FD's Proposal Accepted, Coal Mines To Re-Open

Month-Old Deadlock Broken, Fuel Supplies Will Be Replenished

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—The United Mine Workers union announced today that soft coal production would be resumed Thursday morning in the nation's bituminous fields shut down since April 1 in a dispute over a new wage contract.

The announcement was made by a spokesman for union President John L. Lewis after he had discussed with his district presidents in the Appalachian coal area the decision of southern producers last night to accept President Roosevelt's proposal to reopen the mines.

Argues—Bush-browed John L. Lewis, president of United Mine Workers, Monday carried his arguments in the soft coal labor dispute before a senate committee investigating defense strikes. The eight-state Appalachian region, which has been closed because of the dispute for nearly a month, will re-open Thursday.

Omnibus Tax Bill Passed By Senate

AUSTIN, April 29. (AP)—The Texas house cleared its decks today for an attempt to concur in senate amendments to the $23,000,000 general tax bill. Concurrent action would complete legislative action.

AUSTIN, April 29. (AP)—The goal of new revenue to bolster the state's finances, toward which the legislature long had been wading over a tumultuous route, was sharply in focus today.

Climaxing grueling days of labor and feverish debate, the senate late yesterday passed finally an omnibus tax bill estimated to yield approximately $23,000,000 annually.

Recently the house of representatives approved a similar measure estimated to provide about $25,500,000.

Since both legislative branches had passed a bill, two courses remained by which it could become law.

The house could accept the senate measure, which was in the form of an amendment to the house bill; or it could refuse to accept the senate bill and request a conference committee, which would be granted.

The conference committee would work out a compromise, which, if approved by both houses and signed by the governor, would be law.

The senate bill provided for approximately 20 levels of Texas business, industries and occupations, some of a very complex nature.

As finally approved, the senate version set up the following tax schedule:

Oil—4 cents and 4 per cent a barrel, plus a 10 per cent of difference between present and proposed.

Ferguson, Patman 'Feeling Out' The Senatorial Race

AUSTIN, April 29. (AP)—"Farmer Jim" Ferguson today began taking the political pulse of the people to see whether he would run for the United States senate.

He suggested that the voters send him a letter or postcard if they liked the things he stood for, commenting with a smile that it was now a popular process to sample public sentiment in that manner.

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—Representative Patman (D-Tex) said today he would decide in a few days whether to enter the special Texas senatorial election.

Patman's statement said he had received many requests that he enter the June 26 election and that he had replied he did not expect to run "because of the tremendous sum involved."

Eleemosynary Probe Ordered By House

AUSTIN, April 29. (AP)—By overwhelming vote, the Texas house today ordered an investigation of the state's eleemosynary institutions, directing a five-man committee to give special attention to ascertained mistreatment of inmates.

A resolution by Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi, authorizing the committee to study conditions at the 21 institutions scattered about the state, was approved, 123 to 13.

The action was a direct result of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's recent recommendation for legislation that would make the eleemosynary system "human" instead of bestial.

The veteran Rep. E. J. Isaacs of El Paso urged adoption of the resolution.

The soft coal mines in the eight state Appalachian area and outlying districts produce approximately 11,000,000 tons a week.

The break in the coal wage controversy which has kept the mines shut since April 1 came late last night when Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced that the southern operators had accepted a proposal by the president to reopen the southern mines and negotiate a wage agreement with the UMW on a retroactive basis to the date of resumption.

The decision of the southern operators to put a $1 a day wage boost into effect at once—raising the southern rate from $5.50 to $6.50—provided a surprise to most of the mine union officials since the president had not asked for any wage change in his back-to-work proposal a week ago.

Work Order On Airport Is Authorized

CAA Gives The Go-Ahead Sign For WPA To Act

The Civil Aeronautics Administration authorized state officials of the Works Progress Administration Tuesday to issue work order on the Big Spring municipal airport project.

S. E. (Ed) Travis, regional CAA airport engineer at Fort Worth, notified city officials that he had given the go ahead sign, on which WPA was waiting before issuing the work order.

The project had been set up for a total of $740,000, including $150,000 posted by the CAA, $25,000 in hand purchasing and around $22,000 in materials and supplies left over from a previously approved but incomplete airport project. The balance comes from WPA.

At the same time Travis gave notice of approval for the project, which enjoys a national defense status, B. J. McDaniel, city engineer, announced arrival of 4.5 miles of wolf-proof fencing for use in enclosing the enlarged port area. It was first material received for the big job.

E. V. Spence, city manager, said that there were several minor matters to be ironed out in connection with the port project, but none of them were of such a nature to prevent start of the work. The last obstacle in the way of beginning operations was removed Monday when Art Wintolser, port manager, voluntarily cancelled his lease agreement in order to submit a new one with CAA approval. This was necessary for a certificate of title.

Plans call for installation of seven runways on the port, each of them 5,450 feet in length and to be based and surfaced. Besides the fencing, the port will be studded with border lights and will have contact lights along runways for night landings. Also provided are beacon light facilities.

Extensive drainage structures will be installed to prevent erosion and guard against underground moisture undermining landing surfaces.

WPA previously was reported to have made bid surveys on materials and heavy equipment to be used in rushing the work. All equipment on the job will be handled through the federal agency.

Test holes for a caliche pit were started Tuesday morning, said McDaniel, in order to locate adequate supplies of the base material for runways.

While not connected with the port project proper, the National Youth Administration was making progress on the construction of a new terminal building to be located on the east side of the field. Around 4,000 brick, or about 25 per cent of the supply needed, have been turned out by 35 NYA workers, said the engineer. The brick are bitudobe.

JIMMY ROOSEVELT ARRIVES IN CHINA

CHUNGKING, China, April 29. (AP)—Capt. James Roosevelt of the United States marines arrived by plane today accompanied by Major Gerald C. Thomas for conferences with government leaders and announced they would go from here to Cairo to observe the British-African campaign.

Roosevelt later told newsmen he hopes to observe the African campaign as far as Ethiopia.

He said rumors that he came to Chungking as an adviser were "entirely false; I came here to learn."

The United States attitude toward China, he asserted, could be described best by the phrase: "We won't let our friends down."

Boy Scouts, cooperating in a local safety week program, Monday afternoon recorded 1,080 specific traffic infractions in a two-hour period.

The boys, members of troop No. 5, made their counts at 15 intersections, most of them downtown. In addition to those counted, there were approximately 200 other instances of unsafe driving practices which did not constitute an infraction of the rules, said Stanley A. Mate, field scout executive.

Spending as nearly as the scouts could estimate the rate of travel for passing cars, was the most common offense. They counted 248 offenders in this class. Jay-walking was next with 233 counted. Third in number was the practice of turning right on red lights without coming to a full stop. No less than 211 were guilty of this during the two-hour period.

Other infractions counted were: Parking in restricted areas, 18; running red light, 80; parking in alley, six; parking at fire hydrant, four; double parking, 20; turning in mid-

Greek Campaign Ending; Dover Is Heavily Shelled

Coastal Guns In Heaviest Action Yet

London Claims Damage To 'Hell's Corner' Light

DOVER, April 29. (AP)—For nearly six hours today German guns on the French coast shelled the Dover area—the heaviest such cross-channel action of the war and the sort to be expected with any invasion attempt.

(Berlin reported a speedboat attack on that section of the English coast, apparently timed to coincide with the shelling.)

British guns replied, making it a mammoth duel across some 20 miles of water, and the RAF dropped out to blast at the Nazi emplacements.

The British press association reported at 3:09 p. m. (9:59 a. m. EST) that the shelling had stopped and added that damage to that southeastern corner of England—long known as "Hell's Corner"—was negligible, confined to cottages.

After the Germans had fired single shells for three hours they stepped up the barrage, using four-gun and six-gun salvos at intervals of about three minutes, then narrowed the time to one minute.

Flashes and columns of smoke spiraling upward across the sunlit channel showed the Germans' Calais batteries were delivering the attack. Calais is about 21 miles across the channel from Dover.

The shelling continued without let-up after it had been in progress for nearly four hours. The last previous heaviest daylight bombardment of Dover was last fall.

The German shelling had been in progress nearly two hours at 10 a. m. (4 a. m. EST).

The bombardment developed into the most sustained cross-channel shelling so far this year.

All entrances into Dover were marked by yellow notice boards bearing the warning: "Shelling in progress—take cover."

Most of the German shells were of a high explosive type which burst in mid-air with terrific flashes, scattering heavy metal splinters on a wide area with each burst.

He Quits—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh wrote President Roosevelt Monday resigning his commission as a reserve officer in the U. S. army air corps and today the resignation was accepted. Here Lindbergh is pictured in uniform and in mufti.

Lindbergh's Resignation Accepted; New Rebuke From White House

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—The war department announced today that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's resignation as a reserve air corps officer had been accepted.

The famous flier had written President Roosevelt he was tendering his resignation because the president's comments on him at a press conference last Friday left "no honorable alternative."

While it has been the war department's policy not to accept resignations from reserve officers during the emergency period, Secretary Stimson possessed "discretionary power to act favorably or unfavorably on it."

In the conference the president compared the flier and other persons who predicted defeat of Britain by Germany to the copperheads of the Civil war. The term was applied to northerners who believed the Union army incapable of victory.

Stephen Early, a presidential secretary, commented that Lindbergh's resignation "leads me to wonder if he is returning his decoration to Mr. Hitler."

Early referred to an honorary award for service to aviation given Lindbergh on a visit to Germany several years ago.

The White House official also was sharp-spoken in saying that Lindbergh had released a letter to President Roosevelt for publication before it was received at the White House. Twice, he said, Lindbergh has followed that procedure.

Lindbergh gave out the letter yesterday in New York, notifying the president he was resigning his commission in the air corps reserve because of implications which he said the chief executive had made concerning his loyalty, character and motives.

The resignation followed a press conference discussion in which Mr. Roosevelt had classified the famous flier with Civil and Revolutionary war appeasers.

Price Fixing Plan Under Discussion

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—The administration is considering the possibility of asking for legislation to provide power for price fixing, the house disclosed today, coincident with a conference between President Roosevelt and Leon Henderson on that topic.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said Henderson, the price stabilization official of the defense set up, was calling on Mr. Roosevelt to go over the question of legislation. He said, however, that Henderson might not yet be ready to discuss it.

H-SU Inaugurates A New President

ABILENE, April 29. (AP)—Dr. William Richardson White will be inaugurated as the seventh president of Hardin-Simmons university here this afternoon in the climactic event of the university's golden jubilee year.

President White will be formally installed by J. D. Sandefur, Jr., of Breckenridge, president of the board of trustees and son of the late Dr. Jefferson Davis Sandefur, predecessor to President White.

Representatives of 75 colleges and universities will appear in the procession preceding the inaugural program. Dr. George W. Truett, Dallas, will address the gathering preceding the addresses of Sandefur and Dr. White.

Nazis Push On To Britons' Escape Ports

Isle Of Crete May Be Next Target Of Hitler Machine

BERLIN, April 29. (AP) Informed sources said tonight that German troops were "approaching the last harbors in extreme southern and southwestern Greece."

These harbors were described as the only ones available for removing the remainder of the British and Greek forces still fighting in Greece.

The high command had said only that the Germans were reaching into the southern half of the Peloponnese in their pursuit of the allies.

These informed quarters said that the British had been embarking on sailing ships and other small vessels—even fishing boats—in their flight to Crete, about 75 miles away.

"Numerous sailing ships on the strand and during passage were bombed and machine-gunned," they said.

"Many were sunk and others were damaged and rendered unseaworthy. The Dunkerque episode was repeated."

By all indications, Crete, Greece's largest island and now seat of her government and base for the British, is next in line for attack after the mainland mop-up.

The "mopping up," today's commentators said, had progressed beyond Tripolis in the heart of the Peloponnese.

While Nazi land forces were in hot pursuit of the allies, the high command said, the Luftwaffe's five ships aggregating 15,000 tons and damaged a number of smaller vessels in Greek waters yesterday in a relentless effort to cut off escape of the British expeditionary force.

In North Africa, the high command said, "new and considerable losses" have been inflicted on the British by axis forces driving into imperial lines in the Salum region of Egypt, just across from the Libyan border.

Luftwaffe raids on Malta last night, it asserted, resulted in a direct hit amidships on a British cruiser of the Southampton class with a heavy-caliber bomb. A merchant ship and an oil depot were reported set afire.

Texas Debt 734 Million

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—Texas' gross public debt—state and local—was $734,494,900 on June 30, 1940, or $114.49 per capita.

For the years 1940, 1932 and 1922, respectively, the commerce department gave out this public debt figures—gross, state and local (amounts in thousands of dollars):

Table with 2 columns: Year, Debt (thousands of dollars). Rows: 1940 (734,494.9), 1932 (574,609.3), 1922 (24,137.0).

It listed the per capita gross debt for 1940 and 1932, respectively, and the percentage of change as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Per capita debt. Rows: 1940 ($114.49), 1932 ($87.14), 1922 ($3.76).

Only four states were listed with a per capita debt of less than $50. They were Kentucky, $47.81; Wisconsin, $48.22; Georgia, $48.39 and Indiana, $48.88.

Those with more than $500 per capita debt were: New York, $391.91; New Jersey, $292.37; Rhode Island, $261.92; Florida, $223.3; and California, $222.78.

CCC Admission Is Made Easier

Requirements for admission to the CCC have been relaxed under a new ruling announced today by the department of public welfare office here.

Effective May 1, former CCC youths who have been honorably discharged and are otherwise eligible and who have been out of camp for three months may re-enroll. Formerly, they were required to be out of camp for six months.

The CCC now accepts all youths 17 to 23 1/2 years of age who is out of school and unemployed, regardless of whether his parents are on his and who have been out of camp for three months may re-enroll. Formerly, they were required to be out of camp for six months.

BEWARE OF WORMS

Inside you or your child
 Do you know that roundworms can cause great distress? And they are so easy to catch that thousands of grown-ups and children have these bowel worms without even recognizing the symptoms.

So watch out for these signs: Fidgeting, itchy nose and seat, uneasy stomach, restlessness, loss of appetite, dizziness, get Jayer's Vermifuge to drive them out before they can get set and cause trouble.

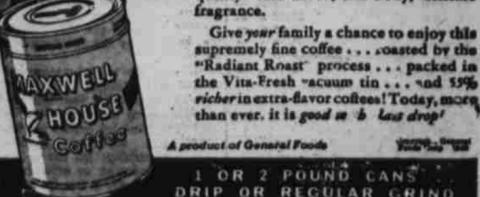

Jayer's is America's leading proprietary worm medicine. Used by millions, for over a century, it is the standard wormer, yet acts very gently. When no worms are there, it works just as a mild laxative. Try Jayer's Ask for Jayer's Vermifuge! At all drug stores.

Pitman's Jewelry and Gift Shop Convenient Payments

All Is Not SOLD That Glitters

Rows of glittering trinkets—and yet you pass them by, wisely refuse to buy from hawkers, peddlers, hide-away salesmen.

Why?

Because, like all smart shoppers, you prefer to know the goods you purchase. You insist on knowing the name of the merchant behind his wares, the attitude and personality of the store that sells them to you.

In your daily newspaper, you get these vital shopping-facts. Here, in these pages, the stores tell you exactly what they have. Here you can select ahead of time without stepping out of your front door. Here the merchant's signature in each advertisement assures you that the goods you buy will be exactly as advertised.

That is why clever budget-keepers shop in the newspapers first—discover where they can get what they want, and buy without the costly danger of fraud. You, too, can enjoy this saving of time and money. Look in your newspaper now!

National Debt Of 90 Billions Forecast By Jesse Jones

People Face Sacrifices, He Warns

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — Jesse Jones forecast today that the national debt would mount to at least $90,000,000,000, and declared "we have not yet made any sacrifices."

"But they are in store for us, plenty of them," the secretary of commerce added in an address prepared for the annual convention of the United States chamber of commerce.

"A few months ago we were worrying about whether we could afford to increase government borrowing authority above $45,000,000,000," Jones recalled. "It seems probable now that it will grow at least double that amount, even allowing for paying as much of this extraordinary cost as our economy can stand from current taxes."

"Frankly, it has never occurred to me that we could not carry a national debt equal to a year's income, and as we build the national income we can carry more debt."

"But whatever amount we have to borrow, we must commence to pay back the day the emergency is over."

The cabinet official declared that "much more" money will be appropriated for national defense within the next four years, and pointed out that the cost of maintaining the army and navy will mount as the organizations are expanded.

At another point in his address, the Texan cited an estimate that "one-fourth of the normal manpower working hours will be required to produce and manufacture things necessary to the defense program."

The United States chamber was expected today to endorse an emergency federal fiscal policy of greatly increased taxes, drastic economies in non-defense expenditures, and sale of government bonds direct to the public, where possible, instead of to banks.

Although informed officials forecast that the statement of the chamber's attitude on taxation would be phrased in general terms, they indicated that it would give substantial, though indirect, support to the treasury's plan to raise at least $3,600,000,000 in new bonds by boosting income and excise rates and adding a variety of new levies.

Cattle Brands Record History Of Ranching In West Texas

By RAY DAVIDSON
Recording ranching history of the past 60 years are the cattle brands registration books of the Howard county clerk.

From the county's founding, the symbols that have added much to history of the west have been written in these volumes. Two books have been filled and a third is in use.

Trend at present seems to be toward an increasing number of brands. During the early history of the county many well-known marks were listed in the public records, but with the coming of the plow, less brands were recorded. Now, with the trend swinging away from cotton and back to cattle, more brands are again going on record.

Brand number 1 on record here is that registered by J. J. Meek of Big Spring on August 28, 1882—the year of the county's organization. It was described as the 7M marking, on the left shoulder or side, and the same on the left hip or thigh. Ears were marked with notches out of the upper corner of each.

Meek also registered a brand for horses in October of the same year—the same 7M, this time placed on the left thigh or hip only.

Second brand was that of J. R. Hilburn, also put on record Aug. 28, 1882. It was a JF, run together so that the straight bar of the J formed the straight part of the F, with a crescent over all. This was placed on the hip and the side. The left ear was clipped off entirely across the end, then notched on the lower corner. The right ear was slit.

F. V. Hilburn on the same day registered the same ear markings. The same crescent-JF was burned on the hip, but an FV was also placed on the side. S. E. Hilburn the same day registered the crescent-JF for hip marking and the same ear marks.

On September 16, 1882, W. F. Baze of Big Spring registered the crescent-T, to be burned on both hips. His cattle had the left ear lip cut away and a nick cut from the bottom of the right ear. May Baze's brand, recorded the same day, had an MA on the left side with the same ear markings as W. F. Baze. Also recorded the same day was the Jane Baze brand—a JC on the left side, a G on the left hip, and each ear nicked at top, bottom and end.

Old brands showed considerable more elaborateness than those of today, both in burned designs and ear markings. Then, the brand was designed to make alteration difficult. Today, rusting and alteration is not so much feared, and cowhides are more valuable. Since a minimum of burning leaves the hides in better condition, today's brands are comparatively simple.

Among the more recently-recorded brands here, all registered in 1941, are:

Model Residence Here Inspected

First inspection of the Cameron-built "Texan" home under construction at 709 W. 17th street has been completed by the official FHA inspector. This home is being built by Wm. Cameron & Co., in accordance with all FHA requirements and will be financed by the FHA plan so that it can be bought for less than one dollar per day.

The "Texan" will be completed in time to be open for public inspection during the week which the governor has proclaimed as "Texas Home Building Week" said W. S. Crook, manager of Cameron's building material store here. "State officials, FHA officials, and all branches of the building industry in Texas are wholeheartedly co-operating to make this home building week one long to be remembered throughout Texas."

The inspection was made by H. L. Willford of Lubbock, architectural inspector of the FHA. The purpose of the inspection was to make certain that the house is being built in accordance with the plans and specifications, which had received FHA approval before construction was started.

THEY MET IN ARGENTINA

A brief peep at some of the scenes in the forthcoming RKO production starring Maureen O'Hara and James Ellison, with an outstanding supporting cast.

James Ellison, a visiting North American businessman, meets Maureen O'Hara, a tempestuous Argentine heiress.

Meet Robert Barrett, Maureen's father; his majordomo, Joseph Buloff; and Jane Patten. The horse in the background motivates the whole story.

Alberto Villa, suitor for Maureen's hand, joins Barrett and Miss O'Hara at a party at the Jockey Club.

Buddy Ebsen returns to the Hollywood scene with a knockout comedy role. Diana Costello is with him.

Jimmy's romance blooms under the Argentine moon... but he runs into plenty of trouble before the final climax.

Max Factor's HOLLYWOOD Glamour Hints

How perfect, beautiful, or glamorous an appearance do you achieve with make-up?

If you don't know the answer to this question, I suggest that you ask yourself all the questions which are to follow, and answer them honestly. The answers will serve to call to your attention the beauty-accentuating, glamour-creating, and flaw-correcting measures which are most frequently needed.

1. Are you generally pleased with your facial reflection in the mirror, or are there imperfect features about it which immediately attract your attention?

2. Do your neck and ear areas reflect the same careful make-up grooming that is apparent on your face?

3. Are your teeth free from unattractive stains?

4. Are your eyebrows symmetrical, well cared-for arches, or merely unkempt patches of hair which happen to be sprawling about above your eyes?

5. Is your hair sweetly clean and attractively lustrous? Is your coiffure pattern an attractive frame for your own individual facial contours? And do you use your hairbrush as regularly as you should?

6. Do you keep the skin on your hands soft and clear? Is your nail enamel free of unsightly breaks?

7. Has your face powder application been brushed smooth? Do you blend your rouge to a soft, natural bluish effect? Do you remove any surplus lipstick from your lips after applying lipstick?

If you can answer all of the above questions in the affirmative, you need not worry about the perfection of your made-up appearance; it will be as gloriously perfect, from a make-up standpoint, as those of Claudette Colbert, Myrna Loy, Greta Garbo, or any other of the famous beauties of filmdom. But, if some of your honest answers are negative ones, take the indicated grooming measures.

EXCLUSIVELY YOURS: First it was the Hollywood sweater girls and now it's the infants who are giving Boys Office censors sleepless nights. A sequence in the new Dr. Kiddie picture at M-G-M calls for a group of fathers being taught how to properly bathe their babies. The studio wanted to film the scene with the babies unclothed — as all babies are bathed — yet using the camera with judicious care. But the censors, after considerable deliberation, shook their heads and ordered diapers for every baby. . . . Vivian Leigh, who won fame and fortune as Scarlett O'Hara, is earning only $20 a week as an army entertainer in London. At least that's the rate of pay which she turns over to charity.

"What a life I'm leading," waxes Milton Davis, "working all day in 'Sun Valley' and sitting up all night hitting soda for Jimmy Stewart."

Movie producers will be interested in the script's description of John Barrymore, who plays a movie producer in "World Premiera." It says: "He is a movie producer extraordinary, genius of the cinema, giant of entertainment — in other words, a screwball with a phobia for being somebody every 15 minutes."

Gloria Swanson's wardrobe for her role in RKO's "Father Takes a Wife" includes, of all things, three pairs of slacks. Remember when she was hailed as the world's best dressed woman? . . . It's odd that the role of "Belle Starr," the West's only feminine outlaw, is being portrayed by Gene Tierney, an Eastern socialite. . . . Walt Disney is giving Mickey Mouse a rival — Timothy Mouse — in his feature-length elephant story, "Dumbo." . . . Freddie Bartholomew and Jane Withers are still having dates together. . . . Big Boy Williams, who stops at nothing except Lapsa Veloz, has agreed to participate in a four-horse Roman chariot race at the Newhall-Saugus rodeo April 26-27. . . . Lana Turner is now a platinum blonde.

Talking about the Boys Office ban on sweaters for film glamour girls, Eddie Knopf said: "That's not a job for the censors. That's a surgical operation."

Symbolical note on the call sheet for "The Man with a Shovel": "Please have ditch dug for WPA workers." Even in the movies WPA workers take life easy.

Warners' request for the navy to help cast a "Floradora" girl scented in "Navy Blues" brought a quick reply from the U.S.S. Texas. Six sailors posed for a picture with their trousers rolled above their knees, and sent it to the studio with a note, "Won't we do?" . . . Brian Aherne's doctor has ordered him to the desert to alleviate a sinus condition. . . . Wallace Beery acquires a wife, Marjorie Main, for the first time in several pictures, in "Waterfront." It's also the picture in which Shirley Temple returns to the screen. . . . The Stuart Palmers (he's the mystery story writer and scenarist) are expecting the stock early next month. . . . George Raft is asking $10,000 a week for a South American night club appearance.

Following the usual Hollywood custom, Frances Farmer and one-time husband Leif Erikson visit each other on the sets at Paramount. They're working on adjoining stages.

Add Easter fashion tips: Barbara Stanwyck wearing a real tangerine as a suit lapel decoration.

After acting like a normal human in New York, Greta Garbo is back to hiding on the floor of her limousine and yelling her face around Hollywood. Silly. . . . And here's a silly making the rounds about a mouse who went around telling other mice: "Come on up to my house. I've got the biggest piece of cheese you've ever seen. Bring your friends." All the mice accepted the invitation, told their friends and pretty soon hundreds of them arrived at the house of the mouse with the big piece of cheese. It was the biggest piece of cheese any of them had ever seen. They ate and ate for hours and finally one mouse turned to another, pointed to their host and said: "Who is that mouse anyway?" "Oh, haven't you heard?" said the second mouse, "that's Rex St. Cyr."

KEN MORGAN'S . . . HOLLYWOOD KEYMOLE

Martha (Let's Have Some Laughs) Raye is back in town. A successful Broadway show and an extended personal appearance tour have made her ripe pickings for the movies again, and she starts soon at Warners in "Navy Blues." Most of her personals were done in Florida, however, the reason being the handsome gent who got off the train with her in Los Angeles. His name's Neal Lang, and he gave up a lucrative hotel business in Florida to be with Martha. We'll soon be hearing the peal of bells, for the pair are already house-hunting in Brentwood. I wonder how he'll be able to take those sudden four-o'clock parties which descend on Martha's domicile, with "Laughs" waking from a sound sleep to put on a floor show for the unannounced guests?

Mary Martin is in business today at Paramount. Scads of copy has been written about her climb to the top, but a generous guy is very seldom mentioned in the stories. He's Dr. Stetson Humphries, her vocal coach for years, who housed her, fed her, and coached her during the dark and lean years. But, unlike several of our stars of today, Mary still swears by him; Mrs. Humphries stands by at all her broadcasts and the studio casting offices are heckled by a beautiful agent who brings in every prospect the good doctor finds. I just thought you'd like to know this story because Mary keeps it a secret and it is worth passing on to you.

Deanna Durbin and Vaughn Paul have mixed all publicity on their honeymoon. Photographers and reporters will descend on their wedding like an avalanche, but the boys have promised to lay off after the "I do's." The pair won't tell their plans after the ceremony, but I'll wager that the Hawaiian tan will be becoming.

Plenty of type has been spilled telling the tidings that Alice Faye, whose divorce from Tony Martin has just become final, will altar-march with bandman Phil Harris. Don't hold your breath till it happens. Alice likes fun and she likes Phil — but that's about the limit. I just received a note from a guy who is now in the army, but is still interested in her career. And I think she still thinks of Sandy Cummings, too.

RAMBLINGS: Odds are being offered by bookies on who will be the first to 100 per cent the Earl Carroll line-up of "the most beautiful girls in the world" — Franchot Tone or Eddie Norris? . . . Mickey Rooney says he will marry Linda Darnell, but they will have to wait a few months so they will be more matured. . . . The cutest pair in town, Bonita Granville and Jackie Cooper, are waiting only for parental blessing. . . . Artie Shaw is giving up his band again — but not for pictures — he's interested in a peace movement. . . . Art Jarrett, once wed to Eleanor Holm, has taken over the late Hal Kemp's band. . . . Marsha Hunt leaves shortly for South America on M-G-M's good-will idea. . . . Hot-test romance in town is Stirling Hayden and Kay Aldrich. . . . Bonnie Baker gets a month's leave from Orrin Tucker's band, for an appendectomy. . . . Bunny Hartley, New York model now under contract to 20th-Fox, is seeing Hollywood on the arm of Bob Oliver. . . . Joel McCrea is now in the business of producing — he just formed a company with Rowland Brown, who authored "A Star Is Born." . . . Betty Grable, Tony Martin, Lana Turner, and George Raft will introduce a new dance this week at the Palladium — it's called "Trumpin'" and was concocted by Arthur Murray, who brought over the "Lambeth Walk." . . . Mary Brian is hitting Ciro's with regularity in the company of young Robert Sterling, promising M-G-M, though.

Lovely, petite Ann Shirley shows us something new in swim suits. Ann's current film is "West Point Widow," with Richard Carlson.

JOE FISHER'S Reviews of Previews

The outstanding picture of the week was M-G-M's "ZIEGFELD GIRL," starring James Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, and Lana Turner, with a supporting cast of more stars and girls . . . girls . . . girls!!

A captious critic might say that this lusty, spectacular opus is a bit too long, but Florenz Ziegfeld made a fortune out of similar entertainment, and your reviewer never heard any complaints from the tired businessmen who sought relaxation in "The Follies" as to the show being too long.

The story is really a trilogy: three interrelated stories. Two are success stories. One is dire tragedy.

For Lana Turner, this is her greatest role and she plays it with a sense of deep understanding, the while exquisitely beautiful.

Jimmy Stewart's role is another of those naturals which he takes in full stride, and Judy Garland again demonstrates her ability to sell a song. Her "Minnie From Trinidad" number is a knockout, and her rendition of that old favorite, "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," is sensational. Hedy Lamarr adds beauty, grace and a charm that fits well with her rather passive role. Featured players are legion, with Tony Martin, Jackie Cooper, Ian Hunter, Charlie Winninger, Edward Everett Horton, Philip Dorn and Paul Kelly each contributing to the full.

The girls are gorgeously eye-filling, costumed and gowned to a point where "Ziggie" himself would have looked twice, and Busby Berkeley has done a fine job of dance direction.

All in all, "ZIEGFELD GIRL" is a lavish extravaganza that should please one and all and bring many, many dollars to the coffers of the big Culver City plant whose executives had the courage in these days of falling markets to spend money without stint and produce this typically American film musical.

Monogram Pictures previewed the latest in horror films, "THE INVISIBLE GHOST," with Bela Lugosi as the chill-maker. It's all ghostly enough for the most rabid thrill-seeker, and chock full of good performances by all members of a well-balanced cast headed by Polly Ann Young . . . Loretta's sister to you. If you go in for this type of film . . . and your reviewer loves 'em . . . I'm sure you'll enjoy "THE INVISIBLE GHOST." It's on your own head, however, if you take the children.

Columbia Pictures previewed "PENNY SERENADE" with Irene Dunne and Cary Grant in the leads. It's a homey film, the high spot of which is an earthquake sequence. Comedy by Edgar Buchanan is tops. Director George Stevens, who also produced the film, succeeds in blending Buchanan's comedy with the fine acting of Grant and Irene Dunne, while six-year-old Eva Kunney steals every scene she appears in. If you like babies and films about them, by all means see "PENNY SERENADE."

From M-G-M also this week came "WASHINGTON MELODRAMA," starring Frank Morgan and featuring among others, Ann Rutherford, Kent Taylor, Lee Bowman, Dan Dailey, Jr., and Fay Holden. In this one you'll find Frank Morgan being unaccountably serious, in a melodramatic thriller whose suspense derives chiefly from a keen expectation on the part of the audience that Mr. Morgan will presently break into his familiar comedy routine—which he never does. Kent Taylor turns in a first-rate performance, and Ann Rutherford is also outstanding in this company.

ON THE SETS

With REED JOHNSTON

The role of reformer is one which is looked upon with considerable suspicion by the citizenry of this unrepentant country, but we can prepare you for the forthcoming appearance of at least one reformer who should be widely pleasing. We refer specifically to Mr. Philip Terry, who will be seen presently as the fighting clergyman in "The Parson of Panamint," along with Charles Ruggles and Ellen Drew.

As we observed him this week, Mr. Terry was spreading his nets to take in an old reprobate named Crabapple, who had just previously broken up a decorous paragonage tea-party by showing up with the bottled variety of blind stagers — and the parson had struck the first blow by slipping him a "mickey fimm."

In the scene that followed, a somewhat chastened Crabapple was discovered frying eggs in the paragonage kitchen, whereupon it developed that he had formerly been an accomplished cook.

"How would you like to come here and cook for me?" asked the wily Mr. Terry.

"Nothin' doin'," said Crabapple. "You'd try to reform me."

"Suppose we make a deal," Terry suggested. "I'll try to reform you and you try to degenerate me."

This struck Crabapple as an altogether sporting proposition, and the deal was made — though we have private information that the cards are stacked against the Forces of Darkness from the very start.

It might interest you to know that the eggs being fried by this Crabapple were the real McCoy, some dozen of them being popped into the skillet before the scene was recorded to the satisfaction of Director Harry Sherman. And if your curiosity extends even further, we can report pretty certainly that the eggs were very expertly fried—for with our own eyes we saw some stagehands eating them, with every appearance of satisfaction.

Jesse Hall will gladly answer your questions about Hollywood and the picture stars. Simply address "Hollywood Features Syndicate," 6365 Selma Ave., Hollywood, California. Send self-addressed stamped envelope.

QUICK CHANGE ARTIST

By CHARLES ALLEN

They'll tell you in Hollywood that no worse fate can overtake a grown-up actor than to appear on the screen with a child or a performing animal, these being notorious scene-stealers; but Michael Whalen doesn't mind a bit.

"My fan mail almost doubled after my first picture with Shirley Temple," he'll tell you, and since then he's had more than his share of work with the Tiny Tots. For, besides his two pictures with Shirley, he's made one with Freddie Bartholomew, one with Virginia Weidler, and—as a sort of triumphant climax—one with all five of the Dionne Quintuplets.

This might have driven a less determined man into another line of work, but Michael Whalen knows what he wants and has made some rather surprising jumps to get it. For, at 16, after some intensive study at the piano, he folded up his music and joined the Woolworth organization where, at 23, he found himself manager of a branch store in Pittsburgh. Then, with the same flair for abrupt changes, he resigned his job, drew out his savings, and set off to see the world — the world in his case being New York and hit parts on the stage, under the sponsorship of Eva Le Gallienne.

From there it was only natural to look toward Hollywood, so Mike Whalen set forth without the glimmer of a prospect for a movie job.

"I did everything wrong," he says now, but somehow he worked his way to the top in a surprisingly short time.

Securely established now, he still found time for a highly successful season of straw-hat stock in New England last summer, and is eager to do more if the chance arises.

Meanwhile, returning to child actors and performing animals, in his latest picture, "Sign of the Wolf," Michael Whalen not only has a small boy to compete with, but two handsome Shepherd dogs as well. That's a handful for any actor.

Meeting the Stars

With VICTOR BOBBER

When Robert Preston, through no doings of his own, was presented to the Paramount casting office as an acting candidate, he was pointedly told that "we don't use truck drivers."

It came as no surprise, and therefore no disappointment, to strike hard rock so soon in the operation, and Mr. Preston might have let it go at that and gone away quietly, for he had no idea of being a movie actor anyway. He was doing all right at the Pasadena Community Playhouse; he had made his living before that in stock, and he had no objection to being called a truck driver, even if he isn't and never was, but this bird obviously thought he was being pretty cute, and meant to get off a crack like that.

So Mr. Preston, whose Irish and English background equips him to recognize a challenge when he sees one, decided to become a movie actor.

He would likely have seen the challenge even without benefit of his particular heritage, for he was brought up in a section of Los Angeles which is predominantly Mexican, and Mexican kids, like their elders, react quickly to a chip on the shoulder.

In fact, at one juncture, Bob and his brother were the only white youngsters in the grammar school they were attending. The rest were Mexican. There was nothing objectionable in this situation, what with the good neighbor policy and all, "but when we started speaking English with a south-of-the-border accent, Dad and Mom took us out and put us in another school."

But to have arrived where he is, there hasn't been much time for formal education. Young Mr. Preston, who told us these things as we lounged on the set of RKO's "Parachute Battalion," is not yet 23. Still, though he quit high school in his senior year, he discusses issues of national interest with unusual alertness and understanding.

He and Mrs. Preston, the former Kay Feltus, an Indiana University graduate and wearer of a Phi Beta Kappa key, hold English literature quizzes between themselves, and Bob's showing on these occasions has been such that Mrs. Preston has removed that symbol of scholastic superiority from around her neck.

And now as to Mr. Preston's relation to the army; he has a low number. He has no preference among the branches of the service, but, noting the parachuting uniform he was wearing, we suggested the parachute battalion.

"That would be a swell outfit," he said, brightening. We believe we gave him an idea there.

QUIZ BOX

Q. From Bob McClain, Long Beach, Calif. What actress was turned down by Hollywood producers as not being the "Hollywood" type, went to New York and scored a success there, was then recalled to Hollywood and is now one of five nominees for the 1940 Academy Award for the best performance by an actress?
A. None other than Martha Scott. She made an immediate hit in "Our Town" and followed it with "Howards of Virginia," and "Cheers for Miss Bishop."

Marguerite Chapman, soon to be seen in "Affectionately Yours," poses against a background of almond blossoms.

Bombers Take 4th In Row Downing Lamesa By 6-2

Sports

The Big Spring Daily Herald

Big Spring, Texas, Tuesday April 29, 1941 PAGE FIVE

City Golf Tournament Scheduled For May

For the first time since the Municipal golf course has been a going concern, a city championship tournament is booked for an early season showing. Harold Akoy, Muny pro, said that the meet is scheduled for mid-May but a definite date will not be announced until after the Big Spring Golf association holds a session.

The tourney is open to all Big Spring divoters and a mantle-covering trophy is due to become the pride and joy of the local golfer who finishes on top of the list.

Right now leading candidates for the number one spot are Obie Bristow, Jake Morgan, Herman Stewart, M. K. House and Gene Gardner.

Bristow counts among his ribbons won the Lubbock and Mineral Wells Invitational. Morgan, rated as one of the blue ribbon club-swingers of these parts, capped the invitational tournament here in 1939.

Another divotter to be considered is Herman Stewart, possessor of a drive that is one of the longest to be seen on Big Spring's courses. A bit off his game right now, Stewart is making an all-out effort to move back into his swing of last year. M. K. House is at the head of the list of consistently near-par golfers. Not the heaviest man with the driver but a smart player at the mid-shot and a steady man on the green, House makes a strong bid as one of the outstanding contenders for the forthcoming meet's title. According to past performances, Gardner, guiding hand behind the local high school golfers, is also scheduled to take his bow among the top finishers of the city tournament.

Also booked as part of the Muny course's program is the annual West Texas Junior tournament. Definite date for this meet is undecided.

James Prichard of Colorado City is the defending champion against a field that will probably include young divoters from San Angelo, Sweetwater, Midland, Odessa, Abilene, Texon, Lubbock and Lamesa in addition to the Big Spring crop.

Big Spring's Bombers were to be hustling to run their string of consecutive victories to five and to grab undisputed league leadership, as they tangled with the Lobos at Lamesa this afternoon in a series finale.

The Lobos were tripped by the Big Springers 6-2, Monday afternoon, with Willie Ramsdell winning honors on the mound.

Bob Kohout has been handed alab duties for the Bombers today.

BOB KOHOUT
Pitches Today

He was slated to take over the job in Sunday's tilt, but rains grabbed the spot from him, and since the steady young right-hander was a bit on the ailing side, Ramsdell replaced him Monday.

When the Lamesa tilt closes out, the Bombers will be headed homeward to make their debut under lights before the homeworks Wednesday night, with Amerillo as the foe. The game, scheduled to start at 8:15, is the first local engagement under the kilgas and Amerillo is to be here Wednesday and Thursday nights, and then the gates will be thrown open to the Clovis Pioneers for Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon.

Following their return from Lamesa late this afternoon, the Bombers will work out tonight under the lights, the practice due to start at 7:15.

Ramsdell held the Lamesans to four hits in Monday's tilt, and although the Lobos came through with two tallies in the ninth, their rally was not enough to match Big Spring's previously-scored six runs. Tress went the route for Lamesa, but was nipped for 10 blows, as Jodie Tate's men counted twice in the sixth, three times in the eighth and again in the ninth. Each club was tabbed for three errors.

Gloom Pervades Kentucky Derby's Favorite Stable

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29 (AP)—Topping off the list of circumstances that make this the "different derby," a report went the rounds today that the derby trial mile this afternoon may uncover an injury to keep the $40,000 Blue Pair out of Saturday's run for the roses.

Starting from apparently well founded sources, this rumor said the colt that Tom Bragg, the California and New York investment broker, bought from G. C. Van Meter for $40,000 less than two weeks ago had turned up with a splint ailment and a sore back and that his performance in the annual mile "preview" would decide his chance of getting to the post Saturday.

Trainer Willie Crump refused to discuss the whole thing, but it was noted that the atmosphere around Blue Pair's stable was not of the holiday variety that usually stamps an optimistic derby barn.

At any rate this possibility and the showing—if any—of a colt named Sporting, purchased recently by Dan Withers of Chicago, are the only factors which save today's trial stake from being just a $2,500 workout.

So far as Warren Wright's Whirlaway and the four others in the field of seven are concerned the whole thing might just as well be a barn dance. Because Whirlaway, to be ridden by Eddie Aronoff Saturday, will go to the post Saturday, win, lose or scratch today, and the other quartet—Cadmium, Shaun G. Quintillian and Burman—won't get in the derby even through the back door, according to their handlers.

Lookin' 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS

Obie Bristow was hitting them high, handsome and much too wide yesterday as he took on a bit of spring golf in a foursome that included Gene Gardner, Herman Stewart and M. K. House—making up as fine a cutthroat crew of divoters as one would care to find.

Rated two of the best men with the driver as one might scare up in these widespread acres Bristow and Stewart go at the job in two different manners—thereby bearing out the old saw that there are two sides to any question—even in golf.

Bristow brings his club across his back, much in the manner one uses that item that was, back in more virile days, called a scrub brush. With the club extended to its longest stroke, he then proceeds to bring it around with a wallop that results in giving the ball a naval gun ride.

Herman attacks the problem from a different angle—he does what might be called sneaking up on the little dimpled pellet, then scares the living daylight out of it with a powerful stroke starting from a position just barely over the back side of his shoulder blade—or something.

Nevertheless, both club-wielders get the job done in a most decisive manner.

Despite the fact that he still has an arm a bit on the touchy side as the result of a broken bone sustained some time ago, C. L. Rowe opined Monday afternoon that he would be in an up-and-attem mood when the time came to tee-off for the City Championship tournament in May.

Rowe is currently keeping his wrist well-washed in a catchy leather doodad but manages to get the old swing in the movement when he grabs himself a fistfull of golf club.

Cats Wrest 2-1 Victory From Oilers

Rebs Put On Surprise
Finish But Fall To
Indians, 11 and 2

By the Associated Press

A fractured skull suffered by Ivan (Goober) Crawford, Tulsa centerfielder, when struck on the head by a pitched ball cast a pall over the 2-1 victory which the Cats wrested from the Oilers in a Texas league baseball contest at Fort Worth last night.

Fellow players declared Crawford "froze" at the plate as Ben Parrish, Fort Worth moundman, released a pitch in the fifth inning. The ball struck Crawford over the right ear. Physicians at the Fort Worth hospital where Crawford was taken in an ambulance said an X-ray examination disclosed a skull fracture.

In the only other league game the Dallas Rebels kicked away a 9-3 lead in the ninth frame of their fray with the Oklahoma City Indians to lose 11-8 in an exciting contest played under the incandescents.

The Shreveport at Houston and Beaumont at San Antonio games, both scheduled as doubleheaders, were rained out.

Oklahoma City, apparently too far outdistanced to be a threat, scored seven runs in the first half of the ninth to tie up their game with the Rebels and then made two more tallies in the tenth.

Tulsa Player In A Serious Condition

FORT WORTH, April 29 (AP)—The condition of Ivan "Goober" Crawford, Tulsa baseball player who was hit behind the right ear by a pitched ball in the game with Fort Worth Monday night, was reported as "very serious" from the hospital here at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Centerfielder Crawford suffered a fracture of the skull when hit by a fast ball. No operation was performed during the night but attendants said there might be one today.

Ben Parrish, a rookie right hander, threw the ball that hit the veteran left handed batter. It was the first pitch of the fourth inning.

There was no feeling or words between any of the players before or after the accident. Parrish had been wild enough previously to hit another batsman and walk three. With the encouragement of both Tulsa and Fort Worth players the youngster continued to pitch and finished the game steadily, winning 2-1.

A new mechanical voting machine used by the Texas house of representatives records a vote and sends a permanent record to the speaker's desk in 15 seconds.

Major Softballers Meet Tonight; Scouts Lions Cop Lower Bracket Tilts

Sea Lads Sink
Herald, 11-4;
Lions Tip NYA, 16-4

Making their Minor City softball league debut last night at the City Park, the ABC-sponsored Sea Scouts crashed the whip over the Herald crew for an 11 to 4 count. The Lions came through with the evening's nightcap to take a roaring 16 to 4 win over the NYA's.

The Scouts make the fifth member of the lower bracket circuit that already includes NYA, ABC, Lions and Herald. Officially joining the loop yesterday with the payment of their dues, the Scouts were ready, willing, and as it was brought out last night, able to mix it up in the softball circles.

Getting off to a fast start, the Heraldmen chalked up a pair of runs, one by Alexander, who got on first on a walk, and the other by Simmons, who came across the plate on an error. In the fourth stanza the Scouts were again nipped for a pair of tallies, with Dunlap and Yates sharing the honors.

Sea Scout Tucker drew first blood for his shipmates when he romped across the payoff bag on an error.

Then came the floods. A total of eight runs were put on the board by the Scouts during a race trackish fifth canto. When the dust settled, the Herald softballers were trailing by five counts. A seventh inning chase added two more tallies to the Sea Scouts' logbook.

Blankenship, on the mound for the Scouts, struck out four Newsmen, while allowing himself to be nipped for five hits. McMahan went the route for the Herald, giving the opposition eight hits while so doing.

The Lions, forgetting about their years and taxes, threw their club in high gear in the curtain dropper, picked up a pair of runs in the initial inning, added seven in a wild-eyed second stanza, grabbed three in the fifth, and closed the night with a four-count in the sixth.

During the opening canto, the NYA lads were even-tempered with the Scraggy Ones, but were lost in the scramble, coming up for a bit of air and scoring for one lick in the fourth and another in the fifth.

Tillinghast wielded the big stick for the Lions, chalking up four runs and a couple of hits for his club's ledger. Johanson came in second best in the bat-swinging department with a trio of counts and a pair of swats.

Lon Stanley gave up eight hits during the evening while the opposing moundman was hammered for a total of 16 wallops.

Vols' Neyland Returns To Army

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 29 (AP)—Uncle Sam's fighting forces won't be pushed around much if the army does as well as did Tennessee's Volunteers under Major Robert R. Neyland.

In establishing the Vols as one of the nation's great football teams, the major employed a lot of lessons he learned as a West Point cadet and then as a young officer in the engineer corps.

He found a place on the gridiron for such stuff as split-second precision, complicated maneuvers and a modicum of pageantry—stuff he picked up on the drill grounds and in engineering work.

It all paid off for the Vols—sending them to three post-season bowls in successive years—and for the major himself—naming him to become one of the nation's highest paid coaches.

Now the major is to return to the service—his first love—and he'll be taking with him a lot of tricks he picked up in 20 years of coaching when he reports at Norfolk, Va., next month. He was ordered to army duty yesterday.

Dodgers Rap Reds, 3-2, To Pace Nat'l

Indians Drub Tigers,
7-2, To Lead American;
Chisox Edge Browns

By Associated Press

The Cincinnati Reds last year were world champions, and they may be again, but it must be said at this early date, that other teams have improved while the Reds have remained stationary.

The champs came east yesterday and bumped into the Brooklyn Dodgers, one of the National league's improved clubs. Their clash was a battle of titans, but the Dodgers emerged with their seventh successive victory, 3-2, and took over first place in the senior circuit, while the Reds were left languishing in fourth place.

The Reds had good pitching—a sh-shit job by their veteran ace, Paul Derringer. They had their customary flawless fielding—including one of the most spectacular catches of the young season when Ival (Poison Ivy) Goodman stood almost against the right-field fence, 300 feet from the plate, and jumped high to spear a liner in the sixth inning. They had as good an offense as the Dodgers—six hits, including a home run by Buck McCormick.

But the Dodgers had that "zing" that challengers sometimes get and champions eventually lose.

The Reds haven't skidded, but to finish 12 games in front of the Dodgers last year they had to win 41 games by one run and Brooklyn had to fall into the way of trouble like Joe Medwick's beaning, Harry Lavagetta's appendicitis operation, Wyatt's sore arm and Peewee Reese's broken heel bone.

You can bet that the fighting is going to be a lot fiercer this year. The St. Louis Cardinals are in the middle of it, also. They were idle yesterday, along with the rest of the league but today were to open their eastern swing against the third-place New York Giants.

The American league action has switched to the west. While the eastern teams were traveling yesterday, the Cleveland Indians reinforced their grip on first place by drubbing the Detroit Tigers, 7-2. The Chicago White Sox moved into a third-place tie with a 2-1 edge over the St. Louis Browns.

Today's West Texas-New Mexico baseball league's picture is clouded and crowded with ifs.

If Big Spring's Bombers can maintain the upthrust over Lamesa's Lobos today and if Amarillo can eke out a win over Borger, Big Spring will become the undisputed leader of the pack—carrying a standing of four starts and four wins.

Borger, taking a licking from the weatherman's onslaught, now is listed with the same number of games won as the Big Springers.

In Tuesday's rounds, the Pampa at Clovis, Borger at Amarillo, and Lubbock at Wichita Falls games were either rained out or postponed because of wet grounds.

Five Qualify To Attend
Annual Insurance Meet
In Galveston

Five men in the Big Spring district have qualified to attend the American National Insurance convention to be held in Galveston, May 14, 15, 16, 17.

C. A. Amos, S. A. Wilson and M. E. Conster of Big Spring, R. M. Starvo, Alpine, and A. A. Dear, Odessa, are the ones to attend the 26th annual session with all expenses paid.

The average circus elephant's daily rations include 125 pounds of hay, one-half bushel of oats, seven pounds of bran, and about 50 gallons of water.

Stagg To Test Muny; Tirenmen To Meet NYA

City Employees put their perfect record in the current edition of the Major City softball league up at stake tonight when they clash with Stagg's Auto crew in the 7:45 curtain-raiser at City Park. Phillips' Tirenmen are slated to go into the field without too much to worry them in the nightcap at 9:35 when they tangle with the NYA "A" team.

The Muny club is listed in the same row with the three-times winner—no losses Cities' Servicemen, although they have only entered the fray a couple of times. Phillips has had three engagements, sacking up two and leaving one by the wayside.

Looking at the standings, the Muny crew is due to have a slight advantage over the gradually improving Stagmen.

If Muny comes through tonight's battle unscathed, it is billed to put the whole works on the line when it engages the Servicemen in what might be considered the most decisive tilt thus far in the short-lived loop wars. This fracas goes on the boards as the Thursday night opener. The Stagmen meet Ward's in the finale on the same evening.

In the beginning of the circuit rounds, Stagg appeared to be doomed to a back seat throughout the season but, putting up a surprising show of hitting power, they bowled over the luckless NYA lads Friday night in with a withering 15 to 2 blast.

Blondie wants YOUR help in naming her baby daughter

Tomorrow is the last day to send in your entry—so why not sit down right now?

Just suggest a suitable name for the little girl and say why you think it's suitable.

That certainly is little work for $100 and it's a lot of fun besides.

Blondie's baby is your baby as well—so why not do your share in finding a name for her?

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE RULES. READ THEM CAREFULLY, PLEASE

- (1)—Print or write plainly on a piece of paper your choice of a name for Blondie's baby daughter and complete this sentence, "I think this name is suitable for the baby because..." The sentence should contain not more than 25 words.
- (2)—Do not enter more than one name and one sentence in this contest.
- (3)—To be eligible entries must be mailed before midnight, Wednesday, April 30, 1941, to P. O. Box 6, Grand Central Annex, New York City.
- (4)—Neatness, suitability and originality of thought and expression, as well as the name, will be the determining factors in awarding the prize of $100.
- (5)—Any resident of the United States or Canada may compete, with the exception of employees of this paper or members of their families.
- (6)—The prize will be awarded as soon after April 30th as the judging has been finished. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of tie. The decision of the judges is final. The judges are: Chic Young, Beatrice Fairfax, Ives Robb and Dr. A. R. Dufre.

Editorial - Lindbergh - President Controversy Much Ado Over Unimportant Thing

This controversy between the president of the United States and Col. Charles Lindbergh leaves us cold.

Not that we agree in any part with what Lindbergh has to say—far from it, but we do think it is beneath the dignity of the office of president of the nation to engage in private word news.

Certainly we think the colonel is given to hand wringing when he says there is no hope to avert victory by totalitarian forces. We in America have been brought up to believe that the impossible "is that which requires a little time to accomplish." That attitude has given us great progress, has solved many hopeless problems. It might easily turn the tide in this war.

Most of us see it that way, but if there are those who do not, they have a God given right under our democracy to state their beliefs. Certainly the president has a right to assert his views, but he should concern himself more with the state of the union than with indulging in personal arguments air-in the public press.

We think the president could make pronouncements of vastly more importance on the preparedness situation than to devote his time to sarcasms about a man few of us agree with anyway. We think the president would have a much bigger and more appreciative audience if he would speak with equal force to labor and capital, and take a stand that would mean the end of this serious internal dissuany.

Alsop and Kintner - AIR-FORCE VS. ARMY COMPROMISE DRAWN UP

By ALSOP and KINTNER

WASHINGTON, April 29—A sensible compromise, which the air corps will receive a fair measure of autonomy within the army, is soon expected in the bitterest of the rather numerous controversies afflicting the service departments.

Liberation of the air force from servitude to officers without air training has been a long time in coming. Since the days of Billy Mitchell, "independent air force" has been a fighting phrase at the War and Navy Departments. But it is the best sort of news that is prevailing hitherto was simple though fantastic.

The air corps was on the same footing, within the War Department, as the cavalry, the infantry or the artillery. It was treated, not as a fighting arm operating in another element, like the Navy, but as a mere adjunct to the ground forces. All decisions as to major policy were made in the general staff, where, until the recent appointment of Gen. "Hap" Arnold as a deputy chief of staff, air-trained officers were poorly represented.

Questions of personnel went to G1, questions of operations and training to G3, questions of supply to G4, and so on. Furthermore, different though its problems were those of the ground forces, the air corps was as dependent as the infantry or the cavalry on such bureaus of the army as the office of the Adjutant General, the Office of Ordnance, and the like.

The results were little less than appalling. In the first place, a collection of ground trained officers sitting in judgment on air corps problems inevitably arrived at many stupid decisions. The present air program's overbalance of reconnaissance planes to be used with infantry is an example.

In the second place, the growth of the air corps was just as inevitably stunted, and the morale of its best men was weakened by subjection to the ground-trained men. The corps was a junior branch, and the ground-trained officers were always in a majority in the army. Thus, most energetic and self-respecting airmen came to be either grimly belligerent or angrily on the defensive.

Many airmen, and many informed laymen will be dissatisfied with a compromise which does not grant the air corps outright independence. Its autonomy under the present settlement is far from complete. For instance, although it can decide on the best plane types, and the proportions of each plane type needed, it must still yield to the ordnance officers on matters of armament, and to the signal officers on questions of communication by radio or otherwise.

But the decision of Secretary Stimson, assistant Secretary Lovett and Gen. Marshall seems, on the whole, to the wisest possible. If the air corps had been granted outright independence, by the creation of a department of air or in some other way, then deciding what sort of planes and how many planes to buy, and recruiting and training its flying officers.

It may seem incredible that these two functions have not been lodged in the air corps to date, but such was the peculiar condition of the military bureaucracy. The set-up prevailing hitherto was simple though fantastic.

The air corps was on the same footing, within the War Department, as the cavalry, the infantry or the artillery. It was treated, not as a fighting arm operating in another element, like the Navy, but as a mere adjunct to the ground forces. All decisions as to major policy were made in the general staff, where, until the recent appointment of Gen. "Hap" Arnold as a deputy chief of staff, air-trained officers were poorly represented.

In the second place, the growth of the air corps was just as inevitably stunted, and the morale of its best men was weakened by subjection to the ground-trained men. The corps was a junior branch, and the ground-trained officers were always in a majority in the army. Thus, most energetic and self-respecting airmen came to be either grimly belligerent or angrily on the defensive.

For instance, although it can decide on the best plane types, and the proportions of each plane type needed, it must still yield to the ordnance officers on matters of armament, and to the signal officers on questions of communication by radio or otherwise.

But the decision of Secretary Stimson, assistant Secretary Lovett and Gen. Marshall seems, on the whole, to the wisest possible. If the air corps had been granted outright independence, by the creation of a department of air or in some other way, then complete new medical, procurement, finance and accounting, transport and other services would have had to be built for it. In the present crisis, such a laborious and long-drawn out effort is out of the question.

Thus Assistant Secretary Lovett is understood to have yielded the question of independence—at the start, setting out originally to obtain for the air corps only a status equivalent to that of the Marine Corps within the Navy. Although he has certainly not gained every point, he has obtained enough to please and astonish the air officers.

That the settlement has been made so quietly, without plunging the rather touchy army into internecine war, is vastly to the credit of all the parties concerned. It is also striking evidence of an extremely interesting fact, that Secretary Stimson, who was called old and incapable by many critics at the time of his appointment, is actually one of the most forceful and effective officials in the administration.

RKO's born-to-act baby, now happily born and perhaps already

Hollywood Sights and Sounds - I. A. R. Wylie Sells Novel To Screen Before It Is Written

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD - This modern-pace department: RKO's deal for an "untitled and unwritten" novel by I. A. R. Wylie is equalled only by RKO's deal for the services of an infant, signed before the latter's birth, for "The Devil and Daniel Webster," a film story purchased in the old-fashioned way after it had been written, titled, and published.

Miss Wylie, having written, published, and sold to the screen a number of other works, doubtless has an edge on the rest of us but the idea still offers interesting possibilities. Why not, for instance, a littry agency devoted solely to peddling screen rights to all the unwritten novels of those millions of Americans who haven't got around to the writing but will some day—say, the day after tomorrow?

RKO's born-to-act baby, now happily born and perhaps already introduced to the camera, is Miss Anita Lee. Little Miss Lee, deemed in advance of her earthly debut to be just the type for Ann Shriver and James Craig's new-born baby in William Dieterle's picture, was prepared to begin her career on her 18th day of life, the law forbidding movie activities by any child under that age.

Mariene Dietrich, about to play a B-girl in "Man Power" and intent on her art, visited a downtown haunt of the species in search of wardrobe and other ideas for the role. Her report: "B-girls dress like anybody else."

Dress designer Milo Anderson, whose job it was to dress Miss Dietrich as a B-girl but not like anybody else, was temporarily stumped. As an American girl, Miss Dietrich's customary attire for shady roles—i.e., long-strapped handbags, suitable for swinging, beauscup feathers, cheap finery—was out. His solution, visible on the sets: the other B-girls dress "like anybody else"; the main B-girl dress like Miss Dietrich playing a B-girl, which is tight, eye-filling dressing.

Frank Craven, who wears no studio's collar but picks and chooses his pictures, liked the script of a movie tentatively titled "Obituary" and accepted the role—with minor alterations. He switched parts with Edgar Buchanan, his beloved enemy in the plot. Buchanan now plays the newspaper editor, Craven the small-town banker.

"I got tired of playing editors and dying," Craven said. "I wanted to live for a change. My newspaper editors always get killed."

Cary Grant, now winding up the Alfred Hitchcock film, "Before the Fact," is anticipating some critical shelling when he plays "The Man Who Came to Dinner" but is keen to do it anyway. It's to be, like "The Philadelphia Story," another all-profits-to-charity picture for him. Main criticism he expects is that he doesn't look like Alexander Woolcott, who has played the role on the stage.

"Neither," he says, "does Monty Woolley, nor Clifton Webb, who also played it. It doesn't have to be a stout old fellow sitting in that chair. Doesn't matter who it is—it would be a good part even if a midget played it."

Vegetable puree, nearly two million cases, and fruit puree, over 800,000 cases, are canned yearly especially for infants. U. S. canners' reports to the census bureau state:

Stirling Bomber Proves Effective

LONDON, April 29.—One of Britain's new Stirling heavy bombers made a "daring and successful attack" Monday on the German city of Emden, the ministry of information announced.

The great plane came down to low altitude—presumably by daylight—dropped its heavy bomb load and then opened machine-gun fire from a height of 1,500 feet.

Texas Retail Sales Soaring

AUSTIN, April 29.—Texas retail sales are headed for the greatest dollar volume in the state's history, a University of Texas business expert predicted today.

Pointing out that sales for the year through March were 12 per cent above the corresponding period of 1940, Dr. P. A. Buechel, assistant director of the university's bureau of business research, noted only an annual gain of 10 per cent in 1941 at more than $2,100,000,000—a new record.

Fifty million cases of canned fruit is the annual output of U. S. canners, census bureau records reveal. Peaches lead with over 12 million cases.

Life's Darkest Moment

HEARTS HAVEN

Chapter 25
RESCUE IN SIGHT

In the morning, Eve was awakened gradually by sounds that merged into her uneasy sleep. Even after she had opened her eyes to the dawning sunlight—and shut them again because her eyes hurt after hours of staring wurltury into the dark—she could not believe that the noises below stairs were real.

But gradually she could make out voices. Nell's—strong and masculine. She could not think for a moment why it seemed so far away. And then she remembered, with a blessed sense of peace; she had told him the truth and had broken her engagement.

Gina's voice was below stairs, too, a faintly reproachful treble; and Brett's—odd, how she strained to hear it, in spite of the knowledge that his own thoughts must be far away!

She was getting up when Julie appeared. One sight of her friend wrapped in an unbecoming towel-like robe, with her face still bearing dabs of cold cream, was enough to tell Eve that something unusual had happened. She passed, still bent over, one hand circling around the floor as she tried to locate her slipper and still keep an eye on Julie.

"Is it a fire?" she asked, as Julie went swiftly to the dressing table and began to remove the cream with quick, efficient dabs of tissue.

But, if help were to come in the morning, perhaps she need not tell Julie yet that her carefully laid plans were a dismal failure. Perhaps she could even wait until they were back in New York!

Eve was sure Nell would remain as attentive as ever, and that he would not be the one to announce the change in their plans.

Hint From Gina

She realized, as Julie was about to leave the room, that she had been silent for a long time. Hastily casting about for a remark that would lead her guardian away from further comment on her engagement, Eve said quickly:

"But Mr. Marbury? It's over a week now, and he must be worried, in spite of what he told the lawyer..."

She was getting up when Julie appeared. One sight of her friend wrapped in an unbecoming towel-like robe, with her face still bearing dabs of cold cream, was enough to tell Eve that something unusual had happened. She passed, still bent over, one hand circling around the floor as she tried to locate her slipper and still keep an eye on Julie.

"Is it a fire?" she asked, as Julie went swiftly to the dressing table and began to remove the cream with quick, efficient dabs of tissue.

"No. But Mrs. Jackson's back. And she's ordered a plane to be here tomorrow. She's brought some food, too. Breakfast will be ready in about fifteen minutes." Julie proceeded with her speedy dressing.

"You're really beautiful," she said at last, dispassionately. "I think you've got something more than that, too. I'm not back-looking, either—I've been called beautiful—but it isn't the same." Gina went on without rancor.

"Men look at me and think 'There's a pretty little thing.' But they look at you and shout 'That's the girl I'm going to marry!'"

Julie flounced out of the room, but before Eve had finished dressing, Gina slipped inside. She sat on the tumbled bed while Eve tried to bring her tangled curls to some sort of order. Eve had been in the scarlet blouse and the black she had worn coming down, and now, with an impatient exclamation, tied a scarlet ribbon around her hair. Gina looked at her critically.

"You're really beautiful," she said at last, dispassionately. "I think you've got something more than that, too. I'm not back-looking, either—I've been called beautiful—but it isn't the same." Gina went on without rancor.

Defense Savings Bonds Sold Here

The new U. S. defense savings bonds and postal stamps will be placed on sale at the post office here Thursday, Postmaster Nat Shick announced, as a part of the national effort to make America unimpregnable.

Shick said organization plans are virtually complete for the community and that it was expected the mayor and other civic leaders would be among the first purchasers of savings bonds and stamps here. J. B. Collins has accepted appointment as county chairman for organizing to promote sale of the defense issues.

The new defense savings bond is similar to the "baby bond," of which more than five billion dollars have been bought by more than two and a half million Americans since 1935.

Under the schedule, a defense bond purchase May 1, or thereafter, for $18.75 will mature in 10 years, for $25, an increase of 33 1/3 per cent or 2 2/3 per cent per year compounded semi-annually on the investment. Any time after 60 days from the date of purchase, the bond may be redeemed for cash, in accordance with a table of redemption values carried on the bond.

A limit of $5,000 has been set on the amount of bonds to be bought by any one person in one year. Denominations are $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, all sold for 75 per cent of maturity value, and which mature in 10 years. Special bonds of $50,000 will be sold through banks.

Even school children can participate by buying 10, 25, 50 cent, $1 or $5 postal saving stamps. When enough accumulate, they may be traded for a $25 bond, etc.

Insomnia Ended; Hoyt's Brings Aid Texas Lady Says

Texas Resident Says Her Nervous Indigestion, Kidney Discomfort, Insomnia And Pains In Hips And Legs Relieved By Hoyt's Compound.

Mrs. Mary Rhodes of 1005 South Buchanan Street, Amarillo, says: "I suffered constantly from nervous indigestion, my heart would flutter and almost pound out. My kidneys bothered me and I could not sleep at night. After eating I had bloating and belching spells. Pains in my hips and legs kept me awake at night.

"Hoyt's immediately reached the source of my trouble. I can now sleep and my kidneys are improved. My nerves are quiet and I feel better in every way. Hoyt's has done wonders for me."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Collins Bros. Drug Store and by all druggists in this area.—adv.

Love Rejects Liquor Post

AUSTIN, April 29 (AP)—Thomas E. Love of Dallas informed Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today that he could not accept appointment as a member of the state liquor control board.

The appointment was announced and confirmation by the senate requested yesterday by the governor. Love told the governor he was profoundly grateful for the honor and the call to public service but deeply regretted he was not able to give the time and attention which the position, because of its importance, required.

Immediately after the appointment, he said it was a surprise because the governor had not mentioned it to him.

An ardent prohibitionist, Love is a former state senator, a former speaker of the state house of representatives and a former democratic national committeeman for Texas.

His declination opens for the governor once more the duty of filling a vacancy on the liquor board caused by the senate's rejection of the appointment of Dr. J. R. Bradford of Dallas.

Garden City Bandsmen Win Contest Places

GARDEN CITY, April 29 (Sp1)—Four Garden City band students won places in solo contests in the region 8 band contests at Abilene. All of them will go into national competition.

Mary Alice McKinney won first division in student directing. She was the only girl entered in the contest.

Earl Baker did not enter the student directing contest but is eligible for the national contest for having won a superior rating there last year. He entered the clarinet solo contest and placed in second division.

La Nell Cox placed first with her flute solo. Addie Lee Cook placed in third division on her clarinet solo.

The band had hard luck. Because of rain, rods were so bad that 12 members couldn't get out of Garden City. The band did not have a single trombone in competition at Abilene, but even with this handicap, it placed in third division in playing, second division in sight reading and second division in marching.

Howard Martin is director of the band.

Here 'n There

Around 65 to 70 students from the Rocky Mountain school at Overton, Texas, probably will spend the night here on May 13 or 14. Officials of the school asked the chamber of commerce about arrangements Tuesday.

A small contingent of army trucks stopped here Monday night. They were given police escort to and from the community center barracks in the city park extension. The trucks were enroute west.

Floesie Low claims her recent trip to Temple to the state vocational education meeting was a successful one. She was able to get a ride with others going to the meeting, visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Gentry while there, and was presented with an office desk by a Temple manufacturing concern.

Four radios were missed by the White's Store here Monday following a burglary, presumably Sunday night. A door had been forced by the burglars.

Scout leaders will meet at 7:45 p. m. at the Settles hotel today to finish plans for the annual Round Up here May 9-10 and to discuss district problems. Dr. W. M. Hardy, district chairman, announced today.

Trade extension and good will committees of the chamber of commerce, and any other businessmen interested, were to hold an important at 3 p. m. today in the chamber offices. J. H. Greene, Greene, chamber manager, urged a full attendance for the meeting.

Mrs. Dora Little, who recently moved to Big Spring from Carlsbad, N. M., has assumed charge of the Stewart hotel as manager.

Joe Lassiter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lassiter of Big Spring, has been elevated from the position of secretary-treasurer to second vice-president in the Rusk Literary society at Texas University. In his new post, he is making arrangements for the "Morris Shepard Memorial Banquet," the late senator having been once a member and patron of the society. Recently Lassiter was awarded the intersociety debate medal by the university.

Rotarians Hear Wallace Journey

Virtually a 100 per cent attendance greeted Wallace Journey, representative of Rotary International at a barbecue affair Monday evening in his honor.

Pat Kenney, member of the local club, was host at the affair, held on the Empire Southern Service property just south of town. Journey is in this area helping to organize for the annual district conference, to be held this year at Lubbock.

Whole Town Of Seymour To Close, Everyone To Fish

SEYMOUR, April 29 (AP)—Only police, firemen and international worries will be left in Seymour Thursday. Its 3,500 citizens are going fishing.

"Notwithstanding dictatorships, wars and worldwide selfishness and greed," Mayor C. M. Randall proclaimed the annual trek to nearby Lake Kemp on the opening day of the Texas game fish season.

Schools, banks and business houses will close. Even gasoline purchases must be made Wednesday night.

"Too long continued and consistent concentration on this (international) crisis," the official proclamation asserted, "is sure to prove detrimental to the mental and physical health of the people of this great nation."

"The people of Seymour have the responsibility to prove to the world that enjoyment of life and the pursuit of happiness (and fish) still have a place in the American way."

Seized Axis Ships May Be Put Into Service By U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The maritime commission was reported ready today to prepare the 30 recently seized axis ships for service in the event of a formal government order to take them.

At least two-thirds of the German and Italian vessels were sabotaged by their crews before coast guardsmen took them into protective custody a month ago. Since that time maritime engineers have surveyed the ships carefully and outlined just what needs to be done to restore them to operating condition.

The administration has yet to make an official disclosure of its plans for the ultimate disposition of the seized merchantmen, but there were some grounds for the belief that a decision might be forthcoming soon.

The house merchant marine committee gave approval last week to a bill which would clear the way for final action. It proposes broad powers for the president in taking over and disposing of foreign shipping tied up in American ports.

Legal experts say that ample authority exists for taking over the sabotaged ships, but there is some question as to how far the United States could go in using foreign vessels now in American ports.

As the bill was approved by the committee, the president could turn the ships over to the British directly if he chose. There is some prospect, however, that the administration may put them into American service to replace ships which would be released to the British.

Flashes Of Life-

By The Associated Press

Indianapolis—When a dog bit Dogcatcher Marion Woods, his nose was new.

He showed up at police headquarters with the nose in bandages and explained:

"I went down to look at a dog in front of 337 West Fourteenth, and he reached up and bit me."

Richmond, Ind.—To foil cracksmen, Herb Meier and Art Bode hung a sign reading "Nothing inside" on the safe in their filling station and listed the combination.

Someone broke into the place, took 24 cartons of cigarettes, opened the safe and stole a $35 gold watch, which had been left there by mistake.

Independence, Mo.—"If the French aren't in France, where are they?" a puzzled student asked History Professor J. C. Truman.

But the French for the most part still are in France, he explained.

"I don't get it," she answered.

"I kept reading about unoccupied France."

Los Angeles—Finishing first in finish fast is the new motto for Hollywood Park jockeys.

They installed Finnish steam baths to help them make weight. Bing Crosby, an enthusiast for the hot rock reducing devices designed by the Finns, sold them on the idea.
