JEST SOME THOUGHTS

If every citizen were just like me, what kind of town would this place be?

Food for thought — let's see, they would be weak-kneed, short of pep and energy, full of fresh needle holes, and completely toothless.

That's us, this week.

But, to the more serious side, it takes all kinds to make up a town, but each citizen should do something for his town that he can be proud of, and not just live here.

Uphold everything that is good, the establishment for example, our churches, schools, and laws.

We found, from our stay in the Brownfield General Hospital last week that there are still people who care. They are really nice down there, are sympathetic to your aches and pains, and do all they possibly can for you. We were surprised to find that the nurses are sincere, and take a personal interest in each patient. This is not true in lots of hospitals.

No one, except the closest kin and friends will know what a problem it has been to print the paper, and the other jobs that could not wait. Without help, it would be impossible, as we can work about fifteen minutes out of every two hours and then we just seem to kinda conk out.

We found quite a bit of news slid under the door this week, and also received some through the mail. We sincerely appreciate it, and ask you to do the same for the next three weeks, as we are not at our best appearance yet.

We were afraid that we would not have even one local news item, but we do have a few. Please keep the news coming until we are able to open our doors full time again, and meet the public. We even have a problem talking over the telephone.

We are going to put our card of thanks in this column: To each and every one who has helped us in any way, for the lovely gifts, the flowers, the many beautiful cards, and words of encouragement, and your prayers, we are eternally grateful. May God bless each one of you in the days to come.

Who could survive without close relatives and friends? You sure learn a lot when you are incapacitated.

Besides that, we've had the toothache all week.

We don't have much fight this week, but just wait a few weeks and we will be better than new, and no telling who we might chew on.

So, we roll off the page for another week, putting another issue to bed we didn't think was going to get tucked in.

National FFA Conv'tion

The annual convention will be held next week in Kansas City, Mo., and the dates are October 12-16. New national officers will be elected along with other important business.

Harold Joe Schwartz will be awarded the highest degree conferred by the National Association: that of American Farmer. To be

It is generally against the policy of the Plainsman to print letters we receive that are unsigned, but the following letter was slid under our front door, and we can see no harm in printing it. If all this is true, we would like to hear from other teenagers. Please sign your name for our own records. It seems, as parents, we are lacking, and perhaps we could learn from fresh, unbiased minds. (Editor)

Dear Mrs. Thomas:

We are two teenagers in Ropes High School. We would like to be heard once in a while.

First of all, we will say that we have some very fine parents and people who aren't parents in this town, but we also have some who need to be raised over again.

Why do some parents think the laws are made for all kids but their own? When their kids get caught, they think the law is picking on them, but when someone else's kids get caught, they want the law to throw the book at them.

Also, why do some parents think it is alright to make u-turns in the middle of Main Street when the Fox is not around, or run stop signs?

These parents are setting a fine example for us — "If you can get away with breaking the law, it is okay, but don't get caught." That seems to be their motto.

Why can some kids do as they please and brag all over school that their daddy will take care of everything if they get in trouble. Then when some of the rest of us get caught, we have to pay a fine.

The law says everyone is equal, but if your daddy has plenty of money it is not equal.

It's true we spin around town, and try not to get caught. But we are not grown yet. Then we sit in church and see some of the parents who are supposed to be so good and their kids are supposed to be so good, and we really know what is going on. Maybe some of the parents should ask around, or try to follow their kids some night and they would be surprised what goes on.

We are proud of our town, and proud to be from here, but why can't some of the parents GROW UP

Next year we go out on our own, and we certainly hope we can act like adults should act.

Two Youths From Ropes High

eligible for this award, a member must have attained the State Farmer Degree, been out of high school at least one year, have earned at least $1,000.00 by his own efforts, shown achievement in the fields of leadership, scholarship, cooperation and an outstanding farming program. The award is given on the basis of one American Farmer for each 1,000 active FFA members. The applicants are then screened and the highest applicants are chosen. The quota for Area I in Texas is five boys per year. To be ranked in the top five, a boy must far exceed the minimum requirements. The rating committee rated Harold Joe as number 3 of the Area I applicants chosen. The State of Texas has 50,000 members, so the quota for the State is 50 American Farmers in 1970.

While in the Future Farmer Chapter at Ropes, Harold Joe has raised and shown hogs, raised beef cattle, cotton, grain sorghum, and participated in the activities of the chapter in an outstanding way. He was a Chapter Officer and a District Officer, and attended two State Conventions and the Area I Convention. He took part in athletics and other activities in Ropes High School. He is now attending San Angelo State College where he is a sophomore. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Joe Schwartz of Ropesville. He was recently married to Charlsa Shannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Shannon of Ropes. His wife also attends San Angelo State College.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

Mayor T. J. Redman announced this week that the City Council is planning on calling an election to determine whether the citizens of Ropesville desire that a water line be constructed from water wells located on property being leased to the City by the Santa Fe Railway some two and one-half miles northeast of the City.

Legal proceedings are now being drawn for such election which will be held during the first part of November, the exact date of which has not been determined but in all probability it will be held on the first Tuesday in November, the General election day.

A notice of the election will be published in two issues of the Ropes Plainsman. The proposition to be submitted to the voters will, in essence, be: Shall the City of Ropesville be authorized to enter into a contract with the Ropesville Water Supply Corporation in which said Corporation agrees to supply water to the City of Ropesville for a term of six (6) years, and pay for such service from funds raised by taxation.

In the event the vote is in the affirmative, the Corporation will finance the construction of the pipe line through the Wolforth State Bank. The total cost of the pipe line, the connecting the line to the pumps and to the City's water system will be $23,000. The $23,000 will bear 8% per cent interest and will be repaid over a term of six (6) years from the sale of water to the City.

The construction of the line will not begin until at least thirty (30) days after the election. In the event that the election carries, the City Officials hope that the construction of line will be complete, and that the City will have a new source of water shortly after the first of the year.

Mayor Redman stated that the line, if the election carries, will be built and operated by the Ropesville Water Supply Corporation, a non-profit Corporation formed for the purpose of furnishing a water supply for the City of Ropesville.

Clyde Loveless, Tommie J. Littlefield, and Billy Ray Martin are the directors of the Corporation.

The Corporation exists strictly for the benefit of the City of Ropesville in that it is organized solely to furnish water to the City. After the loan has been repaid by the Corporation, upon its dissolution, all property of the Corporation is to become the property of the City.

The Mayor further stated that the City Council feels it imperative that an additional source of water be secured, and that the best, fastest and most economical way would be through the Water Supply Corporation.

COTTON TALKS

From Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Reflecting on the fourteenth annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., attended by over 400 people on September 29 in Lubbock, Executive Vice President Donald Johnson said "Comment indicates this was one of the most interesting, most thought provoking meetings we have had in years. And the 200 ladies who attended the luncheon which followed the meeting have been quite voluble in their praise of the program presented there, too."

Speakers for the annual meeting were J. Dukes Wooters, new Executive Vice President and General Manager of Cotton Producers Institute, and Charles G. Scruggs, Editor of Progressive Farmer magazine. The program for the ladies luncheon was presented by Mrs. Meda Johnston, internationally known textiles author and lecturer; Miss Laverne Walker, Home Economist with the National Cotton Council, and Mrs. Margaret Harden, Instructor and Research Associate with the Foods and Nutrition Department at Texas Tech University.

The 50-member PCG Board of Directors, made up of two directors elected from each of the organization's 25 counties, was certified by the membership and met immediately after the annual meeting to elect officers. Re-elected for one year terms were Donnell Echols of Lamesa, President; Ray Joe Riley of Hart, Vice President, and Paul Bennett of Littlefield, Secretary and Treasurer.

Echols, accepting the organizations top office for the second year, said the need for a strong cotton producer organization on the Plains was an ever-increasing need. He went on to say "A strong organization requires strong support, and building support among the membership is a prime responsibility of PCG directors."

Wooters, calling attention to CPI successes in product development research in the past and outlining new plans for competitive merchandising, said "Cotton's opportunities in the market place have never been better, and it is our job to capitalize on those opportunities."

Scruggs suggested that cotton producers need to "deal themselves in" for a bigger piece of the industry through vertical integration. He said, "Our opportunity lies primarily in greater control over the end product of our fiber and we should have a more active part in moving raw fiber from the raw stage to the consumer."

The ladies luncheon was attended mostly by members of 12 womens cotton promotion groups organized in the High Plains area. The program covered methods of applying design to cotton fabrics, utilization of cottonseed flour in foods for human consumption, and a fashion address titled "Fall In With Cotton."

Typical of the comments on the luncheon is a letter from Mrs. J. C. Pointer of Ropesville. Mrs. Pointer wrote PCG, "The food was wonderful and the program was just the thing to give us ladies enthusiasm and spirit. The speakers made me want to do more for the cotton industry."

... direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat — you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.
