Frenship Tigers Football Team Looking Good

New Dairy Queen Opens In Wolfforth This Week

The Dairy Queen is opening today in Wolfforth with Joe and Nancy Perez at the helm.

The Dairy Queen is owned by Hollis and Sue Jones of Decatur, Texas.

Joe and Nancy expect to bring to Wolfforth the Dairy Queen in the finest Hollis Jones tradition.

The menu will include the famous Dairy Queen ice cream items, as well as the Texas country cooking that has proven so successful in this area. Feature items such as the Mexican platter, country basket and D.Q. Dude are regular on this menu.

Dairy Queen first came to Texas in 1946, with the first one being in Houston, Texas. In the last 30 years Texas Dairy Queens have grown from one to well over 900 stores. In fact, almost one fourth of all Dairy Queens are located in Texas.

B.W. Sorrell of Crosbyton, District Manager, and Pete Looney, Regional Manager of Ralls, will be assisting Joe and Nancy in maintaining quality food, fast service, and a clean, friendly atmosphere.

Other area stores owned by Mr. Jones are in Denver City, Seagraves, Ralls, Crosbyton, Idalou and Lockney.

The most recent addition is the Dairy Queen of Morton, being remodeled, including carpeting, hanging lights and a new drink system.

The facilities at Wolfforth include hanging lights, carpeted dining room, walk-in freezer and walk-in refrigerator.

All facilities are geared to quality and service.

Joe and Nancy would like for you to drop by and enjoy their food and service.

"Our team is looking good now and I think we can finish in the upper division of our district instead of last as the pre-season predictions say," stated Jerry King, Frenship High School head football coach.

With 15 returning lettermen, King feels the strong point of the team will be his returning experience. "We have seven returning defensive starters but we still have a lot of rebuilding to do. If we can get our defense going early in the season, I think we can do alright," said King.

Mike Mansell, Frenship defensive end, is one of the key defensive players King is relying on this season. Mansell, a tri-captain this year, was named All District and All South Plains last season.

King said one of the problems he and his assistant coaches are having is they have several players at many positions who are almost of equal talent. "We need some of these people to come on out and take charge. This may make us a better club since we have so many people fighting for these positions," he said.

King also feels his passing game will be a key factor in the offensive game this season. "Right now our offensive is further along than it ever has been since I've been here," he said.

Despite the predicted last place finish, King said he believes his club will be competitive and maybe even surprise a few people by finishing much higher.

The Tigers will scrimmage Idalou, there, August 19 and Abernathy at home August 27. Both these scrimmages will include the 9th grade, junior varsity and varsity.

Flatlanders' Radio Club to Stage Labor Day Jamboree

The Flatlander's Radio Club of Lubbock, one of the largest radio clubs in the southwest, will host 3000 to 5000 CB'ers from all over the nation on September 4, 1976 through September 6, 1976 at the fourth annual Labor Day Jamboree.

The big jamboree will be held in the Merchant's building on the South Plains Fair grounds where camping facilities and camper hookups will be available.

Master of Ceremonies for the Jamboree will be String Bean, famous M.C. of the Okie City jamboree and proceeds of the three day affair will be donated to the Texas Boys Ranch in the Lubbock area, a favorite project of the Flatlanders.

Grand prizes worth over $1,500 including a Pace AM & SSB Base, a Royce AM Base, a Console Sewing machine with cabinet and an AM Mobile radio will be given away, as well as many other valuable door prizes such as a television, Mobile radios, a bicycle, watches, and crocheted items.

Booths displaying the latest in radio equipment will be set up along with engraving, patches, jewelry and other merchandise. Several radio clubs will also have booths displaying merchandise.

Flatlander Jamboree Chairman, Charles Yett, said interest is running high throughout the state of Texas and the neighboring states, and he said local merchants, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the television stations, newspapers, the Fairground Association have all been very helpful in putting the jamboree together. Local merchants have donated radios, a television, the sewing machine, pen and pencil set, tools and many other door prizes.

The Jamboree will get under way at 9:00 a.m. Saturday, September 4, with activities planned the entire day. There will be a Saturday night dance in the Aztec room at the Southpark Inn, starting at 8:30 p.m. Activities are also planned for Sunday and Monday, with the main door prize being given away at 4:00 p.m. Monday.

CB radio operators constitute one of the largest growing hobby groups in the U.S., and some cities such as Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and Yuma, Arizona have had jamborees in which thirty to forty thousand persons attended—so local CB'ers feel the annual affair here could grow each year if enough people take an interest.

For Jamboree information write Flatlanders Jamboree, P.O. Box 1045, Lubbock, Texas 79408 or call Charles Yett at 806-765-5370 or Jack Morris at 806-792-0542.

Cooper Graduate Leaves WTC Team

Marilyn Payton, captain of the Western Texas College women's basketball team for two years, has signed a letter of intent and will receive a full scholarship to Southeastern Louisiana State University in Hammond, La.

A spring graduate of WTC, Miss Payton was one of four Texas players named All-Americans in 1976. She was named to the All Regional team in 1976 and All Conference in 1975 and 1976.

The SLU women's basketball program is only two years old, but the team has a 52-4 record and finished fifth in the National Tournament in 1976.

Miss Payton is a graduate of Lubbock's Cooper High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Payton.

Lubbock County Farmers 2nd in Cotton Production

Lubbock County farmers placed second in 1975 Texas cotton production with a crop of some 136,700 bales, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reported.

County farmers harvested 245,800 acres averaging 267 pounds per acre.

Planting for the state reached completion in late June about two weeks ahead of schedule, and excellent moisture and good growing conditions promised an outstanding crop in the southern part of the state. Relatively cool, cloudy weather kept growth and development behind schedule in the rest of the state, and by early September, stands in the north and western areas were two to four weeks behind schedule.

In mid-September, a cold, wet front followed by rapidly rising temperatures shocked most fields on the High Plains causing widespread defoliation. This effectively stopped growth and development and resulted in one of the poorest quality crops in recent years.

Texas regained her position in 1975 as the top-producing cotton state with a crop of some 2,382,000 bales. Season average price was 44 cents a pound and the 1975 crop was valued at $503,147,000.

Lynn County led the state in cotton production with 144,800 bales.

Complete figures on the 1975 cotton crop have been compiled in the "1975 Texas Cotton Statistics." Copies may be obtained by writing Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Area Men In Service

Cadet Rolando Miranda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnoldo P. Miranda, 5618 16th Place, Lubbock, Tex., is receiving practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps advanced camp at Ft. Riley, Kan.

The six-week ROTC advanced camp provides an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment.

Most cadets are fulfilling their advanced camp requirement during the summer between their junior and senior years in college. However, there will be a number of graduating seniors who will receive Army commissions at the completion of camp.

Cadet Miranda, a student at Texas Technological University, is one of more than 48,000 cadets from colleges and universities across the nation, enrolled in Army ROTC training.

The cadet is a 1973 graduate of Frenship High School in Wolfforth, Tex.

Hockley County Accidents High In Month of July

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 20 accidents on rural highways in Hockley County during the month of July, 1976 according to Sergeant H.E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and seven persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1976 shows a total of 94 accidents resulting in one person killed and 56 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for July, 1976, shows a total of 592 accidents resulting in 22 persons killed and 388 injured, as compared to July, 1975, with 568 accidents resulting in 22 persons killed and 398 persons injured. This was 24 more accidents, the same number killed, and ten less injured in 1976 at the same period of time.

Cystic Fibrosis Campaign Set for Early September

"Little more than a decade ago the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation was working to keep C/F youngsters alive long enough to start school. Now we are trying to help some of these same patients, who have grown to young adulthood, enter college or find jobs."

These encouraging words came from Ms. Kathe Corning, Ropesville as she accepted the chairmanship of the 1976 "Kiss A Baby Campaign."

"Longevity has increased every year because of earlier diagnosis and progress on research and cure," said our chairman. "It is efforts such as these that we support by volunteering for and contributing to the Kiss A Baby Campaign." This year's campaign begins with a Door-to-Door march in September. When a C/F marcher knocks on your door, give as generously as you are able," she said. Remember that even today, with the improvements research and care have brought, there is no cure for this inherited, genetic disease. It is still destroying lungs, digestion and lives."

The foundation funds research to find a cure and control for cystic fibrosis, the most serious of these lung-damaging diseases, and to develop better treatments for children suffering from all lung disorders.

We don't need more reasons than these to actively support the Kiss A Baby Campaign.

CHEESECAKE IN SUMMER ATTIRE

For the cook who's intimidated by tedious cooking chores on a summer's day this cheesecake recipe eliminates the most time consuming preparation tasks. The basic ingredients come in a package that contains an envelope of graham cracker crumbs and another envelope of ingredients. A package of peach flavored gelatin is added to the cheese filling to achieve a lighter texture. Freshly ground cinnamon added to the crumb crust is a welcome exotic touch.

The recipe fits an 8-inch spring form pan (that's the pan with the clasp on the side that releases sides from bottom), but an 8-inch layer cake pan can also be used, if the spring form is not available.

This is a smooth, light textured cheesecake which is refrigerated instead of baked. It tastes shyly of peaches with a lovely accent of cinnamon and will serve 8 to 10 persons.

PEACH CHEESE CAKE

- 1 package (3-ounce) Royal Peach Gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 package (11-ounce) Royal No-Bake Cheese Cake*
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/3 cup melted Blue Bonnet Margarine

- 1 can (8 3/4-ounce) peach slices
- Cold milk
- Dissolve Royal Peach Gelatin in boiling water. Set aside to cool.

Combine graham cracker crumbs, sugar, cinnamon and melted Blue Bonnet Margarine. Press mixture firmly against bottom of an 8-inch spring form pan. Refrigerate 15 minutes.

Drain peach slices, reserving syrup. Add enough cold milk to syrup to make 1-1/2 cups liquid. Pour liquid into small deep mixing bowl. Add Cheese Cake filling and beat at low speed with electric mixer or rotary beater until blended. Beat at medium speed 3 minutes longer. Immediately add cooled gelatin, beating to blend well. Pour into prepared pan. Chill until firm.

Garnish top of cake with peach slices. Run a spatula around edge of cake before removing from pan. Makes one 8-inch cake.

*The package contains 1 envelope Cheese Cake filling and 1 envelope graham cracker crumbs for crust.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

You thought it was still summer because the temperatures have been staying in the high 90s. Boy, how could you be so wrong. It's gotta be fall; football practice has started.

The Red Raiders of Texas Tech have their first workouts today and the work is going to be intensive. Three times a day the Raiders are going to don armor and do battle. That's enough to test the best conditioned players.

Tech's gridders reported for physicals Tuesday night, prepared for action Wednesday and get with it today. Workouts will be at 8 a.m., 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

That gives them one workout in relatively cool weather, another in temperatures somewhat warmer and the third in the heat of the day. If that doesn't get them in condition, nothing will. And conditioning wins games in December as well as September.

"We think it will work out just fine," John Cropp said. "They'll get about the same workout time as in two-a-days but it should create a little better work. Sure, it's three workouts, but they'll only be about an hour each."

John agreed that the squad needs heat in which to work so that it can be conditioned. And, if you'll remember, the 1975 Tech squad was a well conditioned team.

"We're eager to get started," John said. "We're looking forward to this season. We're better organized and we have a pretty good idea of what the players we have can do.

John also allowed as to how the coaches were excited about opening drills. They want to see how much the players have grown, what kind of shape they're in, etc.

It's hoped that the anticipation of the coaches will be echoed by the players. And there's no reason to think that it won't. Even the biggest, dumbest lineman—that's no insult, linemen, I was one, too—knows that Tech has the offensive potential.

In fact, it's doubtful that the Raiders have had so many good offensive players, both backs and linemen, as they have for this campaign. And offense can win ball games.

As the Raiders embark on the 1976 campaign, the biggest worry remains defense. The Raiders put points on the board against everyone they played last year. There's nothing that would lead anyone to think they won't do the same this year.

Defense would have made the difference in two games last season, it might have made the difference in a third. The chances are good, though, that the defense will be improved.

This year's schedule, in some ways, is more demanding than 1975. Last year Tech had two relatively easy games, then had to face super tough teams like Texas, Oklahoma State, Texas A&M and Arizona in succession. The Raiders lost all four, should have had a split.

This year's schedule, as mentioned, is more demanding in a different way. The Raiders have a real bear by the tail in the opener, meeting a double tough Colorado team.

But that's just the opener. The next three games are on the road. And three of the first five games are of the non-conference variety, which helps. The league games are A&M and Rice—on the road and in succession.

It's also strange in that Tech plays a game, has an open date, plays again and has another open date. After that there isn't another break in the schedule that ends Dec. 4.

Five of the last seven games, including power Texas and mystery team Houston, are at home. That should help. But usual jinx Arkansas, for the second year, is on the road.

John Cropp agreed that it was a curious schedule, but he pointed out that Houston's coming into play forced a lot of re-arrangement and adjustment in schedules. It will take a year or two to straighten things out for everyone.

But for now, the important thing is that the 1976 football season is right around the corner. Which reminds me that you should need no urging to buy your tickets now, if you have failed to remember to do that.

The season starts with the Buffaloes here three weeks from Saturday. That doesn't leave much time. And everything points to Steve Sloan & Co. giving fans one of the more exciting seasons. You'd better plan to be there.

Cancer Victim Continues to Enjoy Life in Shallowater

by Janice Jarvis

Fourteen years ago Ben Houchin discovered he had cancer of the larynx. After surgery he returned to his job at his service station knowing he would never say "hello" to a customer again. He would have to write it.

Houchin suffered for over a year before having surgery, although he admits that he felt no pain. The only symptom was a loss of appetite and a very miserable feeling.

Before the surgery doctors told Houchin that he would be able to talk again but during the 11-hour surgery many nerves were cut and Houchin's tongue is now paralyzed. "I can't talk because I can't form words," explained Houchin.

Despite his inability to talk, Houchin communicates with everyone by writing on a notebook pad. He is active in church and often walks 4 to 5 blocks to attend services with his wife, Reba.

Because his tongue is paralyzed, he cannot eat his food in the traditional manner. Instead, he must have his food blended. The swallowing muscles in his throat were cut during surgery making it impossible to eat or taste foods. In addition, his sense of smell was destroyed. Despite the side effects of the surgery, Houchin eats everything and imagines the taste of each food. Unfortunately, he sometimes does crave some foods when he is very hungry.

Every morning Houchin drives his bicycle to the gas station and occasionally his wife rides with him.

Married since 1918, Houchin and his wife have seven children. "I have too many grand children to count," he wrote and then chuckled. He said he believes that his wife is not bothered by his inability to talk and he manages to communicate with her with little trouble.

To pass the hours between customers at his gas station and grocery store, Houchin whittles. He considers working every day his hobby.

Houchin often uses his bicycle to drive to friends houses for visits. "I go to see sick folks and ask how they are," he explained.

He also likes to watch baseball and the news on television. He rarely leaves Shallowater except for his yearly visit to a doctor.

Although the adjustment after the operation was very difficult Houchin said that people in Shallowater helped him because they understood why he couldn't talk. He has never suffered with any pain either before or after the operation.

Houchin said he has no intention to retire and doesn't want a big business but enough to make a living. He said he thinks keeping busy is important to him. If he retired he would not be able to visit people, as he does now at the station. He also enjoys visits from his children.

Although Houchin did not know how sick he was when he had cancer, he warns other people that they should take care of their health. "I didn't feel sick, before they found the cancer," he said.

Now, despite his inability to talk, Houchin said he feels good, and takes no medication.

"I'm thankful for my health and my family," he explained. "I think we must serve the Lord and be happy, after all, things could be much worse," he added.

"Extension Update"

LIFE IS A LEARNING EXPERIENCE---Daily routines for an adult can be exciting experience for a young child.

In a young child's eyes, every activity, situation, pleasure and disappointment represents a new opportunity for growth and learning.

Far too often, families and teachers become too caught up with their own problems and responsibilities to take advantage of all the opportunities they have to broaden their child's experiences.

Children derive untold pleasures when allowed to "help" adults, especially their parents. Each experience they participate in helps build a strong self-concept--it tells them, "Yes, I can do that." It also enables the child to develop independence and a sense of accomplishment. Parents would also notice a decline in disciplinary problems, for a child who is occupied and not bored is less likely to be disruptive.

Parents need not be educated in child development to implement these concepts. The keys to success are imagination and creativity. Here are some possibilities.

--Let your child help with meals, setting the table, cracking eggs, turning pancakes, putting dishes away.

--At the post office, children can lick stamps, seal letters and put them in the mail box.

--At the grocery store, children can lead the cart, pick out items, pay the cashier, and collect the stamps.

--Children also like to push elevator buttons, dial telephones, clean bathrooms and run simple errands.

--An old stump or piece of wood can be used to hammer, saw, and drill holes. They may be handy with a broom or rake (though they may not be up to your standards, it is the experience that counts).

Consumer Update

(1) A hammock can be washed without coming off the tree or stand from which it is suspended. A brush, sudsy water and lots of scrubbing will do the job. Be sure to wash both sides, rinse with the hose--dry in a breeze.

(2) What is cottage cheese? It is the solid part of milk--the drained and washed curd of skim milk. It is a concentrated form of milk because one pound of cottage cheese contains as much protein as two quarts (four pounds) of milk.

(3) Eating alone is more fun if you set the table with a perky place mat, your best dishes and flatware and beside a sunny window.

(4) Dampen the brush on a carpet sweeper before using to pick up ravel and lint.

(5) The word "infant" comes from the Latin word for "without language." Because one does not possess language until one has acquired the use of its structure, a child is an infant through most of his second year.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

There is a not bad, interesting film at the Arnett-Benson Theater out on University called "The Sell Out." This picture, filmed in Israel to fine effectiveness, stars veteran Richard Widmark, Oliver Reed and Gayle Hunnicutt in a tale of a man desperately seeking help because, having defected to Russia, both sides have a contract out on his life.

The theme is that there is only waste in killing for one's country. The picture is not a great one but it has fine photography of the Middle East locale and some good performances. It is rated PG and runs for 88 minutes.

Out at the Backstage Theater in the same area is a Canadian-made film, "The Breaking Point." This one stars Bo Svenson and Robert Culp and harks back to the revenge films, such as "Walking Tall" and "Death Wish." It is the story of a witness being marked for death by the Mafia. When the police prove inadequate in the field of protection, Svenson must take matters in his own hands and fight crime.

The film's not too tightly put together and while Svenson and Culp do as well as they can, the rest of the cast just meanders along. The picture is rated R and runs 92 minutes.

Along with rats and other denizens of the rodent, reptile and insect worlds and their invasion of human habitation, now comes a creepy little number about some rampaging sand worms in the Georgia inland.

The picture is called "Squirm," happily enough, and tells of an electrical storm that knocks down power lines and sends the juice into wet mud, forcing the 10 to 18 inch worms to flee. These little babies are hungry, resentful and angry. The film claims credibility through an actual occurrence in 1975 in Georgia. For what it is, "Squirm" is not all that bad. It rates an R and runs 93 minutes. It's at the South Plains Mall Cinemas I-II.

For the past couple of weeks or so, Burt Reynolds has been holding forth as the robust hero of a film called "Gator" at the big Winchester. This is a followup to a prior film of Reynolds' called "White Lightning." This is action of a sort, choppy sequences and some raw humor. Incidentally, Burt Reynolds makes his directing bow in this one, but the accomplishment is dubious and does nothing to help his screen image, either. Jack Weston, Alice Ghostley and Laren Hutton help out, but the whole venture is on the ho-hum side. Rated PG and goes for 115 minutes.

There is a rare and fun date for all kids and grownups at no admission charge set for the Community Room of the Mahon Public Library downtown on Saturday. At 9:15, 10:15 and 11:15 a.m. there will be performances of Tom Tichenor's Puppets in "Hansel and Gretel."

Tichenor, who is author, artist and professional puppeteer, is in town to conduct a workshop for the Children's Department under the Federal Grant Program to share children's literature through puppetry.

Tichenor is widely known nationally through his shows on WNBC-TV in New York, on radio and with the Broadway musical "Carnival." He was director of children's programs on National Educational Television in Memphis, Tenn. and has been for the last nine years a member of the children's staff of Nashville Tennessee Public Library. There his puppets are a part of the weekly story hour programs and he also performs in the larger Marionette Theatre which bears his name. He is the author of five books on puppetry.

I think you'll find Tom Tichenor and his superb craft both interesting and entertaining. That's Saturday morning at the Mahon Library and it's for free.

I sat not little irritated the other night watching the film version of the Broadway musical "Paint Your Wagon." Heavens, this film was and is an unforgivable bastardization of a fine stage piece, a caricature of the original to accommodate three box office stars, Lee Marvin, pitiful in an embarrassing wig, Clint Eastwood, who is out of his class in an A film, and Iowa's Jean Seberg, founding in the mire.

Only the music survives and that out of context. "Paint Your Wagon" as a movie is the most counterfeit film treatment of a genuine American musical that I have had the misfortune to witness. Paramount films and the ABC network that screened it the other night should hang their heads in shame. The film was so sadly inferior to the gentle Broadway production with James Barton that I remember so warmly and well. Aiming for box office receipts (which fell short of expectations) "Paint Your Wagon, film version, utilized the merciless expansion of the wide screen and is guilty of casting and "dubbing" of name actors and plot expansion that destroys the original intent and concept of the whole.

Next week well be talking about the new Hayloft Dinner Theater play, just opening. It is "10 Little Indians" a tried and true whodunit from the pen of the late Agatha Christie. It'll be at the rustic dinner theater through Sept. 18.

Down at the Lubbock Theatre Centre Playhouse on Ave. P these days Director J. Richard Waite is putting his just-cast performers through rehearsals of the musical "George M!," in preparation for the season opener which will play Sept. 24-28, Sept. 30-Oct. 2. In the title role will be Wayne Jennings. On the 1976-77 slate for LTC also are Tennessee Williams' "Period of Adjustment" in November, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" in February, the musical "I Do, I Do" in April and the concluding "Dark at the Top of the Stairs" in May.

By now you know that the Panhandle South Plains Fair is almost upon us again. This will be the 59th edition and in the Fair Park Coliseum the show line-up looks most promising for the country western fans. Always a winner, Charley Pride opens the weeklong run on Sept. 26. He is followed by Freddy Fender and Barbara Mandrell, Sept. 27-28; Charlie Rich, Sept. 29-30; and veteran Neil Sadaka on Oct. 1-2.
