WASHINGTON
By George Burns

Categories—The pork barrel has taken quite a sock behind the closed doors of recent meetings of the Public Works Advisory Board.

A lot of the boys had envisaged a Roman holiday in public building allotments all over the country. They are finding to their sorrow that the spigot has been capped. Lew Douglas, who administers economy first, last and always, are responsible.

The first proposed program for new Federal buildings that reached the Board was well in excess of $100,000,000 and included tentative authorizations for just about all the post offices, court houses, custom houses, etc. that haven't been built.

Assistant Secretary of Treasury L. H. "Chip" Robert Jr. submitted this first proposal. He wanted to blame that it wasn't broken down. Senators and congressmen had given him general information and suggested that he get a bulk appropriation from the Public Works fund with authority to administer it himself—guided by the office of Supervising Architect.

Administrator Ickes called no dice on such a turn. He said the program should be itemized closely and each item passed upon by the Public Works Board.

A new program was drafted. It approximated $100,000,000, and contemplated construction of about 2,400 new government buildings. Ickes turned to Budget Director Douglas and suggested he was pretty good at breaking things down—how would he like to take a crack at the public building projects? Douglas said he'd like nothing better.

As a result, Douglas returned the program classified into five categories. They were:

1. Buildings needed immediately.
2. Buildings needed soon but not immediately.
3. Buildings needed soon but can be delayed a considerable period.
4. Buildings economically sound, but can be deferred 3 or 4 years.
5. Buildings not needed at all.

The fifth category carried the great majority.

Not Needed—The Board met and considered the situation. Allotments were made for 13 buildings in Class 1. They totaled about $6,000,000 with one new structure for New York City carrying the bulk.

By now you're probably will have read elsewhere in your paper of a second allotment also infinitesimal as compared with original estimates.

Cautiously it was former President Hoover who first advanced the conviction there was little real economic need for new buildings.

High Priest—Budget Director Douglas has been well and favorably mentioned to succeed William H. Woodin as Secretary of the Treasury when the latter retires because of ill health.

The longer Woodin remains—and he wants to get out—the less chance Douglas will have of succeeding him. The public buildings situation is a case in point.

Douglas has been the High Priest of Economy since March 4. His one job has been to save money. He has tackled the assignment with the fervor of a crusader.

Unfortunately he has trod on so many political toes the walls can be heard for miles around.

Run—Reports reach Washington that American interests, anticipating prohibition repeal, are planning to give the famous Bacardi rum people of Cuba a little competition.

Down in the Lake Okechobee region of Florida domestic is mixing medicine to convert Florida sugar cane into rum.

Native sugar cane stock-of bagasse, as it is called—has been used principally in recent years for the manufacture of synthetic boarding. Sugar has been a by-product (less than 100,000 tons a year).

The monied gentry probably figure we've had enough of things synthetic and are getting ready to CHICAGO—Secretary Wallace, in a speech Friday, outlined government's emergency program for buying five million swine, employing packers process them, and distribute meat to needy.

The program involves purchase of four million pigs weighing twenty-five to 100 pounds at from six to nine and a half cents a pound and a million sows to farrow, weighing a minimum of 275 at market prices on day marketed, plus a bonus of four dollars.

Purchases are to be completed about October 1. He said program would be ready to become effective in few days.

Expressed view if Texas production alone could be regulated, question production control nationally be simple.

Brady Citizens Protest Pardon Issued To Woman

BRADY—Resentment has been expressed by Brady's citizenship since Governor Ferguson's pardon of Fern Pharris, convicted on a liquor law violation, became known here.

"The governor's action in this case is an insult to our citizenship and to good government," Judge W. B. Douglas, justice of the peace, declared. "What's the use of our officers attempting a rigid enforcement of our laws when pardons are issued to offenders even before they are sent to the penitentiary?" the aged officer queries.

Sheriff Love Kimbrough and Grover Chambers, city marshal, who made the arrest of Fern Pharris and her husband, job in the protest backed by other citizens.

Resentment against the pardon in this case is intensified by the fact that Mrs. Pharris was still under a 5-year suspended sentence and she was arrested again since her conviction in May, for which the pardon was issued, on a similar charge.

Her two bondsmen, a Brady merchant and a Mason county ranchman, who had signed her $2,000 appeal bond, had their names removed from the bond upon her arrest on July 6 as a result of a raid made by local officers on her home on July 4.

A one thousand dollar bond was set on her last charge in justice court here, but executive clemency was granted before she succeeded in making this bond.

When given a 5-year suspended sentence two or three years ago, she promised the judge that she would leave this county, but she never left Brady now. Even though she was unable to make bond on her last arrest, officers turned her loose without this security when the pardon was announced.

However, the charges against Fern Pharris in this case are still pending, and if she should be brought back and convicted it would be her third conviction.

Her lawyer is Coke R. Stevenson of Junction, who was speaker of the House during the last term of the legislature. He also represented John Pharris, Fern's present husband - His 3-year sentence was commuted to one year at the same time when Fern was handed her freedom.

Warning Of Agreements For Fixing Of Prices Issued By James V. Allred

Attorney General Cites That President's Program Calls For Putting Men To Work; Anti-Trust Laws Still In Effect

AUSTIN — Attorney General James V. Allred has issued the following warning on price fixing agreements: "I have been asked for a statement as to the right of various contracts to get together under the national recovery act. At the very outset I want it definitely understood that I have every desire to cooperate with President Roosevelt, and what I shall say is entirely consistent with his attitude as publicly expressed. I have refrained from offering comment in order that he might have opportunity to fully develop his 'new deal' under the industrial recovery act.

"It may be that in order to protect producers and the public some form of governmental price control will become necessary. Fixing prices by agreement, however, in my opinion is illegal both under federal and state antitrust laws. Certainly it could not be contended at a moment that price fixing by agreement is legal under any code. Such code expressly authorizes it and even then it must be approved by the president. It must be with reference to business engaged in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce.

Price Fixing Condemned

"Since my return from Washington I have been informed that various concerns have gotten together and fixed prices by agreement. Some of them without even having submitted a code to the president for approval, and even in those cases where a code has been promulgated no provision is made for price fixing by agreement.

"It is my understanding that these concerns are posting notices and advertising that pursuant to the 'president's program' they are raising prices. This is not pursuant to the president's program. It is absolutely contrary to it. Administrator Johnson and Attorney General Cummings have issued repeated warnings that they are not going to stand for any unwarranted hiking of prices, and, as attorney general of Texas, I serve the same notice.

Profiteering Opposed

"The primary purpose of the national recovery act is to put men back to work and increase buying power. To carry out this program it was proposed to shorten hours of labor and provide minimum rates of pay so that additional men and women could be employed. Of course, the national administration must have contemplated that such a program would necessarily result in each concern individually adjusting prices for itself so as to take care of increased costs; the administration, however, did not intend to authorize getting together and fixing unreasonable and outrageous charges. The national administration in its appeal for cooperation asked for sacrifice, not profiteering.

"If, as I am told, some of these concerns have already gotten together and fixed prices without a code in the expectation that the president is going to approve their actions, however, I, honest some of them may have been, in my judgment, they are going to be sorely disappointed. Despite propaganda to the contrary, neither state or federal antitrust laws have been repealed. The federal laws have simply been modified so as to permit the making of what might be termed 'reasonable agreements' as to labor and unfair trade practices, but not the right to revoke, modify, change or rescind such approval at any time. Attorney General Cummings has repeatedly stated that the antitrust laws are still in full force and will be enforced.

Roosevelt

Traffic Towers of Washington and New York.
By Burton Kline
Thomas Jefferson once said that what this country needs is a first-class revolution every 50 years. He made it 60 or 80 he would have been still more the prophet. At about those intervals we have had three of his prescribed revolutions. The first has been made somewhat familiar in the school books. The second came the famous "four score and seven years ago" afterward we are living through the third one.

All three found their natural leaders. Washington not merely won the Revolution he was the Revolution. This country is the United States because G. Washington had the program. He was not going to let anything happen without his approval. He was not going to let anything happen without his approval. He was not going to let anything happen without his approval. He was not going to let anything happen without his approval.

Strengthening Of Fight For Better West Texas Crude Oil Prices Urged By President Of New Organization

The West Texas Landowners and Oil Producers Association is urging all landowners in West Texas to become members at once of the organization that a united front may be presented in Austin at the hearing before the Texas Railroad Commission on the allowable prices for Texas oil fields are set.

Claude Alkman, president of the association, said that the organization needed 2,000 additional members by the end of the week. "This drive is prompted by two conditions," he said: "First, the low price for West Texas oil and second, the threat that the already low allowable in West Texas is being cut still more. Every land owner in West Texas should join this association and lend his wholehearted support to it in this battle to bring prosperity back to the farms and ranches in West Texas.

"Due to the ruinously low prices paid for West Texas oil in the past three years, over 2,000,000 acres in leases have been dropped from the rolls by West Texas oil companies. On an average of 50c per acre rental, this means a loss of $1,000,000,000 per year to West Texas land owners. On another 2,000,000 acres the yearly bonus has been reduced for another $500,000,000. The West Texas land owners have been forced to stand this loss at a time when the price for wool and cattle have been the lowest in history and it has been a severe blow. The oil companies could not be blamed because they could not continue to hold these leases and pay these high rentals when selling their oil at a price of from 20c to 30c per barrel lower than competitive oil in East Texas and the Gulf Coast.

infant political experiment, he did it again—on his will and character. President Washington was the United States Government. Instructed of his day thought poorly of his intellect. Washington himself thought about the same. But 3,000,000 Americans of 1792 are 120,000,000 today because G. Washington "had something."

Lincoln was routed only a little less bravely than was Washington, but the States remain united because of the gawky rail-splitter exalted with his will and character. And because he "had something."

A Market Again

Look over your morning paper again if you don't believe another of Jefferson's revolutions is on Wall Street, for years the inside government of the United States, by its own act ceases to be a Monte Carlo and becomes a market again. Banks by the thousand hang up the Blue Eagle. Ditto big corporations in flaming ads in the papers. Small town merchants are mobbed by the populace for working their clerks too many hours by the code.

Some of this may be done to be in fashion. Many of the original Crusaders may have joined the march on Jerusalem to be in style or just for the outing. Historians have belittled the frail little man who started them off. But he also "had something." Not all revolutions are bloody and that particular leader of one changed the mind of a world.

He's Through

Jimmie Walker is through. The Governor got about the legislation he wanted. He got the Presidency. Afterward he put on the carpet the great "em" of industry. He never socked below the belt but he loves the knockout. Before and after he was nominated his opponents had one set counter-sock against him. He was a "weak" man. Even physically weak. It is true that the crank of industry is physically weak, but he has his legs. He put them back under him by will and character. He has his legs because he has a chin.

He roamed the country delivering what were whiffed away as college orations. But John W. Citizens believed he was getting on an elegant college course on the simple subject of running the United States. The Roosevelt campaign was a string of lectures for the benefit of millions whose depression worries gave them no peace to read or think. Then they put on the "em" of industry. He never socked below the belt but he loves the knockout.

But it was said, "A good man, but not a 'em' one." He took the oath of office at 12 noon on March 4th. By 12:30 he had handled the bank crisis.

A panic-stricken Congress, perpetual crisis to any President, was printing money again. The President took inflation out of its hands and locked it up in the White House cupboard. Business blinked its eyes, felt of its legs, and took the first step forward in four years.

Next the Recovery program. Beautiful if it worked. If it didn't, what a joke on Roosevelt! Then discovery that if Recovery failed the joke was on the country. And not much of a joke. Get the drift? Next the spreading of Recovery to the world—the London Conference. It is believed that Mr. Roosevelt blew up his own baby with explosive message. Now what he really did begins to be seen. World-planning is a colossal affair and the Conference got bogged. The Roosevelt message blew that away and said simply, "From now on this is the way we're going." In Europe they've been us in getting the drift of this. Said the London Times: "It is no longer the President who is an trial.... He has given his best.... It is upon the American people that the eyes of the world will be turned."

Gene Sarazen Wins Professional Title Over Willie Goggin 5 And 4

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Storming over the fairways of Blue Mound with magic irons and a putter that routed par by four shots, Gene Sarazen, for years the inside slant golf champion, for the third time of his illustrious career Sunday by submerging the stout-hearted Willie Goggin of San Francisco, 5 and 4.

His triumph, clinched by a great afternoon finish after the 200-yard, six-foot professional of Blue Mound golf course had held him to a single hole advantage after a hard battle in the morning, came exactly 10 years after his last professional crown, which he captured by defeating Walter Hagen in that memorable 38-hole overtime match at Pelham.

Gene's triumph not only assured him of escaping a shutout in major championship competition this year after his open conquests of the United States and Great Britain in 1932, but it gave him more satisfaction than any other title. "Pretty good for a washed up golfer," he grinned with his cocky air. "Not all revolutions are bloody and that particular leader of one changed the mind of a world."

The Crusades were a psychological revolution and every event of today bears evidence that this is another. Nobody knows how the leadership comes about. Some profound instinct in a people and the same instinct in a strong man discover each other. That is one explanation. And the thing appears to have happened again. Suppose this to be written 30 years from today. Certain facts not understood by the few will be common knowledge.

Thirty years from now it will be known that as Governor of New York Franklin D. Roosevelt got away with one of the stiffest tactical feats ever accomplished in national politics. The opposite party had him spotted as certain to lose "em" if nominated. They set out to get him. They got after him through his own party, for Tammany itself is office-boy to a certain great Republican banking house in New York. They sent out against Roosevelt the most popular Democrat in the State to snipe him. All that the Governor had to do was handle a hostile legislature. What resulted?

But for a pair of three-putt greens, Goggin would have led Sarazen instead of trailing him. At the end of the morning 18, which saw both hooking wildly from the tee frequently and strolling through the rough. Sarazen started his victory march on the second hole as "Wallpaper Willie" dubbed a niblick shot and lost the hole with a five. They played evenly until the sixth. Goggin squared the duel by holing a 40-foot putt down a treacherous incline for a birdie three. Sarazen bounded one up on the short eight, as his putter responded, by canning an eight-footer for a duce. Goggin evened it up again on the 400-yard tenth by parking a mangle shot from 120 yards three feet high for a birdie three. Three putts by Goggin on the thirteenth sent Gene one up again but back came Goggin to square it for the third and last time with a great spoon shot on the fourteenth that carried his ball 225 yards over the traps and on the newspaper in the country daily proclaims his getting away with a whole of a lot. Thirty years from now it will be said that he "had something."

That fact may come to be understood before then. When it is, it will not be Mr. Roosevelt who is the eyes of a people.

Gene Sarazen Wins Professional Title Over Willie Goggin 5 And 4

green to produce an ultimate birdie four. Gene drilled in a birdie three and a par four on the next two, hauling his colors up to stay. He gallantly overlooked the dead stance of the seventeenth hole to concede a half to his stout-hearted rival Willie's last threatening salute came on the home green where he smashed a 220-yard approach seven feet of the cup for a birdie, three, trimming Gene's lead to only one hole.

Goggin's only winning hole in the afternoon came on the twenty-fifth, another birdie produced by 15-foot putt. That came after Gene had won three of the first five holes with superb golf and didn't make any difference.

Gene ended the match in brilliant fashion with a pair of birdies. Four up at the three-quarter turn and playing for halves on the next three in par, he arched a spectacular approach from the rough to only three feet of the pin and sank his putt for a three. On the final hole, Goggin, tossing all caution to the winds, hit a remarkable wood shot more than 220 yards that sent his ball 10 feet past the cup to give him a chance for an eagle. Unperturbed, Sarazen short with his second, rolled his approach six feet beyond the cup and sank it for a half in four.

Safe Crackers Net $400 Cash In Burglary Of Clare Grocery Here; Other Attempted Robberies Fail

While officers sought prowlers in the west part of town Saturday night, burglars crashed the skylight at Clare's Grocery and Market at Second and Runnels streets and made a haul which netted more than $400 in cash from the safe after knocking off the knob and using a punch.

Attempts to enter the Kib Furniture company and the Borrow Furniture company stores near the Clare store failed when burglars encountered heavy iron bars as they sought to enter from the roof. W. B. Clare, proprietor of the grocery, said Monday that his loss amounted to approximately $400 in cash. Thieves also took a watch, ring, and other small trinkets. Checks and papers were not molested. Only meagre clues were left behind and officers investigating the burglary Monday were puzzled. The two night officers of the city were notified of prowlers infesting the west side and were called to that section to investigate. It was while they were on this mission that the store was presumably burglarized. Mr. Clare discovered his loss Sunday morning when he came to the store to turn out lights and adjust his filing machine.

NRA Questions And Answers

WASHINGTON—What does the NRA mean? The following questions were developed and answered today by officials of the National Recovery Administration:

Are employers expected to increase the price of their merchandise to take care of what expense they incur in increasing the number of men they must employ? Yes. The only restraint asked is that employers not raise prices any more than costs are raised.

What is the basic idea back of the NRA? A cooperative effort to spread buying power. Has the NRA set a "deadline" for employers to obtain the blue eagle insignia? No.

What does the NRA say about those employers who insist that the increased cost they must stand under the president's reemployment agreement will prove disastrous? It is expected that for a limited time there will be higher costs because there are higher sales, but unless the whole plan of the NRA is to fail this condition will not last long and in the short time that it does last, the burden is not very heavy for anybody.

What constitutes an eight hour day under the president's reemployment agreement? Generally speaking, an employee who starts at 8 in the morning has one hour for lunch, and quits at 6 in the afternoon. Is Sunday considered a legal holiday under the president's reemployment agreement? In the absence of a ruling from the policy board of the NRA on this question, the officials are advising that Sunday is not a legal holiday. If the Blue Eagle is taken away from a business or an individual will it be a matter of public information? Yes. Publicity concerning the action probably will come from Washington.

Is there any limit to what restaurant operators may charge their employees for meals? Yes, under the restaurant industry code, $3 a week is all that may be deducted. Are tips included in the minimum wage set for waiters and waitresses? No.

What are the maximum hours barbers and operators of beauty shops may work? Under the temporary code pending acceptance by the NRA of a permanent one, they may work 48 hours a week. Clearest rules in such shops, however, are on a 40 hour a week basis.

Will the NRA attempt police power after all the codes have been submitted and approved? NRA officials now do not contemplate such action, preferring it possible to place such power in the hands of a governmental agency such as the federal trade commission.

What about profiteers under the NRA? The completion of this act is first step to the reemployment board of the NRA for recommendations as to fitting.

Plan Completed For Full Payment To Cotton Farmers Of Cash Without Withholding Sums Due Government

Construction Force Is 275, Mary Reports

Two Shifts Used Daily, Terms Of Temporary Code Are Followed

Fifty-three men were added to the Coaden Oil Corporation's construction crew Monday morning, when the company went on the temporary war-and-hour code for the oil industry. E. J. Mary, superintendent, announced.

Addition of these men brought the number working on an hourly basis to a total of 275. This force is in addition to the regular operating staff of the refinery, which works on a monthly salary basis.

In compliance with the temporary code of the oil industry, prescribed by NRA pending agreement on the permanent national code, the Coaden employees have been placed on a 40-hour week, working 6-hour shifts. One shift goes on at 8 a. m., another at 1 p. m. The minimum wage of 45 cents per hour, as prescribed by the temporary code, is being paid the 275 men.

Two Hundred Millions To Be Paid Cotton, Wheat Growers

600 Present For Revival

WASHINGTON (AP) — Department of Agriculture officials Monday completed a plan which would pay a "loan" of more than $200,000,000 benefits to wheat and cotton farmers for curtailed production without withholding sum due the government as seed, feed and other loans.

The Church of Christ revival meeting, now in progress at Fourth and Johnson streets, continues to grow in interest. Last night 600 persons heard the local minister, Melvin J. Wise speak on "The History of the Church of Christ During the First Century, the Apostasy, the Reformation, and the Restoration." From the book of Acts of the apostles, the church from its establishment in Jerusalem on Pentecost, A. D. 33, to the close of the first century.

Mr. Wise said in part: "After the church of our Lord grew by leaps and bounds, Paul began to visualize the future of the church from the faith, so he wrote this prophetic statement to the Thessalonians: 'Let no man deceive you by any means; for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition.'"

Mr. Wise said in part: "After the church of our Lord grew by leaps and bounds, Paul began to visualize the future of the church from the faith, so he wrote this prophetic statement to the Thessalonians: 'Let no man deceive you by any means; for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition.'"

Mr. Wise then took up the rise of creeds and sects, and by the aid of a chart, gave a brief survey of the origin of some of the major denominations. He then took up the Restoration movement.

Mr. Wise said in part: "Barton W. Stone, a young Presbyterian minister came to the state of Kentucky from Maryland, and began to plead for a return to primitive Christianity. In 1807 Thomas Campbell, who was also a Presbyterian preacher, came from Scotland to America. When he landed on American soil, the synod was in session at Philadelphia. They received him gladly and assigned him a pastorate in Washington county, Pennsylvania. He set the Lord's table on each first day of the week according to the apostolic custom, and for this he was called in question by the officials of his church. He landed in his resignation, and in 1809 when his wife and son, Alexander, came to America, they were all immersed by Elder Luce of the Baptist denomination for the restoration of sin into Christ.

Disturbing Conditions Reflected in First Reports On Relief Needs From Farmers In Howard, Other Counties

Disturbing, indeed, are the pictures projected by the first farm relief survey blanks being received here by the Chamber of Commerce.

Only a few of the several hundred blanks given farmers of Midland, Martin, Glasscock, Dawson and Howard counties have been returned here, but without exception they present a rather dismal outlook.

"Income for 1933 decreased because of drought" is the phrase permeating every report yet received. Some do not list a single cent of anticipated revenue. In almost every case the figure is low with revenue expected solely from dairy and poultry products.

Liabilities run far above assets and obligations due before July 31, 1934 far exceed the fondest estimated incomes.

Immediate relief, read a majority of the reports, is necessary. The balance held relief to be imperative before the winter is over.

One Bright Spot

One encouraging factor is that some of the reports showed that it had yet become necessary to sacrifice farm and work animals and implements in order to gain a livelihood. To prevent this is the main objective of the committee appointed by a mass meeting in Stanton August 4. On that committee are State Senator A. P. Duggan, Littlefield, C. T. Watson, Big Spring, and A. B. Davis, Lubbock. The committee is identical with the one that represented farmers at the cotton acreage retirement plan.

The committee and its co-workers want and intend to make possible retention of farms by their owners. More than anything else, they wish to prevent an urban shift of rural population.

Consider the case of one Knott farmer. His assets, according to his own estimate, amount to $642. Anticipated income for the year was listed at $5, obligations maturing within the year at $370 and total liabilities $700. Such is the condition under which he must exist and feed a wife and two children.

Another farmer has nine children, six of whom are under twelve years of age. His assets total $419.50 and he expects no income from any source. He has maturing obligations amounting to $815.50 and liabilities of $1,400.50.

Still another with assets aggregating more than $2,000 expects no more than $150 income during the year. Outstanding obligations which fall due within the twelve months exceed his assets and estimated income by more than $500.

A Glasscock county farmer declares his assets to be only $67.50. He can see no income in sight. His liabilities rise like a mountain.

More farmers from the same county face a similar situation, according to their survey blanks.

Perhaps these reports are exaggerated in some instances. One farmer estimated he would need $1,400 on which to subsist. The man with nine children said he could get by on half of that amount.

When the word "relief" seems nearer being a reality, there are a few farmers who would be the case in any group of people, who sense a comparatively easy time with relief living. This, according to officials in charge of the survey, might be well come out of their heads to begin with.

The plan of battle is built along this line: The farmer is to exhaust every means of bettering his own condition before outright relief is sought.

For instance, he will seek employment under public works programs, highway construction, seek crop production and feed loans; then attempt to gain cash benefits for cotton acreage he would plough under next year. All this falling short of a living wage, relief funds would be sought.

Uncertainty of passage of the $20,000,000 relief bond issue and possible withdrawal of federal relief funds from Texas make it doubtful if relief funds will stand a serious drain by farmers, or urban dwellers.

If NRA "clicks" tension will be lessened. Should it not work and no relief is made possible, calamity stares the farmer in the face.

Former Envoy To U.S. Seen As His Successor

Secretary Of State To Quit; Secret Police Chief Is Slain

HAVANA (AP)—A mob celebrating the ousting of President Machado sacked the presidential palace Saturday afternoon. All political factions have agreed that Carlos Manuel Decespodes, former ambassador to the United States should be the new president.

Immediate relief, read a majority of the reports, is necessary. The balance held relief to be imperative before the winter is over.

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban state department Saturday formally advised the diplomatic corps that President Machado will take a leave of absence and that it is the president's purpose later to resign.

The communication said Orestes Ferrara, secretary of state had previously resigned but that he was continuing and the department would handle routine matters until Ferrara's successor is appointed.

Colonel Horacio Ferrer, 61-year-old doctor, was regarded as the outstanding presidential candidate. He told the Associated Press he did not want the post.

Colonel Antonio Jimenez, chief of the dreaded secret police of the Machado regime, was shot and killed by soldiers Saturday after he had wounded an unidentified man celebrating the end of the Machado administration.

Copyright, 1933, By The Associated Press

HAVANA—Cuban military forces, the army, navy and flying corps, in a swift and bloodless revolution late Friday demanded the resignation of President Gerardo Machado within 24 hours, climaxing demands by political leaders that the executive step down.

To give force to their demand they took possession of five strategic points in and about the city while awaiting the deadline they set—noon Saturday. The 24 hours was figured from the actual beginning of the movement.

Leaders distributed throughout the city by soldiers declared that while the executive had promised "to resign within the next 24 or 48 hours and that a provisional president would be appointed," this was not satisfactory to the armed force.

An appeal was made to the populace to maintain tranquility, "since there will be no violence."

This dramatic development followed within a few hours advance of a counter proposal by the president to demand from opposition forces that he leave office.

Summer Welles, United States ambassador, acting as mediator in attempts to solve this island republic's political turmoil had made the first proposal to Machado that he resign and name a successor acceptable to all parties.

The president's proposal provided for his own retirement and the succession of Alberto Herrera, the secretary of war.

Deciding upon their program leaders of the movement informed Herrera by telephone of their demand. The president, summoning Herrera and others of his intimates, drove swiftly to Camp Columbia, where the demand was formally presented by Captain Mario Torres Menier, chief of the aviation corps.

Secretary of State Orestes Ferrara, a member of the presidential party, asked that time be granted for determination how the abdication could be legally carried out. High officers of the revolutionary movement went into session to decide the matter.

While the president's liberal party was preparing the counter proposal to the suggestion of Welles, the army, navy and aviation corps acted swiftly and smoothly to carry out their program without firing a shot.

Demand Unanimous

Artillery battalion No. 1, stationed in Cubana fortress under the command of Captain Patricio de Cardenas, led the way. It demanded the resignation of the president within 24 hours. All other battalions were invited to join in the movement and broadcast to this effect went out addressed to the interior.

The response was unanimous. Detachments stationed at Cabana, Castillo de la Fuerza—the location of army headquarters—Camp Columbia, Dragones barracks and throughout the island announced their accession to the movement.

Artillery at Cabana fortress was moved in position to bear on the presidential palace.

Leaders of the coup said they were demanding abdication by Machado as the price of political peace in Cuba and to avoid any threat of intervention by the United States. America is so empowered under the Platt amendment, which is a part of the Cuban constitution.

The palace guard was rushed to man machine guns which were hastily mounted around the president's residence. The presidential guard of cavalry was brought up for reinforcement.

Also among the leaders of the movement, Torres Menier said were Major Honorio Ferrer, retired officer of the medical corps, and Colonel Alberto de Carriarte, attached to the general staff of the navy. Carriarte took charge of navy headquarters at the Castillo de la Punta.

Torres Menier added that all jobs of the aviation corps had been completed. R. W. Henry is Colonel No. 1. Dr. M. H. Bennett is general and Mrs. Charles Eberly lieutenant-general.

How To Get The Blue Eagle Told In Brief Notice

"How do I obtain the Blue Eagle?" This often repeated question is answered clearly and concisely by General Thomas S. Hammond, executive director of the president's re-employment program.

His statement follows:

There are three methods which may be pursued.

1. Sign the president's re-employment agreement as is—without change or modification. Mail it to the district office of the Department of Commerce. Put its provisions into operation. Sign the certificate of compliance. Hand it to your local postmaster, who will post your name on the honor roll and hand you your Blue Eagle.

2. If your line of business has submitted a code and the NRA has temporarily approved hours and wages to be in effect until the code is approved by the president, do this: Sign the president's re-employment agreement. Mail it to the district office of the Department of Commerce. Comply with its provision as far as possible. Now, if a specific code has been submitted by your industry and its wage hour provisions accepted by a NRA deputy administrator, sign the certificate of compliance with this endorsement: "To the extent of NRA consent as announced, we have complied with the president's agreement by conforming with the substituted provisions of the code submitted for the (blank) trade or industry." Hand this to your local postmaster, who will post your name on the honor roll and hand you the Blue Eagle.

3. If neither 1 nor 2 applies and you feel you have to file a petition for relief, do this: Sign the president's re-employment agreement, mail it to the district office of the Department of Commerce. If you feel you cannot comply with most of its provisions, then prepare a petition to the NRA asking for a stay postponement of those provisions which would produce an "unavoidable hardship." Submit this petition to a trade association of your industry, or, if none, to your local Chamber of Commerce, or such other organization as can properly vouch for the facts. If officially accepted by one of above, add following to the face of your certificate: "Except for those interim provisions regarding wages and hours which have been approved by the (blank) association or organization, you authorize you to use the NRA Blue Eagle. This latest procedure may take some time and, of course, subject to reversal when your petition is reviewed by the NRA."

Local Relief Leaders Home From Austin

Martelle McDonald, chairman of the county Rehabilitation and Relief committee, and Homer McNew, county relief administrator, returned Saturday from Austin, where they attended a state-wide meeting of county and city officials, relief committees, Chamber of Commerce executives and others for the purpose of strengthening the campaign for passage August 26 of a proposal to issue up to $20,000,000 state bonds for direct relief purposes.

James E. Ferguson was the principal speaker. He stressed that Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, had declared flatly that Texas will be dropped from the list of states receiving R. F. C. funds if Texas turn down the bond proposal.

A report from federal authorities in Washington, issued following an investigation of methods being followed in administering federal relief funds under direction of Chairman Lawrence Westbrook of the state relief commission, expressed confidence in Westbrook and his organization and termed the organization one of the most efficient to be found in the country.

Senator Walter Woodul of Houston was one of the speakers. He said he was author of the resolution through which the bond proposal is being submitted to the people, and urged its adoption. General Jake Walters, national guard commander, attorney for a major oil company, predicted that if the bonds were not passed people would break into grocery stores and take food. He declared, the local men reported, that when such riots occurred the public would ask the governor to call out the national guard, but the guardsmen would be sent out with orders not to shoot a single person who broke into a store to obtain food.

Light, Power Telephone On Given Codes

Construction Trades Included; Modified Agreements Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employees of four more major industries—electric light, power; telephone; canning, construction—Saturday were brought under NRA wage and work time supervision with approval of Hugh Johnson of modified presidential re-employment agreements.

More than a million and half workers were officially estimated as affected immediately by the action, under which employers may sign the blanket presidential agreement with their own modified wage and hour specifications and receive Blue Eagle. The administration estimated 150,000 new jobs will be provided.

Larger pay envelopes and shortening of working hours were provided for employees of electric light and power, gas and utility—including natural and manufactured gas—telephone, canning and construction companies.

Other groups blanketed under the temporary provisions by Johnson were paper and pulp, fruit and flavoring syrups; gear, suspender and belt, and marking device industries.

This mass action by Johnson was part of an effort by the administration to bring all employees under temporary wage and hour agreements this month pending adoption of codes through more intricate procedure.

It brought to 74 the number of industries which are now included. In addition to six permanent codes which have been approved by the president.

The nation's so-called basic industries remain largely unaffected, except as they have voluntarily increased wages, and shortened hours to work in cooperation with President Roosevelt's recovery program.

Shell Petroleum Corporation, Long Prominent In Exploration In This Section, Opens Sales Outlets Here

As in the past when Shell's big yellow trucks were welcomed with engaged in production and pipe line work meaning work for many hands, and as the geophysical, land and geological department crews of Shell were gladly received by Big Spring merchants as they piled their work in this area, so was the Shell Sales division welcomed as endless streams of local as well as tourist cars drove into the big new Super Shell station to fill their gas tanks with the new powerful super Shell gasoline and oil Saturday.

Shroyer Bros., remodeled the premises at 424 East Third street at considerable expense, to provide the best outlet ever made for service to motorists using Super Shell products. Several extra men put on for the opening day were swamped with work. It was necessary to put on extra car washers and lubrication men.

The Shell Petroleum Corporation is represented in West Texas and southeastern New Mexico by the Westco Oil Corporation, an aggressive company headed by a lively personnel. Ted O. Groob, general manager, said the company has a great many requests from service stations all along the Bankhead highway for contracts with Shell.

Big Spring warehouse and bulk storage plant will serve a large area, and H. L. Bohannon has been given district sales manager's position. Frank McCallough is tank truck salesman and Roland Tressie is manager of installation department. Dewey Young will act as salesman. Mr. Groob said other Shell stations may be located here. However, the number is limited.

"Our policies of cooperation," Mr. Groob said, "and our New Deal program, are welcome wherever we expand, and the quality of the product is a great inducement for the motorist who cares."

The band and novel Shell parades were enjoyed by the down town crowds Saturday. Roland Tressie, the jovial six footer, kept the crowds in great spirit with his clowning.

The Shell dance at the Settles ballroom Saturday evening was an affair to be long remembered. A number of guests from distant points were registered for the occasion. Shell representatives present were: Derdorf, district superintendent of Shell Pipe Line, St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Derdorf; W. B. Sanders, Shell Pipe Line superintendent and Mrs. Sanders; A. McCamey; A. R. Beala, chief automotive inspector, Shell Petroleum Corporation, Houston; E. J. Strawn, automotive superintendent at Dallas; K. L. ### Perfection Of Capitol Portraits May Break Out Again When Latest Portrait Of Houston Is Presented

AUSTIN (UP).—The dispute in Texas' art colony over the perfection of portraits hung in the state capitol is expected to break out anew when another picture of Sam Houston is presented during the proposed special session of the legislature.

The portrait, painted by T. J. Donnellan, depicts the noted Texas statesman at the height of his fame as United States senator.

One portrait of Sam Houston owned by the state shows him in the evening of life. He wears a beaver hat and a blanket about his shoulders. Artists have been generous in their praise of the portrait, particularly for the perfection of Houston's hands.

The hands of former Governor James Stephen Hogg as shown in his portrait, hanging in the hall of the house of representatives, are criticized from the standpoint of execution. The hands are too small for a man his size, many artists have declared.

Critics also find fault with the house painting of Stephen F. Austin with a dog and rifle. The picture makes Austin appear to be a careless hunter. He has a finger over the muzzle of his long rifle.

The size of his head also has provoked arguments. State portraits show that the founder of the Texas colonies had an unusually large head. The sculpture by Elizabeth Ney, shows him with a small head.

A large painting of the battle of San Jacinto was purchased a number of years ago by the state and now hangs in the senate's chamber. The painter, McArdle, spent years collecting photographs of participants in the battle and descriptions of their clothing and weapons.

Details of the uniforms of Mexican troops and the relative position of different organizations were taken from official records.

The picture's reputation for accuracy suffered somewhat when the flag carried through the smoke of the historic battle was presented the Texas house of representatives. It differed considerably from its representation in the battle scene.

Many critics have pointed out that McArdle had to paint from descriptions alone and that its representation is remarkable in similarity to the actual flag.

Cotton Checks Are Due Soon

While all acceptances from Howard, Martin and Midland counties are already in Washington, many counties this week filed their first final acceptances.

New Mexico Models Highway Patrol Force After Texas System

AUSTIN (UP).—A sister state has turned once again to Texas for the model of an official force.

New Mexico has patterned its highway force after the state highway patrol of Texas. Texas' complete set of rules and regulations have been adopted by New Mexico, L. G. Phares, chief of the Texas patrol, said after returning here from a conference in Santa Fe.

Captain Homer Garrison of the Texas patrol was sent to Santa Fe to aid in a school of instruction for the 10 New Mexico patrolmen who will comprise the first unit of the state's new official group.

Chief Phares and his wife were made honorary members of the New Mexico patrol during their visit.

The gift, proceeds of which are to be applied on the federation's clubhouse debt, was accepted by Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston, president, when the Knickerbocker No. 1 Fuller was spudded in recently.

Mrs. Fincher was named permanent independent trustee. The clubhouse is being erected in Austin at a cost of $175,000.

THE GREATEST ASKING FORCE

Timorous souls who see the death of individualism and individual initiative in the dead-leveling effect of the NRA codes need not be alarmed.

You can't repeal natural law, not even by substituting something else "just as good."

Two runners line up for a hundred yard dash. They are the same size, have on the same type of running trunks, and travel over exactly the same cinder track for exactly the same distance. Yet one runner finishes ahead of the other; dead heats are extremely rare.

NRA undertakes to give every man an even break. What he does with it after he gets it is up to him. Some will finish ahead of others, in spite of everything.

If the business man thinks he can fold his arms and wait for business to come his way, he is in for a rude awakening. Business goes only where it is asked. Prices may be the same. Store equipment and store personnel may be the same. But one firm will continue to do more business than another, as always.

The greatest asking force in American business is advertising. The ones who employ it to the best advantage will be the ones who finish first in the hundred-yard dash back to prosperity.

CREATING BUYERS

President Roosevelt is urging state managers of the home owners' loan corporation to shake a leg and bring immediate relief to those in imminent fear of foreclosure. Indeed, one gathers the impression that the president has told the men in charge of the matter to get busy, or else.

This has a more important bearing on the general recovery program than most people realize. Thousands of small home owners, potential buyers in various lines, are waiting to get that heavy mortgage lifted before turning loose any savings or current income. As soon as Uncle Sam takes over the family pot and grants long terms at low interest rates, these home owners will feel free to do a little spending—not until.

So in urging immediate action the president really is protecting his recovery program. The deal cuts for a sure, steady pull all down the line, and the home and farm storage situation has been one of the main barriers to recovery.

What with high taxes, insurance and heavy mortgage interest rates, home and farm owners haven't been spending much money for the past three years.

If they can be put in the big parade of spending, a partial answer to the question of where have the buyers gone will have been given.

THE FOREST ARMY

Good reports come from the 1428 camps scattered over the country in which some 300,000 youths are enrolled in the Civilian Conservation corps.

These amateur foresters, according to government officials, are excelling their keep in improving the nation's forests by building roads and bridges, clearing underbrush, protecting the forests against fire and pests, and performing other useful tasks.

In addition, the young men, most of whom otherwise would be idle, are engaged in healthful outdoor work, and seem to be having a pretty good time of it. The government is spending about $20,000,000 a month in maintaining the corps, but most of this is sent to the families of the workers, who have been on relief rolls.

The forest army was originally enlisted for six months, but unless congress objects, will be kept at work until spring because of the good showing that has been made.

Man Serves In Jail Because He Refused To Bring Son To Court

EDINBURG (UP).—W. K. Long of Donna, recently was released from the Hidalgo county jail after he had served 19 days of an indeterminate sentence for contempt of court. He was sent to jail on July 20 for failing to produce his small son in court.

The circumstances surrounding Long's case are among the most unusual ever recorded in Hidalgo county.

Several years ago, Long and his first wife were divorced and the custody of the child was given Long. Both he and his first wife married a second time. Long married early in July this year. His first wife's attorneys secured a court order for Long to produce his son. Long's sister cared for the child, now a 10-year-old boy. Before Long appeared in court his sister took the boy to Mississippi. When Long failed to produce his son, he was sent to jail until the boy was brought into court.

Long's attorneys went to Mississippi and sought to force the return of the boy to Texas. The Mississippi courts refused the order on the grounds the child was in good custody. In the meantime, the father was held in the Hidalgo county jail with no alternative save to produce his boy in court.

Long posted $1,000 bond for his appearance at the September term of court and departed for Mississippi in an effort to obtain his son from his sister.

Express Rates On Bread From Houston To Be Cut

AUSTIN (UP).—By the end of this month express rates on bread from Houston to various parts of the state must be reduced, an order of the state railroad commission says. The minimum charge will be 27 cents. Over 100 pounds the rate will be for 100 pounds or more.

To Austin the rate will be 83 cents a hundred; to Commerce, McAllen, Menard and San Benito $1.30. Intermediate rates are: Beaumont, 63 cents; Dallas, $1.05; Fort Worth, $1.18; Galveston, 55 cents; Mexia, 93 cents and Waco, 98 cents. The same rates will apply on cake.

A new rate on butter also has been announced between Waco and Dallas. It is 60 cents a hundred pounds.

SWISHER TO VOTE

TULIA (UP).—A local option election to be held in Swisher county concurrent with the state election on August 26, has been ordered by the commissioners court.

A petition for the election bore the signatures of more than 10 per cent of the voters of the county.

Approximately half the qualified voters of Swisher county hold poll tax receipts this year. These number 900 as compared to about 2,000 in previous years.

"This is what I understand by the N. R. A."

FOR FOUR YEARS we have been in the grip of the worst depression the world has ever known.

The farmer can raise good things to eat—but there has been no money to buy them.

The manufacturer can make good things to wear, to live with, to enjoy—but there has been no money to pay for them.

Now the President is forging ahead on a trail that will put men back to work, put money in their pockets, create markets for the farmer's and the manufacturer's goods.

He is offering every one of us an opportunity to help.

You can help, if you are an employer, by signing the Reemployment Agreement—employing more people for less hours, paying every individual at least the minimum wage.

You can help, if you are a purchaser, by patronizing the stores and the manufacturers who display the N. R. A. emblem—your pledge that they are cooperating with the President's plan to put more money in everyone's pocket.

Yes, it means sacrifice. Many an employer will have a higher payroll to meet. Many an employee who has a job now will work less hours and get less money in total even though his hourly wage be raised.

But as I understand the N. R. A., no sacrifice is too great. For if this courageous experiment fails, we'll all pay the price of its failure. And if it succeeds—we'll have taken a long step toward sound and healthy "good times" for us all!

Today, as an employer, I'm signing the Reemployment Pledge. As a purchaser, I'm pledging to patronize other manufacturers and retailers who have signed it. Won't you cooperate, too—to win our way back to PROSPERITY!

Baking Powder Pie Crust
2 1/2 cups sifted flour; 1-4 teaspoon combination baking powder; 1-2 teaspoon salt; 2-3 cup cold shortening; 1-1 cup cold water (about).

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening until pieces are about size of small peas. Add water (preferably ice water), a small amount at a time, mixing slightly with fork. Handle as little as possible. Wrap in waxed paper and chill thoroughly before rolling. Roll out on slightly floured board. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Makes enough pastry for one 9-inch two-crust pie. Use 1-2 recipe for one pie shell only.

Fair Deal For Small Stores Asked By Recovery Officials

WASHINGTON—Reports that many small employers, particularly owners of shops, are being subjected to pressure because they have not found it possible to comply overnight with the provisions of the blanket code, despite their desire to do so, have reached the National Recovery Administration. As a result, the administration has requested newspapers to aid in obtaining fair play for this class of employers.

Explanation was made that readjustment of working conditions so as to comply with the reemployment program is very difficult in many cases, particularly for the employer of only two or three persons. Employers who have signed the agreement and complied, so far as possible, with its provisions, but they have not been able to adjust their machinery to all of its provisions immediately. Pending complete compliance with the terms of the reemployment plan, of course, these employers do not have the Blue Eagle. Hence, pressure has been brought against them.

The hope of the administration is that consumers will deal fairly with the employer who is willing to adopt the reemployment plan but who requires time to make adjustments. The fact that an employer has signed the agreement and does not have the Blue Eagle through no fault of his own, should entitle him, it is felt, to the same consideration as those who have obtained the insignia.

Code Brings Higher Wages To Textile Workers In Georgia

By FOSTER EATON
United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1933, By United Press)

ROME, Ga. (UP)—A new era has opened in the picturesque textile town on the banks of the Etowah river, where 21,000 look to the carders and looms for a livelihood.

At Lindsie, a suburb, day-shift boys released from labor at the Peppers cotton mills, sprawled on the lawn of the community center. A score of workers splashed in the swimming pool, and others played bill or tennis. The company gives a motion picture show every night in the auditorium.

The Peppers mills now employ 1,500 regularly in two 40-hour shifts which run from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily except Sunday. The average weekly pay is $14.55 for a 40-hour week compared with an average of $12 plus for a 55-hour week before the code went into effect.

Before the rush of manufacturing in anticipation of the code's adoption, Peppers employed 1,780 men and women, meaning that 1,370 have been put back to work by the code.

The mills are strictly open shop, but R. D. Harvey, assistant agent said "if the men voted for a union, they could have it, but they have never seemed to care or need it."

Harvey did not seem thoroughly not guilty he returned to again accept full blame for both murders.

"I wanted to get right with God he said after he interrupted his trial to announce to a startled court room that he was a killer. There had been "a thumping" in his breast ever since Mrs. Buchanan was choked to death with her silk stockings as she lay in her bed. Bennett told District Judge Grover C. Adams.

"I want to go to Huntsville as soon as I can and get it over with and tell God the things I told Judge Adams just now," he told newspaper men after the trial. "The thumping has stopped."

Jams And Jellies Made 'The Short Boil' Way Explained To Housewives

By Frances Lee Barton

At most homes there is a cell for jam or jelly almost every day. With a cupboardful of jam and jelly successes, made the short-boil way, with bottled fruit pectin, I can always oblige. This sure, easy method gives jam and jelly the natural flavor of sun-ripe fruit. None of the juice boils away so you get more jelly from the same amount of fruit than can be obtained from the long-boil method.

Plum and Raspberry Jam
4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit; 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar; 1-2 bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare fruit, pit and crush about 1-4 pounds fully ripe plums; cut in small pieces. Do not peel. Add 1-4 cup water, cover, and simmer 15 minutes. Crush thoroughly about 1 quart fully ripe raspberries. Combine fruits.

Measure sugar into large kettle. Add prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in fruit pectin. Skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 10 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Negro Dies In Electric Chair

R. T. Bennett Pays For Murder Of Pretty Dallas Woman

DALLAS (UP)—A negro heart that once thumped with painful knowledge of guilt was stilled for ever early Friday as the state exacted its penalty for a confessed murder.

R. T. Bennett, 25-year-old Dallas negro, walked to the electric chair at Huntsville with a light heart because he had gotten "right with God." He squared his conscience last July 11 when he rose from his seat to announce to a startled court room that he was a killer.

The young negro's death closed one of Dallas' most lurid criminal careers. The two murders, promiscuous robberies, jewel thefts, prowling and terrorisms lay in his wake. He had served three years at Huntsville previously on a theft charge and had been at liberty only a year before his last apprehension.

Arrested for the ambush slaying of Policeman Sam G. Lanford here June 30, Bennett broke under grilling to confess shooting the officer when chased on an early morning round of prowling. Later he confessed the strangling of Mrs. Leona Smiley Buchanan, pretty theatrical company employe, in her apartment December 5, 1932.

With the confession of the latter officers put the answers to an unsolved mystery that had become known as the "Alice murder."

When Mr. Buchanan's body was found two red dots scrawling down a poorly scrawled note was the principal clue to her slayer's identity. "So you don't love me any more," were the taunting words scribbled on the cheap paper.

That it was a clever case of "hears believed" to throw them off the Dallas trail. So, entering the law, he declared himself the slayer of Mrs. Buchanan in a high school room whose teacher kept him outside the grasp of the law. By the he worked in position of trust and was looked upon as charity by the negro district as a potential lover of his wife.

Bennett's arrest, however, broke the confession. One after another had tested if confessions obtained by the police were true. This was the

Two Professors Called Capitol 'Mystery Men'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Professor George Warren of Cornell and James Rogers of Yale, who conferred with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park earlier this week, are two of Washington's biggest "mystery men."

Members of the "brain trust" asserted they are not "trustees." Whether they are on the government payroll or not is concealed.

However, the two have a nice office in the tile-topped department of commerce building. They won't allow interviews or permit pictures to be taken.

Secretary of Commerce Roper says he knows nothing about what they are doing. "Once he was asked if they were still in the building."

"They've left," he drawled.

But the professor-secretary was found to be still in the office.

"They haven't left," Roper was then told.

"Well I guess the president's taking care of them," replied Roper unmoved.

Switchboard operators never heard of either professor. But they have been there, and often.

There could have been plenty of speculation as to what the two discussed with the president. Rogers for example has written books about "stock speculation and the money market," "The process of inflation in France," and "America weighs her gold." Warren has written a great deal about farm problems.

In Hoover says the department of commerce building was like a mammoth stone cave with a few rooms in it. Although several thousand government workers filed about the immense halls seemed dreary. Smoking by women employes was banned outside of the rest rooms.

Now all is different, especially in the NRA sector where hall traffic is like that of a shopping district. However, Miss Frances Robinson, special Hugh Johnson's secretary, has set a new style. She smokes cigars around the building and in the corridors as blithely as do the male lieutenants of the recovery administration. So do all the other women aides.

CARRIES ALL-BRAN ON EVERY VOYAGE

Seaman Finds This Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Here is an unolicited letter from Mr. Darragh:

"I have been going to sea for the past fourteen years. Every trip, I underwent severe headaches, nervousness, and sleeplessness. Tried all sorts of remedies, and received only temporary relief.

"So hearing about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN thought I would get a box, which I did. That was six months ago, haven't been without it at home, and when I go to sea a box of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is always with me."—George D. Darragh, 1914 32nd Avenue, Oakland, California.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things for common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much pleasanter this is than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

'Trick' Checks Are Prepared

Millions In Cotton Benefits Drawn To Sidestep Prior Debts

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN, Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The agriculture department Wednesday prepared "trick" checks for immediate payment of about $100,000,000 to cotton planters on their crop reduction contracts, without deduction of debts they owe the government.

The checks were designed to get around legal complications arising from the millions of dollars the farmers owe on government crop, seed and mortgage loans.

A typical check reads: "Payable to John B. Smith and the Government of the Agricultural Credit Administration." The latter part of the phrase was rubber stamped on the check.

If John B. Smith owes nothing to a governmental agency, he will get cash in full just as though it were made out to him alone. And even if he does owe debts to one or another of the federal financing bureaus, the chances are that he will be able to cash his check without deduction.

The convoluted situation arises from the fact that the cotton farmers who have $100,000,000 claims on their crop reduction contracts amounting to $600,000,000. The various governmental agencies have decided to make deduction of all but $10,000,000 of these debts.

Collection of the $10,000,000 could be put off because it was made up of loans which had private or private endorsers. This check also includes crop loans given the federal land banks and notes finally given to banks and later guaranteed by federal intermediate credit banks.

The cotton farmers will get all $100,000,000 of their $110,000,000 "new" tax payments in cash. The decision to waive collection as far as possible was regarded as precedent in the paying of forthcoming crop reduction benefits to seed and hog growers.

Twenty farmers will have about $100,000,000 coming to them if they accept the proposed acreage reduction plan. Hog growers are expected to get about $30,000,000 in the administration's "hog birth control" plans.

Court Rules Favorably On NRA Validity

Petition Of Texas Refiners Refused In Quick, Brief Decision

By JULIUS FRANDSEN, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Roosevelt administration's vast economic rehabilitation program was fortified today by victory for the government in the first court test of the constitutionality of the national recovery act.

The decision upholding the emergency law was handed down in District of Columbia Supreme Court on an application of 49 Texas oil producers and refiners for an order to restrain the government from enforcing orders prohibiting interstate shipment of "hot" oil—oil produced in violation of state regulations.

A portion of the recovery act authorized the president to issue and enforce such orders. Controversy for the oil men continued because they had no power to delegate such authority to the president.

Justice Joseph W. Cox curtly dismissed the petition, saying: "Congress had declared that there is a national emergency and has vested the president with powers to meet this emergency."

"In times of emergency even the constitution is subject to the laws of necessity," the justice added. "It is more important than the reasons for it or persons to be affected."

F. W. E. Fischer, counsel for the oil men, indicated he would appeal. It was expected the supreme court ultimately would be called upon to pass on the constitutionality of the recovery act and other new deal legislation. Justice Cox's ruling, however, set a precedent which may have an important bearing on questions in further test cases in the lower courts.

If other federal judges follow his lead, the recovery program will be protected against legal objections at least until the time when the supreme court rules finally on the issue and this is likely to be a matter of many months.

Justice Cox is taking into consideration of government agencies that have been established since the president under the recovery act, farm relief law and other new deal legislation are valid as emergency legislation without a presidential order. In passing on the law, Justice Cox said he was with a declaration that a national emergency existed.

The oil men sought to have the constitutionality of the recovery act tested by the president. In passing on the law, Justice Cox said he was with a declaration that a national emergency existed.

Justice Cox deemed it unnecessary to rule on this phase of the question. Following the grant of power, he held that the law was being directly for the president and hence could not be enforced.

McDonald's poll results in an estimate that 513,008 votes will be cast. He placed the repeal majority at 101,236 and the beer majority at 87,887. He urged voters to support the $20,000,000 state relief bonds which are to be voted upon at the same time, August 26.

New Provisions Of Laws Governing Rural School Aid And System Of Transportation Presented Here

Teachers And Trustees Of Two Counties Hear Deputy State Superintendent Bickley Monday Afternoon

More than a hundred school trustees, teachers, and visitors from Howard and Martin counties endured sweltering heat Monday afternoon to hear Deputy State Superintendent J. T. H. Bickley interpret new rural aid and transportation aid laws and related matters. State Superintendent L. A. Woods gave a plain promise of "more school for the money."

In direct contrast to a year ago, Bickley painted an encouraging picture of school finances. He defended the $16 apportionment per pupil on the grounds that newly imposed taxes would yield a far more generous reserve than before, and that the twelve months payment plan would create another admirable savings.

Because the school system is to get all the cigarette tax and the two per cent crude oil tax has been increased to two cents per barrel, Bickley believed it probable that the deficit of this year's apportionment would be paid by September 30, 1936.

Bickley admitted the cry had been "more money for the schools" but held the intention of the present regime was to give more school for the money.

Inter-District System This, his declarations indicated, is dependent on the proper functioning of a inter-district transportation system.

He hailed as a popular fallacy the belief that two teachers could adequately teach ten grades, or that any small district with limited resources could amply provide for eleven well instructed grades.

Where there are two or more schools within a comparatively small radius, he said in giving an example, let one school take up the task of teaching only elementary grades and the other the higher grades.

Present conditions in many districts, he said, lead to improving of the upper grades at the expense of the elementary grades. Bickley scored such a practice as a "fatal mistake."

The group of elementary pupils is the most intelligent in the entire system, he declared. "It is necessary, however, that the teacher teach them if they learn." Existing conditions render class periods recitation periods instead of teaching periods, he said.

"I believe," he asserted, "we can have a good school in this county as in Big Spring, provided we do not give the teacher more than he or she can do. The most serious thing in Texas is the maintenance of eleven grades at the expense of the elementary grades."

The state stands ready to render substantial transportation aid, according to Bickley. For every high school pupil transported a distance of two miles or more from district to district, the state will pay $2 per month transportation aid. Where a district line is uncrossed, the state pays $1 for the high school student. For all elementary students, carried more than two miles, $1 is allowed.

Where the pupil is not accessible to a bus line, he is eligible to transportation aid on the same basis. No ruling has yet been handed down on the pupil coming from his home to a town school and then returning at the end of the school day. To allay fears localities hold against consolidation, the deputy superintendent said it was the desire of the state department not to destroy community centers, but added it was only fair and right that "you put the welfare of the child before community pride."

In extending transportation aid, the state had so arranged it as not to penalize consolidated districts. For the reason of district boundaries are being kept intact in consideration of such aid.

The county board will approve and manage all transportation.

Rural Aid "If your tax rate is $1 and you can effect a 75 per cent tax collection," said Bickley, "the state will extend you sufficient financial aid to insure a eight months school. It was authoritatively learned from another source that perhaps the 75 per cent level would not be demanded in this drought stricken area."

Taxable valuations should run $2,000 per pupil, he said. In event

Big Lake Girl On Way Home After Week As Ward Co. Guest

Jennie Norine Garner of Big Lake has left for home after a big week in Chicago as a guest of Montgomery Ward & Company, as the result of having won a nationwide contest sponsored by that firm.

During the week everything worthwhile seeing in Chicago was visited by the 12 district winners and their parents, who were here as guests of Montgomery Ward and Company. They saw the Century of Progress thoroughly; they took a long trip around Chicago; they visited the Art Institute, the shopping district, the Field Museum, and the Aquarium; they even went to the circus.

All of the winners were leaving with the happy sensation of a perfect week behind them. Little George Taylor, eight year old Sherwood, North Dakota boy who was picked as the most energetic youngster in America on the basis of his having secured more different people to vote for him than any other youngster of the half million entered in the contest, started home resolved to continue his career to the day he becomes a successful business man.

Carol Hanson, another eight year old, who came all the way from Juneau, Alaska, with her mother and ten months old baby sister, returned to the milk farm where she lives ready to tell the Fair winners about Chicago and the Fair. Each child took home with him gold medal award and a book full of individual pictures taken during the week.

Oil Station Man Is Lured From His Bed

J. H. Lloyd Relieved Of Receipts Monday Night In West Side

The latest wave of burglaries and hijackings continued unabated Monday evening as two armed men robbed J. H. Lloyd, Cosden bulk station manager, of $375 in cash.

Lloyd was lured from his bed under pretext that the pair wanted a truck load of oil. They greeted him at door of his home in the west part of town with a command to hold up his hands.

He was forced at the point of a gun to give them receipts of the station which he had taken home for safe keeping.

Darkness prevented Lloyd from gaining any accurate description of the two who than one was comparatively large and the other small.

Lloyd was called from his bed at 10:30 p. m. He immediately notified officers who were still investigating the robbery Monday afternoon.

The Lloyd robbery is somewhat similar to a recently attempted holdup of W. A. Sheets, proprietor of the Home Cafe. Sheets, however, was accosted as he placed his car in his garage. He had a gun in his hand and fired upon his assailants.

A prowler in a South Scurry neighborhood Monday evening had a bullet directed at him for his trouble.

Annoyed by the antics of the prowler, "Uncle Rufus" Slaughter, father of Sheriff Jess Slaughter, arose from his bed and took a long distance shot at the culprit who promptly fled.

Miss Pauline Hart Honoree Of Shower At Creath Home

A lighted lawn with background of yellow canna in full bloom was an appropriate setting for the many contests and the treasure hunt which took place at the shower given by the ladies of the First Christian church in honor of Miss Pauline Hart Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Creath. Miss Hart is soon to be married to Johnny Garrison.

Upon her arrival Miss Hart was given a letter containing the first clue for the treasure hunt, and, at the same time, the lawn lights were turned on, revealing the group of guests awaiting the honoree. Following the clue, Miss Hart and the guests had a merry hunt finding the treasure, which was made up of many gifts for the bride-to-be.

A bud vase was presented to Mrs. G. W. Hall as the reward for finding the floral contest. Mrs. L. M. Brooks was winner in the contest, "His Old Sweetheart," and received a set of aluminum jello molds.

Member Of Consumers Advisory Board Of NRA Resigns Because He Feels Consumer Not Protected

By H. O. THOMPSON United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Prof. William F. Ogburn, noted sociologist and economist, resigned from the NRA Consumers Advisory Board with a categorical denunciation of methods which have been adopted thus far in the consumers' interest.

Ogburn's resignation was the climax of a bitter quarrel within the organization, revealed exclusively Saturday by the United Press.

In resigning, Ogburn rejected space offers by Administrator Hugh S. Johnson and Secretary of Commerce Roper, who sought to smooth the matter over by having Ogburn remain on the board.

Ogburn was waiting for Johnson when the latter returned from St. Louis and presented the resignation as soon as Johnson arrived.

The upheaval within the NRA has broadened to include more than a clash between Ogburn and Mrs. Mary Rumsey, wealthy chairman of the Consumers' Board who was week-ending in Newport and had not returned to her office. Johnson was brought directly into the situation with the revelation that he directed Roper to notify Ogburn of his transfer from the board last week.

New Cotton Control Plan Of More Permanent Nature In The Making To Follow This Year's Reduction

WASHINGTON (UP)—Another cotton control plan is in the making and Secretary Wallace indicated Tuesday he expected action to be taken some time this fall.

The program this year, resulting in crop reduction of more than four million bales, is regarded as temporary.

Wallace said Tuesday he found anxiety throughout the south for the formulation of the more permanent cotton control plan which was to follow this year's emergency drive.

Check Of Plane Schedule Spots Area In Which Urschel Was Held Captive

FORT WORTH — The regular passing of an airplane over a lone Wise county farm house where Charles Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma oil man, was held captive, resulted in the capture of Harvey Bailey, Kansas desperado, it was revealed.

When Urschel was released by kidnappers, after the payment of $20,000 ransom, he told department of justice agents that each morning at 9:15 o'clock and each afternoon at 5:45 o'clock he heard an airplane passing overhead. On one Sunday morning, he said, the airplane did not pass. He made a note of that and the day. Air line schedules were checked. Although officers first believed the rendezvous was somewhere in Oklahoma, they discovered by checking the time element—that it must have been on the route of American Airways planes flying between Amarillo and Fort Worth, and that it must be near this city.

Bond Scandal Investigation Is Spreading Authorities Seek Evidence In Colorado And Chicago

TOPEKA (UP).—Investigation of the $1,000,000 Kansas forged bond scandal may extend to Washington as well as Colorado and Chicago, it was indicated.

United States District Attorney R. M. Brewster was announced as going to Washington for a conference in connection with the matter. He announced last week the government would submit evidence to the Wichita grand jury and press cases regardless of state action.

Ronald Finney, Cornell graduate charged with forging bonds, maintained a representative in the Mayflower hotel at Washington and was reported to have had a direct wire from his office here to the capital.

Investigators learned over the week-end that Finney entertained many state officials and state office employees at his mountain ranch in Colorado.

An investigation is underway in Chicago in connection with young Finney's frequent trips there by airplane.

Gov. Alfred Landon who ordered guardsmen to take over the state treasurer's office as a result of the scandal today drafted a special message for the legislative council.

Most council members were here today or en route. The body will convene early tomorrow in the state senate chamber and begin work at once, Lieut. Gov. C. W. Thompson announced. As soon as the governor's message is heard, a committee is expected to be named to go over the bond evidence unearthed by state and federal investigators.

Process Tax On Hogs May Be Assessed

Wallace Says Fifty Millions Estimated Cost Of Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary Wallace said Tuesday a nominal processing tax may be levied on hogs on or after October 1 to provide funds for financing an emergency hog reduction program being worked out by his aides.

He wants to leave but the president insists he stay on. At a press conference the other day he was asked how long he thought the "emergency" would last.

He smiled wistfully as if thinking of his Atlanta home. "That's what Mrs. Black asks me every night," he solemnly replied.

Secretary of State Hull is regarded around the state department as one of the most unselfish chiefs ever there.

Soon after the new administration came in, Under Secretary Phillips went to Hull and said he would like the names of anyone whom the secretary wanted appointed to diplomatic posts.

Hull said he had no list. Phillips was dumfounded. It had never happened before.

Finally however Hull did have one Tennessee man, Edward Al-Bright, who wanted to be minister to Finland. In the meantime Postmaster General Farley had decided to give Finland to his patronage side Emil Hurja, who is of Finnish descent and wanted the job.

But when Hull asked for the post as the only one he wished to fill, Farley did not have the heart to stand in his way. He assured Hurja that he would find another job for him.

U. S. Marine Corps Has Few Openings

During the month of September there will be a few openings for young men in the United States Marine Corps, provided they have the necessary qualifications, mental and moral, and can pass the right physical examination required of all men enlisted in this branch of the service.

Any young man graduated from a high school, who is interested, should write Major P. D. Cornell, officer in charge of recruiting, 535 St. Charles Street, New Orleans, La., who will furnish full information regarding the service and the duties of a marine, ashore, afloat and in the air, in this, and in foreign countries. The rigid requirements for enlistment also will be explained in detail for this branch of the military and naval service which is recognized here and abroad as one of the finest in the world, and is the most difficult to enter due to the high educational, moral and physical standards.

Church Music Will Be Topic

Capacity Crowds Hear Sermon Monday Night By M. J. Wise

Melvin J. Wise, local minister of the Church of Christ, who is doing the preaching in the revival meeting now in progress at Fourth and Johnson streets, will speak tonight on "Why We Do Not Use Instruments of Music in the Worship." Mr. Wise said that many people wonder why the Church of Christ excluded instrumental music from its worship, and announced that the purpose of this discourse is not to tell why others use instruments of music in their worship, but to "humbly and inoffensively present scriptural reasons for the mode of worship practiced by this church."

Mr. Wise spoke last night to a capacity crowd on "Why I Am Not a Campbellite." He said in part: "We are forced to the consideration of this question many times because some people persist in calling us Campbellites, notwithstanding the fact that we tenaciously contend that we should not wear a human name in religion. My purpose in this discourse shall be to show you by the Word of God just why Christians should refuse to be recognized by this and all other human names."

"The most profound and recognized religion historians do not refer to us by the name 'Campbellite' but they say that we are called by that name in derision. I am not talking about those little sectarian historians who refuse to tell the facts, and write to create prejudice rather than to impart information. It is quite a popular theory with some to contend that there is nothing in a name. But names mean something, they are signs of distinction. God gave Adam the privilege to name all things, in order that on down the stream of time, man might distinguish one creature from another."

"If there is nothing in a name why did God change the name of Abram to Abraham, and the name of Jacob to Israel? The descendants of Jacob were not called Jacobites, but Israelites. The name of Jacob was a human name, but God didn't want His people to be called by a human name, so He changed the name of Jacob to Israel. The word 'Isra' is the Hebrew word for prince, and the word 'El' is the Hebrew name for God. So in speaking the name 'Israelites' they spoke the name of God. Deut. 28:10, Gen. 32:28. Who were the name Israelites? The descendants of Jacob only, God's chosen people. All others were considered Gentiles. Since we are not descendants of Jacob, then is there a name for us to wear that gives honor to the Lord? In Isa. 62:2 Isaiah prophesied of that new name, and he said it would be given after the Gentiles see the righteousness of God, and that it would be named by the mouth of the Lord. In Acts 10 we read for the first time of a Gentile conversion. So then we can begin to look for that new name. We find it in Acts 11:26, and here it is: 'And the disciples were called CHRISTIANS first in Antioch.' In speaking the name Christian, we speak the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, who is indeed our Saviour and Redeemer today."

"So my first and paramount reason for not being a Campbellite is that I am a Christian and a Christian only. That denotes that I am a disciple of Christ and not Alexander Campbell. David said in Psa. 118:8 'It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man.'"

"The next reason for which I am not a Campbellite, is that I am not baptized in the name of Campbell. Name implies authority. The great commission requires that penitent believers be baptized in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. What would you think if I should baptize a candidate in the name of Martin Luther? At once you would say that wasn't Christian baptism. But wouldn't that be just as acceptable before God as to practice anything else in the name of a religious reformer? If not, why not?"

"Again, I am not a Campbellite because Campbell did not die for my sins. In the Corinthian church Paul found division. Some were of Paul, some of Apollos, some of Cephas, and some of Christ. Some were claiming to be 'Paulites' etc. Was Paul reproved them by saying 'Was Paul crucified for you?' If it was wrong for these people to be called 'Paulites', wouldn't it be equally as wrong for us today to be called 'Campbellites'?"

"Again, I am not a Campbellite because there is no such thing in existence as the Campbellite church. I couldn't very well be a member of something that didn't exist."

"In New Testament times local congregations were known as 'The church of God,' 1 Cor. 1:2 'the churches of Christ,' Rom. 16:16 'Christians were in Christ,' Gal. 3:27. 'To be in Christ was to be in His body, which is His church.' Col. 1:18, Eph. 1:22-23. Were these people Campbellites when Campbell never lived for 1800 years later? If Campbell preached the same gospel Paul preached did that make of people Campbellites who obeyed it? If Paul preached the truth did that make of the people 'Paulites'? If I preach the same truth as preached by Paul would that make of the people who obey it 'Wiseites'?"

American Airways Passenger Traffic Up 38.8 Per Cent

Enforcements -- Not Repeal

ALCOHOL AND AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

A friend in California wrote The Bulletin editor under date of January 8, saying: "Yesterday at a luncheon I heard Mayor Porter of Los Angeles speak. He said that his chief of police had reported an increase of 300 per cent in drunken driving and 200 per cent in arrests for drunkenness in that city since the repeal of the Wright State Prohibition Enforcement Act, which repeal went into effect the middle of December."

That is a tremendous increase in drunkenness in a little over two weeks after the repeal of the state prohibition enforcement law, and if the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed, it is going to mean an enormous increase of drunken drivers and accidents all over the country. Auto accident policies will be increased probably at least 25 per cent for those who have already been increased in Massachusetts since repeal of their state prohibition enforcement law. Thousands of people who were just ready to buy a new auto are hesitating.

We heard one man say within a week that he had made up his mind to buy a new Buick automobile, but with the probable repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and with drunken drivers certain to follow, he had decided to postpone indefinitely the buying of a car until he sees how things turn out.

Another man, a large manufacturer, said to The Bulletin editor that he and his family had 21 automobiles, but that if the Eighteenth Amendment was repealed and public liquor selling came back, he would sell them all except one little car to run errands around town. He would do no more long distance driving and have no use for most of his cars. There is no question but that the automobile business and the oil business are going to be tremendously hit and hurt by the return of public liquor selling.

Canada had a weak prohibition law up until 1927, when it was repealed and a so-called state control law was adopted. The result has been that there has been an enormous increase in drunken driving in the last ten years. In fact, as computed from official figures of the Minister of Trade and Finance at Ottawa, Canada, there has been an increase of 534 per cent in drunken driving since prohibition was repealed in that country. If drunken drivers increase five and one-half times the present rate in this country after prohibition is repealed, that will wreck the automobile and oil business in America.—Civic Bulletin.

Ask Us Another..

*Here are some of the questions people ask us about the President's Reemployment Agreement
sometimes called the "blanket code"*

Q. Who started all this?

A. President Roosevelt. It's one more step in his big plan that has already put more than a million men back to work.

Q. What's the big idea anyhow?

A. To end unemployment. To wipe out child labor (something the country's been trying to do for generations). And to restore the purchasing power of the richest country in the world.

Q. How's he going to do it?

A. Every employer is asked to split up existing work so that everybody will have a job, and to raise the hourly wage rate, where necessary, so that everybody will have a living wage.

Q. And that's what they mean by the blanket code?

A. Yes—it's called the "President's Reemployment Agreement."

Q. Does anybody HAVE to sign?

A. No. It's a gentlemen's agreement between President Roosevelt and every man, woman and child in the country. He is asking you to lend a hand.

Q. Why should the employer sign?

A. Because when everybody goes back to work, everybody will spend more money. And that will speed up business for every employer.

Q. What does the employee do?

A. You work less hours. You share your job with someone else. But you get a guaranteed minimum wage.

Q. How can the housewife help?

A. By signing a pledge to patronize the stores and industries that display the President's seal—they are SHARING to bring back prosperity.

Q. And one more question—what's all this talk about an industrial code?

A. The industrial code will be the rules and regulations adopted by each industry for its guidance. But the country can't wait for all these individual codes to be ironed out. We need the blanket code to put men to work, and raise wages, right now!

OLD BIG SPRING IS GETTING WELL. More men back on the job—others due back quick on the expansion of business due to the increased purchasing power.

THE way we spend our money is of great importance. Do we mail our dollars out of town and thereby kill its circulating power altogether? Spend a dollar for gasoline brought in to town and make it look like forty cents, or will we demand one hundred percent return from every dollar we make in Big Spring?

about salvation by faith only? Jesus says in James 2:20 that we are not saved by faith only? But men have deliberately written down in their creed books that we are saved by faith only. Then where is the cause of religious division on this doctrine. Is it that concerning which is found in the Bible or on the outside?

The Bible teaches that persistent believers should be baptized. The New Testament mode is by immersion. Matt. 3:16, Acts 8:38, Rom. 6:3-4, Col. 2:12. No other form was practiced until 251 a. d., which was over 150 years after the New Testament was written.

The church is represented in the New Testament as a body of which all Christians are members. What would you think if you should see one member of my body walking down the street in one direction, and another member of my body going down the street in the opposite direction?

In ordinary books written by men, we can all read them and get the same thought and conclusion. The laws of our land are understood by all alike. Frequently leaders differ severely about what ought to be law, but they never differ on the constitution of law.

God gave commands back of the Jewish law. Did they ever divide on the ground that they could not understand the Word of God alike? In the Ten Commandment law God said: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Thou shalt not make unto them any graven image."

SHIELDS, ALLISON, VINES, SUTTER WIN MATCHES IN NEWPORT MEET

Frankie Parker, Sensational Youngster, Carries Shields To Five Sets; Allison Pulls Out After Spotting Gledhill To Two Sets

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—The hopes of Frankie Parker, the 17-year-old tennis player from Milwaukee, who needs an important victory on grass to complete his amazing record, were brightened by Frank K. Shields Thursday, while the rainy New York was marching into the semi-final round of the high class Newport Casino tournament.

In their third clash of the season, Shields managed to become one up on his sensational young rival by coming from behind and gaining a 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5 victory with the finest tennis played here this week.

The other three top-seeded players also entered the round of four. Ellsworth Vines, the national list, had to play only 10 games to qualify for the second last round, Lester Stoefer, lanky Los Angeles star, was so worn out by yesterday's three hour battle with Manuel Alonso, Spanish doubles vet, he was forced to default after Vines ran through the first set at 6-1 and swept the first three games in the second set.

Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, the third ranked nationally, substituted Gregory Mangin, of Newark, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5, and Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, who shared the Davis cup singles assignment with Vines, and was his runner up here last year, had a terrific task subduing Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, California, after spotting him the first two sets.

Allison, noted for his brave five sets stands, was on the verge of going out in one-two-three order when he called upon his great reserve of stamina to pull him through. When he gained his second wind, he gave a mighty spurt and nullified a 3-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1, 6-0 decision out of the fire with his Gledhill, a California youngster, who is seldom able to get up any fire.

The draw will throw Allison against Sutter tomorrow in the upper half semi-final and Shields will have the unenvied honor of tackling Vines.

Perry competing in the doubles field with the chunky Britisher, Frank E. D. Wilde, suffered a smashing defeat from the sacquets of George Lott and Stoefer as they entered the semi-finals with a 6-2, 6-2 victory. The Americans, being groomed for future Davis cup doubles work, aimed their vicious attacks at Wilde to rout the British team in quick order.

The only other pair to gain the other round were Vines and Gledhill, the defending champions, who found Jack Tidball and Gene Mako, both of Los Angeles, easy victims for a 6-1, 7-5 triumph.

ARMY GUNNERS GET STOCK QUOTATIONS ON RADIO AS PLANES TRY TO GUIDE THEM

FORT SILL, Okla. (UP)—Practice shots of the Oklahoma national guard field batteries went wild recently. Range officers were puzzled, for observation planes were radiating what was assumed to be accurate data.

Investigation revealed that the gunners' receiving sets were picking up stock market quotations broadcast by a radio station. The market figures had been applied to the gun range.

Gun pointers lowered their sights accordance with bonafide range data instead of the bull market, and scored several direct hits.
