JUNIORS TO PLAY COOPER TONIGHT

The Ropes Junior High football team will meet the Cooper Junior High squad this Thursday (tonight) on Cooper's gridiron.

Our young Eagles got off to a bad start this past week when they met Meadow and suffered a 34-0 loss.

Coach Maxfield reports the team has been undergoing some stiff workouts, and hope to make a better showing this week.

Everyone is urged to go to the game and lend moral support.

THE LAW

—Ted Dotts

Last week's issue of "Newsweek" magazine (September 21, 1964) carried an article about the teen-agers who destroyed property and ran amuck in such places as Seaside, Oregon and Monterey Bay, California. One psychologist, Dr. Morse P. Mason, says that "Parents have made a big contribution toward developing these careless attitudes toward law and order." (page 41)

Having just returned from a three-day camping trip in New Mexico, I tend to agree with Dr. Mason. How can children be expected to respect the law and order when their parents flagrantly disregard the law? One of the laws of our camping areas in these United States indicates time and again that for the good of the whole we must keep those places clean; and yet, they are strewn with beer cans, trash and a filthy array of cast-off things. More than anyone else, parents influence their children. Parents have more time with their children than do church school teachers, pastors, public school teachers, coaches, etc. The greatest influence on children's lives comes from their parents. How can a child respect the law, if he sees his parents cast trash into an area where the law clearly forbids such action?

A parent or any person for that matter who casts litter from his car onto the highway teaches a child more about the attitude he "should" have toward the law than any other single act. The law says that you shall not cast litter onto the highway. The parent who casts a chewing gum wrapper onto the highway is just the same as saying to his child, "The law is to be broken, is to be taken lightly." This is selfishness to the nth degree.

Another and equally disheartening attitude which parents often pass on to their children is reflected in the tone which parents use to describe our officers of the law. Our law officers exist to protect us and our property. If it were not for them, then the biggest and strongest among us could simply march into our homes and take what they wanted against our will.

Perhaps there are no correct names for our law enforcement officials. "Cop" or "J P" may be acceptable, but the tone of the voice is all-important. We express ourselves through more than the spoken word. The way we say it, the inflection we use, goes into making a word have a particular kind of meaning. If we teach our children disrespect for the officials of the law, we also imply that they are to disrespect the law. And I ask you, "What kind of a nation, or a community, would we have if everyone disrespected the law?"

Wind, Hail Damage Crops

—By Troy Morris

I think we can say with certainty the drought has been broken. What was termed a surprise storm swooped down on the South Plains on Saturday night—coming in ahead of a cold front—and left from an inch to three inches of rain over the entire territory.

While breaking the drought, which started in August year ago, it came very near breaking some other things, for this was a storm front filled with turbulence.

In less than an hour and a half three tornados were sighted, the only one doing any damage was near Hale Center where several barns were shattered.

However, the accompanying hail did damage which, in Hockley County, will run into the thousands of dollars.

The inky black cloud seemingly first formed to the west and then traveled in a northeasterly direction, and bringing with it a deluge of rain. In a section, starting about a mile west of the Big 12 Gin, north of Ropes, in a matter of minutes there was a deluge of three inches of rain. Mixed with it was hail.

It is said when the storm ceased the ground was covered several inches deep and it appeared as if snow had fallen. It was not only the level, but high wind banked it. It was in this territory a tornado was sighted, but did no damage.

However, you had no difficulty in tracing the path of the storm—where the cotton had been irrigated and was Pictured above is the remains of the Richard Arant home, located about one and a half miles west of Ropes. This is what we would term a near tragedy—it is a tragedy to lose all one's belongings in a fire, but it is a blessing to be able to get your family out safely.

This is what happened to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arant and children, Debbie and Dickie about two a.m. this past Tuesday morning. It is reported that just a few minutes before the fire broke out Mrs. Arant had gotten up to take Dickie to the bathroom, and then placed him in bed. In a few minutes he came in to his parents room and said he was too warm, upon investigating they found the wall, floor and bed in flames. Richard got the children out, going barefoot, while Levo tried to gather up a few things, but all she managed to save was a few pictures. They lost all their clothing, bedding—in fact, they lost everything in the house.

The Ropes Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene, and using water from a tank on the truck, they had knocked the fire almost out when they ran out of water. An irrigation well had been started to furnish the water, but the electric wires going to the well burned into. The truck then had to return to Ropes for another supply of water, and by the time they got back flames were raging again.

At this time it is not known if the house will be rebuilt or not.

RETURN FROM EXTENDED TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gregg, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Doug Jones, returned this past Friday from an extended vacation that took them through twelve states and Canada, six thousand miles, and seventeen days.

They first visited Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy King in Las Vegas, Nevada. Then in Los Angeles, California, they visited Mr. and Mrs. Billie Gregg, and Donald Jones and family. In San Diego they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Grady Thompson and family, and Mrs. Jones' sister, Mrs. Katie Bee Hawthorne in Oxnard, California. From here they went to San Francisco where they visited Mr. Jones' brother, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Jones. They also visited Mrs. Jones' sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood, in Oregon City, Oregon, and the W. C. Carpenters in Lewiston, Idaho. Rev. Carpenter was at one time pastor of the local Baptist Church.

Mr. Gregg reports that the most beautiful part of their trip was from Port Angeles to Victoria. Here they boarded a ship, that carried 105 cars, and one thousand people. The trip through the San Juan Islands took four hours, and he says the islands are not flat like you would expect, but are like small mountains, rising out of the river in supreme beauty. They stopped off on two of the islands, that are also ports, one of them being Lopez Port. Here they loaded on more cars and passengers. He reports the islands are used for farming, mostly of fruits.

The country of Idaho is mainly wheat territory, and Mr. Gregg says that the crop is drilled all up and down the sides of the mountains, and in order to harvest the crop caterpillars are used as regular farming equipment because of the steep slope, regular tractors cannot be used. This part of the country receives about forty inches of steady slow rain annually, and he says that yields to the acre are from fifty to eighty-five bushels.

They returned through Montana to visit Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming.

Playing on a wet gridiron, Mike Timmons raced six yards for the first Ropes TD. Ray Witt made the two extra points. A fumble recovery on the Antelopes 8 yard line set up the score.

After another fumble in the third, Ronnie Sedgwick passed to Mickey Smith for fifteen yards, and a solid score. Ray Witt again ran the extra points.

Mike Timmons went for the final TD in the fourth, but try for the extra points failed.

The Eagles will meet Amherst this Friday night, at Amherst. Come on out and support the Eagles.
