

Fund Drive Gets Off To Big Start

So far as manpower is concerned, the Community Fund drive — representing the first peace time effort in Big Spring and Howard county to group the financial campaign of most major welfare and social agencies under one drive — was off to an unprecedentedly good start.

Between 80 and 85 per cent of the workers for special gifts and 100 per cent employee canvass for larger firms were on hand for a kick-off breakfast at the Settles hotel. Considering that some few were ill and out of town, the turnout was near perfect.

Under the direction of Carl Blomshield, special gifts chairman, more than two score workers took around 400 prospect cards for contacts this week.

At the same time, the larger business employee canvass workers started contacts to get the appeal for funds before associates of some 40 business and industrial concerns in Big Spring. Both groups were making an effort to clean up their portion of the drive in advance of the general business, residential, school and rural canvass next week.

General Chairman Ira Thurman was optimistic that the quota of $32,000 could and would be met quickly. In round numbers, the quota will go $9,500 to YMCA, $8,500 to Salvation Army, $6,000 to Boy Scouts, $3,000 to Girl Scouts, $3,200 to USO and $800 to China relief.

In addition to stressing that this is a "Six-in-One" campaign, and that gifts should be made with the thought that they cover the work of six agencies instead of one, workers were pointing out payment possibilities.

For a matter of convenience, the cash payment was preferred, but in cases where the business or individual is not in a position to make payment on the size pledge desired, pledges are available. These may be by billing quarterly or by bank draft.

Options also are available on designation, but early returns indicated that the overwhelming majority were simply marking cards for the Community Fund, so that distribution would be made according to budgets of the participating agencies.

The 100 per cent group was seeking the deduction method where possible in its contacts with business firms. Under this plan the employer would volunteer deductions for one or more days pay, or make cash payment. These also have the option of pledging.

Ted Groebi made the kick-off speech at the special gifts breakfast, appealing to workers to take time to explain to prospects, the need of representative gifts to cover work of half a dozen agencies, and to follow through as quickly as possible on all contacts. Mark Wentz and R. T. Piner assisted Blomshield and Groebi in handling plans for the special gifts division.

Punch Boards Taken By Law

Big Spring police department announced today that four illegal punch boards were confiscated at one local establishment Monday night.

All four of the boards offered cash for "lucky" numbers, officers said.

In the announcement, the police department pointed out that such punch boards come under the same category as regular slot machines in the eyes of the law, and that any others found displayed would be seized immediately.

Chief A. G. Mitchell said the police department would either bring a case to court on the punch boards picked up last night or turn proceedings over to the grand jury.

Stevenson Sees Some Increase In State Expenses

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—While there will be some necessary increases in state expenditures for the next biennium, Gov. Coke Stevenson believes that with "reasonable prudence" Texas can continue on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Commenting on the state auditor's recently-released estimate of probable income, Stevenson said that revenues would probably not continue to be as high as they have been.

Asked if he agreed with President Truman's statement that governmental expenditures should be cut to help curb inflation, the governor said:

"I agree with Truman so far as national government expenditures are concerned, but this state's have been curbed all along."

UN Delegates Arriving For New Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Diplomats from over the world called their staffs and advisers into last-minute conferences today to shape the policies they will present in the meetings of the general assembly of the United Nations which open tomorrow in Flushing Meadow Park with President Truman as the welcoming speaker.

Most delegations already were settled in overcrowded New York hotels, but late-comers still were arriving by air from far parts of the globe.

Among those due to arrive today were two prospective antagonists—Pr. Marshal Jan Christiana Smuts, Prime Minister and Foreign Minister of the Union of South Africa, and Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit of India. Her plane trip was delayed by engine trouble at Algiers and then by the TWA pilots' strike in Shannon, Eire, where she changed planes.

Although some negotiations were reported in the wrangles between India and South Africa, Mrs. Pandit—only woman delegation chief—was prepared to carry on a fight in the assembly against "Jinh Crow" conditions allegedly imposed upon Indians in South Africa. She is the sister of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, chief minister in India's new interim government.

The Indian delegation also has organized a campaign which may be sprung to oppose South Africa's intentions of annexing southwest Africa, the old German colony which the Union administers under a League of Nations mandate. The annexation proposal has been placed before the general assembly for consideration.

The disposal of several other league mandates under a trusteeship council seemed assured with the announcement last night that the United Kingdom had submitted terms under which it would agree to trusteeships for Tanganyika, Togoland and Cameroon, all in Africa.

France has offered French Togoland and Cameroon and the Australians have offered their portion of New Guinea.

The American delegation headed by former Senator Warren Austin of Vermont continued its day-long sessions of combing through the list of problems on the assembly agenda.

Bevin Hopeful Lasting Peace Can Be Attained

LONDON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin told the House of Commons today he was "not hopeful" that the major powers would achieve lasting peace.

He reaffirmed his determination to achieve understanding among the great powers — Great Britain, the United States, Russia, France, and China.

"It will not be the fault of his majesty's government if it does not come," he declared, opening a two-day debate on basic British foreign policy.

Bevin told the House of Commons that Britain was anxious to conclude an enduring peace with Japan and ensure against future Japanese aggression.

He spoke of "encouraging signs" in Indonesia (the rich Netherlands East Indies), said British troops would leave the islands by Nov. 30 and commented:

"I have every hope that, by that date, a settlement will have been reached."

About Egypt, the foreign secretary said:

"We are handicapped in bringing our negotiations with Egypt to a conclusion by internal political difficulties in Egypt itself."

He declared that any suggestion that Great Britain wanted to exploit and suppress peoples of the Eastern Mediterranean was "sheer nonsense."

Speaking of Iran, where Russian and British interests border, he said:

"I am very anxious that the smaller governments should never fall a victim of any difference of opinion by the three larger ones."

"We wish to see Persia (Iran) x x x free from foreign interference. x x x"

"If this is observed by all countries this area will be kept clear of any possible conflict."

Bevin said Britain had made it clear that if Russian demands for bases in the Dardanelles were granted, it would involve an "unwarranted interference with the sovereignty of Turkey."

DALLAS, Oct. 22. (AP)—Detective L. G. Deik said today that two Negro brothers, both ex-convicts, had confessed to the murders of three liquor store operators here and a Piano telegraph operator, as well as a series of burglaries.

Dallas has been terrorized for almost three months by the waves of holdups and shootings. The arrests were made on the eve of the funeral services for the fourth murder victim.

The men gave their names as Oscar Allen, 44, and Charlie Allen, 55, both of Dallas. Each has served three terms in the Texas penitentiary.

Oil Allowable For November 2,108,166 Bbls.

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—The railroad commission today issued its November crude oil allowable order designed to result in production of 2,108,166 barrels of crude daily in Texas next month.

The order increased permissive production 66,876 barrels above the current permissive flow.

The change resulted from revisions in maximum efficiency rates of Texas fields and from boosting general producing days for the state from its current 24 days to 25 for November.

West Texas (District 8) was given 20 producing days and the big East Texas field 21. The Panhandle remained exempt from shutdown.

The commission set net allowable at 2,424,730 barrels of crude daily for November, but an estimated underproduction of six per cent, or 134,564 barrels, was expected to reduce the crude flow to 2,108,166 barrels per day.

The net allowable as of Oct. 19, as compared to November, included the following districts:

7-B, West Central Texas, 37,388, 39,394, up 2,006.

7-C, West Central Texas, 28,825, 31,683, up 2,858.

8, West Texas, 523,406, 537,073, up 13,667.

Some Maritime Workers Reach An Agreement

Shipping Still Tied Up By Other Strikers

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—CIO marine engineers and east and gulf coast ship operators today signed a contract to settle their 22-day-old maritime walk-out but the strike of deck officers and licensed ship personnel continued to bottle up virtually all American shipping.

Signing of the contract between the ship operators and the Marine Engineers Beneficial association was announced by US Conciliator Frederick Livingston after 13 and one-half hours of negotiations.

But before the shipping tieup on the east and gulf coasts comes to an end the pact must be ratified by both the union membership and the 44 shipping companies and representatives of agents and operators.

Also the ship operators and the other union involved in the strike, AFL masters, mates and pilots — who adjourned a long negotiating session to 2:30 p.m. (CST) today — also must come to terms. The masters seek a 30 percent increase and closed shop.

This would leave the west coast still strikebound. The unions are to negotiate with west coast shipping interests after concluding talks with the east and gulf coast operators.

E. P. Trainer, chairman of the marine engineers negotiation committee, who signed the contract for the union, said he would recommend to the general membership that they ratify the agreement.

He said he did not know when the ratification meetings would be held, but that locals would be notified as soon as possible and an attempt made to hold meetings simultaneously in all affected ports.

Lawrence Kammet, MEBA publicity representative, said the general shipping tieup would not be ended by the agreement, since the AFL organization still was negotiating for a settlement, and the engineers would continue to respect MMP picket lines.

South Texan Fatally Shot

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 22. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Carl W. Crow, 43, died in a hospital here today 70 minutes after he received a gunshot wound at his home.

No coroner's verdict has been received yet.

The story of the shooting as told by officers:

Crow, a onetime backfield star on St. Mary's university football team at San Antonio, was shot in the bedroom of his home south of Corpus Christi shortly after midnight.

He had been seated in the living room talking with a group of friends. Among them were his brother, J. Ward Crow, mayor of Sinton, and Sheriff John B. Harney of Nueces county.

He excused himself and entered the bedroom. A short time later a single shot was heard, and Crow was found lying on the bed, a revolver at his side.

Crow was one of the most widely known South Texans, due to his political career, his football record, and through his activities with the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Embargo Slapped On KC Truck Shipments

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—An embargo on cattle and calves arriving by truck was ordered at the Kansas City stockyards today, effective at 2:00 p.m. After an overnight jam of trucks boosted today's receipts to 11,000 cattle — peak for the nation's markets.

Trucks jammed the roads leading to the stockyards last night, causing some animals to be returned to farms because of the long waits. Trucks brought in a total of 8,100 of today's cattle receipts.

No embargo was placed on rail shipments to the yards.

New Discussions Are Demanded By November 1

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—The government today challenged John L. Lewis' right to reopen the wage contract for soft coal miners but offered to discuss arbitration of his new demands.

Navy Capt. N. H. Collisson, coal mines administrator, said that terms of the agreement between the United Mine Workers chief and Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug ending a 59-day strike last spring were to remain in force for the duration of government operation of the mines.

Lewis, raising the threat of new shutdown in the coal fields, last night charged the government with breach of the contract and demanded that negotiations for new one begin by Nov. 1.

Replying to Lewis' demands in a letter, Collisson expressed willingness to meet with the UMW leader at any time to discuss terms of the present contract. But, he said he was unable to treat the notice as requiring a joint conference for the purpose of negotiating new arrangements-affecting wages and other matters.

Lewis had mentioned "significant changes" in government wage policy, but Collisson replied that "such changes, if any, provide no contractual basis requiring negotiations for a revision of the Krug-Lewis agreement."

Krug, now traveling in the west, told Lewis earlier that he would meet him in California if he wants to discuss a new contract by Nov. 1.

"On that date," Krug told Lewis in a communication made available at the interior department, "I will be at Tule Lake, California, discussing our program for veterans settlement, but I will find a way of arranging a time for our meeting if you want to meet me there."

"However, if it should better meet your convenience I will see you in Washington directly after my last publicly announced address on Nov. 6, to the town hall in Los Angeles, which ends my committee western inspection trip."

"Will you please let my office know what arrangement will suit you best."

Lewis' new challenge, ending nearly six months of comparative silence, could mean a walkout of the nation's 400,000 soft-coal miners by Nov. 20 — on the icy edge of winter.

Unleashing his attack with sudden fury, the United Mine Workers' union boss accused the government of contract breaches re-

Canned Bean Prices Will Be Advanced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Grocery prices for canned pork and beans and baked beans will go up two to three cents a can, OPA announced today.

Price Hikes Meeting Buyer Resistance

The growth of definite buyer resistance to meat prices that have spurred to an extreme of $1.50 a pound was shown today in a heavy majority of the key cities covered in a nation-blanking survey.

At the end of the first full week of uncontrolled meat prices, a spot check of 48 cities by the Associated Press produced a scorecard that read like this:

Red meat has come back in sharply improved to ample quantities on the counters of 39 communities; in nine others—six of them in the east—meat is still scarce to non-existent.

Prices have risen everywhere, in a few cases by as little or even less than the federal subsidy that vanished with OPA control, but in one-third of the 48 cities prices of $1 a pound or more have been chucked up for choice cuts.

Resistance to these prices has appeared in degrees ranging from beyond the muttering stage to active organized picketing in 34 of the survey cities; in others that plaint has risen that citizens had nothing to resist.

There were plenty of unusual twists in an odd picture presented today to American housewives.

In Omaha, Neb., a number of meat markets have been picketed by members of the League of Women Shoppers bearing signs urging prospective buyers not to pay "outrageous" prices. Spokesman said the picketing was directed ultimately at packers, to get them to reduce prices to retailers. Prices already have come down.

Butter prices have been driven down in three cities by similar tactics. In Charlotte, N.C., butter drooped from $1.00 to 85 cents. In Omaha 95 to 82 cents and in Helena, Mont., from $1.00 to 90 cents because of a telephone campaign by housewives, threatening a buyers strike.

In Cheyenne, Wyo., when wholesale meat prices virtually tripled, retailers voluntarily cut their profit. Even so about 40 percent of the housewives were aloof from buying or bought but little in protest. Several Detroit retailers urged their customers not to buy more than their barest needs as an ultimate price corrective. In western New York state dealers themselves were advised to buy only what they could sell quickly.

Cooperative Homestead Project Dead, Units To Be Put On Sale By FPMA

ROOSEVELT, N. J., Oct. 22. (AP) And now—ten years after it began with high hopes and dreams—the last nail is being driven into the coffin of the cooperative colony of Jersey Homesteads.

The 200 homes, which housed those who remained after the cooperative gave up the ghost six years ago, were offered for sale by the Federal Public Housing Authority at prices ranging from $2,800 to $4,800.

If the occupants do not purchase the properties, the FPMA said, outside applicants will be considered after Dec. 15, with veterans given top priority.

Harry Giantz, resident manager of the FPMA, said the present occupants were asked to pay 25 percent down, with the remainder to be financed on purchase contracts providing for monthly payments over a 20-year period. Private financing would be preferred, the FPMA said.

Also to go on sale by December are the sewer and water systems of the onetime Jersey Homesteads project, located about five miles southeast of Hightstown in Mercer county.

Jersey Homesteads, later renamed Roosevelt, was inaugurated by the Resettlement Administration of the New Deal as a self-supporting cooperative of needy workers from congested New York and Philadelphia areas.

The community centered about a large cooperative women's garment manufacturing plant which flourished for a while and then began operating at a deficit in 1939. The government bought in more than 50 percent of the factory's machinery and equipment which had been auctioned to satisfy a chattel mortgage.

Then in April, 1940, a private hat manufacturer took over the factory.

When the seven farms which were included in the homesteads project were sold to former tenants the last vestiges of the cooperative faded away.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcoelate (formerly called Barcoel Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Bible Quiz
WHAT IS THIS FAMOUS BIBLE STORY?

ANSWER: NOAH SENDS THE DOVE. It rained for forty days and nights. Hills and mountains were covered with water. Every living substance was destroyed. For one hundred and fifty days water covered the earth. Then Noah sent out a dove which returned to the ark with an olive leaf showing that the waters had abated from the earth.

Farmers Move To Offset Falling Price Of Cotton

By WACIL McNAIR
Howard county cotton farmers have started polishing up their armament for use in fighting back at a falling market, and though few they may be indications early this week were that they have some potent weapons.

At the very outset of the market break, local farmers, generally with poor yields in scattered areas, became more conscious of high production costs, and according to reports today, many have launched tentative plans for reduction in harvest expenses. A general opinion seemed to be that scales for harvest laborers should be reduced by at least 50-cents a hundred pounds.

The price break also has caused some farmers to investigate possibilities for mechanical harvesting. County Agent Durward Lewter reported this morning that several local farmers during the past few days have sought his advice on methods for defoliation, an essential preliminary step for mechanical harvesting.

As for the market itself, local sales have dropped to practically nothing since the first market decline last week, and the farmers have indicated that they will continue to hold their crops, at least until a trend of stabilization is established. Some believe the market will climb again, maybe even higher than the recent peak, but if it continues at the present level for two or three more weeks, the government loan probably will be utilized to tide them over.

Most Howard county cotton this year grades strict low middling, which merits loans of 21 cents to 22 cents a pound. The farmers can take the loan price, hold the cotton, and then if the price zooms upward they still benefit by any difference between the loan and actual selling price.

Cotton alone is not creating all of the concern among farmers, however. Recent adjustments in price of cottonseed and cottonseed products have brought a deluge of protests. The cottonseed price has been set at $85 a ton, while cottonseed cake, the protein concentrate derivative which is sought after by all farmers who have cattle, has advanced to $96 a ton.

The seed situation has spurred interest locally in the special meeting to be held for West Texas cotton interests in Lubbock Thursday. Consequently, a large delegation from the county is expected to appear there before Congressman Steve Pace, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, and other members of the special committee.

Meanwhile, the farmers are taking steps to assure themselves that they shall receive all cottonseed cake and meal to which they are entitled. Some declare that they will "pull" and hold their seed until the time arrives when they can trade seed for meal and cake on a pound for pound basis.

Food Stores In NY Re-Opening

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Housewives, whose meals have grown skimpier during the general trucking strike, get some relief from their shopping cares today as 500 A&P Food stores in the metropolitan area open their doors for the first time since Sept. 14.

The reopenings result from an agreement reached last Friday between A&P contract carriers and striking AFL drivers, granting the drivers $71.40 for a 40-hour week, instead of $64 for a 44-hour week. Similar terms, embodied in the so-called "Bohack Plan," have been accepted previously by many other employers.

Further easing of the food shortage was promised later this week with the reopening of approximately 282 Safeway food stores, also closed since Sept. 14. Drivers serving these stores will get the same terms as the A&P drivers.

Meanwhile, another attempt to settle the lingering strike will be made today at a joint employer and union session with US Conciliator Lucien F. Rye.

Park Improvement Work Progressing

Maintaining a year around schedule, a fall and winter improvement program at city park is making satisfactory progress, city officials reported today.

Receiving special attention at present are flower beds, shrubbery, etc., and the number of floral plants is expected to be increased considerably by next spring.

Also on the winter program is development of a sunken garden at the detention dam located in the 1400 block of Gregg street. The sunken garden is one of the first of several projects mapped a few months ago on a long-range beautification program.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange "Power that Knowledge gives."

greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9,000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice.

KEEPING YOUR LIGHTS ON—Line crews of the Texas Electric Service company have what may seem a prosaic job, but there are many moments when the average layman wouldn't have it for any amount. Whether it is a routine break or a disruption of some other character at the height of a storm, crews rush to the point of trouble and go to work. There is no such thing as waiting for daybreak and fair weather when service is at stake. (Jack Haynes Photo).

SHELL INITIATES EXPERIMENTAL LABORATORY AS OIL SERVICE

Shell Oil Company, Inc., has placed in operation a half million dollar agricultural laboratory and experimental farm at Modesto, Calif., as a new service. Ted O. Groehl, owner of the Westex Oil company, Shell distributor, has announced.

The farm occupies 142 acres in the heart of the rich San Joaquin valley and was selected because it offered opportunity for testing such a wide variety of crops.

Operated by a staff of 30 experts, assisted by a dozen other workers, the research station will delve into practically all major fields of agriculture with the view of developing oil chemicals which not only combat and control insects, parasites and infections, but which may also preserve the productivity and longevity of plants without damage to crops or lawns, of growing fruit crops without cultivation and enriched fruits and vegetables through means of special fertilizers. A spray has been developed which prevents apples and pears from dropping prematurely.

M'Daniel Station Equipped To Put Car In Shape For Winter

Putting automobiles in proper shape for winter driving is the order of the day now at the Ollie McDaniel Service Station, 311 Gregg Street.

Recent autumn weather has sounded the warning signal, McDaniel pointed out, and more and more motorists are realizing that it's time to abandon summer servicing.

McDaniel is offering his customary complete service, and he has several major services which are annual necessities for smooth, dependable car operation during cold weather, as well as a few tips which are particularly timely for this fall.

Customary lubrication changes for winter include differential lubricants, transmission lubricants and motor oil. To round out the service, McDaniel is recommending radiator flushing, and motor cleaning with his Flush-master, the time and money saving machine which thoroughly removes dirt, hard grease and foreign elements from the motor's internal mechanism.

All lubrication services at McDaniel's are effected with Gulf products, of the highest quality obtainable, and Gulf gasoline also is offered.

McDaniel offers another timely tip concerning batteries. Supplies of automobile batteries have been dwindling steadily, and now they are listed as a critical item. Therefore, McDaniel believes it is imperative that motorists keep their batteries in best condition, and his staff is prepared to give a thorough check-up service.

Electric Service: No Matter What

It's a great feeling to be safely inside your home some dark night, such as was the case here a couple of weeks ago, when the elements break loose.

Of course you worry a bit while winds mount and rain and hail beat against the walls and roof, but when the lights go out, you get uneasy.

And lightning being what it is, electric power is disrupted now and then during the height of a storm. But most of the time, after a short interruption, lights pop on again and you get a new feeling of security.

Sometimes, however, the nature of the trouble is such that service may not be restored instantaneously. For instance, there was the case the other evening when a bolt struck a line near enough a transformer to burn it out. Naturally, the area served by that transformer was plunged into darkness.

It wasn't long before a crew of Texas Electric Service linemen had spotted the trouble: Up the pole, with rain still peppering down and the wind puffing fitfully, went a lineman to spot the trouble. In a few moments, the call had gone out for more equipment.

While one car pulled up to place a spotlight on the transformer area of the pole, a heavy truck with winch and a spaw transformer groaned and screamed through mud to the base of the pole.

It began to rain again, and lightning flashed ominously about, but work did not stop. Presently, the dead transformer (or pot, as linemen call them) was lowered away to the truck and another sent up to replace it.

All the while, two linemen worked in and out of a maze of wires, swinging the transformer into position, making sure it was properly anchored, and then connected with distribution lines. It didn't seem to matter to the men if they got drenched, for the "grunts" and others on the ground stood out in the rain passing up tools, and sending up necessary material as well as shouting instructions and receiving them. Electrical displays didn't seem to bother anyone, nor did the darkness.

Pretty soon, one man climbed down off the pole and after checking around to make sure everything was clear, the man left on the pole shoved the switch into place.

All over the area lights flashed on . . . and people went on complacently about their business. The crews put everything in place on the trucks and rushed on to another trouble spot for they seemed to work on a sort of unspoken code about providing electric service no matter what.

American Legion Dance A Success

A capacity crowd attended the American Legion dance which was held Saturday evening in the Crystal ballroom of the Settles hotel.

The hall was decorated with broad bands of blue crepe paper and narrower bands of yellow draped around the walls, caught with rosettes of yellow at each pillar. A large container of balloons was swung across the room, and was released during the dance.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and autumn foliage. Mrs. R. E. Blount was in charge of the refreshment table and assisting her were Mrs. Bob Eubanks, Mrs. Neel Barnaby and Mrs. Pearl Hair.

Ray Boren was chairman of the decorations committee which included members of the post and the auxiliary. Harold Steck was general arrangements chairman.

Volunteer Takes Over Operation Of Water Department

Big Spring's water department had a "little helper" Saturday night, but there is no further market for such assistance.

Shortly after midnight, workers at the filtration plant were visited by a man who ordered pumping operations to cease immediately. Questioning the stranger's authority, the plant attendants refused to carry out the order. During the next hour the "helper" reiterated his demand several times, but to no avail.

Changing his tactics, the man called the Moss Creek lake attendant's house by telephone, and ordered pumps at the lake stopped. Calling the lake attendant, Frank

Covert, by name, he emphasized that the lake water was "too muddy."

Covert, awakened at 2 a.m. by the call, shut off the pumps, under impression that a water department employe had placed the call. When the plant supply dwindled, attendants there suspected the cause, however, and the lake pumps resumed operation a short time later.

SHE'S BUSIER THAN EVER

from more telephones

Telephone operators are busier than ever during these days of more telephone calls from more telephones than ever before. But they still take pride in doing their job with the same characteristic skill, patience, and courtesy that have caused them to be known as "The Voice With a Smile."

Despite the heavy increase in calls, operators are handling most of them quickly and accurately. Sometimes, during midmorning and late afternoon (the busiest times at the switchboard) there may be a brief wait for "Number, please," but you may be sure your call will be answered as promptly as possible.

Critical Economic Period Ahead

It takes no master of economics to conclude that the next few weeks will be critical ones indeed for the United States.

The unfolding of events between now and the end of the year may determine largely whether we accelerate rampant inflation or win a great victory by retreat into stability.

Many factors will enter into the picture, yet probably none with such pronounced influence as that of labor. If labor sits tight, it may be able to swing the tide. If it does not, and we could not blame labor if it did not, the last vestige of restraint may vanish.

Controls in many fields are being removed. Meat is the most prominent case in point, but it is but a harbinger of other control removals. Day by day the lid is coming off of more and more items.

There is some hope that buyer conservatism may exercise a wholesome influence on trends. It is too much to hope that butter will not move at $1 per pound or that steak, at fancy prices, will go begging. These always will be, some who will pay a price. But there is reason to believe that enough people will either refuse to buy or will be far more frugal with these supplies than ever before. This would have the same effect as rationing, for the supply would be stretched until supply could catch up with demand. This is vital, for despite the rosy declamations of many that unrestricted price variations can produce adequate supply, it simply can't be done instantly or miraculously in many fields because of raw material and other factors.

But to get back to labor and its key position. There is no denying that the real wage of workers declines with each rise in price. Rising prices now will have the practical effect of cutting real wages. Thus labor would have a pretty solid case in seeking new upward adjustments. On a wider scale, this would aggravate the ascending cycle. On the other hand, if labor elects to make a great sacrifice at the moment, it may, together with natural forces, bring about a far greater degree of stability. Make no mistake, that will call for sacrifice—but a sacrifice which might set in motion the elements of a great economic victory.

It's Right, But Mustn't Be Said

Not long ago a Tokyo newspaper by the name of Jiji Shimpo, essayed boldly to observe that General MacArthur was not a "living god."

Forthwith, the remainder of the Japanese press was forbidden to pick Jiji's denial of American as well as Japanese individual divinity.

In part, Jiji had this to say: "If the conception that government is something imposed upon the people by an outstanding god, great man, or leader is not rectified, democratic government is likely to be wrecked. We fear, the day after MacArthur's withdrawal that some living 'god' may be searched out to bring the sort of dictatorship that brought the Pacific war."

Now we do not know the workings of the allied control council mind, nor, indeed, that of Gen. MacArthur, but we suspect that the general does not consider himself in the divine category.

Why, then, the suppression of this editorial? Is harmonious administration of the occupation so dear that it must be purchased upon the altar of the least resistance?

Jiji's conclusions are in substance what many a political observer and correspondent has been saying all these years in connection with hopes for a democratic government for Japan. There may be factors which would justify suppression of such free comment, but we'd like to be shown. A free press is the first bulwark of democracy, and apparently our military authorities haven't got the fortitude or the broadness of vision to take this step.

Nazis Desperate To Defeat FDR

(Ed. Note — Drew Pearson today continues his revelation of important excerpts from the suppressed Rogge report on Nazi activities in the United States early in the war.)

WASHINGTON — Hermann Goering was depressed and sullen shortly before he cheated the Allied galleys. But when interviewed some time earlier by John Rogge and Justice Department officials on his attempts to sway American public opinion, he was frank and full of bravado.

Goering would have spent $150,000,000 to defeat Roosevelt in 1940, Goering said. During the same interview he boasted that he once considered having a sign hung in his office reading: "No business transacted here unless the amount involved is more than $10,000,000."

The only thing Goering quibbled about when he told Justice Department agents of Nazi attempts to defeat Roosevelt through John L. Lewis, was that he would not have paid as little as $3,000,000 to do the job.

It was Lewis's close friend, W. R. Davis, then engaged in selling Mexican oil to the German Navy, who went to Berlin after the war started in 1939 and discussed the whole strategy with Goering.

"Davis talked to me about John L. Lewis and that one ought to reach an agreement with him," Goering told Justice Department agents. "He was the one who was seeing me about oil business in Mexico. He told me that Lewis was not tied up with either of the two major parties but was a free lance as far as political decisions were concerned and was one of the few people who understood Germany's position. He presented himself as a very good friend of John L. Lewis. He told me that Lewis was very influential; that he was backed by the trade unions and that he was very important for a positive attitude towards Germany. Davis told me that by the use of his influence on Lewis, he could influence the elections in such a manner so that the re-election of Roosevelt which, in his opinion, would mean war, would be prevented."

The Rogge report then continues: "We asked Goering whether in connection with using Lewis to try to defeat Roosevelt in 1940, any sum of money from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 was mentioned. (We had heard that a representative of the Italian government by the name of Luigi Podesta had taken from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, in United States currency to the German consulate general in New York.)

"I am certain," Goering replied, "that I did not talk to Davis about influencing the American presidential election on a basis as ridiculous as that of $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. If a serious representative had approached me and told me that he could influence the presidential election so that they elected a president who was favorably inclined toward Germany, for such a purpose I would have spent $100,000,000 to $150,000,000."

Davis To Be Secretary Of State

Lewis was quite aware of the Davis conversations with Goering, according to the Rogge report. Davis conversations with Goering, report from Berlin.

"Altogether Goering had three different talks with Davis.

"Goering thought well of the scheme of having Davis work with Lewis and split up the labor unions in order to prevent the re-election of President Roosevelt," says the Rogge report.

"During the course of the conversations, Davis stated that he was willing to put millions of his own money into the scheme to have Lewis help him defeat President Roosevelt, but added that he would need additional financial support from the Nazis. He further stated that in the event he was successful in having President Roosevelt defeated, he wanted to become secretary of state.

"At the third session Goering stated that he had taken their discussions up with Hitler and gave Davis an advance copy of the speech which Hitler made on October 6, 1939. In that speech, as Hertslet himself commented, 'Hitler made no real concessions whatever toward peace.' (It was to negotiate an appeasement peace that John L. Lewis purported to be interested in the Davis mission.)

"During the course of these conferences, Davis, according to Hertslet, telephoned from Berlin to Lewis in the United States and reported to him."

Note—Joachim Hertslet, referred to above, was director of the German economic ministry, who collaborated closely with Davis in buying oil and later came to the United States to confer with both Davis and Lewis.

Pat Hurley Enters

After Davis returned from his conferences with Goering in 1939, Lewis called on Adolf Berle, then assistant secretary of state, with an implied threat to turn the CIO (which Lewis then headed) against Roosevelt if he did not appease Hitler. Regarding the Berle-Lewis conference, the Rogge report says:

"Lewis mentioned generally the resolutions passed at the CIO convention in support of the president and pointed out that these resolutions could just as easily have been passed in opposition to the president. Lewis went on to say that the time had come for a general peace."

This was emphatically rejected by Berle.

Davis and Lewis continued with their plans to sell oil to Germany and at this point Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war, entered the secret negotiations.

"Davis and Lewis continued their scheming," says the Rogge report. "In January 1940, the Mexican minister of finance, Suarez, came to the United States. He spent two days in New York conferring secretly with Harry Sinclair and his attorney, Patrick Hurley. At these conferences, not only had Lewis been present, but also Davis. Davis had been present at these conferences at the specific request of Lewis."

"A subsequent conference between Suarez, Harry Sinclair, and Patrick Hurley took place in Washington, D. C. At this conference, Lewis was again present. At the subsequent conference, Lewis falsely asserted that by protesting to President Roosevelt he had kept our government from sending a stiff note to Mexico in 1938 with reference to expropriation."

Later the big mine boss actually sat down with Hertslet of the German economic ministry and promised to swing the coal miners away from Roosevelt. Describing these conversations, the Rogge report says:

"Towards the end of March 1940, according to Hertslet's recollection, he, Davis, and Lewis had an evening conference at Davis's home in Scarsdale, N.Y. . . . They discussed the conference which Davis had had with Goering. Davis told Lewis that he had said to Goering that Lewis could count on the support of 10,000,000 workers and could use this support against Roosevelt. Lewis agreed. They discussed the coming elections, and Lewis said that he would come out against the re-election of Roosevelt."

Thereafter, Hertslet took up the subject matter of this evening meeting with the German embassy in Washington.

Thus, John L. Lewis pledged the votes of his miners against Roosevelt six months before the miners themselves knew anything about it. So it was a complete surprise to them when he carried out his pledge and came out for Wilkie in October.

What his miners did not know, however, was that the $55,000 for Lewis's coast-to-coast broadcast was paid by W. R. Davis, the man who had plotted this very thing in Berlin with Hermann Goering one year before.

UN Meeting To Be Routine Affair

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The general assembly of the United Nations opens its first meeting in this country Wednesday in New York. Nothing sensational is expected.

The meeting—to be held on the World's Fair Grounds in New York City—will last about six weeks. This is the assembly's second meeting. The first was last January and February in London. That London meeting was more or less a routine affair. Most of its time went into setting up the various agencies or committees which will do the work of U.N.

At the New York meeting the assembly will hear the reports—and maybe take action on the reports—of some of those agencies or committees created last winter in London.

From now on the general assembly meetings—like those of U.N.'s security council—will be held in this country. That's because U.N. has chosen the United States as headquarters.

One of the main jobs of the assembly at this first American meeting will be to try to decide where in the United States it wants permanent headquarters.

The general assembly is not like the security council. Although there are 51 nations in U.N., only 11 are on the security council. Those 11 include the Big Five:

- United States, Britain, Russia, France, China.
- If anyone of the Big Five wants to block important action by the other 10 members of the council, it can do so with a veto, a "no" veto.
- It's different in the general assembly. There all 51 member nations have one vote. And no nation can block assembly action with a veto. There's no veto in the assembly.
- So far in the history of U.N., the security council has held most attention. That's because the work it does is so dramatic. When one nation starts pushing another around, the council has to try to stop it.
- The security council does other work, too; its big job is to solve the sore spots—the dangerous ones—which spring up.
- But the assembly has the vast job of dealing in human welfare and other international problems of a less explosive nature.

Hal Boyle's Notebook

Shakespeare No Writer

By ED CREEGH (For Hal Boyle)

LONDON, (AP)—I always thought I could write better than Shakespeare and now I know it.

I refer, of course, to penmanship. A long succession of school teachers, city editors, bank clerks and passport officials have rapped my knuckles, hurled copy back at me or just shook their heads over the highly original way I form letters and words.

Well, if they ever over this way they can drop by the public record office museum, just re-opened after the bomb damage was patched up, and convince themselves that I am in good company for once. Shakespeare wrote as if somebody was gnawing the pen.

The bard's signature—discovered 36 years ago by Prof. C. W. Wallace of Nebraska—appears on a court document dated 1612 and is one of those things we must take upon faith, even though we think it odd that the man who wrote "Hamlet" should spell his name "Wilm Shakp".

That's what it says on the label, anyhow. To me it looked like "Walter Soskiewicz" a very fine center fielder I once knew. My wife said it looked to her like a message delivered after 4 a.m. and later translated "won't be home for dinner."

"This man Shakespeare," said my wife severely, "would never have got off his Palmer method certificate if he had lived to be a hundred. He should have done some push-pulls and compact ovals." She used to be a school teacher and knows about those things.

Samuel Pepys, Guy Fawkes, John Knox and the poet Spenser didn't come off much better as we ambled around the big room where the British government has collected collected a few million pounds worth of historic documents for people to rubber at.

Fawkes, to be sure, had some excuse for the scrawl he put at the bottom of a statement admitting that he and some pals had been playing with matches in the neighborhood of some gunpowder under the Houses of Parliament.

"The signature is believed to have been affixed after torture," the label says.

Geoffrey Chaucer on the other hand wrote prettily as you could ask, although it was all I could do to prevent my wife from marking red circles around the misspelled words Henry VI took no chances, he signed his name with a wooden stamp.

It was like peering through a keyhole of history poring over the deeds and diaries, the maps and "please-remit" notices of seven centuries, while the uniformed guards kept counting to make sure they still were all there.

Looking In The Future

NEW YORK.—A newspaperman runs into a good many dizzy characters, artfully silly and otherwise, and from time to time these gentlemen and ladies manage to get their names in the papers by their foolishness. Standard is the fellow who reads the future. Since a crystal ball is outmoded and tea leaf readers are on every corner, one flight up in the Gypsy Tearoom, the folks who hope to get public mention for their devotion to such a career, must try some other device.

About town right now is a gentleman, and I take it for granted he is such, who tells the future by reading the ice cubes in high-ball glasses.

When I was covering a beauty convention in the Pennsylvania Hotel during the late thirties, I discovered a fellow who could tell the character of a woman by looking at her knuckles, or of a man by merely shaking hands. He was employed by a finger nail enamel firm which wanted to attract the ladies to its booth. The girls flocked about in delighted abandon, while the fellow described all sorts of mystic motivations which probably had their roots less in his appreciation of the future than in the varied state of the ladies' dishpan hands.

On another occasion I discovered what a man was coming by the manner in which the studs in the bottom of my beer glass puddled. Another fellow claimed to be a sartorial seer who could tell a man's character by the size and shape of the knot in his cravat; he was frustrated by a friend of mine who made a fetish of never wearing a tie. When faced with this dilemma, my harried haberdashery expert tried for several moments to mend his fences but at last admitted he didn't know anything about the

Internees Returned To Their Native Italy

LAREDO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Twelve internees from an Italian ship crossed the international border here yesterday from Mexico, en route to Italy.

The men have been in Mexico nearly six years.

Two others from the ship were reported to have crossed the border at Brownsville.

The men are being moved under guard and will go from here to New York. They are being repatriated at the expense of the Italian government, immigration officials said.

Ann Lead A Nice Life

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—While it might not be fair to call her the latest star in Hollywood, Ann Sheridan certainly leads an existence which is the envy of other top actresses.

I found Ann lolling about her Enchlo rancho after returning from a four-month jaunt to Mexico, Cuba, New York and Connecticut. Before that, she worked 15 weeks in "Nora Prentiss." Before that, she took an 18-month vacation because she didn't like the roles Warners wanted her to do. She'll go to work soon in "The Unfaithful," but there's no hurry about that, so far as Ann is concerned.

"Yes, it's a pretty nice life," she admitted, relaxing from posing for pictures with her two cows, Clara Lou and a Holstein named Goldstein. "But I think I've earned it."

Originally destined to be a school teacher (a great loss for the cause of education), Ann came to Hollywood in 1933 as an obvious guest in a "search for beauty." Among her first pictures was a dilly called "Car 99" with a new comer named Fred MacMurray. There was some discussion about the film possibly harming the new male star's chances, but it was finally released. So was Ann. Then she hopped on a merry-go-round at Warners.

"Brother, did I work!" she emphasized. "I was at the studio from nine in the morning until four the next morning, and got up at nine again. I'd finish one picture in 18 days, then started another. I played a nurse so many times I didn't have to change costumes from picture to picture." She said the names of those films have become a blur.

So now you see why Annie is taking life easy these days.

Soldiers Pick Up Strength In National Football Poll

Longhorns Lose Ground In Fight For 2nd Place

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Boosted back to first place among the nation's football teams a week ago by the country's sports writers, Col. Red Blaik's Army team zipped farther out in front in the Associated Press weekly poll today.

At the same time Notre Dame boosted its second place margin over Texas, and Tennessee, Northwestern, Georgia and North Carolina came skipping up the trail off their successes of last Saturday.

All together, 156 sports writers from every section of the country balloted in this third week of the Associated Press' poll for the 1946 gridiron season. Texas drew 25 less votes for first place than it did a week ago, in spite of its 20-0 win over Arkansas last Saturday, and Notre Dame dropped 10 off its top-place selections.

Army picked up all of these 35, and more besides, when it crushed Columbia 48-14 and handed Lou Little's Lions their first setback of the campaign. They already had defeated Villanova, Oklahoma, Cornell and Michigan. As a result of all this, Army piled up 112 first-place picks, and an additional one-quarter top-spot vote, cast by an undecided ticket-splitter who couldn't make up his mind among the Cadets, the Irish, the Longhorns of Texas or the Quakers of Pennsylvania for the place at the head of the parade.

With each voter balloting for 10 teams, Notre Dame finished with 21 1-4 first-place votes and Texas with 13 1-4.

The Volunteers of Tennessee, upstarters of Alabama, picked up six top selections along the way. The only other outfit to be named to lead a ticket was the coast conference favorites from the University of California at Los Angeles, who were selected on two ballots.

Based on a system of 10 points for a first place vote, 9 for a second place pick, 8 for third, and so forth, Army rolled up the tremendous total of 1,499 1-2 points, one of the largest in the history of the poll. Notre Dame held second with 1,331 1-2 and Texas third with 1,262 1-2.

With the top trio remaining in their same order Tennessee zoomed-up from ninth place to fourth with 898 points as a result of its 12-0 decision over Bama, which left the Vols unbeaten and untied after four starts. The vault of the Vols dropped UCLA to fifth with 800 and left Penn. at 40-0 winner over Virginia, sixth with 699 1-2. Georgia, 33-13 victor over Oklahoma A&M, moved up to seventh with 548.

Michigan and Northwestern each collected 418 points to wind up in an exact tie, which is exactly how they wound up in their collision last Saturday—at 14-all.

WINNERS OVER NORTH WARD BY DEFAULT LAST WEEK, the East Ward Green Wave (above) swings into action for the first time Wednesday afternoon at Steer stadium, meeting Central Ward in the second of three scheduled contests. VISITORS ARE HEAVY Cow-Town Steers To Field 205-Pound Fullback Here

The North Side club that lines up against Big Spring's Steers in the football outing here Friday night will be fielding the biggest back to play against the resident eleven this season.

He is James Brewer, 205 pounds of muscle and brawn, who will dwarf anything in the Longhorn secondary, in fact anything on the Big Spring team.

Pete Fuglar is the only one who comes anywhere close to Brewer in size and, at 178 pounds, the local guard will be outweighed by almost 30 pounds.

The Cowtown brigade has been none too impressive as an offensive club but boasts one of the best defensive records in state high school circles. The Steers have been scored on only once to date.

That occurred last weekend when Amon Carter of Fort Worth gave them their biggest scare but lost, 8-7.

The visitors' backfield weight average is 175 1-2 pounds as compared to 171 for the line. For company in the secondary, Brewer has one lad who tips the scales at 165 (Yale Lary) and two who come in the 160's (Billy Bumgarner and Wallace Hooper, the latter the team captain).

Heaviest man in the Fort Worth forward wall is Bob Vann, who does 190 or thereabouts. The others range from 178 to 156.

With TOMMY HART
Some of the tin-ears who used to work Dutch Mantell's circuit will be heading this way once Pat O'Dowdy gets his arena set up at the auction barn north of town. Remember Danny McShain, the erstwhile Wild Irish Rose, who took part in the wildest grappling show ever to be unrehearsed in the village? That was the one in which he put Cyclone Mackey on the blink in a gory battle which drew the onlookers with hemoglobin? O'Dowdy says Daniel is bound for Texas way and will work for Dory Detton, the Amarillo czar, which means he'll labor here.

Mackey is still at it, according to O'Dowdy. He's practicing his trade around Hollywood and will be available. Ace Freeman is another working around the Movie Capital who is apt to map out a Texas expedition. Then there's Jack Heren, the Shreveport giant, who saw service overseas as a mechanic with the AAF. Jackson has his hand in the game again.

The report was put out some months ago that Bob Cummings, one of the more popular boys to work here at the time Herman Fuhrer was promoting, had checked out for a better world while soldiering in the ETO. Robin is very much alive and well. He's in business in Toledo, Ohio, now but is expected to return to the ring. The writer was in Cummings' outfit overseas for a while. Bob served with the military police at the time and a better soldier couldn't be found. He used to break his hands about once a month on abusive GI's and natives who insisted on acting up.

Some of the muscle-heads who piled the trade in these parts have divorced the game for gentler pursuits, however. Vic Weber, one of the most popular men ever to slip through the ropes here, has been crippled up and is in semi-retirement at his home in Jersey. Detton tried to lure him back this way to take over the promotional reins in one of the towns but Vic wouldn't budge.

Tex Watkins, arch villain of the ring and popular here for that reason, has ballooned up to 250 pounds now and is on the police force in Birmingham, Ala.

Don Hill, a fancy dan of the wrestling troupes, is a very successful promoter in El Paso. Most of the grapplers stick with the game in some capacity or another.

There's very little doubt but that Monahans and Pecos rule the roost in West Texas Class A football circles. Monahans perhaps could give Odessa or Sweetwater, the AA leaders, a run for the money.

The Ward county power smacked down Leveled in its opening game. The Leveled brigade came along to edge

Al Baggett Out At West Texas

AMARILLO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Al Baggett, director of athletics at West Texas State College, Canyon, has announced that he has been dismissed.

He said last night that he had been notified of his discharge in a letter from college President Dr. J. A. Hill.

Baggett has been director of the West Texas school's athletic program since 1933.

Baggett said his dismissal resulted from his part in the recent coaching controversy which caused suspension of W. W. Nicklaus, head football coach, and Leslie Van Meter, line coach.

When several Buff players refused to take the field if Nicklaus remained in charge of the team, Baggett sided with Van Meter, who served as football coach at the college from January to June 1942. Van Meter went into the Army and upon his return was assigned as assistant to Nicklaus who had been employed during his absence.

Baggett said he had refused to request a leave of absence or to resign.

The football team has been under supervision of W. A. Miller, basketball mentor, since Oct. 12 when Miller guided the Buffaloes to their first and only victory of the season—over Colorado College.

Eagles, Billies Meet In Stanton

STANTON, Oct. 22.—Courtney and Knott, members of the District Ten six-man football setup, will clash in a night game here Friday, Oct. 25.

The Lions club of Stanton is footing the bill to bring the game to Stanton. The tilt was originally scheduled to be played in Courtney.

Neither team has been able to chalk up a victory to date but the Courtney clan is heavily favored to win the Friday night outing.

Yearlings Work For Thursday Go

Jim McWhorter sent his Big Spring Junior high school football Yearlings through a light scrimmage Monday afternoon at Steer stadium in preparation for their Thursday invasion of Colorado City.

The Big Springers came out of the Odessa tussel last week in fairly good physical shape and will be ready to field their regular eleven Thursday, with the exception of Carol Canon, who is out for the campaign because of a cracked rib.

Bisons To Play Pecos Nov. 1

STANTON, Oct. 22.—Travis Green's Stanton high school Buffaloes, who will be idle this weekend, have three home games remaining on their 1946 schedule.

The Bisons have the unenviable task of tangling with the powerful Pecos Eagles here Friday, Nov. 1. The War Birds are unbeaten to date and, of course, will rule as heavy favorites to smear the Buffs.

Hermleigh (Scurry County) invades Stanton Friday, Nov. 8, after which the home eleven will oppose Robert Lee on Nov. 15.

Robert Lee has beaten Lorraine, 8-0, which played a scoreless deadlock with Stanton, and Miles by a record 97-0 tally.

Fort Worth Grid Special Cancelled

Walter Read, local high school principal, was informed this morning that the T&P railroad would not be able to supply a special train for the North Side fans due to the rail congestion in that portion of Fort Worth. The train was to have arrived here Friday afternoon and made the return trip shortly after the game.

North Side school officials have returned a bloc of game tickets here as result of the cancellation. They will be made available to local fans.

Read said he expected one of the largest crowds of the season to see the battle, which brings a Fort Worth team here for the first time in a decade.

The Big Spring chamber of commerce, which was making arrangements to transport Northside fans from downtown to the stadium, announced that persons who had volunteered to furnish cars Friday night would be notified of the cancellation as soon as possible.

J. H. Greene, chamber manager, expressed appreciation to several who had already made their automobiles available for the occasion.

Water Hearing Poses Problem For The UCRA

The Upper Colorado River Authority is having its troubles in getting a hearing of an application for water rights for a proposed irrigation project near Robert Lee.

C. S. Clark, chairman of the state board of water engineers, has indicated the board, which must consider the UCRA application unless and until the filing fee of $306 is paid.

The UCRA has no funds with which to pay the filing fee. Moreover, it has proceeded under the position that the UCRA, being a political agency, is not liable for the filing fee. This is based on a reported ruling by US Attorney General Tom Clark. One school of legal thought holds that the UCRA does not have to secure appropriation of the water rights, but Clark flatly does not consider this possibility.

Originally, the UCRA project, which currently has been some 11 years in progressing to its present status, proposed to construct a dam across the Colorado River at a cost of $20,000,000 to impound a lake capable of irrigating 58,000,000 acres in Coke, Runnels and Concho counties.

Least week, however, the state board of water engineers granted the Colorado River Municipal Water association (Colorado City, Snyder, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa) water rights above Colorado City, which might reduce the potential irrigated acreage by about 20 per cent. However, some observers in this area feel that the UCRA sign-up for irrigation would not reach 80 per cent of its original potential.

Murder-Suicide Is Finding In Triple Killing

CALDWELL, Oct. 22. (AP)—A verdict of suicide and murder has been returned in Justice Court here in connection with a triple killing on a farm near here yesterday.

Justice of the Peace J. J. Hadcox ruled an inquest verdict of suicide in the death of John F. Horcica, a farmer, and ruled that Horcica had fatally clubbed his brother-in-law, Joe Gavenda, 20, and killed his wife, Mrs. Annie Horcica, with a .22 rifle.

Sheriff Cleve Bates said Horcica evidently had "gone completely haywire."

"Witnessing the deaths of his mother and father was the Horcica's only child, 14-year-old Frank. He said his mother was killed in a pasture as she fled from the scene of her brother's slaying. He said he saw the father place the rifle to his head and kill himself."

RECRUITING IS GRIM BUSINESS

Recruiting for the Armed Forces can be a tough business at times, according to Capt. Wayne Hall of Abilene and formerly of Big Spring.

Hall recently dispatched two enlisted aides to a rural community within his area for the purpose of supplying transportation back to Abilene for a newly signed volunteer.

They came back empty-handed. They had, they disclosed, found no one at the house when their man was about the place, they searched until they came to the barn. There they found him at the end of a rope, a suicide.

Airline Strike Under Study

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—The White House said today the National Mediation Board is considering possible intervention in the two-day-old strike of pilots which has halted Trans World Airline flights at home and abroad.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross emphasized at a news conference that the White House itself was not entered into the wage dispute, but simply has been advised that the board is studying the case. He added that he did not know what that agency might do.

At the same time, he said government seizure of the world-wide TWA system has not been discussed.

Otherwise, there was no sign of a break in the deadlock over the pay increase demands of the AFL pilots who now earn about 1,000 monthly.

Essentials Of Peace Discussed By Coffee

Hope of securing and keeping the peace rests on the recognition of moral principles, law and superior force, John A. Coffee, declared in the feature address before the toastmasters club Monday evening.

Coffee said that economic welfare still existed because of failure to recognize moral codes. Until law is incorporated on an international basis, with a supreme force for support, he saw little hope for preventing an eventual armed conflict.

E. B. McCormick made the educational address, pointing to the need of expressive gestures. Harold Steek talked on salesmanship among credit people. Table topic—"Is our present policy toward Russia right?"—was proposed by Dr. George Peacock. Dan Conley was general critic and Franklin Nugent was toastmaster.

Roofing Materials Needed To Repair Damage By Hair

Attention of national housing expediter has been called to heavy hail damage to roofs in Big Spring, J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, reported Tuesday.

After conferring with lumber dealers and some insurance underwriters, the need of approximately seven cars of composition roofing and five cars of regular shingles was estimated to exist as an urgent need in Big Spring.

As of Monday, a total of 186 claims for hail damage reportedly had been filed for adjustment as a result of the combined thunderstorm and hailstorm on Oct. 9. Housing expediter promised prompt attention to applications for roofing from Big Spring, Greene said.

Applications Here For Payments For Soil Conservation

Applications for payments on 1946 soil conservation practices carried on within the county have arrived in Big Spring and are being distributed by the AAA office.

Howard county land owners who subscribed to the program number some 600, according to the latest estimates. More than $90,000 will be paid farmers and ranchers of the county for the terracing accomplished on their places since Jan. 1.

The completed forms will be cleared through the General Accounting Office at College Station and eligible parties are expected to receive payment within a matter of weeks.

Persons who carried out the practices can make application for payment by calling at the agency in the old city hall building at the corner of Scurry and West third streets.

Jury Convicts Man On Driving Counts

Walter G. Ammons' trial by jury Monday afternoon, the first held in justice court in some time, resulted in convictions on three counts.

Ammons was found guilty of operating a commercial vehicle without proper registration, driving the machine without a commercial operator's license and the display of improper vehicle tags. He was fined $10 and costs on each count.

The defense gave notice of appeal.
