News Behind The News THE NATIONAL Whirligig

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

Rosy— His economists' charts spur President Roosevelt to demand the whole hog of reform at the present session of Congress.

On any capital curbstone you can arrange an argument over theories as to how far we have yanked ourselves out of the depression.

A Wall Street none too friendly to the White House seems to scent future improvement. Despite successive shocks, it remains confident.

Capital is still in mourning and hiding. It may emulate the groundhog after congress quits. If it sees no shadows it may stay out of its hole.

The following tables give the index figures on certain basic factors which reflect industrial health.

Table with 2 columns: Year, Index Value. Rows include 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935 (June).

Sales— These figures also furnish the key to the sudden switch from the Ickes to the Hopkins theory of government spending.

The administration believes that its recovery program will click if there results only a slight business lift from the aforementioned levels.

The automobile industry's experience taught that lesson to the administration. The heaviest sales were in sections where wheat, cotton and tobacco checks had furnished buying power.

Secretary Morgenthau's reluctance to assume FACA's authority over the alcoholic industry is not a mere whim.

Regulatory officials usually establish friendly relations with their customers. Avoiding "crackdown" tactics, they explain what can and cannot be done under their rulings.

The ICC's relations with railroad officials have never been so comfortable as they were before ICC-or Joe Eastman became overlord of the lines.

Rodeo Officials To Meet Tonight

Officials of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion will meet 8 p. m. today to consider plans for erection of a grandstand and equipment of the rodeo grounds with flood lights.

Drawings of the proposed grandstand have been made and the officials will check them for changes.

Since the reunion was permanently organized, it has steadily grown. The organization purchased 20 acres of land on the south-eastern edge of town and constructed corrals, judges' house and a spacious arena.

Officers of the corporation are Jess Slaughter, president; Marion Edwards, vice-president; Tom Good, treasurer; J. L. Hudson, secretary; Ira Driver, manager; and Harry Lees, C. W. Creighton and R. V. Middleton, directors.

Big Lake-B'Spring Highway Discussed

Reagan, Glascock and Howard counties will press a plea for designation of a road from Big Spring to Big Lake via Garden City.

Local good roads enthusiasts have long considered the road south through Garden City very important. They list it with a road to Snyder and Andrews and Hobbs as the most needed for this section.

Knott Votes Saturday On School Issue

The move for consolidation of three northwest Howard county school districts gets its first test of strength Saturday when Knott independent school district voters go to the polls to decide a preliminary but vital issue.

They will pass on a proposal to change the district from its independent rating back to that of a common school district.

Unless this is done Knott could not join with Highway and Fairview in a three district consolidation move.

Knott became an independent school district April 25, 1931. Should the three districts ultimately accept consolidation, they will be the first in the county to take this step.

Highway and Fairview have tried a grouping arrangement this year together with Bisco. While the latter is planning to check out of the set up, it apparently has proven very satisfactory to the two other parties.

Trouble Begins In Kansas Mine As Guards Leave

JOPLIN, Missouri (AP)—Rioting broke out Friday between striking miners and workers in the tri-state lead and zinc field twenty-four hours after national guardsmen were withdrawn.

The sheriff's office said miners reportedly armed with guns, clubs and stones, attacked men going to work at Galena, Kansas, Smelter Eagle Picher Lead Company, which was to reopen Friday.

At Topeka, Kansas, Sheriff Earl Neely of Cherokee county requested Governor Alf Landon to order troops back into the mining area.

The governor conferred with Adjutant General McLean on the subject to be taken.

Rebels Dispersed After Night Of Terror, Fighting

PEIPING, China (AP)—Loyal government troops Friday repulsed a force of mutinous Manchurian soldiers, who attempted to seize this "forbidden city," dispersing rebels after a night of terror and fighting.

Marital law was declared throughout the ancient and one-time capital of Chinese empire, but it was lifted after a victory for peace-preservation forces.

The city gates, at which invaders were turned back, remained closed, however. Traffic was suspended throughout the city.

The uprising began at Fengtai railroad division point under the leadership of Pai Chien-Wu, mentioned recently as possible leader of the North China self-government move.

Nuisance Taxes Are Extended; Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt Friday signed the resolution extending the $500,000,000 "nuisance" taxes for a two-year period. Otherwise, these would have expired Sunday night.

Imports, principally excise taxes on commodities such as gasoline, fur, chewing gum, automobiles other than trucks, tires and tubes and refrigerators, and also included is continuance of three-cent postage and taxes on telegrams and security transfers.

YOUR GROCERMAN.
During the regular course of events in the average household we sometimes fail to give full credit to those who serve us best.
Your grocerman is one of them. Through reverse and good times he faithfully stays at his post and judiciously selects for us the best foods at the most reasonable prices obtainable in the market. He anticipates the needs of his public with the same care that a good father plans comfort and happiness for his family.
Your grocer is more than just a tradesman who sells and exchanges goods at a profit to himself; he is a public friend; worthy of the greatest credit for his services to mankind. Day by day your grocerman is planning ways and means to serve you better, in making your shopping for foods easier and more pleasant.
This is why your grocer advertises: to tell you about his daily selections made for you and the services he has prepared for you. Patronize the grocer who advertises. His advertising is evidence of his desire and ability to serve you best.

WOW DEFEATS LEAGUE LEADING STATIONMEN, 2 TO 1

Angels Bowl Over Refiners

Scott Tallies Both Runs For Surprise Win Thursday

By HANK HART
The W. O. W., flashing a dead-end defense never before uncovered, pulled the Pilewellen Stationmen from their dizzy heights Thursday evening and tagged a 2-1 decision on them, playing the entire game with only eight men.

The Mellinger Angels, now a serious threat for the leadership, riding less than a game behind the Taylormen took it easy in the first game, smacking over the Howard County Refiners, 6-2.

Malone was touched for a run in the first inning when Scott tallied on Luten's ground ball and was in "hot water" almost every inning.

J. W. Coats accounted for the Stationmen's only run in the fourth when he slugged out a home run into the right garden.

Garrett Patton, on the hill for the Woodmen, limited the Operators to six hits, the first of which came in the fourth. Patton issued free passes to the first two men he faced, but settled down to catch Fitzgerald, Madison and Vick and leave the men stranded on the sacks.

Scott accounted for both the victors' runs, the final coming in the seventh when Lois Madison muffed Steve Baker's fly ball along the left field foul-line.

Malone's mates contributed to his downfall, making three costly errors afield.

Rucker Hare let up in the seventh inning of the earlier game to allow the Refiners to score both their runs and rode to another victory with fine support from his mates.

The Angels were kept away from the plate until the fourth, but scored three times in that stanza to ice the game.

Freddie Townsend accounted for the other three runs in the seventh when he belted out a terrific triple with two aboard and scored on the next play on Wilson's ground ball.

Olie Cordill, Howard Swatzy and George Neel were the big guns in the Mellinger attack, each recording two hits.

The win was their eighteenth of the season.

WRESTLING FANS HERE will no doubt be glad to hear that Gene La Belle and Ernie Arthur have been sent to California. The two mean boys were sent to Hollywood by Dutch Mantel, one of the bosses of the southwest circuit.

THIRTEEN HUNDRED FANS saw the matches here last Tuesday.

MAJOR THOMAS JENKINS, commanding officer of the West Texas district of the CCC, is a great fight fan. Jenkins does not look upon Joe Louis as a particularly great fighter. The major once promoted fights in Wyoming and naturally had the opportunity of looking over the heavyweight crop. He figures Carnora was not much of a test for the Brown Bomber. However, despite Louis' short career as a pro puncher, many of the fans are predicting the ducky will win handily should he meet Bear.

SPEEDY MOFFETT, assistant Steer coach, is attending Texas Tech this summer. Moffett also plans to attend the Tech coaching school.

JACK DEAN THURSDAY absolved himself of all blame in the Cowboy-Ackerly tiff. Dean said he told Brown that he did not think the Cowboys could play on Saturday, but Jack said he did not cancel the game because Pepper Martin matched it and he didn't have anything to do with it.

ALTHOUGH THE YOUTHFUL Cincinnati Reds have as their home park Redland field, largest playing arena in the majors, they have more than held their own in home run production this season, ranking third in the National league behind New York and Philadelphia.

Hurl One Wild Inning, But Is Winning Pitcher
CLEVELAND (AP)—If this isn't the luckiest way to get credit for winning a ball game, then Cleveland fans want to be shown a luckier example.
Leon Pettit, veteran relief pitcher of the Washington Senators, pitched one inning, the eighth, against the Indians here. He issued two walks, tossed a home run ball, pitched a single besides, and altogether was touched for three runs.

FIRST BASE - HOME RUN - PRODUCERS

NEW YORK (AP)—With the kingly slingers from both the 1934 league champion clubs leading the way, the Order of Long-Hitting First Basemen is enjoying one of its best years at the strenuous sport of coaching home runs and batting in runs.

In recent seasons big league teams have come to place less emphasis on the fielding duties of the first baseman, and to expect the occupants of that corner to carry some of the biggest loads in production of long and timely wild-logs.

Since Lou Gehrig of the Yankees finally has shown definitely that his beffing early-season slump is now a thing of the past, and Jimmy Poxa of the Athletics has gone back to first basing after his futile experimentation behind the plate, First Baseman-Hopper Collins of the St. Louis Cardinals and Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers have some powerful backing in their argument that the so-called initial corner is the Home Of The Run-Producers.

At the 60-game mark of the season Collins and Greenberg led their respective leagues both in homers and runs-batted-in, Elip with 64 and 36 and Greenberg with 78 and 19. Other first-basers strike an average of general excellence in these departments.

Gehrig hadn't begun to be a threat to the home run leaders as yet, due to his extraordinary slump, but his batting average was climbing steadily past the .300 mark and he had driven in 40 runs. Poxa was clubbing the ball around the 340 heights and had batted across 49 tallies.

Five American league first-basers were under .300, but not far, and with the exception of Babe Dahlgren of the Boston Red Sox all were contributing more than their share of the runs batted in, regardless of their personal batting averages.

Zelie Bonura of the White Sox had 41. Hal Trosky of Cleveland 35, and Joe Kubel of the Senators 33 in this important department.

In the National league Bill Terry of the Glens was the only first-sacker other than Collins to top .300, but Dolph Camilli of the Phillies and Gus Suhr of the Pirates, each hitting in the 270's, were nevertheless about the best run-batters of their respective clubs, with 42 and 45. Terry was credited with 39 tallies batted in.

Country Club Weiner Roast This Evening

Members of the Big Spring Country Club and out-of-town guests will be entertained with a weiner roast at the club pits this evening at 7:30, the entertainment committee announced. Following the weiner roast dancing and bridge will be indulged in that club house.

Tigers Seek A Home Game

Mexican Tigers had plenty of offers Friday for out-of-town games, but were seeking competition for a game here Sunday.

S. W. Harrison, manager of the Monahans team, wired Julian Vega of the Tigers an offer of 60-40 to play at Monahans. The Tigers turned the offer down.

Friday afternoon they were trying to make arrangements to play the Foran Cosden Pipeliners here.

Misses Viola and Edna Gray left Friday for Sedalia, Mo., to spend three weeks visiting relatives and friends.

Softball Race In Big Jumble

With jarring upsets almost every night in the softball race, the Pilewellen Stationmen, who have perched atop the league standings for several weeks, may be dropped into second place tonight by the versatile Herald outfit.

Should the Stationmen lose tonight, their second straight loss, the Mellinger Angels would hold a narrow lead. The Mellinger forces set the pace for the first two of three weeks but lost out and have stayed around second and third place.

Ford and Cosden Lab will play the second game tonight on the Munny diamond.

OPPOSITE SETTLER HOTEL

Loy Acuff, Miss Hayden Are Married

Ceremony Occurs At Residence Of Melvin J. Wise

Miss Helen Hayden was married to Liburn Loy Acuff Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Melvin J. Wise, minister of the Church of Christ.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for San Angelo and other points south for a short wedding trip. They are expected home Sunday.

The bride was attired in white with white accessories. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Hayden of 200 Gregg street and was born and reared here, the granddaughter of pioneer settlers. She was graduated from the local high school in 1923, being elected El Rodeo queen that year. She has been employed at the courthouse for several years, recently as assistant county superintendent under Mrs. Brigham and Miss Martin.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Manie Acuff. He attended school here, but was graduated from the Haskell high school while living there with his sister, Mrs. D. C. Buffington. He is employed by the Lester Auto Supply Company.

Misses Marjorie Taylor and Mildred Creath left Friday morning for a three weeks' visit to eastern points, including Washington, New York, Niagara Falls and Chicago. They will also attend Christian Endeavor society convention in Philadelphia.

Summer Care Assures One Brilliant Blooms

Weeding, Watering And Dusting Are Major Problems. Start Early And Keep Check.

Most annuals are in the ground and well started by this time, and the tendency is to think the job well done, and practically complete. This is far from true, however, and the attention you give to your flowers from this point on is what will determine the floral beauty or lack of it which will finally groom your garden.

It is a sad fact, but only too true, that weeds grow faster than flowers—and there are usually considerably more of them. To allow them to develop and crowd your flowers, taking the moisture and soil foods which they need, is a folly which only the hoe or the hand can remedy. In short, there is no round-about way to a beautiful display of flowers. A constant vigilance is necessary, but if such action is taken immediately, and the soil is kept loose and clean, a weekly stirring will usually suffice, and the laborious job of trying to catch up with a garden overrun with weeds will not be felt.

Most annuals are sown from seed directly into the border or row, and this condition necessarily means an uneven, and usually thick, stand of seedlings. Do not let them remain for any length of time. Thinning out in the rows not only adds to appearance, but is essential to the wellbeing of the flowers themselves. Most annuals need considerable space in which to grow. This varies from a few inches for the small sorts to over a foot for the tall ones.

Make an effort to determine the fertility of your soil, and just what types a particular flower needs. Oftentimes, soil conditions can be changed by adding plant foods, humus or sand. If your flowers, or certain of them, are not thriving, the chances are they need an addition to the soil.

Moisture is an important factor. Be sure that there is no lack of it. The best way to assure a good supply is to give the whole garden a soaking once a week. Daily sprinklings make for shallow roots and weak plants, and are definitely harmful to plants in bloom. You should water so that the deepest root has sufficient moisture. A fine dust mulch will then retain this supply for a week or more.

Plant diseases are a bugaboo to most amateurs, although insects and other pests may be dispensed of readily enough. When diseases appear, it is best to pull up the stalks and burn them; this will prevent spreading of the disease among surrounding plants, and to a great extent keep it from being retained by the soil.

Cut back portions of flowers that are growing out of proportion, and with the tall sorts, stakes should be constructed to protect them from the winds.

Cultivating, weeding and thinning out are the biggest tasks in the garden at this time of the year. There is still some planting to do, of course, if you were late in starting, and there is some succession planting to be done but for the most part keep yourself busy making a clean job of your garden.

Thinning out vegetables and annual flowers is important, and should be done scrupulously. Most plants require considerable space in which to grow, and the gardener will do well to know just how much space to give them. Get after the weeds early and continuously.

It's so handy to have a package of Kellogg's All-Bran in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a wholesome ingredient in your muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.
Kellogg's All-Bran supplies "bulk" to aid regular habits. All-Bran is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.
Two tablespoons daily will correct common constipation, due to insufficient bulk in the diet. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
The "bulk" of All-Bran does not break down during digestion as does that of leafy vegetables, and is therefore more effective for furnishing the needed "bulk." It is a delicious laxative food... far better than patent medicines.

...many implications in President Roosevelt's taxation proposal which they overlooked at first. It impresses them now as the key stone—or capstone—of a far-reaching attack against concentration of social, financial, industrial and political power.

Besides breaking down large fortunes the program would place a premium on small corporations. They would pass less taxes, for one thing. Should industry find it advantageous to break up into smaller financial and physical units many of Mr. Roosevelt's dreams would come true—dreams which seen in no way related to the problems of taxation or of industrial life. Labor, for instance, can deal more advantageously for itself with a small industry than it can with a great corporation. Smaller units—and even larger ones—might seek lower costs for land and labor by emigrating to towns in the country. That might boost the president's pet program for a class semi-rural and semi-industrial—Dr. Tugwell's ideal. And "horse-and-buggy" industrialists could not wield the political power which they enjoy now.

Stung— Huey Long recently got a lesson in practical politics from a democratic leader whom he has threatened to defeat next year. For once the "Kingfish" was speechless. When the president submitted his message on new taxation the Louisiana senator whooped. Meeting the leader in the senate cloakroom he asked: "What do you think of it?" The president's spokesman growled: "I think it's crazy." So Mr. Long tried it out on another supposed White House representative. He also branded the idea as insane. Huey then retired to frame his letter offering to surrender his presidential ambitions if the president proved that he was serious. He planned to rush in where the two leaders feared to tread. But when he returned to the senate chamber the two democrats were demanding immediate action on the White House proposals. They were beating their breasts on behalf of the "share the wealth" program. Huey said, "Well, I'll be damned!"

Foods— AAA experts say that high prices for pork will last through this year and longer for beef. You can raise and market a pig faster than you can a cow.

But consumers' advisers insist that a family can still buy a good meal at fairly cheap prices. Many housewives don't need this information—they get it at the market—but those who shop by phone or on the run may not be wise to it. Lamb is still very cheap, and plentiful supplies coming into the market should keep the price down. For the rest of the meal the housewife should buy tomatoes and fresh vegetables generally, cereals, fresh fruits, potatoes and flour. All these products are filling, plentiful and fairly inexpensive.

About all the consumer can get from Washington these days is advice. The consumer agencies supposed to protect his interests had no authority under NRA. Now they have less.

NEW YORK
By James McMillan

Redraft— Here's the inside story of recent banking bill developments as reported by well-posted financial sources. A couple of weeks ago Senator Carter Glass was ready to force a showdown in the full banking committee headed by Senator Duncan Fletcher on the separate passage of Title I and III of the bill and the omission of Title II—the disputed section which would centralize banking authority in the Federal Reserve Board. Mr. Glass was completely confident of victory and so informed his New York contacts.

But at that point Senator Fletcher—administration wheelhorse—pleaded for a compromise "to save the face of the White House." He told Glass in effect that he could rewrite Title II to suit himself if only he wouldn't insist upon such a brutal and obvious rebuff to the president. He further agreed to give his official support to Glass' version of Title II and asked only that the differences from the original draft should be as inconspicuous as possible—so it would at least appear to the public that Mr. Roosevelt had won his battle for the bill. It's understood that the Virginian accepted the proposition but delayed putting it into effect while he took time out to collect four honorary degrees.

He is said to be working on the redraft now—and this arrangement is the basis for his confident statement that there's no reason the senate can't dispose of the bill quickly. New York bankers feel they have nothing to fear from any measure authored by Glass.

Surrender— This "compromise" also accounts for the belated explanation of Adolph C. Miller—member of the Federal Reserve Board since its beginning—as to what was wrong with the Federal Reserve system in 1927-29. Mr. Miller is helping to set the stage for Senator Glass' ideas.

He's for a centralized authority in command of open market operations (buying and selling of government securities by the reserve banks) and against domination by the New York Reserve bank. So far O. K. with both Glass and the White House. BUT he also favors representation of all twelve Reserve banks on the open market committee—which the bankers (and Glass) want and the White House and Eccles don't. Likewise he subtly registers the point that the judgment of the "political" members of the board wasn't so hot back in the boom days.

Put these items together and they shed quite a light on the senatorial attitude towards the president. Bear in mind that Fletcher—who has practically authorized a vital surrender so long as it's camouflaged—has been one of the president's most loyal lieutenants. You can figure out how he rates the chances for compelling obedience to the White House will.

Conspiracy— With the fate of the banking law in doubt the big New York banks are in receipt of staggering bills from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation for subscriptions to its Class A stock in accordance with the present law. These subscriptions are supposed to be paid before July 1st unless the new act passes or the temporary plan now in effect is extended. The state-chartered banks are chucking their bills in the wastebasket. Penalty for non-compliance in their case is expulsion from the Federal Reserve System and they're ready and willing to take it—figuring they can always re-qualify later if advisable. All they would lose would be the discount privilege—which they aren't using now anyway—and their power to cash out-of-town checks at par. The latter would cripple them in dealings with correspondents—but they rate that a cheap price compared to prospective assessments. Most of the clearing house banks are state institutions—not national.

The national banks don't take the matter quite so casually. The penalty for them is appointment of a federal receiver. They can't laid until there's no use going all the way to the wall. So they will have to come across no matter how it hurts unless they get legislative relief before Monday. However, they do nurse strong hopes that at worst they will get their millions (literally in some cases) back later. A director of a state bank which intends to do nothing about the assessment remarks: "Of course we'll all be charged with conspiracy against the New Deal. But the only thing we're really conspiring about is how to remain solvent."

Pipes— Keen observers characterize the platform evolved by the New York Young Republicans as signalling abandonment of hope for 1936. All issues on which a genuinely popular appeal might be based have been extracted—leaving merely a firm conservative base on which to build for the future.

The Young Republicans also spelled the doom of a right-wing coalition movement next year. They are for "coalition" under the G. O. P. label—but no Jeffersonian Democrats for theirs. That's that. These developments fit into the growing conviction of backstage republican leaders that there's no use putting up a real fight in '36. "We're licked in advance, so why not be practical about it." The idea rather is to plan to capture congress in '38 and then on to the real triumph in '40. There are subterranean pipe lines to be carefully laid and there's no use going all out until they are ready to function. This also ties in with the conservative belief—reported here previously—that if Roosevelt is to open, Mrs. Young teaches Spanish in high school.

Opinion— Leaders of veterans' organizations are privately sore about the president's interpretation of public sentiment. "He got 155,000 telegrams urging him to sign the Patman bill but he chose to ignore them. Then he got 1200 telegrams demanding the supreme court and demanding continuance of NRA and that was a significant reflection of national opinion." Apparently public opinion doesn't exist unless it agrees with his own.

Interlude— New York was amused by the irony of New London. Mr. Roosevelt viewed the Yale-Harvard regatta as a guest on a yacht belonging to Harold Pratt of Socony—rated one of the 46 (or a few more) citizens who would be affected by his proposal to raise the tax rates on incomes over a million dollars. Mr. Pratt was present in person. Comment runs that a record of their conversation in "Strange Interlude" style—including the thoughts not expressed out loud—would be a prize.

ENEMY'S KISS

Chapter 37 STRANGE STORY

Guy peeled off his white overall and vanished.

Allison, sitting on a low chair, laughed again. All the way down in the Underground she had wondered what their meeting would be like. But wherever her thoughts had wandered they had pictured nothing like this!

She had heard the sound of a car starting and in a minute he was back.

"There. Finished? Come on."

The shabby dark blue Rover was outside. As they came out into the main road, he looked down at her and asked, "You believed my letter, then?"

"I didn't even get it. You see, my stepmother burned it. And I've run away from home."

His reply was the last thing that she expected.

"Thank God for that!" he said. "If you hadn't come this morning, I was going to the police!"

"To the police?"

"Yes." He answered her amazed look with a nod. "But never mind that now. Tell me what's happened."

Allison told him briefly of her interview in the theatre and what followed. His face grew white and set as he heard, and he muttered, "Good Lord!" and almost admiringly, "You know, she's clever! A clever devil!"

"Isn't she?" agreed Allison. "So you see, I didn't get your letter. Only I felt that if she could go to those lengths about me, she must be lying about you, too," she wound up breathlessly. "And—and I thought I'd come and ask you myself. I just want to know the truth."

He said contritely, "It's all my fault! I've been a complete fool not to trust you from the beginning."

"You mean, telling me—"

"That story. Yes, I realized last night, when you wouldn't listen to me, what an abject, utter ass I'd been. If you know how I've worried all night! I tell you, I was on the point of going to the police."

"But why?"

"It's rather a long tale. Let's find somewhere where we can talk."

They found a little basement cafe with bright copper covered tables.

It was 12:15. The place was just beginning to fill up but they chose a table out of range of listening ears. Even after the waitress had taken their order, they sat for a moment just looking at each other. Oddly satisfying, just to sit and look at him and smile!

"I'll have to go right back to the beginning, to just over a year ago," he warned Allison, "or you won't understand why I didn't tell the truth."

truth. It was silly of me—idiotic—I ought to have known that you couldn't have anything to do with it, but I'd been having a devil of a time and—well, I'd got into a sort of a state where I suspected everyone."

"Poor darling!" Allison breathed that and the hand under the table gave an answering squeeze.

"You see, I'd just started in practice out in Nice. I'd sunk all my capital in it and things were going rather well. My patients were mostly rich old ladies who had nothing to think about except their health and they liked me to call and see them even if they'd only a cold."

"It wasn't the work I'd have chosen for myself but I'd had pneumonia badly and I'd been told the best thing I could do was to live out in a warm climate for a bit, so I did my best to cheer them up and cure them and keep their minds off themselves."

"Anyway, things were going quite well when one of the villas in my best was taken by an old man and his wife. He was English, a retired jam merchant, and pretty well off, to judge by what he spent; she was a lot younger and well. I won't say what I think of her to you! She tried to make love to me, among other things which isn't a habit I'm fond of in my patient's wives!"

She said impulsively, "Oh, my dear, I am so sorry about the other night! I mean what I said! Only it hurt me too, and—"

"Don't worry! I knew you'd been hearing a lot of lies. I wouldn't have written to you, if I hadn't known that!"

"Two hands and two pairs of eyes can say a great deal."

"Where had I got to," he asked.

"Oh! Well, anyway, this old man was ill. I could see that all right. But his symptoms weren't in order. Sometimes he'd be almost well for a long time and then he'd have a relapse and nearly die—for no reason at all."

"His wife pretended to be terribly concerned about him but I knew for a fact that she was running round with a foreign gigolo and I grew rather suspicious. Anyway, I watched, and got my nurse to watch, and we noticed that the old man's relapses always came after the nurse's time off, when the wife had been nursing her husband herself. So I took the bull by the horns and interviewed the lady. "I told her that I did not feel satisfied and that I intended to move the old man into a nursing home. She lost her temper with me and created a frightful shindy but I stuck to my point and told her that unless she consented, I should have to get a specialist's opinion."

"That scared her and she gave way. I made all arrangements to move my patient the next day and I warned the matron of the home that he was not to be left alone with his wife. I went round myself to see him moved—and found him gone."

"Gone?"

"Yes. She'd chartered a special plane and whisked him off by air to England! About three months later, I saw a notice of his death in the London papers. But I'd one satisfaction, anyway. I noticed in the list of wills that he had left nothing; as it turned out he'd sunk it all in an annuity. So she didn't make any money by what she did."

Those Very-Odd-Job Men, College Gridders, Are Doing Their Stuff

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The 1935 football hero isn't likely to be an ice-man, a la Red Grange, but he's found a lot of other occupations to prepare both his pocketbook and his physique for the next school year.

Counting noses among the mid-western gridders at summer work, you will find a majority engaged in life-guarding and overseeing city playgrounds—soaking up vitamin A in vast quantities.

Highway and other construction crews claim many more. One football hero-to-be is with a railroad section gang, doing the heavy. Two more are pushing wheelbarrows laden with fire brick. Another pair is straw-bossing a CCC camp. There are baggagemen, numerous service station hands, a breeder of pedigree dogs, a mosquito exterminator—and a relatively small number of ice-men.

A Professional "Native" heading the list of unusually employed gridders is Victor Master, a guard for Washington University, St. Louis, who is an experienced "native."

Last summer Master was taught half a dozen sentences of gibberish, garbed in outlandish costume, complete with turban, labeled as a genuine imported native from far-off Abyssinia and posted in front of a rug emporium at Chicago's Century of Progress exposition to welcome the customers.

Master hid himself away to San Diego's Pacific International exposition this summer to see whether they needed any experienced, ornamental natives fully equipped with dialect.

His guarding teammate, Joe Nosky, has the comparatively prosaic task of showing visitors through an Ozark cavern.

—And a Knitter

Washington's 190-pound right end, Dwight Hafell, track and basketball star and heavyweight boxing champion of the university, is being schooled in knitting again by the mermaids who flock around the swimming pool where he is a guard.

Last summer Hafell turned the tables on those fair creatures who are in constant need of swimming instruction and got them to teach him to knit.

Five huskies who hope to help Missouri rice out of the football depths next fall are life guards. Jack Frye and Harold Bourne, also of Missouri are driving beer trucks in Texas.

Paul Turnbough, one of the bigger sophomore hopefuls at Missouri, has obtained a job with a crew that patrols the Lake of the Ozarks in a power boat, seeking to put down the mosquito menace coming in the wake of the high waters.

NOTICE OF BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS In the matter of William Alfred Bonner, Bankrupt, No. 1702 in Bankruptcy.

OFFICE OF REFEREE Abilene, Texas, June 27, 1935. Notice is hereby given that William Alfred Bonner of the County of Howard, and district aforesaid, did, on the 19 day of January 1935 file in the Clerk's office of said Court, a petition setting up that he has been heretofore duly adjudged a bankrupt under the act of Congress approved July 1, 1898; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy, and praying for a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate in bankruptcy, save such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

LAW, ORDER TO PREVAIL JULY 4 AT STAMFORD

STAMFORD—Law and order will prevail in Stamford during the Sixth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion which opens here Tuesday, July 2, to continue through July 4.

Adjutant General Carl Nesbit, six Texas rangers, eight state highway patrolmen and one company of national guards will be here during the Reunion besides members of the sheriff's department, the city police department and visiting sheriffs and police.

From past experience, it is not expected that any of the array of police will be needed except for traffic regulation, as the Cowboy Reunion has gained a reputation of being one of the most orderly and sober gatherings in the state.

Company K, 142 infantry, the Stamford unit of national guard, commanded by Capt. F. M. Locke, will be on police duty inside the reunion grounds and guardmen also will serve as traffic police in the business district.

Glenda Farrell's Only Hobbies Are Her Son And Cat

Glenda Farrell, who has one of the stellar roles in the First National production "Traveling Saleslady" which comes to the Ritz Theatre on Friday and Saturday, is generally cast as the hotcha night club gal, but in real life she's very 9 o'clock. She likes to sit in her home by a cosy log fire while "Aimie," her pet Persian cat, purrs in peace beside her. Glenda, however, doesn't get a chance to do much home loafing, except after working hours for Warner Brothers' assignments keep her right on the jump.

Her young son, Tommy, now about eight years old, is in military school and often visits the studio where his mother is working, whereupon Glenda makes certain that everyone knows he's her very own. Aside from Tommy (and her kitten) she has no hobbies, although she "paints a little" and plays the piano.

Being half Irish, she is a bit superstitious, and she recently demonstrated this for when her new North Hollywood home was being built she insisted on doing just a little bit of each part of the construction so she could say: "I helped build this, myself!" Her first stage role was in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" when she was seven years old.

In "Traveling Saleslady" she is the rival of Joan Blondell for the love of the handsome salesman, William Gargan. Others in the cast include Hugh Herbert, Grant Mitchell and Al Shean.

Roy Combs is leaving Saturday morning for Fort Worth, where he will join his wife and daughter, who are visiting her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Combs and another couple will leave Monday morning for an automobile trip to Mexico City, to be gone three weeks.

Cardul for Girls in 'Teens Because of the benefit it has been to them, many mothers give Cardul to their daughters on their reaching young womanhood. "When I was a girl at home," writes Mrs. Bernice Hollen, of French Lick, Ind., "I was very irregular. At times, the blood would seem to rush to my head and my nose would bleed. My mother had taken Cardul and it had helped her, so she gave it to me. My nose quit bleeding and I was regular. Since I have been married I have felt a great deal better after taking Cardul." If Cardul does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—adv.

TEXAS TOPICS

By Raymond Brooks

The hostilities that cropped out in passage of the Texas Centennial appropriation bill have been merged, and all sections are pulling together now to make the Centennial a statewide observance and a success, Senator Arthur P. Duggan pointed out to the historical advisory board in charge of allocations for marking historic spots in the state.

"We in West Texas are just as proud as anybody else," he reminded the board, "of the glorious history of Goliad and the Alamo and San Jacinto. We feel that some of the earliest early history—dating back far beyond the 1830's—was recorded in our section when men like Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado set foot on what is now Texas soil. We know these sections and this history will not be overlooked."

Former Representative Joseph McGill, now county judge of El Paso county told the historical board that the Centennial spirit recently has resulted in the discovery of "pyramids" containing Indian ruins in the valley near his city; and that excavations are being planned in the hope of finding complete buried Indian villages of pre-civilization days.

The Central Texas flood forced an almost complete holiday period in the Texas capital of half a week. There was no lights or power, no elevator service and no water in the building. Judges of the appellate courts walked up to the third and fourth floors of the building. The capitol is so designed that many of its offices are too dark for work without artificial light. Lack of water was a serious handicap in the building. Many departments were working on part schedule, attending to more pressing matters, and letting general work stack up.

The board of control announced it will ascertain whether wells may be sunk for artesian water, or whether underground storage tanks may be filled as stand-by to protect the group of state buildings from future interruptions of service.

Oil development is reaching a new high level with a stable price structure and a strong demand for petroleum and strict control and proration of existing fields. During June, the railroad commission put 11 new fields on record and took them under proration. These fields were Pierce Junction as a separate field, Loma Alto, Rusk, Netterville, Goldsmith, San Hills, Lowe, Jones, Hasting, Seven Sisters and Worthington.

In order to afford them a share in the market, the East Texas field was cut back from 485,000 to 433,000 barrels a day, or 2.3 hourly potential.

U. S. Has Highest Traffic Death Rate

CHICAGO—The United States holds the questionable distinction of having the highest automobile death rate per capita of any civilized country in the world, according to Accident Facts, just published by the National Safety Council. Its rate of 23.3 deaths per 100,000 population may be compared with 2.2 for Norway, 4.8 for Germany, and 12.1 for England and Wales.

When the death rate is computed on the basis of the number of motor vehicles, there is a different story. Only Norway, New Zealand and Canada have fewer fatalities per 10,000 cars.

Figures are not available for comparison on the basis of gasoline consumption.

LET US MAKE YOUR 4TH OF JULY TRIP SAFER

BEFORE you start on your holiday trip, let us completely inspect your car. There is no charge for this service and it will assure you of a safer and more enjoyable trip.

For the motoring convenience and safety of car owners Firestone has established more than 500 Auto Supply & Service Stores throughout the country, and thousands of Firestone dealers are also equipped with Auto Supplies and complete Service Departments to test and service your tires, brakes, batteries, spark plugs, wheels, ignition system, carburetor, in addition to lubricating your car with the most modern power equipment, also crank case service, washing and polishing.

AVOID THE DANGER OF BLOWOUTS

Firestone removes the danger of blowouts by preventing their main cause — internal friction and heat. This is accomplished by Gum-Dipping, a patented extra process which soaks every cotton cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. No other make of tire is Gum-Dipped.

THERE ARE THREE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS THAT WILL SOLVE YOUR PROBLEM OF WHAT TIRES TO BUY:

- 1 "Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
— Recent tests by a leading University show that Firestone High Speed Non-Skid Tires stop a car 15% quicker than any other of the leading makes.
For eight consecutive years Firestone Tires have been on the winning car in the dangerous Pike's Peak Race where a skid means death. This is undisputed evidence that Firestone gives car owners greatest protection against skidding.

- 2 "Are they blowout-proof?"
— Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the most amazing records for being blowout-proof of any tires ever built. In the gruelling 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis, May 30th, every one of the 33 cars was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Kelly Petillo won the race and broke the record over this 26-year-old rough brick track without tire trouble—in fact, not one of the 33 drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Ab Jenkins drove his 5,000 pound car on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires over the hot salt beds of Utah, 3,000 miles in 23½ hours, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, with temperatures as high as 120°, without tire trouble of any kind. These are most amazing proofs of blowout protection ever known.

- 3 "Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

— Firestone High Speed Tires not only give you more than 50% longer wear, but also lowest cost per mile. This is made possible by the tough, wear-resisting tread built with higher shoulders and a wider, flatter contour. This thick, rugged, scientifically designed tread is held securely to the Gum-Dipped cord body by Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of cords under the tread. This is a special construction feature not used in any other tire. Unequaled mileage records by thousands of car owners add undisputed evidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

Equip your car with a set of Firestone Gum-Dipped Non-Skid Tires, the safest tires ever built and avoid the dangers of skidding and blowouts.

Busy Corner — Main and Third

University tests show Firestone High Speed Tires stop cars 15 to 25% quicker.

1. Gum-Dipped cords give greater blowout protection. Gum-Dipping is not used in other tires.

2. Wider, flatter tread gives more than 50% longer non-skid wear.

3. The MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

$745 4.50-20 HIGH SPEED TYPE Gum-Dipped

Made with the highest grade of rubber and cotton. Accurately balanced and rigidly inspected and we know it is as perfect as human ingenuity can make it.
