TEST YOUR CREED

Homer Henderson

The test courses for Detroit's new automobilies are not intended to simulate normal driving conditions only. Most cars could pass a normal test run quite easily. Rather the test track includes a great many con ditions of unusual stress and strain upon the automobile: high speed runs, dangerous curves, rough terrain, endurance trials, and so on. The theory behind such testing 15 JUNIORS obvious. If the car can hold up un- A HONOR ROLL der abnormal conditions, then surely it will be adequate for everyday wear and tear.

Each one of us has a creed by which we live. A creed which ought to be tested by a process similar to the Detroit automobile test. Now, I am not talking about the creed of any particular church or religious persuasion. I am referring to your personal creed for living, that upon which you base your life, that which you take the most seriously, that which you place your faith in. If that creed is worth staking your life on, then it will hold up not only dur ing the hours of normal day to day living but also under conditions of unusually great stress and strain.

Let me use myself as an example, My personal creed is based on trust in the infinite love of God. Since I am a Christian, I believe that this love is best seen in the life and death and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth. Your creed may vary, but let us use made as an example. Now, I find that under normal conditions my creed performs quite well. Normally, I live from day to day with my family and friends and other pleasant associates. A few times a week, I join others who share my creed with me at church. None of these associations or activities place an y unusual stress or strain upon my creed. In short, it is easy for me to believe in and to practice love among my friends and family. And gathering in the church for worship and study strengthens my creed rather than offering any serious challenge to its validity. Under normal driving conditions, my creed runs amazingly well! How about yours?

The rough places the wrong turns, the detours are creed and you need a creed that will help us face and live through VISITS MOTHER these difficult conditions, not a creed that is nice on the easy roads and that sounds good on Sunday, but a creed worth living for and that will make life worth living even in life s worst moments. Instructions On Addressing Mail, Pkgs.

Postmaster Flora Martin today York, San Francisco or Seattle. urged the citizens of Ropesville, Texas to be sure to use the correct address on their letters an dpackages going to servicemen overseas to avoid serious delays in delivery.

Postmaster Martin reported that millions of letters and packages going overseas have been delayed because they were insufficiently addressed. She said that one of the biggest problems has been the failure of persons to include the no later than December 10. All very important 5 digit APO or FPO parcels MUST be wrapped securely number in the military address. Mail not containing this number is incorrectly addressed.

She said that last year more than 9 million pieces of mail were delayed in delivery. Of this number 3 1-2 million pieces failed to include the complete 5 digit APO or FPO number in the address. This improperly acdressed mail had to be sent to a military locator directory where time - consuming searches were made to determine the proper addresses.

"As the Christmas mail volume going overseas is expected to in crease up to 30 percent or over 4 million pounds above lats year, every precaution should be taken by friends and relatives of service men to address their letters and packages properly to assure rapid delivery to its destination."

There are four essential elements to an overseas military address. They are:

- 1. The serviceman's identity grade, full name, and service num
- 2. His military unit—complete.
- 3. Gtaeway post office New

4. APO of FPO — a 5 digit num-

When any of these elements are missing, the letter or package will be delayed in delivery.

All parcels going overseas to members of our Armed Forces should be mailed no later than December 1 and those by Air Mail and to check with the Post Office on proper weight, postage and custom declarations.
