$300,000 Farm Labor Housing Project Sought

'Flexible' House To Provide Home For 600 Workers

Housing for 600 farm workers will be provided here if plans by a group of farmers and businessmen here bear fruit. And from all indications, the project will succeed.

With Tim Campbell, a Progress farmer, serving as acting leader of the group, a $300,000 farm housing complex is being planned, financed with an FHA loan. Such loans are possible through a federal loan, it was explained.

At a breakfast Friday morning, Campbell said five acres of land will be needed for the project to cost some $4000.

The 100-unit "flexible" complex will cost in the neighborhood of $300,000 and will be built with a full 100 percent loan. However, Campbell said, the land on which the project is located must be paid for before the loan can be secured.

"But if we can get our land clear, I feel that we will have no difficulty in getting approval of the project," Campbell said. He said that land for the unit "is no problem" adding that the land already had been located.

The project is being financed by $100 investments by interested folk in this area, and he explained that 100 such investments are being sought. He said 12 have already signed up.

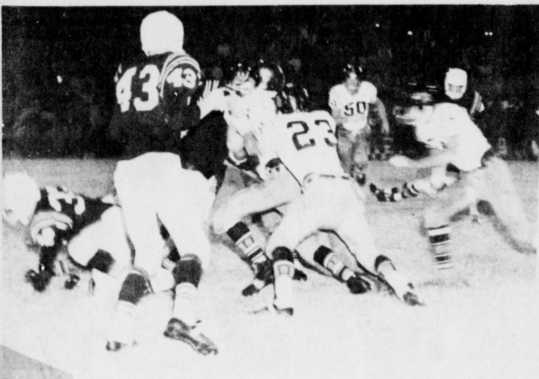

He said that as soon as the sign up is completed the group will meet and form a corporation with a president, vice-president, secretary, etc. After that, the embryo organization will be ready to make its application for FHA funds.

Campbell said there is a "vital need for such housing in Muleshoe, and that most housing authorities predicted the units would be fully occupied for six months out of the year and sufficiently filled during other months to more than pay operating expenses."

"We know that we will provide work in this area for workers all the way from June when cucumbers first start ready for market through late autumn when cotton is gathered. And many of the people who would want to live in the unit

Top West Texas Team Fumbles, Wins Anyway

Dumas Demons, rated as one of the top high school football outfits in Texas, romped on Muleshoe Mules 34-0 in the opening 1-AAA conference game for both teams, but it could have been a lot worse. The Mules had a pretty good brand of defense going, and then the Mules got a lot of breaks -- including such items as pass interception and fumble recovery at times when the Demons had their minds on making additional goals.

The game started off big for the Demons, who rump up their first six points before the battle was two minutes old. Steve Burks did the honors, a pass from Burks to Bonner, having contributed to the goal spree. Marshall Rigdon scored the extra point.

Then, a few minutes later, while the game was still very See MULES on Page 6

MOTEL UNDER WAY - It may take a bit of imagination to see the faint outline, but this is the beginning of a motel-shopping center being built just west of Muleshoe by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shankles. This is the first phase of a $3. million program. This contract calls for an 18 unit motel, office spaces for rent, a coin laundry and a permanent mobile home park. M. E. Lee & Son has the contract. ## Orderly Thieves Sought

Somewhere in this area is a neat thief (or thieves) sitting around with a bunch of radios to listen to, watches to tell time by, smoking a lot of pipes. And, changing his (or their) shirts every few minutes, if they like changing shirts.

"Nothing yet," say officers. "All we know is that he was neat -- or they were neat, very neat."

They were discussing the thief or thieves who broke in the L&H Grocery on American and made off with a lot of items. O. J. Loran, operator of the store which carries just about everything from baby bottles to phonographs, says the same thing. "The men or men who did the job this past week won't have any mud on their shoes. They just aren't that type -- neat, man, very neat!"

Even the boxes from which they took radios, for instance, were neatly slashed away again after the radios were removed. And the cartons which contained the watches were returned to their cases. There wasn't a thing out of place in the whole store.

"I repeat," muses Loran, "they were the most careful burglars who ever burgled a store."

By now, the store owner and officers have about completed checking up on the missing merchandise. "But we can't be for sure," explains the owner, "because there were empty packages that may have been emptied by sales. Like ladies' hose for example; one complete style was stripped, but we may have sold them all out. Who knows?"

Figuring it wholesale, Loran set the loss at $368. But, as he said, it may run higher. "Anyway, quite a lot of stuff was taken," he concluded.

Here's a partial list of items taken by the meticulous robbers:

Twenty-four radios, 16 watches, nine pairs of sunglasses, seven women's billifolds, a supply of pipes, two radio-record player combinations and 10 cartons of cigarettes.

Spooks' Parade Is Set

Spooks, pint-sized, will stalk downtown Muleshoe next Saturday for the annual Halloween parade, and some of the ghouls will receive prizes. It's all a part of the annual Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce Halloween parade, a part of the autumn and winter business promotion program.

They must be in costumes in order to participate in the parade.

Most original, scariest and funniest will receive prizes -- $5 for first, $3 for second and $2 for third for $30 total, offered by the business activities committee of the chamber of commerce.

The parade will start from the Muleshoe State Bank parking lot on First street, but participants must be on the lot by 1:30 in order to be judged, according to Jay Spain, chairman of the event.

The parade itself will start at 2:30 p.m.

Children, in order to participate, must be between the ages of 3 and 13, inclusive. Spain said the judges will be Harmon Elliott, Doc Botkin and Jeff Peeler.

Mrs. Elizabeth Black's art students will paint downtown windows and prizes will be given for the best Halloween picture painted. Up to Saturday, 33 pupils had entered the painting contest alone.

The Halloween parade has become a popular feature of the autumn promotion season, and many stores tout special Halloween merchandise or bargain prices or both as a special feature.

Fewer but Costlier, That's Our Farms

Sometime between 1959 and 1964, Bailey county mis-laid 70 farms.

At least that many disappeared off the census rolls just announced by the United States Department of Agriculture last line. . . .

Value of all farm products sold by farms in the county in 1964, $20,488,581; in 1959, 20,787,154.

Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $16,512,760; while in 1959, is $17,282,392.

Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964 was $9,975,821 and in 1959, was $3,504,762.

Information obtained for the first time in an agricultural census indicated the amount of income received by the county's farmers from recreational sources as well as C-a on the use of pest control chemicals

He's Preached for 25 Years, But Never Before to Whites

Immaculate Conception of Mary Catholic Church here has a new pastor, succeeding the Rev. Clifford Corcoran who's been transferred to Vega.

And, for the new pastor, it's a double first:

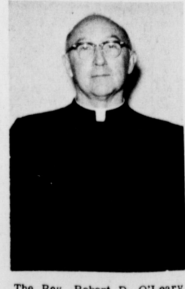

1. This is the first time the Chicago-born father was ever stationed in West Texas -- in Texas for that matter --

2. It's the first time he ever served a white church. He finds both experiences "very interesting."

The new pastor is the Rev. Robert D. O'Leary, born and reared in Chicago. He was graduated from Sacred Heart College, Girard, Pa., and then did his theological work in Vienna, Austria.

But from then until now it's been the deep south, mostly for 25 years serving churches in Mississippi, Chicago, Vienna, Mississippi and New Orleans all have combined to mix

TOPS' News

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) came into being because there was a great need for an organization to help the overweight. Founded in Milwaukee in 1948 by Esther S. Manz, it achieved great success because it has no commercial interests but concerns itself entirely with relief from excess poundage and the study of its underlying causes.

TOPS is a non-profit organization based on the principal of "group therapy." Group therapy in TOPS means getting together a group of people who have a problem in common, discussing it frankly without fear of being laughed at or misunderstood. It is not a "course" of short duration. It is a planned, continuing program dedicated to helping the overweight. TOPS excludes "gimmicks" and "fads". Members get their weight goals and diets from their own doctors. TOPS injects the incentive and inspires the "do it" through friendly fellowship.

Mrs. Manz' theory was first put to the test in January, 1948 when four friends met together around the kitchen table of the Beulah Brinton Recreation Center. From this modest beginning has grown an international organization with 5494 local chapters located in all 50 of the United States, eight Canadian provinces and twelve other foreign countries. Included in the 150,000 members are men, women and children of all ages, creeds and color.

The success of the program can be found among the TOPS who annually shed tons of unwanted weight and reach their ideal weight goals to become KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly). The truest test of the value of the plan is the fact that many members have maintained weight losses which range from ten to more than a hundred pounds.

Those who have struggled unsuccessfully have the earnest concern of TOPS Founder and Board of Directors. This concern has brought about the establishment of the TOPS Club, Inc. Obesity and Metabolic Research Program and a grant for the express purpose of the development and maintenance of a project for the clinical study and research of obesity, metabolic reactions and related problems.

A program of clinical investigation at Evangelical Deaconess Hospital has been made possible through a research grant provided by TOPS Club, Inc. The program has been designed to study certain aspects of obesity over a three year period.

The proposed study will attempt to determine what physical and metabolic variations set the obese individual apart from the non-obese. Among the parameters to be studied in this investigation will be the relationship of glucose tolerance, meal patterns and dietary composition to obesity. In addition, certain physical measurements such as skin-fold thickness and bone-length measurements will be taken to delineate a certain type or types of body habitus in obesity.

The ultimate goal will be the establishment of a weight-reduction regimen which can be applied in the treatment of so-called resistant cases of obesity and, secondarily, the establishment of certain criteria useful in detecting individuals who are not yet obese but may have the predisposition to develop obesity.

Obesity, once considered to be fashionable or a mark of affluence in some societies and even a criterion of good health by some in the past is no longer desirable from any standpoint, either socially or medically. Its unattractiveness and worse, yet, its hazards to health are accepted matters. Yet, despite its undesirability, obesity continues to be a major problem in our society.

It is not that we, as individuals or as physicians, have not been concerned for there is every indication that we have been and still are truly concerned. Medical journals often contain articles referable directly or indirectly to obesity, and one can pick up almost any popular magazine at random and have a better than even chance of finding an article about a "new" or "easy" weight about a "new" or "easy" weight-reduction scheme. Why, then, should it continue to be a major problem?

The answer has been elusive because of the multi-faceted nature of the problem. Although basically there is only one cause of obesity - caloric intake excess of utilization over a period of months or years - it is becoming increasingly apparent that metabolic variations exist among individuals which make some more prone than others to obesity. Thus, beyond the basic cause lie other factors which affect caloric utilization. However, these in turn have raised additional questions and, indeed, there must be some that have yet to be asked.

Several observations have been made which point to the complexity of the problem. Perhaps one of the most intriguing, as an example, is that of a certain individual who suffered a burn on the back of one hand. It was extensive enough to require a skin graft which was obtained from the abdominal wall and successfully transferred to the burned site. However, as the individual gained weight and the abdominal girth increased, the grafted skin also increased in thickness while the surrounding skin remained unaffected. It seems, then, that certain tissues of the body more readily serve as storage sites for excess fat.

More recent studies have yielded other interesting observations. For instance, in a given case, the intake of a certain number of calories distributed over five or six meals per day would result in weight reduction, whereas the same total amount of calories given in one or two meals per day would result in no weight loss or even in weight gain.

Such are the observations that lead to questions as: Is the composition of a diet rather than the total caloric content a more important factor in weight reduction? Do some people become diabetics because they are obese or are they obese because they are potential diabetics? Are people with certain bodily characteristics never prone to obesity, or conversely, are there certain physical traits that would enable some individuals to be singled out as being prone to obesity.

These and other questions that are not yet fully answered, but some clues are now beginning to emerge and the need for continued research in obesity is obvious. It has become all the more important that clinical investigations be conducted in a systematic way to sift through the maze of data, to test the validity of some of these observations and determine their applicability in the management of the obese individual.

School Students Completing Requirements May Register for Scholarship Program

Muleshoe High School students who expect to complete their secondary school requirements and to enter college in 1968 can register now to participate in the 1967-68 National Merit Scholarship Program. Principal Tom Jinks announced today.

The first step for all students who wish to enter the nationwide competition is to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST), which will be given in the school at 9 a.m., Tuesday February 28, 1967.

Participating students pay a $1 fee, which is remitted by the school to Science Research. In addition to competing for the Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1968, students can take the test to obtain information useful in planning their future education and careers.

With his NMQST scores, each participating student will receive a handbook to help him evaluate his scores, compare his performance with that of other high school students across the country, and give him information on choosing a college and financing his education. The handbook and other interpretive materials are furnished as a part of reporting the test results.

The highest scoring students in each state will be named Semifinalists and will be eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration. In addition to the National Merit Scholarships financed by NMQST, more than 350 business corporations, foundations, colleges, professional associations, unions, trusts, and other organizations, and individuals offer scholarships through the Merit Program. About 13,440 students have won Merit Scholarships in the eleven Merit Programs to date. Some 2330 Merit Scholarships were awarded in 1966 with stipends ranging from $100 to $1500 per year for four college years. The amount of a winner's award is determined by assessing the financial assistance he will need to attend the college of his choice.

Forget all of the hogwash about having to conform. No business or other organization wants a mediocre 'yes man' conformer. The demand today, as always, is for the exceptional individual who can learn to read and lead.

Three Way Bop Smyer, 58-12

Tommy Black scored four times at Smyer Friday night as the Three Way Eagles smashed the Smyer Bobcats 58-12, in a District 1-B eight-man contest.

Quarterback James Kindie, ran three yards and Monte Tombs ran 25 yards in the first period to put Three Way ahead, 16-0 after Kindie ran the extra points each time.

Tombs again scored, from 28 yards out, in the second quarter, but Smyer's Anthony Altman scored from one yard away to make it 22-6 at half-time.

Black scored on runs of 8, 70 and 45 yards in the third quarter. Kindie and Gary Gibbs added two points and Mike Lynskey got two more on a pass from Jackie Dupler.

Altman took a 22-yard pass from Mike Newton for another Smyer score in the fourth quarter, making it 46-12, but Black returned with an interception 22 yards, and Billy Dewbre ran six yards for two more Three Way tallies.

Schoolmen Anxious About State's Teacher Shortage

AUSTIN--Anxious and exasperation characterize some of the comments being made by Texas school superintendents about the state's teacher shortage.

The comments were turned up when Texas State Teachers Association conducted a survey of every Texas school district to determine the extent of the shortage.

A number of superintendents jotted down spontaneous "ad lib" on the survey cards which were returned to TSTA for tabulation.

The tabulations showed that with more than 82 percent of the Texas school districts responding, a shortage exists totalling more than 5,400 fully qualified, fully certified teachers.

More than 4,400 of these vacancies are being filled by persons who possess, at the maximum, only temporary teaching certificates.

A superintendent in a small Tarrant County school district said, in reporting nine unfilled positions, "if we were not so close to Fort Worth, we would probably have 20 vacancies."

From West Texas, a superintendent in a district with a relatively good teacher salary schedule, commented that the shortage is the worst he has seen in 18 years.

"Superintendents were predicting this (shortage) five years ago but nobody listened," said the writer on another survey card.

A Gulf Coast area superintendent reported that he had 14 positions filled by not fully qualified persons. And, he added, all 14 are in "critical areas."

The same superintendent said that he had only one vacant position. But he wrote, with apparent foreboding, "four of our men teachers have been reclassified IA for the draft."

Another superintendent commented that he had 18 positions filled by less than fully qualified teachers. He said that he will have even more vacancies when funds for a new program, financed by federal aid money, are received.

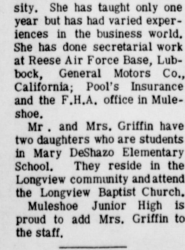

His comments reflected one of the chief causes, behind salaries, for the teacher shortage. Namely, the vast increase in the number of federal programs being undertaken by schools in every corner of Texas. These have placed additional demands on the teacher supply.

The superintendent of a small East Texas school district said he had only 47 teachers in the entire district but that six of them were not fully certified to handle the duties of classroom instruction.

His comment illustrated the plight of hundreds of small rural districts where the teaching force is small and where one or two vacancies creates an emergency situation.

"Please," one rural-area superintendent wrote on his survey card, "help us fill these vacancies."

Wearing a hairpiece, dangling earrings, and a housecoat, a junior slave made quite a picture.

One senior girls was seen wearing coveralls. Kept very busy carrying books and running errands, the slaves had had quite a week.

The going got so rough for one he had to suck a pacifier all day.

Masters of the week seemed all smiles when they were in deep thought on a job for their slaves. The masters are all wearing shining shoes!

The Junior Class made $137.19 on the slave sale. Many thanks to the masters and slaves for making this a successful project. Hasn't it been fun????

Guest Editorial Importance of Viet Nam

By Greg Little

We cannot begin to imagine what our country's men are having to go through in Viet Nam. Other than the constant threat of hidden snipers and savage raid, the men are plagued by disease, booby traps and the jungle.

Although we may not realize it, they are fighting for the thing that most of us take for granted---freedom. Men are actually giving their lives to preserve a heritage that began more than 200 years ago. We in Muleshoe and the United States must remember that if our men were not fighting now, we would not be enjoying the privileges we have today.

A Really Big League

A discussion of what's the matter with today's youth eventually gets around to what's wrong with parents. They're inconsistent, too soft, don't keep track of their children - all this and more is likely to be said about parents.

There are parents to whom these criticisms apply. But what about the other parents who realize the value of discipline, of setting limits, of aiding the immature through application of mature judgment?

Such are the parents league of North Dallas. They don't consider their children "problems," as such. But they realize that, unless parents get together and collectively set standards for their children problems will result.

Right now the league is working with a similar organization in Houston to get the legal driving-age limits raised - to 16 without such training. The members talk about when to allow dating, how to avert smoking, drinking and promiscuous behavior and at which point the parent should step in and bail the adolescent out of a situation his youthful judgment is not ready to handle.

Together they hope to make themselves better parents in order to raise better children who will one day become better citizens with families of their own.

While these conscientious parents deserve the commendations they deserve today, there will soon be a day when the children themselves, will be thanking them, too.

Price Nears, Interest Gains

Politics in Bailey county moved off the back burner where it had been simmering for weeks, and on to the front burner this past week, but the heat is still on "low" despite efforts of office-seekers to whip up lagging interest.

A congressional race seemed to have local interest. Bob Price, the Republican, and Dee Miller, the Democrat, battling it out for votes in the 18th District. Both have visited this county recently, Price appearing for a speech-making visit and dinner recently, and Miller appearing here a bit earlier. Price is a Pampa rancher; Miller is former district attorney in Amarillo.

And interest also was "lukewarm or better" by a veteran net Hughes served first days preceding the program.

Mrs. Jack Riley presided at the business meeting when a change in Article 14, Section 4, in By-laws was made concerning dues. The group will continue dues of $1 for membership.

Mrs. Jim Carpenter gave a report on the membership drive and said 125 are members. Mrs. Alvin Messamore, projects chairman, gave a report on the recent Family Life First Aid course conducted.

Delegated to attend the State Convention in Austin, Nov. 15-18 were named including Mrs. Bob Drake, delegate; 1st and 2nd alternates are Mrs. R. C. Williams, Mrs. B. J. Markham, Mrs. Harold May gave a report on two health projects; the health test for the first and seventh grade students and the mobile chest x-ray program.

The next monthly meeting of the P-TA will be Nov. 8.

The annual Halloween Carnival, sponsored by the local P-TA, will be held Saturday Oct. 29. The queen coronation will be held in the high school auditorium at 6:30 to be followed by the parade of costumes.

Serving on the queen's race committee are Mrs. Jim Carpenter, Mrs. Richard Powell and Mrs. R. C. Williams.

In charge of stage decorations is Mrs. R. L. Kamp, and Mrs. Harold May is chairman of the parade of costumes.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) - They sell grapefruit as big as a bowling ball, luscious ripe oranges with green skins, and fruits and vegetables unknown in the West.

But in Phnom Penh's market area, in the heart of Chinatown, a shopper can also buy American flashlights, ball polish remover, most brands of U.S. soaps, Chinese beer and American cigarettes.

A Chinese urchin offered a large tray of cigarettes, including a king sized package with a sticker saying "U.S. tax exempt for use outside the U.S. Not to be sold. Donated by American Legion Post No. 382 Sanford, North Carolina."

The price to the boy was 25 rils (about 30 cents). Where did the cigarettes come from? Probably from South Viet Nam in the shadowy contaband area common in this part of the world.

About 100,000 Chinese virtually run Phnom Penh's commerce.

"The Cambodian is not a businessman," said one of the rare Cambodians who is one. "He doesn't like to get mixed up in prices. He'd rather smile and let you decide how much to pay."

The Chinese, who represent about a sixth of Phnom Penh's citizens, not only run the markets, hardware shops and many other stores, they also operate a long-line Cambodian bus service, with huge American-made vehicles painted in colors of the Rainbow. The buses lumber in and out of town jammed full with countryfolk.

The Chinese, Cambodians say, are good peaceful citizens, who don't like to get mixed up in international tension in this part of the world. Nor do they seem to have any firmly fixed loyalties to either of the two Chinas.

Pictures of Mao Tse Tung are commonly seen in the shops. "But every Chinese also has a picture of Chiang Kai-shek handy should the wind blow the other way," said an old time resident of Phnom Penh.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) - A Roman Catholic expert on South American affairs says "there is no longer any doubt that birth control will soon come" to that continent.

There has become an urgent necessity as a solution to the problem of population explosion, and is compatible with Catholic doctrine," said the Rev. Roger Vekemans, a Jesuit priest and director of the Center for the Economic and Social Development of Latin America. He told a meeting of South American sociologists that their countries should take steps to supply people with "all information about techniques of birth control."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) - Burglars worked through the early morning hours to pull a safe from a wall at Children's Medical Center, move it to another room and crack it open, technicians of birth control."

LIBRARY News

By Anne Camp, Librarian

Story hour was held Wednesday morning at the library for preschool children, from 10 to 11 a.m. For this story-hour, the Halloween theme was carried out with jack-o-lanterns, skeletons, and ghost and goblin decorations. Two games were played, with Leslie Bryan White winning the first, and Benetta Romo winning the second. The story was the Ghost at Grandfather's Haunted House; which told of how Jimmy overcame his fears, and learned that ghosts just could be afraid of people! The children had special Halloween book-markers as favors, and were served cookies and a plate of mixed goodies. Appreciation goes to Mrs. Johanna Green for her help in serving refreshments. One new guest was present for this story hour, Mark Givens, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Givens. Story hour will be held every 1st and 3rd Wednesday of the month, at the library, and all pre-school children are invited.

The library is grateful for the many memorial gifts that have been received. Some that are ready to be checked out are as follows: Laugh Day by Bennett Cerf; Everything But Money by Sam Levenson; The Big Spenders by Lucius Beebe; *The Green Berets by Robin Moore; *The Detective by Rodrick Thorp; *Comanche by Cliff Farrell; The Naked Runner by Francis Clifford; *Tai-Pan by James Clavel; *Murder International by Agathe Christie; Words to Live By; edited by William Nichols; The Sound of Bells by Eric Sloane; Heloise -- All Around the House; Potluck Cookery by Beverly Pepper; The Time Between the Wars by Jonathan Daniels; Body Dynamics by Gertrude Elnow; European Land Battles 1939-1943 by Trevor Dupuy, Ret. Col. U. S. Army; *Unsafe at Any Speed by Ralph Nader; *Those titles marked * are, or have been on the best-seller lists, nearly all are books published in 1966.

Other than books, the library has received several nice gifts; a large framed world map was given by Mrs. David Anderson, and a call bell was donated by Mrs. Larry Hall. Current news magazines were given by Mrs. Byron Gunter. Everyone is cordially invited to visit the library, and urged to get a bookcard and check out books. The bookcard does not cost a cent, and can be used for an indefinite period. The library is open every afternoon during the week, Monday 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., and on Saturday morning from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Ben Gramling, high school counselor, and O. E. Lumsden, elementary counselor, attended the 10th annual conference of the Texas Personnel and Guidance Association held Oct. 13, 14 and 15 at the Baker Hotel in Dallas. Mayor Erick Jonsson of Dallas welcomed the conferees. The theme of the conference was "A Multidisciplinary Approach to Guidance." Panelists presented views on the nature of man from the standpoint of the psychiatrist, philosopher, sociologist, social scientist, and anthropologist. Principal speaker of the convention was Dr. Herman J. Peters, professor at Ohio State University. Dr. Peters proposed the idea that counselors must become more direct participants in the process of counseling, using the approach that each individual must be made responsible for his actions. Guidance should be based on the assumption that each person has within him "the power to transcend his momentary difficulty and master his environment, not simply just to adjust to it. Dr. Peters said guidance should not be a crisis oriented. It is for the essentially normal, healthy

Two Teachers Here Attend Dallas Session

A doubled population and four times as many towns within the West Texas Tuberculosis Association caused the WTTA today to call for increased numbers of volunteers to help stuff envelopes Thursday, October 27, for the annual Christmas Seal campaign. The Association last year included only Lubbock and Hale county. It was enlarged to 23 counties this year. "Every hour donated can give someone, somewhere better individual to whom we look for tomorrow's leaders. The first general session was Friday morning and group meetings were held on Thursday and Friday afternoons. The banquet was held in the Crystal Ballroom Friday evening. "The Professional Image of the Counselor," "Counselor Preparation Programs in Texas as Seen by Their Products," "A Look at What is Considered a Good School-wide Testing Program," and "Educational Guidance - The Job Done - The Job To Do" were a few of the topics discussed in the action groups. T.P.G.A. membership in Texas now exceeds 1500 and over 1000 members attended the convention.

'Stuffers' Sought By Tubercular Group in Lubbock

The stuffing bee will be held all day at the First Christian Church, 2323 Broadway, in Lubbock, this year. Volunteers are expected from Lubbock and all 23 counties. A beverage will be served those who bring a sack lunch. In addition to Christmas seals each envelope contains educational material concerning the Association's worldwide effort to eradicate TB in an to combat other respiratory diseases, particularly emphysema, asthma and bronchitis. The WTTA mobile x-ray unit, purchased and supported by Christmas seals and other volunteer contributions, is used year 'round in the program. In the first nine months of 1966, the unit disclosed in the 23-county WTTA area, 50 suspected cases of tuberculosis, 139 indications of other chest diseases, and 35 cardio-vascular abnormalities.

Football Spirit Returns

By FRANK ECK
AP Newfeatures Sports Editor

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Football Saturday has always been a special day at West Point. Families spread picnic lunches in parking lots and pretty girls wearing big yellow mums travel hundreds of miles to see the game.

2 Playa Lakes Boost Storage By 84 Acre Feet

"Eighty-four acre feet of water have been stored in the Ogallala formation from the two playa lakes at the High Plains Research Foundation this far in 1966. The water conserved is enough to apply four inches per acre on 253.4 acres," according to Jim Valliant, Soil Scientist, who completed his B. S. in Agricultural Engineering at Texas Technological College.

Five hundred and eighty-one acre feet of surplus lake water from rain and tailwater runoff into the playa lakes have been placed underground through recharge from 1959 to January, 1966. This does not include the 84 acre-feet recharged this year. The 581 acre-feet amount to 27.6 percent of the total amount pumped from all four wells on the Foundation farms during this time.

These artificial recharge wells are multi-purpose. They are (1) an irrigation well, (2) a recharge and drainage well, (3) a lake pump, and (4) a tail-water return system.

Proper installation and proper maintenance are the keys to the success of multi-purpose (recharge) wells. The three major installation factors are (1) an intake control valve, (2) an air vent, and (3) the casing perforated 20 to 30 feet above the static water level.

Proper maintenance consists of these three main phases: (1) Recharging for twenty-two hours and pumping for two hours, (2) recharging water at 85 percent of the pumping rate, and (3) use of the multi-purpose well for irrigation whenever possible -- use this well more than the other wells. Each phase is designed to remove any solids which are placed in the formation and keep the well at peak pumping and recharge capacity.

Grasses and other crops such as hybrid grazers are being studied as a means of clearing water in the playa lakes and to obtain income from an otherwise unprofitable area on the farm.

Results obtained at the Foundation and by many farmers through the use of multi-purpose (recharge) wells indicate that artificial recharge of surplus water can be an immediate means of conserving water and replenishing the groundwater formation in the Texas High Plains, as well as being profitable.

C. H. Janeway, Special Representative of the Foundation, in reporting this interview with Valliant said: "Jim has assisted with many farmers and some irrigation companies as consultant in planning and supervising the installation of multi-purpose (recharge) wells. These wells are located in many communities on the area in addition to the two recharge wells at the Foundation. Some of these locations are Hart, Edmondson, Olton, Littlefield, Lockney, Tulla, Hale Center, Cotton Center and Plainview."

GEN. DONALD V. BENNETT
A Solid Football Fan

When the Cadets go into a huddle, they clap their hands in unison and say "let's go!"

When August football drills began 109 Cadets turned out. This was the largest opening day turnout in years. It was a tribute to Tom Cahill.

And the sophomores he has are well drilled in fundamentals and will be around for two more football seasons.

Cahill has given football back to the Cadets. The Army team is passing twice as much as it did under the days of charming Paul Dietzel. And Cahill, to show the faith he has in his talent, is permitting two sophomores, Steve Lindell and Jim O'Toole, to do the pitching. Lindell does everything, including extra point and field goal kicking.

And sure handed Terry Steele, a 6-foot sophomore who is Army's first, second, football player, and junior Terry Young are two fine ends who could make any college team in the country. Young per the idea Army belongs among the nation's top 10. But next year and the year after, the Cadets will really be rolling. An exciting football spirit has returned to the Point.

UF Campaign Makes Progress

United Fund in the Muleshoe area, smack in the middle of its 1966 season, is making progress, says U.F. President Robert Alford with four of the kick-off gatherings already held.

John Shelton, campaign chairman, said Saturday that the Employees division held a successful kick-off Wednesday. Curtis Walker is chairman of that division.

Fifteen Girl Scouts will be aiding in this phase of the contest, according to Kenneth Henry, publicity chairman for the 1966 campaign.

Attending the Wednesday luncheon were Nellene Morris, Mrs. L. A. Harper, Bessie Vinson, Lorraine Dearing, Bettie Dearing, Eddie Mae Weeks, Melba King, Johnny Shelton, Marlene St. Clair, Norma Clodfelter, Bob Stovall, Bob Janca, Becky Gralla, Curtis Walker, Robert Walker, Jessica Hall and Kenneth Henry.

JAPANESE APPEAL

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's United Church of Christ, a merged body including Congregationalists, Methodists, Presbyterians and Reformed Christians, has issued an appeal to President Johnson for a halt to the bombing of North Viet Nam.

These bombings near Hanoi and Haiphong, the Japanese church said, have "trampled under" the desires for peace "of not only the intelligent and well-thinking people in Japan but of all Asia."

$12.2 Million Budget Due For Adoption by Baptists

A church-state committee's report and the adoption of a $12,225,000 budget will highlight the annual meeting of the 1.8 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas next month in Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

Approximately 3500 elected messengers representing about 1500 of the BCGT's 4000 churches will attend the convention which begins at 6:45 p.m. Nov. 1 and concludes Nov. 3 at 9:30 a.m.

Capacity crowds of 12,000 are expected for every session.

Featured speakers for the convention are J. Carroll Chadwick, president and pastor of the First Baptist Church in Center; James Coggin, pastor of the Travis Avenue Baptist Church, Fort Worth, E. S. James, outgoing editor of the Baptist Standard, M. O. Rouse, a Dallas physician and recently elected president of the American Medical Association; and Franklin Paschall, president of the Southern Baptist Convention and pastor of First Baptist Church, Nashville, Tenn.

The church-state report Thursday at 2:50 p.m. is expected to produce some verbal reaction. Controversy has been raging for several years as to whether Baptist institutions should accept federal aid.

Most of the controversy has centered around the BCGT's colleges and universities which will receive $2,041,502 of the total 1967 budget. Baylor University in Waco will receive $488,846; Baylor Dental College in Dallas, $132,545; Baylor Medical College in Houston, $127,504; Baylor Nursing School in Dallas, $14,485; Dallas Baptist College, $164,319; East Texas Baptist College, in Marshall, $134,175; Hardin Simmons University in Abilene, $106,370; Houston Baptist College, $140,355; Howard Payne College in Brownwood, $169,802; Mary Hardin Baptist College in Belton, $138,782; University of Corpus Christi, $127,098; Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, $139,757; and San Marcos Baptist Academy, $66,504.

The BCGT Also provides Baptist Student Unions and directors for state colleges and universities. The convention also provides $464,455 for this phase of its operation.

A special gift of $30,000 has been allocated for Bishop College, a Negro school in Dallas.

Where have the LEAVES Gone?

Trees without their leaves, are like a Church building without the people. The real warmth, friendliness, and welcome atmosphere are created by the people. All of these things are a real aid to worship.

"Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name; worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness."

Come, be one among many to share in the joy of worshipping in the Lord's house this Sunday.
