Slaton FFA Fat Stock Show Set Saturday; New Location

The Slaton Future Farmers of America will hold their annual fat stock show Saturday at a new location--on Texas avenue at the corner of Lynn.

Burl Robertson, FFA advisor, said Billy Joe Boyd of Crosbyton will be show judge. He will find the best animals of about 50 head of cattle, swine and lambs.

An addition feature of the local show will be livestock team judging on swine and sheep. Ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded the top four animals in each class. Prize money will come from the 50-cent entry fee paid by each of the young stockmen.

Following the Slaton show, the boys will take the best of their lot to the big Lubbock fat stock show next week. All prize-winners in the Lubbock show will go into the auction ring and the remainder of the Slaton FFA stock will be taken to the Plainview invitational show the following week, Robertson said.

The public is invited to visit the show here Saturday, judging will begin at 1 p.m.; however the show stock will be on exhibition in their new pens at 9 a.m.

In addition to the FFA livestock to be shown here will be two 4-H entries--one lamb and a gilt, Robertson pointed out that the main purpose of the local show is to give the boys some pointers on show-ring techniques and prepare them for the Lubbock show a week from Saturday.

National Week For Save Your Vision

This week has been designated as National "Save Your Vision" week with the South Plains Optometric Association participating in its observance. Gov. Price Daniel has recognized the importance of the week and has commended the Texas Optometric Association for its observance of it.

This year's theme for the education activity of the week is "Vision Care for Up-to-Date Families."

The Auxiliary to the South Plains Association is sponsoring a poster contest again this year and Diana Shafer will enter her poster in the area contest. The winner of the area will be sent to the state for judging and the winner of the state will be given national recognition. Last year the area winner also placed in the state and was sent to Denver to the national contest.

The Auxiliary furnishes a film strip to the schools for showing to third and fourth grade level during the week. "Almost all human experience is gained through the sense of sight" hence, the special emphasis on Save Your Vision Week.

A rosary service was conducted Monday evening in Williams funeral chapel. Burial was in the Englewood cemetery.

Mrs. Henzler and her husband moved to a farm west of Slaton in 1928 where they reared their three sons, Leo and Raymond of Slaton and Melvin of Bryan.

Other survivors in addition to her husband and three sons are a brother and two sisters. They are Eddie Watzlavick of Schulenburg, Mrs. Frank Regner of Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. C. A. Henzler of Slaton.

Slaton Quartet Entertains Rotary Club Thursday

The now famous Slaton Quartet entertained the Slaton Rotary Club at their meeting Thursday noon at the club house. John Schmidt was in charge of the program.

Sacred songs were featured by the singers with Bill Baker as announcer. The quartet was composed of Bill Baker, Bill Mosely, and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Taylor. They closed the program with "Cry Unto the Lord."

President Barron presented Mrs. Eckard and her helper, Mrs. Merrill, and announced that they were beginning their 17th year of serving the Slaton Rotary Club. They were thanked for the fine meals that they serve.

Doug Gallasini gave a report of a meeting of the Slaton "Cleanup, Paintup and Fixup" committee. He stated that each club in town was being asked to take on one cleanup project. The club was asked to join in this campaign. He stated that another meeting of the town-wide committee would be held in about two weeks.

John Schmidt brought a report of the Rotary committee that is working on promoting "Americanism." They have bought 12 books and 30 government publications that will be used in the schools. He was high in his praise of the student council and the Slaton teachers as they are showing lots of interest in this campaign. A feature of the committee's work includes student themes on "Americanism." April 5th is the deadline for these themes. The two top winners will be presented plaques by the club and will appear as guest of the club at a later date.

Bill McElroy reported on Boy Scout work. He presented R. W. Poyner Jr., R. E. Evans and Ellis P. Schmid with work certificates from the Scout Council. The Rotary Club sponsors Troop 128 and was given the new charter.

Teenage Curfew Discussed At School Meeting

The upcoming school board election, feasibility of a curfew for teenagers and hiring teachers for the next school year were matters of business discussed at the regular school board meeting Tuesday evening in the school office.

Charlie Whalen was appointed judge for the April 7 election at which two trustees will be elected for three-year terms. Whalen was given authority to appoint the necessary clerks to assist in the election, which will be held from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the school office building, 300 South Ninth.

J. E. Eckert, city commissioner and local Boy Scout leader, discussed with the board the pros and cons of a curfew for teenagers. Nothing was decided on that issue.

In other business, the board appointed the firm of Hallmark, Brasher, Hearn and Williams to audit the school's fiscal affairs for the 1961-62 year.

Paying Income Tax? Do Not Send Cash!

Don't send cash in the mail to pay your 1961 federal income tax because it may be lost or misdelivered en route and you would have to pay again, Ellis Campbell, Jr., district director of Internal Revenue Service, advised taxpayers today.

Use a check or a completely filled in money order, the IRS representative advised. He said this type of payment affords protection in that taxpayers may order stop-payment in event of loss, or misdelivery.

To make doubly sure that your check or money order is delivered properly, make it payable to Internal Revenue Service and mail it to Internal Revenue Service, 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas.

Kickoff Slated March 21 For Citywide Project

Leaders of a proposed community-wide "clean up, paint up" program were continuing their efforts this week to arouse the interest of every organization and individual in their plan for a concentrated spring cleaning and beautification of the entire Slaton area.

The movement, initiated several months ago by the Slaton Garden club, is reportedly gaining momentum, as civic clubs and other organizations offer their support.

Formal "kickoff" of the cleanup program is scheduled for Wednesday, March 21, when city trucks will be offered to haul off trash and rubbish collected from alleys, garages, back yards and attics, as well as litter-strewn parks and playgrounds.

At a recent public meeting to coordinate the various organizational cleanup projects, Mrs. Robert Ayers and Bud England were named co-chairmen of the program. They are attempting to contact every social and civic club in the city, as well as schools, Boy Scouts and other groups and request their assistance.

It was announced Tuesday that several organizations, including the Rotary club and Boy Scouts had already volunteered to take on a part of the chore. Others are expected to come in as soon as their membership approve.

Mrs. Ellis Schmid is public information chairman for the program. She said any organizations or individuals not contacted who wish to help my contact her or either of the co-chairmen.

"Everyone agrees that Slaton needs a campaign of this sort and we believe that all will cooperate in helping give Slaton a thorough 'house cleaning' during the next few weeks," she said.

Mrs. Schmid noted that work already has begun in some sections of the city. She said it is hoped that more and more residents of Slaton will look around him and do what he or she can to help.

More details on assignments of the various participating organizations will be announced next week.

When President Lincoln signed into law a bill that eventually led to the establishment of 68 land-grant colleges and universities he hoped "to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions in life."

Even though Lincoln was saddened by civil strife which was tearing the nation apart, he did envision a United States where higher education would be available to all.

Would he be comforted to know that 100 years later well over half a million students are enrolled in land-grant institutions? Or that these educational establishments also are the fountainhead of agricultural, technological and scientific knowledge for the very young?

For more than a half century, our land-grant universities and colleges have been "extending" such information to 4-H Club members. Today more than 93,000 clubs, from Maine to California, are well into the 1962 program.

The agency that directs 4-H work is the Cooperative Extension Service, an educational arm of the land-grant system and the USDA. One of its functions is to supervise extension personnel and 4-H activities in some 3,000 counties involving 400,000 volunteer adult leaders, and 2.3 million 4-H'ers between the ages of 10 and 21 years.

As times have changed and population shifted, so has the Extension Service and its 4-H program devoted to the fourfold development of boys and girls: Head, Heart, Hands and Health pledged to clearer thinking, greater loyalty, larger service and better living.

This week (March 3-10) the entire nation joins in the celebration of National 4-H Club Week. President Kennedy has taken time to convey a special message to the 4-H'ers and plans to see a delegation in his White House office. Statesmen, business and civic leaders, and parents will participate in local, state and national events to mark the week.

And we have good reason to rejoice over our 4-H Clubs for they now have counterparts in at least 70 foreign countries.

Mr. Lincoln would take great comfort in that fact alone, we think. His sombre countenance might even light up with one of his rare smiles if he could see the widespread results of the stroke of his quill when he signed the land-grant bill a hundred years ago.

Let us hope and pray that the land-grant system will continue to flourish unhampered, and the 4-H with it, for the next 100 years.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

From The State Capitol

By--Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
Although the Texas Youth Council lost its fight for a legislative appropriation of $100,000 to add more officers to its Juvenile Parole System, it just won a battle for the benefit of orphans in state institutions.

Attorney General Will Wilson turned over the deed to a $200,000 Bell County ranch along with a check for $12,446 to Dr. James A. Turman, Youth Council director. Presentation represented the outcome of a four-year court battle. Heirs of the late Mrs. Parrie Haynes contested her passing the property to the state.

Dr. Turman said the orphans of Texas will receive all benefits from the 4,160-acre ranch on the Lampasas River. It will be used as a summer camp and activity center for orphan's homes. Youth Council will raise cattle, pigs, and sheep there to help feed the thousands of children in its care.

HEARINGS SHOCK TURMAN
--Speaker of the House James A. Turman, candidate for lieutenant governor and former educator, expressed concern about the House Textbook committee, which he appointed.

Turman was shocked when he heard that a witness in an Amarillo textbook hearing alleged that Rep. Ronald Roberts of the committee was a "communist."

"I am afraid the committee members have been too nice and open about letting anyone appear to talk about any sort of censorship," Turman said. He is worried about the committee getting too far astray of its goal of studying the textbook situation in Texas.

In an Independence Day address at Washington-on-the-Brazos, he advocated the teaching of Texas history in all grade levels, and declared, "I think it is a mistake -- a sad mistake -- for our educational system in Texas to relegate our great state's history into a sort of grammar school fairytale."

The speaker may be tempted -- or forced -- to touch on the subject again Wednesday when he is honored guest at the Public Schools' Week celebration in Jasper, Texas.

SPACE AGE SEMINAR -- Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, came to town to tell a congregation of high school counselors how the move into space will affect American youth.

The Vice President's talk was the highlight of a two-day conference at the University of Texas which featured a NASA exhibit of space vehicles and a talk on "Space Satellites" by NASA representative Dr. Robert Krebs.

VAST ROADWORK UNDERWAY--In keeping with its claim that Texas leads the nation in highway building, the State Highway Commission issued orders to proceed with $18,000,000 worth of road building, planning and repairs throughout the state.

Biggest assignment was an okay to purchase right-of-way on three projects on Interstate Loop 635 in Dallas County at a cost of about $6,410,000. The Commission also authorized right-of-way on a 1.4-mile section of Interstate Highway 10 in Harris County for $2,500,000. Original estimate was only $600,000.

Other expensive items included: Purchase of $1,900,000 worth of right-of-way on US 90 in Bexar County; plans for development of US 290 out of Houston at a starting cost of $2,810,000; $797,000 to repair freeze damage in the Abilene district; a $680,000 right-of-way for a two-mile segment in San Antonio and $477,800 for relocation of US 59 around Wharton and El Campo. Less costly projects are set for Fort Bend, Angellina, Brazoria, Gillespie, Hudspeth, Martin, El Paso and Nolan counties.

SUNDAY NO EXCEPTION--Just because April 15 will fall on a Sunday this year, drivers won't be allowed to put off auto inspection until the following day, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the State Department of Public Safety, says April 15 is the deadline -- Sunday or no.

Garrison's inspection that Sunday of the 2,000 will just have this problem: APRIL 15, or the day after, for the shared honor ham as speaker President's... Old Friends

In talking with Mrs. Leonard Foster we learned that her son, Waymon Muse, class of 1955, is making a career in the Naval Air Force. Waymon is now stationed at Imperial, California, where he is an instructor in electronics. Mail should be addressed--Waymon Muse, AE-1, NAAS Ream Field, Imperial Beach, California.

Ronald Barry, class of 1955, is working as an electronic computer for NASA. Ronald's address is 44622 N. Fig Street, Lancaster, California. With all of the emphasis on space travel and space weapons now it is gratifying to know that Slaton is represented by talented young men in this field.

I ran into Carl Self, class of 1928, one day last week just after he had held an auction sale for his brother, Clark Self. Carl operates the auction center on the Idalou Highway. The Selfs are living at 3517-41st. Street, Lubbock. During the course of our conversation Carl just happened to mention that he would like to pay his dues and of course we accomodated him then and there.

Hilton White, class of 1926, was in the office last week and I inquired about his oldest son Stanley. Stanley was in the class of 1953 and after graduation went on to McMurray College where he received his degree. Stanley is now living on a farm down below Lamesa. In addition to cotton and Milo Stanley is raising registered Duroc Jersey and Berkshire hogs. It is reported that he did very well at the Fort Worth fat stock show this year by winning six ribbons with his hogs. The Whites receive their mail on Route B, Box 115, Lamesa, Texas.

Mrs. Hubert Taylor, (Grady Billingsley), class of 1930, along with her husband, Bill Baker and Bill Mosely, entertained the Slaton Rotary Club last Thursday with a medley of sacred songs. The Quartette is known as the Slaton Quartette and do a real good job of the kind of singing that I like. The Taylors receive their mail at Route 2, Box 83, Post, Texas.

Of the ten names that we ran last week inquiring about their addresses we had five calls on one person (Mrs. Deward Morrison, Opal Byers). We are happy to report that the Morrisons live at 2301 - 50th. Street, Stardust Apartments, Lubbock, Texas.

We appreciate getting information on any or all so if you know the address of any of the ten listed last week or the following ten please call J. J. Maxey, City Hall, Slaton. Gisella Brosch 1927, Ivy Allison 1932, Louie Cates 1943, Frances Flores 1956, Tom Gassoway 1932, Lester Graves 1927, Lucielle Hastings 1932, Cecil Johnson 1932, Ann Kirkpatrick 1932, James Boyd Leavelle 1927.

Those paying dues since last week are Carl Self, H. H. White, Stanley White, Larry White, Lillian Williams Lockett, Fabian Stahl, Wayne and Katie Smith.

Grandma Had A Fine Year

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Mrs. Jeffrey Prendergast, 85, helped her three grandsons graduate from the University of Notre Dame by keeping house for them the past year.

Mrs. Prendergast is home now and happy that she was able to take care of her grandsons' needs while at South Bend, Ind.

Her grandsons, Jeffrey, Alan and William Hamilton, oldest of 12 children of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Hamilton, received degrees in January.

The 22-year-old Alan said: "Grandmother has twice the energy of any person in their 20s. She cooked, baked and cleaned the house. We had a fine year, especially grandma."

Scripture Passage: Read Psalm 139

Text: Psalm 139:23-24
Search me, O God, and know my heart! Try me and know my thoughts! And see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting!

The author of Psalm 139 is one who had a great religious experience. He found the God was a presence that we not confined to the temple in Jerusalem. He came to understand that God was not limited to a mountain or a locality or even a country. God could be and was everywhere. God meets us where we are, and lets us know Him even though we have gone as far from Him as possible.

There is a hint of a person trying to flee God in this Psalm. Perhaps the author had tried to hid himself from God because of unholy thoughts or unrighteous actions. Perhaps the author had felt unclean, and had tried to escape from the presence of God by going on the wings of the morning to the uttermost parts of the sea. But in this flight from God, in this poetry of escape, the Psalmist found that God was ever present. He was where ever one of His children happened to be.

Have we not tried to escape from God? Perhaps our busyness has been an attempt to avoid meeting the Almighty. Perhaps we have tried to escape from God by not going into His presence at church. Perhaps we have felt unworthy or unclean, and have not wanted to go before the Holy God in prayer or in fellowship with other people. Perhaps we have tried to keep Him out of a particular part of our mind, to shut Him out of a section of our lives, that we might have some part of ourselves that we may call our own.

But the new, the Good News, is that God cannot be avoided or escaped from. This may frighten us for a bit, for we know that we should avoid Him at certain times, and escape from Him with certain of our thoughts. And yet He finds us, and meets us, because He seeks us. This is the message not only of the Psalm, but of the whole Bible, and of the whole New Testament particularly: God seeks to meet us in Jesus Christ.

Yes, we can stay out of church, just as the Jew of twenty-five centuries ago could stay out of the Temple. And yet, they could not and we can not avoid God by staying away from where His is worshipped. He finds us where we are. And first we may feel only judgment from God—judgment against what we have done and what we have thought. But then we find that there is a reason why He has found us. It is not only to try us, it is not only to search us that He has found us. He has found us that He might lead us in the way everlasting. This then makes the news the Good news, the Gospel story. God seeks us in Christ to have fellowship with us forever.

He Got in Dutch With an Amsterdam Cabby

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — I had to type this one-handed because I wouldn't take my cab driver's word for it that he learned judo.

Not only my driver, but hundreds of other Amsterdam cabbies are learning the time-honored art of self defense. They learn, among other things, how to put a hand out of action with a swift blow against a tiny bone in the wrist. That's what happened to me.

The judo training for cab drivers here came about after a series of alarmingly brutal attacks by apparent customers. On one night recently a cabbie took a passenger to a lonely stretch of road. Suddenly, the man flicked a piece of plastic cord around the driver's neck and strangled him. Attacks on cabbies here have been frequent. Police statistics show that since World War II fatal or near-fatal attacks have averaged five a year.

One driver, Cor Wilson, was confronted recently by an extremely unruly passenger. It took four armed policemen and two medical squad wardens to subdue the man, who turned out to be a dangerous psychopath.

Wilson contacted judo expert Rinus Brecht and the two discussed what could be done to make cab drivers safe from nighttime attackers.

Wilson and Brecht on several occasions drove to a secluded spot and practiced defenses against various attacks to which a cab driver is vulnerable. The experiment looked promising.

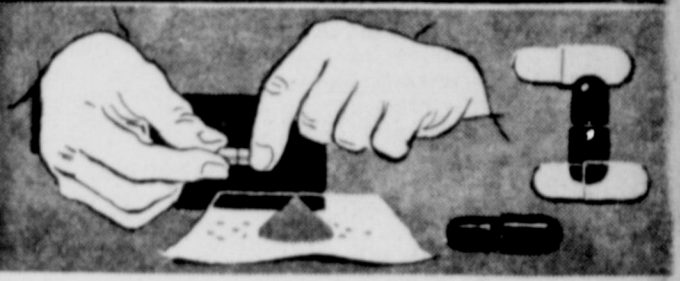

Within a few days, 300 cabbies enrolled in Brecht's school for a 10-lesson course for a fee of $1.50

Texas Lutheran College Band At Wilson

Texas Lutheran College band will be in Wilson next Monday evening to give a concert at Wilson High School at 8 p.m. St. John's Lutheran Church at Wilson is sponsoring the presentation.

There will be no admission charge but a free will offering will be taken.

Under the direction of M. A. Nyquist, the band has gained the unique distinction of providing "music which people love to hear." For a change of pace, Nyquist has highlights from "Camelot" in the program as well as the Triumphant March from "Opus Vadis." There are four different types of polkas on their program including both German and Scandinavian varieties as well as a Swedish waltz or two.

In fact, many music lovers feel that Nyquist has copied the style of Lawrence Welk in his program. It also points out the fact that nearly all members of the band are either German or Scandinavian descent.

Has anybody seen a stray mimosa tree? . . . if so, in all probability it belongs to Mrs. Jean Edmondson at 240 N. 12th Street. . . it seems that Jean had been doing some yard work which included transplanting this prized shrub from one part of the yard to another. . . the plant was doing well when suddenly it disappeared. . . evidently it had been pulled up as the hole was there to show that it had not just died. . . We've heard of stealing lots of things but I believe it is the first time I ever heard of someone stealing a tree. . . It was a small tree, however.

The other day as I was passing along the street in front of Slaton Pharmacy I overheard two little Negro girls talking. . . they looked to be about five or six years old. . . one said to the other "that's the store where grandma gets her pills". . . these little girls will, in all probability, grow up and have a very kindly feeling for that store for "that's where Bill Ware Pharmacy is running a series of ads in The Slatonite saluting the various organizations in the town. . . Watch the paper each week as your club will be the one he salutes, one of these weeks. . . it's just another way Mr. Ware has of letting you know he is glad he's a Slatonite.

Slaton has a number of civic and study clubs but there's one that probably brings more real pleasure to its members than any of the others. . . that is the Senior Citizen's Club that meets every Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the club house. . . they meet together for a covered dish meal. . . have a short devotion by a local pastor and then spend the afternoon playing 42 and dominoes and just visiting. . . I am told that the members look forward each week to this day of fellowship with their friends. . . thirty-five attended last week's meeting. . . if you are not a member now, I'm sure you would be welcome to join them. . . fun and fellowship are good therapy for what ails you. . . Nancy, Janet, Barbara and Richard Edwards presented an American flag to the Junior High School last week in memory of their father. The flag was given the children after the funeral service for their father, Albert Edwards, who died in Oklahoma on January 7. . . the Edwardses have moved back to Slaton and enrolled in school. . . this was a very fine gesture on the part of these children and one that was greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Michael McDaniel and baby son, Michael Jr., arrived in Slaton last Monday night from Germany. She came by boat to New York and by plane from New York to Slaton. They spent the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. King of Slaton and her uncle, Bryce King and family and her aunt, Mrs. L. D. Stewart and family of Lubbock before leaving for El Paso where she joined her husband who is stationed there. Mrs. McDaniel is the daughter of S/Maj. H. M. and Mrs. King who are still in Germany.

LASATER HOFFMAN

Read Luke 18:9-14

The son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son (Luke 15:21.)

Alone in a Chicago church, a young woman was practicing a solo for a service. Something caused her to glance over her shoulder. Standing behind her was a ragged, dirty man, with the saddest eyes she had ever seen. For a second her heart stood still. He quickly said, "Don't be afraid of me. My mother used to sing that song when I was a boy. I just stopped in to listen."

"Are you a Christian?" asked the girl. He shook his head. "I wish I were," he said. "But I have gone too far in sin to be worthy of the name. Maybe some day when I've straightened up my life--"

"Oh, there is no need to wait," the young woman interrupted. "Pleading guilty to sin is the first step toward salvation. What you need to do now is commit your life to Christ, believing, He will do the straightening up of your life."

"Too many people plan to clean up their lives before they come to Christ. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

PRAYER: O Lord, we know there is nothing we can do to merit salvation, for by Thy grace we are saved. We thank Thee for this grace, which makes it possible for us sinners to come to Thee just as we are, through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
When I confess, Christ forgives.

RELIGION

Theater Joins Churches in Humanizing Religious Plays

By CLAIRE COX
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — The churches are humanizing religious drama, and so is the professional theater.
The newest in a series of 20th century Biblical plays is the work of Paddy Chayevsky, author of "Marty," "The Tenth Man" and "Middle of the Night." He has taken the Book of Judges, Chapter 6-8, as the text for his new hit play, "Gideon."

Actually, Chayevsky protests that his play is neither Biblical nor religious. It is as much a morality play as were his earlier works, he says. As far as he is concerned, Gideon is an Israeli version of Marty — a well-meaning coward who becomes a hero in spite of himself.
"Gideon" is the fruit of extensive Biblical research that took Chayevsky to the Holy Land, where he walked the ground trod by Biblical characters and even filmed areas he later depicted on the stage. He read the Bible and books about it, studied the writings of archaeologists and perused atlases.

Out of it came a comedy based on the Bible.
"The story of Gideon in the Bible is funny," Chayevsky said in an interview. "You can get a couple of howls out of it just by reading it. For two thousand years, religion has been humorless. Now we are going back to humor."
Chayevsky's play is concerned largely with a tug-of-war between Gideon and God, the latter portrayed by Fredric March in a costume and makeup that gives him the appearance of the North Wind. God succeeds in persuading man to give up false idols and then masterminds a military victory achieved through Gideon's efforts.

Gideon becomes noble and then in a farewell to God announces that after all the fuss to get rid of false idols, man is going to have a whole set of new ones.
Chayevsky said a few ministers and rabbis had indicated their disapproval of his concept of God as a deity that can be cruel as well as kind. But churchmen generally have been generous in their praise and a number of religious groups already are seeking permission to stage the play themselves.

"I really do not think the play is religious," Chayevsky insisted. "My primary aim was a good dramatic plot with moral content. I am a morality writer. This is absolutely elemental existentialism. If people are not interested in existentialism per se they are interested in it without knowing what it is."

"Most people find the play informative. If nothing else, it is archaeologically sound. It is obviously not obscure. No one leaves saying 'I wonder what he meant.' They should walk out with understanding and a sense of having had fun."
It is Chayevsky's opinion, after reading the Bible, that the concept of God changed gradually through the centuries and that the God he presents in his play was an early version.
"God was a good fellow up to about the time of Elijah," he said. "He came down and chatted with people on their terms. Later he became austere."

Although he acknowledges that Gideon and Marty have much in common, Chayevsky says his next set of characters will be of a different stripe. He is going from the Bible to the Communist Manifesto for his next play.

CHILDREN MUST BE PROTECTED.

Too often, medicines which are perfectly safe in proper dosage are left exposed where little children can play with them. If a large amount is taken, any medicine can be fatal.

HOUSEHOLD CLEANERS ARE DANGEROUS.

If not used properly they can cause great harm and many children have been injured by being exposed to them.

MARCH 1962 BEGINS
POISON PREVENTION WEEK

If you have children, or any visit your home, please do these things now:

1. Store all medicines and household poisons in a place impossible for them to reach.
2. Throw away everything that has no label to positively identify the contents.
3. And, after you have used any medicine or household product, don't leave it around carelessly but immediately store it properly out of reach of children.

A3. ALWAYS READ THE LABEL

Never give or take any product without being certain it is the correct one. When pharmacists compound a prescription, we check the label at least three times.

1. When we take it off the shelf.
2. As we weigh or count out the medicine.
3. After compounding it and before we pack it.

Follow our instructions and you will keep your children safe.

DiETING Advice:
Eye Portions,
Not the Calories

CHICAGO (UPI) — One of the country's pioneer producers of diet and health foods believes low calorie foods make poor diet fare.

Dr. Stephen Gaymont, Hungarian-born bacteriologist, objects to crash diets of all low calorie foods because they fail to produce the good eating habits conducive to maintaining proper weight over the long run.

Gaymont, who introduced yogurt into the United States, believes the only effective way to diet is to eat anything you like, but in sensible quantities. He's all for letting you eat cake on a diet, but in small pieces.

If you deprive yourself of cake and other goodies on a diet, Gaymont maintains, these are the first things you eat after discontinuing the diet. As a result, he said, most people promptly gain back all the weight they lose while eating low calorie specialties.
