'Dusting' For Mosquitoes To Be Weekly Ritual In This Community

Slaton got "dusted" again Tuesday night! The Lubbock County Health Unit continued its current war against summer's most unwelcome fellow-travelers, the mosquito. Starting next week, the unit will have a "dusting" truck in Slaton each Wednesday night as the mosquito crop has shown definite signs of reaching large proportions. This "dust" is the type which aggravates some asthma patients and others who are allergic to such foreign bodies in the air.

CoC BOARD HAS MEETING

A budget committee was expected to be appointed at last night's meeting of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce board of directors. The committee would be formed to plan expenditures for the next year and present the budget at the board's next meeting.

ARE YOU IN STEP?

Most any observant person who travels about has commented upon the fact that some towns are so much better kept than others and that from outside appearances some towns seem to be so much more modern than others.

Some of the most attractive towns have been established only a short time, as towns are considered young or old, while others are looked upon as ancient.

The numbers of people who live in such towns have little to do with the reputation of the community but the character of the citizens is the foundation on which such good reputations have been built.

Slaton is not looked upon as a booming community but it must be admitted, by those who pass judgment on such things, that Slaton is a progressing community as our late census report proves when compared with that of 1950. Slaton has a good reputation not only for being a good, substantial business town but one where the citizens are vitally interested in having it grow into a town with rock solid home values and a well planned town of paved streets and attractive public buildings.

The fact that so many home owners, and most of the people who live here are home owners, take great pride in keeping their homes in tiptop condition regardless of the location and money value of the property, is one of the reasons why Slaton is now and will continue to be one of the better towns in West Texas.

Slaton has gone past the point where it is a small town and the citizens of Slaton must take on the responsibilities of a small city.

If the home owners of Slaton continue to take as much pride in keeping their homes, as well as the alleys and the streets, in as good shape in the future as they have in the past, it will in its self attract more and more families to the town and bethe means — of keeping Slaton in the front ranks of progressive communities in the state, as well as the Southwest.

This brings the facts right back to YOU as an individual in your home town. Do you take pride in your home and in your neighborhood or are you one of the few who are not keeping up with the Joneses, the Browns and the others who are responsible for the forward step that has been taken and who will be given credit for helping Slaton to be an ideal town if it is to take advantage of what has been started. A.M.J.

"Every man over 40 is responsible for his face." —Abraham Lincoln.

"His face * * * is a love letter to all mankind." —Jean Paul Richter.

The great English thinker, Edmund Burke, once said of those who advocate the socialistic state: "To them the will, the wish, the want, the liberty, the toil, the blood of individuals is as nothing. Individuality is left out of the scheme of things. The state is all."

Men who make big money are careful with their small change.

Self-made men should be more careful in selecting the materials they use.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Sounding Board

A MATTER OF MICE OR MEN

The Augusta Chronicle.
More and more, it seems industrial firms throughout the United States are expending funds not to advertise their products, but rather to carry to Americans as a greatly needed public service, the vital message that socialistic trends are undermining this nation. The most recent advertisement of this nature that we have seen is one prepared and distributed by General Electric. It is entitled "What Should He Do?" and shows a mouse contemplating a piece of "free cheese" in a trap, while all about him are other mice which have fallen victim to cheese-baited traps.

"Could the mouse by any chance, get the answer by observing what's happened to others around him?" the ad asks. "Sure," it answers. "But he won't. Being a mouse, he'll grab—or maybe just timidly nibble—and die." The ad then poses a question which all Americans must face up to, "What about men?" "Some men," it adds, "have grabbed at something-for-nothing, or 'free cheese,' in sudden and violent communist revolutions. Others have nibbled at 'free cheese' in timid and supposedly harmless collectivist bites—one after another—that will always spring the trap and result in lower living standards and loss of liberty, dignity, and spiritual well-being." The time is overdue for all thoughtful Americans to cry "halt" to so many of our representatives in Congress who are trying to pass—on the basis of politics—the vast something-for-nothing proposals, the measures that permit the government to "give" to the people a whole lot unneeded and expensive new "benefits" presumed to cost nothing to anyone except, maybe, some very rich people. As the GE ad points out, the pressure on Congressmen to return more money to their constituents than their constituents pay in taxes should be lifted. We should advise politicians of both parties that we are intelligent enough to know that attempts to provide something-for-nothing results only in inflation, fewer jobs less progress, and a lower level of living. The basic question is simply this: Are we mice or are we men? We had best be the latter. "Free cheese" can be mighty fatal.

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

always the long, nor is it the short message or prayer that is important, but the quality and sincerity of the words spoken. A group or organization is great because of their principles, etc. Not necessarily its size.

Quality should never be sacrificed for quantity. A good job well done for a job half done. When the day is done, how good it is to know, though it be work or play, worship or lending a helping hand or speaking a word of comfort to some needful soul that, by the help of God, WE HAVE DONE OUR BEST.

Rev. H. E. Summar, pastor Bible Baptist Church

Jesus said, "But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking." Matt. 6:7. This brings to mind a very interesting thing.

How do ye go about judging things? Is a sermon or prayer good just because it is long? Is an organization great just because it can boast many members? According to some standards of man that might be true. But not true according to the standard of God.

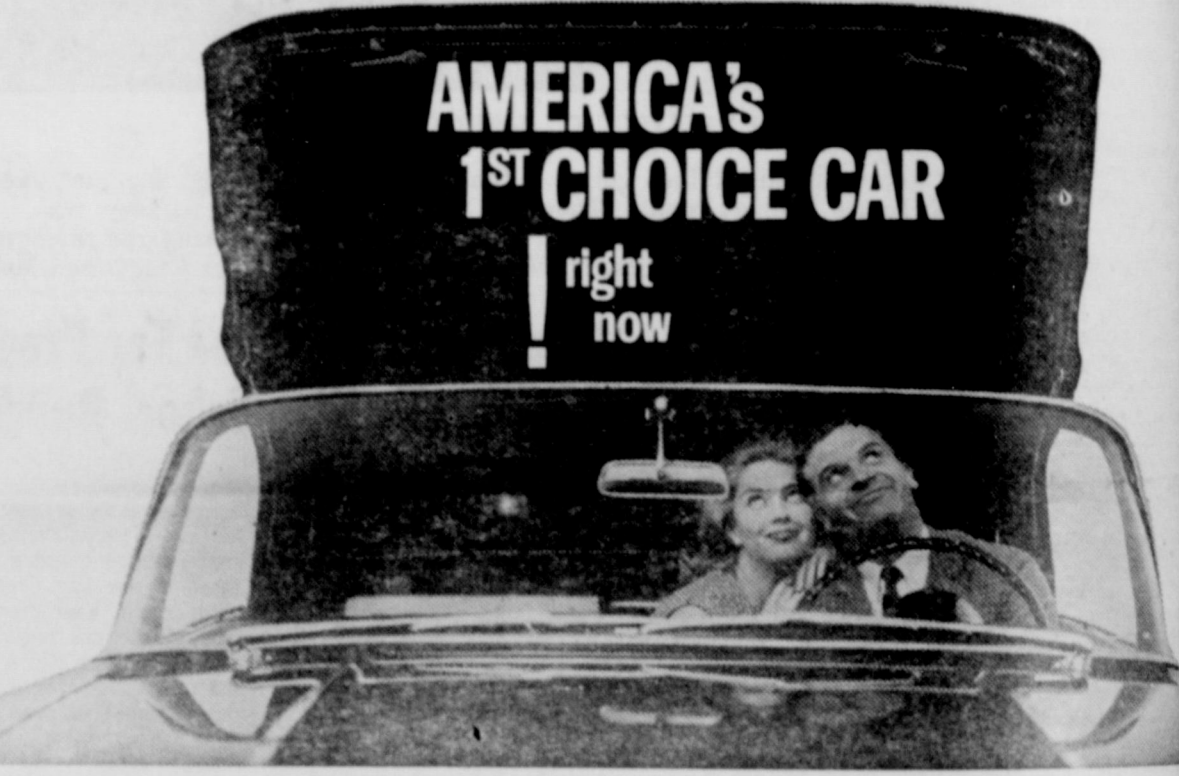

Elijah's prayer was only sixty-three words long in II Kings 18. But it was long enough for God to answer with fire and consume the sacrifice. However we will see by looking in the New Testament that there were times when Christ prayed all night. In Acts 17 Paul preached a sermon that is covered in nine short verses. While in Troas he spoke until midnight, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was so short that some news papers reported that, "The President made a few remarks." Later it was considered a masterpiece. These few examples given leads us to believe that it is not

JUST TALK

BY A. M. J.

On of my most observant scouts who keeps his nose to the rat hole, his eye to the key hole and his ear on everything reported to me last week that the rumor is out that Buffalo Lakes will not be open for fishing until next November or December. Instead of in July as some of the local fish hounds have been expecting.

According to my source of information, several representatives from the game and fish commission sampled the size and number of fish and decided that the fishing season at the lakes should be postponed until later in the year.

All of this undependable information may be knocked into a cocked hat before another Slatonite can come off the press or perhaps some dirty scoundrel has already slipped in and authorized fishing in the lakes by now, but I cannot resist turning out inside information even if it is all wrong.

And while I am on the subject of fish, which I have been for several weeks, it is not out of place to relate what Judge Smith said about Colorado mountain trout. "For years," said Judge, "guys like Ray Hickman, Harmon Thompson, you, and many others, have been telling tall tales about the luscious, delightful, tender, sweet and delicate flavor of mountain trout and I have been expecting some of you to bring me a mess of them. But never a smell of them have I had, so last week I went up to Eagle Nest dam myself and with no trouble at all caught all I was allowed in a few minutes. It was all I could do to wait long enough to get them cooked. Now I want to say that I had just as soon eat so much melted butter that had never been salted or chew on a tough piece of fat pork like I did when I was a kid. Give me a nice piece of channel cat and you can have all the rest of the mountain trout left in the United States."

Of course such talk as this is treason and an insult to an artist who would not accept a trout unless it were caught on a fly and men like Judge Smith, who might have even stooped to the low class of fishing for trout with a worm or grasshopper, might do serious damage to the racket that has brought millions to New Mexico and Colorado. The biggest trout I ever caught was on a grasshopper, but of course at the time the water was so muddy that flies were useless and to tell the truth, I had just as soon eat an alligator as a trout. But when one goes trout fishing in Colorado it would be an insult to the great state not to eat the fish if you catch them. It is darn seldom that you catch them too, unless you are like I am and cannot tell muddy water from clear. Let me warn you, it is just about as difficult to catch a Colorado grasshopper as it is a Colorado trout.

Are younger men getting more serious minded, are they losing their sense of the ridiculous or is it because I seldom come in contact with the young folks who can have more fun than anybody when they try.

It used to be that folks like Dr. W. E. Payne, W. B. Hestand and J. S. Edwards would do and say things just to cause a big hubbub. They were externally in an argument and fought for the opposite side regardless of their own feeling on the matters.

Now if there is ever any arguments or ribaldry going on I never hear of it and I sorely sorely miss it.

The only man who seems to have the right spirit around here is Max Arrants and he has no worthy opponents so far as I know. It does me good to hear Max open up his big mouth and roar whether he has anything to roar about or not. We need more fun around Slaton.

Most women, according to my estimate, have enough shoes to equip a full-grown centipede with footwear and most of them have bunions, corns and ingrowing toe nails and most of them have broken their ankles or wrists from having fallen over pebbles, bricks and other small obstacles.

A woman's shoe is not considered worth wearing unless it has a heel six inches high and no woman in her right mind would wear a shoe unless it is two sizes too small for her.

To stand on the street and watch the women jiggle along on their queer-looking footwear has been a pleasant pastime for me and I have often thought that if I should be fortunate enough to be present when one should flop out on the pavement, because of such shoes, I would just stand there and let her scramble around for herself. Up to now I have not had the opportunity, and probably if I should, some faster and better looking old scrooge would be more nimble than I am and would get to her before I could get into action. Just the same I am on a close watch and I feel sure the sooner or later the time will come.

It must be summer time. Last week I went into the Slaton Pharmacy at about 8:30 in the morning and Carla Combs was licking an ice cream cone. I certainly sounded good, too. When I circled the square a little while later, two boys were sitting at a table in Teague's and both had spent their week's allowance on a mammoth dish of ice cream. Three poisonous colors were represented on the dish. As for me, I went home and had the stomach ache the rest of the day.

Here is one Lon Porter clipped from a Lumberman's magazine for me. If you can figure it out let me know the answers.

The small boy approached his father who was busily engaged in reading the evening newspaper, and asked: "Father, can I ask you a question?" "Why, certainly son, what is it?" "I've been wondering. Supposing you and Mother had not married each other but each one had married some one else, and each of those couples had a boy. Now, which of those boys would I be, and who would the other one be, and what relation would we be to each other—and if so, why?"

Fence-sitting isn't the safest occupation for the small fry, even if it is fun.

But fence-sitting for grown-ups is neither safe nor fun! A man has to take a stand. He must let the world know his convictions. He must live them!

The principles in which we believe can perish while we dawdle uncommitted, uncertain, or unchurched.

Behind the iron curtain men who are determined to overthrow freedom and faith hide neither their communism nor their atheism.

Here in America on a Sunday morning; no man can afford to sit on the fence if he believes in God, and in the right to worship Him in the Church of his choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

DON'T BE A "CONSENSUS MAKER" . . . A number of people, when they're ready to buy a television set, try to make a collection of as many opinions from well-meaning friends as possible. This consensus taking is very human among shoppers. But its weakness lies in the fact nearly every TV owner is prejudiced toward the particular set he already bought. This makes the situation all the more confusing. When you want to choose the right set for your particular needs, come in and see them all in operation. Compare them critically for picture, sound and cabinetry . . . and price. Get the BEST advice . . . not the most.

Irrigation And Fertilizer Researched

Research in cotton irrigation and fertilizer levels is underway for the third year at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway. The number of irrigation methods under study have been increased from six to nine for 1960.

These methods include application of water compared to dryland cotton with water applied by the following methods: (1) preplant only; (2) preplant plus first bloom and mid-bloom; (3) preplant plus first square and peak bloom; (4) preplant plus first bloom and peak bloom; (5) preplant plus peak bloom; (6) preplant plus first bloom, mid-bloom and August 20; (7) preplant, first square, first bloom, and peak bloom; (8) preplant plus whenever soil moisture content drops to 50% as determined by moisture blocks; and (9) preplant plus first square, first bloom, peak bloom, and August 20. All irrigation methods are being metered, and moisture blocks will determine soil moisture during the growing season.

The September watering test has been discontinued, since found to reduce both quality and yield of cotton.

Fertilizer applications have been and will be made in the following proportions: 40-80-0, and 120-80-0. These will be compared with results from no fertilizer applied.

Gregg, Lankart 75, and Blightmaster cotton varieties will be used in this test.

The most profitable irrigation application in 1958 was preplant, mid-bloom, and August 20; and in 1959, the preplant and peak bloom application.

Conducting this test are Shelby Newman of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Substation No. 8, Lubbock, and James Valiant, assistant water engineer, of the Foundation.

Milliken and Janey, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Milliken, Peggy and Vickie from Wolforth.

Carolyn Ward with friends from Levelland went to Ranger Friday where they spent the weekend.

Mrs. Weldon McGehee, son Dennis, and Linda Robinson went to Buffalo Gap by train Monday night week ago where they spent from Monday night to Thursday with her brother Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dickson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dixon at Plainview Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McGehee and Jewell Sunday in Lubbock.

Mrs. W. J. Kuykendall was taken to Mercy hospital in Slaton Saturday night. She is some improve at this writing. Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carroll of Dallas are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kuykendall.

DPS Reports 27 Rural Accidents

Twenty-seven rural traffic accidents were investigated by the Highway Patrol service of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock County during the month of May, according to Sergeant E. L. Stroud.

In making this announcement, the sergeant reported 17 property damage, 10 injury, and 0 fatal accidents. These wrecks caused a total property damage of $ 21,277.00 with 15 persons injured and 0 killed. This brings the total for the year in this county to killed, 64 injured, and property damage of $64,257.00.

"During the first five months of this year, traffic deaths decreased 11 per cent over the same period of 1959; however, the most dangerous part of the year accident wise is still ahead of us," the sergeant said.

"In Texas, about 40% of all traffic deaths are usually recorded during the first six months of the year; about 60% in the latter half. With the Fourth of July holiday, we start the busiest season of the year traffic wise, and we continue through the summer harvest season, the Labor Day holiday, school opening and school activity, the fall business season and the Thanksgiving and Christmas - New Year's holidays."

"Some of our motorists have done a magnificent job thus far, but unless we pull out all the stops and realize that obedience to the traffic laws is necessary to stay alive, then some new death records are in store for our State."

Holiday and vacation traffic accidents take to costly toll

STRICTLY BUSINESS by McFeath

throughout the State. The tragedy on top of tragedy is that these accidents could have been avoided. According to the veteran officer, if everyone will check their own driving, take time to be careful and be alert for the careless driver, vacations can be accident free.

VANDALS WORK AT CEMETERY

It has been reported by Mrs. Joe Walker that Juvenile delinquents or some grown individual or individuals have been committing depredations at Englewood Cemetery.

Twice in recent months Mrs. Walker has placed artificial roses upon her husband's grave and both times they were removed in very short order. This is not the only grave which has suffered such losses, says Mrs. Walker for she has been told of a number others.

The losses have been reported to authorities but Mrs. Walker does not feel that there is yet enough protection provided to encourage further efforts to keep the graves in the cemetery as attractive as they would be if some guarantee of better protection could be provided.

The business of living is the business of thinking. Our lives are no bigger, broader, or more useful than our thoughts. We live exactly to the extent that we think. When we do something to make people think, we confer on them our biggest blessing.

When we advertise we make people think. When we give the public new thoughts, we extend, enlarge, and broaden its living. Therefore we should strive to advertise new and business that means something to the other fellow.
