JEST SOME THOUGHTS—

We heard someone say this is "National Smile Week". So guess one week is as good as another for a few smiles.

We have also heard that it takes fewer facial muscles to smile than frown—hence, a smile produces less of those age-telling wrinkles.

Suppose if a person could keep their face impassive, show no emotions, they would have no wrinkles.

Have also heard that one's face shows the inner self—whether a pleasant disposition, a sour one—pleased or displeased—shocked or accepting.

After a few years of growing and maturing, lots of people learn to hide their emotions.

Those who hide their feelings of dismay and show the emotion of happiness at the right time are believed to have reached an age of maturity.

Those who let their peers know what they are thinking either by facial or vocal expression are considered to be immature.

Takes a lot of practice and growing up.

And the young man asked his sweetheart why she didn't smile at him the way she used to, and she replied, "As a mother of fact this is a new smile. I've been taking some lessons at a school of dramatic art, and I've also changed my lip make-up."

And did you know—a smile is the whisper of a laugh.

We are enjoying a visit this week from three of our favorite people, Jack, Winona and Vaughn Cavanaugh from Louisiana. This is Jack's first visit to our little city and we sure hope we get him shown all the town before they have to leave.

It's nice that Mother Nature is cooperating by furnishing such beautiful weather while they are here.

So we roll off the page for another week.

Maximum Profits From Cotton Crops

"We must get maximum profitable production from the 1971 cotton crop and concentrate on getting it harvested and ginned with an absolute minimum of waste," Dr. C. R. Sayre, president of the National Cotton Council, declared today in keynoting the second phase of the campaign for Better Cotton Yields for Profits and Markets.

The first phase was concerned with organization. Now Extension specialists, ASCS, industry leaders, and others are engaged in extending the program to every cotton farm, giving special attention to harvesting and other late season practices.

They are stressing that a better yield can bolster net income, increase the grower's payment yield under the new farm program, and build greater markets for cotton.

The industry leader reiterated the need for an adequate supply, noting that the 1970-71 season just ending is the fifth consecutive season in which the United States has consumed and exported more cotton than it has produced carryover at the end of the present marketing year is expected to be no more than 4 1/2 million bales, lowest since 1952.

Dr. Sayre praised the progress that has been made since the better yield campaign was launched at a press conference in Washington early in June. Since that time, three area planning sessions and 15 state task force organizational meetings have been held. Attendance approximated 700. An industry leader and the director of the state Agriculture Extension Service are co-chairman in each of the 14 major cotton — producing states.

In all states, better harvesting operations have been selected for special emphasis. "The importance of harvesting efficiency is pointed up by research and grower records showing that no more than 89 per cent of the crop in machine-picked areas reaches the trailer. The other 11 per cent is left in the field. Losses on many farms run from 15 to 20 per cent," Dr. Sayre explained.

"While 100 per cent efficiency can't be achieved, experts agree that the amount harvested can be increased to 94 to 96 per cent. Such an improvement would be highly significant.

"For example, the 1971 payment yield for machine-picked acres, reflecting the harvesting loss, averages 607 lbs. of lint per acre and 89 per cent of that actually grown. If 96 per cent of the cotton grown could be put in the picker basket, this would add 48 pounds to the 607-pound average, or around $12 to $15 to gross income. In addition, the 48-pound increase in 1971 would add 16 pounds (1/3 of 48 lbs.) to both the 1972 and the 1973 payment yields—or $2.40 per acre (16 times 15 cents)."

The harvesting program is being spearheaded in the states by the Extension services. They are receiving strong support from ASCS, credit agencies, cotton industry leaders, farm equipment companies, and local dealers. Emphasis is being placed on proper field and plant conditions and on repair, adjustment, and operation of machines.

About VEE Control

A six-point list of recommendations and requests was made Tuesday morning by the Speaker's Special Committee on the coordination of Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) control. Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher charged the committee last week with "taking whatever steps are necessary to work toward a solution of the problem" and with serving as a contact point for farmers, ranchers and horsemen, and agencies of government.

Committee recommendations include: (1) that United States Department of Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin remove the "experimental status" restrictions on the available vaccine; (2) the U. S. D. A. immediately obtain commercial sources for the VEE vaccine; and (3) the U. S. D. A. authorize vaccination to be administered by para-veterinary personnel under the direction of a licensed veterinarian.

In addition, the committee also requested state-wide mosquito control, particularly in urban areas, to prevent a VEE epidemic in humans, and requested a quarantine "on the premises" for any unvaccinated horse as soon as the vaccine becomes readily available. The committee commended the U. S. Army for this epidemic by having an apparent supply of vaccine on hand.

Attending the meeting were State Representatives Charles Jungmichel of La Grange, chairman; and committee members J. A. Garcia of Raymond, R. B. McAlister of Lubbock, Paul Silber of San Antonio; Bill Presnal of Bryan; and E. L. Short of Tahoka. State Representative John Poerner is also a member of that committee.

Statement By Gus F. Mutscher
In the past 48 hours the Office has been in contact with numerous ranchers, horsemen and members of state agencies concerned with the present epidemic of VEE (Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis). Due to the seriousness of the matter, as indicated by these individuals, I have written to all members of the Texas delegation to Congress expressing our concern.

It is my sincere hope that a concerted Federal-State effort will help eliminate this epidemic which not only threatens valuable animal life, but also human health.

In order to better coordinate efforts on the state level, I am appointing a committee of five members of the Texas House of Representatives to take whatever steps are necessary to work toward a solution of the problem.

This committee will be chaired by Representative Charles Jungmichel of La Grange. Other members are Representatives J. A. Garcia of Raymond, R. B. McAlister of Lubbock, John Poerner of Hondo, Paul Silber of San Antonio and Bill Presnal of Bryan.

I will ask this committee to work with the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas Department of Health and any necessary Federal agencies in providing adequate serum to inoculate horses and in coordinating mosquito elimination programs. In addition I will ask the committee to act as a contact point for farmers, ranchers and horsemen and agencies of government so we might be able to keep an accurate account of the disease.

GREEN THUMB PROGRAM IN PROGRESS FOR HC

There has been some question as to why Hockley County is not participating in the Green Thumb Program, when the counties surrounding us are.

So Wednesday, the commissioner of our precinct, Emmett Schoenrock, was over, and we inquired.

Emmett said that the Commissioner's Court has signed all the necessary papers and sent them off, and waiting now for the go-ahead.

The Green Thumb Program, a federally-administrated project designed to provide jobs for elderly men, is giving men in seven area counties an opportunity to earn money, stay busy and help beautify their communities.

To participate in Green Thumb, a man must be at least 55 years old. He works only on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, putting in eight-hour shifts. He must take a ten-minute break every hour.

This will be a very good program for our county and we are anxious to see it put into effect. We read recently of an 81 year-old man who is involved, and is very pleased.

It is our understanding they draw $1.60 per hour.

3-CAR PILE UP

Three cars were involved in an accident shortly before noon Wednesday in front of the blacksmith shop on the Lubbock Highway.

According to Marshal Fox, a car with Oklahoma tags was attempting to make a left-hand turn into Mansfield's from the right-hand lane and was struck by a car with a Texas license. The Texas car was then hit by a car from New Mexico. No injuries were reported.

That's the way it goes—Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Prepare Now For Tech Drug Seminar

Most Texas citizens wonder what can be done to tackle their community's growing drug problems. South Plains communities who are concerned about the drug abuse problems in their area and are willing to do something about those problems will soon have the help of the Texas State Department of Health and other state and local agencies. Dr. James E. Peavy, State Health Commissioner, has announced that a drug abuse training seminar for health professionals and community leaders will be conducted August 24-25, 1971, at the Biology Auditorium on the campus of Texas Tech University in Lubbock. The seminar is part of the present state efforts to mobilize community resources to tackle local drug-related problems.

The day and a half training seminar will emphasize current drug research, the individual and community health implications of drugs of abuse, and the ways to mobilize a community's resources for action at the local level against the various problems drug abuse presents.

The registration deadline for the training seminar will be August 13. Registrants will be accepted on a firstcome, first served basis. Application can be made to the Texas State Department of Health, Public Health Education Division, 1100 West 49th, Austin, Texas 78756. There is no attendance fee.

Most indications are that nearly every community on the South Plains is confronted with the problems of drug abuse either directly or indirectly. Residents of those communities who are interested in fighting back should take notice of this training seminar as one means of developing effective local control efforts.

Dr. Joseph C. Schooler, a nationally known drug abuse authority and chief of the Drug Abuse Research Section of the Texas Research Institute of Mental Science in Houston, will lead a faculty of 24 drug authorities.

District Attorney Blair Cherry, State Senator H. J. "Doc" Blanchard, Dr. C. Basil Moss, Captain Bill Cox of the Lubbock Police Department Juvenile Division, and Mrs. Inez Moore of the Education Service Center, all of Lubbock, will deliver papers or lead small group discussions.

Health professionals and community leaders in the 15 counties of the South Plains are urged to attend. Registration should be made early.

Grant Is Approved

Governor Preston Smith today announced his approval during the past week of a community action grant of $50,000 in new federal funds to South Plains Community Action Association, Inc. in Levelland for CAA administration.

The grant is funded under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act, and is effective July 1, 1971, through Feb. 29, 1972.

This program will focus on the development of manpower programs for rural areas in West Texas, including five state planning regions—Pant-handle, South Plains, North Texas, Permian Basin and Upper Rio Grande. The agency will work with local governments and resources, state government and agencies and federal agencies to improve coordination of manpower planning.

The immediate activities to be handled under this program are dealing objectively with those unable to accommodate to manpower training because of low or no formal educational achievement, especially in the matter of literacy, and working toward resolving the problem of geographic dispersion of those needing manpower training. Also, introducing nonacademically oriented vocational training into the rural areas whereby the unemployed labor force being created by agriculture technology can be trained to become productive members of the newly mechanized rural community, as well as working toward providing manpower components which will provide intensified counselling, job orientation, assessment, placement and other supportive services to the hard-core unemployed.

The Technical-Vocational-Occupational Division of South Plains is proud to announce the addition of a two-year Associate Degree Program in Law Enforcement. The program evaluation committee of the Texas Education Agency has recently released approval of this new program. Its curricula represents all modern concepts of law enforcement now recommended by the Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education.

The program is designed to develop and direct the student to achieve a level of proficiency in law enforcement and general background knowledge so that he may be a valuable addition to any of the law enforcement agencies operating on the local, state or federal level in our service area. Specially the program is designed to produce a well-rounded individual capable of adapting to the objectives and methods of the employing agency and one who will be able to specialize to meet the needs of the organization.

The curriculum will cover the theory and practice of police administration and problems general to law enforcement.

It will include speciality courses in criminal investigation, traffic prevention and patrol activities. Students completing this two-year program will receive an Associate in Applied Science Degree in Law Enforcement.

Career opportunities available to graduates include patrolman, deputy sheriff, policeman, border patrolman, plainclothesman, armed guard, correction officer, state highway patrolman, private investigator and bodyguard. Students may enroll now during pre-registration or during formal registration gates of August 23-27, 1971. All major courses in Law Enforcement will be taught in the Evening College during the first year of operation. Other courses required in the program may be taken in either the Evening College or Day College. All courses will be available in Day or Evening College beginning with the fall semester, 1972.

Evening College registration will be held Thursday, August 26, at 7:30 p.m. All interested persons may contact Don Frank Hunt, at the college, for additional information.

READY FOR SCHOOL?

The beginning of school is just around the corner. When the month of August rolls around, thousands of Texas mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school begins.

Nowadays going back to school is a major enterprise for those families with school age children. It usually means new shoes and school clothes, the acquisition of pencils and notebooks, or simply getting back into the old routine and habits.

There are certain other requirements that parents need to think about, and they need to think about them early enough to avoid the delays of last-minute requests. Children entering the first grade must be able to show proof of age. That usually means a certified copy of the child's birth certificate must be obtained from the city registrar, county clerk or the Texas Health Department in Austin.

As usual, many Texan families will wait until the last moment to think about securing a certified copy of their first-grader's birth certificate. That means a heavy last-minute demand on officials who keep those records, and a probable delay in receiving the document from registration officials.

Across the state of Texas some two and a half million children will be heading to the public schools this fall. Nearly a quarter million will be first graders, and their birth certificates will have to be searched out of the files of the Texas Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics or other agencies at the city or county level which may have copies on hand.

Parents are urged by state officials to take time now and write for a certified copy of the child's birth certificate, or contact either the city registrar where the child was born, or the county clerk in the county of birth.

If you prefer to write to health officials in Austin, address the request to the Texas State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, 410 East Fifth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. The fee is $1.50.

And don't forget; when you're thinking about getting your child ready for the beginning of school, a new state law now requires compulsory immunization for school children. The immunization program must be begun before the end of this year, so it's a good idea to see your physician, or public health clinic early to begin your child's immunization program.

If you can't get what you want in one store, you will go across the street to another store and ask for it. This is the way of life in the marketplace. It applies to textiles just as to any other product.

Mills have a choice of raw materials to process. For some time, they have been turning to synthetics. This has cut into cotton's share of the market.

Now, the consumption decline has been checked. Youth is demanding color and comfort in apparel and cotton is the ideal answer. Sales of prints, knits, corduroys denims and other cottons are holding up well and this is reflected in a stronger demand for cotton. This turnaround is encouraging to cotton farmers who have been putting up a battle for research and promotion to strengthen their markets.

Failure to capitalize on the demand for cotton by not providing an adequate supply, however, could jeopardize markets and the grower's investment in land, equipment, and other cotton production resources. This has prompted the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the ASCS- and state agriculture extension services to join with the National Cotton Council in a campaign for "Better Cotton Yields for Profits and Markets" in 1971.

They point out that a better yield can bolster the grower's net income, increase his payment base under the government farm program, and build greater markets for cotton.

Cotton is an essential commodity. It is highly important not only to the economy of Hockley County, but to the country as a whole. The effort to increase cotton yields and strengthen markets deserves support.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whitlock have just returned from a vacation trip to Colorado. They were in Betty Jane's car, and happened to the misfortune of having a wreck. Everyone is reported to be fine except Betty Jane, who suffered a whiplash.

Negotiations between General Telephone Company of the Southwest and the Communications Workers of America were continuing at the end of the eighth week of negotiations here.

The contract which expired June 27 has remained in effect under an "evergreen" clause while the company and union seek to reach accord on a new contract.

The company has indicated it is willing to modify its proposal in both wages and benefits. The company offered a proposal July 13 but the union rejected the offer the following day. The company said the modifications of the proposal would include additional wages additional benefit improvements and upgrading several towns where living expenses have risen above normal inflationary figures.

The union has refused to change its demands and has stated it must have vacation improvement above the offer of three weeks after eight year service, another holiday proposed by the company, double time after 49 hours, time and a half on a holiday, improvements in sick benefits and 10 per cent night differential.

Another union demand is for an agency shop where all employees except management level employees have to pay dues to the union. The demand would only be effective in Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico as right-to-work laws in Texas and Arkansas prohibit required membership in unions.

The negotiations were recessed until Tuesday while OWA representative T.O. Moses attends a meeting in Washington D.C. along with representatives from California and Ohio.

VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby John Whitlock and family are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whitlock. They are en route to Lincoln, Nebraska to visit her mother, Bobby John will then depart for a tour of duty in Vietnam.

The period September 1925 has been proclaimed as "Highway Week in Texas" by Governor Preston Smith.

By official memorandum Governor Smith pointed out that the Texas highway system encompasses some 70 thousand miles of the nation's finest roads and highways.

"These vital travelways are essential to the continued growth of the Texas economy and form the 'Backbone of Total Transportation' in the Lone Star State," the memorandum said, setting the theme for the annual observance.

Governor Smith cited the Texas Highway Department for more than 40 years of leadership in highway beautification and safety, service and efficiency of the highway system.

He described the Highway Department as "The State's Largest Gardener" which plant more trees, wildflowers and ornamental shrubs than any other organization in the state.

Governor Smith urged "all citizens to lend their total support to the highway program and the Texas Highway Department."

Highway Department installations across the State will stage special ceremonies to mark the observance.

Highway Week in Texas has been under sponsorship of the Texas Good Roads Association since the first such observance a decade ago.
