PEANUTS BY THE SACKFUL—East and Central Texas peanut growers recently participated in a Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) disease and insect survey, one of several TDA services to peanut growers. The department's laboratory in De Leon runs nematode samples on peanuts, recommends treatments for diseased plants, advises farmers on the proper use of chemicals and runs irrigation checks to make sure the water's mineral content is suitable for peanuts. Alvin Ashorn, left, assistant director of TDA's Agricultural and Environmental Services Division, checks sacked peanuts before they go to the shellers.

Comodity Loan Interest Rates, Service Fees Increased on This Year's Crops

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has recently announced an increase in the interest rate on commodity loans to grain producers, effective with 1974 crop year loans.

The increase, from 5.5 to 7.25 per cent per year, will more nearly reflect the borrowing cost of money to the Commodity Credit Corporation, according to Alan J. Fires, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Warehouse and farm storage loan service fees have also been increased to reflect additional costs in processing commodity loans on grains. Warehouse storage loan service fees are increased from $4 to $6 per loan plus $1 for each additional warehouse receipt over one.

Service fees on farm stored loans are increased from $8 to $10 per loan plus $1 for each additional bin over one. These increases will also be effective with 1974 crop year loans.

The availability of current crop year loans to producers and producer cooperatives is continued as in past years. The loans provide interim financing for producers to assist them in orderly marketing of their crops.

Shower to Honor Melody Bennett

There will be a wedding shower honoring Melody Bennett, bride elect of Jimmy Martin, Sunday, April 28 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Party Room of State Savings and Loan (rear entrance) at 6601 Indiana Avenue, Lubbock.

Commodity loan operations have been carried out by CCC since 1933. During the past fiscal year almost two million loans were made to producers for a total value of $1.4 billion.

Ruby Beebe Williams Seeking a Return To Hockley County District Clerk Post

Friends and Neighbors Of The Ropesville Community

I am Ruby Beebe Williams, your District Clerk and candidate for re-election in the May 4 Primary.

I am making an effort to contact each of you; but because of a heavy court schedule, I may not be able to do so. Please let me take this opportunity to thank you for your past support and every kindness and courtesy shown to me. It has been a real pleasure to serve you as District Clerk since 1955.

During this time, the duties of the District Clerk have grown tremendously. We now have two electric typewriters and sometimes need three, also a copying machine. In 1955 the receipts of this office totaled between ten and fifteen thousand dollars. In 1973 receipts and disbursements were over five hundred thousand dollars. In addition to the usual civil and criminal cases, the District Court is now the trial court for condemnation suits, Juvenile matters and concurrent court for probate cases.

The District Clerk's job is a very responsible position for which I am experienced, am a Littlefield High School graduate, also Draughon's Business College and have completed courses at South Plains College.

Striving at all times to make the District Clerk's office the very best, I conduct the affairs of this office Honestly, Courteously, Efficiently and as Economically as possible.

It is on this record and my qualifications that I ask you, the voters, to re-elect Ruby Beebe Williams, District Clerk and earnestly solicit your vote May 4. Thank You.

Korea Buys Cargo Of Grain Sorghum

One of the new markets for grain sorghum which offers a bright potential for the future is Korea. Grain Sorghum Producers Association received word on April 15th that a purchase for 32,000 metric tons had been completed and shipment of the grain would be prior to May 1, 1974.

The Korean decision to purchase grain sorghum was announced to the U.S. Feed Grains Council team while the team was touring Korea in early April. Elbert Harp, executive director of GSPA, was a member of this team. The announcement was made by Mr. Yoo, president of the Korean Feed Manufacturers Association. Mr. Yoo, along with Mr. Dae Shik Yu, chief of the feed division of the National Association of Cooperatives of Korea, traveled to the United States to make this purchase. The Korean Feed Manufacturers Association and the National Association of Cooperatives purchase nearly all the feed grains for their members. Their membership processes a large part of the feed grains used in Korea.

Korea has been one of the bright spots in the area of market development for sorghum and GSPA feels that we have good prospects in the future for expanding that market. Korea is fast developing an economy which will support a higher protein diet for its people. Due to a lack of feed grain production in Korea, they will have to look to the U.S. and other countries to supply their feed grain needs. Harp, along with USFGC president, Darwin Stolte, chairman Fred Ludwig from Laurens, Iowa, and Koy Neeley from the Foreign Agriculture Service, U.S. Department of

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

AS HEARD BY HEARD

Who's on First?

When is anarchy deplorable, and when is it sanctified?

This question apparently resolves down to whether union dues are being paid.

While this may appear to be a simple answer, the recent strike by the independent truck owners confirms this point quite readily.

The violence that accompanied the shut down of the independent owner-operators of the freight trucks cannot be condoned, no more than there can be approval of the bureaucratic stupidity that created conditions to make the nation's independent truckers desperate.

But it was interesting to note that Frank Fitzsimmons was in the forefront of those who condemned these truck owners, calling for the state governor to crack down on them. He is reported as saying that such militant groups with their "thrusts for total victory at the expense of everyone else," should not be permitted.

It so happens that Fitzsimmons is head of the Teamsters Union, and it would be most interesting to see what his comments along this line would be if he had a strike of his dues paying members in progress.

There is no doubt if a paralyzing truck strike by the Teamster's Union resulted in non-union drivers taking over the work, that there would be violence, as in the past.

© National Federation of Independent Business

But would the teamster bosses approve state governors calling out the National Guard to protect non-union drivers moving the freight during a strike. This is about as likely as many governors doing so.

Therefore, Webster, should rewrite it's definition of an anarchist. "An anarchist is one who disrupts the economy and order in order to achieve economic survival but does not pay dues to a union. But if the same tactics are engaged in by a dues-paying union member, that is not anarchy, but an exercise in good citizenship."

And unfortunately, because many politicians somehow get a piece of these union dues, they would agree with this new definition of anarchy.

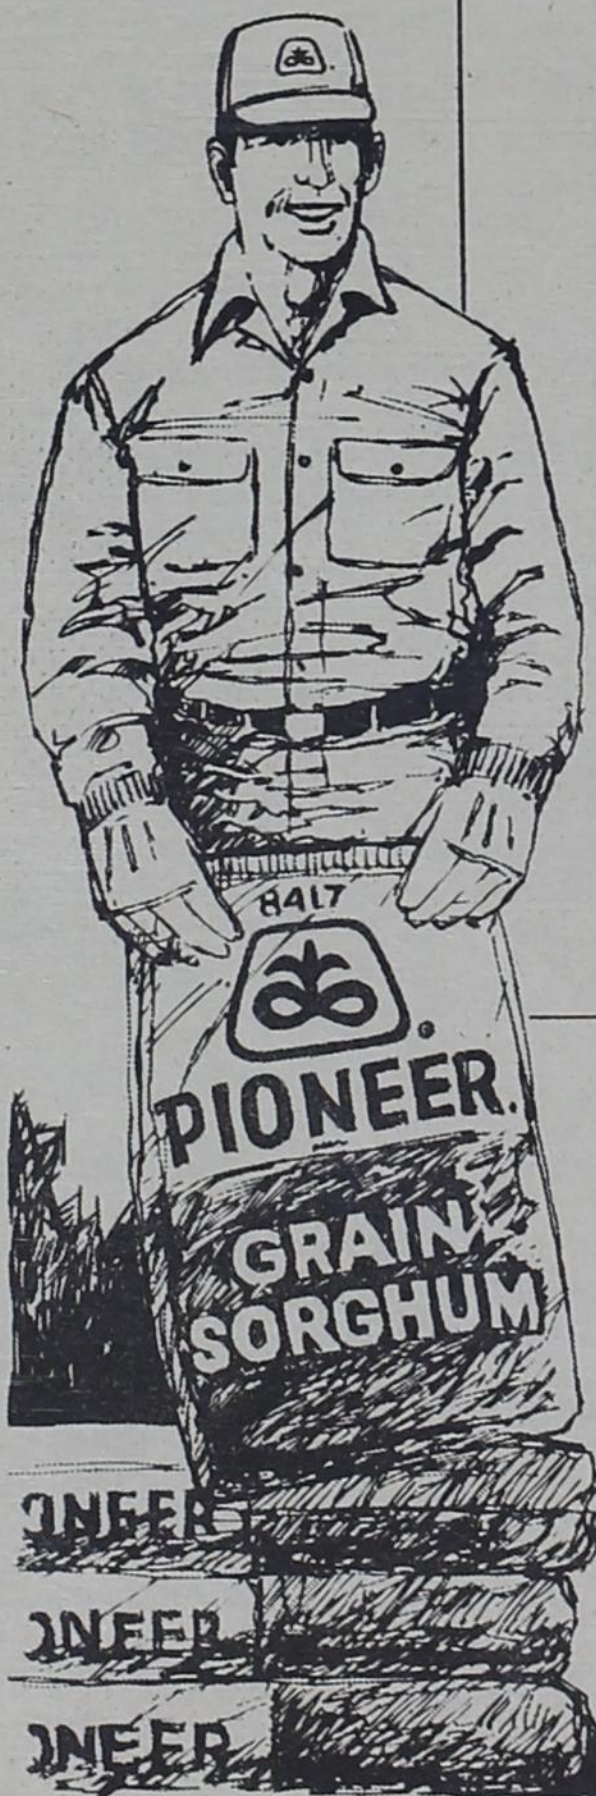

The chameleon morality of many modern politicians who uphold the rights of union members, but oppress the small operator, is a major reason why there is a lack of confidence in government.

The independent business people, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have long called for unions being placed under antitrust laws, and for the prohibition of nationwide labor bargaining. In view of their actions against independent owner-operators, it will be interesting now to see if these same political figures throw support behind these needed reforms. But no one should hold their breath waiting for this to happen.

If you can't get PIONEER Brand 8311

here are some excellent alternative hybrids for High Plains farmers.

Pioneer Brand 8311, the "Golden Bronze Yield Leader," has been our most popular hybrid this year — so popular, in fact, that it may be in short supply in some areas. One reason is that the demand has been so great downstate where 8311's disease tolerance is so important. Fortunately, there are several other Pioneer Brand hybrids that are proven top performers on the High Plains. If you can't get 8311, ask your dealer about these.

PIONEER Brand 8417

This versatile yellow endosperm sorghum is a champion yielder in the medium-late maturity class, for irrigated or non-irrigated land. It has large open heads, uniform head height, strong stalks for easy threshing, good tolerance to smut and anthracnose.

PIONEER Brand 820

This top-notch full-season hybrid, is a consistently high yielder. Excellent drought resistance and standability plus good roots and stalks make it a good choice for irrigated or non-irrigated farming on the plains.

PIONEER Brand 828

One of the highest yielding sorghums you can plant, this full-season hybrid responds well to good management on good land with plenty of water. Plains growers like it because it holds its quality and threshes well even after an early freeze. It produces sturdy stalks with semi-compact heads of dark red grain.

PIONEER Brand 846

Famous for its versatility and adaptability, this medium maturity hybrid yields along with the full-season varieties. Resistant to smut, rust and MDM, its outstanding hybrid vigor and excellent drought resistance help it turn in consistently high yields even under stress.

Agriculture, traveled through Asia on a market development tour in late March and the early part of April. Harp is co-chairman of the U.S. Feed Grains Council.

The team received reports that according to the Korean plan, feed grain imports this year, either corn or milo, depending upon the price and supply situation, will be increased up to 15 percent over last year.

The Korean office of the USFGC expects the planned mixed feed production figure in 1974 to show 19.2 percent more than a year earlier, featuring drastic increase for swine and dairy cattle, 55 and 31 percent up, respectively, while the proportion of poultry feed this year shows 73 percent decreasing from 78 percent last year.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

How, you say, could you call Sunday's hockey game between Boston and Chicago a great game when the score wound up 8-6? That's a good question.

Primarily, it was a good game because it had all the elements that make great hockey—sharp passing, fast forming formations, heavy, but clean, checking, great shooting, outstanding goalie work, fast and furious sweeps of the rink.

By all the old, established standards, except the score, it was great hockey. Twenty years or so ago an 8-6 game would have been hooted out of existence. Scores normally were 1-0, 2-1 and only occasionally 3-2.

Fourteen goals in one game would have called for an examination of the players and the goalies would have been on their way to the outermost reaches of Saskatchewan.

What has made the big different probably is the slapshot, the slightly curved sticks. The puck takes off and, if the goalie is screened at all, it's almost impossible for him to stop a score.

Actually, the defense is as strong as it ever was and the goalies Sunday made some miraculous saves. Basically, hockey hasn't changed, and maybe the added scoring is good for the sport.

I was talking with Harry Walker, one of the city's premier sports buffs, Sunday morning. Harry was brought up on the Brooklyn Dodgers in the days when they played at Ebbets Field.

Slightly before that I was brought up on the old Giants, who used to play at the Polo Grounds. Both teams have fled New York for California and both ball parks have been razed, which is enough to stir some nostalgia.

My Dad used to take me to the Polo Grounds, now and then, to see the Giants. I became a Giant fan, thanks in no small measure to the fact that George Kelly (no kin) played first base.

Then one day I was taken to the Polo Grounds, but this time it was to see the Yankees, whose own stadium wasn't even in the building stage. That was when Babe Ruth was just coming into flower as an outfielder and home run hitter. One game and I was a Yankee fan.

In those days you took the subway in downtown New York until it became the elevated. It was a long ride through tenement areas and I well remember being thankful I didn't have to live as the families we saw.

Going to a game at the Polo Grounds was a great thrill, even though the ice cream and soda pop vendors may have been of more interest than the players a good part of the time. As time went on, the El went by Yankee Stadium and you could see the structure rising majestically.

Later I was to spend many afternoons in that stadium, marveling at the grace of Ruth, the stolidness of Lou Gehrig, the effortless ease with which Earl Combs patrolled centerfield, the power of Bob Meusel, the agility of Tony Lazzeri and the guts of Joe Dugan, one of the fine third basemen.

I wasn't to get back to the Polo Grounds until 1962, thanks to Texas Tech's playing Boston College in Boston. I went to the old stadium because E.J. Holub and the Dallas Texans were playing the New York Titans.

It was one of the last games in the storied old stadium, which was showing its age. Already the skeleton that was to become Shea Stadium was rising on the meadows.

It seems a shame, really, that places like Ebbets Field, the Polo Grounds and other stadia must give way to progress. There's even an unshed tear that Hubber Park had to give way to a mobile home parking lot, because those stadia tell the story of man's victories and defeats, the human foibles that are part of history.

*****

I don't remember the last time I saw a baseball game in Yankee Stadium. It's been a good 13 or 14 years since I saw a football game there, something of an irony, because the football Giants played in Yankee Stadium.

In 1939 and 1940 I inhabited Griffith Stadium, also gone now, in Washington, where Sam West was the mainstay of a collection of players a cut above the initial Mets.

The Senators of those days always came home from spring training with high hopes and glowing press notices about such great young stars as Joe Kraskauskas, Ken Chase, Buddy Kelly, Jake Early. Then summer would come and the spring flowers faded.

Walter Johnson, the "Big Train" and an immortal, did the radio broadcasts. Often he, the press, the grounds crew and the grandstand help outnumbered the spectators.

But it was major league baseball and you had a chance to see young Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and other future great stars. You even had the thrill of seeing the woebegone Nats rise up and blast the great Bob Feller into oblivion, led by Kelly, Cecil Travis, Lubbock's own Sam West and yes, by Zeke "Bananas" Bonura.

Zeke Bonura! I hadn't thought of him in years. He was a picture of grace around first base. I think he even led the league a year or two in fielding. Of course Zeke had a little trouble with ground balls hit to his right. Yep, and with ground balls hit to his left or even right at him. But he was graceful. And he could hit.

Those really were great days in Washington. In addition to seeing baseball, there was the opportunity to see the football games of Maryland, Catholic U, Georgetown and George Washington, to say nothing of the Redskins.

Later, pro basketball and hockey came in, although they never got the following that the Skins did. Still, it was a great time to be young, sportsminded and with few cares. It would be great to live those days over again.

*****

And then there's the one about the sweet young thing who was accused of being a "kept" woman.

"There's not a chinchilla of truth in it," she exclaimed!
