Reporter Miss Lula Bell Cranshaw was voted reporter at the meeting of the J. P. S. Club yesterday afternoon at the home of Misses Quixie Bea and Ruth King. She will fill the office left vacant when Miss Quixie Bea King resigned. Refreshments were served to the following: Misses Mary Ella Adams, Lula Bell Cranshaw, Judith Pickle, Una Dorothea Campbell, Ruth King, Quixie Bea King and Ruth Miller, a visitor. Miss Lometa Batton of Irens, Texas, and Cecil Mitchell, of Big Spring, were married in Hillsboro Wednesday. They left immediately for Big Spring, Carlsbad and El Paso. The bride, who is a cousin of Mrs. R. E. Blount here, graduated from the Big Spring High School in 1929 and has been attending N. T. S. T. C. in Denton, Texas. Mr. Mitchell is an employee at the Cameron Lumber Company. He has been with the company for about four years. He is a graduate of A. & M. College.

PROGRAM OF REUNION IS FRAMED

Men and women who helped settle Howard county and piloted it from a vast unenclosed wilderness to importance as a center of farming, stock-raising, and industries will hold their annual reunion at Cottonwood Park Friday, July 25. The reunion program was announced by T. H. Johnson, president of the Old-Settlers' Association. Persons who resided in the county 25 or more years ago, and their families, will be admitted to the reunion grounds. The charge, to defray expenses of the reunion itself, will be one dollar for a family. President Johnson will call the meeting to order at 10:30 a. m. H. Morrison will deliver an address, welcoming the old-timers and S. C. Lamar will give the response. Old fiddlers will then entertain the crowd, following by a song service, led by W. R. Purser. Dinner, picnic will be served at noon. Old settlers are reminded to bring well-filled baskets. Barbecue, bread, pickles and coffee will be furnished. Short talks by old-timers will be heard beginning at 3 o'clock, followed by election of officers at 4 o'clock. There will be more songs

CHEVROLET Six-Cylinder Trucks

Bigger, Faster, Sturdier and more economical

In size, speed and durability, the Chevrolet Six-Cylinder Truck is superior to any haulage unit ever built by Chevrolet. Yet, for all these decided advantages, it shows (according to many prominent fleet users) a lower maintenance cost than any other low-priced truck of similar capacity! These basic facts should be borne in mind by everyone considering the purchase of an inexpensive haulage unit—because capacity, speed, ruggedness and operating economy are the big points to consider in these days when business men are watching transportation costs. Many important features of the Chevrolet Six-Cylinder Truck are given below. Study them carefully. Then use them as a basis of comparison—to prove quality—to prove modern design—to prove OUTSTANDING VALUE!

LEASE PROBE ENLIVENED BY FISTIC CLASH

AUSTIN, July 21. (AP)—J. O. Eargle, one of the state assistant auditors engaged in investigating alleged irregular leasing of oil and gas lands of the University of Texas, admitted this afternoon under oath that he had borrowed money from W. R. Long, auditor of the University of Texas, while he was auditing Long's books in connection with the inquiry of the house investigating committee.

AUSTIN, July 21. (AP)—Investigation of the alleged irregularities in the leasing of oil and gas lands of the university today while representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls, a member of the house investigating committee, and J. O. Eargle, an employee of the state auditor's department, engaged in a heated discussion which culminated in a fist fight.

Long had charged unethical practices on the part of Eargle in his audit of the books of the university of Texas. During the discussion Eargle jumped to his feet with the statement, "Don't call me a liar, Bob Long, or I'll throw you out the window."

Long countered with "You couldn't throw anyone out the window, Mr. Eargle."

The combatants closed so quickly that no one was able to determine who struck the first blow. They were mixing heatedly when other members of the investigating committee pulled them apart.

Razor, Not Dice, Separated Him and His Cash Says Gene

"Mr. Denver, I'm thinking." That, in substance, was the manner in which Gene Williams, light skinned negro from the "flats" explained to Deputy Sheriff D. D. Dunn Saturday morning his desire to obtain for his own use and advantage $18.

He leaned against the red stone building, generally avoided for the most part by negro residents—the county jail.

"I've been thinking, Mr. Denver," Gene continued, "that I certainly would like to have my $18 back from Buffalo."

Buffalo, it appeared, is a temporary resident of the jail. His last name is Brown and it seemed he buffaloes one Gene out of his $18.

"You see, Mr. Denver," Gene endeavored to explain, "we were shooting dice." He resumed his conception of thinking. Maybe, perhaps he mused, it isn't a perfect policy to let peace officers about shooting dice.

"Yeah?" offered Dunn, "and you lost?"

"Nor sir, I didn't lose, but you see I didn't have a razor." Gene alleges he won the money, but that Buffalo had the supreme advantage of the cutting instrument. So he didn't get away with his evening's earnings.

Prisoner Escapes Here From Gaines County Sheriff, In Automobile With Two Enroute To Eastland; One Held

A prisoner escaped and one attempted to escape from Sheriff Newt McCleskey, Gaines county, at 11 o'clock today just as he turned east on West First street off Gregg.

As the car they were riding in passed over the viaduct, one of the men jumped out of the car and fled. The other attempted to but was caught by the sheriff.

In some manner the man had loosened the handcuffs with which the two men were locked together.

CANDIDATES BEGIN INJECTING PERSONALITIES INTO CAMPAIGN

By The Associated Press Seeking to reach as many voters as possible in the three remaining days before the first Democratic primary election Saturday, candidates for the party's gubernatorial nomination today continued with increased activities their campaigns.

While speeches of the candidates adhered closely to the general outlines advanced in past weeks, there was noticeable an increased resort to personalities as charges and claims and denials were broadcast.

Speaking at Cleburns yesterday, Earle B. Mayfield attacked Ross Sterling for the latter's assertions that Mr. Mayfield would be controlled by special interests if elected governor. He declared he never had been controlled by any man or group of men, and never would be, and added that as governor one of his first official acts would be to demand the resignation of Mr. Sterling as chairman of the highway commission.

Barry in Ft. Worth Lieutenant-governor Barry Miller warned a Fort Worth audience not to be lulled into a false sense of security by the sponsors of the proposed state highway bond issue, saying that lending the state's credit it was a "dangerous business."

Former Congressman James Young at Mineral Wells excoriated what he said were attempts to buy the governor's chair, asserting that with few exceptions the big newspaper support of the state had been given to Sterling and that newspapers always followed corporation interests. He charged that Clint Small was the candidate of special interests and always had voted with the special interests "against the people."

Speaking later at Stephenville, Mr. Young said all three members of the highway commission were now in politics and would be the "sickest bunch in Texas" when the votes were counted next Saturday.

Presenting himself at Dallas as a conservative, Mr. Small urged the necessity of a conservative administration at Austin and a new political deal there, denying at the same time that he was a sectional candidate. He urged industrialization of the state as a means of curing many of its ills and asserted that a conservative governor "alive to the economic needs of the hour" was needed.

33 OTHER STATES ON BOND PLAN

Facts About Their Experiences Given

Most every Texan will at this particular time, be interested in the facts given below, as reproduced in The Texas Weekly, from the Dallas News.

They deal with the experiences of the 33 other states that have voted highway and bridge bonds, similar to the plan being urged in the current race for governor by Ross S. Sterling of Houston:

Inasmuch as the question of State highway bonds has become the outstanding one in current political discussion in Texas, some of the Texas newspapers have been gathering information with respect to the other States in issuing bonds for highways.

The Dallas News has had its Washington correspondent to obtain from the United States Bureau of Public Roads such figures as are on record in this office on outstanding bonds of that kind. Without using cumbersome quotation marks, we give part of the dispatch to the News here.

Thirty-three States have issued highway and bridge bonds to the amount of $1,629,072,500 and at the close of 1929 there was outstanding a total of $1,008,856,150, less sinking fund amounts to $93,938,498. Other than the instances given, and possibly conditions not known here, the issues are presumed to be exclusively for highway purposes as applied to the State and not counties.

No State, it is understood, devotes the entire proceeds of gas tax for bond purposes. However, at least year, South Dakota, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Louisiana and New Hampshire made all payments on State bonds from gas tax. It might be pointed out, however, that in all cases the credit of the State is pledged and State taxes may be levied if necessary.

Usual Case It is usually the case that the State laws provide that interest and retirement of the State bonds shall come from the same source, that is, State taxes, highway funds, fees or gas tax, or any two or more of these sources. The net bonds outstanding including refunding bonds (stated in round numbers) and the method of payments for the thirty-three States follow:

- Alabama $43,000,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
Arkansas $54,000,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
California $62,900,000, State revenues, general taxes, etc.
Colorado $7,500,000, State taxes and vehicle fees.

33 OTHER STATES ON BOND PLAN

Facts About Their Experiences Given

Most every Texan will at this particular time, be interested in the facts given below, as reproduced in The Texas Weekly, from the Dallas News.

They deal with the experiences of the 33 other states that have voted highway and bridge bonds, similar to the plan being urged in the current race for governor by Ross S. Sterling of Houston:

Inasmuch as the question of State highway bonds has become the outstanding one in current political discussion in Texas, some of the Texas newspapers have been gathering information with respect to the other States in issuing bonds for highways.

The Dallas News has had its Washington correspondent to obtain from the United States Bureau of Public Roads such figures as are on record in this office on outstanding bonds of that kind. Without using cumbersome quotation marks, we give part of the dispatch to the News here.

Thirty-three States have issued highway and bridge bonds to the amount of $1,629,072,500 and at the close of 1929 there was outstanding a total of $1,008,856,150, less sinking fund amounts to $93,938,498. Other than the instances given, and possibly conditions not known here, the issues are presumed to be exclusively for highway purposes as applied to the State and not counties.

No State, it is understood, devotes the entire proceeds of gas tax for bond purposes. However, at least year, South Dakota, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Louisiana and New Hampshire made all payments on State bonds from gas tax. It might be pointed out, however, that in all cases the credit of the State is pledged and State taxes may be levied if necessary.

Usual Case It is usually the case that the State laws provide that interest and retirement of the State bonds shall come from the same source, that is, State taxes, highway funds, fees or gas tax, or any two or more of these sources. The net bonds outstanding including refunding bonds (stated in round numbers) and the method of payments for the thirty-three States follow:

- Alabama $43,000,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
Arkansas $54,000,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
California $62,900,000, State revenues, general taxes, etc.
