MOSCOW, Oct. 6. (AP)—The Central Communist Party of the Soviet Union and its counterparts in eight other European nations served notice today that they do not intend to give an inch in dealing with the United States.

Communists' intention to wreck, if possible, the Marshall Plan for European aid and the Truman Doctrine to combat totalitarianism. It proclaimed that the world had been divided into two camps—led by the Soviet Union and the United States—and called upon European Communists to defend the "national sovereignty of their peoples against U. S. aggression."

Time Ripe For Laying In Gas For The Winter

Time is growing short for domestic users of Butane gas to check the capacity of their respective storage tanks and prepare for laying in a winter supply of fuel. S. M. Smith, owner of the S. M. Smith Butane Co., deminded today.

For several months now the Texas Butane Dealers' Association has urged butane and propane users to make plans for storing a four-month supply of fuel in advance of winter's low temperatures. Only by following this plan, the association points out, can users be sure that they will have adequate supplies at their fingertips in cases of emergency. Supplies of butane are considered adequate for the season, but heavy drains by domestic users during short periods of extremely unfavorable weather could cause handicaps, since many industrial concerns are using butane and their needs must be filled both winter and summer.

The S. M. Smith Butane Co. has a complete line of tanks and fittings at its headquarters on the Lamesa Highway for those who wish to install new systems or enlarge present facilities.

The firm also has on hand some of the better quality ranges and heaters for butane gas. Arrangements for heaters also should be made in advance of winter, however, since the better quality units still are not reaching the retail market in desired quantity.

Hester's To Help Philco Celebrate 20 Million Radios

Twenty million ought to be proof of the pudding.

Philco believes that it is, and thus is stressing the production this month from Oct. 21-27 of the 20 millionth Philco radio—far outstripping any other make.

Hester's, local Philco dealer, is joining in the occasion. On hand to demonstrate to the public what national and local advertisements will be telling about is a fine stock of the various famous Philco models.

Always a leader in the radio field, Philco is in the vanguard again with a FM (frequency modulation) built into regular sets. When this high fidelity service comes to Big Spring and area, those with new Philco sets will be able to enjoy the acme of reception.

Where conventional or standard radio functions in kilocycles (a fluctuation of 1,000 times per second), FM deals in megacycles or million cycles in the higher bands. The Philco sets carry from 88 to 108 megacycle bands, thus picking up waves which alternate up to 108 million times per second. The result is a signal free from atmospheric interference and from the annoying mechanical interferences produced by motors, electric welding, etc. in the vicinity.

Boosting Philco products, Hester's invites the public to listen in on the Bing Crosby show each Wednesday from 9 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Many Philco models carry record attachments which will play 12 ten-inch records automatically.

All the popular makes of auto supplies are handled by the Motor Inn Auto Supply at 404 Johnson street, a wholesale concern that maintains stores both here and in Pampa.

Among the items hard to get during the national emergency which have reappeared on the establishment's shelves include Ever-Ready Prestone, AC spark-plugs, DuPont auto paint, Packard cables, Walker mufflers and jacks and Delco batteries.

The latter commodity began to reach the market in quantity again only during the past few weeks.

All types of air compressors, the portable makes as well as those manufactured for use in service stations, can also be purchased at Motor Inn Auto Supply, as can the latest thing in wheel balances, a dynamic and static type of instrument made exclusively by the John Bean Manufacturing company.

High pressure car washers, popular in the service stations where speed is the essence, are another specialty of the concern.

Motor Inn maintains a complete automotive machine shop where re-boring and clutch rebuilding is accomplished quickly and satisfactorily.

Three salesmen working out of the local office maintain Motor Inn Auto Supply's contacts in the surrounding territory.

More Women Will Enter Business, Professions

"I suppose that more women will come to business and professions than ever before," said Mrs. Perry. "The number of women in business and professions is increasing rapidly. In 1922, there were only 1,000,000 women in business and professions. Today there are 10,000,000. In 1922, there were only 1,000,000 women in business and professions. Today there are 10,000,000. In 1922, there were only 1,000,000 women in business and professions. Today there are 10,000,000."

plished in that way, in less time and with greater efficiency. Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Perry are sisters and have been running the Bradshaw Studio since Sept. 1, 1922. Mrs. Perry has been a member of the Business and Professional Women's club for three years and Mrs. Sullivan for two years. They began the studio when women photographers were considered an oddity, but have proved that women can be a success in business. Mrs. Sullivan served her apprenticeship in a studio here and Mrs. Perry worked in Midland, Stephenville, Vernon and Graham before coming to Big Spring to buy the studio with her sister.

Women Celebrate Years Of Progress

American women, celebrating the twentieth anniversary of National Business Women's Week, Oct. 5 to 11, can look back on a period which contained their greatest business, professional and political advance. It also contained the hottest and most varied criticism—especially of "Mom"—that the women of this country ever received.

National Business Women's Week is sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, most of whose 119,091 members have built their careers in the period since World War I. In that period the United States women's labor force virtually doubled. Today women constitute almost 29 per cent of those at work in the United States and are the great majority of workers in a number of occupations. They form 93 per cent of the secretaries and typists, 90 per cent of the medical laboratory technicians, 98 per cent of the professional nurses, 52 per cent of the bookkeepers, accountants and cashiers, 42 per cent of the store clerks, 94 per cent of the telephone operators, 77 per cent of the laundry operatives, 47 per cent of the operatives in cotton manufacture, 88 per cent of the dressmakers and seamstresses outside factories, 68 per cent of the operatives in knit goods and 90 per cent of the boarding house keepers.

Computations on the numbers of women in the teaching ranks vary from 75 to 85 per cent, but they are unquestionably in a big majority. Some standouts climbed to stellar positions as the heads of corporations, department stores and other fields of commerce, while thousands more served as their able department heads and aids. Other thousands did outstanding and valuable work in the fields of social welfare, home economics, nutrition, libraries and in such medical occupations as that of occupational therapists and x-ray technicians. In journalism, art and music women also made their mark.

In the field of politics and government, which women entered after World War I, they were extensively criticized for not having accomplished more in their first 27 years of franchise rights. Today there are only seven women in the House of Representatives and none in the Senate—a much smaller percentage than that in the British and French parliaments. Nevertheless women have been increasingly active in the lower and intermediate rungs of the political party ladder. In the fall of 1947 there are 234 women in state legislatures and several have served in the revision of state constitutions.

They are represented in almost every branch of the judiciary, serving as judges in the U. S. Tax Court, U. S. Customs Court, U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and as municipal judges, probate judges, domestic relations and juvenile court judges. Many have served long terms. In many professions, however, the ranks of women still are very small, though they have made a creditable beginning.

In many professions, however, the ranks of women still are very small, though they have made a creditable beginning. Many factors contributed to American women's working advance in the past three decades, but one of the most outstanding was an increasing necessity for women to earn their own living due to a combination of social and economic factors. The Women's Bureau of the U. S. Dept. of Labor, after interviewing more than 13,000 women employed in 1944-45 in ten war congested areas located throughout the country, found that 84 per cent of those who wanted to work after the war had to support themselves and sometimes others. In 1940, married women constituted more than 33 per cent of the female labor force and women were the heads of 15 per cent of the country's families. Many experts expect the 1950 census to reveal a marked increase in these figures.

Sure We Save USED FAT on the 20th Century!

Even in the limited space of a train galley, it's a New York Central rule that used fats be saved. Why? Because, folks, our government says every pound of used fats should be saved to help relieve a world shortage that is still critical. Last July, for example, our dining-cars and commissaries turned in almost five thousand pounds. And we're keeping at it. So if you're not saving fats as regularly as you used to, won't you get back in the habit? Every drop is still needed!

ODD (ISN'T IT?) BUT THIS IS HOW WE SEE OURSELVES!

You may be astonished to hear it, but there are more than 34,000 different oil companies in the USA in addition to about 225,000 service stations.

This means naturally, that the business is intensely competitive. In fact, we ourselves see the oil business as a never-ending race between companies—to bring you newer products, finer service.

How well have we succeeded?

The gasolines you buy today are the world's finest. Yet regular gasoline costs here only about 16 1/2¢ a gallon. (You pay 22¢, but 5 1/2¢ is for taxes). That's over one-third less than gasoline cost in 1920. But other prices, as you well know, have gone up.

And gasoline is only part of the story. The petroleum industry has developed approximately 5,400 different products from crude oil—materials for things like synthetic rubber, plastics, medicines, and insecticides—to help give America the world's highest standard of living.

We're proud to be one of America's oil companies—proud to be able to bring you such great petroleum products at such reasonable prices.

Muddling At A Critical Moment

What steps, if any, toward mitigating the crisis in Europe seems to be up in the air in this country. The big question seems to be whether to call a special session of Congress to deal with the problem.

President Truman appears to be in the role of wanting to call such a session but unwilling to do so without assurance from key congressional figures that the problem will be tackled forthrightly and without diversions. Within his own party, however, he has some reluctant leaders; and on the other side of the fence, there are too many who would like to regard the matter as an administration crisis.

Reports indicate that the President has fallen short in keeping Republican leadership advised closely about the progressive worsening of the situation as winter approaches.

As a practical man who is up from the ranks as a senator, he has proper regard for congressional procedure in realizing that nothing could be accomplished without the willingness of Congress. His reluctance to act in the face of this is understandable.

However, he could furnish stronger leadership by assuming a more positive attitude in keeping the public informed. If he does that, he might find that his problem in dealing with representatives of the people will be clarified. Meanwhile, we are following a policy of muddling with very little on which to muddle.

We've Nothing To Hide From Them

The justice department has under consideration a plan which would restrict greatly the movements of foreign correspondents in this country as representatives of their private and national press.

Boiled down to its essentials, the restrictions would amount to about the same imposed on American correspondents in Russia with the possible exception that actual censorship would not be practiced. One part of the proposal is to require foreign correspondents to remain in New York while covering the United Nations assembly and to depart when sessions are concluded.

Doubtless, there may seem to be good reasons for clamping down the lid, but it sounds like retaliation. There may be some who would abuse their privileges as visiting correspondents, but in the main what might be accomplished by rigid control would be offset by hurting the cause of a free international press.

Moreover, why confine the correspondents to New York? We have an idea that it would do them good—even Russian reporters—to get away from Gotham and see for themselves what really make America tick, to see democracy in action at the crossroads. Our system is not a perfect one by any means, but it is nothing of which to be ashamed. So why act as if we had something happening which we are afraid to let outsiders see? As in the case of our Russian brethren, they are not apt to be convinced against their will, but they can scarcely escape some private reelection. It might do them good.

Today and Tomorrow—Walter Lippmann

Europe Should Get Independence

I am contending that the American diplomatic effort should be concentrated on the problem created by the armistice—which is on how the continent of Europe can be evacuated by the three non-European armies which are now inside Europe. This is the problem which will have to be solved if the independence of the European nations is to be restored.

Without that there is no possibility of a tolerable peace. But if these armies withdraw, there will be a very different balance of power in the world than there is today, and one which cannot easily be upset. For the nations of Europe, separately and in groups, perhaps even in unity will then, and then only, cease to be the stakes and the pawns of the Russian-American conflict.

The material cause and reason of the conflict will have been dealt with.

The terms of the problem were defined at Yalta in the winter of 1945. There, with a victory over Germany in sight, Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin made a military settlement which fixed the boundaries where the converging armies were to meet, and were to wait while the governments negotiated the terms of peace.

Now it is true, that Roosevelt and the American military command overestimated the strength of Japan, and that in agreeing to the Soviet claims they thought they were paying a price that had to be paid if the Japanese war was to be won completely and fairly soon. But in fact, the Russians were in a position to occupy the territory they asked for and more besides, whether or not they entered the war. Their armies were on the borders of Manchuria and northern China, and ours were not.

The concessions which Roosevelt and Churchill made to Stalin in the Far East were less than the Soviet Union had the power to take by its own force. Nothing was in fact conceded to Stalin that Roosevelt and Churchill could, if they had been put to the test, have been able to withhold.

The Yalta military boundary was the datum line from which the diplomatic settlement of the war had necessarily to begin. It was, I believe, at this juncture that American diplomacy became confused, lost sight of the primary and essential objective, and became entangled in all Western armies would meet in Germany and Austria. The Yalta line was, therefore, the result of a combined military estimate of where they would probably find themselves when the German resistance had finally been crushed. Actually the Americans advanced beyond that line. But at Yalta it was by no means certain that they would reach that line, and there is excellent authority for saying that Mr. Churchill felt he had made as good a bargain as British-American military prospects warranted.

The Yalta line in the Far East was settled on the same basis—that is to say, on an agreed estimate of the balance of power at the close of hostilities. There has been, I believe, a misunderstanding about this in the United States. The concessions made to Stalin by Roosevelt and Churchill have been represented as being the price they paid for Soviet intervention in the Japanese war.

The concessions, it is then said, were unnecessary. For Japan was already defeated or would soon have been, with the blockade, the air raids and the atomic bomb, and therefore no price need have been paid for Soviet participation.

Now it may be true, probably it is true, that Roosevelt and the American military command overestimated the strength of Japan, and that in agreeing to the Soviet claims they thought they were paying a price that had to be paid if the Japanese war was to be won completely and fairly soon. But in fact, the Russians were in a position to occupy the territory they asked for and more besides, whether or not they entered the war. Their armies were on the borders of Manchuria and northern China, and ours were not.

The concessions which Roosevelt and Churchill made to Stalin in the Far East were less than the Soviet Union had the power to take by its own force. Nothing was in fact conceded to Stalin that Roosevelt and Churchill could, if they had been put to the test, have been able to withhold.

What It Means — Robert Geiger —

European-American Differences.

Basic European-American differences are causing trouble as the great American debate over aid to Europe gets under way.

These are historic differences in the habits of Europeans and Americans. They are reflected in the widespread American doubt about the willingness of Europeans to help themselves, and in the European suspicion that A) nothing can really be decided until the 1948 U. S. election, and B) Americans want to make Europe over in the image of free American economic enterprise.

You have to grant the known effects on human beings of years of malnutrition and economic frustration during the war and the postwar stalemate. Malnutrition cuts down working ability and increases touchiness.

The natural conclusion is that any European with any sense would want to help himself all he could—if he could see his way clear.

One reason he may not is that the Americans who propose to help him speak a somewhat different political and economic language. For one thing, Americans are not used to thinking about real or potential enemies just across the border. For another, the European is headed along somewhat different political-economic paths, due to such things as population density, limited resources and experience.

That is, the European mixes a lot more socialism into his democracy than the American does.

That is why men like Thomas Mann return from Europe and warn Americans that Europeans never will reverse their general trend toward socializing their lives to vary extents.

Americans often confuse this trend with communism. Actually, totalitarian communism dislikes socialism quite as much as it does capitalism.

These socialistic experiments do limit personal liberty, but not necessarily for totalitarian reason.

For instance, look at the personal liberty in the Scandinavian countries which are well into socialization programs. Meanwhile, the American emphasis on free economic enterprise re-inforces the European suspicion that America wants to impose an American pattern on Europe.

For the European, that pattern went out the window years ago.

Hiring Hall Role

WASHINGTON, (U.P.)— Maritime "hiring halls" are back in newspaper headlines.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said at Santa Cruz, Calif., he "might consider" revising the Taft-Hartley labor law to permit continuation of the halls.

He made this statement to newspapermen after a conference with Harry Lundeberg, secretary and operating head of the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific.

What is a hiring hall? The record of the hearings on the Taft-Hartley law are filled with pages of discussion about them.

During these hearings last February Taft said: "One thing that concerns me about the closed shop is this hiring hall, particularly in the maritime industry."

"There, apparently, the effect of the closed shop is the arbitrary ability of unions to limit the people that may be employed. Apparently the effect of that, more or less, is to destroy discipline and everything else on the ship."

"I mean these hiring hall businesses are so extreme a form of the closed shop. . . ."

The closed shop, in which only union members may be employed, is outlawed by the Taft-Hartley law and was a keynote of discussions.

But Hoyt S. Haddock, executive secretary of the CIO Maritime Committee, and Joseph Curran, committee chairman, with other labor leaders, contended the hiring hall is not a closed shop but is "preferential hiring."

And it may be on that basis that a way can be found to exempt them from the Taft-Hartley law. One Labor Department official, who did not want to be quoted by name, said "there is serious doubt whether the hiring halls are outlawed by the act."

Haddock explains the hiring hall this way: Under preferential hiring, priority of employment is given to union members. But where the union is unable to supply men the employer is free to hire elsewhere. And the union cannot compel non-union employees, secured by the employer from other sources, to join the union.

Haddock says it is only in rare cases, however, that the union cannot supply men.

The record of the hearings back to 19th century days and method of getting crews for ships. The "hiring halls" then were under private ownership.

"The seaman had to patronize such waterfront places or he could not get a job," Haddock said. "It was not infrequent that he was rolled of what ever money he had earned during his previous voyage and he was then immediately at the mercy of the so-called shipping master."

"That practice, incidentally, led to the Shipping Commission Act of 1872 which outlawed Shanghaiing. But the act, needless to say, did not eliminate it."

Corpulent Fellow

NEW YORK—Jack Smart is a corpulent young fellow who plays the role of "The Fat Man" on the radio. He is a small mobile mountain whose size is only equalled by the fanciful stories he causes in his constant quest for social and gustatorial expression which, while understandable and completely rational to Jack, come out as a series of eccentricities in the eyes of his friends.

Jack was married for a while to a very nice gal who still is rather fond of him, but now confines her admiration from the vantage point of divorce. Seems that while Jack and his former missus were of like minds on missus were, they did not see eye to eye on the furnishings for their large and attractive apartment.

Like any newly married young matron, Mrs. Smart wanted a home done in the warm, comfortable styles, and colors that look so fine in the home-furnishings magazines. But after quite a span of marriage had passed, it seemed that Jack was to have his way.

The apartment was furnished in the style of Jack's whimsical personal preferences. It seems that he is a hot jazz fiend, an amateur tympianist, a gustatory eccentric who loves to cook strange and exotic meals, preferably with a main course off some part of a cow; all of which became the apartment's decorative motif.

This large and fashionable flat Smart's marital tenancy with one double bed, a complete hotel-style stove, carving knives, various stainless steel impediments, a butcher's block, a record player, several thousand recordings of hot jazz persuasion, and a complete set of trap drums!

That's all. Nary a sofa or easy chair or end table or rug. Just the stuff of which Jack's non-acting moments were filled.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Briton Backs World Government

WASHINGTON.—Most people have the idea Great Britain is so tired, she's finished. However, a young British member of parliament, Henry Osborne, arrived in Washington the other day with more enthusiastic energy, more idealism and more persuasiveness than the proverbial go-getting American.

Osborne is a small manufacturer in the British Midlands, makes machinery for laundries. However, it was not to sell laundry equipment that he came to the U.S. It was to sell the idea of a world government. And so far he has got surprisingly enthusiastic response from a lot of important people.

Greatest enthusiasm came from the atomic scientists—including Professor Einstein and Dr. Leo Szilard. Having given the world an instrument for wrecking the world, they feel they should also try to find some means of saving the world.

"The world's leaders are deadlocked," Osborne told the atomic scientists and others in Washington. "They have reached a position where Russia is balanced off against the United States and, like a locomotive on dead center, they can't get off dead center."

"Any move the United States makes for peace, no matter how sincere," Osborne argued, "is suspect by Russia, merely because it is made by the United States. No matter how ardently your statesmen strive for peace, the world's leaders cannot do."

Osborne points out that the United Nations, now split wide open and failing to function, can never solve the world's present impasse. It gets more deadlocked every time it meets. But if several million people in the United States, France, England and the Scandinavian countries elect their own delegates to a world conference in Geneva, then a United States of Europe or a United States of the world could gradually germinate.

Osborne figures it will take at least two years to hold a world conference; but he also figures the time to begin working toward it is now.

"I don't want the movement to grow too fast over here," Osborne explains, "because if the United States begins advocating world government too vigorously, then Russia will regard it as an American proposition."

"So let us get a start first in England, France and Scandinavia," says this indefatigable Britisher who talks with such determination that you can't help being convinced not only that Britain is not dead, but that he may have the germ of an idea which can really save the peace.

TAFT'S PICKETS Bob Taft's advance huckster on his Washington state barnstorming was grave-voiced Senator Harry Cain. Before the jump-off into the Pacific northwest, the two held a last-minute huddle in San Francisco.

"Harry," asked Taft uneasily, "What do you think about the picketing against my speeches?" "If they try to stop," rumbled the Washington Republican, "I'll personally subsidize them. No one in my state paid any attention to you until the picketing started."

UNDER THE DOME According to senatorial colleagues, when Bob Taft has lunch in the Senate restaurant, he orders two portions of meat. . . . Harold Stassen was talking to his Washington office manager, Earl Hart, about Hart's daughter, who is studying music. "I used to play the piano rather well," said Hart. "In fact, almost made a career of it. . . ."

"When I get in the White House," responded Stassen, "You'll be the piano-player, Earl not me. . . ."

Before Senator McGrath got the job of Democratic National committeeman, Truman made one last attempt to give it to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson. "If I leave my food job for a political job," replied Anderson, "it would hurt the administration." Truman concurred. . . . When Gael Sullivan announced his resignation as Democratic director—later withdrawn—he got an immediate offer of $25,000 from Capitol Airlines. Also a call from North Dakota's Republican Senator Langer offering to get him a job in the northwest.

Hope Shoves Into High Gear

HOLLYWOOD.—As you might have guessed, Bob Hope's activities are showing into high gear, despite his declarations that he was going to get a rest.

Bob finishes "The Paleface" tomorrow and hops a plane for the world series. He returns after the games and then will make plans to tour with his air show. He'll play various colleges, and tour the East. And so far he is keeping this fairly quiet—he'll go overseas on a special project.

"Sorrowful Jones," Bob's next film, will get started sometime next year, depending on when he can find a new "Little Miss Marker."

Gary Cooper is greatly interested in the news that Leo McCarey is going to expand his film plans. The Montanan is anxious to play in Leo's "Adam and Eve," but so far the director hasn't asked him. Leo says "Good Sam" will give him a chance to see if "Coop" is right for the role. . . .

A hot tip is the report that Selznick will release the currently shooting "Portrait of Jenny" this fall, instead of the completed "Paradise Case." Reason: David O. wants another try at the Academy Award for Jennifer Jones. . . .

Betty Hutton, it's reported, will not return to Paramount after her second child is born in April. Instead, she'll go to Sam Gold-at least two years to hold a world conference; but he also figures the time to begin working toward it is now.

"I don't want the movement to grow too fast over here," Osborne explains, "because if the United States begins advocating world government too vigorously, then Russia will regard it as an American proposition."

Bob finishes "The Paleface" tomorrow and hops a plane for the world series. He returns after the games and then will make plans to tour with his air show. He'll play various colleges, and tour the East. And so far he is keeping this fairly quiet—he'll go overseas on a special project.

"Sorrowful Jones," Bob's next film, will get started sometime next year, depending on when he can find a new "Little Miss Marker."

Gary Cooper is greatly interested in the news that Leo McCarey is going to expand his film plans. The Montanan is anxious to play in Leo's "Adam and Eve," but so far the director hasn't asked him. Leo says "Good Sam" will give him a chance to see if "Coop" is right for the role. . . .

A hot tip is the report that Selznick will release the currently shooting "Portrait of Jenny" this fall, instead of the completed "Paradise Case." Reason: David O. wants another try at the Academy Award for Jennifer Jones. . . .

Betty Hutton, it's reported, will not return to Paramount after her second child is born in April. Instead, she'll go to Sam Gold-at least two years to hold a world conference; but he also figures the time to begin working toward it is now.

"I don't want the movement to grow too fast over here," Osborne explains, "because if the United States begins advocating world government too vigorously, then Russia will regard it as an American proposition."

"So let us get a start first in England, France and Scandinavia," says this indefatigable Britisher who talks with such determination that you can't help being convinced not only that Britain is not dead, but that he may have the germ of an idea which can really save the peace.

TAFT'S PICKETS Bob Taft's advance huckster on his Washington state barnstorming was grave-voiced Senator Harry Cain. Before the jump-off into the Pacific northwest, the two held a last-minute huddle in San Francisco.

"Harry," asked Taft uneasily, "What do you think about the picketing against my speeches?" "If they try to stop," rumbled the Washington Republican, "I'll personally subsidize them. No one in my state paid any attention to you until the picketing started."

UNDER THE DOME According to senatorial colleagues, when Bob Taft has lunch in the Senate restaurant, he orders two portions of meat. . . . Harold Stassen was talking to his Washington office manager, Earl Hart, about Hart's daughter, who is studying music. "I used to play the piano rather well," said Hart. "In fact, almost made a career of it. . . ."

"When I get in the White House," responded Stassen, "You'll be the piano-player, Earl not me. . . ."

Before Senator McGrath got the job of Democratic National committeeman, Truman made one last attempt to give it to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson. "If I leave my food job for a political job," replied Anderson, "it would hurt the administration." Truman concurred. . . . When Gael Sullivan announced his resignation as Democratic director—later withdrawn—he got an immediate offer of $25,000 from Capitol Airlines. Also a call from North Dakota's Republican Senator Langer offering to get him a job in the northwest.

Match Play In City Tourney Is Underway At Muny Course

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Local baseball fans who lamented Big Spring's loss to Ballinger in the finals of the Longhorn league's Shaughnessy playoffs should not feel too badly about the whole thing. In the minor league's ash can of discarded full-season kingpins, the Broncs had plenty of company.

Of the 52 minor circuits throughout the country, a total of 27 regular season winners failed to cop the bunting in the playoffs. Fact is, the Hosses did a lot better than many of the other winners by advancing into the final rounds.

For example, the teams finishing first and second in the American Association (Jersey City and Montreal) were ousted in the first go-around by the fourth and third place clubs, respectively (Syracuse and Milwaukee), each without winning a decision.

Though the playoffs serve to keep interest alive throughout a circuit, they seem a sort of anti-climax to the team which winds up in the top spot in regular play. Some leagues recognize the full-season winner as the kingpin but most of them give the laurels to the survivor in the post-campaign classics, despite the fact that it is eternally argued that a champ cannot be decided in a short series.

Minor league leaders in regular play who were ousted in playoff rounds included Kansas City in the American Association, Jersey City, International, Columbus, Sally, Sox City, Western, Waterbury, Colonial, Trenton, Inter-State, Lynn, New England, Roanoke, Piedmont, Jackson, Southeastern, Danville, Three-I, Spartanburg, Tri-State, Juarez-Tucson, Arizona, Texas, Burlington, Carolina, Aberdeen, Northern, Riverside, Sunset, Salina, Western Association, Pulaski, Appalachian, Wilson, Coastal Plain, Cambridge, Eastern Shore; Alexandria, Evangeline; St. Augustine, Florida State; Carrollton, Georgia-Alabama; Owensboro, Kitty; Kingston, North Atlantic; Lawton, Sooner State.

Bob Feller's barnstorming baseball team heads through Texas Oct. 12 but makes only two stops, one at Houston and the other at Dallas.

Among those playing with Rapid Robert this year are Phil Marchildon and Ferris Fain of the A's, Kenny Keltner of the Clevelanders; Eddie Miller of the Reds; Andy Pafko of the Cubs; Ed Lopat of the White Sox and Jeff Heath of the Browns.

Local friends of Tonto Coleman are pleased to see that affable player doing so well in a coaching way.

Tonto's ACC Wildcats have now won three games in as many starts and may go through the year unbeaten. Their toughest test will come Nov. 8, when Tonto's gang squares off with Hardin college of Wichita Falls.

Joe Coleman, the Odessa mentor, loses 23 boys off his Broncho squad this year via graduation.

Among those who will be eligible for sheepskins are Harold Dozier, J. J. Partridge, Emmitt Tyler, Gene Campbell, Jerry King and Roy Whisenand, ends; Ed Rowland and Homer Leathers, tackles; Tom Wigham, Bob Schutte, Darrell Evans, Jimmy Everett, Mike Ewitt, Harry Pace and Gordon Headlee, guards; Tommy Mooreman and Jack Walker, centers; and P. U. Matejovsky, Byron Townsend, Rudy Nichols, Carroll Ford, Wilson Hall, Alfred Arnold and Gerald Campbell, backs.

Greens Retopped At Country Club

The country club golf course is undergoing repairs and will not be in operation until Thursday, Pro Shirley Robbins announced this morning.

Greens are being retopped and the job is expected to consume the better part of three days, Robbins said.

Since the putting green will also be retopped, no putting tournament will be held Tuesday evening.

Pipes Captures Medal Honors

A record field of 62 linksmen tees off in the annual City golf tournament at the Muny course this week.

The man the entries will be chasing is Jake Morgan, defending champion, who qualified automatically for the show. Morgan is favored to win his first match. He is paired with Jack Keith, whose blue-ribbon golf comes in spurts.

Keith qualified for the event with a three-over-par 77 and will have to do better than that if he hopes to oust Morgan.

The man in the upper bracket of the championship flight pairings who will probably give Morgan the most trouble is J. R. Farmer, who qualified with a sparkling 73 and who goes against Bob Satterwhite in his initial assignment. Satterwhite worked his way into the title round with a 78.

Two of the tournament favorites, Bobby Maxwell and Obie Bristow, the latter a 1946 finalist, get together in a first round duel in the lower bracket. Maxwell qualified with a 75 while Bristow required an 80 to edge into the title picture.

First round matches must be completed by next Sunday.

Dobie Hits Enemies Of Free Thought

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP)—J. Frank Dobie, recently the center of a hot controversy in the University of Texas board of regents' ruling on leave extension, yesterday hit enemies of free thought.

Dobie made his remarks at the campus guild, student cooperative.

"I've come to think that the noblest wants and wishes of men are those for freedom of the mind and the spirit," he said, telling the student audience to be careful of what it wanted from life.

Dobie cited the life of Tom Paine, saying "Tom Paine got what he wanted—freedom of the mind and spirit—and he didn't say things which he didn't believe, even though he might have gotten a pension by saying them."

Cities In Colombia Postpone Elections

BOGOTA, Colombia, Oct. 6. (AP)—Political clashes in which four persons were killed and six wounded yesterday caused three cities to postpone municipal elections and several other towns to suspend balloting until the situation quieted down.

The deaths occurred in Tenoi, a suburb of the southern city of Pasto. The other casualties occurred in a clash at Guaca in the department of Santander.

Voting was said to have been heavy in some cities. But in Bogota only about 70 per cent of the eligible voters participated.

Early returns showed no major change in political alignments.

Bevans Slated To Mount Hill Against Bums

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—It's Hugh Casey and nine other Dodger hurlers against Bill (One-Hit) Bevans of the Yankees today in the seventh game of the wildest World Series in many years.

What started out to be another steamroller job by the mighty New York club has turned into a down-to-the-last-out tangle that has half the nation babbling incoherently about a character named Lavagetto and Giofriddo.

Down and apparently out after two opening defeats, humbled with no hits for 8-2-3 innings in the fourth game, the Dodgers have stumbled up the road from 8 to 1 underdogs to only 8 to 5 methods that are almost incredible.

No Dodger pitcher has been able to last as long as five innings while New York has three complete jobs in six games. But the won and lost totals show three each way for both clubs. Somehow or other, as National league managers have learned, Bert Shotton manages to piece together a winning ball club from Casey and nine other guys.

Even for the seventh and final contest, Shotton has no semblance of a starting pitcher. Hal Gregg, who was moderately effective in two outings despite his grim 4-5 record for the season, probably is his best bet. Yet Shotton started Rex Barney, a wild man who had not started a regular season game over a wobbly staff since July 4, and got away with it.

After yesterday's 8-6 win that squared the series, Casey had to share the pedestal with little Al Giofriddo. He's the fellow the Pirates "tossed in" when Kirby Higbe and four other athletes were sold to Pittsburgh for about $300,000.

ARMY ROLLS

Grid Season Running True To Forecasts

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—One of these days the folks who have been too busy following the World Series to notice college football are going to find that the grid season already is well under way and that the action to date has resulted in such impressions as these:

1. Notre Dame, Michigan, Texas and Georgia Tech look like the teams most likely to battle it out for the mythical National crown.
2. The title chase in the Pacific Coast conference threatens to be the dullest of them all.
3. Army refuses to roll over and play dead, even though Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard are no longer on the premises.

Notre Dame, the Nation's No. 1 team in 1946, arrived on the scene Saturday, and although somewhat tardy, picked right up where it left off last year by crushing Pittsburgh, 49-0.

Michigan, which entertains Pitt Saturday, lambasted Stanford, 49-13, while Georgia Tech b'ant'd Tulane, 20-0, and Texas trounced North Carolina, 34-0, ruining the tar heels' bid for an all-victorious season with one of the outstanding performances of the day.

Meanwhile, Washington State dumped Idaho, 7-0, and Oregon State stopped Washington, 14-7, in a couple of surprises on the Pacific Coast while UCLA bowed to Northwestern 27-26, Nevada upset Oregon, 13-6, and Southern California was held to a tie by Rice, 7-7.

Army unbeaten since 1943, waltzed merrily along with a 47-0 breeze through Colorado, indicating that the Cadets aren't going to be pushed around this year despite personnel losses.

Army's true strength will be tested Saturday when the Cadets risk their 30-game undefeated record against Illinois, 35-12 conqueror of Iowa, at New York in the East's foremost attraction.

Duke, 19-7 winner over Tennessee, plays Navy at Baltimore while Columbia, which stopped Navy, 13-6, entertains Yale, 14-0 winner over Cornell, in an Ivy league contest.

Notre Dame this week invades Purdue, surprise 24-20 winner over Ohio State, while Ohio State entertains Southern California and Wisconsin plays host to California.

Georgia, which recovered from its loss to North Carolina to dampen Louisiana State's southeastern conference hopes, 35-19, goes to Kentucky for another league tilt and Vanderbilt, which upset Alabama, 14-7, entertains Mississippi.

War Birds Host Odessa Hosses In Feature Go

Attention in District 3AA football will be turned to Abilene this weekend where Pete Shotwell's resident Eagles square away with the mighty Odessa Bronchos.

The Hosses have not come close to being beaten. The War Birds have yet to win a game, in fact have scored but six points in three outings. Still and all, the club is expected to give the defending champions the best scrap of any team in the district.

In other league outings, Big Spring entertains Lamesa and will be slightly favored to win that one. The Tornados haven't been able to beat anybody. The Steers won a thriller a year ago, 6-0, in Lamesa.

San Angelo's Bobcats take a rest after a jaunt to Mexico City while Sweetwater's disappointing Mustangs invade Midland. The home club should be able to handle the Ponies in that one.

Standings:

Odessa	2	1	0	45	32
San Angelo	1	2	0	32	36
Big Spring	1	2	0	28	38

Sooner-Texas Clash Feature S'west Debate

By The Associated Press

Five inter-sectional and one conference game are not expected to change the situation in the Southwest conference this week.

By lambasting North Carolina, 24-0, Texas jumped right back into a role now seven years old. The Longhorns are on a familiar hot spot.

Rice started the season tagged the No. 1 team in the conference, but Saturday's tie with Southern California, 7-7, pushed them into the background.

Texas had an impressive set of statistics to back up its claim as top hand. In three games it has scored 105 points to 13 by the opposition.

Texas Christian university opens play this week—meeting Miami university in Miami, Fla. Friday night. The Horned Frogs look to Arkansas, 6-0 last week.

Other games Saturday match Rice against Tulane at Houston; Southern Methodist university against Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater, Okla.; Texas A&M against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge, La.; Arkansas against Baylor at Waco, and Texas against Oklahoma at Dallas.

Conference teams came out of a four game inter-sectional schedule last week with two victories, one defeat and one tie.

SMU stamped itself as a dangerous opponent—as long as Doak Walker is in action. The gifted Dallas halfback scored 15 points in the Mustangs 35-19 win over Missouri, figured in two other scores and brought SMU back from near defeat with some brilliant, broken-field running.

A&M dropped its first game, to Oklahoma, 26-14.

The Texas-Oklahoma game highlights the week's action, if not for the game itself for the sentiment. The traditional rivals are expected to pack the Cotton Bowl, with Bobby Layne one of the chief reasons.

The Texas candidate for All-American honors will have a chance to play before the home folks one week after his ex-high school mate—Walker—dazzled them.

Walker passed Texas' Byron Gilroy in individual scoring. He has 35 points to 30 for the Longhorn back. Each have scored five touchdowns, but the SMU back has kicked five extra points.

A&M dropped its first game, to Oklahoma, 26-14.

The Texas-Oklahoma game highlights the week's action, if not for the game itself for the sentiment. The traditional rivals are expected to pack the Cotton Bowl, with Bobby Layne one of the chief reasons.

The Texas candidate for All-American honors will have a chance to play before the home folks one week after his ex-high school mate—Walker—dazzled them.

Walker passed Texas' Byron Gilroy in individual scoring. He has 35 points to 30 for the Longhorn back. Each have scored five touchdowns, but the SMU back has kicked five extra points.

Pastors To Back Sunday Evening Church Services

An intensive campaign to promote Sunday evening church attendance will be launched on Nov. 1 under sponsorship of the Big Spring Pastors association. Pastors, in regular meeting Monday, voted to undertake a special two-months drive. One plan is to seek signers of cards pledging evening church attendance. Half of the loose plate offering the evening of Dec. 28 will be used to finance the campaign. The Rev. James Parks, pastor of the East Fourth Baptist church, was selected to bring the union Thanksgiving service at 10 a. m. on Nov. 27 at the First Christian church, the host church furnishing music for the occasion. Reports from the Bible fund campaign were given by Capt. Olvy Sheppard, secretary-treasurer. Attending the meeting were Capt. Sheppard, Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, president, Rev. C. A. Long, Rev. Parks, Rev. Aubrey White, Rev. Cecil Rhodes.

Police Have Busy Time

Although traffic subsided slightly in comparison to a week ago, Big Spring police paraded no less than 40 persons through the city jail doors during Saturday and Sunday. In addition, officers were investigating a burglary this morning. Jake's liquor store was entered sometime Sunday night, and the burglars made off with approximately 30 cases of liquor. Virtually all cases called in corporation court this morning involved charges of drunkenness, affray or disturbance.

Vet Board-Urged To Stop Exploitation

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The state veterans affairs commission today was told it must zealously seek out various forms of exploitation of veterans to remove from veterans' minds the dissatisfaction that makes a fertile field for the planting of foreign "isms." Charles F. Mayer, Dallas attorney and department commander of the Jewish war veterans of the U. S. charged the commission at a public hearing to discharge its duties in the spirit in which the

Some Summer Is Left For Texas

The weather man had a little bit of summer left over and splashed it over Texas yesterday, sending temperatures as high as 102 degrees at Henrietta. It was warm everywhere in the state, and in most areas it was fair. There were a few showers in the extreme southern part, with Brownsville getting the heaviest rains—a damp 40 inches. Nearby Mission got 15 inches. Minimum temperatures today ranged from 51 degrees at Muleshoe to 74 at Del Rio. Forecast for tomorrow calls for cloudiness and a few scattered showers in extreme southeast Texas and along the coast, with no change in temperature. It will be fair in west Texas, and not so warm in the Panhandle, the weather bureau said.

Chamber Presses For Extended Phone Service

A committee was named by the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Monday noon to confer with representatives of Southwestern Bell Telephone company with the view of seeking the earliest possible break of a bottleneck on telephones in certain areas of the city. J. H. Greene, manager, told the board that company representatives had said that lack of cable prevented addition of telephones in certain sections, although switch-board positions were open. K. H. McGibbon, president, named Lewis Price, Bob Currie and H. W. Whitney as a committee to contact the company in an effort to get as early relief as possible. Greene said that a new development in the housing situation might occur within a few weeks. The office has been in contact with FHA officials in an effort to clarify building opportunities. Junior chamber of commerce officials have set Oct. 15 as a deadline for collection of contributions to the Christmas parade fund, Lloyd Wooten reported. So far, Jay-Cees have found good response in this activity, he said. Lewis Price, chairman of the retail committee, said hat parade plans were beginning to take shape with the possibility of five bands participating in the procession which will have a large number of big, inflated characters. Light streamers are due to go up over streets in the downtown area a few days in advance of parade time on Dec. 4. Frank Campbell, assistant manager, expressed appreciation for association with the organization, said he was impressed with the progressive spirit of the community, and briefly told of plans for a chamber publication and for membership enlargement. McGibbon suggested a new slogan for the community and asked directors to be considering the matter with the possibility of action at the next meeting. He also lauded newspapers for their part in promoting civic activities and other movements, which contribute to community welfare and progress.

Plaid Are Good For This Season

By Dorothy Roe
Everybody's mad for plaid this season. You'll be seeing plaid coats, bulky plaid skirts, plaid accessories and even wool plaid dinner dresses—the country at - home style. Natalie Renke, canny designer who guesses a year ahead what most of the women in America will be wearing, has accented plaid heavily in her current collection. She shows it in all versions, from one-piece dresses to pleated skirts and jerkin tops. A plaid coat and dress ensemble is one of the high spots of the group, and for casual winter parties at home, she shows an ankle length full skirt of bright wool Scotch plaid, worn with a fitted velvet jacket. Most of the plaids shown are the authentic Scotch clan variety, but there are other muted tones even more striking, as for instance a handsome brown and blue combination used in a sleek ultrasteer coat with a flaring one-piece dress to match. The fad for plaid extends from the kindergarten set through the collegians to sophisticated grown-ups—and it appears to be equally becoming to all. Plaid accessories also are all over the place. The long plaid wool scarf, or stole, with fringed ends, adds a bright accent to fall ensembles, as does the Scotch cap or tam o'shanter, once more back in the style picture. There are wool plaid handbags to match skirts or dresses—and one enterprising luggage manufacturer has made an overnight case covered in wool plaid to match fall coats.

Panhandle Fair

Attendance at the 30th annual Panhandle South Plains fair, which ended its one-week stand Saturday at Lubbock, passed the 100,000 mark, nearly 20,000 more than last year. The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

This is One Of A Series Of Articles Published In The Public Interest, To Explain And Illustrate The Practice Of Chiropractic.
CASE HISTORY No. 206. This patient had developed fainting spells which grew in numbers and severity as time went on. During one of these spells she struck her head on the floor and on trying to rise discovered that all use had gone from her legs. Despite costly advice and treatment the condition gradually became worse. Sensation as well as movement was lost in the limbs. Eventually she was carried into a Chiropractor's office where analysis revealed the nerve pressure that was the cause of her trouble. The first simple adjustment enabled her to move her feet. In three weeks' time, leg movement returned, and a week later she was able to walk again. There has been no recurrence of the fainting spells since Chiropractic adjustments were given.
CASE HISTORY No. 421. A baby girl who had been subject to eczema since she was six months old. Scores of remedies were tried without success. Her mother, who had begun taking Chiropractic adjustments herself, suggested that Chiropractic might help the child. Analysis indicated nerve pressure and a series of adjustments were given. The eczema completely cleared up and has not reappeared at any time since.
CASE HISTORY No. 468. Severe headaches had troubled this woman for eight years, the attacks occurring sometimes two and three times a week. She had obtained only temporary relief from the many treatments undertaken, and when she finally decided to try Chiropractic it was, she explained, "her last hope." A series of spinal adjustments brought immediate relief, and within 3 months the headaches had apparently ceased. Headaches occurred twice during the following six months, and in both instances Chiropractic adjustment brought prompt relief. There have been no headaches since.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC? The Chiropractor teaches that the brain and nervous system are the root of health. From the brain, nerve energy is distributed through the nervous system to control all parts of the body. When this nerve energy is shut off even slightly between brain and body (by bone displacement in the spine), one or more body functions are interfered with and ill health results. By x-ray, analysis and spinal adjustment the Chiropractor is able to relieve nerve interference and restore normalcy to the affected part. No drugs. No surgery. Nature is the healer.
