Patrick Whalen, of 150 south street, learned Thursday that she, as Patrick Whalen's widow, had become joint heir with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Johanna Whalen McIlvaigh, of Fort Smith, Arkansas, to a $3,000,000 estate left by John Whalen, of New York, cousin to Mrs. McIlvaigh and Mr. Patrick Whalen.

Five years of litigation over the 3,000,000 estate of John Whalen, banker, Tammany leader and former corporation counsel, was ended Wednesday night with a decision of more than 8,000 words by Surrogate John P. O'Brien recognizing two persons as heirs and dismissing the claims of 25 others.

"Silver Dollar" Premiere Sunday At Palace Theatre

A picture filled with the thrill and romance of pioneer life in the mail gold rush days of Colorado's founding will be seen Sunday in "Silver Dollar," a First National picture which begins a two day engagement at the Palace Theatre.

Edward G. Robinson, famous for his powerful screen characterizations, has the intense and colorful role of Yates Martin, the Colorado Silver King, who rose from poverty to riches overnight. Bebe Danfels and Aline MacMahon head a notable supporting cast.

The screen offering is based on David Krasner's popular book, which tells the rise and fall of HAW Tabor, an influential pioneer who played an important and spectacular part in the early history of the nation.

The picture presents Robinson as a rough miner with a "Midas" touch, who soars from poverty to wealth and power. When romance touches him, he discards the wife who has stood faithfully at his side in the struggle for riches, and with a younger, more beautiful woman, starts on a career of eccentricities that startled the world. While at the peak of his wealth and fame, his fortunes collapse with the adoption of the gold standard.

An all Southwestern Premiere will be held New Year's Eve. Doors open at 11:30 Saturday night.

Florence Dairy Leased Recently

The Florence Jersey Dairy, perhaps the oldest continued dairy business on the plains, has been leased on a share contract by Mr. Lem Scoggin who once ran the popular Scroggin Dairy at Lubbock.

Mr. Scoggin is an expert in the dairy business and proposes to put this dairy in the official Grade A class, though it has always carried certificates from our health officials that its produce is unexcelled in richness, flavor, and sanitary qualities.

The business will be run at the same place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Scoggin will move to Slaton and at the present reside at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McAtee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Florence will continue to reside at their home and care for garden and chickens while Mr. Florence serves as County Commissioner.

Florence Dairy Greetings

This is our 18th annual New Years greeting with wishes for a happy new year to all our customers and an expression of desire for more good pleased customers.

The present conditions make it impossible to dispose of our business and equipment without too much sacrifice, therefore we have contracted with Mr. Lem Scoggin to manage and continue our business while Mr. Florence serves as county Commissioner.

Mr. Scoggin is an experienced dairyman and we feel sure he will give as good or better service.

We hope you will give him a faithful trial.

Many thanks for your past favors, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Florence

WEALTH EVERYWHERE BUT NO MONEY

In a world full of wealth we have no money. That, it seems to us, sums up the present economic situation of the United States and of most of the nations, so far as we know anything about them.

It doesn't take much actual money to transact the world's business when people are more anxious to buy than they are to sell. Money moves faster and so does work under those conditions. A dollar that changes hands ten times in a year is as useful as ten dollars that only changes hands once a year.

We didn't need so much money when everybody had confidence in the banks. Checks did the work of currency. In these times, with money moving slowly, with more sellers than there are buyers, with thousands of banks closed and public confidence in all banks still severely shaken, we find ourselves without enough currency to do business. The natural result is that our basic money, gold, has gone up so high in price that most people have difficulty in converting their labor and commodities into gold. Gold is the basis of our money and that of the other principal nations. And it is increasingly clear that there is not enough gold in the world to meet the world's need of money.

Many able economists and statesmen say that a large part of this money trouble is due to the fact that silver has been almost abolished as money since the war. They say that if the monetary position of silver, which is the money basis for more than half of the world's population, could be restored to what it was in 1914, there would be plenty of good money available for all the world's needs. Few want to revive the old scheme of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at any fixed ratio to gold, but we see no reason why silver should not be used again as freely as it was in the years before the war, by all the nations of the world for money. We think the world economic conference, which is going to meet and discuss this subject, has been too long delayed, and we hope that, when it is held, the American delegates will insist upon the rehabilitation of silver.

NO TIME TO STOP HELPING

According to Newton D. Baker, there are at least 25,000 families in America and more than 200,000 individual young boys and young men who have become practically tramps as a result of the economic depression. Without any means of support, unable to find work, and with no fixed homes, they are wandering about the country living on the charity of strangers, often in shacks and hobo camps, under the most appalling conditions of destitution, hunger and exposure to the elements.

It is only a step from this hobo life to a life of crime. And it is extremely difficult to reclaim boys and men who have become accustomed to a life of irresponsible idleness, back into the ranks of self-supporting workers.

On the whole, the morale of the people of the United States throughout the depression has been magnificent. We have heard very little of any desperate mobs or revolutionary uprisings such as have occurred in some other countries. One reason for this is that everybody who could possibly spare money or food or shelter has contributed to help the less fortunate tide over the crisis. This winter may prove to be a more serious strain upon the charitable resources of our people than any in the past, but this is not the time to stop helping.

After these hard times are all over—and we cannot help feeling that they are nearing the end—we think we are nearing the end. We think we are looking back

Daily Cash Market

● Through 1932, as in former years, Swift & Company has maintained its nationwide cash market for farm produce.

More than 100 Swift & Company produce plants in the West and Central West have continued to buy daily the supplies offered. Everything they purchase has a market over a thousand miles wide and thousands of miles long. The supply goes wherever demand is best.

At no time, in the territories served by these plants, have producers of poultry, butterfat and eggs been without a daily cash market.

● Swift & Company has not had this year—has never had—any control over prices. The farmer's price is made by what the consumer can and will pay for the butter, eggs and poultry. This company's task is to cover the gap, quickly and economically between more than 200,000 farm patrons and nearly as many storekeepers.

Posting daily quotations at its buying plants, Swift & Company is really saying to the producer:

"Consumers everywhere, through their retailers, offer so much for poultry, butterfat or eggs. Costs of preparation, transportation and selling are kept at a minimum. With these service costs deducted, the price paid here is about what retailers will pay at their doors hundreds of miles away."

● Volume holds down processing cost. Carload shipments reduce freight bills. The same salesmen who sell Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon and Brookfield Sausage also sell Swift's Premium Milk-Fed Chicken, Golden West Fowl and Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs and Cheese, thus benefiting livestock men and produce growers alike.

People are back to the company's 21,000 plants working Chevrolet-Fisher plus Syncro-Mesh transmission with Silent Second gear; a new "Starter" that greatly simplifies starting; such safety elements as shatter-proof glass in the windshield; larger and lower bodies by Fisher; the new "Aer-Stream" model; three fewer controls, with really automatic features in some of those retained; an Octane Selector that insures the highest possible operating efficiency from all grades of gasoline; besides a uniform gasoline cost per mile; dash instruments of airplane type, for instant, easy reading; positive brakes; and still easier steering.

With all these, and many more, the price range continues to be mindful of the buyer's pocketbook. It has been found possible to equip the new Chevrolets with many features that used to be confined to cars selling at several times Chevrolet's base price.

Since October first, trained former employees have been going back to work in Chevrolet's widely distributed manufacturing and assembly plants, with welcome additions to the general purchasing power, made possible by more wage money in circulation. Throughout November, the increase in employment continued to a seasonal peak to the middle of December, when concentrated operations incident to prompt dealer stocking were in full swing. More than twenty million dollars worth of the new cars were in dealers' hands when the national introduction was made.

Chamber of Commerce News

By A. J. PAYNE, Secretary

Well, Xmas is over and no doubt everybody had a good Christmas, we hope you had everything that heart could desire, and also that you, each one of you and all, will have a Bright, Happy Prosperous 1933.

At this writing, we have signed up 110 men for work in Slaton to be paid out of the R. F. C. fund, and Mr. W. P. Layne is putting the men to work as fast as he finds work for them, there is lots of work to be done in cleaning up the town, grading the crossings, and, the idea is to make Slaton a more livable place in which to live, so clean up your yards, place in boxes or containers of some kind and same will be hauled off.

Mr. Crews, Manager of the Slaton Compress was a pleasant caller Wednesday morning, he reports as having compressed 45,000 bales of cotton so far this season and will press around 15,000 more making a total of about 60,000 bales, this is much more than was compressed here last year, there has been around 11,000 bales ginned already here with more to follow, there will no doubt be over 15,000 bales ginned here this season.

A committee from the Slaton Chamber of Commerce and Business men of Slaton have an invitation to be with a meeting of the Interior Protective and Development Association at Lubbock, same being sponsored by Messrs. C. P. Nevill, President and Scott Hardy, Secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, and they are being joined in the movement by all Chamber of Commerce in the interior, which has to do with the organization of the business men toward protection and development of the Interior. These two gentlemen met with a number of our citizens on the 22nd and from that meeting a committee was appointed to go to Lubbock on the 29th at the third and last regional MEETING? Mr. H. S. Crews, Mr. W. H. Smith, C. A. Bruner, J. W. Hood, and your secretary attended this meeting, and others attended that we did not get their names.

Xmas packages that were brought into this office were distributed by Mr. W. P. Layne Xmas eve to all those who were in need of Xmas for the little tots that could not get them, we are only sorry that more were not brought in.

Only three weeks till the big Third Annual Texas Panhandle-Plains Poultry Show that is to open Jan. 18, 19 and 20, in Slaton.

Get your birds ready for the big show, as we want you there with your best. Catalogues are being mailed out this week, and if you do not get one, wish you would call at the office and we will be glad to give you one, we want this to be a good show, and we want you to help us make it so. The location has not been decided upon as yet but that will be known in time.

Last week was a busy week in Slaton, the Xmas shoppers were mostly in evidence and from the looks of the stocks in the stores, shows the merchants had a good Xmas business, and all we have talked with say they were well pleased with their business, and this week some of the merchants

Use This Laxative made from plants

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT is made from plants that grow in the ground, like the garden vegetables you eat at every meal. NATURE has put into these plants an active medicine that stimulates the bowels to act—just as Nature put the materials that sustain your body into the vegetable foods you eat.

In Black-Draught you have a natural laxative, free from synthetic drugs. Its use does not make you have to depend on cathartic chemical drugs to get the bowels to act daily. Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN.

"Lady" in the days of Meant a "loaf-giver," I've Not to imply she was a Who passed her days up But one who gave out bread For peasants to consume.

Ladies and Bread

THE connection that exists between a lady and a loaf bread has nothing to do with cook and the family bread supply. The first meaning of the word "lady" as different from "woman" is based, as today, on social standing. In the days of early England bread was baked only in the kitchens of royalty. Its freshness on the table showed the social standing of the family. Those of royal blood had theirs when it was really fresh, the nobility had it the second day, the gentry ate theirs three days old, and finally it reached the masses.

Blend the milk and peanut butter to a thick cream and add mixed flour and sugar. It seems very stiff add a little milk. Pour into a greased loaf pan and bake in a slow oven for minutes.

One of the most popular of these breads, particularly with children, is:
Peanut Butter Bread.
1 cup self-rising flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup milk
