Helpful Area Rains Also Cause Damage Some Places

A heavy rain and windstorm last Wednesday did considerable damage between Lubbock and Posen.

A two-bedroom trailer house east of the Keeton Cattle Co. was turned over. The owner, Bob Hammonds, his wife and ten-year old son were inside at the time. Mrs. Hammonds sustained minor injuries. The trailer is 43 feet long and weighs about five tons.

On the Earl Foerster farm, a double garage which had been completed last month, was flattened.

At Brownfield, roofs were damaged on several houses.

At Lubbock, a large plate glass window was blown out of the Hemphill - Wells downtown store.

At Artesia, New Mexico, Saturday, a flash flood did damage estimated at a million dollars and left sixty families homeless. Some of them were cared for in the much publicized Abo underground school building. President Johnson has designated the entire Eddy county, which includes Carlsbad as well as Artesia, as a disaster area.

Heavy rains which fell Sunday, June 14, left five feet of water over Highway 84 between Sudan and Muleshoe. Prospects were it would be at least ten days before it could be reopened, if no more rain fell.

A paved detour over farm roads via Circleback and Needmore was in operation, requiring about twenty miles extra travel.

Last Thursday, the sand was blowing so bad on the detour most drivers were burning their headlights.

Breedlove New Chief

Acting police Chief Sergeant Robert Breedlove was excused, and applications were considered for the position left vacant by the resignation of Joe Martin. Commissioners had read all the applications and they were not reread. Bownds said some of them were most amusing, and that he had thought a man from outside should be placed in charge of the Police Department, but that after watching Breedlove's work for the past month he had changed his mind and recommended Breedlove for the post. Banks said that other things being equal, he felt a man in the department should be promoted. Reasoner said only two applications submitted appeared to him due consideration, and he also favored Breedlove. Cain and Bollinger agreed. It was moved by Bownds, seconded by Reasoner, that Sergeant Robert Breedlove be promoted to Chief of Police at a salary of $450 per month, and that he be raised to $475 at the end of 90 days if his services were satisfactory, and that the 90-day period be figured from the time he became acting Chief. Carried. This is the salary the former Chief received. Police Judge Gregory also commended Breedlove, saying he was not excitable and had handled things right during the last month.

He was reported in fair condition at presstime Wednesday.

THE CHAMPIONS

"The Champions", pictured above, are the 1964 pennant winners in the Pee Wee baseball program. Competition was extra keen this year and at the end of regular season play, there were three teams tied for the coveted first spot. The Pirates, Cubs, and Red Sox ended the regular season with identical records of six wins and three losses each and then, in post season championship play off on Tuesday, the Pirates edged the Cubs in a hard played game by a score of 20 to 14 which entitled them to meet the Red Sox who, by a toss of a coin, had drawn a bye for the first play off game. Thursday afternoon, the Pirates and the Red Sox met in the crucial championship game and the Pirates edged the Red Sox in a spine tingling game by a score of 7 to 6. COTTON TALKS

LUBBOCK, Friday, June 19—The farm labor hassle in Washington promises to be a dandy later this year, and here are some of the facts and figures that both sides will likely be interpreting to suit their respective purposes as the battle picks up steam.

Foreign worker employment declined in 1963 for the fourth successive year. Average foreign worker employment for the U.S. dropped 20 per cent to 56,500. Total admission of foreign workers (including Mexican, Canadian, British West Indian, Japanese and Filipino) came to 209,200, the smallest number since 1961.

This area, of course, is primarily concerned with Mexican labor. Of the total 550,400 man-months of Mexican labor used in 1963, 57 per cent was used in California, 20 per cent in Texas, 10 per cent in Arizona and 13 per cent by 16 other states. As a result of the restrictions placed on the use of Mexicans on long term jobs, the term of employment for the average Mexican workers declined from 2.94 months in 1962 to 2.82 months in 1963.

In Texas, foreign worker employment averaged 9,100 — a drop of 42 per cent from 1962. There was also an eight per cent drop in domestic workers used, which should go a long way toward answering those who have contended that reducing the amount of available foreign labor would increase farm employment of U.S. citizens. To further answer such a contention, in the Texas cotton harvest the decline was 25 per cent for foreign workers and 27 per cent for domestics.

All figures are from U.S. Department of Labor's own "Farm Labor Market Developments," March, 1964.

With the expiration December 31 of the program supplying us with supplemental labor from Mexico, High Plains farmers find few reasons to smile over the labor prospects in the immediate future. There is, however, one little ray of sunshine permeating the whole dilemma, at least for the moment.

The Senate Migratory Labor Subcommittee has announced postponement to an indefinite future date hearing on S-528 spot control operations within and S-529. These are the bills which, if passed into law, would impose minimum wages and collective bargaining on users of agricultural labor. The Senate's protracted debate of the civil rights bill, plus the fact that Chairman of the Subcommittee and author of the bills Senator Harrison Williams (D-N.J.) has his hands full at home campaigning for reelection, is responsible for the postponement.

There are reports that Senator Williams' reelection is far from being a certainty, and few close to farm labor will bemoan his loss if he is defeated.

Our Executive Vice President, George Pfeiffenberger, was released from the hospital on June 18 following abdominal surgery. We have all been gratified by the cards and letters wishing him well from all over the world. He is expected to be back in the office within a short time.

The last of 36 cotton compresses in the 23-county High Plains area has signed a contract with PCG to participate in the collection of funds to carry out the "diapause" weevil control program so essential to preventing a Plains-wide weevil infestation. This is an excellent demonstration of the teamwork of which the High Plains cotton industry is capable in the face of a common enemy, and virtually assures $1 million to fight the dreaded pest. Federal funds to match this amount are being sought through the Plant Pest Control division of the USDA.

In effect, an important part of the weevil control program is already in progress in the form of extensive surveys and educational programs to get the most effective in-season control possible during this year's growing season. In-season control can reduce migration of weevils from heavily infested areas, thus reducing the acreage that it will be necessary to spray this fall. The "diapause" portion of the effort calls for spraying all infested acreage above the Caprock and all below the Caprock back to the line of ranches on the East. Fall sprayings will probably begin in September and continue at about 10 to 14 day intervals until frost, thus killing all weevils before they go into hibernation.

This is the same system that has been so effective in the Presidio area of Texas and on the Texas prison farms, and entomologists say it should reduce the High Plains weevil problem to one of inexpensive spot control operations within a very few years.

"Reduction cottons" — cottons reduced in price or loan value because of low micronaire, gin damage or excessive foreign matter — cost High Plains farmers in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 in reduced income from the 1963-64 crop. Obviously, some of this loss was unavoidable, but most of it could have been saved by the use of proper cultural practices and care in harvesting. The loss figure is calculated from a USDA report which sets out the number of bales of such cotton, by cause, in the Southwestern area. The report itself states: "Many causes of 'reduction cottons' cannot be controlled by mortal man, but those factors that can be controlled far outnumber those that cannot."

Foreign matter found in cotton that reduce its price are listed in the report as bark, dust, grass, hulls, motes, oil, sand, seed and stems. Of these, the High Plains produced almost 19,000 "barkies," about 2,500 "grassies" and negligible amounts of the others. Total bales reduced in price at least one step by all these causes is reported as just below 22,000. This involves a reduction in price of one cent per pound below the grade to which the cotton is reduced by the presence of any of these extraneous materials.

Only about 8,000 of the High Plains' two million bale crop last year were reduced in price because of "preparation" or gin damage. Such damage can result from the condition in which cotton arrives at the gin or from faulty gin machinery.

Where the High Plains is really hurt each year is in cotton that is classed as "wasty," principally by reason of its low micronaire, or immaturity of the fibers. Wasty bales in 1963-64 numbered about 100,000 in this area at about $20,000 per bale reduction — $2,000,000 in lost income from wastes alone. And even that loss is not the whole story of "low-mike" cotton. Those bales which mike 2.6 or below are classed as wasty, while buyers quote 3.5

as the tenderable micronaire limit and look with some degree of disfavor on any cotton making below that level. This causes additional price losses in the millions of dollars.

Beginning with the 1964-65 crop, micronaire will be one of the factors incorporated into government loan, values and placed on the "green card." Wasties, as such, are being done away with and premiums and discounts for micronaire are set up on the following schedule:

2.6 & below	-300 points
2.7 to 2.9	-150 points
3.0 to 3.2	-50 points
3.3 to 3.6	Even
3.7 to 4.8	plus 13 points
4.9 to 5.1	Even
5.2 to 5.4	-10 points
5.5 & Above	-25 points

By applying this schedule of micronaire premiums and discounts to the High Plains crop of 1963-64 it becomes readily obvious that this cotton quality measurement will take on added significance this year.

SLEEPING SICKNESS

At Childress last week, Dwight Holley, 11, was in critical condition in a hospital with a severe case of encephalitis — sleeping sickness. City health authorities said the boy was probably infected by a mosquito bite.

Recent rains there have caused a heavy increase in mosquitoes there, and a spraying campaign was started to try to head off an epidemic such as occurred in the Plainview area last year.

THIS ONE OUGHT TO LAST 20 YEARS!

That was what we thought ten years ago when we set the other pole. But increased demand for electricity calls for bigger and heavier lines to carry more electricity to rural areas.

This new pole is just one example of the many ways in which the member-owned South Plains Electric Cooperative is keeping ahead of demand, furnishing an efficient, dependable, economical electrical service.

When no one else would do the job, South Plains Electric Cooperative was the first to bring electric service to this rural area. They're still the best. Rural electrification is good for all Texans.

Without all these experiences his youth is incomplete!

A well-rounded person is one who grows to know all sides of life. You wouldn't think of depriving your children of the countless uses of science... or of the beauty and pleasure in great art and literature... or of the healthy fun of play. Then don't deprive them of the experience of religious training from which so many even richer and more valuable experiences result. Whatever your belief, give your children a chance to find the strength for broadening their lives through Faith.

SIDEDRESSING COTTON NOW OF CONCERN

It's time for a decision on whether to apply fertilizer to cotton in a sidedress operation, says County Agent Lee H. McElroy.

The application of adequate plant nutrients in proper balance to meet the requirements of the cotton plant is now accepted as being one of the most profitable practices on the Plains. In producing 1½ bales cotton an acre, about 65 pounds nitrogen, 33 pounds phosphorus (P2O5), and 44 pounds potash (K2O) is actually removed from the soil in the lint, seed, and burrs. If the soil is not capable of meeting these demands it then becomes necessary to add the nutrients in one form or another, usually as commercial fertilizer. The best method presently known for determining the soils nutrient status is the soil test.

It is usually considered desirable to apply about half the nitrogen and all the phosphate and potash (where needed) as a preplant on irrigated cotton. However, the fertilizer can be applied as a sidedress with equal response if certain factors are kept in mind, continues Lee McElroy. By following the preplant plan just mentioned, a possibility of early deficiencies can be avoided. Also, the use of additional nitrogen — preferably by the time squares begin to set — can be increased or decreased, depending on the season and general crop prospects.

If no fertilizer has been applied, a very early sidedress application is likely to be needed for irrigated cotton, said McElroy.

Some dryland producers prefer to delay fertilizer application until the crop is to a stand or until the moisture situation appears adequate. On sandier soils known to be deficient in plant nutrients, the use of fertilizer has been profitable for the past several years. On sandy soils with very low organic matter that have produced very short stalks in seasons of favorable rainfall, up to 40 pounds nitrogen per acre has paid good dividends. Where phosphorus is extremely low, phosphate has been necessary along with the nitrogen to get the desired increases. Up to 40 pounds P2O5 should be considered.

Cotton has its heaviest plant nutrient requirement while actively fruiting. For best response, fertilizers should be applied ahead of this period. Where phosphate is used it is essential the material be placed deep enough so that it will be in reach of the permanent roots. If phosphate is placed near the surface, where subjected to alternate drying and wetting, it cannot be utilized by the plant since it moves little from the point of application. Nitrogen moves freely with soil water and for this reason its replacement is less critical.

Another important factor to consider in placement is the hazard of root pruning that can damage the crop. Determine the extent of the lateral root system with a spade. Then apply the fertilizer just ahead of the rapidly expanding root system. For older cotton, it would probably be best to apply fertilizer in the center of the middle to minimize pruning. In either case one chisel per middle is suggested.

Sidedressing offers an excellent opportunity to balance out your fertilizer use program for this cotton crop. If preplant application was omitted or you think it was inadequate to produce the yields you have the potential of producing with the season, additional fertilizer will probably pay. If you applied sufficient fertilizer earlier, some of your nitrogen may have been lost through leaching if you have had heavy rainfall on the sandy soils.

Mrs. Dorothy H. Jacobson, recently appointed assistant secretary of agriculture for foreign affairs, has quietly announced that a study is being made as to whether government funds will continue to be spent in advertising American tobacco in foreign countries. No commitments will be made beyond existing contracts.

Since 1956, Thailand tobacco dealers have been contributing $100,000, American tobacco growers $25,000 and the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture $25,000 annually in a campaign to double exports of American tobacco to Thailand. The government's part of the contract expired March 31, and Mrs. Jacobson has just announced that it has been terminated, at least temporarily.

Seems to be a lot of scrambling and thinking going on about the cancer weed. Dep't of Health, Education and Welfare spending millions to discourage use of the cancer weed. Agriculture spending millions supporting raw tobacco prices and encouraging farmers to grow it, hundreds of thousands advertising American tobacco products in Japan, Germany, Austria — and Thailand. Lobbyists and congressmen from the tobacco growing states working hard to keep and increase the support program. Treasury Dept' and the states collecting billions in tobacco and cigarette taxes.

Veterans Hospitals barring free distribution of cigarettes to patients. Defense Dept' spending millions trying to keep the Comies out of Thailand, while the Thailand tobacco monopoly spends $100,000 a year advertising American tobacco. Cigarette shipments increasing in March for the first time since publication of the Surgeon General's report last year. American Tobacco common stock (which hasn't missed a dividend since 1888) jumping from $26 to $36 a share since that time.

The teachers and the preachers are having a heyday, and we nicotine addicts have almost quit reading and listening. Some of us get a guilty feeling every time we take another puff. Many years ago, a teacher told a class one drop of nicotine on a dog's tail would kill the dog. Some of us scraped an old pipe and tried it on a puppy. It lived. We don't believe all we hear now.

A proposal by President Johnson to set up a Food Marketing Study Commission for one year at a cost of $1.5 million passed the House without opposition.

A similar bill passed the senate, but authorized $2.5 million for a two-year study. The two bills will now have to go to a joint Senate-House committee, but there is little doubt a compromise bill will be passed and signed by the President.

Purpose of the Commission was to study the entire food industry, from the farmer to the consumer, but it seems now to be centering on an investigation of the big retail food chains.

In Russia there are no 4-H Clubs to teach boys and girls a better way of life and work; no agricultural extension service to show better methods for raising crops and livestock; no specialists to help improve homemaking skills; no business men to support this "massive, informal, educational program" which includes 4-H.

However, Premier Khrushchev did learn something about the Cooperative Extension Service during his visit to the U.S. In a Pravda article, Khrushchev revealed a "secret" to the Russian people. He admitted that certain extension practices were "borrowed" when the Soviet agricultural system was overhauled recently.

Explains Service
"I have in mind," he said, the introduction of scientific achievements. In the United States of America a farmer's service exists under the universities and colleges. The agents meet with the farmers and persuade them to introduce this or that method, help them in organization of production and furnish them with plans."

He got most of the extension picture, but apparently missed the role of extension for the last 50 years in developing the 4-H Club program.

In the early days of 4-H, the trained extension agents worked with the children of farm families. The plan provided the wedge that opened the door for the agents to reach the farmers and their wives.

No Free Enterprise
It has been suggested that Khrushchev might further improve farming under communism if he also had initiated a program for youth patterned after the 4-H Clubs. Seventy other foreign countries have. But Russia lacks the incentive and backing provided by private enterprise.

U.S. industry has backed 4-H work right from the beginning. It provides technical know-how, financial aid and recognition. More than 55 leading business firms cooperate with the extension service and the National 4-H Service Committee in sponsoring individual projects.

Today there are at least three dozen areas of 4-H Club work.

Some of the newer programs and their sponsors are: Photography, Eastman Kodak; Conservation, John Deere; Foods-Nutrition, General Foods; Alumni Recognition, Olin Mathieson; Dog Care and Training, Ralston-Purina.

Fifty years ago there were only a few projects: growing tomatoes and canning them; growing corn and raising pigs to eat the corn.

Long-Time Support
Sponsors that have supported 4-H for 20 or more years are: Armour and Company; Santa Fe Railway; Burlington Railroad; Milwaukee Railroad; Chicago & North Western Railway; Coca & Clark; Conard Hilton Hotel; Cudahy Packing Company; Firestone; Illinois Central Railroad; International Harvester; Kerr Glass; Livestock Conservation Incorporated; Montgomery Ward; Sears-Roebuck Foundation; Westinghouse Educational Foundation; Wilson & Co.; Standard Oil (Ohio); General Motors; American Oil Foundation.

Collectively they make the National 4-H Club Congress possible. One of the most coveted awards for a 4-H'er is the congress trip given to one boy or girl per state in a specific program. Altogether about 1,600 young people from 50 states travel to Chicago each fall to participate in this educational event.

Vocational Building For Boys' Ranch

On June 7th, the West Texas Boys Ranch dedicated a new vocational building. Funds for the building were donated by Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Carr of San Angelo. This building is a long-time dream for the Ranch. For years the Ranch has placed emphasis on introductory vocational training and job placement. It has needed a place where the younger boys and older boys could develop more skill in working with machinery, etc. The Carr Building has a shop for the younger boys and one for the older boys, a classroom and a library.

In the vocational building the boys will be taught basic skills and given an opportunity to make projects which they can use. One program planned is the upholstering and remodeling of furniture. As a result of the training the boys receive at the Ranch, many of them go on to further a life time trade which was started at the Ranch.

The West Texas Boys Ranch has 66 boys in residence and 16 to 20 in placement away from the Ranch. The boys are given an opportunity to work away from the Ranch during the summer on such jobs as ranching, garages, etc. This has been very beneficial as it gives the older boys an opportunity to develop more skill, self-respect, and also an opportunity to earn extra money.

The Ranch began its operation in 1947 with one boy, Jimmy Johnson, who graduated with honors from San Angelo High School and Texas A&M. He went on to serve in the army, got married, became the father of twins, and was killed about two years ago in an automobile accident.

The basic purpose and goal of the Ranch remains as it was in 1947, to provide a home with a Ranch type institutional setting whereby homeless, dependent, neglected, boys can be given the opportunity to become productive citizens.

"Hard-Luck" is a term coined at the Ranch to define a boy who is not a delinquent, but a boy who if allowed to remain in the environment he was in before being sent to the Ranch would surely have gotten in trouble.

In the early days of the Ranch, food, clothing, and shelter were the primary concerns. However, through the years the Ranch has come to develop a program centered around the social, emotional, and spiritual needs of the boys. The Ranch has its full-time chaplain and the boys accept the major responsibility in carrying out the church program. Each boy gives one dime to the church each week out of his allowance.

The Ranch sponsors its own citizenship program which is essentially self-governing by the boys. The Ranch also has its own rodeo arena, its own air strip, and about three miles of spring creek. The boys fish on a community basis. Everything caught is put in the deep freeze and saved until there is enough for a fish fry.

At various times, the boys have cattle, goat, sheep and pigs and raise their own garden. They also operate their own store which is managed by one of the boys. The boys borrowed enough money to go into business and have paid it back. At the present time they are trying to set up their own credit union. This is excellent training for the boys as most of them have never had this type of training prior to coming to West Texas Boys Ranch.

Throughout the years, since it was founded, the Ranch has continued to operate solely on donations. More than 600 boys have lived at the Ranch. The Ranch accepts boys from ages 8-14 and since January have received over 80 applications and have only been able to take care of twelve. At the present time the Ranch is trying to make arrangements to accept ten boys who definitely need to be at the Ranch.

A boy is kept at the Ranch until he has progressed to the point that he can go into society on his own. This depends on the boy and the community.

Boys are generally referred to the Ranch by churches, interested citizens or professional juvenile workers. Some of the boys go to the Ranch on their own. The Executive Director, Morris H. Craig pointed out that one boy came for a week-end and stayed five years.

"West Texas Boys Ranch is West Texans way of taking care of their own and what they do for the Ranch is done because of love," remarked Morris Craig.

Visitors are welcome at the Ranch at any time and open house is held every Sunday from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. The public is invited to join the boys for their Sunday Service which is held at 11:00 a.m.

Boys currently being served from your County are: James Stockton, Ray Munguia, George Conyers, Randy Branum, Jules Boone, Danny Eddie, and Sammie Branum all of Lubbock, Texas, also Ronnie Bottom.

Wholesome Recreation Necessary

Setting time aside for wholesome recreation is becoming increasingly important in leading a healthful and productive life.

For most people, the day's routine no longer includes vigorous physical activity or provides enough variety otherwise to break the monotony of daily living. The natural result of modern conveniences and increased automation is a sedentary existence.

Modern society has become what someone has called "flipped." The executive now works long hours instead of the laborer. Yet, like everyone else, physicians, executives, and other professional people need the refreshment that enjoyable recreation offers.

Leisure time can be used to regain a healthy balance of suitable physical activity and relaxation. Whether through a trip to the opera or an hour or two of quiet fishing, the ability to "lose oneself" in some diversionary recreation provides personal fulfillment and relief from life's tensions.

Recreation is personal; to be satisfying the hobbies and other activities chosen should be meaningful to the individual. What may be enjoyable to one person may be boring to another. Fortunately, a wide variety of opportunities is available and every person should be able to find some that bring satisfaction. Interesting family activities, another important but often missing part of modern life, can evolve from personal recreation interests.

Whatever a person may choose as hobbies, some physical recreation should be included daily. The health benefits from regular suitable physical activity such as weight control, relief from stress, and a sense of well-being are now well established. On the other hand, the potential ill-effects of prolonged inactivity, such as obesity, metabolic disorders, loss of movement capacity, cannot be considered helpful for enjoyable living.

The broad benefits attributed to recreation are not automatic outcomes. Every activity carries some risk, whether from the nature of the activity itself or from the demands on the participant. One national survey showed 18,000 disabling golf injuries in 1962. Most of these were persons struck by golf balls. However, heat prostration accounted for 10 per cent and over-exertion another 7 per cent of the total. These statistics should not cause a rush to the golf cart, which produced 7 per cent of the casualties. Rather, golfers should respect the safeguards that judgement and conditioning will offer.

L. C. C. Enrolls 150 Students

Summer school enrollment at Lubbock Christian College reached an unexpected high of 150 according to Dr. H. O. Wilson, registrar and summer school director.

The first day of registration ended Monday, June 8, with 143 enrolled breaking the previous record of 115 set in 1963.

The first session will end July 17. The second semester will begin July 20 and end August 2.

Enrollment of an even larger number of students is expected for the second semester beginning in July. Dr. Wilson said, if enrollments follow the trend set in the summer of 1963.

Last year, enrollments were 109 and 115 for the first and second terms, respectively. This is the third year in which LCC has offered summer study.

Dr. Wilson explained that summer school affords for the student the opportunities of participating in smaller classes with more individual attention, adjusting to college life gradually, making up deficiencies and enabling the student to graduate a full year earlier.

"My uncle can play the piano by ear."
"That's nothing, my uncle fiddles with his whiskers."

"Behind every argument is somebody's ignorance."

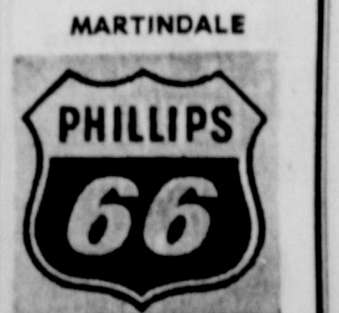

"Thank heaven, that misery's over!"
"What misery, pal?"
"Dancing with the hostess. Have you been through it yet?"
"Don't have to; I'm the host."

Candidates peddle the same old hoke, but whoever wins we're always broke.

Marriage is just one undarned thing after another!

A local husband complains that the neighbors keep him broke. They always buy things his wife can't afford.

The Lords Prayer was repeated in unison. Mrs. Hub Haire, the marshal, led the pledge of Allegiance, after which America was sung.

Mrs. Dunn gave a gracious welcome to everyone and ask the marshal to present the installing officer, Mrs. Sam Martin, for introduction.

The other installing officers were introduced as, Mrs. Herbert Dunn, installing marshal; Mrs. Longtin, installing organist; and Mrs. G. N. Smallwood, secretary pro tem.

A short recess was called to prepare for the installation and the out-going officers retired. Besides Mrs. Smallwood and Oats, officers installed were Cora Fortson, associate Matron; Donald Pennell, assoc. Patron; Opal Pennell, secretary; Gloss Davis, treasurer; Doll Haire, conductress; Lucille Myers, assoc. conductress; Gladys Hitt, chaplain; Bobby Oats, Marshall; Maxin Lewis, organist; Jerry Callaway, Ada; Thelma Burkett, Ruth; Beniah Wheeler, Esther; Cordia Johnston, Martha; Maxine Burkett, Electa; Karen Callaway, Warder; Clay Johnston, Sentinel.

Mrs. Smallwood extended greetings to the guest and members. Her theme for the year is "Faith and Prayer." Her colors blue and silver. She chose the red rose as her flower. She thanked each one who had a part in her installation. Little Ronnie Smallwood, the Worthy Matron's son, presented her with a bouquet of red roses and a big kiss. A piano solo "Bless This House" was played by Janice Pinkert. A duet "How Great Thou Art" was sung by Lucille Myers and Bobby Oats. The marshal was asked to escort the Junior Past Patron to the East where his wife Mrs. Pennell presented him with the Past Patron jewel.

The Rev. Fortson, pastor of the local Baptist Church, gave the Benediction. Mrs. M. A. Dunn and Mrs. Jay Oats were in charge of a reception honoring the Worthy Matron and Patron, following the installation.

The serving table was covered with a net cloth over blue, centered with the open Bible with red roses across the pages, flanked by blue candles. Mrs. Maxine Burkett, Mrs. Gladys Hitt and Mrs. Thelma Burkett served as the decorating committee. Several guests from Slaton and Southland attended this special occasion.

Water Attracts Children
Owning a swimming pool is becoming rather common in Texas and it places some legal duties on the owner.

As a rule you own no duty to trespassers. They must take your property as they find it.

A high tension line, an old muneshaft, a railroad turntable, a pool of clear acid may be irresistible to children.

Recently a court held that a swimming pool may be an attractive nuisance. In this case a toddler drowned in Jones' pool.

How young is the child? Can he appreciate the dangers? How easy is it for the owner to make the place safe for children?

There are times when an older child should appreciate dangers. An older child playing on a scaffold should appreciate the dangers of height.

A land owner may have other duties to trespassers. He cannot set a "trap" on his land.

Sometimes a condition on your land may be a trap to children but not one for adults.

Property Should Be Rendered To Tax Authorities
April 1 and May 1 are important deadlines for Texans to render their property to various taxing agencies.

Some Texas cities set their own tax deadlines. These are the cities of more than 5,000 population which have incorporated under the "Home Rule" provisions of our statutes.

But poor Joyce is out of luck. The company promptly tells her that they "sold" her installment contract to a bank or financial institution, and she must now deal with them, not the company.

Moreover, the companies buying such contracts are hard-boiled collection firms. If Joyce doesn't pay, they will not hesitate to report her to a credit rating agency, or even sue.

The moral is, be sure you know who you are dealing with, and be sure you know what you are signing and the consequences.

(This newsfeature prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

What property must be rendered for taxes? If Texas laws were strictly enforced, we would be required to render to each taxing unit nearly every piece of real and personal property which we own, down to the very clothing on our backs.

An exception is the constitutional exemption of $250 worth of household furniture. However, no taxing unit carries its requirements this far, and it will be necessary to inquire of each tax assessor when rendering your property whether specific types of property are ordinarily rendered in that locality.

Business and professional men are generally required to render all merchandise, furnishings, fixtures, business automobiles and equipment.

If property is not rendered by the tax payer, it may then be placed upon the unrendered tax roll, and the taxing agency places such valuation thereon as it considers fair.

Thereafter, an appeal to the courts is possible in some instances. Generally speaking, however, the courts are unable to strike out a valuation unless the agency of board has acted arbitrarily and placed on the property a valuation higher than that placed on comparable property owned by others.

Remember these facts: You may need to render your property at three or more different tax offices. Ask each tax assessor if in doubt concerning the deadline or the rendering of specific personal items.

Too Late To Change Your Mind
What if some glib salesman signs you up for an encyclopedia, or a set of pots and pans. Next day you change your mind. Can you cancel the order? Chances are you can't.

The typical pattern runs thus: the salesman fast-talks poor Joyce Jones into signing an order for a set of cooking ware, silver, or what-have-you. She pays a nominal amount down, the balance to be over a long term. The price is high enough, plus a big carrying charge, but the installments run for a long time and at first look reasonable. When the shipment arrives, Joyce decides she doesn't want it, and can't afford it anyhow, so she refuses to accept it and tells the company she is cancelling the order. But poor Joyce is out of luck. The company promptly tells her that they "sold" her installment contract to a bank or financial institution, and she must now deal with them, not the company.

Moreover, the companies buying such contracts are hard-boiled collection firms. If Joyce doesn't pay, they will not hesitate to report her to a credit rating agency, or even sue.

Days Off
Matter of policemen working their rest days without additional compensation, and of patrolmen being used as radio dispatchers again came up. Banks and Reasoner thought further consideration could be given to reassignments, and possibly savings in other departments, and action was passed to the next meeting. The department has been short one patrolman since the resignation of the former Henry Bollinger, Truett Bowns, Robert Banks, Jr., and Earl Reasoner were all present at the meeting.

Also there for reports and consultation were City Attorney Claude S. Cravens, Jr., acting Police Chief Robert Breedlove, Police Magistrate Luther Gregory, Secretary Robert Sokoll and Director of Public Works Wayne Baker.

Minutes of previous meeting which had been mailed to the Commissioners were approved without being read.

Transfer
In order to meet the payroll, City Secretary Sokoll had transferred $1282.98 from water fund in Citizens State Bank to the general fund. Moved by Bowns, seconded by Banks, that the transfer be approved. Carried. (All voting this session was unanimous.)

Sokoll requested authority to transfer $3500 from water fund in Citizens State Bank to general fund to meet this month's expenses. Moved by Bollinger, seconded by Bowns, that this be approved. Carried.

Saturday, twenty three cars and a shoo-fly built around the wreckage, and traffic was moving in six and a half hours. The derailed cars included twelve cars of celery and eleven empties. Damage was estimated at $150,000. A broken journal bearing was the reported cause of the accident.

Accent On Health

Fear of snakes will keep many a would-be camper at home this summer, even though statistics show that in the U.S. more people are killed or seriously injured in their bathtubs than by snakebites.

An unreasoning fear or ignorance may cause more harm than an actual snakebite. For example, a man who once trod on a rattler still wakes up screaming in the night. And a hunter, spiked by barbed wire thought he had been bitten by a snake and very nearly died of shock.

True, these are extremes. But if you do regard the snake as a vicious and cunning brute with a deep-seated hatred of man, you are mistaken. Instead, it is timid and retiring. The earth-bound reptile will react to man as it would to any big and threatening creature, but it much prefers to slide unobtrusively away.

Poisonous snakes of the U.S. include the rattlesnake, copperhead, cottonmouth moccasin and coral snake. One of the most LUBBOCK, June 22 — Texas Tech and David Parke becomes the first Red Raider ever to play in the All-America Bowl when he takes the field at Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday night.

Parks, the National Football League's No. 1 draft choice, has already played in two all-star games — the Shrine East-West and the Senior Bowl — following the 1963 season and will have one more to go — the Tribune All-Star contest at Chicago Aug. 7.

Center E. J. Holub, now with the Kansas City Chiefs, was picked for the 1961 game at Buffalo but couldn't participate because he was serving a six-month hitch in the Army.

Parks, who signed with the San Francisco 49ers, re-wrote most of Tech's pass receiving records, and became the first Raider ever to make the all-Southwest Conference football team two years.
