TWO PHRASES

-Ted Dotts In my reading this week I came across this phrase from a psychiatrist in Swizterland, Paul Tournier, "...cowards are people who are overflowing with explanations." Then while riding in my car, I heard a newscaster say that Houston police had no news on the death of religious editor Melvin Leon Steakley of the Houston Chronicle, but some assumed that his murder was the work of "unbalanced segregationists."

We always have explana-We are mentally ill or this or that situation or circumstance caused us to sin. We are not responsible.

"...cowards are people who are overflowing with explanations." Another way to put Tournier's phrase would be to say, "Cowards are people who never accept their responsibility in the wrong they commit and instead explain away their wrong with out trying to make it right."

One of the most current explanations I know of is to let a person get away with hate, murder, theft, adultry, drunkenness and gossip with the statement that they are "unbalanced" or "mentally ill". This implies that man's, sin arises because he cannot help it.

Many times, no doubt, you have felt that about half of the nation's 30 million anglers fish your favorite lake or stream. The numbers of American fishermen are going to keep growing. Yet some fishermen will continue to be quite successful. Why? Because they have above average fishing savvy and probably know many fishing tricks. Here are some hints which could help you catch more fish. First, develop fine casting accuracy. Cast to areas around logs, bushes, lilly pads and other "tough spots" that other anglers pass up. Many times you'll find unfished water even in "heavily fished" lakes of streams. To prevent snags, keep a supply of weedless lures, such as the ABU-Reflex weedless, in your tackle box. You'll be surprised at the number of fish lurking in rough-to-reach areas. Like to bottom fish from shore? Many times fish will drop balt when they feel a sinker. You can fish with an unweighted line, Make a loop near the end of your line and slide it through an old hexagonal nut. Place a lump of sugar through the loop, then pull the loop tight. Cast. The sugar will melt in the water, the nut will fall off, and presto, your bait is in deep water with no fish-scaring sinker on the line.

Had trouble catching that lunker trout under a log or rock in a stream? Upstream from your quarry, slosh a hank of grass and soil around. As the soil particles reach your fish, toss out a worm and get set for results.

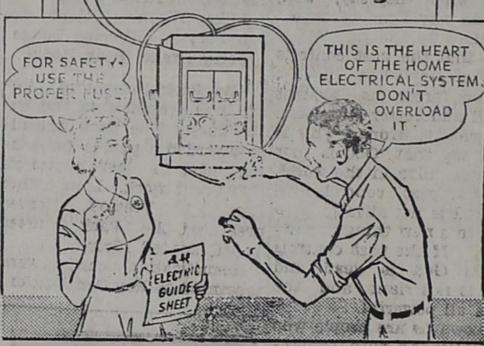

Spend a couple of hours reading the 1965 Garcia Fishing Annual. It's loaded with the fishing secrets of experts. The Annual is available on newsstands or direct from Garcia, 329 Alfred Avenue, Teaneck, N. J. for 50 cents.

When you hook a fish, make a note of the depth, chances are you'll find more fish at that depth. If fish are particularly squeamish, try an especially light line - say about four-pound-test Garcia Super-Platyl monofilament. Many times a tiny lure or spinner like the 16-ounce or 1/8-ounce Garcia Veltic will get fish which pass up larger offerings. When fishing from a boat, avoid banging oars, tackle box or feet against it. Vibrations really do scare fish. A final trick - stop, look and listen. Keep an eye on the fellow who consistently brings home the fish. Somebody's always coming. un with a new fish-getting gimmick.

to better living

"Don't overload circuits if you want to avoid blown fuses." cartion 4-H Club members engaged in electric projects. They point out that the fuse box is the "heart" of the electric system and should be given proper care.

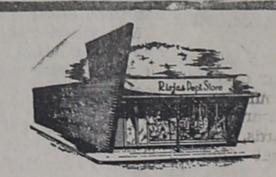

Never use a higher rated fuse than recommended or substitute something else which will keep the fuse from functioning properly, 4-H'ers warn. They regularly check electric circuits to guard against overloading-a frequent result from using more and more electrical equipment in the home and on the farm.

For 30 years the national 4-H Electric program has sparked millions of boys and girls to undertake a wide variety of projects. After learning the fundamentals of electrical energy and its place in modern living, they engage in projects that range from simple like repairing cords to servicing motors, appliances and isting with wiring and lighting surveys.

In recent years electronic devices including robots, radios and hi-fi sets have been constructed by club members. Participation in the program ! s enriched their knowledge and given comfort to their families as well, club leaders report. The work is supersed by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Washington, D.C.: Representative George Mahon reports that he has protested to the Secretary of Agriculture the proposed change in the skip-row program for cotton, Mahon advised the Secretary that he felt the proposed change would be dis astrous to some farmers and hurtful to all.

Mahon has asked the Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture to conduct an open hearing to enzations to air their views on the subject of the proposed change.

The Department of Agriculture has proposed a modification of the cotton skip row program for 1966 which would reduce by 30 per cent the advantage which the pre sent program grants to producers who plant two rows of cotton and skip one or who! plant two rows of cotton and rows and skip four.

The advantage granted un der the present program to those who plant four rows and skip two or who plant four rows and skip four would be reduced by 15 per Mahon has provided details of the USDA proposed change to all ASC office managers in the Dihtrict and to officials of farm organirations whose addresses are available to him. The Depart ment will give consideration to all protests and recommendations which are submitted prior to May 22, 1965. Mahon urges that farmers and farm organizations make their views known immedi-Agriculture, Washington D.C.
