The oil industry, which is reputed to be more capable of quick re-covery than any other major industry, is lagging far behind in the march of progress which has hit most lines of business since March 4. The price of crude oil is particularly important to West Texas. It produces about 160,000 barrels a day. Provision was first applied to West Texas fields. West Texas oil men have faithfully lived up to protation and flave observed the spirit as well as the letter of the law. But aside from the normal West Texas interest, there is another public interest in the price of West Texas crude. Various agencies of the state, the University of Texas, the public school fund of Texas and other Texas institutions have extensive oil producing lands. Their property is being drained of its greatest natural remained and at prices which we feel are out of proportion to the comparative value of the oil with other fields and with gasoline. On June 1, 1933, the price of West Texas oil was 20 cents per barrel. The wholesale tank car price for high octane gasoline, f. o. b. refin-ary, was 2 1-2 cents per gallon. Immediately after June 1 the price of gasoline began going up, due to two or three factors, the declife

On June 26 the retail price of gasoline was advanced another cent, due, of course, to the fact that wholesale tank car market advanced. It is reasonable to believe that the price for crude oil should have been raised at that time, but the statement of the president of one of the largest companies operating in Texas at that time was: "Texas is currently producing a large quantity of oil in excess of the demand and only through the elimination of this excess production can this ad-vance in price be maintained." his attitude being that the price of

JT WAS A "BARGAIN" WHEN SHE BOUGHT IT

These days, many a product that looked like a bargain at the store becomes only a disappointment at home.

THE SHI STRAND, TRADER, SPANJE

It is easy to account for such mistakes In buying. Just as easy to avoid them, if you know why they are made.

When families have little money to spend, all manufacturers try to reduce the price of their merchandise. Those who have built a reputation for quality guard it jealously, lowering the prices of their products as far as they can without sacrificing any of the quality you always look for. quality. Or bring out entirely new products of lower grade.

CAUR

You may be told these products are "just as good" as the brands you know by experience, by their advertising, or the reputations of their makers. But all too frequently, they are urged upon you only because they pay maker and dealer a higher margin of profit

Other manufacturers go too far in their efforts to sell goods. To make a low price still lower, they sometimes reduce a higher margin of profit

Remember these facts when you shop, and you will look for genuine bargains among brands you recognize. Many of these brands now cost less than they have in years.

When you buy them you pay a low price, but an honest one that assures highest quality, complete satisfaction.

My reason for liking Luckies is strictly personal

After all-since I smoke quite a number of cigarettes each daydon't you think it's just as well that I lean in the right direction? Perhaps you'd call my reason for liking "Toasting" the assurance of purity it gives me -for Luckies come in racher close because" It's toasted".

personal contact with me, you know. Just knowing that each puff of Lucky smoke I draw in is pure-it makes the pleasure of fragrant toasted tobacco that much greater. Certainly, purity never hurt anyone! And besides - "Luckies Please!"
