DALLAS, July 27 (P) — Returns to the Texas Election Bureau at 1 p.m. from 191 out of 254 counties in the state including 36 complete, show the following totals for candidates in Saturday's Democratic Primary Election: Governor: Shivers 348,632, Traylor 14,415, Yarborough 203,561.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Despite a seeming indifference, Howard County voters turned out in substantial volume Saturday to name Democratic nominees. As expected, interest in precinct conventions fell off sharply in most instances. And the inevitable happened to many candidates—they fell short of the margin for victory or for reaching the runoff. But to everyone of them we want to say "congratulations" for offering for office and in stirring people to do their civic duty.

And now with the national conventions and the first Democratic primary out of the way, we can begin to return to some degree of normalcy—which is to fret about the drought. However, there is one major event coming up immediately, the 19th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Rodeo on Aug. 6-7. Tickets are now available; parade entries are coming in.

Efforts are being shaped toward raising funds to complete the Howse County quota for the cloud-seeding project. This time the job will be more difficult than at the outset when momentum and novelty might have carried it over with more detailed organization. However, business as well as agriculture is being included in the latest attempt. Rain would benefit everybody.

Oil news brought one bright item last week. A wildcat east of Vincent flowed 12 barrels of oil from Elton Gilliland Re-Elected D. A.

Elton Gilliland was returned to another term as 11th District Attorney, by Democratic voters of the three-county district. He ran up a heavy margin over

ELTON GILLILAND

Gullford Jones of Big Spring, the latest count showing Gilliland with 4,881 votes to 2,956 for his opponent. This unofficial total did not include a few scattering returns from Glasscock County, and one box was unreported from Martin County. These were insufficient in strength, however to affect the total.

Gilliland, who was asking his second elective term (he had a part-term under appointment when the court was created), ran up a substantial lead in all three counties. He also had a margin of victory in every box in Howard County, with the sole exception of Precinct 1.

Martin Re-Names McMorries Judge

STANTON, (SC) —What was regarded as Martin County's hottest county race resulted in the re-nomination of County Judge James McMorries who polled 956 votes for 683 for his opponent, Ed Robinson.

With a few votes uncounted Dan Saunders was in the lead in the campaign for the nomination for sheriff, with Deputy Sheriff B 111 Pinkston trailing close behind and assured of a place in the runoff. Apparently the incumbent county attorney, Tom Adams lost in his re-election effort to Ralph Cator by a small margin.

With one box out Elton Gilliland was leading Gullford Jones in the race for the district attorney nomination by 649 to 371. Available figures put Preston Smith's vote in the state senate race at 619 to 336 for Kilmer Corbin.

Mrs. Doris Stephenson won the nomination for county and district clerk from the incumbent, Mrs. Nobby Hamilton. Two county candidates were without opposition. They were Mrs. Pauline Cook seeking re-nomination for county treasurer, and Erwin Welch who was re-nominated as commissioner in Precinct 2.

Glasscock Judge's Race Is Nip And Tuck Battle

GARDEN CITY, July 26—Glasscock County had a red hot county judge's race in full swing with the issue in doubt Saturday night.

With more than 100 votes still to be counted in the Lee's and Line boxes, Ross Hodges held a three-vote lead over the incumbent, David L. Smith.

Only one commissioner's race had been settled with John Bednar Jr. edging Fred Chaney. Sam F. (Buster) Cox had been nominated as sheriff, incomplete returns indicated.

In the district attorney's race, Elton Gilliland was leading Gullford Jones.

Mrs. Vena Lawson had won nomination for another term as county and district clerk.

In state races Allan Shivers carried the county for governor and Price Daniel for U. S. Senator, Martin Dies and John Lee Smith set the congressman-at-large pace.

Incomplete results in all races showed: Governor—Shivers 214, Yarborough 92, Traylor 6. Lieutenant governor—Ramsey 263, Morales 32. U. S. senator—Daniel 239, Beckworth 45, Napier 25. Agriculture commissioner—White 196, Beard 47, McKay 45. Land commissioner—Giles 211, Patterson 91. Judge court of criminal appeals—Woodley 153, Owens 129. Railroad commissioner—Culbertson 229, Laird 70. Congressman-at-large—Dies 12, Dickson 7, Hamburger 5, Nimitz

Stallings And Thorp; Hughes And Proctor

A regular "hoss race" for the Precinct 3 county commissionership developed Saturday as a highlight in Howard County's Democratic primary voting.

Arthur Stallings, incumbent, lacked only 14 votes of winning a clear majority. As the unofficial tabulation stood, he will be contested in the August runoff by Murph Thorp, paint store operator, who barely nosed out M. H. (Mack) Tate for the second spot. The complete unofficial returns showed: Stallings 1153, Thorp 594, Tate 575.

In another multi-candidate contest, for the Precinct 1 spot being vacated by Walter Long, Ralph Proctor and P. O. Hughes emerged as the August opponents. The vote in this race was:

Proctor 256, Hughes 215, Willard Smith 102, Cecil Gibbs 96, C. E. Kiser 58.

For the Precinct 4 seat, Earl Hull handily defeated Fred Polacek 867 to 589, to be returned to the office.

In precinct 2, Pete Thomas was unopposed, drawing 1838 votes.

For Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 1, it will be a runoff between Cecil (Cy) Nabors with 1905 votes, and W. O. Leonard, the incumbent, with 1514. Third man was Dee Davis Sr. with 1170.

A. M. Sullivan was unopposed for the Place 2 justiceship, and got 3928 votes. J. T. Thornton, without an opponent for constable in Precinct 1, received 4623. Austin Coffman had 499 ballots for J. P. of Precinct 2, unopposed.

Odel Buchanan walked off with a clear majority over two opponents in a heated contest for constable of Precinct 2. He got 296 votes to 180 for T. H. McCann and 33 for V. L. Hogue.

County Favors Yarborough Over Shivers

Howard County reversed a statewide trend in giving Ralph Yarborough of Travis County an edge in the balloting for the governorship Saturday.

Yarborough's edge over Allan Shivers of Jefferson County, who was returned to office by a sizeable majority, was 163 votes within the county. Yarborough polled 3303 votes, compared to 3140 for Shivers.

Mrs. Allene M. Traylor, third party in the race, was far in the wake of Yarborough and Shivers with 108 votes.

Outside of the gubernatorial race, the Howard County vote followed close to form.

Ben Ramsey collected 4783 in the race for Lieutenant Governor, compared to 1665 for Frank Hessbrook Morales.

Price Daniel far outstripped his two opponents in the race for U. S. Senator, polling 4,200 votes, compared to 1,962 for Lindsey Beckworth and 305 for E. W. Napier.

In the race for Commissioner of Agriculture, the incumbent, John C. White rallied 4667 votes. Billy E. Beard responded with 380 votes and Water McKay 569.

Bascom Giles won county approval in his bid for Land Commissioner with 3864 votes, compared to 2168 for his only foe, Guy Patterson.

It was Kenneth K. Wodley out front in the race for Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals. Woodley could count 3128 Howard County backers, while his opponent, Jess Thornton, had 2168.

There were no candidates in Precinct 2.

County's Turnout Approaches Record

Howard County voters, turning out in near record numbers, balloted to stand-off in two races Saturday.

This sent R. H. Weaver into a run-off with Walter Grice, incumbent, for the office of county judge.

In the sheriff's race, a familiar set-up presented itself to the county, Jake Bruton, sheriff, faced a second primary race with Jess Slaughter, a former sheriff and his opponent in the run-off two years ago.

Total of votes cast for sheriff aggregated 6,454 and those for county judge 6,493. The latter figure approached the record of 6,555 polled in a prohibition election Dec. 8, 1931. When defaced and other illegal ballots are taken into account, Saturday's turnout might prove to be a new record. Alongside a visible potential of 11,348 for the county, the first primary total was not glowing.

While the shift to three new polling places within the city was accomplished with little confusion—and probably to advantage in balloting—this could not be said for the mechanics of voting.

Howard Countians, privileged to designate approval with an "X" for the first time, voted ballots about every conceivable way they could be marked. Judges complained that some Xed the tickets, others clung to the scratching method, and the worst of the lot did a little of both. In some instances voters marked an X beside all the names they didn't want and left one blank beside their favored candidate.

This slowed counting considerably. Another "sleeper" was the requirement in the new election law which required a special ballot to count the absentee ballots. With more than 450 of them to be tallied, this lasted well after midnight and barely beat box No. 4, the final one, in at 2 a.m.

In the county judge's race, R. H. Weaver led with 2,440, and Walter Grice, incumbent, had 2,045 to go into the runoff with him. G. E. (Red) Gilliam was in third place with 1,654 and Tom Helton polled 354.

J. B. (Jake) Bruton, incumbent, had the lead in the sheriff's race with 2,565, and Jess Slaughter attained the runoff with 1,928. W. D. (Pete) Green, former police chief, polled 1,182 while Johnnie Underwood got 783.

Mrs. Viola Horton Robinson, chief deputy in the office now, won the nomination for county tax assessor and collector by polling 3,937 to 2,419 for R. B. Hood.

George Choate, asking another term as district clerk, had 6,272 votes.

Hartman Hooser polled 6,158 in his unopposed bid for re-election as county attorney.

Lee Porter, county clerk, received 6,254 votes for the office.

Frances Glenn repeated with the democratic nomination for county treasurer with 6,276 votes.

Thornton To Head Demo Committee

Howard County easily established one record in Saturday's primary when 5,158 votes were cast in the race for County Democratic chairman.

Jess Thornton won the post with a total of 3,065 votes, based on complete, unofficial returns, while W. D. Berry received 2,093 votes.

It was the first time Howard County ever had a contested race for county chairman. Previously that post had been filled by write-in ballots. This year, however, with increased interest in conventions and party policy, both Berry and Thornton filed for places on the ballot before the May 5 deadline.

George Mahon, Congressman from the 19th District, claimed 6,292 votes, while J. Gordon (Oble) Bristow received 6,234 Howard County votes for state representation from the new 101st district. Judge Clyde Grissom, who returned unopposed to the 11th district Court of Civil Appeals, had a total of 6,149, and Harley Sadler, unopposed candidate for state senator from the 24th district, had a total of 6,177.

Two Firms Will Build Gasoline Plant For Vealmoor Production

Two oil and gas fields along the Howard-Borden line and two in Borden County, all producing from the Pennsylvanian, will have an outlet for their gas, probably by January 1.

Reef Fields Gasoline Corp. of Houston, of which J. R. Butler is President, and Skelly Oil Company of Tulsa, Okla., will build a gasoline plant in Northeastern Howard County. It will handle about 35 million cubic feet of gas per day.

The gas will come from the Vealmoor and East-Vealmoor pools on the Howard and Borden line, the Reinecke pool in Southeast Borden and the Good pool in Southwest Borden County. From the plant approximately 200,000 gallons of natural gasoline, propane and butane will be extracted daily.

The plant will be located on Skelly's producing lease in the north half of section 20-27, H&TCo, in the south part of the East Vealmoor pool, 17 miles north-northeast of Big Spring.

Pipeline will be laid from the plant to a point about three miles west to deliver processed gas to the El Paso Natural Gas pipeline. There parallel lines will be laid from the plant south to an undesignated point on the Texas & Pacific railroad for shipment of natural gasoline, propane and butane in tank car lots.

The gathering system in the Good and Vealmoor fields is about completed. Pipe is being wrapped and coated at Coahoma for the gathering system in the Reinecke and East Vealmoor pools. Contractors include Delta Engineering Corporation of Houston on

MARTIN DIES

Dies Holding A Big Lead In Congress Race

(From Press Dispatches) Martin Dies, who made headlines ten years ago as chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, may go back to Washington.

The Lubkin lawyer was at the top of the heap in the seven-man scramble for Congressman-at-large, in Saturday's Democratic primary voting in Texas. There was a possibility that he might win without a runoff, although this could not be determined definitely early Sunday morning. His nearest opponent was John Lee Smith of Lubbock, a former lieutenant governor.

Speaker Sam Rayburn and all other congressmen from Texas with opposition held leads early Sunday in their bids for re-election.

Rayburn, Reps. Wright Patman of Texarkana, Q. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, Wingate Lucas of Grapevine, and O. Clark Fisher of San Angelo held commanding margins.

Four Posts Are Not Contested

Four district offices which include Howard County within their boundaries went uncontested in Saturday's primary and most voters left the lone names unmarked on their ballots.

George Mahon, Congressman from the 19th District, claimed 6,292 votes, while J. Gordon (Oble) Bristow received 6,234 Howard County votes for state representation from the new 101st district. Judge Clyde Grissom, who returned unopposed to the 11th district Court of Civil Appeals, had a total of 6,149, and Harley Sadler, unopposed candidate for state senator from the 24th district, had a total of 6,177.

A DIFFERENCE

Local Producers True Rodeo Men

There is quite a distinct difference between a real rodeo producer and the Wild West circus promoter, a difference that is going to clear to West Texas at the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Rodeo August 6-7-8-9 at the arena just west of town.

The Beutler Brothers of Elk City, Oklahoma, producers of this rodeo are real rodeo men. Practical range-riding cowboys and ranchers themselves they have a production that appeals to the real old-fashioned cowboy. It has never been necessary for Beutler Brothers to employ the service of a Hollywood motion picture drug-store cowboy to bring the top performers and big crowds of spectators to their show. People go to the Beutler Brothers produced rodeos because they're the real deal, as rough and tough as they come with the saltiest bulls and broncs in the game.

At the same time the Beutlers know that variety is the spice of a rodeo performance, and they provide this too. For all four of the evening performances here, which will start at 8 p.m., they have contracted the Hendricks Family for Hendricks Family of California, America's most outstanding rodeo specialty act group, with their trained horses, mules and dogs, dare devil riding acts and super clowning.

Everett Colborn of the Lightning C Ranch at Dublin and producer of the Madison Square Garden Rodeo for many years has contracted the Hendricks Family for several seasons and says they're getting better year by year. Frank Moore, manager of the Garden Rodeo for more than 25 years says the Hendricks have the very best specialty acts he has ever seen, and Leo J. Cremer of Big Timber, Mont., and nationally regarded as "Mr. Rodeo Himself" has praised them very highly.

One of the most spectacular and thrilling acts at the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Rodeo this year (and this includes the possibility that a rampaging Brahms bull may cause some cowboy a lot of trouble) will be the double (coming and going) Roman jump over an automobile by the two Roman-riding Hendricks twins, each standing on his own team of twin horses, the two teams passing in midair above the automobile. This has been proclaimed the outstanding rodeo specialty act of all times.

Then for the most hilarious fun, to allow the spectators some relaxation from the strain of witnessing a cowboy taking the tremendous punishment of a bellowing bull or bucking bronc ride, the Hendricks Family will present, one after another, original and side-splitting comedy acts, many of which feature their old Model T Ford that does tricks even by itself, and their trained white mules.

Among the trained animals, including their dogs which will delight old and young alike, is King Richard, the popular dancing horse and conceded to be the best in the show world.

Ann Hendricks and King Richard "the horse with the dancing legs" will be a real thrill. This educated horse does with grace and ease a dozen steps from the cake-walk to the very intricate and difficult Carolos, but the real feature is the horse in a beautiful high trot. King Richard is an American Saddlebred, a handsome horse, Ann Hendricks has trained herself.

New and varied comedy acts will be unraveled at each separate performance and there will still be plenty of them for each of these shows.

But there will be plenty of real rodeo action, too, with the country's top contestants riding and roping and bulldozing their hardest for a share of the money, because after all the rodeos are bacon and beans to these boys, even while they're having a lot of fun.

Stevenson To Quit Governorship Soon

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, newly chosen Democratic candidate for the presidency, is expected to resign as governor within the next few weeks. His resignation will mean a scramble among several Democrats seeking the Democratic Illinois gubernatorial nomination in November.

Under state law he will be succeeded by Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon, one of those reported likely to seek the vacated governorship nomination on the Democratic ballot. Other hopefuls are:

Edward J. Barrett, Illinois secretary of state; Cook County (Chicago) Clerk Richard J. Daley; former U. S. Sen. Scott W. Lucas; former state Atty. Gen. John E. Cassidy; and Dr. Karl Meyer, Chicago surgeon and former University of Illinois Board of Trustees president.

The Perfect Rhythm Of Riding

The success of such acts as this which will be performed at the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Rodeo, August 6-7-8-9, depend as much on the horses as on the rider, even more so. Byron Hendricks is the only trick rider in the world to perform the Roman jump without bridles on his horses, and he also achieves the backward stand without bridles. His twin brother, Lee, has an act that is no less spectacular as he does the head stand and famous Roman jump over an automobile. The Hendricks boys are billed as the Stunt Kings and their horses are known as the Flying Twins, for the horses, like the boys, are actually twins. The Hendricks and their horses, mules and dogs have performed at the Madison Square Garden Rodeo and at other large rodeos throughout the country. They will be seen at all four performances of the rodeo here.

Flying Saucers Busy As Democrats During Week

By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Staff Writer
Animal, vegetable or mineral, optical illusion, light reflection or actual substance, the phenomena known loosely as "flying saucers" were as busy as the Democrats this week.

In the New York area, in Washington, D. C., in New England and Ohio, reports came in of strange aerial objects that defied immediate explanation. The Air Force said the volume of such reports was the heaviest it has been in five years.

Most of the sightings were made by relatively competent observers, by pilots, airport control tower men and civilian air defense spotters. In one case, radar technicians at the airport in Washington reported unidentified, unexplained "blips" on their radar scopes the same night other people saw strange lights in the sky.

All this added significance but no solution to the great celestial mystery which has puzzled, fascinated and sometimes frightened the nation since the first "saucers" were sighted in 1947.

But the Air Force could only say what it has said before: "There is still no concrete evidence to prove or disprove the so-called 'flying saucers.'"

The fact that radar picked up unidentified "blips" does not, the spokesman said, necessarily indicate the presence of actual substance instead of mere light. A radar contact, he said, can be caused by an electronic disturbance in the sky, mal-functioning of the radar set or an actual substance.

But on the same night, Saturday night—and in the same general area—that the radar made its unexplained contacts, two airlines pilots reported strange lights in the sky.

Flying between Washington and Martinsburg, W. Va., Capt. S. C. Pierman said he saw seven objects, moving at tremendous speed at times, hanging almost motionless at other times. He said they were like "falling stars without tails" but he added he had never seen a shooting star move so fast.

Another pilot said he saw a light trail his plane to within four miles of Washington.

In Massachusetts, "silver disks" in the sky were reported by two members of the Ground Observer Corps and a wartime flight engineer. Other sightings, varying in descriptions, were reported from Burlington, Vt., South Portland, Me., and New York City, and in France, a man claimed to have photographed a brilliantly lit "oval saucer" flying between 9,000 and 24,000 feet.

Retired Ministers Are Keeping Busy

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Two men who have been ministers 50 years say retirement hasn't cut down much on their preaching. They are the Rev. Peter Froberg of Brockton, Mass., and the Rev. J. E. Lorimer of Chappell, Neb. They and the Rev. A. T. Lundholm of Rock Island, Ill., were honored recently at the 53rd annual synod of the Augustana Lutheran Church for 50 years of service to the church.

The Rev. Froberg says he retired in 1946, but hasn't missed a Sunday in the pulpit since. And the Rev. Lorimer says that since his retirement he goes wherever he is needed and has preached almost every Sunday.

The Rev. Lundholm is not retired. He is editor of The Augustana, Swedish bi-monthly newspaper in Rock Island.

FOR MILITARY VEHICLES

Automatic Drive With Eight Forward Speeds Being Built

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT, July 26 (AP)—An automatic drive that provides eight speeds forward and two in reverse is being built by the automobile industry.

But it isn't now intended for use in a conventional type passenger automobile; it was developed for use in a new military type. Yet it may be the forerunner of a new automatic transmission for passenger cars.

The industry's research laboratories are doing a great deal of work on automatic transmissions; many improvements in present systems first were initiated in military vehicles. Similarly, many recent advances in engines, steering and braking grew out of lessons learned in military vehicle design.

So industry experts believe many engineering advances that will mark 1954 and later models will come out of developments in military vehicles being designed and built in automobile factories today.

Automobile engineers now are working on passenger car design for 1954 and 1955.

Probably no motorist would want an automatic drive with eight speeds forward and two in reverse unless they operated very smoothly and quietly. Yet there are widely divergent viewpoints regarding types of automatic transmissions currently in use.

Some drivers prefer actual shifting of gears while others want the torque converter type. Automatic gear shifting is exemplified in General Motors' Hydra-Matic unit, brought out by Oldsmobile shortly before World War II. Most other automatic transmissions introduced subsequently are of the torque conversion type. The latter provides constant acceleration—on the order of a steam engine.

Both types have design and operating features the transmission engineers would like to incorporate in one transmission unit. Much of the work currently under way in the research departments has that end in view.

OTTAWA, July 25 (AP)—The man who battled the Communist truce negotiators at Panmunjom says the rise in prices is the biggest change he has found in North America in the three years since he went away.

Riding THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Tom Good, (right) has just finished telling the Grub Line Rider, that this year's production of the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Rodeo is going to be the best ever held in West Texas.

And Tom Good should know. A resident of this area for 50 years, Mr. Good has been president of the Howard County rodeo group since it was first organized in the early 1930s, and more than any other one man has contributed to its success through the unselfish contributions in time, money, experience and enthusiasm that he has made to it.

The rodeo will be held at 8 p.m. the evenings of August 6-7-8-9, with outstanding specialty acts at each performance.

Because of the drought in this section, Mr. Good had to ship some of his cattle to near Raton, New Mexico some weeks ago. Now the drought has gotten rough there too, and he is moving these cattle to the ranch of his son, Jeff Good, at Yeso, New Mexico in De Baca County.

An unusual thing this dry year is the extremely large number of flies around livestock pens, and equally surprising is the immunity flies have built up for DDT. This chemical no longer appears to be effective at all.

But Joyce Robinson, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Robinson, and young sister of Lloyd Robinson, and young sister of the 4-H'er who showed the grand champion steer at both Dallas and Chicago, was whipped the fly problem.

Joyce has two club calves this year from the TO Ranch. She used cotton insect poison on Monday and on Friday her feed pen and shed (a feed pen and shed that has held more grand champion steers than any other pen in the United States) was still completely free of flies. Joyce has been careful not to get this poison (30 per cent DDT and 40 per cent Toxaphene) on either her calves or their feed. She probably has the only fly-free pen in the county and perhaps over an even larger area.

Mr. Robinson, incidentally, is now a surgical patient in Baylor Hospital at Dallas.

County Agent Durward Lewter believes he has the best show string of Hereford steers, all of them considered, that he has ever had, but while these steers are all on feed and are well sheltered, they need rain as much as any other cattle—they need the benefit of the atmospheric conditions that come with a good rain, and some green grass will be quite helpful to the nurse cows.

The Grub Line had the pleasure of accompanying Lewter, and George Kelley of Fort Worth, a representative of Universal Mills on a trip over the county looking at a number of these steers. On the tour Kelley met a number of the boys and girls who have won calf-feeding and show awards offered by Universal.

Among those visited were Travis Fryar, who is feeding out a good TO calf; Donald Denton, who probably will go to the shows with three steers, but who is expecting his share of the ribbons with a big steer from the herd of Mrs. Rupert Hartrider of Abilene. This steer was sired by a Grissom bull and inothered by a Largent cow. Ronnie and Delbert Davidson are preparing three calves for the show circuit, and they too have a big steer from the herd of W. G. Stamper of Jacksboro. Leonard Smith has two steers, one from the Perry Walker herd and another from the herd of Wilson Brothers of Howard and Borden Counties. Woody Cathey has a big steer from the Dorothea Griffin Ranch.

One of the best Howard County steers at this time (and they're all better than just "good"), is the big Hereford being fed out by James Shortes, who had the winner of the last Eastern National Livestock Show at Baltimore. This steer is from the herd of Dr. R. G. B. Cowper. The Cowper herd is of TO foundation stock. James Shortes also has three other calves. One from the herd of Kyle Miller, one from the herd of Ed Gardner of Carrizo Springs and one from the herd of Norman Libby of Rosbud, New Mexico.

Edgar Allen Phillips has three steers, a big one from the herd of Claude King of Snyder, one from TO Ranch and one he bred.

Among the last but far from being the least important of the steers to be mentioned are the pair being gotten ready for the shows by Sue and Ann, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd White of Big Spring. Whoever places a steer over either of these two big ones is going to know he has been to a show. These two Herefords have never weighed more than 10 pounds apart, and there is just a few days difference in their ages. One is from the Largent Ranch at Merkel and the other is from the TO Ranch. They were weighed Thursday and at that time there was only five pounds difference in their weights. The only difference between them is one of touch. The Grub Line predicts that if they are shown in competition, and as the different judges put their hands on them, first one and then the other is going to be placed at the top. This prediction is predicated on the condition in which these steers are going to be by the time the show circuit opens.

Ann and Sue are also feeding out a steer from the Donald Lay herd.

Sonny Choate's three steers are doing fine and making good progress, and it will be hard, search the country over, to find a family co-operating more completely with the 4-H program.

In time we are going to get around to see the others of the more than 50 club steers on feed in the county.

There are other unusually good steers on feed in Martin County as was disclosed by the Martin County Farm and Ranch tour Friday. More about these steers, and the competition Howard County Farm and Ranch tour Friday. More about these steers, and the boys and girls can expect from their neighbors in a later column.

Heat Wave Makes Goose Eggs Hatch

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — A Southern Illinois heat wave was hot enough to hatch an egg—in fact six, claims a Keyesport farm wife. Mrs. Henry Schmitt said goose eggs failed to hatch under a hen in normal time and were discarded. She delayed burying them. After a week of temperatures near 100 degrees, she happened to note one egg cracking. She said natural heat hatched six goslings.

Mrs. Tucker's Firm Pays Summer Bonus

SHERMAN, July 26 (AP)—A mid-summer cash bonus amounting to 10 per cent of wages earned between Dec. 1 and July 31 by employees of Mrs. Tucker's products was announced today by W. S. Dorset, president.

The bonus amounts to about $125,000 and will be shared by 425 employees. Bonus checks will be issued to employees, both in Sherman and at the new plant under construction in Jacksonville, Ill.

Mrs. Tucker's products, now a division of Anderson, Clayton & Co., for several years has paid a bonus in December. In announcing the July bonus, Dorset pointed out that Mrs. Tucker's fiscal year had been changed to end on July 31 to conform with the fiscal year of Anderson, Clayton.

State's Gas Gathering Tax Is Ruled Out By Judge In Austin

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, July 26 (AP)—Texas' natural gas gathering tax was declared unconstitutional by Dist. Judge Jack Roberts today. He ruled the tax, which went into effect last September, was a burden on interstate commerce.

Judge Roberts announced his ruling on the basis of facts submitted in Michigan - Wisconsin Pipeline Co.'s suit.

He said the levy definitely was unconstitutional as applied to gas moving exclusively for out-of-state use.

He considered the tax constitutional as applied to gas gathered and sold for use in Texas and also on certain combinations of intrastate and interstate operations, but if part of the law is invalid, all of it must fall.

The Legislature declared that if the tax were held unconstitutional as to interstate gas, it would not apply to intrastate gas.

The ruling, from which the state was expected to appeal immediately, would cut off approximately 14 million dollars of state revenue per year.

That was the amount the state comptroller had estimated would be realized from the tax of slightly less than one-half cent per 1,000 cubic feet of gas gathered from the ground.

Judge Roberts issued his decision on the last day of the district court term. He said he would have to extend the term several days to allow time to draw up the formal judgment.

"The incidence of the tax on the first taking of the gas is an inseparable and integral part of interstate commerce so it is unconstitutional under the Federal Commerce Law and under rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court," Roberts said.

He said his decision was based largely on a Connecticut case which went to the U. S. Supreme Court in 1930 involving a state tax "which was almost identical in wording with this one."

Judge Roberts said judgments would be issued later in cases brought by a Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. and Amarillo Oil Co. simultaneously with Michigan-Wisconsin's.

Regardless of the fact situations involved, the tax will have to be declared unconstitutional in these later cases in line with today's ruling, he said.

The three suits were argued at the same time in court as test cases representing the suits of 50 pipeline companies.

Atty-Gen. Price Daniel had argued on behalf of the state that the Supreme Court has upheld state taxing of local activities if the state is giving protection, benefits and privileges.

He had contended the major pipelines would not be in business today if it were not for Texas conservation laws.

Attorneys for the pipelines had argued that benefits and privileges enjoyed by the gatherers of gas had nothing to do with whether the tax was constitutional.

Seismograph Shows Two Small Quakes

IN PRECINCT MEETS Harmony Returns To Local Demos

Renewed unity of the National Democratic Party was reflected in Big Spring precinct conventions as three of four precincts holding meetings voted in favor of listing the party's presidential and vice presidential nominees on the state ballot.

Two of the four also approved resolutions which would require Texas Democratic electors to vote for the two nominees, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for President and Sen. John A. Sparkman of Alabama for vice president.

GOP Front Is Serene During Conventions

All was serene on the Republican front Saturday, as the faithful few gathered in their party's precinct conventions.

The small attendance was in contrast to the party's gatherings in May, when Eisenhower sentiment brought out record numbers.

It could be assumed that some Eisenhower enthusiasts preferred to do their voting in November, while participating in the local office primary Saturday. The law says this can be done, but it prohibited participation in the Demo voting Saturday and attendance at a Republican meeting on the same day.

Action at most of the local conventions was routine. By precinct reporting, results were as follows:

PRECINCT 2—Re-elected G. K. Chadd precinct chairman, named Mrs. J. H. Percy delegate to the county convention and Chadd as alternate. His votes went for G. H. Hayward for reelection as county chairman.

PRECINCT 3—Re-elected R. L. Tollett precinct chairman, named O. D. Craig as delegate and Tollett as alternate, favored Hayward as county chairman.

PRECINCT 4—Re-elected D. T. Evans chairman, named T. C. Tinkham delegate and Evans as alternate. Cast two votes for John Whiting as county chairman and one for Hayward.

PRECINCT 5—Re-elected E. B. McCormick as alternate, and cast all its votes for Hayward as county chairman.

Other precinct conventions had been called in Precinct 1, and at Coahoma, Forsan and R-Bar. Reports were not available.

The GOP county convention is set for next Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Courthouse.

No meeting was held in Precinct No. 1. Harmony apparently prevailed at each of the conventions. Considerable discussion preceded the vote on the resolutions binding electors and naming of Democratic nominees on the state ballot at meetings in Precincts 2 and 3.

R. L. Cook presided at the Precinct No. 2 convention where the tidelands resolution was reaffirmed and binding of Democratic electors was approved. Sixteen voters attended the meeting at Washington Place School.

Twenty-one Precinct 3 Democrats with the women outnumbering the men, assembled at Park Hill School, elected Judge W. E. Greenlee convention chairman, and named Miss Arsh Phillips secretary.

The meeting was called to order by Clyde Thomas, in the absence of the chairman, and named 27 delegates and five alternates to the county convention. This delegation was bound by the unit rule.

The only other business before the convention was a resolution offered by Shine Phillips which was unanimously passed. It condemned the tidelands seizure, all federal encroachments upon the rights of states and individuals, and substantially affirmed the resolutions of the recent state convention at San Antonio.

Four persons attended the Precinct 4 meeting, ratified the tidelands report and voted to have the names of Stevenson and Sparkman listed on the Texas ballot. Mack Rodgers was elected chairman and Mrs. Bettie J. Jones, secretary.

Mrs. Jones, Mrs. J. R. Creath, E. P. Sullivan and Rodgers were named delegates to the county convention.

Eight delegates to the Precinct 5 convention elected W. D. Berry chairman, and Mrs. Douglas Orme, secretary after L. R. Mundt, precinct chairman, had opened the meeting.

The convention chairman called attention to the unity and harmony of the National Democratic party and declared that all Democrats should "think and work" in complete harmony for "the party and for the people."

Douglas Orme introduced a resolution to the effect that precinct delegates vote as a unit in support of Texas' claims to the tidelands and "principles of democracy as adopted by the State Democratic Convention in San Antonio." The convention approved placing of national Democratic nominees on the state ballot and binding of Texas Democratic electors to vote for the nominees.

Twenty-one delegates selected to attend the Howard County Convention next Tuesday are Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Engstrom, and Mrs. Douglas Orme, Cecil Drake, James C. Ferguson, L. R. Mundt, Mrs. Robert H. Hill, A. E. Long, K. H. McGibbon, A. J. Stallings, Ross Hill, Mrs. R. L. Blake, C. W. Creighton, John W. Hodges, Les Kornfeld, and Mrs. Lonnie A. Griffith.

LeTourneau Ark Sails To Liberia

VICKSBURG, Miss., July 26 (AP)—The Ark of LeTourneau sailed today for the Liberian jungles with missionaries to teach the natives modern farming and Christianity.

About 50 or 75 friends and relatives of 12 technical missionaries aboard the gospel vessel waved as the craft slid into the Mississippi River at 8:30 a.m. for the trip to Africa.

The vessel will stop at New Orleans for a final check-up.

The vessel, a converted Navy landing craft, originally was scheduled to sail last Saturday after it was blessed by Evangelist Billy Graham, but the departure was prevented by loading problems.

Leaders Think Ike Blocked By Demos

By JACK BELL
CHICAGO, July 26 (AP) — Democratic leaders made it clear today they believe they have blocked Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower off from the South by their choice of the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

Eisenhower's reputed popularity below the Mason-Dixon Line had a great deal to do with the selection of Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama as vice presidential running mate for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Sparkman's nomination gave the Deep South representation on a ticket that probably can't be attacked successfully by Dixie Democrats, even though it runs on a platform hardly less strong in its civil rights provisions than that of 1948.

The 1948 revolt took 39 electoral votes from President Truman and through all of the North-South poker game bluffing that culminated the 31st Democratic Convention, ran the belief the party can't afford to lose a single Southern state this year.

There have been confident Republican predictions that Eisenhower will break into the South in November, picking off states like Texas, Virginia, North Carolina and Florida.

If President Truman had been the nominee again, that prediction might have had more weight.

But Stevenson, with close family ties in the South, is a different breed of political cat. Most Southerners feel he won't give them the kind of treatment Truman dished out on civil rights bills, although he supports the party platform firmly.

With Sparkman on the ticket as spokesman for what might be called the "New South," party leaders think Stevenson has little to fear.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia may be going home dissatisfied with the convention's action, but the betting here is that they will not lead any party-splitting revolt in November.

The reaction of most of Dixie may have been keyed by Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who told the convention he would "fall into the ranks" and work for the nominee in November.

Russell, a practical and sensible politician, apparently never had any real belief that he could win the nomination. But friends said he had accomplished some important objectives by his campaign.

They listed these as (1) a clear notification by his candidacy that the South would not take Truman again, (2) approval by the convention of a compromise (of sorts) on the civil rights plank and (3) forcing recognition for Dixie on the ticket.

The Republicans have said they are going to campaign in the South, neglected for years by candidates of both parties. That may force Stevenson, as well as Sparkman, to make appearances there. Jonathan Daniels, national committeeman has invited Stevenson to open his campaign in North Carolina.

Democratic leaders are confident that once the South has heard Stevenson on its home grounds, it will go for him.

Paris Embassy Staff Member Brings British Bride To U. S.

By DON HENRY
A man and his British wife who were aboard the oceanliner, Queen Mary, when the ship's transatlantic speed record was broken, are in Big Spring visiting over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Munson Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Anthony are in the United States—the first time in over 10 years and she for the first time—on leave from his position with the American Embassy in Paris, France.

Anthony is a brother of Mrs. Compton and came to Big Spring Friday from San Antonio where he visited his mother. His wife is a British citizen and is in the United States for her first time.

He is a State Department employee in Paris, working primarily as an electronics specialist but officially titled assistant economics adviser. Before beginning his work in Paris about a year ago, he served in the same position in Rome.

He stated his work was under the leadership of Ambassador Paul Draper, U. S. Special Representative in Europe, and the work is part of the Mutual Security Agency there in Paris.

Anthony's work deals with the inspection, recommendation and execution of electronics work for the Armed Forces and also the North Atlantic Treaty Organization throughout Europe.

Electronics, in Europe, covers all forms of communication and electric equipment, he added.

Mrs. Anthony is now applying for citizenship papers in the United States. She, because her husband is working with the American Embassy, has been living in the United States since she married although she had never seen the country.

Even the high rent of Big Spring seems cheap for Anthony and his wife. They reported they paid approximately $229 per month—plus utility bills—for an apartment and they added they felt they were lucky to get such a good deal.

Some apartments that weren't as good as theirs rented for as much as $300 per month, they added.

The couple came to the United States on the oceanliner Queen Mary and they met the liner United States on its way to breaking the Queen Mary's speed record.

The two ships passed each other, Anthony calculated, about the same speed as two cars going 40 miles-per-hour would pass.

He commented that approximately 75 per cent of the first-class passengers aboard the Queen Mary were Americans.

The all-British crew amused him in that they were pulling for the liner United States to break their ship, the Queen Mary's, record. They constantly praised the beauty, grace and structure of the rival ship.

The Anthonys arrived in the States July 8 and the liner United States reached England on its record-breaking maiden voyage a day before.

Anthony came to Texas as a lad from Andover, Massachusetts and spent his school days in San Antonio. He attended San Antonio Academy, Texas Military Institute and Texas A&M but finished college at the University of Southern California.

He was in the Air Force prior to his transfer to the State Department work in 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony will leave here Tuesday and go to California where he will take refresher courses in electronics.

From there, he stated it would be to Washington and then back to Paris.

Europeans Also Like Eisenhower

"People in Europe worship Ike Eisenhower like a god, and yet, they were glad and sad to see him leave," said Maurice Anthony, an American Embassy employee in Paris, France, here this week end on a leave.

Anthony and his British wife are visiting his sister, Mrs. Munson Compton and her husband. They arrived in the States July 8.

Speaking of Eisenhower, he said that the people of Europe hated to see the General leave because of the fine work he had done in reorganizing the country.

They were glad, though, for they felt that his leaving for the United States could help them more from the President's post.

He added that the officers of the Supreme Allied Headquarters, Europe, and the people of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries respected Eisenhower's successor, General Matthew Ridgway, because of Eisenhower's recommendation.

They felt that if Eisenhower could recommend him, Ridgway was all right, Anthony added.

And Anthony felt that the men under the commander would work with him, for no other reason than that Ike said he was a good man.

Drilling Activity Continues Decline

AUSTIN, July 26 (AP)—Completion of 231 oil wells this week boosted the year's total of 6,690 compared with 6,165 a year ago, the Railroad Commission reported today.

Drilling activity dropped sharply from last week, when 313 completions were reported.

No gas wells were completed, leaving the year's figure of 498, only two ahead of the year-ago record.

There were 160 dry holes. Wildcaters found 12 oil producers, no gas wells, and 106 dusters. Plugging included 158 dry wells and 41 oil wells.

The total average calendar day crude allowable as of today was 2,761,742 barrels, up 12,818 from last week.

Clear-Cut Victory Claimed By Governor In Precinct Sessions

By The Associated Press
Forces of Gov. Allan Shivers claimed clear-cut victory Saturday night in precincts of eight counties. Reports to the Associated Press from widely scattered areas of Texas indicated Shivers forces were in control in seven other counties.

But the reports were so skimpy that there was no way to establish a definite trend.

Shivers lost in Fort Arthur and Haskell precinct meetings, and the governor's headquarters in Austin said it was not sure about the total result from Jefferson County where Fort Arthur is located.

But Shivers' conservatives claimed triumphs in Travis, Walker, Wharton, Fayette, Kimble, Anderson, Stephens, Calhoun, Grimes, Wichita and Wood Counties.

In Travis County, 15 of 28 precincts had finished their conventions with 10 overwhelmingly for Shivers.

The Austin American reported confusion in the Shivers camp over endorsement of the Stevenson-Sparkman presidential ticket. Some Shivers conventions endorsed the ticket outright. Others merely passed resolutions assuring them a place on the ticket.

Although Loyalist forces controlled his home precinct convention in Jefferson County, Gov. Shivers, Mrs. Shivers and the governor's mother, Mrs. R. A. Shivers, were among delegates to the county convention. The delegation is headed by the unit rule.

In another precinct in the county, Loyalist forces bolted after the Shivers faction took control. In a third, Shivers supporters walked out.

Six of seven Democratic conventions in Gregg County reporting sent unopposed delegations to the county convention to vote under the unit rule. There was one walk-out of Loyalist forces, affecting eight delegates, in the county.

Gregg County Republicans met in harmonious gatherings and endorsed Alvin Lane for state GOP chairman.

In Harris County, with a total of 80 precincts reported out of 190, conservatives and Loyal Democrat forces were running practically neck and neck.

Shivers forces had won 32 of the precincts with a total vote of 143 in next Saturday's county convention.

Harris County Loyalists had control in 26 precincts with a county convention strength of 129 votes. The other two precincts reporting split their votes about even.

Conservatives bolted in one of the Harris County precincts, while Loyalists bolted in four others.

Republicans had a better turnout for their neighborhood conventions in Orange County, the Orange Leader estimated.

GOP Chairman R. R. Allen said that "puts the lie" to charges of Old Guard Republicans that those who attended presidential nominating conventions in May were "renegades."

Allen estimated the Republican turnout at 300 to 400. The Leader estimated the Democratic turnout at from 150 to 200, based on the half dozen conventions it covered.

Republicans planned to name the first slate of Republican county candidates ever put up in the county at their Aug. 2 county convention.

THE WEEK

The San Angelo lime in one hour. It is to test more extensively this week. If it makes a producer, a new lime—the tenth if our memory serves us right—from which Howard County fields produce.

Aviation was back in the news, too. While the Air Force presented plans to construct a 100,000 sq ft building on U. S. 89 for airline and Weather Bureau operations, the Chamber of Commerce went on record favoring the development of a new municipal field on the premises that Webb Field is permanently lost to civil aviation.

Dog poisoners, according to reports reaching police, were active last week. Pets can be nuisances to people who don't have them, but shame, shame on anyone who would stoop to poisoning them.

Cosden has a new vice president. Last week at the annual stockholders meeting here, R. W. Thompson, who heads up the pipeline and production division, was elevated to that post. Cosden stockholders, incidentally, extended the non-contributory pension plan to cover officers.

Heart attacks claimed three Big Springers almost instantly within the past week. C. L. (Curley) Rowe, J. E. Peurifoy and R. L. (Bob) Wolf all were claimed in this manner.

The Highway Department announced authorization for $146,000 of work on U. S. 89 west from the airport to the Martin County line. There's no word, but the widening sounds like this section might be shaved for one side of a divided highway someday. At the same time planning authorization was given for getting the highway to and through Big Spring. This job shapes up in excess of half a million.

Add to the general activity of the area the construction of a natural gasoline plant in the East Vealmeor field. This will handle 35 million cubic feet of gas daily and turn out 200,000 gallons of natural gasoline, propane and butane.

The postmaster has been instructed to receive bids for sale and removal of one unserviceable rug, formerly on the floor of his office, until 4 p.m. July 29. Anybody got any slightly worn matches they want to auction off?

Webb Air Force Base is to have a new guardhouse. Contract was let last week by the corps of engineers for $46,000, which ought to make a pretty commodious place.

The race for Congressman-At-Large developed into quite a scrap, as far as Howard County went. Though Martin Dies led with 2343 votes, John Lee Smith was close with 1823 votes. Herb Petry wasn't too far removed with 1091 votes. Four others were far back.

Robert S. Calvert, only man in the Comptroller of Public Accounts, polled 6214 votes. Jesse James, who had no opposition in the race for Treasurer of the State, did even better with a 6222 aggregate.

John Ben Sheppard could count 4733 local backers in the race for Attorney General. His opponent, Curt Stiles, rallied 1178 votes.

For Place No. 1, Supreme Court, Glenn R. Lewis led a field of four with 2350. Nearest to him was Frank Culver with 1401.

For Place No. 2, Supreme Court, Graham B. Smedley's name had a bigger lure to county voters. A total of 3442 votes were cast for him, compared to 1703 for his only opponent, Robert Bruce Kennan.

W. St. John Garwood was unopposed in the bids for Place No. 3, Supreme Court, and polled 6169 votes. Clyde E. Smith had no opposition in his campaign for Place No. 4, Supreme Court, and polled 6107 votes.

Scapini Is Freed On New Hearing

PARIS, July 26 (AP)—Georges Scapini, blind former Vichy ambassador to Germany on matters concerning prisoners of war, was acquitted last night of acting against the national defense.

Scapini, 59, was tried in absentia and condemned to five years of forced labor in 1949. He had taken refuge in Switzerland and was not returned to France until last June to face a new trial before a military tribunal. Sent to Germany during the war to try to obtain better treatment of French prisoners, he was accused of having promoted the use of the prisoners in German war industries.

Shivers Gets Grand Slam Win In State

AUSTIN, July 26 (AP)—Early returns from Democratic precinct meetings and in the governor's race indicated Texas were giving Allan Shivers the grand slam victory he wanted.

But those persistent anti-Shivers Loyalists weren't giving up. From San Antonio came word that Maury Maverick was already organizing "Stevenson for President" clubs in Texas.

The outlook in Democratic circles remained stormy, with another battle over loyalty or binding of presidential electors a sure thing for the September convention.

Early reports from Republican precinct meetings showed an unusual degree of harmony between the new guard Eisenhower people and the Old Guard who took a beating at Chicago.

Shivers returned home from Chicago, but did not go to his office in Austin. He had no comment on the Democratic ticket, except to say that he thought Stevenson would make a strong candidate. Shivers flew on to his summer home at Woodville where he'll spend the next three or four days resting after the Chicago ordeal.

Neither faction of Texas Democrats — the Shivers conservatives and the Loyalist liberals — seemed really happy about what happened at Chicago. Several delegates returning to Austin said that the Texans' determination to stick with Russell all the way through was the tip-off to the conservatives' attitude toward Stevenson.

The Loyalists said they were pleased, but they came home and put their fighting clothes on immediately.

It was regarded as a certainty that they will demand that Texas' Democratic electors be pledged to vote for the national party's nominee. They obviously were hoping to win national party favor by plugging for Stevenson in the face of seeming apathy by the Shivers organization.

This correspondent talked to many Democrats today who took part in precinct meetings and they said sure they were going to vote for Eisenhower in November.

That spirit showed up in reports from other cities, such as Longview, where a "vote for Eisenhower" resolution was turned down but cheered.

It was apparently to pinch off feelings like these that the Democratic Party's national leadership concentrated on Sen. John Sparkman for Gov. Adlai Stevenson's running mate. Whether it will work in Texas remains to be seen.

Security

Security, to Americans, has many meanings!

IN THE ARMY, it can mean a sturdy rifle with plenty of ammunition. Or the affection of a small furry dog, nestled in the crook of an arm. At home, it can be a neat suburban house, a graduation sheepskin, a small independent business.

Security has as many meanings as there are Americans to defend it.

One good way you can provide security—for your family and your country and yourself—is to purchase United States Defense Bonds.

Buying Bonds may seem a small thing. And yet, every time you purchase a Defense Bond you are saving toward your own financial independence. And you are also helping to build a strong economy that cannot be threatened... just as the men and women in the armed forces are building the military strength that spells security... and peace.

Remember, no matter how small your income you can never afford not to save. So why not sign up now to buy United States Defense Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work? Thousands have found it their one sure way to save—because it saves for you, before you even draw your pay.

HERE'S HOW E BONDS NOW EARN MORE MONEY FOR YOU!

Now safe, sure U. S. Series E Defense Bonds pay an even better return than ever before... thanks to 3 brand-new money-earning features just announced by the U. S. Treasury.

1. Now every Series E Bond you buy begins earning interest after only 6 months. It earns 3% compounded semiannually, when held to maturity. It reaches full maturity value earlier (9 years 8 months) and the interest it pays is now bigger at the start!
2. Every Series E Bond you own can now go on earning interest for 10 more years after it reaches the original maturity date—without your lifting a finger!
3. During the 10-year extension period, every un-matured bond earns at the new, higher interest (average 3% compounded semiannually). Your original $18.25 can now repay you $33.67. $37.50 pays back $67.34. And so on.

Start now! Invest more savings in better-paying Series E Bonds—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank!

King Farouk Steps Out In Favor Of Infant Son

By EDWARD POLLAK
CAIRO, Egypt, July 26 (AP)—King Farouk I abdicated the ancient Egyptian throne today at the climax of a tank-supported Army clean-up campaign and sailed away in the Mediterranean aboard his royal yacht. The Army said his family went with him for exile in Italy.

The Cabinet meanwhile proclaimed Farouk's baby son, 6-month old Crown Prince Ahmed, to be King Fuad II of Egypt and the Sudan.

The troops of Lt. Gen. Mohammed Naguib Bey, Egypt's new strong man as the Army's self-proclaimed commander in chief, surrounded the royal estates and arrested a number of Royal Guard officers in the showdown at the Ras el Tin Palace in Alexandria, Egypt's summer capital.

Street crowds applauded the outcome. Groups formed everywhere, clapping their hands happily, as the news spread.

The Army said Farouk, a fabulously wealthy ex-playboy, sailed into the Mediterranean alone aboard his yacht Mahroussa. He is going to Italy, perhaps eventually to the United States. His 18-year-old Queen, Nourhan, and the Crown Prince stayed behind.

Queen Nourhan said she wished to follow Farouk into exile, but was prevented from doing so because "she must take care of the baby crown prince and help bring him up."

The monarch had advance notice Friday of potential trouble in the anti-corruption drive when six high palace aides were forced to resign by the Army-backed government of Premier Aly Maher Pasha.

Naguib staged a lightning military coup Wednesday, pledging himself to root out corruption in the Egyptian government. He installed Maher Pasha as the Premier of his own choice. And today Maher Pasha talked twice to the 32-year-old Farouk. Finally came the official announcement from Army general headquarters that the King was through.

A Regency Council was set up to rule troubled Egypt until the crown prince, born last Jan. 16 to Farouk and the beautiful Nourhan, comes of age. She is the daughter of an Egyptian civil servant, whom the King married May 6, 1951, for the avowed purpose of producing a male heir to succeed him.

The King's abdication climaxed a succession of government crises which followed the disastrous rioting and fires which swept Cairo last January at the height of fierce anti-British feeling. The country has had six different governments in this period.

In Cairo as well as Alexandria, tanks faced every entrance to the royal palaces. Field artillery pieces trained their muzzles directly at the main entrance of the Abdin Palace in Cairo. Armed soldiers stood almost shoulder to shoulder. Airplanes flew overhead in both capitals.

Gen. Naguib himself was in Alexandria with Premier Maher Pasha. The first time Maher Pasha entered Ras el Tin Palace to demand Farouk's abdication, he stayed 10 minutes. Then the Premier went into another huddle with his commander in chief. In his second call on Farouk, Maher Pasha remained 20 minutes.

Directly after the second call, U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery drove to the palace and conferred with the King for 10 min.

Casualties Named

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The Defense Department identified 125 battle casualties in a new Korean War list (No. 613) today. It reported 10 killed, 103 wounded, one missing and 11 injured.

Murray Orders Steelworkers Back To Jobs

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO steelworkers union finally ordered his 680,000 men back to work in the mills and mines today with an announcement that the last issue in the steel strike had been settled.

Murray said "complete agreement" had been reached between the union and the steel industry. Union spokesmen added that this means some blast furnaces will be fired almost immediately.

Basic terms for settling the 55-day-old strike were agreed on at the White House Thursday and ratified by the steelworkers' Policy Committee here yesterday.

But a last-minute dispute involving 23,000 iron ore workers, mostly in Minnesota, unexpectedly delayed the march back to work across the nation.

These workers had received a pledge that their wage scales would be adjusted by next July 1 to make the increased pay between each class of work equal to the differential received by mill workers.

The terms of this adjustment were not stated, however, and it was this question which caused union leaders to delay the return-to-work order.

The dispute in the ore industry was settled this way:

The spread from each of the 17 job classifications to the next higher will be raised immediately from about 3/4 cents, the present figure, to 4 1/2 cents. Next July 1 the spread will be stretched to 5 1/2 cents.

After the CIO Policy Committee approved the White House agreement yesterday there were hopes that steel would be flowing over the week end to replenish the nation's civilian and defense economy. But picket lines were maintained today while negotiators worked on the wage details for the iron workers.

Murray said his men would return to the job as they were called by their employers.

The longest steel strike in the country's history started on June 2, minutes after the Supreme Court ruled illegal President Truman's seizure of the steel industry. As the grip of the strike tightened on the nation's economy, thousands of workers outside the steel industry were laid off and many plants important to the defense industry were forced to close for lack of steel.

Hargrove Service Held In C-City

COLORADO CITY, July 26—Funeral services for Mrs. Charlie L. Hargrove, 59, were held at 4 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church here with Rev. Cecil Hargrove, pastor of the Ashbury Methodist Church of Midland officiating. Burial was in the Westbrook Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son.

Mrs. Hargrove died Thursday in Odessa after a long illness. Born October 2, 1893 in Mitchell County, Texas, she had lived here all her life with the exception of the last five years which were spent in Odessa, Texas. She was married to C. L. Hargrove in Sterling City, Texas in January 1907.

Dr. Everett G. Fausel and family will leave Big Spring today for two weeks' vacation in their home state of New York.

Dr. Fausel is chief of surgical services at the Big Spring VA Hospital. The family has resided here since activation of the institution in 1950.

Demos Pick Sparkman As Candidate For Veep

JOHN SPARKMAN

Harmony Prevails At Final Session

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 26 (AP)—The Democratic party placed Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama by the side of presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson today for the great political wars against the Republicans.

Then it adjourned its 31st National Convention in a glow of outward harmony.

Sparkman accepted the vice presidential nomination with a pledge to "take the message of democracy to the people of this country."

"I believe, I earnestly believe," he said, "that we will go out of this convention with greater solidarity, greater unity in all sections of the country and in all segments of our party than we have been able to achieve in a long, long time."

Sparkman was the Stevenson choice for a running mate. And the convention whooped it through by acclamation.

The North-South hook-up of the Illinois governor and Alabama senator represented a new found — and incomplete — unity in the party.

The Democratic clans had battled furiously, spectacularly, all week long over candidates, the civil rights issue and a party loyalty oath repulsive to parts of the South.

Even as they turned to Stevenson early this morning to lead them into the 1952 campaign there were cries of "deals" and "payoffs" from opposition camps.

Die-hard backers of Sen. Estes Kefauver, who ran second in the presidential derby, considered entering him for the vice presidential spot, even after it became known that Sparkman was the man Stevenson wanted. Kefauver himself called them off. Usually it's just a matter of routine for a convention to take an unquestioningly the person the head of the ticket prefers.

By and large, party leaders were saying Sparkman was entirely acceptable. Here and there on the fringes there was a noticeable lack of warmth toward the Alabama senator.

Executive Secretary Walter White of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said of Sparkman that: "It will be difficult, if not impossible, for the Democratic party to sell to Negro voters and other civil rights advocates a nominee whose voting record has been one of consistent opposition to the civil rights objectives of the Democratic party."

A Negro congressman, Adam Clayton Powell of New York, called Sparkman "sheer political death" to the Democrats.

Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia said he doesn't think Sparkman "is well enough known to be of any help" to the Democratic party in his state.

But Sen. Hubert Humphrey, from the wing of the party that calls itself the liberals, sized up the choice of Sparkman as "splendid." President Truman, in Kansas City, said the selection was "a peach."

Sparkman is a political veteran who made his start on the Washington scene as a House member in 1935, after 10 years of practicing law at Huntsville, Ala. He shifted to the Senate in 1946.

And his record indicates that the administration can rely on him, more than most Southerners, to go along with all phases of its program except civil rights legislation. Even on that, his attitude hasn't been as tough as that of most Southerners.

Sparkman's fellow Alabama senator, Lister Hill, put him in nomination at a listless, final convention session for which many honored delegates failed to show up.

Those who did managed to put on a 17-minute demonstration, parading around this big stockyards auditorium with a forest of "Sparkman for veep" signs waving aloft.

But it was pretty much mechanical — zombie-like persons going through the motions because it is expected of them although they were so weary from long overtime sessions they couldn't put on any blaring show of spirit.

Delegates had spent most of their energy in two marathon stretch-outs in which they put up 11 men for the presidential nomination and then picked Stevenson from among them.

Stevenson was put over with a dramatic coup and accepted in the early hours today an honor he said he never sought.

He had lagged behind Kefauver on two ballots. But he had strength to call up later on. And the opposition collapsed before it when Averell Harriman, of New York, the Mutual Security director, leaped out of the race and swung in behind Stevenson.

That started a stampede. Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, a favorite son, switched over to Stevenson. With a bandwagon under way, it was all over at the end of the third roll call.

President Truman put in an appearance for one of those typical, fighting speeches that took him to an upset victory in 1948.

Truman introduced Stevenson—a man who seemed a bit awed and overwhelmed by the nomination.

"I hope and pray," Stevenson said, "that we Democrats, win or

Publisher Will Join Ike Wagon

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Carl Estes, publisher of the Longview, Tex., News and Journal and ardent supporter of Sen. Estes Kefauver for the Democratic presidential nomination, said today he will campaign for Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Estes said he sent telegrams Gov. James Duff of Pennsylvania and Jack Porter of Houston, an Eisenhower worker, saying: "As soon as I can get rid of New Deal fleas I picked up over the country during the last six months, I want to start doing what I can to help elect Dwight D. Eisenhower. We saw a different kind of 'deal' in the Chicago stockyards Friday night but whatever it is I want no part of it. The con has been skinned, but nobody seems to know who did it."

Estes flew more than 100,000 miles during Kefauver's campaign and was a contributor to the Tennessee senator's campaign.

Early today he cracked out an "I Like Ike" sign in the convention hall, and Texas delegates and ushers good naturedly hustled him along.

Sparkman, he said, was the "prize" of them all and he presented his running mate "for your approbation."

Bob Wolf, Former Sheriff, Dies Here

Robert Lee (Bob) Wolf, 58, former sheriff of Howard County, died suddenly of heart attack Friday at 10 p.m. He was stricken at his home, 504 Virginia, apparently with a heart attack. At the time he was preparing to bathe before retiring, and he slumped across his bed.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, officiating. Burial will be in the New Mount Olive section of the City Cemetery, Eberley Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Born Jan. 18, 1894 in Coryell County, he came to Big Spring from Quitaque in 1920. Five years later, on June 6, 1925, he was married to Annie Brown.

During World War I he saw service and had a record of overseas duty with the U. S. Marines. He then lived in the Vincent community with his family and later had some interests around Coahoma. After serving as a deputy sheriff for several years, Bob Wolf made an unsuccessful bid for sheriff but came back in 1944 to win his first term in the office. He served as sheriff of Howard County from 1945 through 1951.

Since returning to private life, he had engaged in trading. Although he had received considerable encouragement to make the race again, he declined to do so. Wolf was a member of the I.O.O.F. lodge and the Knights of Pythias.

Ironically, his brother, Vernon (Preach) Wolf died suddenly of heart attack in 1950 while off on a fishing excursion.

Surviving him are his wife; his father, H. C. Wolf, of Coahoma; six sisters, Mrs. C. M. Bell, Woodlake, Calif., Mrs. R. W. Irby, St. Helena, Ore., Mrs. C. S. Keeler, Lockney, Mrs. H. S. # Illness Is Fatal To Eva Peron, Wife Of Argentina's President

BUENOS AIRES, July 26 (AP)—Mrs. Eva Peron, Argentina's blonde first lady and non-official political power in the regime of President Juan D. Peron, died tonight after a lingering illness. Her age was listed officially as 30.

She never recovered fully from an operation performed here last November with a New York cancer specialist in attendance.

The cause of death was not confirmed as cancer, however, during her long illness.

The Argentina national radio announced in a nation-wide broadcast that she died at 8:25 p.m.

The dynamic wife of President Peron who worked hard both at being glamorous and at swaying the nation's "descamisados" (shirtless ones), was perhaps the most powerful woman in Western Hemisphere domestic politics.

Argentina's first lady challenged Argentine tradition that the woman's place was in the home, but was woman-like enough to conceal her age. Argentina's Who's Who listed her birth date as May 7, 1922, but she was believed to be three years older than that.

A poor, untutored provincial girl whose romance blossomed into political power, she was a real-life Cinderella for millions of workers, nursing mothers and hovel-dwellers whose adulation propelled her calculating star.

Her soaring rise was cut short last fall by an illness described by her doctors as acute anemia. On Nov. 6 she underwent a major operation after an examination by an eminent cancer and tumor specialist, Dr. George Pack of New York.

The specific condition that made the operation necessary was never announced and the same mystery surrounded it that attached to many phases of her career.

Mrs. Peron resumed her public appearances in February, but her

Hot Weather Prevails Over Most Of State

By The Associated Press
Fine summer weather prevailed generally over Texas on election day, and voters had only the heat to complain about. At least 13 Texas cities sweltered in temperatures of 100 degrees or more.

A break in the clear weather occurred late Saturday afternoon in East Texas, however, as a line of wind and rain storms moved in from Louisiana westward.

Lufkin had 1.87 inches of rain in a downpour, and at nightfall rain was falling at Longview. Heavy winds at the Hughey Community, near Kilgore, blew down a garage and knocked over a few trees.

One victorious politician at the Elderville community, also near Kilgore, had little to cheer about. Frank Burton, newly-elected constable, had his house destroyed by fire when lightning struck it.

The temperature climbed to 104 degrees at Presidio, to take the high-mark for the day. Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Mineral Wells all had 103; Abilene and Cotulla 102; Dallas, Del Rio and Junction 101; and Big Spring, Laredo, Childress and Salt Flat all had 100.

Elsewhere temperatures were mostly in the 90's, and the low afternoon reading was 89 degrees at Marfa.

The weatherman predicted the thunderstorms in East Texas would disperse by Sunday morning, and the hot weather would hold over the state. Clear to partly cloudy skies were expected to continue, with the possibility of widely scattered thundershowers in the El Paso area.

British Have Super Rocket

ABERPORTH, Wales, July 26 (AP)—Britain has a high-flying guided rocket that can chase enemy bombers at "well over" 2,000 miles an hour and is up to five times as maneuverable as a fighter plane, Supply Minister Duncan Sandys disclosed today.

He refused to give full details on the grounds of military security, but he said the rocket "can rise to heights far greater than any bomber is likely to reach for many years to come."

"These rockets can be steered," he said, "or better still, can steer themselves through the air with great accuracy. They are capable of rapidly altering course as they would have to do to intercept an aircraft taking evasive action."

"In fact, they can twist and turn with four or five times the degree of maneuverability of a fighter plane."

Ike Says Demos Have One Plank

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
DENVER, July 26 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said tonight the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket nominated by the Democrats can offer the country only a one-plank platform—defense of the entire Truman administration record.

Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, spoke out shortly after the Democratic National Convention followed up selection of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as the party's presidential candidate with nomination of Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama as his running mate.

Eisenhower's statement came as he made ready to map campaign strategy at a conference tomorrow with the GOP vice presidential nominee, Sen. Richard Nixon of California.

Borden Adds 2 Producers

Southeastern Borden County added two producers, one in the Von Roeder and one in the Hobo field, while several wildcats continued to make progress Saturday.

In the Von Roeder area, Magnolia No. 8 W. Ed Murphy, 2,220 from the north and 869 from the east lines of section 49-26, H&TC, completed. It flowed 24 hours through 10-64th choke to make 156.62 barrels of 46.2 gravity oil. Casing pressure was 200, tubing pressure was 275, gas-oil ratio 1,312-1, elevation 2,236; top pay 6,729; total depth 6,746; the 5/8-in. casing set at 6,729. On top of pay the well has a datum minus of 4,493, which is 12 feet high to Shell No. 6 Sterling, an east offset. This venture is located in the Lake J. B. Thomas Basin.

Glasscock Prospect Is Drilling Ahead

Sinclair No. 1 G. T. Hall, Northern Glasscock exploration and located south of the Lomax community, was drilling below 7,531. ## WEEK'S REVIEW

Five Counties Lead In Oil Indications

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, July 26—With the end of the steel strike expected to halt the well-drilling lag all over the country, West Texas oilmen are looking forward to an upsurge in activity in the immediate future.

Last week five counties, Ector, Tom Green, Reagan, Upton and Howard, provided most of the news.

Wolfcamp production has been indicated in Northeastern Ector County. V. A. Brill No. 1 David Paken, wildcat, in section 17-42-1N-G&M B&A, flowed at the rate of 14 barrels of 43 gravity oil hourly for two hours from 8,543-667 feet.

On another 8 1/2-hour drillstem test from 8,730-746 feet in a Wolfcamp lime streak, the wildcat flowed oil to tanks for eight hours. It flowed at the rate of 12 barrels hourly on a 1/4-inch choke and at the rate of 30 barrels hourly on a one-inch opening off the drillpipe during the testing period. The project is coring deeper.

An indicated lower Pennsylvanian discovery located only four miles southwest of downtown San Angelo, L. E. Scherck and E. M. Wahlenmaler No. 1 Tom Nasworthy, swabbed 23.40 barrels of oil plus two per cent basic sediment and water. This eight-hour swabbing gauge was the final one before beginning the installation of a pumping unit and tank battery.

Total recovery on the swab for a 44-hour period was 156.40 barrels of oil, an average of 3.55 barrels hourly. Recovery was from perforations at 5,917-927 feet. No. 1 Nasworthy is located 1.281 from north, 1,622 feet from west lines of H. Zerbach survey, slightly more than one mile southwest of the San Angelo city limits.

Tide Water No. 8-A J. F. Nunn finalized as a link producer in the Aldwell-Spraberry field of Reagan County. Completion was for a daily flow of 437-11 barrels of 25.9 gravity oil. Production was from perforations at 6,695-724 feet and 7,576-582 feet. Location is 1,940 feet out of the northeast corner of section 23-C-1&57.

A Weiner-Floyd-Spraberry link test in Reagan, Rowan No. 1 TXL, completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 232.93 barrels of 29.7 gravity oil, no water. Production was from open hole between 7,633 and 7,740 feet, the total depth. The section was treated with 4,500 gallons of fracturing fluid. Location is 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 39-37-35-T&P, 1/4-mile east-southeast, 1/4-mile southwest and 1/4-mile northwest of production in the field.

A small amount of Ellenburger oil has been recovered at Magnolia No. 1-P TXL, Upton County wildcat. C SE SW 9-41-35-T&P.

A 2 1/2-hour drillstem test from 12,127-132 feet recovered 40 feet of clean oil and 90 feet of oil-cut mud, no water. Another 50-minute drillstem test from 13,150-137 feet recovered 15 feet of mud with no shows. The project will attempt completion from open hole at 13,127-137 feet.

Coronet No. 1 Brokhaque, one-mile east-southeast of the East Vincent field of Howard County, has indicated flowing production from the San Angelo lime. Drilling to total depth of 7,768 feet in the Strawn, the operator took a drillstem test and recovered a little gas and some water.

It then plugged back to 3,100 feet in San Angelo lime and took a straddle test between 2,851-2,911 feet with tool open four hours and 12 minutes. The test flowed to tanks for one hour and made 12 1/2 barrels of 20.5 gravity oil, no water. Shakeout was one per cent basic sediment and no water. Operator has plugged back to 2,900 feet and will perforate and test and try for completion as a discovery producer. Location is C SW SW 4-24-H&TC, 2 1/4 miles east of Vincent.

Mungerville Venture Due To Produce

Although structurally low, El Tee No. 1-95 Classen, C SE 4W 85-M EL&RR, gave promise Saturday of making another Mungerville-Pennsylvanian producer.

The venture had cored from 8,580-8,630 with recovery of 31 feet of shale and three feet of reef lime. Operator said the bottom 18 feet of the core was lost. The top three feet of the reef recovered was well saturated with oil.

Top of the Pennsylvanian reef is called tentatively for 8,611 on an elevation of 3,100. This would leave 29 feet of section above the water table. Although thin, operator believes a producer can be made from it. Electric survey is being run and casing will be strung in preparation for production tests.

Fred Shield No. 1 Galbraith, C SE SE 7-M EL&RR, 10 miles northwest of Lamesa, was at 6,346 in lime and shale.

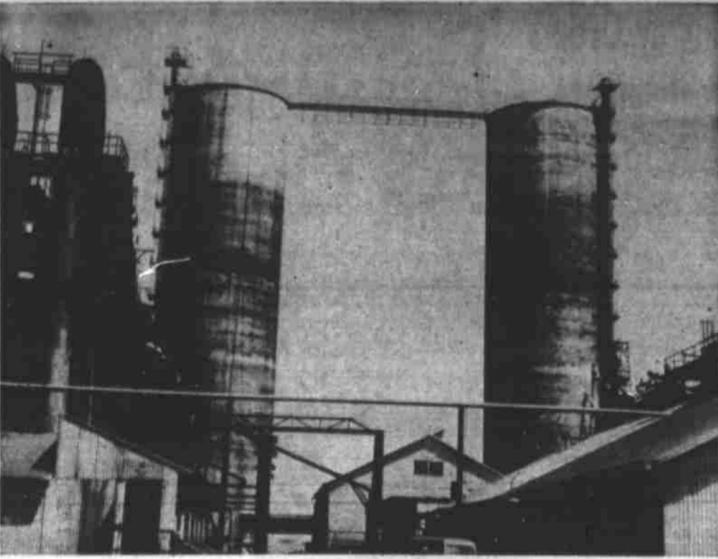

Chicago No. 1 T. D. Brown, a Smith-Spraberry venture C SE SE 2-H EL&RR, took a drillstem test at 7,929-80 with the tool open 2 1/2 hours. There was a light blow for 11 minutes, and then it died. Recovery was 85 feet of mud with no shows. Operator is now at 8,006 in shale and lime.

Malco Refineries Inc. No. 1 Mitchell, C SE NE 11-36-50, T&P, a mile and a half southwest of Lamesa, and in the Manning-Huddle (Spraberry area) drilled to 6,880 in lime.

Small Extender Finaled In Southwest Glasscock

Humble No. 1 J. C. Calverley has been completed as a small producer and a northeast stepout to the Driver Spraberry area.

After fracturing with 3,000 gallons, the venture flowed 17.58 barrels of 37.7 gravity oil and no water. Top of pay in the upper Spraberry was 6,730 and total depth was 7,700. The 5/8-in. casing was run to 7,888 and the string was perforated in both the upper and lower Spraberry from 6,730-8,810, from 7,385-7,386, and 7,449-7,500, and from 7,568-7,645. There was no gas. The well is one mile north of Goldstone No. 1 Cummins and about a mile and a quarter northeast of

Big Storage

General Atlas Carbon Black Company's storage facilities here have been more than doubled with the completion of two massive silos. Each of the two concrete structures, 40 feet in diameter and 150 feet high, will hold about three million pounds, said A. R. (Dave) Davenport, superintendent. They have conical bottoms so that they may feed into the bagging unit or into gondolas for bulk shipment. The warehouses will care for about five million pounds of storage and the silos boost the storage capacity to about 11 million pounds. Only one of the silos is currently in use.

Industry Spends Two And Half Billion On Oil Exploration

By BILL SANSING
TULSA, July 26 (AP)—Statistics show that only one of eight wells drilled for oil turns out to be a producer.

Nonetheless, petroleum operators last year spent 2 1/2 billion dollars seeking crude from the ocean bottom to the snow-capped Andes of South America.

The average cost to drill a well in 1951 comes close to $77,845 but that expenditure cannot represent the personal risks involved.

Take Creole Petroleum Corp.'s venture in Western Venezuela.

The company backed out a clearing in the steaming jungle and set up operations in the midst of wild Motilone Indian tribesmen.

Drilling crews work in the center of the clearing fixed so it stands beyond range of the six-foot Motilone arrows. Steel gratings protect roustabouts at night.

Creole plans to use helicopters to reach the remote site.

Several hundred miles to the southwest, near Lake Titicaca in Peru, is one of the highest oil producing areas in the world. The field is 12,000 feet up in the Andes.

In the other direction, a prolific offshore area is exemplified by the Red Fish Bay field near Corpus Christi, Tex.

Here and in nearby Mustang Island field, more than 100 wells have been completed although rigs must be floated to the drilling site on barges. High structures on the barges support derrick sub-structures and pump rooms.

Crews use launches as transport to and from the mainland. Life belts are standard equipment.

All marine drilling, however, is not along the oceans.

Phillips Petroleum Co. has 11 oil wells on the Wabash River in Illinois.

Only access to the lease is by boat. Equipment is located on sub-structures ranging from 15 to 26 feet high.

Many oil fields are far from population centers but the outstanding exception is the Oklahoma City field, now 20 years old.

The Oklahoma capital city is spotted with derricks, many of them in back yards. They are neatly kept and safety measures are strictly enforced.

Even the state Capitol grounds sport several derricks. Three wells pump oils from under the Capitol itself.

Gas Pipeline Unit Sale Is Approved

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The Texas Gas Transportation Corp. has been authorized to build about 400 miles of natural gas loop lines in Texas and eight other states at a cost of $33,753,000.

The additional lines will enable Texas Gas to provide increased deliveries.

The Power Commission also authorized Texas Northern Gas Corp. and Louisiana Natural Gas Corp., subsidiaries of Texas Gas, to sell up to 140 million cubic feet a day to Texas Gas.

United Gas Corp., Shreveport, La., was authorized to increase its sales to Texas Gas up to 200 million cubic feet a day.

Martin Wildcat

DeKalb No. 1 Knox, 660 from the north and 2,777 from the west lines of league 253 Ward CSL, 11 miles north of Tarzan, had progressed Saturday to 11,703 feet in lime and shale.

Four Spraberry Producers Are Completed In Midland

Three producers have been completed in the Driver Spraberry area of Midland County and one in the Tex Harvey pool.

The Tex Harvey will be Magnolia Petroleum No. 12 Louise Shackelford, 660 from the south and west lines of section 29-37-35, T&P, which flowed 24 hours through 24-64 choke after 12,000 gallons acid. It made four per cent water and 227.3 barrels 37.5 gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 723-1, the elevation 2,826; top pay 7,808, total depth 7,885, the 5/8-in. string at 7,806.

The Driver Spraberry wells were:

Magnolia No. 3-N TXL, 660 from east and 1,980 from south lines section 29-37-45, T&P, which flowed 24 hours through 24-64 choke after 15,000 gallons fracture. It made no water and 441.34 barrels of 38-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 638-1, elevation 2,736; top pay 7,119, total depth 7,410; the 5/8-in. at 7,088.

J. H. Floyd No. 2-3 Davenport, 1,980 from north and east lines section 3-37-45, T&P, which flowed 24 hours through 32-64 choke after 4,500 gallons fracture. It made one per cent water and 156 barrels of 39 gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 870-1; elevation 2,727 DF; top pay 7,840, total depth 7,894, the 7-in. at 6,960.

Magnolia No. 4 J. W. Driver, 660 from the east and south lines section 2-37-45, T&P, flowed 24 hours through 24-64 choke after 15,000 gallons fracture. It made no water and 341.8 barrels of 37.8 gravity oil, gas-oil ratio was 5-17-1, elevation 2,647 DF; top pay 6,978, total depth 7,168; the 5/8-in. at 6,946.

Sterling Test Flows From Mississippian

Tex Harvey Employees, Inc. No. 1 Jesse E. Wood Chappell, et al, 15 miles northeast of Sterling City, gave solid promise Saturday of making a Mississippian producer.

The perforated zone from 7,674-84 in the Mississippian had been treated with 2,000 gallons of acid. Then it kicked off and flowed out the load and residue. Then it flowed an additional 12 hours to tanks to make 45 barrels of 46 gravity oil. The flow was through 20-64 choke. Flowing tubing pressure was 300 pounds and there was no water.

Drilling Recovery Due To Be Slow Following Strike

By CHARLES C. HASLET
WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Prospects appear slim for early recovery of oil drilling losses due to the steel strike.

Steel for the oil industry may start moving from mills within 10 days after workers go back to their jobs. But the effect of the shutdown is expected to be felt for some time.

Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Assn., says he does not believe the drilling losses can be made up before the end of the year.

J. Ed Warren, deputy petroleum administrator for defense, estimates the steel strike cost 75 days of steel supply for the oil and gas industries. But, he says, this does not mean necessarily that there will be a shortage of gas or oil this winter.

Summarizing the impact of the steel strike on the oil and gas industries, Warren said:

The natural gas branch of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) had allocated $26,000 tons of line pipe for the second, third and fourth quarters of this year for natural gas pipe line construction.

Of this, 701,000 tons were allocated lines regarded as critically needed by this winter.

The steel strike meant a loss estimated at 25 per cent of the 701,000 tons and 35 per cent of the $26,000 tons.

Expansions involving an additional three billion cubic feet of natural gas daily are involved, with two billion of that dependent on the 701,000 tons.

The most critical areas involved are the Appalachian and Pacific Coast regions. In the Appalachian area, expansions involving an additional 725 million cubic feet of gas daily are involved and for the Pacific Coast expansions totaling 375 million cubic feet daily are included.

There has been an estimated domestic loss of 8,000 new exploratory wells, out of a goal of about 50,000 this year. There has been an additional estimated loss of 1,000 new exploratory foreign and Canadian wells.

NEW PROSPECTOR Wildcat Reef Test Due In N. Howard

Stephens Petroleum Company of Oklahoma City No. 1 Simpson has been announced as a wildcat test 17 miles north of Big Spring.

The location was listed as 660 from the north and east lines of section 43-31-3n, T&P, Howard County.

Available maps, however, show the lease to be held by Deep Rock and to be on the Claude Collins Jr. ranch.

Projected depth is 8,500, which would take it through the Pennsylvanian. Operations will start at once.

The location is about 3 1/2 miles east of production in the Vealmoor pool and about five miles west of nearest pay in the East Vealmoor field.

Two other Howard County wildcats were making hole after drillstem tests. Cosden No. 1 Chester Jones, C SE NW 5-25, H&TC, two miles east of Vincent, drilled at 5,190. It had taken a drillstem test from 5,009-30 with recovery of only 15 feet of drilling mud. All pressures were zero.

Cosden No. 1 Read, C NE NE 22-30-1n, T&P, drilled past 2,905. It had taken a drillstem test from 2,771-2,793 with recovery of 2,583 feet of salty sulphur water.

Coronet No. 1 Brokhaque, which earlier in the week gave promise of making a producer from the San Angelo lime, ran another squeeze job Friday at 2,884 and was due to perforate Saturday evening for testing.

Ector Explorer To Ellenburger

Humble No. 1-B Earl Vest has been staked as an Ellenburger explorer in Western Ector County.

The prospector will be located 660 from the north and 3,300 from the east lines of section 14-B-8, F&SL, and is contracted to 12,000 feet. Operators will start in the near future.

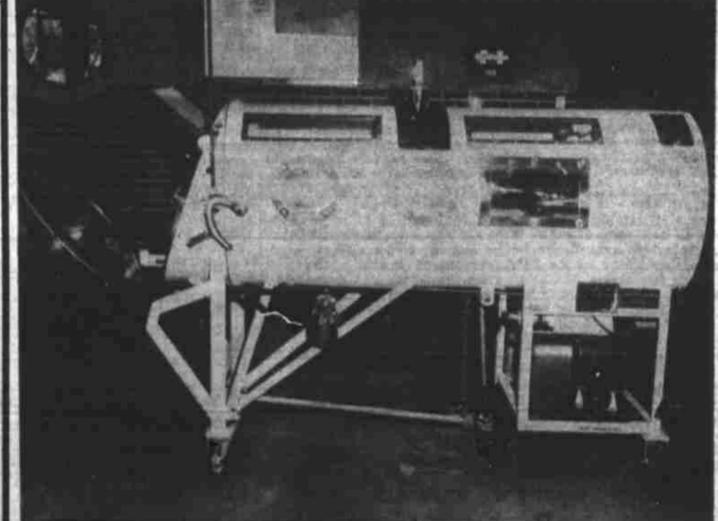

This puts the wildcat 12 miles northwest of Penwell and three miles north of the Yarro-Alten field. It also is one mile north of Humble No. 1 Earl Vest, which drilled into the Ellenburger and plugged there in 1947. This exploration had some slight shows of oil but not enough to make a commercial producer.

Help When It's Needed

"Machine of Mercy" might be one name for the Iron Lung, pictured above. This is the artificial respirator, with all attachments, purchased by members of Local 826, with the help of the Cosden Corporation, in 1950. It is maintained by the firemen at the City Fire Sub-Station at 18th and Main.

This iron lung has been put to effective use at least a half-dozen times, serving as an aid to polio sufferers in each case. It has been sent to Odessa, has been used to transfer patients from here to Abilene and Dallas, and has been used a number of times in local hospitals. It served one little girl patient continuously for several months.

It is available at any time, any hour,

Martin Group Surprised On Farm Surveys

STANTON, (SC)—The group of Stanton and Martin County business and professional men, and farmers and ranchers who made the county tour sponsored by the agriculture committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce Friday expressed agreeable surprise with the crops they found on the trip.

Also viewed by the visitors were several of the 4-H Club and FFA calves on feed. A dinner was served at noon at the J. C. Sale Ranch by the women of the Martin County Home Demonstration Council, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Eiland, home demonstration agent.

The caravan left the Court-house in Stanton at 9 a.m. and returned late in the afternoon. The first morning stop was in town where Norman Blocker of the Stanton FFA, and W. A. Douglas of the 4-H exhibited the Hereford group they traveled to the home of Homer Lee Hull, 4-H member, northwest of Stanton where they inspected the three calves he is feeding, two as 4-H projects and one as an FFA member.

The next two stops were at the homes of Walter Kelly and his son, Owen Kelly, west of Stanton, where both irrigated and dryland farming activities were observed, as were the three Hereford calves which the third-generation Kelly, Bobby Owen, is feeding out in his 4-H Club work. Last year 10-year-old Bobby had the grand champion steer at the Martin County junior show. One of the most interesting things found on the Kelly farm was the irrigated pasture which lies along the north side of Highway 80. This pasture was explained to the group by Martin County Conservation Service. Growing crops on the Kelly farm included cotton, corn, watermelons, and cantaloupes.

The last stop before dinner was at the Lee Hull home where the three steers being fed by his sons, Donnie and Carroll were inspected.

After reaching the Sale Ranch where 2.50 inches of rain was recently received to green up the grass and fill the tanks, the group inspected the modern fan-equipped feed pen of his son, Bobby, who is preparing half a dozen steers for the show. These steers were haltered and led out for the entertainment of the visitors.

After leaving the Sale Ranch the party moved north to the C. L. Russell place where they saw Blue Panic grass making a splendid growth on recent rain, while other plant life in the immediate area showed a definite need for more moisture, as was explained by Vavra.

At the farm of Leroy Mattingly, west of Tarzan, the visitors climbed out of their cars beside an irrigation ditch with cotton better than knee-high on the other side. Mattingly was engaged in irrigating his cotton with siphon tubes at the time and demonstrated the use of these. He also explained the irrigation methods he uses.

The last scheduled stop was made at the N. E. Glendening place where the guests saw both Hubam and Madrid clover under irrigation.

Members of the agriculture committee working in co-operation with Mrs. Hila Weathers, Chamber of Commerce manager, in arranging the itinerary were County Agent Ray Hastings, chairman; J. U. Sale, James Eiland, Ed Robinson and H. O. Phillips. Assisting the committee were Elbert Steele, vocational agriculture instructor at Stanton, and the staff of the SCS.

Hastings said that in view of the interest shown in this trip another is planned to other parts of the county some time in August.

Two Persons Hurt In City Traffic

Two persons were injured, neither believed seriously, in separate traffic accidents Saturday afternoon.

Three-year-old William Hedrick Turmie, son of Mrs. W. D. Turmie, suffered minor injuries when he was struck by a car at Fourth and Main about 12:30 p.m. He was released from Malone & Hogan Hospital after receiving first aid treatment.

Mrs. Alice L. Dixon was hospitalized at Medical Arts Hospital as a result of injuries received when two cars were in collision at Fifth and Scurry about 2:20 p.m. She suffered a head injury which was not believed serious.

Mrs. Dixon was injured in a mishap which involved cars driven by Herman Jackson Dixon, 421 Sunset, and Mrs. J. F. Skalkocky, 107 W. 16th, police reported.

Driver of the automobile involved in the accident in which young Turmie was hurt was Holly Bird, 900 W. 4th, said investigating officers.

Who Said "No Cotton"?

This is irrigated cotton on the farm of Leroy Mattingly west of Tarzan visited by the Martin County farm and ranch tour Friday. It so enthused Mrs. Hila Weathers, manager of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce, that she waded out into it and used a whole roll of film making pictures. "Stormy" as she is known to Martin Countians, says she's going to send pictures everywhere? "Who says Martin County is drought-stricken?" she commented with a fighting gleam in her eyes.

Criminal Is Caught But Kills FBI Agent

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—One of the nation's top criminals walked into an FBI trap today, but killed an FBI agent before being shot and captured in a blazing gun battle at a Manhattan hotel.

The man, Gerhard A. Puff, 38, was listed among the top 10 criminals wanted by the FBI. He was sought in a series of Western bank robberies.

He battled it out with a dozen FBI agents inside and outside the Congress Hotel, just off Central Park on West 69th Street, before he was wounded in the leg and captured.

One of the agents, Joseph Brock, 38, died of bullet wounds 40 minutes after the fight.

Police said Puff pumped several bullets into Brock's back.

Two unidentified women also were taken into custody after Puff's capture. Police and FBI officials said the women, Puff and another man had registered at the hotel last Sunday.

The other man is being sought. Puff was the second of the FBI's 10 most wanted to be captured in two days. An alleged confederate, George Arthur Heroux, 22, was captured yesterday in Miami, Fla.

Authorities said the two couples registered at the hotel here as "Timson" and "Burns."

The hotel management became suspicious and notified the FBI. A dozen or more FBI agents stood by in and around the hotel lobby.

Agent Brock was posted behind a partly frosted glass door which looked out on the lobby elevator entrance from a fire stair exit.

Early this afternoon the two women entered the hotel and went up to their quarters. A short time later Puff came in, telephoned upstairs and then went up in the elevator.

However, Puff's suspicions apparently were aroused. Stealthily he came back down by way of the fire stairs and opened fire with a .38 caliber automatic when he saw Agent Brock from the rear.

After the agent slumped down mortally wounded, Puff jumped over his body and sprinted toward the street door.

All the FBI agents opened fire on him and staggered him with a bullet in the left leg.

He collapsed upon the sidewalk in front of the hotel and the agents grabbed him.

McKinney Is Asked To Stay In Office

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson today asked Chairman Frank McKinney and all members of the staff of the Democratic National Committee to stay in office temporarily.

Stevenson, the new Democratic presidential nominee, surprised the 108-member committee by appearing in person just as it was organizing.

He said he will be "utterly dependent" upon the National Committee because he has almost "no organization" and said his "acquaintance is limited."

"I suggest that Chairman McKinney and the rest of the staff continue temporarily until we have an opportunity to catch our breath and have an opportunity to explore the situation."

Campaigning Costs Going Up This Year

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)— Presidential campaigning this year will be less rugged but much more expensive than the past.

Candidates from Lincoln to Bryan traveled in buggies and wooden coaches hired for a song. They got just what they paid for though—sweating heat and cinders in their whiskers.

Now the party standard bearers travel in air-conditioned, diesel-engine streamliners, fast, plush planes, and high-powered limousines.

And, if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson sought to supplement their special train "whistle-stop" campaigning this summer and fall with television appearances, it will cost $28,000 for a half-hour of "open time" on a national hookup or nearly $3,000 a minute.

This $28,000 would go up to $40,000 or even $125,000, party officers say, if the candidate could find no open time and had to preempt a commercially-sponsored program.

National Committee officials say the 1952 candidates just chosen undoubtedly will do a lot of rear-platform campaigning and also shop around for some good open spots on television.

Taking the candidate and his message into the homes of millions of voters by TV will be a valuable new twist. But campaign managers still recognize the long-proven need for personal appearances in the flesh. Many a vote has been won by a smile and a handshake.

The cost of campaigning modern style has risen considerably. With each National Committee limited to spending three million dollars under the Hatch Act, they will have to spread this quite thin or get around the limitation some way as has been done in the past without violating the law.

Costs have gone up a good deal even since the last campaign. And in 1948 it cost the Republicans $12,344 alone for the special train of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, counting radio and loud speaker equipment and personnel expenses.

The special for Dewey's running mate, Gov. Earl Warren, cost even more—$12,008—because it was on one very long trip while Dewey's made several shorter ones.

President Truman's private railroad car was a "rolling fortress," air-cooled, with parlor and easy chairs, sofa and radio, several bedrooms and baths, dining room and small kitchen. He traveled 22,000 miles and made 272 speeches starting with Labor Day. He also covered 9,500 miles before the convention.

Vice President Barkley shortened his campaign travel time by use of airplanes—which cost plenty.

Contrast this with the rugged travel of William Jennings Bryan, Democratic candidate in 1896. The "Great Commoner" made 300 speeches and set a record of 24 talks in 24 hours. He traveled three months in hot, dirty wooden coaches, sleepers and cabooses and took many buggy trips over dusty roads.

Marciano Favorite In Matthews Bout

Heavies Meet Monday Night

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Rocky Marciano, unbeaten Brockton, Mass., bullyboy, and Harry Matthews, the slick pride of the North-west, collide Monday night at Yankee Stadium in a 10-round elimination bout to set up a September challenger for heavyweight championship.

Marciano's record of 26 knockouts in 41 winning bouts, including a TKO over Joe Louis, made the swarthy New England lad a strong 2 to 1 choice over the 29-year-old "kid" from Seattle who hasn't lost a fight since 1943.

It's the classic match of a slugger and a slickster—two hungry heavyweights gambling all in one daring bid for a title shot.

Although the ring-side advance sales parallel the demand for the recent Ray Robinson-Joe Maxim fight that drew over 1400,000, the International Boxing Club probably will settle for 30,000 fans and $300,000. Each fighter gets 30 per cent.

Under New York rules, the winner will be decided by two judges and a referee on the basis of most rounds won with the help of a supplementary point scoring system.

Coahoma Youth On Cage Team

COAHOMA—A-2 Edwin Earl (Ed) Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dickson of Coahoma, has been selected out of 80 men as one of five to play basketball and tour Europe during the cage season.

He is stationed near Frankfurt, Germany, where he is attending the 14-week Co. C 77-8 Eucom Signal School.

Edwin, one-time all-around athlete at Coahoma High School, has served overseas for one year and has been in the service since Dec. 28, 1948.

Dickson plans to come out for his unit's football team when the season opens.

Yankees Belt Eagles, 16-10

The Yankees won their second game in Little League second half play by belting the Eagles, 16-10, here Friday afternoon.

The Yankees broke the barrier with a rush, getting ten runs in the first two innings and counting four more in the third.

Eltion Kelly led the assault on Eagle hurling with four hits, including a home run.

The Eagles closed fast, picking up five runs in the sixth but had too much of a disadvantage to overcome.

Forsan Hosts Bryan Outfit

FORSAN — The Forsan Oilers, victorious in their first game in second half Concho Basin League play last week, will try to make it two in a row here Sunday afternoon in an engagement with the Bryan Electric team of Veribest.

Lefty Shelton will probably be the pitching rubber for the Oilers, who held Forsan last Sunday.

The contest will be the last home bout for the Forsan team until Aug. 17, at which time it hosts Miles.

Jalopy Races Are Scheduled At 2:30

COLORADO CITY — Jalopy races will be held here again this afternoon, starting with the time trials at 2:30 p.m. Regular races begin at 3 o'clock.

Raymond Hamby of Big Spring won two of last Sunday's races; He was first in the trophy race and the 10-lap race, reserved for the fastest cars.

Paul Prescott and Clyde Morris were other Big Spring entries here last week.

Coahoma, Col-Tex Tangle Tuesday In Title Match

COLORADO CITY — It'll be a battle of the Colorado City Jaycees Softball League titans when Coahoma and Col-Tex meet in the first of a five-game series here Tuesday night.

The two clubs proved best by test in the regular season race. Coahoma and Col-Tex finished one-two in that order and each won two straight games in the first round of the Shaughnessy playoffs last week.

Coahoma ousted Sun Oil while Col-Tex was getting by Outbert. Coahoma won the first game with Sun, 3-1, and then had to go all out to subdue the Oilers in the second, 10-8.

Col-Tex had an easier time with Outbert, winning, 10-2, and 15-3.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

It may be a long time in the future but there'll be a campaign to restore pari-mutuel betting at Texas horse tracks and this time the move will be carried on right . . . Racing seasons, under the proposal, wouldn't extend too long and ways would be devised for communities to share in the profits . . . Football hopes of the Los Angeles Rams took a turn for the worse when it was discovered Glenn Davis, upon the advice of his physician, would not play . . . The one-time Army great has a bad knee and would risk permanent injury if he got into action . . . Davis scored 59 touchdowns for West Point . . . As a result, Carl Mayes of Texas may win a job with the Rams . . . An Odessa sports writer accuses Midland's Pat O'Keefe of being too interested in his batting average to be of much use to the Tribe but Manager Zeke Bonura seems satisfied with Pat's play . . . If Pat is always studying ways and means of improving his face average, that's all to his advantage . . . There are all too many fellows in baseball who are just going along for the ride . . . Luis Gonzales, the ex-Bronx, has been working at one of the ice plants here most of the summer . . . His arm went dead on him when Roswell pitched him just about every other night three seasons back . . . He had enough on the ball to win 15 mound decisions for the Steeds two years ago, however . . . It pays to be good . . . An Angel (with Lake Champlain) was the Gulf Coast League's leading hurler, according to the latest averages, while a Heiler (with Corpus Christi) had the worst record among the circuit's regular pitchers . . . Lefty O'Doul, at San Diego, is expected to pioneer in the use of Japanese ball players in 1953 . . . He'll bring in Kaoru Betto, a hard-hitting outfielder, from Nippon to try out with the Padres.

Visteur And Solis Were Teammates
Jean Visteur of the Big Spring team and San Angelo's Greg Solis, who were the principals in that near-fight here recently, were team mates on the 1951 Geneva, N. Y., team, managed by Bert Baez. In many cases, when old baseball players retire, they divorce themselves so completely from the game, they won't even go near a ball park or scan the sport page. Footballers are known to lose interest similarly, too. . . But a golfer, no matter how old he becomes, never gets the game out of his system. . . The day before he's fitted for a wooden kimono, he may be out putting around the links. . . Though the turf at the high school football stadium here has been watered regularly, it has suffered because of the drought. . . The Clemson Tigers weren't scored on via a pass in ten games last season but the Bengals play Kentucky, Florida, Fordham and Maryland, all pass-minded elevens, this year.

Julio Ramos Off Feed At Paris
DeWitt Weaver, who is certainly the most personable Texas Tech coach in history, and his aide, Polk Robison, were in town renewing acquaintances recently . . . Julio Ramos, one-time mound ace of Big Spring, off his feed at Paris in the Big State League a year ago at this time, the little leftie had a 13-3 won-loss record. . . Recently, he had only nine wins against ten losses . . . Bobby Jack Lloyd, last year a great back for TCU, failed to pass an Army physical recently: A bad ticker . . . He's playing pro ball, nonetheless. . . Midland's Indians have defeated Odessa only twice in 14 outings this season. . . Did it ever occur to the reader that the great New York Yankee teams of the past have never produced a successful manager. Babe Ruth wasn't even given a chance. Red Rolfe, Bill Dickey, Bob Shawkey and Ben Chapman were all tried and found wanting.

EAST COPS, 8-2
Guerro Gets Win In All-Star Go
SAN ANGELO—Big Spring players more than made their presence felt as the East upset the West, 8-2, in the sixth annual Longhorn League All-Star game played before 3,552 paid admissions here Friday night.

Pat Stasey counted a run for the victors. Aramis Arancibia tossed two innings on the hill for the East, giving up five hits but only one run. That was a four-master blasted by Joe Bauman in the sixth.

Oilers Still Lead Little League With 6-2 Record
It's still the Oilers at the top of the Little League standings and the Gold Sox leading the teams in hitting but the individual hitting has switched hands.

Although they only played 500 ball last week, the Oilers still held the first place spot with a 6-2 record. Second in the team standings are the heavy-hitting Gold Sox. The Soxers hold a 4-3 mark.

The Gold Sox jumped their batting average 28 percentage points last week—from a 369 to a lusty .407. The Indians are second in the hitting department with a .294 average. The Gold Sox nine has scored the most runs—85—while the league leading Oilers have countered but 65 times.

But the reason for the Oilers' first place position is because of their .646 fielding average—top in the loop.

The team standings: W L Oilers . . . . . 6 2 Gold Sox . . . . . 4 3 Indians . . . . . 4 4 Eagles . . . . . 3 5 Yankees . . . . . 2 5

Wayne Fields has taken over first place among the hitters, replacing Gerald Davidson. Both Fields and Davidson are Gold Soxers.

Fields claims a .823 average and Davidson a .593 mark. Behind the two are Muegrove, Gold Sox, .571; Bell, Indians, .563; Anderson, Yankees, .500; White, Eagles, .481; Stansland, Yankees, .457; Peacock, Indians, .421; Grigsby, Yankees, .400; Gilekman, Gold Sox, .400; and Terry, Indians, .400.

Graham, Indians, .391; Kelley, Yankees, .378; Robinson, Oilers, .371; Morris, Yankees, .350; Parkhill, Gold Sox, .346; Duncan, Oilers, .333; Anderson, Indians, .323; Marin, Indians, .323; Madison, Eagles, .333; Grantman, Eagles, .333; J. Fields, Gold Sox, .333; and Musick, Eagles, .333.

Knott Looking For A Coach

KNOTT — Knott High School is seeking an athletic coach and high school principal and one man can fill both positions.

The job was thrown open recently when Pat Morrison, who had held the job one year, submitted his resignation to assume a position as coach at Paint Creek.

Knott fields a six-man football club and is active in all other athletics. It has a lighted football field. Its grid team competes in District Seven, against such teams as Ackerly, Flower Grove, Union, Klondike and Dawson.

The community is located some 15 miles northwest of Big Spring and has one of the finest school structures to be found anywhere in this section.

Those interested can contact J. L. Lowe, superintendent.

Tigers Invade Odessa Today

Ynez Yanez takes his Big Spring Tigers to Odessa this afternoon for a baseball doubleheader with the Odessa Stars. The first game is down for 2:30 p.m.

Yanez will send Douglas Smith to the pitching rubber in the first game and Bob Van Kirk out to do the chinking in the afterpiece.

Johnny Hooper has been lined up to receive Smith's slants while Rogelio Jaso will don the catching harness in the nightcap.

Both games are down for seven innings.

Jackets Awarded To All-Stars

Grey jackets, with maroon sleeves, were awarded Big Spring players who took part in the Longhorn League All-Star game at San Angelo Friday night.

Seven Brones were named to the squad. Only five got into action but the awards, of course, went to everyone who was suited out.

The jackets came complete with a white All-Star emblem.

Sweetwater Gets Pair Of Hurlers

John Miller and Bob Merritt, two hurlers, have been sent to the Sweetwater Braves by Paris of the Big State League.

Merritt had a 1-0 won-loss record for Paris while Miller did not figure in a decision.

PHELAN REPORTS AUG. 1

Advance Guard Of Dallas Gridders Opens Drills

DALLAS, July 26 (AP)—The first contingent of Dallas professional football players went to Kerrville in the South Texas Hill Country today to open practice.

Thirteen backs, ends and centers were in the group. The remainder, except for two who will play with the college All-Stars at Chicago Aug. 16, will report in Kerrville next Friday with workouts for the entire group starting Aug. 3.

The Dallas Texans have 63 players on the roster. The squad will be cut to 33—the player limit—for the opening National Football League game Sept. 28.

Just three weeks away is the first exhibition game—with Brooke Army Medical Center of San Antonio.

Cecil Isbell and Will Walls, assistant coaches, went to Kerrville with today's contingent. Head Coach Jimmy Phelan will go there with the main body Aug. 1.

These players left today for Kerrville: Ends—Joe Abbey, North Texas State, and Will Sherman, St. Mary's; Centers—Brad Ecklund, Oregon; Joe Reid, Louisiana State, and Mel Siquefield, Mississippi.

quarterbacks — David Anderson, Arkansas A&M; Bob Celari, California, and Jack Herron, Southwestern Louisiana Institute; fullbacks—Dick McKisick, Southern Methodist, and Zollie Toth, Louisiana State; halfbacks—Jerome Davis, Southeastern Louisiana; Bob Finnell, Xavier, and Buddy Young, Illinois.

Isbell said this group was reporting early because he wanted to work with the quarterbacks ahead of the others. The centers and other backs are being taken along so the quarterbacks will have somebody to work with.

Isbell said he knew little about the men on the Texan roster, which includes many rookies, "but I'll have a good opinion in two or three days as to what kind of team we're going to have."

Frazier Named Sanitarian For Martin County
STANTON, (SC) — Bruce Frazier Sr., has been appointed sanitarian for Martin County, according to an announcement made jointly by city and county officials.

Frazier, who has been county co-ordinator of veterans education will also continue that work which is in the process of being closed out. He had already made plans to close the co-ordinator's office in town as of August 1 and to move it to his ranch on Mustang Draw, due to the decrease in the number of students.

These plans have been changed by the new appointment, however, and his new offices are being established in the building on the Courthouse yard which was formerly used as a county jail.

Frazier has previously attended instruction courses for sanitarians and also plans to attend the next one held by the Texas State Department of Health.

The office of sanitarian was created following a recent cleanup campaign in Stanton and a survey made of conditions there by a state sanitary engineer.

COULD MEND WOUNDS

Sen. Sparkman Is Known For His Ability To Make Campaign

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 26 (AP)—Sen. John Jackson Sparkman of Alabama, who's been called by Gov. Adlai Stevenson for his running mate, is known as an excellent campaigner—and a seasoned television personality.

In the South, Sparkman is a popular figure. Obviously, the Democrats will depend on him to mend convention wounds.

Sparkman is a lawyer, World War I veteran and is considered an expert in foreign affairs, housing and small business.

He is 52 years old and seems to have boundless energy. On that score, the Democrats expect him to prove an equal to 38-year-old Richard Nixon of California, who is running on the Republican ticket with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sparkman weighs over 200 pounds and stands six one. He has a ruddy complexion and wavy black hair.

Sparkman was born Dec. 20, 1899, on a farm in Morgan County, Ala. He went to rural schools and high school in his native county.

Afterwards, he worked his way through the University of Alabama by firing boilers and later serving as an assistant professor of history.

He graduated with an A.B., M.A. and a law degree. In 1926 he began the practice of law in Huntsville, Ala.

Sparkman practiced law about 10 years.

In 1935 he decided to run for the U. S. House of Representatives.

He was elected and took his seat in 1936 and was assigned to the Military Affairs Committee. He served as an assistant Democratic whip, a party officer who assists the floor leader.

He remained in the House until November, 1946, when he was elected to the Senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. John Bankhead II.

His almost six years in the Senate have been marked by a rapid rise in party standing. Today he is on the Foreign Relations and Banking Committees and is chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee and a member of the Joint Committee on the Economic Report.

Since his World War I service, Sparkman has been in the Army reserves where he now has the rank of colonel.

Sparkman neither smokes nor drinks nor does any member of his family.

He is a Methodist and taught a Sunday School class in his home town. Since coming to Congress, he has taught a men's Bible class at Hamline Methodist Church in Washington and the class has been named for him.

FOR ANNUAL RODEO

Parade List Still Growing Rapidly

Entry list for Big Spring's 19th annual Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion parade continues to grow. Ed Fisher, assistant chairman of arrangements, reported Saturday.

Fisher announced that the Colorado City High School band will participate in the parade. That brings to three the number of musical organizations to take part.

Hardin-Stimmons University's famous Cowboy Band, parade-marched by Sheriff Will Watson, will lead the procession. The Big Spring High School band, to be mounted on a truck, also will provide marching music.

Sheriff's Poses from Crosby and Terry Counties will ride in the parade. In addition, 21 decorated floats and other units have been entered.

The parade will start at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 6, first day of the annual Rodeo. Horsemen and rodeo contestants will swell the ranks of floats and probably will make the rodeo parade one of the most colorful of its type ever held here.

Firms or individuals desiring to enter floats or other units may do so by contacting Fisher, George Weeks, Doc Wilkinson or Loyd Wooten.

The 19th annual rodeo will be unreeled Aug. 6-9 in the Rodeo Bowl in west Big Spring. Admission tickets, as well as a few box seats, are on sale at the local Chamber of Commerce.

Two More Polio Deaths Recorded

By The Associated Press

Two young men and a baby boy died of polio at Houston Saturday. The three fatalities capped off a grim week that ranked among the worst in that Gulf Coast city's long and deadly polio epidemic.

The deaths hiked Houston's polio death toll so far this year to 11.

Late Friday, Houston's health department reported seven new cases, four from the city and three from the county.

The new cases boosted the city total for the year to 279 cases compared to 78 in the same period last year. There were only four deaths during the similar 1951 period.

The county's total for the year stood at 182 cases with seven deaths, compared to 23 cases and no deaths for the same period last year.

Women Select Interesting Jobs

The ranks of the employed today contain many women, but unlike the career woman of several decades ago, the modern career woman is apt to combine homemaking and rearing a family with her full-time job.

Today's business woman is also more likely to choose a more interesting profession or field than her sister of the past, who was largely limited to secretarial or teaching positions. In many instances she selects one that formerly was open only to men.

On this page are nine Big Spring women with interesting or unusual jobs, who are proving that a woman's place is not necessarily in the home.

BOOTMAKERS—Both Mrs. E. G. Christensen, at the machine, and Mrs. J. L. Christensen are experts at stitching custom-made boots for West Texas cowboys.

PHOTOGRAPHERS—Caught on the "other side" of the camera, this sister team, Pyle Bradshaw, left, and Mrs. Willard Sullivan turn out some pictures in the darkroom of the studio they operate.

INTERIOR DECORATOR—Mrs. E. H. Boulloun, who has the pleasant task of decorating other women's homes, shows off the latest in bamboo blinds.

RANCHER—For years Mrs. Ida Mae Oldham has operated her own ranch north of Big Spring as well as one near Midland. She knows cattle as well as most women know their cookbooks.

MRS. GEORGE EDWARD RAGSDALE

Smith-Ragsdale Vows Are Exchanged In Garden Wedding Saturday Evening

In a typical old Southern setting Saturday evening, Barbara Caroline Smith became the bride of George Edward Ragsdale of Bennington, Okla.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy T. Smith, 1803 Settles, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ragsdale of Bennington.

The single ring ceremony was performed by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of First Baptist Church, in the garden at the home of the bride's parents.

The vows were exchanged on the terrace before an archway of flowers and greenery. The aisle was marked with white posts and rope chains.

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, pianist, played the pre-nuptial music, and Mrs. Don Newsum sang "I Love Thee" by Greg and "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" by Gounod.

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride wore a colonial design gown of ivory bridal satin fashioned with a Queen Anne collar of Chantilly lace with matching lace mitts. Her finger-length veil of imported French lace was caught to a coronet of orange blossoms. Her long, cathedral train was lifted by two pages, Robert Reagan Smith, brother of the bride, and Ross Reagan, her cousin.

She wore a cameo that had belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. B. Reagan, and a gold wrist watch, wedding gift of the bridegroom, as her only jewelry.

Her white satin Bible, birthday gift from the late Mrs. S. H. Morrison, was topped with white catleya orchids. Attached to ribbon streamers falling from the orchids were miniature bouquets of tiny rosebuds.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of marquisette over taffeta in tones of pale yellow, pink, dusty rose and fuchsia, fashioned with hoop skirts. Their Juliet caps were of chenille and they carried colonial bouquets of rosebuds.

Colleen Murrie of Kermit, maid of honor, wore dusty rose and carried yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Marie Haynes, matron of honor, wore fuchsia and her flowers were carnation rosebuds.

Bridesmaids were Betty Jo Fagan of Haskell, Wanda Jean Treadwell of Stamford and Lillie Ragsdale of Brownfield. Miss Fagan, wearing pale yellow, carried fuchsia rosebuds; Miss Treadwell, in peach color, carried pink flowers; and Miss Ragsdale, in pink, had a yellow bouquet.

Sheryl Wayne Gambill of Frederick, Okla., flower girl, wearing cream marquisette with matching ruffled, taffeta pantaloons, scattered rose petals from a flower basket.

Whitt Wise of Dallas served as best man and groomsmen were Fritz R. Smith, brother of the bride; Pat Smith of Austin, the bride's cousin; Aubrey Helbert, San Angelo; and Bob Hanna, Memphis.

Approximately 35 members of the houseparty, wearing summer formals over cinchones, stood behind members of the family during the ceremony.

At the reception following the ceremony the mothers of the couple and the bridal attendants formed the receiving line. Mrs. Smith wore a gown of mauve satin with silver sequins and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Ragsdale's gown was of navy sheer and her corsage of bluish pink rosebuds.

The table was laid with a white embroidered Swiss cloth over white satin with festoons of pink satin ribbon caught at the corners with nosegays of rosebuds. Pink tapers burned in silver candelabra.

The diamond cross wedding cake was surrounded by miniature dolls dressed like the bridal attendants.

Mrs. S. W. Hughes of Brady, Nell Brown, Mrs. Della K. Agnell and Mrs. Lorin S. McDowell presided at the silver punch services.

Mrs. P. D. O'Brien served the cakes, assisted by Mrs. Larson Lloyd and Mrs. Ray Clark Sr. Margaret Bowman of Abilene and Carolyn Geesch of Dallas also assisted in serving, and Mrs. Lewis Price of El Paso presided at the bride's book.

On a wedding trip to Saltillo, Tampico and Monterey, Mexico, the bride travelled in a Schiaparelli suit in light beige with brown tulle trim, brown accessories and an orchid corsage. Upon their return, the couple will live in Dallas.

The bride attended Baylor University and Hardin-Simmons, where she was a member of Alpha Psi Omega honorary society, the Players' Club, Colts Club, the Chapel Choir, and was secretary of the Home Economics Club.

The bridegroom attended San Angelo Junior College and was a 1933 honor graduate of Hardin-Simmons with a degree in business administration.

Out-of-town guests included Judge and Mrs. Cecil Collins, Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McDaniels, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Caldwell and the Rev. and Mrs. Lee Ramsour, Abilene; the Rev. Aubrey Helbert, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, Durant, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Price, El Paso; Mattie Jo and Sue Barton and Mrs. Whitt Wise, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Noble, Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stephens and E. W. Greer, Odessa; Mrs. Gloria Nolen, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Forrest Gambill, Frederick, Okla.; and Mrs. John Priddy, Stanton.

Hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Reagan, 806 W. 16th, were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reagan of Hye, Dr. and Mrs. Seth Reagan of Las Vegas, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Reagan.

Guests, other than members of the wedding party, were Mrs. P. D. O'Brien and Robert and Richard O'Brien.

Miss Elizabeth Smith, aunt of the bride, entertained at her home on Settles Street Saturday morning at a breakfast for Miss Smith and her five attendants.

DRESS PARADE

By Jen Wieser

Co-hostess at a recent tea, Mrs. Shine Phillips presided at the punch bowl in a jersey gown with a floral print in blue, wine, green and gold on a white background. Her jewelry included two paste-on clips above the neckline of her dress, huge pearl and rhinestone earrings and a four-strand pearl bracelet.

Mrs. Paul Reagan of Hye, who assisted in receiving guests, was gowned in royal blue crepe, fashioned with a deep décolletage, tiny cap sleeves and a slim skirt. Her necklace was a long, single strand of pearls and her corsage was of white carnations.

Spongy, chiffon-weight tweeds are in high favor for fall. At ten paces the fabrics look like heavy, sturdy, traditional tweeds, but on close inspection turn out to be almost sheer. This makes it possible for designers to use them in the soft, rounded silhouettes that point up femininity.

Dress-weight woollens include a number of shantung-weave worsteds, chiffon-weight zibeline and chiffon flannel, the latter being most popular in yarn-dyed muted colors.

Claytons Return

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Clayton Jr. and children, Dorothy and Archie III, have returned from a three weeks' vacation which included visits in San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Carlsbad and Ruidosa, N. M.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Tailored Spreads Made To Fit Like Slipcovers

By ELIZABETH HILLYER
Today's favorite tailored bedspread fits the bed like the cover of a piece of upholstered furniture.

but it's easy to make. Its only trimming is neat welting, the kind used on upholstered furniture, and kick pleats at each corner of the end of the bed. The top of the spread is a single piece of fabric, outlined by the welting at the end as well as at the sides. To it is joined a narrower strip to reach to the floor. To make sure the spread will be the right size, measure the bed while the bedding is on it. Start at the headboard, measure the length of the bed and down to the floor. Start at the floor at the side of the bed, measure across and to the floor again. To the length of both the top and drop piece, add 34 inches if the spread is to cover a pillow or pillows. Add another 34 inches to the drop piece to make the kick pleats. The welting is made by cutting bias strips of the bedspread fabric and using it to cover cotton cord that is made for welting. The length of welting needed will of course be the measurement of the top piece of the bedspread plus its width.

MRS. LOYD FABIAN EMERICK

Nancy Boswell Weds Loyd Fabian Emerick

Nancy Lynn Boswell became the bride of Loyd Fabian Emerick in a ceremony Saturday afternoon at the Wornall Road Baptist Church in Kansas City, Mo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Rhodes Boswell of Kansas City. Mrs. George Frederick Emerick of Denton is mother of the bridegroom.

The bride has taught classes in the social sciences in Big Spring Junior High School the past five years and her husband was an instructor in the shop courses at the local high school last year.

Dr. R. Lofton Hudson read the double ring ceremony as the couple stood before an altar decorated with white gladioli, stock and ferns.

Pearl Voepel played a program of organ selections accompanied by Mrs. William Beard, violinist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a heavily embroidered Swiss organdy gown. It was designed with a fitted, strapless bodice and a short bolero. The bouffant floor-length skirt, worn over crinolines, was fashioned in three tiers of embroidery.

Her finger tip veil of French illusion was caught to a close fitting cap applied in the same embroidery.

She carried a hand-made handkerchief used at her mother's wedding and a small white Bible, topped with an orchid.

Mrs. Marion Lillard Boswell of Barksdale Air Force Base, La., was matron of honor. She was attired in an ice blue embroidered organdy ballerina length gown. She wore a white petal trimmed white hat and carried an old fashioned bouquet of white flowers centered with a touch of pink.

Anita Joyce Boswell, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. William R. Boswell, of Bossier City, La., and niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore white embroidered organdy gown fashioned with a deep round neck and scalloped bertha.

Carroll Emerick of Perryton served as his brother's best man. Ushers were William Dawson and Harold Hendrix of Kansas City and Capt. Marion Boswell of Barksdale Air Force Base, La.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, where the bridal party received guests before a fireplace decorated with shasta daisies and ferns and flanked by tall white tapers.

The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake wreathed with daisies and blue delphinium.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a soft French blue suit with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

After Aug. 14, the Emericks will be at home in Las Cruces, N. M.

WINGED VICTORY

New Creation By Fabiani Is Everything Fabulous

Winged victory could certainly be the name of this heavenly creation by Fabiani, of Italy. Senor Fabiani, as you doubtless know, is considered the greatest of Italy's great designers—and a gown by Fabiani is something that bespeaks the quintessence of everything fabulous in fashion. We have long felt that the Italian designers achieved the ultimate in glamorous sophistication, and Pattern 1107 is no exception. Just look for yourself. It is a dress that can be worn only by a woman of fashionable distinction. It is simply not a dress for small occasions, but rather one that will be a great success wherever it is worn. The dress is a basic sheath affair, while the overskirt (which is not a skirt but merely flying, floating panels connected by a waistband) is the Midas touch of glamour. The neckline is a low V, and the sleeves are just slightly longer than elbow-length. In the original, Fabiani suggested taffeta or jersey for the dress, faille (or any stiffened material) for the panels. We go along with this and have no other fabric suggestions to offer. Size 12 required 3 3/8 yds. of 39-inch material for the dress, and the panels require 5/4 yds. of the same width material. Pattern 1107 is available in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. To order Pattern 1107, send $1 to Spades Syndicate, Inc., Dept. 164, Box 258, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y. For air mail handling, enclose 25 cents. To order pattern booklet, VII, send 15 cents.

LT. AND MRS. JOHN M. PAVER

Newcomers Skillful At Mountain Climbing

Mountain climbers have come to the flat plains of West Texas! They are Lt. and Mrs. John M. Paver, 507 Edwards Blvd., who won't let a little thing like lack of places to climb deter them from their hobby. The Paviers came here from Columbus, Miss., where he took his basic Air Force training. They were married there Dec. 26 with only the bridegroom's brother, who flew down from New York, as an attendant. Mrs. Paver, a former head of the commercial department at Iowa City, Iowa, High School, met her husband when both were students at the University of Iowa. Lt. Paver, a native of New Canaan, Conn., joined the mountaineering club, sat beside a dark-haired brunnette and romance blossomed. Both share an avid enthusiasm for mountain climbing and Mrs. Paver has been enjoying the sport for 10 years. During that time she has climbed peaks in Alaska, Canada, Wyoming and the Pacific Northwest. On the wall of the couple's living room hang two crossed ice picks attesting to their devotion of the sport. July 4th, the Paviers drove to Carlsbad, N. M. Failing to find a place to stay, they pitched their nylon tents near the entrance to the National Park, zipped themselves into their sleeping bags and awoke the next morning fresh and ready for a trip through the Caverns. "They told us it would take at least 40 minutes to walk out of the cave," commented Mrs. Paver. "But we made it in 25. I guess we were still in condition," she smilingly added. Enormously proud of her bridegroom, the former school teacher remembers fondly the times that her husband has been rope leader of a climbing party. "I always like to be on his rope if I can," she confessed. Mrs. Paver lived on a farm during her youth and was very active in 4-H club work throughout her high school and college days. She represented her state at two international conventions of the organization. But always, her thoughts return to her favorite diversion. And Mrs. Paver's only regret is that she and her husband will be unable to join other members of their club this summer. "If I went alone, it would break my husband's heart not to get to go and climb with our friends," she sighed. So for practice they'll rock climb any available peak.

Local Girl Starring In College Movie Finds Reality Hard To Take

"If there's an art to making scenes look realistic without actually doing them, I would like to know about it," says Barbara (Babs) Douglass, of Big Spring and star of "Medea," the Greek tragedy which is being made into a movie by the McMurry College Film Society.

Miss Douglass is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Douglass. In the movie, Medea gets shoved around some by the soldiers and Barbara isn't taking to this "showing around" too well. As a matter of fact, she's been all bruises and scratches for about two weeks.

In one particular scene she must suddenly drop to the stone courtyard and claw at the rocks. "The falling and clinging to the rocks are enough," says Babs, "but then the soldiers enter the picture, jerk me to my feet and throw me down again. That's one scene I don't like to rehearse."

As if she didn't have enough troubles already with making her scenes look real and simultaneously protecting herself, the other night a flood light fell on her head. Result: the star of the show lay on the floor for ten minutes passed out cold.

Babs frankly admits that, though this is her first experience with movies, she certainly would not be reluctant to enter that field if she were given a chance. Along the more practical lines, she plans to teach this fall.

She graduated from McMurry last May with a Bachelor of Science degree in speech. After teaching for a year she plans to continue her study in a practical school such as the Theatre of Dramatic Arts in New York or the Pasadena Playhouse in Pasadena, Calif.

Though Babs is essentially a dramatic actress and she gets her best audience response in such roles. She says really to be a good actress you must be able to play all types of roles. She feels that is her main weakness.

While an undergraduate at McMurry, Barbara earned quite a reputation for herself among local theatre circles as a very proming young actress. She played the parts of Ellen in "Male Animal," Ruth in "Blithe Spirit," Hedda in "Hedda Gabler," and Medea in "Medea" — all leading roles. She was also cast in Hamlet, Othello, Hansel and Gretel, besides serving as assistant director on Macbeth and Merchant of Venice. Play-acting and movie-acting are entirely different to Babs, as she explains, "In a play you are able to build up to a real emotional climax as you progress scene by scene. With a movie, it's more difficult to build that actual climax for you must forever be stopping to reshoot a scene."

If anyone has a cure for making things look real without its actually being so, Babs is really serious—she wants to contact you for certain she has a real problem coming up soon. At the end of the movie she is to be on top of a palace, 19 feet in the air and is supposed to exit on a chariot. "And my director is a stinker for really," she concluded, "so please hurry with a solution, will you?"

Colognes Can Aid You In Keeping Cool

It's a major task to try to keep fragrant on hot days as any Big Spring lass will testify.

Strenuous exercise—tennis, golf, swimming — make perspiration glands go to work with extra vigor.

Many a girl has retired to an out-of-the-way spot at a party or a wedding because she fears offending people when her clothes become drenched with perspiration.

But there is a temporary cure. So smart girls should carry perfume sticks in their purses during the warm weather.

A couple of quick squirts of perfume or a whiff of fragrant stick cologne rubbed along the arms, forehead or hands can keep you dainty and carefree until you get home.

A carefully chosen fragrance can be a wonderful boost on a hot day. It is wise to steer away from heavy, sultry scents, however, as these are likely to prove too overpowering for summer taste.

Stick colognes are easy to use and one new one has a base which can be turned like a lipstick so that the cologne emerges, ready to be applied.

The sticks make excellent travelers because they can't spill. So tuck one in your week-end bag, glove compartment of the car or in the golf locker or desk drawer.

Here are a few tricks to help you look and feel cooler:

1. Apply stick perfume on palms of hands. It imparts a delicate fragrance.
2. Cool and scent the scalp with toilet water. Follow the line of your part with cotton-soaked toilet water. The alcohol will help eliminate stickiness and hair will be sweet-smelling.

Mice Now To Be Shocked To Death

NEW YORK (U) — A new mouse-trap kills by electric shock that cannot be transmitted to humans because of its unique design.

The device, invented by A. G. Burns of Farmland, Ind., catches, slays and places the dead rodent's body in a drawer compartment. The drawer is removable for easy cleaning and eliminates handling the mouse.

The trap resets itself after each execution within a fraction of a second. The device is now being manufactured in volume. (Jalco Motor Co., Union City, Ind.)

Many Wanting To Study Medicine

SINGAPORE (U) — Seventy-five per cent of new students at the University of Malaya want to study medicine because of the professional standing of doctors in the community and their higher income, a university spokesman said. Of 128 students, 95, including 15 girls, are entering the Faculty of Medicine, 25 the Faculty of Arts and 17 the Faculty of Science.

3. When feet are hot after a hike or tennis match, take off shoes and apply toilet water to the feet, especially between the toes. Many girls keep a bottle of their favorite cologne in the ice-box, pour it on a cloth and then place it over forehead and eyes when they are ready to take an afternoon nap. This is a wonderful pick-me-up particularly on vacation, a scented interlude in between an active afternoon and an evening date.

 Mrs. Benson inspects one of her favorite plants, a ruffled-leaf begonia called the Chase begonia. It originally came from Pennsylvania. The leaves are dark green, waxy and ruffled around the edges.

Green Thumb Gardener Can Turn Any Kind Of Seed Into A Plant

When most people eat grapefruit or avocado or some other fruit or vegetable they throw the seed away. But not Mrs. J. D. Benson. She plants it. And for Mrs. Benson it grows top half above water. The tree had grown to a height of 2 1/2 feet when she moved away, so she doesn't know whether or not it is still growing.
 At the moment she is waiting for a grapefruit seed which she has planted to sprout, and she is rooting a limb from a cottonwood tree. Mrs. Benson, past president of the Big Spring Garden Club, says cuttings from most trees are easy to root and especially so with the cottonwood.
 Most of her houseplants—and she has them in the windows and corners of almost every room in her home—were started from cuttings given her by friends.
 "Plants are just as sensitive as people," she says. "If you have a plant that is doing well in one location, don't move it around. Leave it alone." Moving them frequently from one place to another in the house requires almost constant adjustment to variations in light, temperature, air and other conditions.
 "Some people complain that gas heat kills their plants," she continues. "I have never lost a plant to gas and that's all I burn, but I keep a pan of water on the stove all the time, although it may boil out three or four times a day."
 Her houseplants include a wide assortment. There are begonias, geraniums, ivies, gloxinias, hydrangeas, Thanksgiving and Christmas cacti, Star of Bethlehem, amaryllis, azaleas, Chinese evergreens, maidenhair ferns, African violets, poinsettias, a bougainvillea, a dwarf pomegranate, fancy-leaved caladiums and dsanseveria.
 "Many people complain that they can't raise azaleas in the house," Mrs. Benson says. "They could if they'd just put a little acid in the soil." She adds that a tablespoon of vinegar in a cup of water will do the trick.
 August is the time to take geranium cuttings for blooms by Christmas, she advises, and the cuttings will root better and faster if they are left laying in some shady spot for 24 hours before planting. Sand is best for rooting and geraniums need a small pot. Geraniums do better in the poorest of soils and with infrequent waterings.
 Begonias should not be watered every day, either. Water thoroughly and give them a rest for several days. It is a good idea to put a little charcoal in the bottom of every pot, whether it has a drainage opening or not, as it keeps the soil sweet.
 Like every flower lover, Mrs. Benson, who lives at 702 E. 13th, can spend hours conversing on the subject. And when it comes to seed and flower catalogues and magazines she laughs and says:
 "When I get a new one you can't get a thing out of me until I've studied it cover to cover for several hours."

WATER REVENUE DOWN

City Finances Confirm That June Was Another Dry Month

If any more evidence is needed, the city's financial statement proves that June was another dry month.

Big Springers consumed less water—just because they couldn't get it, curtailed consumption resulted in a decrease in the amount of revenue entering the municipal till from that source.

Amount of water metered during June was 59,205,600 gallons—13,368,800 gallons less than in May and a decline of 19,965,000 gallons from the June, 1951, total.

Water and sewer service charges amounted to $31,270.82 for the month, $1,060.98 less than the May sum and a whopping $5,997.81 drop from the previous June.

General fund receipts, including $16,323.39 transferred from other funds, amounted to $39,233.07. The general fund balance fell from $49,893.96 to $29,254.58 due to expenditures which totalled $68,882.47, or $29,629.40 more than revenues.

system revenue fund, the balance grew, primarily due to a minimum of expenditures. While $53,078.84 was coming in, outgo amounted to $19,671.36, boosting the balance from $105,896 to $149,303.

Little change was made in the airport fund's cash balance, and most of the fund's expenditures was for securities. The balance dropped from $5,963 to $4,456 as receipts totalled $8,899 and expenditures amounted to $10,306. Disbursed for the securities was $7,973.

The cemetery fund showed a healthy increase—from $28.87 to $103.87.

The swimming pool and park system fund was almost static due principally to the fact that the pool wasn't open during June. Receipts, mostly green fees, totalled $1,016 and $865.99 was transferred to the general fund.

The parking meter fund continued to grow, swelling from $13,056 to $15,693.

Spent from the interest and sinking fund was $11,854.81 which reduced that balance from $35,372 to $23,519. The city's bonded indebtedness now stands at $846,500 tax bonds and $587,000 revenue bonds.

WELL EQUIPPED

County Has Three Iron Lungs Ready

Toward Countians probably are as well equipped with "iron lungs" as any comparable group in the state.

Three of the respiration devices—one a handy portable rig—are readily available to all citizens. In fact, any resident of the area may secure the services of one or more of the lungs.

That should be comforting knowledge, particularly during this season of widespread polio when the slightest boost in breathing ability might mean the difference between life and death.

Fortunately, however, none of the county's three iron lungs has been called into service this year.

The breathing apparatus have been provided by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post and Cosden Petroleum Corporation and its employees. Custodians of all three units are the firemen at Big Spring's two fire stations.

VFW members provided Howard County with its first iron lung in 1944. Members of Local 826 (Cosden employees) and Cosden purchased the second lung about two years ago, at about the same time the VFW iron lung fund was invested in the portable unit.

The portable lung has never been used, although it is adaptable to artificial respiration and may some day prove to be a life saver in case of a near-drowning or other form of asphyxiation. The two standard models have seen service scores of times, and have been used in North, Central and West Texas.

The Cosden lung, a completely modern machine with such accessories as mirror, reading rack, etc., was required for an Odessa patient for a period of approximately four months. The polio victim was brought here in the lung, and after a stay in a local hospital was transferred to Fort Worth inside the machine.

It has been used on a half dozen other occasions—by polio patients in each instance. The machine was purchased at a cost of approximately $4,800 and is maintained by substitution firemen.

The VFW standard lung has been put in service on numerous occasions in the eight years it has been available here. The breathing device has been out of the county on several occasions, having been used to transfer polio and other patients from Big Spring, to medical centers in Gonzales, San Antonio, San Angelo, Abilene and other cities.

Any of the lungs can be secured for Howard Countians on the request of their physicians. For use outside the county, approval of the Howard County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis must be secured.

Local firemen will assist with operation of either of the lungs anytime their services are needed. Before local hospital personnel became familiar with operation of the equipment, firemen usually stayed at the bedside of any sick person using the lungs. Now, however, they assist with the work only when medical workers are unavailable or otherwise engaged.

Far North Is Background For Adventure Tale

Columbia Pictures' "Red Snow," starring Guy Madison and featuring Ray Mala, Carole Mathews, Gloria Saunders and Robert Peyton opens at the State today.

An Arctic drama of the Alaskan Air Command's fliers and Eskimo scouts who seek the key to mysterious polar explosions, "Red Snow" presents Madison as a flight lieutenant sent on a desperate mission through Alaskan air lanes.

The production opens with the Army's discovery of strange lights in the Northern sky. An Eskimo scout is sent on secret orders to his Alaskan tribe, habitants of the land of the mysterious lights.

Meanwhile, the Army fliers daily fly missions in the area seeking clues to the lights.

The Alaskan tribe is forced to evacuate their island in search of a steadier food supply and Madison, on his daily flights follows them across crumbling ice.

The possibility of enemy invasion, a fear created by the polar mysteries, is heightened when an enemy plane crashes near the fleeing Eskimos. The tribe is rescued and the mystery is solved when the Eskimos find the secret of the lights in the crashed plane.

"Red Snow" was three years in the making, including background shots that included barren ice fields, snowstorms, Eskimo customs, a walrus hunt and a polar bear attack.

Water Consumption Reaches New Peak

Water consumption soared to a peak of 3,642,000 gallons Friday, outstripping production and resulting in a loss of 300,000 gallons from storage.

It was the highest total for any day in recent weeks, and the first day of the past seven in which storage capacity was lost.

Water Production Superintendent Roy Hester expected to recover the quantity lost from reserves Saturday, however, and the city will proceed this week with its limited irrigation schedule.

For shrub watering, the same division of the city will be in effect. Residents east of Settles may turn hoses on plants Tuesday, the sections between Settles and Runnels will be watered Wednesday, and the remainder of the city will have its chance to water shrubs Friday.

Bus, Motorcade To Boost Rodeo In Area Towns

A chartered bus and motorcade will make the two booster tours for Big Spring's 19th annual Rodeo early next week.

The American Business Club is sponsor for an automobile caravan which will tour the area south and east of Big Spring Monday, Aug. 4. Jaycees have chartered a special bus for the Tuesday trip through the section northwest of the city.

Rodeo boosters—persons interested in making the tours—are invited to join either group. Seats on the bus will go free of charge as long as they last. Motorists who desire to do so may enter a car in the motorcade and extra seats will, of course, be available in some of the vehicles.

Tourists each day will leave Big Spring about 8:30 a.m. and are due return around 5 o'clock.

The Monday tour will be to Garden City, Sterling City, Robert Lee, Bronte, Blackwell, Sweetwater, Roscoe, Lorraine, Colorado City, Snyder and Coahoma. Boosters Tuesday will visit Ackerly, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Andrews, Odessa, Midland and Stanton.

ABC Group Hears About Airport Plan

Jack Cook, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aeronautics Committee and former municipal airport manager, was guest speaker at the meeting of the ABC Club at the Settles Hotel Friday.

Cook warned members that Big Spring is fast becoming a ghost town of the airways.

"Big Spring is now the only city of its size in Texas without a municipal airport," the aviation booster declared. "And while the former municipal airport, now occupied by the Air Force, was considered one of the best civil flying fields in the country, if it is ever given up by the Air Force, it will be a white elephant for municipal operation."

An Aeronautics Committee proposal that the Chamber of Commerce make acquisition of the new airport facilities the No. 1 project in its program was approved by the directors of the organization Monday.

Cook read the resolution to ABC Club members and the group endorsed the idea.

Doug Orme was appointed a representative of the Club to work with the committee.

In other business, George Zachariah was named chairman of the Rodeo Booster Trip Committee for the club. To assist him will be Paul Limer and Pete Harmonson.

The group voted to buy a Snow-Cone machine and J. B. Winton was welcomed as a new member.

Eighty-Six Listed On Disease Report

Eighty-six area residents were stricken with communicable diseases during the past week, the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit reported Saturday.

Twelve different infections were named on the unit's contagious diseases roundup.

Diarrhea was the most prevalent illness diagnosed, but typhoid fever made its first appearance here in three years. One case of the latter was diagnosed. There were 30 cases of diarrhea.

The report also included 14 virus infections, nine cases of gonorrhea, six of pneumonia, six of tonsillitis, seven of syphilis, five of whooping cough, four of trench mouth, two of strep throat, and one each of chicken pox and measles.

A Bible Thought For Today—

It is later than you think. If you expect to do anything fine and worthy it had best be done today, for even tomorrow may never come. "So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts to wisdom." — Ps. 90:12.

Now Is A Good Time To See About That Pre-School Physical Exam

This may be one of those innocuous editorials, but with the air so full of national conventions and politics in general, perhaps a little reassurance will be in order. Thus we address ourselves to the mothers of youngsters who will be going to school for the first time just a little more than a month hence. The reason we want to talk to these mothers is that a word now may save them a lot of time later on. There are two things that a child must have before he can enter school. One is a copy of his birth certificate which will forever fix his correct age on school records. The other is a certificate of vaccination against smallpox. However, it is strongly advisable that every child entering school should be given a check-up by the family physician. Many a child has been thought backward because of an unsuspected inability to hear or see properly. Dramatic cases, literally heart-rending, have been uncovered in routine checking of the youngsters by nurses. But that comes later in the year and cannot expect to be as thorough as that of the physician who makes a detailed study of each case. Moreover, it cannot bring back time lost to a child, nor can it erase the deep lines etched on sensitive natures. There doubtless are children who will be better off if they have certain infirmities uncovered and their program of activity regulated accordingly. Obviously, a child with a heart condition—if, God forbid, there be any—will be better off without vigorous physical exertion. Finally, a check at this time not only will save time because of avoidance of the rush just before the starting of school, but it can be most timely as a mid-summer check. There are so many ailments to which youngsters might be subject in summertime which would be detected or thwarted by a routine examination. Mothers thus would be killing two birds with one stone and relieving themselves of a vexing pre-school worry.

Bitter Moments In Convention During Loyalty Oath Arguments

CHICAGO.—There were some tense moments during the Democrats' battles over the loyalty oath and the seating of the Southern delegates. Bitterest of all was South Carolina's Governor Jimmie Byrnes who at times trembled with rage. More moderate leaders among the Southern delegates maneuvered to keep him off the rostrum. Almost equally bitter was Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia.

Instead, the more moderate Southern leaders were carefully picked as spokesmen—Senators John Stennis of Mississippi, Sponsor Roland of Florida and Olin Johnson of South Carolina. They knew that if the South really did bolt the convention, Southern senators would lose their prize positions as chairmen of the key committees of Congress—places which have given the South tremendous power in writing legislation, and blocking it. Almost every key committee in both Houses of Congress today is headed by a Southern Democrat.

Most paradoxical development of the entire loyalty-oath fight was the fact that Sen. Walter George of Georgia turned out to be the author of one part of the oath to which the South objected.

George said he would have no objection to some such phraseology as "every American wants to subscribe to the principle of majority rule," and, second, that "every delegate subscribing to this pledge agrees to vote for the nominee of this convention."

Young Franklin Roosevelt, when he read the latter pledge to vote for the nominee of the convention remarked: "I don't think we can tell every delegate who they should vote for."

However, this part of the oath, having been proposed by a distinguished leader of the South, was left in.

When Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas saw it, however, he objected: "I can take the oath," he said, "if you omit this section"—referring to the second part of Senator George's proposal. His amendment was immediately agreed to. During the private discussions over seating of the Southern delegates, Sen. Earl Crenshaw was the roughest of all Southerners. Some over Vice President Barkley's retirement from the race, he used caustic, bitter language toward young Roosevelt and others.

"At least my family for generations has voted the Democratic ticket," he said, referring to Elliott Roosevelt's deviation to the GOP.

Other committee members recalled that no one in years had done so much for the party as the man who happened to be Elliott's father.

How much money was put up for the expenses of delegates or buying delegates seldom leaks out during a national convention. At this convention there probably was relatively little, due in part to an advance expose of Sen. Robert S. Kerr's mysterious emissary from Kansas, State Senator Bob George. He was the man who turned up in California and bought $1,500 worth of free railroad tickets to Chicago, which he tried to hand out to the California delegation, all of them pledged to Kefauver. Only two California delegates accepted his free travel.

George's hand also was apparent in Idaho, where Mrs. Lavera Swope, one of that state's delegates, received $500 by mail. However, when Ira Masters, also of Idaho, got wind of it, he protested to State Senator George, who in turn sent a telegram to Mrs. Swope, with a copy to Masters. Apparently, George misunderstood Masters' motive because the telegram read: "Regarding that $500 give $250 to Masters."

Later, when Senator Kerr met with the Idaho delegation he apologized for the incident. State Senator George's heart is in the right place, he said, but he shouldn't have done it. Reports of Kerr's money being used to pay expenses of delegates was on the minds of various delegates. For instance, H. S. Dole, a delegate from Kansas, who wanted to vote for Kerr, announced in a caucus that he was not going to do so. "I want people to know that I paid my own way to Chicago," Dole explained.

Deals, and sometimes double-deals were being made and unmade during the hectic closing days of the convention. At one time Governor Stevenson's backers had offered the vice presidency to four different people, even though their man allegedly was not a candidate.

1. Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota were asked to line up Kefauver to run as VP on the Stevenson ticket;

2. Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama was sounded out on becoming VP for Stevenson;

3. Jonathan Daniels of North Carolina was discreetly approached as VP;

4. Yet word from Stevenson was that he personally preferred Sen. Bill Fulbright of Arkansas.

Kefauver people, meanwhile, did a little dealing of their own. Carl Sullivan, working with Boss Fitzgerald of New York, suggested F. D. Roosevelt Jr. for vice president, in return for awaiting the Harparties where he had merely been in town to attend his grandmother's funeral at Wrigley Field.

The accusations, said the delegate, a tiger by trade, had nevertheless been leveled and he had been caught in a steam-roller action which left him a little flatter than usual. He explained that tigers are generally flat these days with jobs being scarce and circuses going out of business. "A lot of us hungry tigers will be forced to roam the streets if things do not get better for our profession," he prophesied. "And that is not a good national condition."

However, this particular tiger, because of his flattened physique, got himself a job with the Furbelow Arms as a rug for the lobby. He has been working right through the Democratic convention and so far there have been no complaints and no accidents. Inasmuch as the Furbelow Arms is not equipped with a radio, the tiger has been doubling as a sort of radio or phonograph. He has a nice tenor voice and a full repertoire of old Circus Band numbers. Besides this he issues news bulletins every few minutes and up till now these have been about as accurate as many others. Hugo the Mouse says that the tiger will probably be laid over for the rest of the season.

Stevenson Holds A Niche As The Man Who Has Not Wanted To Be President

CHICAGO.—Gov. Adlai Stevenson will go down in history as the man who didn't want to be President.

However, he played his cards so shrewdly that he saved himself thousands of dollars of campaign expenses, months of campaigning, and the incurring of political debts to all sorts of people—yet he will probably end up as President just the same.

This, plus the Taft campaign, makes a mockery of the American system of primaries. For, after eight steady months of making speeches throughout the U.S.A., Taft and Kefauver finally found two candidates who literally didn't campaign at all cleaning out the chips in the political pot.

Adlai Stevenson has been able to accomplish this partly through political shrewdness, partly through his record as Governor of Illinois. On the political side he had the help of the most powerful Democratic boss in the nation, Jake Arvey of Chicago, plus an initial boost from Harry Truman. Furthermore, at the very same time Stevenson was telling the nation he was not a candidate, he was also sitting in a secret huddle with the campaign manager he had disowned, Ex-Sen. Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, together with Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Congressman Ed Yates of Illinois and Gov. Henry Schrickler of Indiana.

Furthermore when Governor Schrickler proposed placing Stevenson's name in nomination—if he had the assurance Stevenson would not disown the draft, Stevenson assured Schrickler he would stand still and say nothing.

The man who conceived this coy strategy comes from a family whose grandfather was vice president of the United States, whose father put David F. Houston's name in nomination against John W. Davis at the 1924 convention, and whose great-grandfather, Jesse W. Fell, a Quaker politician, was responsible for the Lincoln-Douglas debates.

Twenty years ago Adlai was a corporation lawyer who nobody around Chicago ever dreamed might run for President. Then, in the early days of the New Deal, he was called to Washington to work in Henry Wallace's Agriculture Department, where incidentally he first met Alger Hiss, which has now opened up the weakest spot in Stevenson's political armor.

For, when Hiss went on trial for perjury, Governor Stevenson, who had seen his work in the State Department, gave him a character deposition. The deposition was never actually used in the trial. However, that testimony supporting Hiss is relied on by the Republicans to knock Stevenson out in November. In fact, this was the chief reason for putting Sen. Richard Nixon of California on the ticket with Eisenhower, for it was Nixon, who uncovered the pumpkin papers which finally put Hiss in jail.

worker, however. After joining the Naval Reserve at Princeton in World War I, he made militant efforts to duck further schooling and to see the world. Before he was 30 he had traveled over most of Europe, including Communist Russia, worked briefly for the family newspaper, the Bloomington Pantagraph, finally settled down to become a Chicago lawyer.

The magnet that brought Stevenson back to Washington in World War II was his interest in foreign policy. Isolationist Chicago had a small center of liberal internationalist thought called the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. It stood as a Gibraltar in the midst of Colonel McCormick's walls against aid to the allies. Here Stevenson, a Democrat, became an intimate of the late great Republican publisher, Frank Knox. When F. D. R. summoned Knox to Washington as Secretary of the Navy in 1940, Stevenson was yanked out of his law office to become Knox's aide. As such, Stevenson traveled to every war theatre, frequently functioning as Knox's eyes and ears.

In 1943, F. D. R. sent Stevenson to Italy to rehabilitate the wrecked Italian economy. The State Department was at that time called for refurbishing the king of Italy, restaffing the new Italy with moderate members of the Fascist party. But Stevenson would have none of it. Instead, he embraced such anti-Fascists as Count Carlos Sforza, with the result that American foreign policy was highly acceptable to the Italian people.

Stevenson was about to return to Chicago as V. J. day approached when he drew still another assignment—that of helping promote public understanding of the soon-to-be-established United Nations. Stevenson took over the job, moved to a San Francisco hotel room, worked round the clock forcing the American delegation to tell the American people exactly what was going on.

Adlai Stevenson never aspired to be governor of Illinois. He wanted to be a United States senator and in 1947 he finally made the big decision. Corporate law had no attraction for a young man who had seen two wars, a vast financial panic and the threat of a third world war. He dropped out of his plush law firm for good, systematically set about wooing Chicago Boss Jacob M. Arvey for a place on the Democratic ticket.

Colonel Arvey is a shrewd politician who sensed that post-war America was getting fed up with political hacks in high public office, therefore he adopted Roosevelt's famous remark that "there goes my mob down the street. I must rush to their helm and lead them."

Arvey met Stevenson through Jimmy Byrnes at a luncheon in Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle's office in Washington. "Don't you know you've got a gold nugget out there in Illinois in Adlai Stevenson?" Byrnes asked Arvey.

Arvey confessed he had never heard of Stevenson. A few days later, some of Stevenson's friends in the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations formed a "Stevenson for senator committee."

That was the build-up for the man who didn't want to be President.

An Example Of Free Enterprise, Practiced In The Good Old Days

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

If you're at the walling wall bemoaning the passing of individual initiative and free enterprise, move over. I want to join you.

I may be driving down the wrong streets, but what saddens me these days that I see no lemonade stands at the curbs, manned by young urchins bent upon gathering in a few cents.

Time was, you will recall, that you couldn't get very deep into summer before the neighborhood gang decided to go into business, as purveyors of cooling beverages.

My buddy Homer and I worked at it, off and on, for a few summers, when we were the right age. First thing we had to do—after the inspiration of economic independence hit us—was to scrounge around and find an old crate that would serve as combination counter and storage bar. Next was the chore of nailing some uprights at the ends, and this took a little time because the nails had to be pulled out of some other scrap lumber, laboriously straightened, and then bent again as they were driven into the new job.

This rickety upright affair had to be designed to support a shade of some description. This couldn't be anything but a ripped-open burlap bag, nailed across the top. What this provided, other than dust floating down into the lemonade, I'm not sure, but a canopy we had.

After this piece of business was wired together and hauled out by the sidewalk under the elm, there had to be a sign made. This involved tearing up some corrugated cartons, and trying to cut the stuff into a shape resembling a square.

If I remember correctly, the lettering was done with some soft coal lumps. The sign said "Lemonade 5 cents," and if the cross-bar on the "n" wasn't backwards, this was sheer luck.

Now that we had the location, we started looking for stock. My Mama's cupboard and Homer's Mama's cupboard yielded enough lemons and sugar to get started on. These were taken with the very conscientious intention of "paying back" as soon as the enterprise began to return some dividends. The ice—well, ice-wagons used to come around, you know, and if you could hang on to the rear step for a block or two while the driver was up front, you could scrape out enough chunks to fill that crock that was swiped from the milk-house. Didn't make any difference if the ice fell in the street. It could be picked up and washed off, preferably before it went into the crock.

There was no doubt, some deep formula for making good lemonade that would sell. Just squeeze in all the lemons that could be had, dump in what sugar that could be carried out of the house, and then turn in some water. If the result didn't look like enough, the thing to do was to add more water until there was enough. Let the buyer beware, we always said.

OK, the stuff is ready. Advertising is next. This was accomplished by standing there hollering "Lemonade! Lemonade! Made in the shade and stirred with a spade." This was considered very intriguing verse, in those days.

Trouble is, nobody heard this advertising except a few of the younger fry of the neighborhood, who had been standing around all the time, quiet derivative of the whole undertaking. Heck, they couldn't have raised a nickel among the whole dozen of 'em.

But when our Papis came home at noon, and if they happened to be in the right mood, we might be able to persuade them to risk a nickel each on a glass of this delicious nectar. If they poured some of it out on the ground, they were able to do it without attracting the attention or arousing disappointment of the young merchants.

Well, say our Papis each did buy a glass of our lemonade. That was a dime, which was enough to get us each a soda pop that afternoon. Time came to go get the pop, was time to close the store. Business could wait until the next day—until a day when we decided to open a drink stand again. We had invested our labor (not expensive) and our capital (borrowed) and we had made a profit (satisfactory). What more can you ask of free enterprise? —BOB WHIPKEY.

Gallup Poll

Public Leaning Toward State Ownership Of The Tidelands

PRINCETON, N. J.—Among voters who have followed the controversy over tidelands oil, the position outlined in the G.O.P. platform in favor of states' rights gets more support than the position taken by the Truman administration.

Under this plan all natural resources located under the water off the shores of the states would belong to the states, rather than the Federal government.

President Truman vigorously opposes this plan on the ground that it would allow private interests to exploit these resources at the expense of the people.

To find out where the voters stand on this controversy, interviewers for the Institute asked two questions in a coast-to-coast survey.

The first was: "Have you heard or read anything about the tidelands oil issue?"

A total of 39 per cent said they had, while 61 per cent had not.

Each person in the survey was then asked:

"Under the ocean off the shores of several states in the U.S. are lands which contain oil. Do you think this land should be the property of the Federal government or of those states?"

Here is the division of opinion among those persons who had previously heard about the controversy:

Federal government	42%	32%	36%	41%
States	49%	52	45	42
No opinion	9	16	19	17
	100%

Among those who had not previously followed the issue, the vote on federal versus state control follows a similar pattern, with states' rights favored, as follows: Federal government, 31 per cent; States, 45 per cent; no opinion, 24 per cent.

Among the rank and file of voters in both parties, the weight of opinion is in favor of state control as shown in the following table:

	Reps.	Dem.	Ind.
Federal gov't.	32%	36%	41%
States	52	45	42
No opinion	16	19	17
	100%	100%	100%

The tidelands issue has been argued in Congress for a considerable time. A Supreme Court decision is on record favoring Federal control, but opponents of this plan are seeking legislation favorable to states.

At stake is control of oil and other mineral deposits worth tens of millions of dollars.

The Republican party platform adopted at Chicago pledges the party to work for state control of these offshore deposits. The platform says:

"We favor restoration to the states of their rights to all lands and resources beneath navigable inland and offshore waters within their historic boundaries."

Sunday Talk: The Solar System

The subject of models of the solar system is brought up in a letter from Mr. J. Hamilton, who read what I wrote in this field some months ago. He says:

"Although I am over 70, I read your articles with interest. With regard to your article on building a model of the solar system, it might interest you to know that about 40 or 50 years ago, they had a model of the solar system in a university museum at Glasgow, Scotland."

"This model was in a large room, and a person could walk all around it. My memory of the model is a bit hazy, but I think the sun was about the size of a soccer ball, with the planets and moon smaller to scale. I think the planets were at the ends of brass rods, and the whole apparatus was moved by clockwork."

"I don't remember whether or not the earth went around the sun at short intervals, or once a day. As you say, it would be a sight worth seeing if one could get the balls to float and move around the sun."

Mr. Hamilton's letter reminds me of a model, like the one he describes, which I saw in the Milwaukee Public Museum about 25 years ago. This model had an earth which made its yearly trip around the sun in a minute or two. While the earth was circling the sun, the moon would revolve about the earth.

The many motions of the solar system would be hard to show with a model. There is, for example, the rotating, or spinning, motion of the earth; one complete turn takes place each day while the earth is making its gigantic yearly trip around the sun. Thanks to the spinning, we have our 24-hour days. Except in the frigid zones, for certain months, there is daylight and darkness during every 24-hour period.

The moon also spins while it is revolving around the earth. It makes only one complete turn, or turn, while it is revolving once. That is why we can see only one side of the moon.

Another motion is the sweep of the entire solar system through the universe. The general direction is toward the bright star known as Vega.

Actress Knew A Secret, And It Got Her A Job

NEW YORK — Often I have praised the mature stars on Broadway and they usually remember to say a word of "thanks" four or five years later when they are ready to open in a new Broadway play or in a Hollywood movie which doesn't star Bing Crosby or Bob Hope. "Doesn't," I said.

But sometimes I meet with the immature stars and have to hold myself so that I do not give them the grandfatherly advice that Crosby or Hope would offer them. I try to be to their age, the age of the kids - not the ages of Crosby and Hope.

So this is, in her own words, the story of beautiful, brunette, 5 foot 3, Brooklyn-born Patricia Marand, who was in the January, 1931, class of Ft. Hamilton High School in her native borough. Miss Marand is now playing the leading female role as Teddy Stern, in the musical and water version of Arthur Kober's comedy, "Wish You Were Here."

and then they placed her in the American Academy of Dramatic Arts where she went on to sing "Brigadoon" on a road tour.

Returning to Broadway from this short road tour, Patricia heard that a nurse in the musical, "South Pacific," was getting married secretly that day. Patricia rushed around to the offices of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein 2d, announced that she had some news that they would hear later that day and she was going to wait until they heard the news. No, she would not tell a secret.

Rodgers and Hammerstein went back into their offices and were unable to do any more work on their new operetta that day because they were wondering what the secret was. Patricia sat outside waiting . . . and knowing.

Finally the news of the wedding came through and Patricia got the role. Since then, Patricia hasn't kept a secret. At least, no more than is the legal right for females.

Armed Forces Unity Program Now Engulfed By Korean War

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The Korean War has engulfed the armed forces unification program which Congress approved five years ago today.

Plenty of money for the military (more than some of the services could spend immediately), a revival of old rivalries and the plain fact that in any war the armed forces co-operate as a matter of course — all have helped overshadow the project. On July 26, 1947, Congress passed and sent to the White House the bill to integrate the policies and administration procedures of the armed forces, to provide "coordination and unified direction under civilian control of the secretary of defense" and give the Air Force equal status with the Army and Navy.

By mid-1950 the unification machinery was beginning to run smoothly. Some overlapping operations of branches of the armed forces were eliminated by setting up single agencies. New and needed agencies were formed.

In the beginning, the persuasion of the late Defense Secretary James Forrestal and the iron hand policy of his successor, Louis Johnson, helped suppress the jealousies and competitions of the services and their chiefs. An even greater moderating factor was the economy trend in government — the sentiment for a tight purse for the military in peacetime.

But the Korean conflict broke out. The military appropriation bill skyrocketed from its original estimate of $13,272,000,000 buying authority for the armed forces to more than 41 billion by the end of the first year of war. The budget has been even bigger in subsequent years.

The competition of World War II days for money, for material, for manpower was renewed. With a step-up in preparedness for a possible Communist expansion of the Korean aggression into full world war, there has been revival too of the rivalries over the missions of the armed forces. The Air Force got money for more long-range, heavy, strategic bombers and won its plea for expansion to a 143-wing force. The Navy, seeing this, reopened the case for supercarriers. With congressional backing, it has authority to build two 60,000-ton flatops — and now advocates construction of at least eight more.

If savings were achieved by the consolidations during the first three years of unification, they have been at least diminished by the harsh demands of the Korean War and general rearmament.

Anti-Jewish Film Is Not Permitted

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—An anti-Jewish movie filmed in Germany has been banned in Lebanon even though this country still is at war with the Jewish state of Israel to the south.

The film, "Jude Suss," portrays a Jewish character who, by intrigue and treachery, gains control of an entire state. A Beirut theater asked permission to show the film here. The government board of censorship approved the film's showing, but the Ministry of Interior intervened and forbade its presentation.

Banning of the film is the latest in a series of actions whereby the Lebanese government has protected its Jewish minority.

US Farm Production Ability Is Large Enough To Meet Demand

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—If any Americans are worrying about where their next meal is coming from, or how their children will fare in years ahead, a Department of Agriculture report may put them at ease.

It says the ability of U. S. farms to produce is so enormous it can meet any foreseeable demand for food and fibers—even if there's a war.

But an important part of this farm study is another conclusion its authors reached. They say it now is possible, because of farm know-how, to increase production tremendously without harming the soil. On the contrary, they say, the land would be made richer year after year.

The report is based on state-by-state studies made by land-grant colleges and the Agriculture Department. It was started shortly after the outbreak of the Korean War to determine how the nation might fare in another world war. Even without a war and despite huge population increases, the report indicates, standards of living need not be limited because farms can't produce abundantly.

The report says that by 1955 the production of farm products could be increased by one fifth over 1950, which was among the best farm years in all history.

By 1955, it assumed, the population may increase by about 10 million—Census Bureau estimates indicate the gain may be more than this—but even so, it said, the rate of food production could be many times the rate of population increase. Thus the amount of food available for each person would be increased.

"A higher level diet would be provided through more emphasis on livestock and poultry products," the report says. "Total production of meat, including poultry, would increase from 178 pounds per capita in 1951 to 199 per capita for the population expected by 1955."

The increases are possible without substantially increasing the number of acres in crops and without increasing the number of farm workers, the report says. As a matter of fact, war conditions might make fewer farm hands available.

All the increases are possible, the report says, through applying the technical knowledge now available to farmers about growing crops and livestock; giving farmers the incentive (high enough prices) to grow big crops; making more fertilizer available, and producing more farm machinery to take the place of vanishing farm hands.

Farm experts agreed that if all farmers could take advantage of all the know-how available to them today, and farm their lands diligently with these methods, production would be half again as great as in 1950. But they also agreed that as a practical matter not every farmer could apply all this knowledge, or obtain all materials needed, and so they settled for the estimate that it is possible to increase production one fifth.

The report said that in normal times farm production is limited by:

1. Lack of knowledge by farmers of new farm practices developed by scientists and the highest-producing farmers.
2. Uncertainty whether to risk new investments to increase production, or lack of money to make new investments.
3. Limited supplies of key materials, such as commercial fertilizer.
4. Labor problems in some areas.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

According to several sources it was on this day in 1823 that Stephen F. Austin first asked Britton Bayle to leave his colony.

Bayle and four others were formally ordered to leave Austin's domain in a proclamation of October 20.

Apparently Bayle had served a term in the Kentucky penitentiary. "Tain't that I'm ashamed of though," the colorful pioneer is supposed to have told Austin, "but the term I spent in the Kentucky legislature."

Somewhat the differences between the two men were smoothed and Bayle built the first brick residence in Texas. Brit is firmly installed in Texiana because of his supposedly unique will. By its terms he was buried standing on a jug of whiskey and his hunting rifle at his feet. Even in death Brit Bayle didn't want to bend his head before any man.

Other details of his life are vague. Some sources say he came to Texas with the Magee expedition, others dispute that. However, he was in Texas prior to Stephen F. Austin's arrival, and he shares with Strap Buckner the honor of being the most colorful of early Texas characters. According to legend Buckner whipped every man in Stephen F. Austin's colony at least once.

Bayle was later appointed to lead a company of militia by Austin.

US Equipment Aid To Indo-Chinese

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Nearly 100 ships now have unloaded American war equipment and supplies in Indo-Chinese ports for the French Union forces battling the Communist-led Vietminh armies.

The value of aid supplied by the U. S. to the French since the military assistance program started in July, 1950, now is believed to be close to one billion dollars although no official estimates have been released here.

Sheep Are Fooled With Nose Drops

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York chemical company investigated the cause of a large order of nose drops from a Utah sheep herder.

The sheepman explained that a ewe ordinarily will refuse to nurse lambs not her own. He said he put the drops into the noses of ewes so they would accept and "mother" orphan lambs.

Animals That Talk Seen In Ritz Comedy

"The Lady from Texas," a western comedy with plenty of talking animals and pet skunks, and also an old lady that loves eggs, comes to the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture stars Josephine Hull, Howard Duff and Mona Freeman and has a supporting cast including Gene Lockhart, Craig Stevens and Jay Filpenn. The production is in color by Technicolor.

Miss Hull, who won an academy award in "Harvey," plays Miss Birdie who has named all her animal friends and claims they talk. Included in the roll-calling is a pet skunk, who seems to be very polite until frightened.

The story centers around a group of townspeople who try to prove Miss Birdie is insane so they can get possession of her land. They want it for a railroad right-of-way. The idea she conveys is that she is still waiting for her husband who was killed in the Civil War.

When the townspeople take the case of insanity to court, everything from a skunk in the judge's seat to tears in the eyes of everyone attending the trial takes place. And Miss Birdie proves that she's sane.

"The Lady From Texas" is directed by Joseph Fevay and produced by Leonard Goldstein.

'QUO VADIS' TO SHOW AUG. 5-7

Rated as probably the greatest screen spectacle of all time, the new "Quo Vadis," has been booked into the Ritz Theatre for August 5, 6, and 7. It will play as a road-show attraction at advanced prices.

The M-G-M super production in Technicolor stars Robert Taylor and Deborah Kerr. It is a spectacle of the Christian martyrdom in ancient Rome.

HIGH COMEDY AT RITZ

Stripper Takes Her Talents To College

From Gay Garters Gertie to Campus Cutie, that's the change for Virginia Mayo in "She's Working Her Way Through College," today's feature at the Ritz.

The picture is in color by Technicolor and stars Virginia Mayo, Ronald Reagan, Gene Nelson and Don DeFore.

Miss Mayo in the starring roles with Don DeFore, Phyllis Thaxter and Patrice Wymore in the supporting parts. Also included in the cast are the dancing Blackburn Twins.

Miss Mayo is a burlesque performer who wants to enter the writing profession. To prepare herself, she enrolls in Midwest State and immediately things begin to pop.

And the situation soon reaches the boiling point as the football star, Nelson, falls for her—against the will of his sweetheart, Miss Wymore.

Reagan plays the role of a college professor and directs the college's annual fall dramatic presentation. Under Miss Mayo's persuasion, the presentation is turned into a musical and she and Nelson become the stars.

But before the program is presented, Miss Mayo is discovered to be a burlesque dancer but she,

in turn, does some discovering to keep from being expelled.

Among the tunes featured in the musical are "With Plenty of Money and You," "She's Working Her Way Through College," and "I'll Be Loving You."

The picture is directed by Bruce William Jacobs.

Madhouse Of Mystery On Ritz Stage Wednesday

Whether or not you believe in ghosts, you can get some thrills from the Madhouse of Mystery, staged by Neff as a midnight stage attraction at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday.

The chiller show will be on at 11:30, and tickets may be purchased in advance at the Ritz box office. They already are on sale.

The unusual mystery revue, which Neff says is guaranteed to raise your "spirits" is a modern production featuring a host of ghosts, a big company of "glamor ghouls," extensive equipment, and elaborate mysteries.

Such sensational feats as a girl being "burned alive," a "Zombie nightmare" and other mystifying stunts are enhanced by smart costuming, spooky stage settings, and a stage of wonder workers. The show combines the super-natural with some outstanding feats of magic as well as color and humor.

Joan appears as the secretary-companion of a middle eastern princess. She takes the girl's place when a sheik, in order to steal the region's oil resources, arranges for the reluctant princess to marry an unpleasant associate.

And with Miss Davis as the princess, complications mean nothing but comedy.

Heading the supporting cast are Peggie Castle and Arthur Blake. Also in the film are Paul Marion, Donald Randolph, and Henry Brandon.

Topics of outstanding current interest are included in the Metro news reel showing today and Monday at the Ritz Theatre.

The standout sequences are the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, and the Olympic Games at Helsinki. The camera catches newsworthy scenes at both these events.

Pilots Have No Age Limit, Says Air Ace

OIL CITY, Pa., July 26 (AP)—"There's no age limit for pilots," says graying Frank Gabreski, who at 33 is America's leading active air ace.

On the rolls of the Air Force he's Col. Francis S. Gabreski. But when he walks downtown here in his home town he's hailed everywhere as Frank or "Gabby."

Gabreski shot down 28 German planes over Europe and destroyed three more on the ground. In Korea he shot down six MIGs and shared credit for another.

Rotated home after 100 combat missions in Korea, Gabreski waded through the town's big hero welcoming festivities with habitual easy grace. Then he settled back to relax.

"I never thought too much of that World War II belief that youngsters of 19 or so make the best fliers because of better coordination and so on," he said in an interview, adding:

"It's true they can take more physically, but the older man has a better backlog of experience which more than offsets the young pilot's advantages.

"I think age limitations exist only in the mind. If you have a strong desire to fly and aren't handicapped—say, by failing eyesight—I don't believe there is any age limit."

Gabreski just wagged his head when asked if he thought Russians are piloting the MIGs over Korea. "There's just no way to tell," he said. "We've never captured one of 'em and we never saw a dead one."

He expressed surprise at reports the MIG is superior to the U. S. Sabre jet.

"The MIG is not especially superior," he declared. "It is very good at its specific job—intercepting bombers—but I wouldn't say it is better than our ships. Ours should have cannons like theirs, though."

Swordswoman Act Replaces Strippers

By FRED SAITO
TOKYO, July 26 (AP)—"They're as fickle as feathers in a high wind," the strip show director sighed.

He wasn't talking about his lovely ladies, but about the unpredictable Japanese who made the strip tease a national fad after the American occupation deserted it for a thing called "swordswoman dramas" and now are swinging back to a modified strip show.

Ken Mural, 28-year-old director of the "France Za" (Za is Japanese for theater), says the old form of the American strip tease hit its peak in 1948. It was something new in kimono-clad Japan.

Japanese women (and plenty of women, too) flocked to the huge burlesque houses throughout Japan to watch in deadpan fascination as the gals "took it off." But, Mural said, the show lost its popularity after reaching a logical conclusion and losing its power to shock.

Then came the rise of the swordswoman drama. This was a Japanese development that flattered Japanese martial spirit.

A beautiful feudal maiden, beset by thugs and buites, would bear incredible misfortunes with the patience of Gautama Buddha. Finally, when pushed too far, she would snatch up a razor-sharp samurai sword and cut down her tormentors like a field of ripe rye.

In the later years of the occupation, this probably flattered Japanese pride, Mural said. When Japan became independent April 28, audiences suddenly lost interest.

Four months ago five theaters in Asakusa—Tokyo's combination Coney Island, Broadway and Harlem—were showing swordswomen. Now they've all gone back to the strip show—the new form, that is.

Instead of acres of sun-tanned Japanese skin, the shows now are more like farces played by girls wearing the least the law allows. The law around here, while liberal, does insist that the girls wear something.

He said one of his competitors tried to appeal to what he called "the Peeping Tom" instinct. He ripped out clusters of seats here and there in the theater and installed the Japanese bathtub—each tub complete with a pretty, G-stringed Japanese girl already in hot water.

The customers were urged to volunteer to scrub the lady's back. "One of the cleanest shows that place ever had," Mural declared.

"But the audience got tired of it just the same and pretty soon the director had empty seats again. He got desperate and had the girls take off the G-strings just before they hopped into the tub."

That brought the customers, all right, but it also brought the police. Despite the seemingly light work, it's a hard life for the striptease girl in Japan. Instead of presenting a single star, the management features bare beauty by the dozen.

One theater advertises a full 100 stars—an impressive sight, but a condition spreading the wages thinner than a teaser's veil. The average stripper gets 15,000 yen a month. That's about $40.

That isn't enough to keep a single woman in Tokyo. Many single strippers trudge off to work afterwards at extra jobs in cabarets and photo studios. Many others are married, dutifully helping raise and support a family.

It's rather dull backstage in a Japanese strip show theater. Weary young ladies are curled up all over the place in long, shapeless sleeping kimonos, trying to catch a nap between acts.

Not a well-turned ankle in sight.

Bosses Criticize Young Employees

NEW YORK (AP)—The trouble with recent high school graduates employed by its member firms, says the Commerce and Industry Association of New York is that their spelling is bad, their handwriting illegible, their arithmetic unreliable and they expect too much pay and too rapid advancement.

The survey was based on questionnaires filled in by executives of 163 firms about the aptitudes and job qualifications of 33,234 employees hired since 1947 with high school educations.

Lower Ranks Must Take The Leftovers

SINGAPORE (AP)—Political commissars of Malaya's Communist terrorist army have secret jungle huts in which to make love to lady friends. But the lower ranks of the force are compelled to await the women "left over from the upper ranks."

It was revealed by a surrendered terrorist commander, Ching Kuen, of the 5th Communist Regiment, who gave himself up with 12 members of his unit, including three women.

Half a million copies of an open letter by Ching Kuen containing "eye-openers" of terrorist life in the Malayan jungles were air-dropped to his comrades.

House Sells When Division Is Made

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Attention real estate agents: If a home is too large to sell, saw it in half.

The James L. Irving mansion was offered for sale, but because of its large size there were no offers from buyers.

Then the mansion was cut in half, one home containing seven rooms and two baths and the other 10 rooms and three baths. Both sold immediately.

Lunch Comes By Vending Machine

NEW YORK (AP)—People who eat on the run soon may be able to get a complete lunch—including hot sandwiches—from one vending machine.

A device is being manufactured with seven compartments which dispenses, when the proper coins are inserted, juices, hot or cold sandwiches, pies, pastries, coffee and chocolate milk.

A Screwy Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Partial agreement has been reached on standardization of threads for screws by the International Organization for Standardization at Columbia University.

The committee of 49 delegates from 15 countries considered screws ranging in size from those used in watches to huge machine screws.

Carriers Tired Of Fighting Off Dogs

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina letter carriers are doggone tired of fighting with snapping dogs.

At their state convention here recently the mailmen voted to ask the next Legislature to make owners liable for actions of their pets. But they admitted it would be hard to set up standards of what is a vicious dog.

Cop's Car Is Hit Again By Driver

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn driver, who crashed into the car of a detective, received a summons for driving without his glasses.

He agitatedly put on his glasses and on the way home bumped into two cars, one of them the same detective's car he collided with earlier.

J. A. Adams Rites Are Conducted Here

Funeral services for James A. (Uncle Dick) Adams, building contractor and former resident, were held in the Nalley Chapel Saturday at 2 p.m. with Melvin Wise of Dallas officiating.

Burial was in the City Cemetery. Mr. Adams died in a Dallas hospital Thursday evening.

A resident of Big Spring for 30 years, he moved to Fort Worth in January. Survivors include his wife, Mary, of Fort Worth; one son, S. C. of Big Spring; one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Lee Prince, of Big Spring; four brothers, Billie of Midland; Tom of Mason; Welburn of DeLeon; and Toby, of Fort Worth; five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Pallbearers were Tony Pelache, Earl Piew, Dave Carter, Earl Brownrigg, Walter Reed and Aaron Damron.

Electricity Of Any Type Is Available

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—You can find almost any kind of electricity if you look far enough, say the scientists in an engineering laboratory (Minneapolis-Honeywell) here.

Most U. S. electricity is 60-cycle, but you can find 25-cycle at one place in India—and across the street it's 50-cycle. The Isle of Capri has 42-cycle, Gibraltar, 70 and Cairo 40 or 50.

So the laboratory here, part of a company which makes automatic controls, has machines which will make electricity with any desired cycle. They use it to test control devices designed for export.

Tallest Building Is Weatherproofed

NEW YORK (AP)—The Empire State Building is being weatherproofed again. Maintenance men say rain, frost and heat crack the cement in joints of the world's tallest building as they do in most other buildings.

In the 21 years the building has stood, they have been over it three times, replacing cement and calking material where weather has damaged it. Work will be done this time from the ground to the 104th story.

Prince Valiant

Synopsis: SIGURD HOLEM HAS BROKEN THE CODE OF THULE! HE HAS MADE SLAVES OF FREE MEN! PRINCE VALIANT AND HIS FRIEND RUFUS, WITH TWENTY WARRIORS, LAY SIEGE, BUT ONLY AN ARMY COULD HOPE TO STORM THE WALLS OF SIGURD'S STRONGHOLD!

PATIENTLY VAL CIRCLES THE WALLS, SEEKING A WEAK SPOT. THE WALLS ARE HIGH, THE STREAM THAT SUPPLIES THE FORTRESS WITH WATER CANNOT BE DIVERTED, TO SCALE THE CLIFF WOULD BE SUICIDE.

IT IS WHILE SCANNING THE CLIFF OF SLIPPERY CLAY THAT GUARDS THE BACK OF THE FORTRESS THAT RUFUS, WHO HAS JUST LATELY BECOME A CHRISTIAN, QUOTES THE PARABLE ABOUT A HOUSE BUILT UPON SAND AND ANOTHER BUILT UPON A ROCK.....!

ALL DAY THEY ASSEMBLE A SHIELD OF HEAVY TIMBERS AND, AT NIGHT, QUICKLY SET IT AGAINST THE CLIFF. AT DAWN MISSILES RAIN DOWN UPON THEM AND THEY ABANDON IT IN APPARENT PANIC!

BUT NEXT NIGHT THEY RETURN AND BEGIN TO TUNNEL, THROWING THE DIRT INTO THE STREAM TO BE WASHED AWAY.

BUT, AS THE TUNNEL GOES DEEPER, VAL'S WARRIORS REBEL. MEN WHO LIVE FOR THE SHEER JOY OF BATTLE SHRINK FROM THE HORROR OF WORKING UNDERGROUND IN THE DRIPPING CLAY AND LURID TORCHLIGHT.

SO VAL ROUNDS UP THE SERFS FROM THE NEARBY COUNTRYSIDE WHO ARE WILLING TO UNDERGO ANY HARDSHIP THAT WILL FREE THEM FROM SIGURD'S TYRANNY.

NEXT WEEK - Water Power.

RUSTY RILEY by FRANK GODWIN

OH, YOU'RE THE COAST GUARD OFFICER I CALLED...GLAD YOU GOT HERE... I SUPPOSE YOU WANT CAPTAIN CRUMP, HERE, TO SIGN A REPORT ABOUT THE LOSS OF THE SHIP?

A COMPLETE LOSS... MUST BE POUNDED TO PIECES ON THE ROCKS BY NOW... CARGO OF VALUABLE HORSES LOST, BUT I THINK ALL HANDS ARE SAFE.

I ORDERED A LAUNCH AROUND TO THIS DOCK... WE'LL JUST RUN OVER TO THAT REEF... COME ON, GENTLEMEN!

LOOK HERE... IS THIS NECESSARY? I SHOULD BE ON MY WAY NORTH TO SEE MY PARTNER ABOUT THE HORSES WE LOST!

AND I SHOULD REPORT TO THE OWNER OF THAT SHIP!

SORRY, BUT I'M AFRAID IT'S QUITE NECESSARY.

GOLLY, TEX... THIS FLOOR IS GETTING MORE LEVEL... IT HARDLY SLANTS AT ALL NOW!

SURE, RUSTY... THE TIDE IS RISING... AT FLOOD TIDE THIS SHIP WILL PRACTICALLY BE FLOATING!

THERE, CAPTAIN CRUMP, IS THE SHIP YOU REPORTED AS LOST... MERELY STUCK ON A SAND BAR... I DOUBT IF SHE'S SUFFERED MORE THAN A POSSIBLY SHIFTED CARGO!

I'M AFRAID YOU'LL HAVE TO ANSWER SOME VERY PERTINENT QUESTIONS AS TO HOW YOU CAME TO ABANDON YOUR SHIP.

IT WAS CAPTAIN CRUMP'S OPINION THAT THE SHIP WAS ABOUT TO GO ON THE ROCKS! HE WANTED TO SAVE HIS CREW!

THAT'S RIGHT.

POSSIBLY, MR. KIRK, BUT WE'LL SOON HAVE THE FACTS... WE'RE GOING ABOARD!

KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON, CRUMP... THE ONLY MAN WHO COULD PIN ANYTHING ON US IS THE RADIOMAN... AND HE'S DEAD!

TEX! COME ON UP ON DECK! THERE'S A COAST GUARD OFFICER ON BOARD AND HE'S GOT THE CAPTAIN AND BLACKIE KIRK! HE SAYS TUGS ARE COMING TO PULL US OFF THE SAND BAR!

WAL, NOW, THAT'S REAL FINE!... I RECKON SPARKS MUSTA MADE THE RADIO WORK!

DONALD DUCK

OH BOY! THE PERFECT DAY FOR IT!

NOW, LET'S SEE... HAMMOCK, PILLOW, PORTABLE RADIO, SANDWICHES, LEMONADE, MAGAZINES... YEP! ALL SET!

NOW A FULL DAY OF LOAFING IN THE GREAT OUT... OH-OH!...

RAIN!

DRAT!

JUST A SHOWER!
