CONG. GEORGE MAHON SENDS SOME NEWS

Dear Friend:

There is every indication that we are headed for an important change in cotton legislation. While the change could be to the long-range advantage of the cotton producer, I personally believe that the change may be to the short-range advantage of cotton farmers.

It is my opinion that the support prices on cotton have been fairly acceptable to cotton farmers over a period of years. We all would have preferred larger allotments, but most farmers have managed to live with the control program on cotton.

The announced reduction in the national cotton allotment for next year from about 18 million acres to about 16 million acres is disturbing cotton producers, and rightly so. Whether this reduction will stand without change cannot be determined at this time. The Secretary of Agriculture has indicated he will support an increase for 1963 if legislation leading to greater estimated consumption is passed.

Why the sudden conclusion that the cotton program may be changed?

(a) The support price on cotton was increased in 1961—about one-half cent per pound over the support on so-called Choice "A" cotton of the previous year—and this was followed by an upward spurt in the utilization of synthetics as substitutes for cotton. Synthetics have been gaining on cotton for years. To what extent the recent gain in synthetics resulted from the increased support price and the abandonment of the lower priced cotton under the Choice "B" program cannot be accurately pinpointed. It undoubtedly had something to do with the acceleration.

(b) Our exports in recent years have gone as high as 7 million bales per year. Exports fell last year to 4.9 million bales. There is a government subsidy of 8 1-2 cents per pound on every bale of cotton which we export. The more we export, the more the U. S. Treasury pays in total subsidy. There has not been too much general complaint about the export subsidy but, even with the subsidy, enough American cotton is just not moving into world trade. In view of large exports the previous year some reduction in exports was inevitable last year.

(c) The American textile industry is on the warpath to a greater extent than ever before. American mills have to pay 8 1-2 cents more per pound for American cotton than foreign mills pay for the same cotton.

The carry-over of American cotton is on the upswing and it is estimated that the carry-over on next August may be in the area of 9 million bales, a figure that is far too high. (U.S. consumption of cotton totals about 9 million bales per year. Consumption of major synthetic fibers, which are in direct competition with cotton, is the equivalent of about 2 1-2 million bales of cotton annually. If all synthetic fibers were included, the figure would be in the area of 7 million bales.)

Cat cotton farmers produce cotton for less? Some say yes. Some say no—that the cost of production is increasing. Many feel that a modest reduction in price could be made in return for an allotment increase. To take a cut in price without stimulating cotton consumption would be highly unsatisfactory.

Nobody can prove precisely just how much cotton consumption would increase as a result of a drop in the support price. Would a small drop in price stimulate consumption of cotton by the mills? If consumption were not increased our problems would be compounded by an intolerable increase in the cotton carry-over.

If American mills could buy cotton for 7 or 8 cents per pound less than is now possible, and if they were convinced that this reduction in price was not temporary, they would undoubtedly use more cotton and the swing toward synthetics would be retarded.

What is the answer? Nobody knows for sure, and there is no easy answer. It would, of course, mean bankruptcy for most cotton farmers and the towns which depend on cotton income if the price to the cotton producer should be reduced by 7 or 8 cents per pound.

A so-called trade incentive plan for cotton is in the talk stage. Under this plan the farmer would still get his support as he does now. He would not receive a separate compensatory payment of any kind. Under the plan, cotton would move into domestic and world mill consumption at the world price. The object of the proposal is to move cotton into trade and consumption, not into warehouses. Our domestic mills would get their cotton for probably about 7c per pound less than is now the case. A trade incentive would be paid, not directly to the farmer, but to the shipper upon evidence of shipment of the cotton to the consuming establishment.

The aforementioned proposal is in a tentative status. It is the most frequently mentioned approach to the problem, and apparently has wide support. In this letter I am not undertaking to evaluate this or other proposals. The present cotton program is expensive from the standpoint of the U. S. Treasury, and most programs being offered as substitutes are likewise expensive.

I have written this letter for the purpose of calling to the attention of West Texans who are interested in cotton the fact that a change is likely in the cotton program. I cannot now predict what Congress may do on the subject. It is possible that new cotton legislation may be passed which will affect the 1963 crop. For such action to be taken, wide agreement among producer groups on an uncomplicated program would be required.

I am interested in the thinking of the people on the important subject of cotton. I am likewise interested in their views in regard to feed grain. The feed grain program for next year is a one-year program and in all probability Congress will extend or modify the feed grain law. The issue of controls versus a voluntary feed grain program will probably be before us again. I shall meet with various farmers and farm groups for the purpose of discussing farm problems before returning to Washington.

I would welcome your views at any time.

Sincerely,
George Mahon.

ABOUT ANHYDROUS AMMONIA

Before you decide not to make a plowdown application of anhydrous ammonia on your cotton and grain sorghum land this Fall, hoping that the price will drop in the Spring, there are some very important considerations you should take into account. They all boil down to this: EVEN IF YOU WERE ABLE TO SAVE MONEY ON THE PRICE OF AMMONIA, IT WON'T COVER THE LOSS OF YIELD, (10% OR MORE) YOU WOULD GET BY PLOWING DOWN NOW. WAITING CAN ALSO ADD TO YOUR COST OF SPRING PLOWING AND IRRIGATING.

LET'S LOOK AT THE FACTS ABOUT PLOWDOWN We all know, of course, that the residue turned under with Fall plowing is a storehouse of plant nutrients. But these nutrients are not available to the growing plant until, through bacteriolysis, the residue is decomposed. Decomposition restores the nutrients in the residue to a useable form readily available to the new crop. This takes time. Nitrogen in the form of anhydrous ammonia speeds up the process and assures more complete decomposition by planting time.

TIME, TEMPERATURE AND MOISTURE Time, temperature and moisture are very important in the decomposition process and have a direct bearing on the question of when anhydrous ammonia should best be applied. The correct conditions are more likely in the Fall and early Winter. This means that, given adequate ammonia now, in December and January, the decomposition process can be nearly completed before hard Winter sets in, and is finished quickly when the soil warms up in the Spring.

SOIL CONDITIONING Now let's compare the condition of soil which has had a plowdown application of anhydrous ammonia with soil on which only the traditional Spring preplant application is made. When the seed goes into the ground, if ammonia was not applied in the previous Fall in time to decompose the residue, much of this residue will still be there in the Spring. The young plant, during its critical early growth, must share the Spring-applied nitrogen with the bacteria at work on the residue. Not only must it share the nitrogen, but the young plant is also denied the other nutrients in the undecomposed residue from the previous crop. With decomposition completed, the ammonia applied at preplant time is then totally available to the crop as well as that which was applied in the Fall.

Why wait? Experience proves you will produce more, make more money by applying ammonia now. Apply Shamrock Nitromite and pay later on Shamrock's Farm Credit Plan.

OTHER COST FACTORS With decomposition complete by Spring, the soil itself is in its best physical condition for plowing, seed bed preparation and for taking in and storing water. These factors contribute to lower production cost.

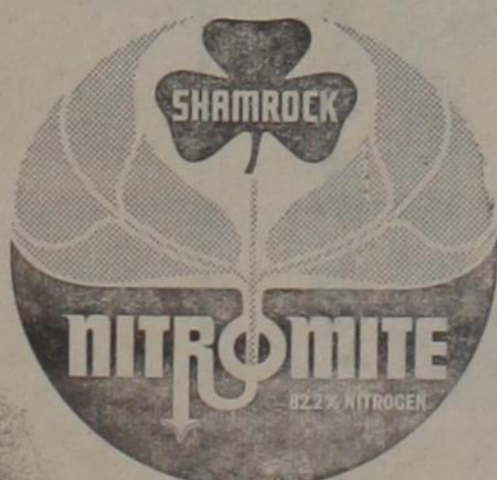

SUPPLY AND DEMAND The high producing farmers who have accepted Fall application of ammonia as standard practice tell us there are many other cost factors involved which have an effect on profits. They say, for example, that since men and equipment are freely available in the Fall, they find Fall application costs less in time and money.

Many good farmers also say they think it's worth money to them to be able to handle application in the Fall so that when the critical time for pre-plant comes they can have some flexibility instead of getting caught in a shortage of applicators and transportation facilities which usually occur when everybody waits until the last minute to apply ammonia.

They say plowdown now avoids a lot of risks and uncertainties while assuring next season's crop of an abundant supply of essential plant nutrients during its critical early growth.

NITROGEN — THE MAGIC INGREDIENT The key to decomposition of residue and the resulting increase of nutrients available to new plants and improved soil condition is nitrogen. The fertilizer which supplies the most nitrogen per pound, and gives the farmer more for his money, is anhydrous ammonia.

APPLY NOW — PAY LATER Ask your Nitromite dealer about the Shamrock Farm Credit Plan. He has the equipment, manpower and the finance plan to meet your needs for the application of ammonia now. Give one of them a call today. He's ready to help you put nitrogen to work in your soil with SHAMROCK Nitromite.

TEXAS DEPT. OF PUBLIC SAFETY

The Highway Patrol investigated 10 rural accidents in Hockley County during the month of November according to Sergeant A. E. Roberts, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $4,295.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for Hockley County from January through November of 1962 shows a total of 87 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were 3 persons killed and 30 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $49,356.00.

Traffic wise, December is traditionally the most dangerous month of the year. Just what makes it so dangerous? It is a time of goodwill, cheer and celebration. Why should it be so dangerous?

The Sergeant stated there can be many reasons for this. The month of December has fewer hours of daylight than any other month. We usually have some bad weather. People insist on celebrating the holidays with intoxicating beverages. Many are preoccupied with holiday activities and do not apply their full attention to their driving and walking. There will be some traveling at excessive speed to reach their destination. Others will be fatigued because of not stopping for rest along the way.
