District 2-T2 Governor Visits Wolfforth Lions Club 4-Hers to Observe Citizenship Day the 17th

SPC REGISTRATION—Freshmen Lisa Reeves (left) and Cliffa Pettiet (center), both from Ropesville, and Jody Jennings of Lubbock are among the more than 1,126 students who enrolled in fall classes after the first day of registration Thursday (Aug. 28) at South Plains College. Lisa, a secondary education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Reeves of Ropesville. Cliffa plans to major in fashion merchandising and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Pettiet of Ropesville. Jody's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Dooley of Lubbock. She is a social science major. The first-day registration total of 1,127 students included 571 in day classes, 171 who pre-registered for technical-vocational courses, 209 who signed up for classes at Reese Air Force Base and 176 enrolled in evening classes at the college. Regular registration ended Friday (Aug. 29). Late registration will continue through Sept. 12. Classes begin at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday (Sept. 2).

September 17 is Citizenship Day. It marks the beginning of Constitution Week, a time for study and reflection on the events that led to the signing of the U.S. Constitution in 1787.

Among the many Americans observing Citizenship Day and Constitution Week will be 368,000 young people from 9 to 19 in the national 4-H citizenship program. Under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service, these 4-H'ers take part in year-round activities intended to increase their interest, understanding and knowledge of the rights and duties of American citizenship.

4-H members learn by doing to fulfill their responsibilities as citizens of the community, county, state and nation. They show concern for the welfare of others through participation in service projects and meaningful involvement in civic organizations.

The national 4-H citizenship program was established in 1948 to honor Thomas E. Wilson, founder of Wilson and Company meat packers and Wilson Sporting Goods Company. Wilson, nationally renowned for his support of 4-H, was one of the founders of the National 4-H Service Committee and served as its president from 1924 to 1958.

In 1973, friends of Kenneth H. Anderson established a scholarship fund to recognize his many years of service to 4-H. Anderson is associate director of the Service Committee and has served the organization for 37 years.

Awards for 4-H'ers who excel in citizenship activities are donated through the Service Committee in memory of Thomas E. Wilson and by friends of Kenneth H. Anderson. Award winners are selected by the Extension Service on the basis of their accomplishments in 4-H and civic projects.

This year, six outstanding 4-H'ers will receive expense paid trips to the 54th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 30 - Dec. 4 in Chicago, and college scholarships of $800. During the congress, the high-ranking boy and girl will be presented with silver trays in the name of the President of the United States.

Additional information on the national 4-H citizenship program is available from county extension agents.

Jim Johnson, Governor of District 2-T2 Lions International was the honored guest and keynote speaker at the Wolfforth Lions Club on Thursday, August 28th.

Governor Johnson challenged the local Lions as well as all Lions, to continue growth in membership which will strengthen Lions International, and enable even greater accomplishments in the future, as have been made in the past.

The Wolfforth Lions undertake many projects of community service, provide help to the underprivileged statewide, and join with District 2-T2 to assist in all the undertakings in which it is involved.

On September 20th, the annual broom sale will be held. Lions will be coming to the homes and businesses in the Wolfforth area offering brooms, mops, mats, and other products for sale. Each of these products are made by blind people of The Lighthouse For the Blind. The proceeds are used for sight conservation work and each broom or product purchased will help keep a blind person actively employed. Community support is greatly appreciated.

George Dalton was installed as the newest member of the Wolfforth Lions Club at the August 28th meeting.

Ropes NHS Elects Officers

The National Honor Society met at Mrs. Carpenter's last Thursday night and elected the following students to serve as officers.

President, Sherri Collins; Vice President, Gay Stephenson; Secretary, Debbie Johnson; Treasurer, Suzann Lowrie; Reporter, Martha Einerson; Student Council Rep., Monte Moore and Riky Streety. Sponsors are Mrs. Genelle Carpenter and Mr. Marvin McSpadden.

The N.H.S. also selected students of the month. For the month of September, Monte Moore and Debbie Johnson were chosen.

Monte is active in football, basketball, track, the N.H.S., band, a member of the student council and an ag officer.

Debbie is also a senior and is head cheerleader, a member of the band, active in basketball and N.H.S.

Ropes FFA Elects Officers

The Ropes Future Farmers of America, under their new director, Mr. Pritchard, elected their officers for this school term.

Those elected were President, Brad Pettiet; Vice President, Scott Drake; Secy., Monte Moore; Reporter, Kim Nobles; Treasurer, Jeff Arnwine; Sentinel, Larry Dalton; Student Council Rep., Adrin Snider and Alan Miller.

The FFA chapter has really come alive this year under their new director. The boys entire attitude has changed and the school and our community would like to welcome Mr. Pritchard to Ropes High School.

Lions Club Eye Bank Program

The District 2-T2 Lions Eye Bank was organized in August of 1974 and is funded by Lions clubs and memorial contributions and donations.

An eye bank is an organization formed to collect human eyes and to distribute them to hospitals where a cornea is needed for grafting or transplantation. It also

Author, Ann Forman Brown to Speak in Lubbock

Ann Forman Barron, Fort Worth author, comes to Lubbock next week as guest of the Lubbock Professional Chapter of Women in Communications, Inc.

The author of Banner, Bold and Beautiful will be guest of the organization at a dinner in her honor at 7:30 p.m. in South Park Inn, Friday, September 12.

The public is invited to the dinner. Reservations may be made by sending a check for $5.00 to Women in Communications, Inc., P.O. Box 104, Lubbock, 79408.

Frontier Texas is the backdrop for Mrs. Barron's lusty tale of the men and women who settled and fought for the territory of Texas against Mexico.

Banner Bold and Beautiful, a Fawcett Gold Medal book, was released last month. A prolific writer, Mrs. Barron has published several novels.

Extensive historical research into the history of Texas provides the background which the author has put to expert use. Mrs. Barron traveled throughout the South and Southwest, collecting information about the land and its people; information that helped create the rich, romantic and authentic atmosphere of Banner Bold and Beautiful.

stores the vitreous fluid for use in retinal detachment operation or transplantation.

Eyes are removed from persons after death who have generously authorized this use while living. Any eye from any age person can be used. Even those who have had a cataract operation or a corneal transplantation.

Eyes cannot be designated for a specific person. They are used for the next patient on an eye surgeon's list. If a donated eye is diseased or cannot be used for grafting, it is carefully studied in research to help find causes and cures for blindness.

There is no charge for eyes. Eye Banks furnish eyes free to patients and hospitals needing them. They are never bought or sold.

By signing a donor form, notifying your next of kin of your desire and by informing your family physician of your action, you can be a donor. They should not be willed, as they must be removed shortly after death, before the will is read. This program can easily be expanded to friends and relatives of our members.

For donor cards or information call 806, 762-2242 in Lubbock.

Senator Hance to Speak Thursday

State Senator Kent Hance will speak at the League of Women Voters General meeting on Thursday, September 11th at the Pioneer Natural Gas Building, 1500 Broadway. Meeting starts at 11:45 a.m. A lunch catered by Vann's will be served at a cost of $2.95. Tax Collector/Assessor Russell Hardin will be at the meeting to deputize voter registrants.

Deadline is September 11 for Entering Rabbits in Fair

Outdoors in Texas

By

J. C. Roberts

Hunters in this country measure some 20 million, about 10% of the population, and most are sick and tired of being classes as "killers and murderers". The self-righteous animal lovers in this country, who know little of wildlife and it's conservation, are building one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington, and the hunter must act now in order to survive. Avid hunters have given time and MONEY to bring back the turkey, deer, and antelope from the verge of extinction, and brought to this country the pheasant and chukar. At one time less than 50,000 elk were alive, now more than 85,000 are harvested annually, thanks to the effort of Mr. Hunter. Wyoming harvests more antelope every year than lived in the world in 1925! Some hunters are creeps, that's for sure... but every now and then a thief is discovered in the banking industry. Join a sporting club today with a Washington lobby, now, before it's too late.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Dan Irons, the fine young Texas Tech tackle, and his dad, former Tech center Ed Irons, walked into church Sunday and I swear the right side of the sanctuary tilted. And, when Mike Keeney joined them shortly afterwards, there was no question of it.

The three of them would make a good front line, possibly as big as anything the Raiders used to boast back in the days when Marshall Gettys was a 180-pound scourage at tackle.

Dan, his dad and I had walked to the church from the parking lot and I had kidded Dan about the wind sprints.

"Nine hundred yards!" he exclaimed with a shake of his head. "And on top of all of that other."

The "other" was two hours of scrimmage, that was about as hard hitting as you'd want to see. When the squad lined up and began those goal to goal sprints, it looked like slow motion.

"They'll be the best conditioned squad in the conference," Ed said with a grin, "but that's the fourth quarter. That's when games are won or lost."

It was a good scrimmage last Saturday and the Raiders, despite two-a-days, showed signs of being sharp. There were spots that they didn't look good, where more work needs to be done, but Steve Sloan and staff must have been pleased overall.

The running of Cliff Hoskins, Rufus Myers and Billy Taylor was strong, while Tommy Dunniven and Rodney Allison at quarterback moved the clubs well, and threw pretty well, too.

Defensively, there were some bright spots and, at times, the offense wasn't able to move. Ecomet Burley, of course, had a good day, but there were others who stood out.

One of the things I liked the most was the way the Raiders were using the pass. The passing game was intelligent, shorter passes and more a part of the offense than in the past, when too often it seemed as though everyone knew the pass was coming.

Ricky Bates made one tremendous reception and there were a number of good catches made by receivers. All in all, the passing attack, as used Saturday, was reassuring.

Last year Lawrence Williams caught 27 of the 65 passes attempted by Tech—and most of them were long passes. It became a little ridiculous in 1974, because Williams most of the time was double covered and other receivers were ignored.

Obviously, that situation won't exist this season.

All in all, the scrimmage was reassuring. The squad has this week in which to get some of the kinks out, rest a little and polish the offense, while setting the defense.

Next week the Raiders will have all week to put it together and seriously prepare for Florida State. It looks from here as though the Raiders were ahead of progress at this point a year ago and things are beginning to take shape.

Neither Baltimore nor Kansas City has been able to gain on Boston and Oakland respectively, Los Angeles has runaway with its division and the Phils, Cards and Mets stumble just enough to allow Pittsburgh room to breathe.

We're in the dog days of baseball and the challengers have not been able to put together a hot streak. There still is time, but it's running out. It looks like the Red Sox vs. the A's and the Cincinnati Reds vs. the Pirates in the playoffs.

I want to wish E.C. Leslie the best. The assistant school superintendent and former Hubber second baseman, underwent open heart surgery Wednesday morning.

Les is in Methodist Hospital and I know that he'd like to hear from his many friends. He's had quite a seige, but I'm told that this really was a blessing. He's supposed to be as good as ever when the operation and recuperation period is over.

Recently he had pains in his chest and was put in the hospital for heart attack. Later examinations showed no damage to the heart, but a closing condition in the main artery, which led to the pains. So, they were to perform a by-pass operation.

Les is typical, in a way, of the former players who stayed in Lubbock. Although he went from player to Ph.D. and school administrator, the former ball players who stayed in Lubbock have become good citizens and made great contributions here.

Red fish in West Texas? Kelly, you've got to be kidding. Red fish, a popular dinner entree, is a saltwater fish. Just where in West Texas do you find saltwater?

To be exact, at old Hamlin Lake, for one, and Red Bluff, just south of Carlsbad Caverns in Texas, for another. The Parks and Wildlife Dept. stocked Red Bluff some time ago and two weeks ago stocked old Hamlin Lake with thousands of fingerlings.

Red Bluff has produced catches of up to 50 pounds and old Hamlin Lake is thought to be, in time, equal in good fishing. A test of the lake's salinity shows 13,000 parts per million, which is about four times as high as the ocean.

So, fishermen don't have to make the long trek to the Gulf Coast for a good sea fish, unless they just want to get away. It sounds promising.

The Roundup—There was no mistaking the big guy, it was Jerry Walker, former great Tech tackle. Jerry, who spends most of his time on the road, was coming in to see the Raider grid scrimmage . . . Another familiar face, a halfback I hadn't seen in a long time, was M.C. Northam. He was one of the more exciting halfbacks.

SELLING STUFF

It seemed like such a good deal. The ad in the comic book said it was just what everyone needed. The product would "sell itself." All you had to do was sell twelve cans of Cloverine Salve and you could have one of several exciting, wonderful "gifts." I tore out the coupon and scrawled in all the information (my mother had to sign it), dropped it in the mail and, with eager anticipation, looked forward to the day when the merchandise would come.

I made plans on how I would show the product to people and I made a list of sure-to-buy customers. I visualized selling everything the first day and having to re-order many times. I selected what gift I would receive first and was certain I would have them all before I was through.

When my order came I quickly set out on my way to the homes of people on my list. City kids have a definite advantage over country kids when it comes to selling stuff door-to-door. The main reason being that in the city doors are lots closer together. I was a country boy and the first person on my list lived more than half a mile away. That wasn't going to bother me.

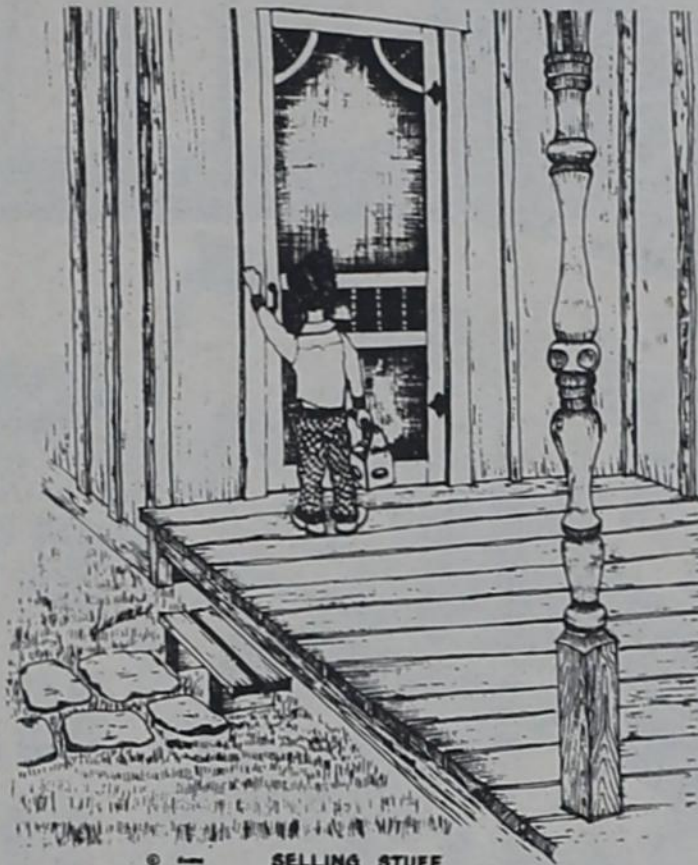

I arrived at the Taggart's shortly, out of breath, knocked on the door, ready to present my wares. Mrs. Taggart opened the door, smiled, said "no, thank you," and shut the door. It all happened so fast, I just stood there. After a while I walked slowly away, not really certain it had happened at all. "Oh, well, what's one person more or less, there are lots more on my list." I made my way to the Jalma's place next and it must have been that Mrs. Jalma had taken lessons from Mrs. Taggart because she used exactly the same words.

After walking for miles that day, I determined that not everyone needed all-purpose salve. In fact, not one person on my list needed it. On the way home I had to pass by old man Cantrell's. I didn't have him on my list because he was mean and gruff and didn't like kids coming around his place. I decided to stop there anyway. To my surprise, he said he had been needing some of that salve and he bought two cans of the stuff!

After that my aunt bought one can, just to help out and the other nine cans — well, my dad bought them. He said he would buy them only with the strict understanding that I never clip another coupon from a comic book.

I learned some valuable lessons from the experience which, in a small way, made it a worthwhile venture. I learned you cannot predict what people will need, want or buy. I learned that few things are free, that some type of work is involved anytime there is some type of worthwhile gain. And I learned, though I already suspected it, that my dad was a swell guy.

Freezone is for corns that hurt.

Absolutely painless. No dangerous cutting, no ugly pads or plasters. In days, Freezone eases the hurt... safely helps ease off the corn. Drop on Freezone—take off corns.

PERSONALS

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our heartfelt appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who have been so concerned and thoughtful during Buddie's surgery and hospital stay.

Many, many thanks to all of you for the cards, flowers and prayers and especially to Bro. Pearce and Bro. Ewing who were with us, visited and prayed for us. Your loving interest and concern will always be remembered.

May God's richest blessings be with all of you always is our prayer.
Buddy and Jewell Stanton

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton
DO NOT BLAME GOD

When heartache and problems sweep over your life, do not blame God. Do not lash out at your only hope.

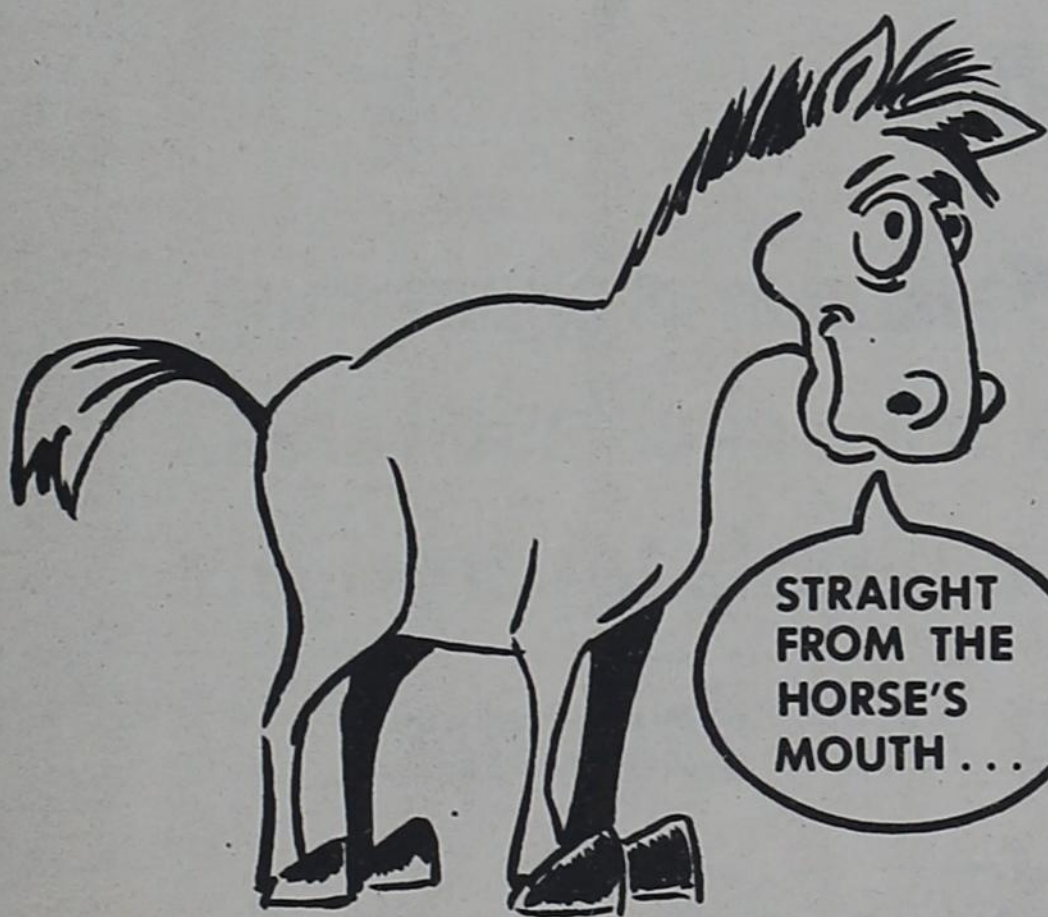

The Bible states that in all of Job's suffering and loss, he did not sin with his lips (Job 2:10). His wife urged him to curse God and die, but Job did not yield to his lower nature. Job kept his faith, he hung on tightly. That was his victory and he recovered from all his losses.

When you receive a loss, do not strike out at your only source of strength.
