WASHINGTON By George Durno

Kidnaping—The gentlemen who don false whiskers and gum shoes for Uncle Sam are preparing themselves very quietly for what has the earmarks of being a dirty and bloody war. Anticipating the repeal of prohibition the various investigative agencies of the government are building ramparts against the next attack gangland will make on society. Preliminary fluctuations of the underworld pulse indicate kidnaping and dope trafficking are about to become most fashionable. The Federal heel skipped lightly over bootleggers. It will make every effort to stamp out baby snatching and hop peddling. Both are terrifically on the increase.

With the slightest tinge of publicity officials of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice have just won an important victory.

This Bureau for some time has distributed to other Federal agencies and to police departments all over the land regular and comprehensive criminal reports and finger print records. They have proven invaluable in running criminals to earth.

Recently in the name of economy the appropriation for this work was slashed. Chief J. Edgar Hoover went to bat with the Budget Bureau and had it restored.

The Bureau of Investigation is doing yeoman work in tracking down kidnap gangs. With a little public cooperation it could do more.

When the present wave of education first got under way the Bureau broadcast an appeal that any family thus victimized call Washington headquarters by telephone immediately. It was promised that all work on the case would be heavily under cover.

The family of August Luer, aged Alton, Ill., banker, was the first to respond.

It took Justice agents just ten days to round up the mob responsible.

Snow—Narcotics headquarters already has felt an increase in the vicious business of dispensing dope. With countless drug stores not bothering about the formality of prescriptions to sell good whiskey the bootlegger is feeling a decided pinch in his pocketbook even at this early day. Beer has contributed to the anemia of his bankroll. He is turning to "snow" vending.

The Secret Service is running in to an inflative movement in counterfeit money. The bootie reasons that if you can't make whiskey and sell it for five dollars just save time and start manufacturing five-spots.

All three services are exchanging information with deadly seriousness. All three have orders from the White House to put the finger on kidnapers.

Moley—A person can't dodge into an air-cooled arseway in Washington these days without having someone pop up and ask him: "How about Ray Moley? Is he losing out at the White House?" Debates over this moot question are flourishing in every hotel room where the appointed gather to shed the cares of an official day.

Best opinion is that the professional Assistant Secretary of State will continue to be in evidence and toss weights on the scales. However, his car doesn't appear parked in the White House drive if it used to, and the following two unpublished stories may be illuminating.

State Crude Hearing Put Off By Board

Terrell Says Meeting To Await Submission Of National Code

AUSTIN (AP)—The railroad commission Thursday postponed "for at least twenty days" a hearing of operators in the East Texas oil field to receive evidence on which to base a probable new production allowable.

C. V. Terrell, commissioner, explained the federal administrator is preparing a code for adherence by the oil industry.

A striking example of the benefits that may be derived from the Municipal Auditorium was the performance given there last Friday evening by the young peoples' choir of the First Methodist church. Nearly 1,000 people of the community gathered for the operetta and were genuinely entertained in a manner that was really beneficial.

City Manager Spence's remarks at the opening of the program were worthwhile. He very clearly pointed out the uses to which the people may put the auditorium without cost, using the Methodist young peoples' performance as an example. He assured the public that city officials are anxious to cooperate with those wishing to stage programs of various types of cultural nature and to which the public may be invited free of charge.

Sam Goldman, director of the local band, announces that his musicians will present a concert in the auditorium soon. He has been working diligently some weeks, holding two rehearsals each week and the band is rounding into splendid shape.

The question of whether Howard county will vote August 26 on local option to legalize 32 per cent beer has not yet been settled.

A petition asking the Commissioners' Court to call the local option election simultaneously with the state election on legalization of beer and repeal of the eighteenth amendment, has been in circulation at intervals for some days and reports are practically all names necessary under the law have been affixed.

The question of agreeing to voting on legalization of beer in Howard county does not raise the question of whether one is for or against legalization of beer.

Whether Howard county votes on local option August 26 when the entire state votes on legalization and repeal or not such a vote will be held here ultimately if the state returns a majority in favor of the issues at stake. And indications right now are that the state will vote for beer and for repeal, by a comparatively narrow margin.

By holding the local option election along with the state-wide election approximately $800 will be saved the taxpayers of the county. We just as well hold it and get it over with. We've heard a number of persons who expect to vote "dry" say they feel the local option vote ought to be held August 26. As aforesaid, joining in a petition to call the local option election does not bind a voter one way or the other. The legislature has submitted the necessary constitutional amendments for the state-wide vote, and the people of Howard county are going to vote on the question anyway. Unless the local option vote is held too we will witness the unusual spectacle of citizens voting for or against a question, with the outcome of the vote having no effect whatsoever upon them.

Jesse Jones Called Before Bar By Judge

FORT WORTH, (AP)—Federal Judge James Wilson ordered Jesse H. Jones of Houston to appear in court here on or before August 15 to answer a suit filed against him last June. The suit brought in behalf of Mrs. Selma Sternberg of St. Louis, asks Judge Wilson to appoint receivers for the Fort Worth Corporation. The complaint contends Jones controls the corporation and alleges six interest payments due Mrs. Sternberg are in default.

Federal Court Requires Him To Answer Receivership Suit

Secretary of State Cordell Hull made the principal speech for the American delegation at the afternoon and evening sessions of the World Economic Conference which many delegates were affixing by speeches at the final plenary session. Roosevelt gave the delegates a perspective of work they have done. He told them "results are not always measured in terms of formal agreement."

With interchange of views comes better understanding by the nations of problems other countries, he said adding that he does not regard the world congress as failure. The conference adjourned late in the afternoon to meet again after a recess and make a new attempt to restore world prosperity.

Old-Timers Of County To Meet Friday

Real Old-Time Dance At Casino To Conclude Program

Old timers will see old friends Friday, many for the first time in a year or longer, at the Old Settlers' Reunion here. Those who have lived in Howard county twenty-five years or longer, will participate.

No program has been planned other than a basket picnic in Parrish Park and a dance at the Casino in the evening.

All families are expected to take their own lunches to the picnic. The afternoon will be spent in talking and finding old and new friends.

A violin and a guitar will furnish the music for the dance which will consist of old time dances and not the modern "shuffle" and other such dances. Ray Wilcox has charge of the dance. The music will probably be furnished by Jim Winslow and Joe Curlee.

Old settlers will enjoy this reunion and all are expected to attend.

Provisions Of President Roosevelt's Employment Plan Presented Pending Final Adoption Of Codes

Just what is the recovery code? What is it. President Roosevelt is asking us to sign? What are we expected to do, and how? A great many persons—mostly business men who will be in the voluntary partnership with the president—are asking the above questions, since all have not had a peep at the new volunteer employment agreement which is revolutionizing business life in the United States. Here, then, is the recovery code, covering the period of the emergency campaign, August 1-December 31, 1933, in which, by signing, the individual, or the group, makes it a following covenant with the president: Effective Date—Child Labor: (1) After August 31, 1933, not to employ any person under 16 years of age, except that persons between

Economic Parley Not Failure, He Tells Premier Ramsay MacDonald

LONDON, (AP)—President Roosevelt in a dramatic message to Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, Thursday ripped labels of "failure" from the World Economic Conference which many delegates were affixing by speeches at the final plenary session. Roosevelt gave the delegates a perspective of work they have done. He told them "results are not always measured in terms of formal agreement."

Big Spring Scouts And Leaders Return From Camp At Barksdale

Thirty-two Big Spring Boy Scouts and leaders returned Wednesday afternoon and evening from the annual Buffalo Trail Council camp on the Necees river near Barksdale.

After a successful two week session, camp was broken early Wednesday morning. Scouts arose at 5 a. m. and had breakfast before departing. A party of scouts left camp at 6:30 a. m. and the remaining twenty-six boarded a truck more than a hour later. The latter party arrived in Big Spring shortly after 9 p. m.

Local scouts obtained a fair share of camp honors.

Troop No. 1 won the honor tent banner all save one day the first week when Troop No. 3 won it. The next week Troop No. 1 took it once, Troop No. 3 twice and Troop No. 5 lost out by a single point on the last day.

Troop No. 3 won permanent possession of the honor tent banner by taking it three times during the second week of camp.

Bobby McNew and Harold Talbot of Troop No. 3 and Fred Coleman of Troop No. 1 were awarded first class badge Tuesday night at the final council fire program.

Leaders Of Kansas City Kidnapers' Gang, Recently In Big Spring, Gets Death Penalty At Hands Of Jurors

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Walter McGee, confessed leader of the gang that kidnaped Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of City Manager H. E. McElroy, May 21 and collected $30,000 ransom, was assessed the death penalty Thursday by a criminal court jury.

Formal sentence will be passed later by Judge Allen C. Southern. The case is the first in which the extreme penalty has been assessed in the nation's crusade against kidnaping and one of the few in history bringing the death sentence when the victim of the kidnaping was not harmed. McGee was arrested in Amarillo June 7.

Several men here who have seen pictures of Walter McGee, given the death penalty Thursday in Kansas City for kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy, declare that McGee was in Big Spring during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in May. They said he was "temporarily here chiefly to play poker. He was going under an assumed name while here."

Employers And Workers Here Form Lines For Industrial Recovery At Rapid Pace; Dry Goods Next To Meet

Big Spring, probably more than any other community in this section, is moving into step with the national recovery program.

Following on the heels of conferences with a host of representatives of other occupations, dry goods, men's and women's ready to wear, and shoe men were to confer Thursday evening.

Drug stores, filling stations, automobile dealers, garages, tire dealers, automobile accessories, lumber yards, building materials, hardware, furniture, wholesale and retail groceries, dairymen, carpenters, paper hangers, painters, brick layers, plumbers have already reached agreements in accord with the recovery program.

Barbers are to discuss their trade in relation to the program Monday evening.

From high quarters comes the word that every occupation has shown an eagerness to adjust itself relative to competition but many possess the wrong conception concerning wages.

Interpretations of the program as applies to merchants and members of various trades is that there is no objection to long business hours, but an extra shift should be employed.

In other words the central idea back of the entire movement is to put men to work.

County Still Has Hopes Of Road Contract

District Highway Engineer W. A. French was to confer with members of the Chamber of Commerce road committee, the county judge and other members of the commissioners court Thursday afternoon concerning letting of contract for construction of Highway No. 9 south.

Condemnation proceedings are already underway to procure necessary right of way through Glasscock county so that the surfaced road from San Angelo may continue unbroken to this city.

Right of way from Big Spring north has been ready since about the first of the year.

Meanwhile surveyors have run a line to the Dawson-Howard line north and are now checking grade and drainage figures preparatory to furnishing French with necessary information for field notes.

Observers believe it may be possible to get the No. 9 north project underway before the south end construction is completed.

Commissioners court is getting ready to acquire right of way north.

Three car loads of cedar posts have already been unloaded here and will be used in fencing in the roadway north of town. The court bought 15,000 posts and will Saturday purchase wire.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Instructions to act swiftly in recommending sound and useful public works providing maximum employment went Thursday to 48 state advisory boards from Secretary Ickes, federal administrator. Just appointed by President Roosevelt, the 145 board members hastened to organize for preparation of state public works programs which may be submitted to the ten regional administrators and then to national headquarters.

First Aid In Industries Is Lecture Topic

Red Cross Social Representative Heard Wednesday Night

Approximately thirty-five heads of industrial concerns, including railway men, oil men, public service concerns, and others attended a lecture Wednesday night at the Crawford Hotel on "Industrial Life-Saving."

A. T. McCue, special representative of the American Red Cross, gave theoretical and practical demonstrations of what and how to do in an emergency. Mr. McCue's lectures were made possible by Jera Hall, who is first aid chairman of the Howard county Red Cross chapter.

"Automobiles," he explained, the purpose of the talks on first aid, said, "is a means of creating life saving work. All industrial organizations have been drilled in first aid, and I am proud to say a noticeable improvement has been made in the accident record. We must be prepared to know how to rescue," he said, "and an organization here to teach first aid would be very valuable."

McCue, for lack of time, hit the high spots on what to do and how to do it correctly in various emergencies. He said that eternal vigilance was necessary and even then, there was always the possibility of a serious accident. He went further to say that the industrial world was just a good place to die in the old days, but a little later, safety was started because it meant money to the employers as it cut down their insurance rate.

"Automobiles," he said, "have over a million accidents a year. It is worse than war." McCue explained that many people with good intentions but who do not know how to act properly.

"Scientific records," he explained, "show that 85 per cent of people who die from operations die from shock. He answered questions from several in his audience, and especially stressed the dangers of electricity. He warned that only competent electricians should handle anything charged with electricity. It was shown that suffocation and asphyxiation could be had by drowning, gases, electricity, which is direct, and other ways. McCue said there were 105 methods of resuscitation, but that most of them weren't worth anything.

Accidents in the order of insurance he listed as: 1. Drowning, 2. Hemorrhage, 3. Burns, 4. Fracture, 5. Sprains and 6. bruises and cuts.

Mr. McCue gave life saving instruction at the Hillcrest pool this morning and from 2 to 4 in the evening. Leading industrial concerns here are attempting organization of a first aid class to be held regularly with a competent instructor.

Delegation To Washington Files Report

Duggan, Davis And Watson Inform Officials Of Activities

Final report of a delegation of three recently sent to Washington, D. C., to represent "fteen counties of the South Plains section has been sent county judges, Chamber of Commerce managers, newspaper and others within the area. The delegation's expenses were paid by the counties, on basis of cotton production of the past few years. This report follows:

"We, your committee appointed to make a trip to Washington to ask the Department of Agriculture to include the drought stricken farmers of our section in their program for cotton acreage reduction, wish to report as follows:

"Mr. C. A. Cobb, Chief of the Cotton Section, advised us very definitely that the department's program was to buy from the farmers a part of their cotton crops for which they were paying so much cash per acre. If the farmer had no crop growing he had nothing to sell or contribute to the campaign.

"The only way left to us to render a service to the cotton farmers of this section was to plead for an extension of time in which farmers would be permitted to sign contracts—hoping that in the mean time it would rain and stands could be secured before the expiration of the signing date.

"The advisory committee, consisting of one man from each of seven cotton states, recommended unanimously that the farmers of this section be given from July 20 to July 25 to sign acreage reduction contracts. The time was immediately extended from July 8 through July 12, but we were advised the first of this week that the contracts in the hands of the department had exhausted the government's supply of cotton and called for some ten million dollars more than the amount originally budgeted—therefore, the time can not be extended to our people because of lack of funds and of option cotton.

"Realizing that our people would need work relief we called upon Mr. Hopkins, Relief Commissioner, who assisted in arranging a conference with Thomas H. McDonald, Chief, Bureau of Public Roads, who after hearing our explanation of conditions existing in this section of West Texas prepared and read to us a telegram he was sending to the Regional Engineer, Mr. Swain of Ft. Worth, urging him to impress upon the Highway Commission of Texas the immediate importance of rushing road projects as relief measures in the Panhandle Plains of Texas.

"Both Mr. McDonald and Mr.

Swain assured the committee that everything possible would be done by the Federal Government to hasten the letting of road contracts in the distressed areas. The County Judge and Commissioners Court in counties where relief work is needed can no doubt facilitate matters by cooperating with the State Highway Commission in having road projects underway at an early date.

"We believe our conference with representatives of the Federal Farm Loan Bureau will be worth millions of dollars to West Texas in getting a more liberal appraisal value placed on lands in this section of the state. A brief of facts was prepared in which comparisons were made of five year cotton yields produced in East and Central Texas counties and counties of West Texas—also, a comparison of loan values in these counties were made.

"It was not difficult to show that in counties that did not compare in cotton yields with West Texas counties five or six times as much loan value was allowed.

"We were assured that more recognition would be given to the productive value of West Texas lands and were given copies of letters being sent to District and Regional Appraisers urging a more liberal valuation.

"We regret that we cannot make this report to you in person and to all the farmers of your county and a letter covering details would be too tedious to read. We have given you only the high spots hoping that it would serve as a partial report of our efforts.

"Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally, Representative Marvin Jones and Amon G. Carter gave us every possible assistance and were quite valuable in making proper contacts.

"It was impossible to accomplish the primary thing for which we went to Washington, but after realizing the situation we did our best to render the greatest service possible to West Texas and hope and believe that results obtained will justify the time and expense.

"Yours sincerely,

I'm strong for sunshine — so I'm strong for "Toasting"

I've always found that really good reasons are the simplest reasons. For instance, I know that sunshine mellows and heat purifies. "Toasting" is therefore very easy for me to understand. And very easy for me to appreciate—because—my sense of the fastidious is so very exacting. You see, I'm always aware of the fact that my cigarette comes in such intimate contact with my lips. Quite naturally, it's the purity of "Toasting" that I single out for special praise. It's just my own personal feminine reason for saying "Luckies Please!"

Here's One Good Way To END AGONY OF NEURITIS

Newark Man Knows How and Loses 10 Pounds

"Gentlemen: I used Kruschen Salts to try and get rid of Neuritis from which I had suffered for one year in my left shoulder and arm. I took a little of the salts in the morning, sometimes in my coffee, other times in water. I would also occasionally take a dose in water at night before retiring. For 3 months I used the salts and while I lost 10 pounds in weight, the pain in my shoulder HAS ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED. During the time I was taking the salts I received no other medical treatment so I am fully convinced the Kruschen Salts did the trick." C. K. Murray, Newark, N. J.

Acting Secretary Of State Finds Numerous New Stamps For Son

WASHINGTON, (UP)—It is profitable for a stamp collecting youngster to be the son of acting secretary of state, William Phillips—who picks up choice and expensive covers every now and again without even turning his hand. All such philatelic windfalls go to Phillip Jr.

Last such piece of luck for Phillips' young son came when J. Errol Boyd flew from Halli to Washington. He brought five letters addressed to President Roosevelt, and four other administration leaders, including Phillips.

The latter let his letter stay in his mail box for days. State department stamp collectors eyed it hungrily. One of them couldn't stand it any longer. He informed Acting Secretary Phillips his Halli-tian letter was worth $750 cash. It vanished immediately from Phillips' box to blossom in his son's stamp album.

When a proposal for a government summer white house was made in Congress several years ago, Calvin Coolidge, then president, rejected it. He said each president had his own ideas about getting away from Washington heat and that few of his successors probably would care to use an official summer place.

Coolidge used the Yacht Mayflower. Hoover spent almost every week-end at Rapidan, even Under Roosevelt the camp has been deserted until one week-end when Secretary of Navy Swanson took a party there. Roosevelt likes a Potomac cruise.

Prof. O. M. W. Sprague, who is not absent-minded, can't find his office at the Treasury Department, where he is economic adviser. The professor can't locate his office, because there's no room in the old treasury building for him to call his own. He's now doing his work at a spare desk in the office of Dean Acheson, under-secretary.

Dr. Alex Sachs, another professor in the recovery administration, has one of the most remarkable offices in Washington. As head of the research division of NEA he must have information at his finger tips. So he keeps it in alphabetical order on the top of his desk. The desk is so full of neatly arranged documents that Dr. Sachs must use another desk when he has work to do.

DIGNITY OF LABOR
 "It is time," President Roosevelt said in a radio talk to the members of the Civilian Conservation Corps Monday night, "for each and every one of us to cast away self-destroying, nation-destroying efforts to get something for nothing and to appreciate that satisfying reward and safe reward come only through honest work."

That, he added, must be the new spirit of the American future.
 The president sees in the 300,000
 C. C. C. men "a fine group of strong young men, clean living, willing and proud to work for the joy of working."

He insists that these young men are doing a useful and profitable work, and that they earn their $20 a-month and keep. Twenty-five dollars of the monthly wage goes to the homefolks, leaving the C. C.
 C. man $5 for himself. And the men really hit the ball. The hours of labor are short, in keeping with the spirit of the times; but every man is expected to do a day's work in return for his wage and keep.
 Not every one of us has an opportunity to work. That is the chief concern of our national leaders just now. It is useless to preach of the dignity of labor and deny a man the chance to exercise his dignity.
 Slowly but surely opportunities are being given, and as they develop millions of Americans will return to work and find joy in a self-sustaining existence.

Johnson Stops Oil Quarrel And Informs Battling Leaders He Will Frame Code For Presentation Soon

WASHINGTON (UP)—Confronted with the apparently impossible task of reconciling widely divergent views of factions of the oil world over controlling production and refining, Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, Wednesday decided federal officials should write their own program for the oil business.
 His decision was announced to spokesmen for the quarreling interests in the petroleum world in concluding a three day hearing on proposed trade practice plans, one admitted by a group that met under the auspices of the American Petroleum Institute, and the other advocated by a number of independents led by Jack Blalock of Marshall, Texas.

Special Committee
 Johnson set up a special committee representing the divergent groups to work out with administration officials rules to govern the marketing and distribution of petroleum products and said he hoped this committee could be ready with a report by Monday night, when he hopes the administration can have his suggestions for producing and refining in shape.

 Prior to Johnson's announcement, the administration had received a pledge of cooperation from spokesmen for governors and regulatory commissions of the oil states dealing with oil, some of whom objected to a suggestion that future drilling be permitted issued under presidential regulations.

In the final arguments for the two main disputant groups in the industry, Blalock appealing for approval of the independent code while Louis Titus, representing the group behind the institute backed code, urged the adoption of that plan as preferable to meet the industry's needs.
 "I don't think this suggestion is going to be very popular," was the smiling preface of Johnson as he told the oil leaders federal officials would work out a plan to cover production and refining to present to them.
 "I think we should have a proposition to present rather than work on what has been presented," Johnson said.
 He said his decision resulted from "the highly controversial questions that have arisen on production and refining," and that after the federal plan was ready he would ask that a committee authorized to speak for the petroleum factions be set up to help write a final binding draft.
 Johnson said he could not see "any insuperable difficulties in the marketing question," as the administration had been dealing with merchandising in other codes but that production and refining presented something new and a subject to which the administration already had given considerable attention in advance of the oil hearing.
 "There has not been one code that has not had the unanimous approval of the connected interests," Johnson said, "but that looks like a pretty tough proposition here."
 To numerous persons clamoring in the hearing room for representation on the ground their interests might be tricked, Johnson said:
 "Somebody may put something over on us for a little while but not for very long."
 The committee he accepted, followed by:
 C. E. Arnott, of the Socony Vacuum corporation of New York and Roy B. Jones, of the Panhandle Refining company of Texas, nominated by Axtell J. Byles, president of the American Petroleum Institute.
 C. R. Starnes of Dallas and F. C. Hart, of New York, nominated by Jack Blalock, leader of an independent faction.
 C. L. Suhr and S. Messer, both of Oil City, Pa., proposed by the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Association.
 Russell Williams for the Independent and Individually Branded Petroleum Makers Association; Frank B. Bateman, for the Eastern States Independent Oil Dealers Association; and Tom Glasgow, for the Motor Equipment Wholesalers association.

Request That Oil Practices Code Prohibit Price Discriminations Between Fields Filed By Alfred

WASHINGTON.—A request that a trade practices code for the oil industry prohibit discrimination between fields for oil of equal quality was laid formally before the industrial recovery administration Wednesday by James V. Allred, attorney general of Texas.
 In a statement accompanying the proposed rule, Allred set forth that buyers of petroleum in West Texas had been paying 40 per cent less since 1926 for that oil than for oil of like quality and quantity from other pools.
 Allred explained to the administration that oil from the West Texas fields, a large share of which comes from state lands and goes to the state public school fund and to the University of Texas, was of higher quality than East Texas oil, but posted prices were much lower.
 The difference, he said, was too great to be justified, on the ground of increased transportation costs to market.
 He estimated that royalty owners had lost at least $14,000,000 in the last ten years because of prices in West Texas being held down by major company buyers and that this did not take into account losses to independent producers with a total production in the field in ten years of 569,000,000 barrels.

Decision Rendered In Chalk And Forsan School Controversy
 Refusal of the Howard county school board to act upon a petition from the Forsan district seeking to have part of the territory of the Chalk district added to it renders the state board of education without jurisdiction in the controversy, L. A. Woods, state superintendent, has informed Clyde E. Thomas, local attorney and the county superintendent, Pauline C. Brigham.
 Mr. Woods said the case had been reviewed before state board. He cited section 170, page 65 of the Texas school laws, quoting as follows: "In each county of this state the County Board of Trustees shall have the authority, when duly petitioned as herein provided to detach from and annex to any school district, territory contiguous to the common boundary line of the two districts."
 Said Mr. Woods:
 "The state superintendent has no power whatever to force the county board to change district lines by detaching the territory from one school district and annexing same to another. This power belongs only to the school board. The only conditions under which the state superintendent might act would be as to whether or not the county school board followed the law in its action. In this case the school board refused to act and certain by the state superintendent is without jurisdiction to force it to act."

Legislation May Follow Collapse Of U. S. Markets

By LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON, (UP)—Congressional demands for immediate investigation of last week's spectacular deflation of the Roosevelt bull market was coupled with proposals for legislative action to prevent abnormal market fluctuations.
 The administration was refusing to meddle in the stock market situation for the time being at least, although it was taking stern action to stabilize the grain markets. Capitol Hill was concerned over both.
 Senator Steiwer, Rep. Ore., proclaimed an open season on bears. He accompanied his statement with a telegram to Ferdinand Pecora, senate stock market investigation counsel, urging immediate check-up of the factors involved in last week's market break. Steiwer is a member of the investigation committee.
 "Further bear raiding must be checked," Steiwer said. "The past week's shrinkage of commodities and securities on the various exchanges, whether due to over-speculation, bear raiding, or all three interfere seriously with the national efforts to restore confidence and to increase wages and commodity prices."
 Steiwer proposed a legislative plan to prevent in some measure abnormal market movements such as that of last week and of the autumn of 1929. It was as follows:
 1. Use by all corporations reporting income to the treasury of a simplified form which would enable the reader to determine approximately the liquidating value of all classes of securities outstanding against the corporation.
 2. Control to reduce short selling.
 3. Prohibition against directors or any corporation increasing, decreasing or suspending dividends without 60 days prior authorization from stockholders.
 When hearings were recessed for the summer Chairman Fletcher of the senate investigating committee asked Pecora to keep constant in touch with the Roosevelt mar-

100 Per Cent Paved By '34 New Slogan Of Broadway Of America

The Broadway of America Highway association is preparing for a vigorous publicity campaign under the slogan of "100 per cent paved by January 1, 1934."
 With completion of several projects now under way and contracts likely to be let on the now unpaved portion, it is probable that the entire length of the all weather transcontinental highway will be surfaced.
 Total income for Texas for 1933 is now estimated at $2,000,000,000 by Stuart McGregor, industrial editor of the Dallas News, with $1,400,000,000 of it to come during the remaining six months of the year.

ket in which securities values were moving rapidly up. He promised the lawyer that he would be ready at any time this summer to convene the senate committee if Pecora believed open hearings were required to reveal the inside story of market trends. Otherwise Pecora would collect his information for presentation when the committee meets next Oct. 7.

Local Labor To Be Given Preference On Road Projects

WASHINGTON.—A $19,851,648 allotment of public works funds to create more jobs, including $6,971,648 for federal buildings, was announced by secretary Ickes.
 It brought total allotments from the $3,300,000,000 public works appropriations to $773,802,636 since the law's enactment a little over a month ago.
 The public building money went to 14 post offices in nine states. The rest of the distribution included:
 Six million dollars for 23 war department ordinance establishments which Ickes said would retain 7,122 employees on the payroll.
 Five million dollars for soil erosion work under the agriculture department, to be allotted to states in proportion to their cultivated areas as shown by the 1930 census.
 Three hundred twenty five thousand dollars for the Panama canal zone.

Local Labor
 "The board adopted a resolution" the secretary said, "that it was the sense of the board that in local projects local labor be used as far as possible, and that as far as possible building material stone and so forth, of that state and area be used."
 "The board also resolved that no projects approved by the reconstruction finance corporation can come before this board until the R. F. C. has rescinded its approval and then the projects must be submitted to the state boards."
 Regarding the use of local labor and materials, Ickes said clauses probably would be written into contracts stating this to be in government's policy, but that the price factor would enter into its application.
 The board directed that the $5,800,000 soil erosion program be completed by November 1, 1934.

Yankees Move Into Washington For Important Four-Game Series

New Yorkers Fail To Close Gap By Splitting Double-Header With Red Sox; Senators Rained Out

BOSTON—The New York Yankees Wednesday failed to close the one-game gap separating them from the Senators before moving into Washington Thursday for an important four-game series, splitting a double-header with the Boston Red Sox. The Senators were rained out at Philadelphia.

A crowd of 13,000, a record mid-week attendance for the Hub, saw the world champions take the opening contest, 2 to 0, in which Vern Gossard shaded Bob Weiland in a southpaw hurling duel and then dropped the second by 8 to 4.

Gossard and Weiland pitched scoreless ball for seven innings, the Sox pitcher holding the Yankees to two hits.

Walter Brown, and Lloyd Brown were the starting pitchers in the night-cap, but only Lloyd finished. With the score knotted at four-all, the Sox fell on Walter and his successor, Wiley Moore, for six hits and five runs.

Lou Gehrig was put out of the game in the fourth inning of the second game by disputing a decision, made in the third frame by Umpire Summers. The umpire refused to allow that a double play had been completed by Gehrig at first base.

First game: New York ... 000 000 011—2 5 0 Boston ... 202 070 002—9 12 3 Gossard and Dickel; Weiland and Farrell.

Dallas Wins Off Houston

DALLAS OF—Mike Cvetogros and Ed Greer, Houston's ace pitchers could not prevent the Dallas Steers from defeating the Buffaloes Wednesday night, 5 to 4. Ernie Holman's triple against the rightfield wall in the last of the ninth that scored Ray Flankamer broke up the 4-all contest and gave the Steers their second straight win over the league leaders.

PORT WORTH—Bombarding Feaches Davis with five runs in the second inning, the Galveston Pirates were able to defeat the Fort Worth Cubs 7 to 4 here Wednesday night and square the two game series.

Rip Collins, appearing in a Fort Worth uniform for the first time, held the Pirates to four hits the remainder of the way, but they managed to get to him for a pair of runs through his wildness.

Chief Earl Moore went the distance for the Pirates, although nicked for 12 hits.

Giants Gain On Chicago

NEW YORK—The New York Giants, returning home to defend their National League leadership, Wednesday gained a full game on the idle Cubs as they twice whipped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 3, and 4 to 3.

Hal Schumacher and Ray Bengo hooked up in an old fashioned pitchers' battle in the opening contest, which was decided by home runs.

Although Schumacher allowed only two hits in eight innings, Herman Bell received credit for the victory as he pitched the ninth, when the Giants broke the dead-

Giants Defeat Mexicans, 6-4

GIANTS ROSE IN FURY Wednesday and ended up by noosing out a combined team of Tigers and the Mexican Brown Eagles, 6-4.

Livian Harris, on the mound for the Giants, tossed credible ball. He relieved Ebbas, who had a rather shucky inning in the fourth.

Jake Morgan, drafted by the Giants for the occasion, had a perfect day at bat, getting a triple and three singles.

The day previous, the Mexicans had beaten the Giants 7-6 in ten innings. The game was finished in darkness.

One hundred and fifty-one new Texas corporations were chartered during May, an increase of 23 per cent over the total of April, according to the University Bureau of Business Research. Twenty-two of the new corporations were for manufacturing purposes.

Of the 260,714 pounds of spools black exported from the United States last year, Texas accounted for 20,000,000 pounds as well as 45 per cent of the domestic production of that important commodity. The bulk of Texas production came from the Panhandle gas fields.

STEEL ALONE IS NOT ENOUGH!

— neither strong enough, nor safe enough, nor quiet enough for the body of a quality car like CHEVROLET

CHEVROLET There is only one type of body construction which Chevrolet will permit on the chassis of the cars it builds: That's the type which every test—and every experiment—and every experience has proved to be the safest, strongest, and best. Not steel alone, because steel alone is not enough. But a Fisher body of steel reinforced by hardwood! The same kind of construction used on practically all the highest-priced cars in America.

Chevrolet well knows that steel alone has one distinct advantage: it's cheaper. Steel also is strong—up to a certain point. BUT—beyond that point, steel alone will bend and crumple under severe stress or shock. It takes the strength and supporting solidity of a hardwood reinforcement to give you the full protection and full satisfaction you want in a motor car body today.

If you're thinking of buying a new low-priced car, better watch this matter of bodies, and watch it carefully. Insist on steel reinforced by hardwood! Fortunately, the only low-priced car with this preferred type of body is also the only car with a proven valve-in-head six; with Fisher Ventilation; Cushion-Balanced Power; a Starterator. That car is Chevrolet—America's most economical automobile.

Hornsby Leads St. Louis Browns

ST. LOUIS.—Rogers Hornsby, erstwhile fire brand of the National League, Wednesday signed a contract to pilot the St. Louis Browns and immediately announced plans to create a fighting ball club and to be a playing manager.

"We'll be having them out at the ball park before long," Hornsby told President Phil Ball, shortly after signing a contract to guide the tail end American League club for the remainder of the season and through 1934 and 1935.

Hornsby, who until Wednesday was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, seemed elated. The big second baseman who started his climb to baseball fame as a rookie with the Cards in 1915, and later managed the Redbirds, the Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs, said he planned no immediate shakeup.

It was reliably reported and not denied that the Rajah's new contract gave him more authority than that possessed by any other manager engaged by Ball. Bill Knicker was deposed last week.

Hornsby is expected to depart Thursday or Friday night for Chicago, to join his last place charges, now under the wing of Allan Rothron, a coach under Killifer.

LOVE, PREFERRED

"And I don't care so much if she doesn't!" Mrs. Vaughn declared. "What was it they were discussing? Mary wondered—oh, yes, Bonnie's getting a position in New York. 'I don't see the sense in her tramping' clear over to New York to work when she could get a place here just as easy, if she wants to work. You know, Bonnie, you can't find a job that would even pay you to commute."

"Oh, can't I? I suppose you think I'm not as clever as Mary. Well, you just watch me. Dick said he was going to get me in at his office maybe. So there; Mary might say a good word for me if she wanted to, but she probably is ashamed of her family being so high and mighty herself, just because she is secretary to the president himself."

"Why, Bonnie," Mary reproved her gently, "you never have wanted to commute until now and I didn't even know you were in New York today?"

"Oh, yeah? Well, you know it now. So use your influence if you have any," her tone was a little more gracious. "The way things are now, I won't be able to get in anywhere without a pull, anyway."

So Dick was going to get Bonnie into his office, Mary thought dully. What doing, she wondered. Bonnie certainly couldn't be recommended for anything that would pay her to make that trip to New York every day. Transportation, lunches and the clothes she would require would more than absorb any salary she could command. However, Bonnie's finances always showed a deficit, whether or not she was working. It made little difference in the family budget, whatever Bonnie did. Mary promised that she would do what she could to place her, but was not very optimistic.

The following day, Mary was almost paralyzed with surprise, relief and joy when she heard Dick's voice over the telephone. He talked quite as if nothing ever had been changed between them. Perhaps it never had been, she decided, in a dizzy ecstasy.

"Did Bonnie tell you we had lunch together yesterday?" he asked blithely. "I almost ran over her in my own dash for the hash, so I nipped her up and took her along. I found the kid was out job-hunting, so I told her I would see what I could accomplish as an employment agency. Think she can stand the grind, Mary?"

"Why, she wants to try it. Might be good for her. She would either decide she didn't like it, or make good."

"Well, I could get her in here for private switchboard work and odd jobs in spare time. Do you think she would consider that? The salary wouldn't tempt the governor to resign, but she could get a start and be ready to jump into something better later on. I understand she hasn't had much experience."

New Milk Prices Prevail in Dallas

DALLAS, (UP)—A new schedule of milk prices which prevailed here was hailed as the first definite move locally toward industrial adjustment under the National Recovery Act.

The new schedule represented a 75 per cent wholesale and a 50 per cent retail increase in prices in effect three weeks ago. Minimum prices for quarts delivered are now 9 cents retail, 7 cents wholesale.

The higher prices were demanded by W. A. Canon, market director for the state's department of agriculture, in behalf of producers. Had distributors refused to adhere to the schedule he proposed, Canon indicated, he was ready to call a "federal dictator" to enforce posting of the new prices in Dallas.

Texas has twenty-four industries with annual production in excess of $10,000,000 and sixty-two with annual production in excess of $1,000,000 each.

She looked up with a humorous smile that quirked the corners of her lips, to see Dick gazing at her in utter amazement. He was almost gaping at her and he hadn't closed the door.

"Oh, Dick—hello," she gasped, weak with the joy of seeing him again. The flowers were instantly forgotten and the light in her face glowed incandescent.

He murmured, "Hello," closed the door and frowned. His eyes left her face and traveled to the mammoth jar of chrysanthemums on the table near the room.

"What's Foster doing, starting a greenhouse, or is this some special celebration? Who is to be congratulated, may I ask?"

She laughed, shaken, principally from seeing him suddenly. "Oh, no—they're mine—that is—Mr. Frazier—" Her face flushed miserably and she stopped rather foolishly. "Oh, no—Dick—" "Is Foster in?" he interrupted coldly. "I'd like to see him for a minute."

Her face was white. Desperately, she said, "Dick, don't treat me like that. I—let me explain, please."

"What is there to explain?" he demanded with a careless lifting of his eyebrows and shoulders. "I know you've been going out with Martin Frazier. Bonnie told me. You have time for him; but when I ask you to go with me, you have to work."

"Dick, that isn't true—I was so sorry—I did have to work Friday night—" "Oh, sure, but you didn't tell me about stepping out with Frazier, just the same. I thought you—oh, well, what's the use to argue? What's the use of anything? I can't compete with a fellow that spends more in a week for flowers for you than I can make. Swing high, wide and handsome. Mary, I'll not interfere. Good luck to you," he laughed ironically, bitterly.

Mary could have prostrated herself in humiliation and remorse, at his feet. At the same time, her inherent pride forbade her begging him to try to understand.

"Mr. Foster isn't in now," she told him with terrible, pitiful calm; holding the roses so closely in her arms that the thorns stung her flesh. But she was oblivious of their temperate pain, as compared with the stabbing pain her heart that drowned and submerged every other consciousness of her being.

Dick looked at her strangely, stared as if to speak, with a gesture of his hand, almost an appeal. Then he stopped and said matter-of-factly, "All right. I may drop in later. Good-by."

Purchase Of Cotton Belt Allowed S. P.

Sale Opposed By Missouri Pacific And Texas & Pacific Approved

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Three federal judges Wednesday confirmed an interstate commerce commission order authorizing acquisition of the Cotton Belt railroad by the Southern Pacific.

The petition of the Missouri Pacific Railroad company and the Texas & Pacific Railroad company Southern Pacific, claiming the commission's action was arbitrary, was dismissed in a decision concurred in by U. S. Circuit Judge Charles H. Moorman and District Judges A. M. J. Cochran and Charles I. Dawson.

The suit was filed here last year, and the jurisdiction of the court here was upheld on the ground the Southern Pacific is incorporated in Kentucky.

"It must be held that two orders authorizing acquisition of control of the Cotton Belt by the Southern Pacific," said the opinion, "are valid. It follows that the third order taking the Cotton Belt from system No. 10, the Illinois Central and placing it in system No. 18, Southern Pacific, was valid."

WHIRLIGIG—

Spectacular—

While still on the boat crossing, Moley cabled for a plane to meet him at Cobb and fly him to London. News dispatches speculated on the importance of the message he was carrying to the Conference. At the last minute—in fact so late the plane already had left London to meet the boat and had to be paid for—it was cancelled. Those who should know tell you distinctly lowered voices that President Roosevelt was responsible for the cancellation. The Executive apparently felt the Conference should not be buoyed up unduly such a spectacular entry.

Explosives—

General Hugh Johnson, who is aiding National Recovery, is known to his intimate associates as the kindest of men. Like many of those individuals who measure inches around the heart he explodes like a firecracker under a little fire but as promptly returns to tranquility. One of the country's important men ran into this the other day seated at Johnson's desk he disported with certain theories the general was expounding. Blooey, and NRA's chief was roaring at him like a bull. The calm came as suddenly as the storm. His visitor was still ranting, a little sore himself, when someone was enacted that explained everything. The General is just naturally intense, what with all the pressure he's under. His visitors range. He tried to answer in light a cigaret and put on his glasses simultaneously. With the aid of Alexander Sachs, the economist who was present, this not mean feat was accomplished. While Johnson picked up the phone receiver he had dropped, he shoved his glasses on, removed a hat to the place whence it had been knocked from the desk and gave final aid with a lighted match.

Toyah Parent - Teacher Members Pull Tripple Play; To Play Van Horn Soon

Women of Toyah, Van Horn and neighboring towns out in the "real West Texas" are going in for baseball in a large manner! Not "soft ball" or "indoor baseball" but real National Pastime baseball. E. L. Deason, local locomotive fireman, returned from a trip to Toyah Thursday with an account of a game he witnessed there in which the Toyah team staged a triple play.

Toyah and Van Horn will clash Friday, August 3, at Kent, Deason reported. Mrs. Alice Tinnin, president of the Toyah Parent-Teacher Association, is president of the baseball club, and proceeds of games go to the P-T. A.

The Toyah line-up includes the following matrons of the town: Mrs. Mable Caldwell, catcher; Mrs. Mary Brown, pitcher; Mrs. Marjorie Burchard, second base; Mrs. Alice Hopper, shortstop; Mrs. Kathryn Moore, third base; Ann Duncan, right field; Florice McPherson, center field; Jessie May McElroy, left field. Public Works Advisory Board Appointed To Serve Under Jones

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas state board, appointed Wednesday to serve with Clifford B. Jones of Spas, public works administrator for Region 7, comprising Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico, includes: Col. The Ashburn, Houston; H. A. Goeth, San Antonio; John Sharry, Merton; R. M. Kelly, Longview.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt Wednesday named 48 boards to formulate in every state public works programs worthy of quick approval for employment-boosting federal expenditures. The list contained 145 names—three members for 47 states and four for Texas—and represented a cross-section of the nation's Democrats and Republicans, a generous sprinkling of engineers, business men, bankers, merchants, editors, publishers and labor leaders held places on the boards.

Simultaneously with the presidential appointments, Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator, made this statement of instructions: "It will be as much a duty of these state advisory boards to say 'no' as it will be to say 'yes'."

They are to formulate local programs with a view to winning quick approval here in Washington. To do this the state advisory boards must study local projects in the light of the announced policies of the federal emergency administration of public works. "The state advisory boards are to proceed without delay in selecting for early submission to the administrator a balanced program of useful public works which will move men from relief rolls to pay rolls.

"That not every application for public works funds can be granted is obvious. It will be the function of these boards to weed out those without merit. Only the best should be recommended to Washington for approval. Ickes said that in states where public works programs already have been approved by official agencies, the state boards will re-examine the projects speedily before submitting them to one of the ten regional administrators named yesterday.

"Local government projects which are not approved by state boards will not be considered at Washington," Ickes said. Miss Emily Bradley underwent an emergency operation at Big Spring Hospital Wednesday night.

Uncle Sam Sent Him To Prison But He's For FDR

HOUSTON, (UP)—Just because Uncle Sam sent him to prison for a year, it doesn't mean that Will Horwitz, Houston theater owner, will refuse to back the administration's recovery plan. Horwitz, now in Leavenworth prison serving a lottery sentence, wired those in charge of his affairs to "follow Roosevelt in everything that looks toward restoration of prosperity."

President Roosevelt recently refused to pardon Horwitz.

Mystery Of Skeleton In Hotel Is Solved

EL PASO, (UP)—Mystery surrounding the discovery of a man's skeleton in an unclaimed package in Hotel Hilton check room was solved with the announcement that it was left at the check room by an archaeologist for delivery as a gift to Miss Elizabeth McReynolds of Carthage, Mo.

While visiting the Mimres Valley in New Mexico, where archaeologists are excavating prehistoric ruins, Miss McReynolds voiced interest in exhibits that had been uncovered. One of the archaeologists, whose name is not known, volunteered to send her "some bones." Later a man called at the hotel, left the package addressed to her and telephoned her brother, Allen McReynolds, Jr., a patient at a sanatorium, to call for the package. When McReynolds called the check room attendant was unable to find the package, and it laid in the room for six months until it was opened.

Miss McReynolds, a graduate of the University of Missouri, was residing here at the time she visited the Mimres Valley ruins. The thugs stopped the officer's car shortly after it had left Charleston, killed Deputy Roy Shambelin, and wounded Deputy G. L. Dudley. The dead prisoner was Homer Harper, 19, under sentence of 25 years for armed robbery. Harper was jerked from the bullet riddled deputies' automobile and was placed in the attacker's automobile, which sped toward Charleston. Harper was sentenced to the penitentiary at Mountville on a charge of robbing a Charleston shoe store, pleading guilty. He had been re-arrested after an escape from the Canawha county jail as he awaited trial.

Police Car Ambushed Enroute To Pen; Cop And Prisoner Slain

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UP)—A police car en route to the state penitentiary with a prisoner was ambushed by four gunmen, who killed one deputy sheriff, wounded another, and captured and slew the prisoner. The body of the convicted man, still handcuffed, later was found in an automobile abandoned in Huntington, W. Va.
