Cotton Harvest passes one million bale mark

The South Plains cotton harvest passed the one million bale mark this week, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the U.S.D.A.

Samples from 1,012,000 bales of cotton had been received by the Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa and Levelland offices through Friday, January 21st.

Sample receipts began a gradual decline as the harvest neared completion. Because of this decline in sample receipts the seasonal office at Levelland closed on Friday, January 21st. The remaining cotton from the Levelland area will be classed in Lubbock.

Estimates indicate that 90 to 95 per cent of the South Plains crop is now out of the fields.

Samples from 118,000 bales were classed at the four area U.S.D.A. classing offices during the week ending Friday, January 21st. This brought the total classed this season to 987,000, compared to 1,620,000 at this time last year.

Low Middling Light Spotted was the predominant grade at Lubbock last week with 41 per cent of all cotton classed. Strict Low Middling Light Spotted made up 13 per cent, Strict Low Middling Spotted 6 per cent and Low Middling Spotted 20 per cent.

Would you like to host a Lion Cub?

Not exactly, but would your family like to be one of the families to host an exchange student from another country for two weeks this summer?

The Lions' Club of Ropesville has the opportunity of bringing an outstanding youth from one of the overseas countries that participates in the Lions International Youth Exchange Program. Your family could very possibly be one of the fortunate host families. You will find this experience to be one of the most rewarding and exciting your family ever has engaged in.

Applications are now being accepted for host families in the summer exchange program. Participating host families will in the near future begin communicating with the visiting youth in a get-acquainted exchange of letters to open the doors and warm hearts for this thrilling experience. The visiting youth will be in the age range of 16 to 21, will speak English, will be most adaptable, an excellent representative of his country, sponsored and will be screened by the Lions of his community. He will be in our community six weeks, Stapes were predominantly 29 to 31. Twenty-seven per cent had a staple length of 29, 55 per cent stapled 30 and 11 per cent was 31.

Only two per cent of the cotton "milked" in the Lubbock office was in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9, 5 per cent "miked" 3.3 and 3.4, 26 per cent 3.0 through 3.2, 42 per cent was 2.7 through 2.9 and 25 per cent was 2.6 and below.

The Consumer and Marketing Service of the U.S.D.A. reported a decline in trading on the Lubbock market as the harvest neared completion. Cotton prices were steady. Prices ranged from 28 to 32 cents with most cotton selling between 29 and 31 cents.

Average prices for the most predominant qualities in the 3.0 to 3.2 micronaire range were: Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, Staple 29-30.15, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, Staple 30 - 30.45, Low Middling Light Spotted, Staple 29 - 29.70, Low Middling Light Spotted, Staple 30 - 30.05, Low Middling Spotted, Staple 29 - 29.40 and Low Middling Spotted, Staple 30 - 29.75.

Prices paid farmers for cottonseed ranged from $40 to $70 per ton with most prices in the $48 to $54 range.

CREATING ILLUSION OF SPACE

"Creating space can provide very real problems in today's living."

"Living space has become one of our most expensive commodities." "That's one reason why many young married couples decide on apartment living. And in an apartment, space becomes a major factor. To see how to make it work for you, let's take a look at these guidelines:"

1. Use low, contemporary furniture with legs.

2. Divide your space with furnishings that don't take much room — for example, plants, mobiles or bookcases.

3. Use some "fool-the-eye" techniques such as mirrors or painting one wall a different color. A black wall seems to disappear and therefore opens up a room.

4. Keep your color scheme simple. Too many colors can make a small room appear cluttered.

5. Save your favorite art objects and books for shelves where they'll look more attractive and help divert the eye from the size of a room.

6. Let your furnishings serve more than one purpose.

"One secret of making a small space work for you is to think through and decide exactly what your needs are." "Maybe your husband is a student and needs a private place to study. If so, you can 'build' a room by setting up a divider such as a bookcase that extends to the ceiling.

"In a kitchen-dining and living room combination, area rugs and plants or furniture may be used as dividers to separate different activities."

"These create mental walls as well as help organize space."

Miss Gladys Smith of Grand Prairie visited last week with Mrs. Sid Price.

Dub Snodgrass to Preach Sunday —
The preacher for Sunday morning January 30 is Dub Snodgrass, prominent lay speaker from St. Matthew United Methodist Church of Lubbock. He will fill the pulpit in the absence of Reverend Carrol Jones who will be in the Stewardship Seminar at Ceta Canyon Sunday morning. However, Reverend Jones plans to be back for evening worship. Stewardship is the major emphasis throughout 1972 in the churches of the Northwest Texas Annual Conference.

Fellowship Night at the Church —
Plan now to come to the newly instituted Fellowship Night at the Church. This activity replaces the Fellowship Discussion Groups since the Administrative Board felt that the whole church needed to be drawn closer together in a free structured setting for the joy of being together. Joyce Shannon, Family Life Coordinator, is in charge of this activity and has appointed Nina Brown and Jewel Shannon to plan a chili-bean supper for the occasion. The supper will be followed by games and fellowship for everyone. More details will follow.

More land irrigated, wells produce less water on SP annually

The year of 1971 saw a further increase in the amount of irrigated land and the number of irrigation wells in the Panhandle and South Plains, but the wells continue to deliver less water each year.

This and other information is contained in the 1971 edition of the High Plains Irrigation Survey prepared by Leon New, area irrigation specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, from information provided by county agricultural agents in the 42-county survey area. Copies are available to the general public through county Extension offices.

The total crop acreage in the 42-county area was about 9.6 million acres in 1971, which was 24,000 less than the year before. Some dryland crops were not planted due to dry weather. Some crops were stressed for moisture during the extremely dry conditions early in the season due to inadequate soil moisture. But more of the total acreage is irrigated than in past years.

High Plains farmers irrigated almost 5.8 million acres last year, for an increase of 276,000 acres over 1970. An additional half million acres are subject to irrigation, to push the total potential acreage to almost 6.3 million.

Irrigation well statistics show what is happening to the High Plains water supply. Some 1,200 were drilled last year to raise the total to more than 66,000. But in 1971, each well irrigated only 87 acres, as compared to 103 acres ten years ago. Available water was spread over slightly more acres this year in an effort to water thirsty crops and offset the effects of the drought. Almost 90 per cent of the wells now must lift water more than 125 feet, and almost 75 per cent average less than 700 gallons output per minute. As in the past, most wells are powered by natural gas.

A happy note is that using water from plays lakes and other recirculating systems is becoming more common. About 2,500 lakes and 2,200 recirculating systems were used in 1971 to supplement wells. In contrast to irrigation wells, most of these pumping installations were powered by LP gas or electricity.

As in the past, surface irrigation is the most popular method and accounts for 79 per cent of the total. But sprinkler systems are gaining in popularity. They accounted for 21 per cent of the total irrigated land in 1971, and enjoyed an eight per cent increase over sprinkler-irrigated land in 1970. There are almost 9,000 sprinkler systems currently irrigating an average of 146 acres each. About 150 new systems were added last year.

The survey reports that about 925 additional miles of underground pipe were installed in 1971, and now furnish water to 54 per cent of the total irrigated acreage. Underground pipe is found on more than 75 per cent of all irrigated farms.

Of the 9.6 million total crop acreage, 38 per cent was planted to grain sorghum, 25 per cent to cotton and 22 per cent to allotted wheat. Alfalfa, castors and ensilage, along with forage and pasture, accounted for most of the rest of the acreage.

Grain sorghum again led other crops in percentage of irrigated land. The 39 per cent total was tops over cotton with 27 per cent and wheat with 17 per cent.

Corn was the commodity with the largest increase last year, with a 34 per cent jump over 1970. All 344,000 acres of corn were irrigated.

Cotton enjoyed an increase of 11 per cent in total acreage over the preceding year. Sixty-four per cent was irrigated. Grain sorghum had a jump of seven per cent on irrigated acreage, but dropped 14 per cent on dryland. This was blamed on the drought conditions during most of the year. Sixty-one per cent was irrigated.

Wheat lost seven percent in 1971. Almost a third of the crop was grazed out and an additional quarter million acres were grazed on set-aside acreage.

The survey gives county-by-county statistics on the number of irrigated farms, acres under cultivation and irrigation, and totals on almost every crop grown in the High Plains. In addition to information concerning irrigation wells, the report also indicates trends in irrigation activities of the 42-county area.

"This survey can be invaluable to producers, suppliers, financiers and other agri-businessmen of the High Plains in making management and planning decisions for 1972," New concludes. "It can serve as a valuable reference on irrigation, regardless of the type of farming operation."

Make the most of food dollars

Make the most of your food dollar this week and follow these marketing tips, suggests Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Look for beef bargains on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, ground beef and beef liver. Poultry sections are featuring fryer chickens, with good buys on both whole and cut-up fryers and fryer parts.

Economical protein choices this week can also be found on eggs, cheese, split peas and dried beans. Eggs have been selling at bargain prices for many months and should continue at reasonable prices.

Vegetable choices designed to give the budget a break are hard shell squash, cabbage, turnips, dry onions, rutabagas and potatoes. Cauliflower, eggplant and broccoli are priced somewhat higher but offer variety. Sweet potatoes, now kiln-dried to increase shelf life, are tagged with higher prices than earlier in the season. Head lettuce prices are climbing and quality is down.

Fresh fruit markets are stocked with Texas grapefruit and oranges, apples, bananas, tangerines.

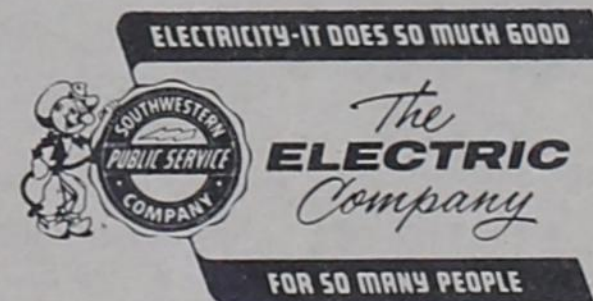

"All tied up" usually suggests that one's movements are restricted.

But to us, "all tied up" means good things. For example, this year we'll complete building a transmission line that will enable us to move electric power to the Public Service Company of Oklahoma... maybe even as far away as the East Coast. Or, to bring electric power into our system from far-away places.

Either way, it's a good deal for you — our customer. It means efficiency in the distribution of electric power and it means firming up dependability.

Yes, "all tied up" means we'll be — so you won't be!
