South Plains Area Has Rains and 'Weather'

Friday night proved to be a very stormy one for residents of the South Plains. At least seven different tornados were sighted. Unusual weather was on the make with the vicious clouds traveling from the northwest to the southeast.

Several people sought shelter under ground when the Highway Patrol came to Ropes and got Dub Riney and turned on the siren to alert our area that a tornado was headed in our direction.

We were very happy that the storm did not materialize, and would like to thank the Highway Patrol for alerting our community. Since Ropes has no law, the two-way radio is not in operation.

Rain over the county amounted to from one inch to three and a half inches. Hail was very light, and as far as we could learn, no crops in the Ropes area suffered any serious damage.

On Thursday afternoon warnings were out for the South Plains, and our territory received a blinding rain, with very light hail, and the gages registering from two to three inches of rain. West of Ropes about a mile the road was turned into a lake, and the same with the road northwest of Ropes leading to Foster's Grocery.

Saturday night brought an other half-inch of rain, with our luck still holding out, and no reports of serious hail damage.

Sunday proved to be a dry day as did Monday and Tuesday, although clouds were heavy and lightening visible. Up to press time Wednesday the skies were cloudy, and the weather bureau said we had a 20 percent chance of rain, but the weather should be mild.

Hope we don't get blown away tonight!

Danny is a 1965 graduate of Ropes High School and attended South Plains College this last year.

CONGRATULATIONS TO

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Don Clemens of Lubbock on birth of a daughter born Sunday June 19th in West Texas Hospital. She weighed seven pounds and twelve ounces, and has been named Jill LeAnn. The couple has one other child, a son, Jeff.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Clemens of Route 1, Ropes. Mrs. Clemens and Randy are spending the week in Lubbock.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. W. M. Thompson, who was in a Lubbock hospital for quite some time was returned home last week, and is reported much improved.

Return From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Watson returned home June 12 from a very enjoyable vacation that began June 3rd.

Mrs. John Kimberlin accompanied them as far as Greenville where she remained with relatives. They spent two days at Lake Lavon and then attended a family reunion at the park there.

In Little Rock, Arkansas, they visited the zoo which is in McArthur State Park, and is also the birthplace of General Douglas McArthur. In Memphis, Tennessee they enjoyed a ride down the Mississippi River on the riverboat Memphis Queen II.

From here they journeyed on to Waynesboro where they visited Tennessee's Natural Bridge. The bridge is formed of rock and spans over the Lake of the Woods which is a mile long, with many lighted caves, pure spring water and giant beech trees. They had quite an interesting experience here, as a little girl offered to show them around and led them all up a ladder. When some were on top, and the rest about half way up, she announced "Well, we have to go down now." It turned out to be the workman's ladder, and there was nothing on top to see.

A trip through David Crockett State Park which contains a Pioneer Museum was next on the agenda. Here they also saw a mill which grinds corn.

The next day took them to famous Lookout Mountain near Chattanooga. On top of this mountain is scenic Rock

City, and Lookout Point from which you can view seven states. Fairland Caverns and Ruby Falls are also here. The guide told them they do not yet know where the water runs to from the falls. The mountain also features a swinging foot bridge which is quite an experience to cross.

They also toured Chickamauga Battle Field near Chattanooga, where a great battle of the Civil War was fought.

A trip through the Smokey Mountains was enjoyed very much, but the bears were not very cooperative as they didn't see a one.

A historic tour through Cades Cove was then made. Cades Cove contains homes of several famous persons, and also noted with much interest was the Cove contains four different churches, each with it's own private cemetery.

At Gatlinburg they rode the skylift. This brought them to the highlight of their trip, where they attended the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville. Among the 'greats' they saw and listened to was Roy Acuff and his Smokey Mountain Boys, plus many others.

In Nashville they also visited the state capital, and a museum so huge they never did get through all of it. On display were items from both World Wars I and II, and other things, such as ostrich eggs, and one of Minnie Pearl's frayed hats, with the price tag still intact.

On the return trip they visited in Fort Smith, Arkansas with Robert's cousins, Turn To Page 2

Nola Knows

By Nola White

Dear Nola - Life is unfair. I go to school and all the other guys have cars so they can get dates. I don't have a car and don't have any money so I can't get anyone to go with me. I look at the sons of the rich, sporting around in their good clothes and big cars and I feel like smashing somebody.

Mad at the World

Dear Mad Your problem is not clothes and cars. You could always go with a girl who belongs to the local hiking club. Brush the chip off your shoulder and read the next letter.

Dear Nola I'm 20 and look pretty well, I think. I'll be a junior in college next year. I have a good car and a different date every night. I'm worried about myself because I get tired of a girl so easily. I'll meet somebody new and think "This is it!" But in three weeks I'm tired of her. What's wrong with me?

Bored at Twenty

Dear Borde If I could shake you and "Mad" (above) up in a bag, the mixture ought to make you both happier. Too much of a good thing is just as bad as not enough. Confine yourself to one date a week and seek other interests.

Dear Nola - My fiance lost his job week before last and has postponed our wedding because of that. I have a good job and could support us until he found work. Do you think this is just an excuse to get out of marrying me?

Trudy
Dear Trudy - If your fiance is trying to get out of the marriage I think you're losing a good man. He sounds like a self-respecting person who wants to be able to shoulder his responsibilities when he marries. He's getting to be a rare breed. You should be happy to wait for him.

Dear Nola - What do boys look for in a girl? I'm not very popular but would like to be.

Fourteen

Dear Fourteen - They look for two or three more years.

Dear Nola - I'm so sick of women who think they are superior to men that I don't think I'll ever get married. I think the sexes are equal. Don't you?

Disgusted Male

Dear Male - Well, this is a switch! The last I heard, all men think they're superior to women. Where have you been hiding?

Dear Nola - My fiance is 21 and thinks he owns me. I'm in college and he has a fit if I have to attend a school function or something. He's so jealous that he sulks for days if I even speak to anyone else, male or female. I love him, so I am wondering if you think he'll change after we're married.

Troubled

Dear Troubled - I'm sure he'll change—from bad to worse!

Dear Nola - Everybody

thinks I'm crazy because I'm 70 years old and enjoying every minute of it. When I was a girl, I had so many problems and troubles that when I look back on my youth, all I can see is a great cloud of worry. I worried about my children, about losing my husband, and even about getting old. Now I am old. My children are gone, but I still have my husband. I don't have to worry about losing him to another woman any longer. No other woman would have him. Time has taught me that most of the things I worried about never happened, and those that did, I could live with! Old age is the great emancipator, and I think fewer people would dread it if they looked on it as a friend.

Seventy

Dear Seventy - Nuff said!

Dear Nola - My husband opens and reads every letter I get. I don't have anything to hide, but I feel deflated when he comes in from the post office with my letters already torn open. I don't even read them sometimes. He says I'm not normal. Is he right?

Dead Letter

Dear D. L. - You're normal and he's your! Tell your correspondents to use your street address.

Send your letters to Nola Knows, Box 411, Temple, Texas. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Austin - State Representative Jesse T. George shared the platform with Attorney General Waggoner Carr on June 16th as they addressed the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals on "The State Criminal Code and Its Effect On School Administration."

Their appearance highlighted a general session at 8:30 a.m. of the educators who met June 15-17 for a summer work conference.
