Hopes Fade As Divers Fail To Reach Submarine

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 21. (AP)—The first two attempts by the navy divers to reach the pressure-crushed submarine O-9 failed today, and the probability grew that the craft and her 33 dead had found a permanent grave 440 feet below the surface of the Atlantic.

The second effort resulted in a descent of 370 feet—the deepest working dive ever made in the North Atlantic—but the tremendous pressure at that depth, said the navy lacholically, forced "difficulty in breathing."

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

—BY JOE PICKLE—

Well, the "old friends" are at it again... Adolf and Joseph, we mean. By now it's a familiar technique. Hitler always says to potential enemy, "I am your friend." In full accord, we are "friends." Having protected his back with promises, he tends to smaller opposition. Then he always returns to liquidate the "old friend."

And this calls to mind that we all have a job ahead of us in buying defense bonds and stamps. Last week more than 14 firms came in 100 per cent. The figure ought to be doubled this week. As impressive as this may seem, it is but a mere beginning of the savings program if it is to succeed as it must. Defense money must come from the people, who thus express faith in the stability of the U. S. and not from printing phoney dollars, deficit spending or unbearable taxation.

It is good to see the city proposing to curb expenditures this year. The proposed budget calls for appropriations of $22,000 under expenditures last year and $36,000 under allotments for the same period. Biggest savings will be made in the street (by holding paving to a near cash or gilt-edged) and water departments. It also is good to note the sewer department is down for money for enlargement and repairs. It needs it.

Come the first of July folks over at Stanton should learn of the opening of a new office there with seven men assigned to it. It is. (See THE WEEK, Page 14, Col. 5)

Hitler To Get FD's Robin Moor Speech

Italian Consulates In United States Ordered Closed

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt sent Germany today a copy of the grim message he had given congress on the sinking of the Robin Moor, and there by told the Nazi government his views without cloaking and blunting them with the stilted and inexpressive language of a formal diplomatic protest.

This message called the sinking of the American freighter last May 21 an act of "piracy," asserted that reparations were expected of Germany, and declared that this country would resist Nazi efforts to dominate the seas.

Its dispatch to the Berlin government, along with a brief message of transmittal, will constitute the formal American protest over the sinking.

"Nothing further is required," said Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, when newspaper correspondents asked if it was planned to supplement today's action by sending a formal note to Berlin.

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt ordered that all Italian consuls and their aides and all Italian citizens employed here by official government agencies quit the country by July 15.

The latter move had been expected. German consuls and their staffs were instructed earlier in the week to leave by July 10. In prompt retaliation, Germany and Italy ordered American consuls to leave by July 15 not only those nations but all European countries which axis troops have occupied in the course of the war.

Troops May Break Strike In Shipyards

By The Associated Press

A conference of naval officers and an AFL international officer at San Francisco yesterday was followed by reports that the navy, perhaps in conjunction with the army, would take action Monday to put the strike-bound Bethlehem shipyard back into production on $300,000,000 worth of defense contracts.

The conference followed by a day a demand by Harvey W. Brown, international president of AFL machinists, that the union local striking at the Bethlehem plant and other shipyards in the area return to work.

The executive board of the local deliberated for several hours, then rejected Brown's order.

The signing of a contract between the Ford Motor company and CIO's United Automobile Workers brought yesterday some expressions of dissent from the rival AFL-UAW. An AFL-UAW official told reporters that Ford "has no right to enter into an agreement with the CIO to throw out pending labor board cases filed under the name of the UAW-AFL," saying such cases existed in connection with AFL efforts in the Ford plant at Kansas City.

Another UAW-AFL official insisted that "Ford cannot, under the law bargain with the CIO" in outlying plants in the Detroit area in which he claimed the AFL has a majority.

Absentees Cast 69 Votes Here

Sixty-nine absentee votes had been cast Saturday afternoon for the special senatorial election scheduled next Saturday.

Army Suggests Keeping Draftees Past First Year

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—Simultaneously with a war department recommendation that the national guard be kept in active service beyond the single year originally planned, the author of the selective service act today said that congress would quickly authorize an additional year's training for draftees if the administration requests it.

Rep. Wadsworth (R-Ky.), who introduced the draft bill, added that if it is decided to prolong the training period of the selectees, men over 28 years of age, now in service, should be permitted to withdraw after completing their 14 month training periods.

Bond, Stamp Campaign To Retain Pep

There'll be no lull in this week in the campaign to enroll Big Spring business institutions 100 per cent in the purchase of defense bonds and savings stamps.

"We're getting fine response," said General Chairman J. B. Collins Saturday, "but we have more calls to make, and we're going to keep on making them."

Collins said that teams from the American Business club will continue their canvassing efforts to get all employers and employees into the government savings program; to have stores handle stamps for convenience of patrons, and to assist in every other way to have the stamps and bonds go into general distribution.

One employer, R. R. McEwen of the McEwen Motor company, started a stamp book for each of his employes, presenting the books for the workers to continue purchases.

Collins said there were many other evidences of cooperation, and that he felt like Big Spring would be well up in national rankings in defense finance response if the program continues as it has started.

Saturday evening, there were 163 firms listed as being 100 per cent in stamp and bond purchases. This list appears in today's herald on Page 2.

Total bond and stamp sales had reached $103,051.25 up to June 15, with the two local banks and the postoffice reporting. This represented a gain of $10,223.75 over the June 1 figure.

Allies Take Damascus In Syrian Drive

Entry By British, Free French, Follows Heavy Bombardment

CAIRO, June 21 (AP)—The ancient capital city of Damascus, a center of 4,000 years of war-torn history, fell today to the British and Free French armies on the 14th day of their invasion of French-mandated Syria, the British Middle East command announced tonight.

The allied forces marched into the ancient Moslem capital just 24 hours after they began to shell it with big guns. This bombardment was launched after French High Commissioner Gen. Henri Dentz had refused a British ultimatum to withdraw his defending troops.

(The German radio reported that British artillery had destroyed Messa, western suburb of Damascus, with artillery fire prior to fall of the capital. A French dispatch from Beirut, Syria, indicated that the capital itself may not have been defended. This dispatch said that French troops withdrew from the city, after which it was occupied by the British.)

(The French, in dispatches from Beirut, admitted they had been forced to withdraw from the capital to positions to the north, where it was said the Vichy troops were taking up new defense positions.)

(The British radio said French forces also were retreating northward toward Beirut. The radio said this meant the main body of French in the mandate would be concentrated in front of that coastal city and that the main battle for Syria might take place there.)

(Just before the fall of Damascus, the French admitted the British had almost surrounded the city and were holding positions from only a mile to six miles outside its gates.)

The British and Free French which entered Damascus had smashed their way to within ten miles of the city in the first three days of their penetration of Syria, but stiff resistance and an avowed British reluctance to carry the fighting into the capital itself made further progress slow.

The fall of Damascus, believed to be the oldest inhabited city in the world came almost two weeks after Syria's frontiers were first crossed on the opening day of the campaign June 8.

Mass Of British Planes Raid Nazis

LONDON, June 21 (AP)—British bombers and fighters struck the German-held invasion coastline in two mass assaults of 150 planes each today and claimed 28 Nazi fighters, while losing only five planes themselves in the resultant far-flung battles.

Observers at the coastline who totaled the number of planes used pointed out that Britain now was attacking the continent with waves of fighters and bombers as great as Germany sent against England in the tremendous attacks last fall.

In the "greatest day" of the battle of Britain last September 15 Germany sent over two waves of 150 and two of 100, and British claimed a total bag of 185.

ICC Objects To FW&DC Leasing

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—By a vote of 6-4-4, the interstate commerce commission denied today as not "consistent with the public interest" a proposal by the Colorado & Southern railway to lease its two Texas subsidiaries and move their offices and shops from that state.

Mann Promises To Adhere To Strict Rules Of Conduct

"I sacrificed no principle to gain this office; I shall sacrifice none to keep it."

A placard bearing that inscription hangs on the Attorney-General Gerald C. Mann's office wall in Austin and that placard will be taken to Washington if he is elected senator, Mann told several hundred persons in a campaign address here Saturday.

Mann asserted that he had followed this code as attorney general, that the many decisions his office had written had been legal, not political.

In addition to carrying to Washington the same reputation for honesty and integrity which he claims as attorney general,

MOSCOW SAYS REDS AND BRITISH ARE IN FULL ACCORD

By The Associated Press

Germany declared war on Soviet Russia at dawn Sunday and the London radio immediately announced a declaration had been issued in Moscow stating the U. S. S. R. and Great Britain were in full accord on the international situation.

Adolf Hitler, after assailing Russia bitterly in a proclamation read to the world by radio, ordered the Nazi armies to march into the Soviet.

The German fuhrer declared he had had enough of Russian violation of the German frontiers and had commended the fate of the Reich to the armies which have been all-victorious since September, 1939.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels read the proclamation and then Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop came on the air to read out a formal declaration of war against the nation with which German linked herself in a 10-year non-aggression pact less than two years ago.

Standing by the Germans as they make war against a new enemy are the armies of Finland and Rumania.

"Together with the Finns, the Germans are standing from Narvik to the Carpathians," Hitler's proclamation said. This one sentence dramatically indicated perfectly how far-reaching is the new battle front—from Narvik, amid the fjords of far northern Norway, to the Carpathian mountains that run down to the Near East's Black sea, 1,500 miles away.

On the southern tip of the long battle lines the Germans apparently will be aided by Rumanians, under command of Gen. Ion Antonescu, Rumanian chief of state.

Where the lightning war of Hitler's legions will strike first was not known immediately. The nations of eastern Europe through all history have kept covetous eyes on the Ukraine—fertile wheat producing bread-basket of the continent—but that did not make it certain that the Ukraine would be the first military objective.

In New York, the National Broadcasting company said early this morning that it can be definitely stated that no actual troop movements on the part of either Germany or Russia have as yet taken place, basing its assertion on a broadcast by the British Broadcasting company.

But meantime a dispatch telephone from Berlin to New York said German troops massed in East Prussia, along with soldiers from Finland and Norway in the north and Rumania in the south were on the march.

Meanwhile, the Rome radio said only that the coming conflict between Germany and Russia will find the Italian army standing by, ready to assist Germany in her struggle.

Although the proclamation and declaration of war came with startling suddenness on an otherwise quiet Sunday morning, the break was not unexpected, since Europe has been teeming with rumors for weeks that open conflict between the two great powers and erstwhile "friends" was imminent.

Germany, according to those reports is almost every capital of the old world, had made harsh demands on Russia, especially for the oil and wheat of the great Russian breadbasket—the Ukraine.

Finland had been especially jumpy and had ordered mobilization of practically all her reserves but there was nothing from the censor-veiled Russian capital to indicate anything other than peace and light.

The split with Russia followed hard on the heels of a Turkish-German friendship pact and only yesterday a foreign source in London declared that new agreement included a secret provision that Turkey would remain benevolently neutral in the event of a war between the reich and the soviet.

This might mean that Turkey, (See WAR, Page 14, Col. 3)

Fully mobilized, the soviet might mass an army of 5,000,000 men or more.

But upon the controversial question of soviet production depends whether they would be equipped with the modern implements of war so they would be effective.

Moreover, upon the soviet state of preparedness, depends whether they have been mobilized and moved into approximate positions to meet the onslaught.

Owing to the poor state of Russian railways and motor roads, some authorities believe it would take 60 to 90 days for the soviet really to mobilize.

For years on the propaganda of the soviet state of preparedness of the world was puzzled, then amazed when the little Finnish army stood off the red army for many weeks in the winter of 1939-40.

Since then, Joseph Stalin has seen to it that the red army was given a thorough overhauling. Real discipline was introduced. The political commissars, previously stationed with each unit to see that the military commander did not double cross the communist party, were practically abolished, and the generals were given command of their units. Generals and other officers' ranks replaced the old system of commissars.

The salute was introduced, soldiers and sailors no longer enjoyed the privilege of appealing over the heads of their commanders. Guard house punishments for infractions of discipline were made more severe, decorations were awarded for merit.

More rigid training, with an eye to actual field conditions, was introduced and realistic maneuvers carried out.

The RIGHT Man For The U. S. Senate

AN EDITORIAL

On Saturday of this week, the voters of Texas will, in the selection of a U. S. senator, make one of the gravest political decisions they have been called upon to make in many years.

It is vastly important that not just a GOOD man be chosen, but that he be the RIGHT man. There are many factors to be considered: the prestige of our state, and its welfare; the welfare of Texas people; and certainly the welfare of the whole nation.

For make no mistake about it, the Texas senatorial election is vital to the affairs of the entire United States. Texas is too important in the Washington operations, and senatorial support or non-support for the administration is too significant for us not to realize the gravity of our decision on Saturday.

Our national leader, Mr. Roosevelt, has recognized the importance of the election, in citing Lyndon B. Johnson as his friend.

Mark you, Mr. Roosevelt has not TOLD the people of Texas how to vote; if he had, we believe there is just enough Texas stubbornness in our system to have made us advocate exercising independence at the ballot box. Mr. Roosevelt, instead, as simply let the people of Texas know that his administration needs sympathetic counsel, and that Lyndon Johnson is one of those—like Tom Connally and George Mahon and Sam Rayburn and many another able Texan in Washington—on whom he can depend at a time when dependability is so infinitely important.

Neither are WE trying to tell anybody how to vote.

We like Gerald Mann as an attorney-general, and have said so in our editorial columns many times. We like Gerald Mann as a prospective governor of Texas, and we think his background makes him more valuable to us as Texans in the Austin scene.

We like Martin Dies as a scourge of un-American elements, and have said so in our editorial columns many times. We have lauded his investigative efforts, and we like him as a member of the lower house where he can continue his committee work. His committee on un-American activities would collapse, you know, if he leaves the house, because Dies IS the committee.

We can even tolerate Lee O'Daniel as a radio master of ceremonies and as a flour broker. We haven't said so editorially, but we've implied it in a negative fashion.

BUT, these are not the men to RIT the bill as the successor to the late, great Morris Sheppard. THE RIGHT MAN, we conscientiously believe, is Lyndon Johnson.

He has the Washington insight, which is so valuable in this time of crisis; he has the open door to high administrative quarters, which is extremely worthwhile in Texas and to his own stature as a senator.

He has the plain and simple background of a real Texan. He has brought himself up through education and training and application.

He has youth and energy and determination. He has knowledge and training and intelligence. He has integrity and sincerity. He has common sense.

He has proved himself, to the people of Texas and he has proved himself to President Roosevelt.

We think Lyndon B. Johnson is the RIGHT man.

Powell-Loy Team Gets crazier Than Ever In Film, 'Love Crazy'

Comedy Offered Today And Monday At The Ritz

With William Powell and Myrna Loy teamed in their maddest, merriest series of comedy adventures, "Love Crazy," is featured at the Ritz theatre.

The screen's famous husband and wife find discord in the new picture when Myrna becomes jealous of Gail Patrick and wants to divorce Powell. He learns that an insane man cannot be divorced, so stages all manner of queer antics to feign insanity. But the trouble is that he fools the alienists who take him off to an asylum.

Then his frantic efforts to prove he isn't crazy make him appear all the crazier. Amid divers bughouse complications he finally extricates himself from his web of deceit, after getting caught in an elevator, chewing up a phonograph record, and even impersonating a woman.

Powell and Miss Loy were directed by Jack Conway, who guided them through the comical adventures of "Labeled Lady," and also directed the successful "Boom Town."

Gail Patrick plays the beautiful "school friend" who precipitates the husband-and-wife quarrel, and Jack Carson complicates matters by laying siege to Miss Loy's affections. Florence Bates has a big running part as Powell's mother-in-law.

Others in the cast include Sidney Blackmer, Vladimir Sokoloff, Kathleen Lockhart, Fern Emmett, Joseph Crshan, George Meeker, Sig Ruman and Sara Haden. Elaborately staged and costumed, mostly in a socialite environment, the picture was produced for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer by Pandro S. Berman as his first production since the spectacular "Ziegfeld Girl."

Two Mitchell Pool Wells Are Watched

COLORADO CITY, June 21 (Sp)—Two newly shot wells were claiming major interest in the Dockrey & Robbins field of northwestern Mitchell county this week.

F. W. Merrick's No. 1 Crawford gave promise of being one of the field's best when it flowed 150 barrels in a few hours after its shot with 400 quarts from 1,830 to 1,740 feet. This well, located in subdivision 11 of the Geo. J. Reiger survey, was erroneously reported as having been shot several days ago. The Merrick well shot at that time was the Merrick No. 1 Mills on the McGinnis survey. Merrick has announced seven new locations on Crawford land.

Hibun No. 1, Jackson was also shot this week with 600 quarts from 1,840 to 1,750. It bridged around 1,250 feet but made a head five hours later. Location is in the northwest quarter of section 29-07, H&T.C.

After a delay due to dropping several hundred feet of casing, the L. L. Walker No. 1 Budget resumed drilling this week, going around the only joint of casing not recovered.

Air was still blowing from the Lockhart, Robbins & Dockrey and Willbanks Bros. No. 1 Cora Hoyt Brown, widest test six miles west of Colorado City at the end of the week. Operations have been suspended for a fortnight due to heavy volume of air encountered at 940 feet.

Picture Deals With Girls In Trap Of Crime

'Under Age' Is Melodramatic Offering At The Queen

Called an expose of a new racket, "Under Age" is the melodramatic offering for today and Monday at the Queen theatre—a film which has thrills, laughter, romance, tears and a social message of sorts. Played by a splendid cast, with lovely blonde Nan Grey and sister Alan Baxter in the dramatic leads, "Under Age" bring to the screen the refreshing charms of Mary Anderson, petti youngster who gave Martha Scott a run in "Cheers for Miss Bishop," and handsome newcomer Tom Neal.

"Under Age" paints in vivid terms the tragedies which befall young girls, homeless and friendless, who finally are forced to aid a mobster ring, solely because they themselves want to live like human beings. Picked up by the gang, operators of a nation-wide string of hotels, the kids are given the sweet little job of picking up lone automobiles, a job steering them to the combination hotel, restaurant and bar. Here the gang takes over, via blackmail, crooked gambling or theft.

Through a series of exciting scenes, the picture reveals how the girls finally turn upon their rack-steer bosses, to bring the entire gang to justice.

As sisters involved in the racket, Miss Grey and Miss Anderson rate plenty of applause. Baxter turns in an exceptionally capable performance as Tap Manson, killer of the mob, and Neal is equally effective as the young jewelry salesman turned racket-buster. As the "brains" of the crime ring, Leona Maricle contributes another polished performance.

New Conservation Area Outlined By Farm Agent, SCS

A new soil conservation basin in the R-Bar area has been surveyed by County Agent O. P. Griffin and Dudley T. Mann, technician in charge of the local soil conservation service staff.

Under consideration there is a 7,000 acre watershed. Scattered farms over its area have signed applications for technical assistance in conservation, and it is expected that most others will do so, so that the area may receive priority listing for soil conservation service work.

The draw involved begins on the E. H. Piquis farm, and runs through the following places: W. S. Satterwhite, Mrs. O. J. Cotton, W. H. Wise, J. A. Bishop, R. E. Martin, B. F. Miller, Jim Robinson, Mrs. W. H. Robinson, W. C. Rogers, R. P. Guthrie, W. M. Spears, Mack Adams and M. T. Hale.

Prospects For Bumper Crops Continue To Prevail In Area

Weather Allows Work In Fields

Howard county's 1941 crop prospects continue to "look up." During the past two weeks bright sunshine has dried out heavy spring moisture to allow for working of fields and to bring crops shooting upward.

Planting of all crops is virtually complete, and a good stand has sprouted everywhere. There probably is moisture enough in the ground to produce a crop whether or not additional rain is received, County Agent O. P. Griffin asserts in his latest official report to the bureau of marketing.

Weeds are presenting a problem in some fields, due to excessive moisture, but with fair weather helping, farmers are beginning to get them under control.

Greatest danger now lies in the ravages of cotton flea hoppers, the county agent believes. Griffin's official report on the condition of agriculture in the county as of the end of this week includes the following observations:

COTTON—two weeks early; planting about complete; cultivation fair; danger existing from flea hoppers.

GRAIN SORGHUMS—condition 95 per cent of ideal; weeds plentiful; planting complete.

WHEAT—condition 85 per cent of ideal or less; rust damage considerable and weeds damaging quality of threshed product; harvest just starting.

HAY—condition ideal; planting complete.

PASTURES—condition graded 90 per cent; weeds plentiful but winter weeds now dying.

LIVESTOCK—plenty of feed and water; screw worms bad and lice increasing in average of 300 to 400 acres of crop land daily.

CONDITION OF SOIL—enough moisture in surface and subsoil to assure good crop.

HOME GARDENS—best in history of the county and probably an acreage as great as ever before.

FRUITS—graded at 85 per cent.

Soldiers in Texas are meeting death now in a preview of man against mechanized monsters, according to the Texas State Police. In the first four months 47 persons were killed and 358 injured in Texas crashes involving military personnel. Steps have been taken to curb the toll around camp areas and in cities, but the rate still goes on in the fringe areas where soldiers get in too big a hurry to get home for a weekend.

A $250,000 cotton research bill, designed to find new uses for cotton, has been passed through the legislature and signed by the governor. Senators Marshall Formby, McAdoo, and George Moffett, Chilton, were sponsors of the bill which provides funds for research work at Texas A. & M., Texas Tech and Texas University. Pointing out that DuPont spends millions in research each year, Formby commented that "the only thing wrong with this bill is that we passed it in Texas about 20 years too late." He added new markets for cotton would assure Texas prosperity.

AAA Compliance Checking Off To Good Start

Checking of Howard county farms for compliance with the AAA program is getting off to a smooth start, according to M. Weaver, county administrative officer. Compliance checking is being carried on by a crew of 10 reporters, each with an assistant, working under O. Y. Miller, county compliance supervisor.

Each reporter and his assistant is measuring an average of 300 to 400 acres of crop land daily. Weaver points out that under a new regulation, the farmer who overplants and desires to plow up a part of his crop must pay a fee for having his acreage rechecked. This fee will be $1 for the first plot rechecked and 50 cents for each additional plot.

Thus far, the reporters have found about one-third of the farms overplanted. After the first measurement, the farmer has 10 days to notify the AAA office that he wants a re-check. Reporters include: Ellis Iden, Veslmoor; Warren Lockhart, Gay Hill; Albert Smith, Luther; Walker Bailey; Centerpoint; George H. Brown, Jr., Vincent; C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma; C. T. Full Carload of Electrolux Units Received Here

Popularity of Servel Electrolux refrigerators in West Texas is demonstrated, according to the local dealer, B. Sherrod Supply company, in the unloading of a solid carload of Electrolux units here this past week. Demand for the boxes has been so great, Sherrod's said, that many units in the carload shipment already have been disposed of.

Included in the carload shipment were boxes of varying sizes: three 4-foot units; five 5-foot, five 6-foot, twenty four 6 1/2-foot and ten 8-foot boxes. The local dealer recently announced a new low price on the roomy six cubic foot box.

The upswing in Electrolux sales, Sherrod's asserts, is in part backed by announcement that all 1941 Servel Electrolux gas refrigerators were to be backed by an iron-clad 10-year guarantee. This guarantee clearly provides for replacing any and all parts of the refrigerating system of the 1941 gas refrigerator, any time within ten years from installation—for its original purchaser, the purchaser to pay only the small labor charge which would be required.

Bridwell Sets Pace In Major Loop Batting

Pickle Leads Chase In Minor City Softball League

Boys Bridwell, head-swinging Phillips' fireman and insurance peddler, paces the field in Major city softball league batting, having pounded out 18 hits in 20 trips to the plate for an average of .900.

Bridwell piled up walloping premiums to jump ahead of Red Womack of Montgomery Ward and Clifton Patton of Phillips', deadlocked last week for the lead and Maxie Carroll of Stags Automen.

Womack and Patton split honors for number two spot, both getting 18 hits out of 20 for .448. Next on the list is Cities Service's Choo Smith, 10 out of 23 for .434.

Joe Pickle, Herald, scotchbaler, moved from number three in Minor loop batting to first place during the week, connecting with the ball for 13 hits out of 23 times at the plate for .565. George Tillinghast of the Lions and Malcolm Bridges of American Business club made it a two-way tussle for runnerup, both holding 22 wallops out of 38 trips for .579.

Stanley of the Lions was in third place slot with 23 hits out of 42 trips for .548.

Local Golfers Entertain Midlanders Here Today

Midland golfers engage Big Spring devotees here this afternoon over the Munny course, matches to get underway at 1:30 p. m. over the 18-hole route. Gaitner Nowell, Midland pro leads a delegation that is scheduled to include such fast-company club-swingers as Pat Riley, Jack Smith, E. B. Dozier, Frank Johnson, Bill Barker, John Hogan and Herb Harold Akey, Munny pro, said a Dutch lunch was on the menu to wind up the day's festivities.

As the count now stands, the two towns are even—seven in the matter of wins and losses. Big Spring took honors in the first game of the intercity matches here, then the Midlanders retaliated by mopping up on the local men when they made a call at Midland.

HAROLD AKEY Today's Host

Akey said Saturday the course was in the best of condition for the matches, most of the fairways having been recently mowed and the bent grass greens are flourishing after the frequent rains during the spring.

According to the rules governing the inter-city affairs, the Midlanders will line up their offering on the basis of their playing. Big Spring will do likewise, then men of equal standing will be pitted against each other. In each foursome, a Big Spring player will be matched against a Midland devotee, the winner of the match to be given one point. In addition, low ball for the foursome will be given one point. Three points can be gained in each foursome—one for each of the pairings, plus one for low ball, provided the Big Springers perform as they intend to. Low ball will be figured on a hole for hole basis, point going to the low tally at the end of the 18-hole tussle.

Although the list of Big Springers slated to entertain the Midlanders is incomplete, a tentative column as given by Akey includes: Obit Bristow, M. K. House, Shirley Robbins, Gene Gardner, Ed Coffey, Neal Hilliard, W. F. Julliff, Jr., C. W. Cunningham, A. E. Sugas, C. L. Rowe, Sammy Sain, Carl Strom, Ira Thurman, Arch Brimberry, Claude Wilkins, Novis Womack, Red Womack, Pug Hagemann, Speedy Nugent, Matt Harrington, Herman Hagood, Herman Stewart, D. B. Watkins, Sam McCombs and Akey.

Browns Hammer Red Sox, 13-9

BOSTON, June 21 (AP)—Just as hot as the 94 degree heat, the St. Louis Browns today hammered three Boston Red Sox pitchers for 16 hits — including homers by George McQuinn, Wally Judnich and Chet Laabs — to bang out a 13 to 9 victory and even the series.

Nats Blank Tribe, 1-0

WASHINGTON, June 21 — Shortstop Lon Boudreau, as dependable an infielder as there is in the big leagues, tossed away a 13-inning ball game for Cleveland today giving the Washington Senators a 1 to 0 victory over the league-leading Indians.

Boudreau's misplay brought a well-deserved victory to Washington's Ken Chase, who allowed only five hits, particularly since the last time Cleveland was here he hurled shutout ball for ten innings to lose in the 11th.

Jimmy Bloodworth drew a walk from southpaw Al Milnar to start the 12th for Washington and dashed to third on Al Evans' solid single. Bloodworth appeared trapped for an easy out at the plate as Boudreau took Chase's roller, but Lou threw at least 10 feet over catcher Rollie Hemley's head to break up the contest.

It was Washington's second straight win over the pace-setters, but the Indians retained their two-game margin over the New York Yankees, who dropped a 7-3 decision to Detroit.

Tigers Thump Yankees, 7-2

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—The New York Yankees weren't enough to offset the fine pitching of Dizzy Trout and Alton Benton, with the result the Detroit Tigers won the second game of the three-game series, 7 to 2 Saturday.

Joe DiMaggio, with one hit in a single that scored the Yankees' first run in four times at bat, extended his safe hitting streak through 34 games. When Phil Rizzuto homered in the seventh it marked the 17th straight game in which the Yanks had connected with four-baggers, tying the major league mark set by the Tigers last year.

Fulcher Goes To Berkeley

COLORADO CITY, June 20 (Sp)—T. M. McDonald, coach at Santa Anna for the past two years, is moving to Colorado City this weekend to succeed Truett Fulcher as recreational director under the community service project of the Work Progress Administration. The recreational program here is sponsored by the city, county and school.

Fulcher has been transferred to Abilene as assistant to the morale officer at Camp Berkeley. He came here from Abilene over two years ago, having been a football star at Hardin-Simmons university and a former state heavyweight Golden Gloves champion.

McDonald, who was reared at Kenedy, played tackle on the Howard Payne football squad, lettering three years. He was coach at Iredell before going to Santa Anna.

Texarkana Arms Plant Site Picked

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Selection of a site near Texarkana, Tex., for an ammunition storage depot where approximately $9,000,000 will be expended was announced today by the war department.

The site is about 15 miles west of Texarkana and will consist of more than 10,000 acres.

The war department said about 200 employees would be located permanently at the depot when it was in full operation.

The announcement was made in advance of negotiation of contracts for issuing "letters of intent" to prospective contractors in a procedure sometimes followed, to save time in starting construction.

Cincy Decisions Dodgers, 4-1

CINCINNATI, June 21 (AP)—Elmer Riddle, 23-year-old right hander, continued to take up some of the slack in the Cincinnati pitching staff today as he hurled six-hit ball in the world champions' 4 to 1 decision over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In chalking up his sixth victory without a defeat, Riddle fanned eight Dodgers and had a shut out until the ninth.

Southpaw Golfers To Vie In Mineral Wells

"Sergeant York"

A quick glimpse at some of the scenes in this Warner Brothers production portraying the life of World War No. 1's greatest hero—as played by Gary Cooper.

Alvin York, Hank Tennessee mountaineer, meets THE girl, Joan Leslie. He determines to marry her.

York, a dead shot, wins the grand prize at a local turkey shoot. It will be sufficient to buy the farm he has always wanted.

But Uncle Sam's draft interferes with his plans and he enters the Army.

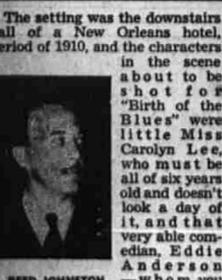

The war over at last, York emerges as it's greatest hero. He is loaded down with medals from all the Allied nations for his exploit of capturing 132 German prisoners—unaided.

He returns home the modest hero. Of course he gets the girl, and his admiring townsmen present him with the much wanted farm.

ON THE SETS With REED JOHNSTON

The setting was the downstairs hall of a New Orleans hotel, a period of 1910, and the characters in the scene about to be shot for "Birth of the Blues" were little Miss Carolyn Lee, who must be all of six years old and doesn't look a day of it, and that very able comedian, Eddie Anderson—who you know of course as Rochester. He was in the act of cleaning up the floor, and to brighten a dull task for both of them, was telling Carolyn a vivid story about a wicked dragon who made things tough for a beautiful little princess.

"It was May Day," he went on, "and the little princess, in a beautiful dress, was out picking flowers." Then, feeling that his resemblance to a beautiful little princess was perhaps not striking enough to impress his audience, he detached the mop from its handle and placed it on his head to represent a wig. With this somewhat inadequate suggestion of long blonde curls, he thereupon went into a dance, embellished with much skipping and pirouetting and the imaginary tossing of flowers.

Erskine Johnson's HOLLYWOOD

OFF THE SOUND TRACK: Bruce Cabot, as excited as a schoolboy on his first date, telephoned his Hollywood agent from Dallas, Tex., the other night. "This is Bruce Cabot," he said. "I've just discovered the greatest singer in the world. I want you to hear her sing. Go on, honey," Bruce coaxed the girl, "sing to him." The girl did, into the telephone. But the agent was unimpressed and hung up before she went into the second chorus. . . . One of the screen's lovelier feminine stars is currently playing an off-stage role far more exciting than any she's played before the camera. If it continues according to movie formula, she'll divorce her husband and rewed her former hubby. Hollywood doesn't know about it, but I know (and they know I know) that she and the used-to-be are meeting almost nightly in an out-of-the-way cafe in San Fernando valley.

Erskine Johnson Victor McLaglen spends most of his time away from the cameras on his Clovis, Calif., ranch. And when the mayor of Clovis begs about his tiny community, he says: "Just think—see how the Friant dam, the new bomber training base and Victor McLaglen."

Case of Mary Astor and the Warner Brothers is typical of Hollywood master minding. When she was signed for a role with Bette Davis in "The Great Lie," Warners took an option on her for two additional pictures at $1750 a week. She gave a terrific performance in "The Great Lie," sharing critical praise with Miss Davis. But after the preview, Warners failed to pick up her $1750 a week option. Three weeks later, studio executives decided they wanted her on contract after all. "My salary is now $2500 a week," said Miss Astor. "Okay," said the studio executives. The contract was signed the next day.

There's a story going the rounds about a sailor off a British man of war who was asked if his ship had been torpedoed. "No, sir," was the ter's salty reply. "She split her blooming sides laughing at the Italian navy."

Cecil B. DeMille's plans for several underwater scenes in "Reap the Wild Wind" remind me of Hollywood's first attempt at bottom of the sea drama. Someone—I've forgotten who—decided to film a thrilling underwater fight between two deep-sea divers. Their weapons were knives and all went well until one of the knives floated right out of the hero's hand. It was made of wood.

Agent Charles Wendling's new romance with Margaret Lindsay is like the last reel of a Leo McCarey picture. Wendling, brother of Claudette Colbert, and Bill Lundigan are pals. For a year Lundigan and Miss Lindsay kept steady company while Wendling secretly fell in love with his pal's girl. Day after Lundigan and Miss Lindsay called it a day, Wendling telephoned her for a date and now it looks like they're altar bound.

Anthony Quinn was complaining about always being referred to as Cecil B. DeMille's son-in-law (he married Katharine DeMille). "Why," said Quinn, but seriously, "do they have to give him so much publicity?"

In real life Gloria Swanson wears a size 2 shoe but in pictures she wears size No. 3 1/2. "My feet are so small that they photograph kind of phony in No. 2 shoes," the star explained to me on the set of "Father Takes a Wife." "Fans used to write in to accuse me of affectation and vanity—in squeezing my feet into such small shoes. So, for screen work, I wear sizes a number and a half too roomy." Miss Swanson's feet are seen more frequently on the screen than those of other stars because of her small stature, 5 feet 1 inch. They put the camera near the floor and shoot up to make Gloria appear taller.

Otto Kruger tossed an organ grinder a fifty-cent piece on Hollywood Boulevard and the man stopped his music to give the actor a quarter change. "I'm from Oklahoma," he explained to the incredulous Kruger. "Force of habit. In Oklahoma there's an ordinance what bars takin' more than two bits for street entertainin'."

KEN MORGAN'S HOLLYWOOD KEYHOLE

Talk is rife around the industry that Sonja Henie, upon completion of "Sun Valley Serenade," the last picture on her 20th Century-Fox contract, will make the chore her film "swan-song." It is common knowledge that Sonja resents the business interference in married life with millionaire sportsman Dan Topping. It is understood, however, that her love for skating will keep her in the public eye, and if she decides to leave Hollywood permanently she plans an annual skating tour. Rumor has it that her last year's tour grossed $1,000,000 from which the Norsk lass netted 25 per cent.

Financially unfortunate for Tommy Harmon, Michigan All-American halfback last year, that the draft caught up with him before he could finish a Columbia Picture contract and radio jobs set by his sponsor, Bing Crosby. Tommy was to be enriched by $25,000—but he will settle for twenty-one dollars per for the next year.

20th Century-Fox has been forced to eliminate an entire sequence in "A Yank in the R.F." The script called for an actor to impersonate Lord Haw-Haw, the traitorous Englishman who baited the British from a broadcasting base in Germany. The casting department was unable to locate an English accent which would fill the bill.

With the closing of several of the most popular Hollywood retreats for the summer, week-enders have rediscovered the Santa Barbara Hilton and its beautiful club, the Coral Casino. Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers have always made it their favorite rest. Spotted there last week-end were Arlene Judge, John Garfield, Mary Beth Hughes, Patricia Stillman, Townsend Netcher, Ted North and several executives from the colony.

THE GOOD RUMOR MAN: George Montgomery and Cobina Wright, Jr., accompanied by Cobina Wright, Sr., spent the week-end at Yosemite—this is beginning to look serious. . . . Mickey Rooney, Sidney Miller, Junior Coghlan and Dick Fenton indulged in a hot bowling match the other night at the Sunset Alloys and did not know they were in a tournament until Dick received a letter saying they had won second prize. . . . Seemed like old times to see Ginger Rogers and Jimmy Stewart dancing at Ciro's. . . . John Howard is no longer seeing Hedy Lamarr but is lavishing attention on Florence Rice. . . . Marjorie Weaver has received a double okay from her bosses—she will be accorded a build-up professionally and her romance with Jack Schaumo, Norwegian ski champ, has received executive blessing. They were seen in the darkest corner of the Beverly Tropics. . . . Congratulations to Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, who celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary, June 16. . . . Decca is bringing out a record album of Reggie Gardiner's impersonations. . . . Frances Langford and Jon Hall have left by car for Lakeland, Florida, France's home town. . . . Neil Hamilton has a comeback scheduled. . . . It's going to be soon for Bert Wheeler and Phyllis Ruth. . . . Boots Malloy spotted this sign: "Fanny Serrano—Nothing cut but the price." . . . Martha Hope's dried green gams designed by Fred Block, Chicago designer, has been insured for $1200—and that's a lot of hay. . . . They tell me John Garfield is on a vacation, but I'll wager it's another set-to with the Warner Brothers and he's on the familiar suspension.

Something highly appetizing on the half-shell is portrayed here by Rita Hayworth, working now with Fred Astaire in Columbia's comedy of Army life, "You'll Never Get Rich."

JOE FISHER'S Reviews of Previews

The first picture previewed was Republic's "ANGELS WITH BROKEN WINGS" with Binnie Barnes, Gilbert Roland, Mary Lee, Billy Gilbert, Jane Frazee, Edward Norris, Katherine Alexander, Leo Gorcey, Lois Hanson, Leni Lynn and Marilyn Hare.

Here is a picture that emerges as first-class entertainment despite a somewhat spotty story that is blessed at times with brilliant dialogue, but at other times with lines that make you wonder exactly what Dialogue Bradford Ropes had in mind. What pulls the film up to A-1 entertainment is the topnotch performance of a splendid cast—who outdo themselves.

The story is of three daughters trying to make a way easy for their widowed mother's second marriage, and it all adds up to plenty of fun. For Binnie Barnes the role is a natural, and she rates top acting honors—and also looks stunning indeed. Gilbert Roland, as an Argentine cattle king who gets roped into the family difficulties, is excellent. Eddie Norris gives a surprising performance, exhibiting hitherto unknown capacity for comedy, while Jane Frazee does well as his fiancée. Billy Gilbert has a very fat role and does a bit of scene stealing now and then. Among the young starlets in the cast, Lois Hanson rates the bow. She does exceptionally well. Mary Lee and Marilyn Hare are acceptable and Leni Lynn gives evidence of a beautiful operatic voice, while Leo Gorcey garners most of the laughs. "ANGELS WITH BROKEN WINGS" is family entertainment that everyone should enjoy, and is recommended as such.

The second picture of the week is Warner Brothers' "KNOCKOUT," with Arthur Kennedy, Olympe Bradna, Virginia Field, Anthony Quinn, Cliff Edwards and a strong supporting cast. If it wasn't for the fact that the film is laid against the altogether familiar background of the boxing ring this picture might well have been one of those "sleepers" for which every producer prays. As it is, it's an interesting film which Director William Clemens keeps moving at a fast pace against the colorful scenery of the ring. Arthur Kennedy, the fighter, wants to quit while he's still on top, marry his girl, Olympe Bradna, and retire to an upstate health farm. But his crooked manager, Tony Quinn, has other plans and stops at no skulduggery to keep his boy out of a job. Eventually Kennedy is forced to return to the ring, only to have his head turned by the roar of the crowd and lose all sense of perspective. Kennedy is fine and is particularly appealing in the ring scenes. Miss Bradna turns in a top performance and Virginia Field, as the inevitable "other woman," gives the role just the right amount of dash. Mr. Quinn exhibits the right degree of villainy while Cliff Edwards does one of his cool roles at his very best. If you like fight pictures, "KNOCKOUT" will more than please you. As for the children . . . that's up to you.

The final picture of the week is the product of a new firm, Producers Releasing Corporation, who prove that with a good story, a competent cast and expert direction you don't have to spend a fortune to turn out a finished film. Titled "PAPER BULLETS," the story concerns an exposé of big-city racketeering and all of its double-crossing ramifications. Joane Woodbury plays the top role, and plays it right up the hilt, easily garnering the acting honors of the film. Jack LaRue, as the orphan boy turned gangster, is excellent. Pretty Linda Ware with a smallish role has an opportunity to deliver two songs, which she does in fine form and voice. The balance of the cast has been well selected and are all more than adequate, with an especial mention and bow to old-timers Bryant Washburn and Kenneth Harlan. With this excellent sample for their first picture, Producers Releasing Corporation will bear watching for the future. Your reviewer has no hesitancy in recommending the film as good entertainment, but I would hesitate a bit on taking the youngsters.

MEET THE STARS WITH VIO BOESEN

"I'm going to keep 90 acres in permanent pasture. That ought to be enough to support about twenty head of cattle . . . dividing it so that only half is grazed at a time." You might think these are the words of a farmer, making conversation at the crossroads store. They are the words of a farmer, all right; only he isn't in overalls, it isn't a he, and the scene is not the crossroads store.

The farmer is Helen Vinson, and if Hollywood weren't so hard to bust out of—once you're in—she might have been holding forth on the foregoing lines to the boys around the cracker barrel at Kilmarnock, Virginia, where she recently bought 180 acres, instead of in Paramount's commissary in Hollywood.

But she had been needed for "Nothing But the Truth," which, by the way, from bearings taken on the sidelines, ought to be about the best comedy in years, and there was just no way to convince Director Elliot Nugent that there were things to do back on the farm in Virginia. Already the planting season had come and gone without a seed being put in, and if there were much further delay the old house wouldn't even be in shape for winter. Built in 1870, the place is without modern conveniences and Miss Vinson, who intends to live there alone, might have to spend her solitary winter evenings in the dull glow of kerosene lamps and the top-sided heat of a wood stove.

She was more wrapped up in this farm and the adventure of working it than a beauty contest winner contemplating her name on a 7-year movie contract. It lies in the lowlands along the Rappahannock, where the constant breath of the Gulf Stream blows cool in summer and warm in winter. She plans to raise peaches for the most part and this feature of the climate, she pointed out, precludes the danger of frost, so ruinous to fruit crops where the trees are planted elsewhere than on hillsides.

It was suggested that what she hasn't already learned from Department of Agriculture bulletins and the local county agent, might be supplied by a well-known character who has been delighted to find that he owns land not so far away—Michael Romanoff, the same Mike whose relation to the Royal House of Russia immigration men have treated with an enduring churchliness. It was hard to tell how she felt about that.

An autographed photograph of lovely Ellen Drew is yours for the asking. Simply address Hollywood Today, Crossroads of the World, Hollywood, California. Miss Drew is soon to appear in Paramount's "The Baron of Panama" with Philip Terry and Charles Ruggles. Be sure to mention the name of your paper when writing.

The above example of blonde young beauty is Martha O'Driscoll, Paramount starlet who has just completed "Henry Aldrich for President," and who will step into a leading role in Cecil B. DeMille's "Reap the Wild Wind." Before the wind starts, however, she's reaping a bit of sunshine at the beach, with maybe just a touch of sea breeze to prepare her for the big blow.

HOLLYWOOD FASHION SCENE

By MARGARET MCKAY Sun tan weather hit Hollywood fast and furious this week and bathing suits are the fashion headlines. Rita Hayworth turned up at the Beverly Hills Sand and Pool Club in the newest trick. It's the slit skirt bathing suit. A wide slit right up the middle of the skirt.

Strong skirts are plentiful on the scene, many of them with tropical flowered motif. Tobacco brown is getting a big play this summer, with Rosemary Lane among the first to introduce it. She wore a chartruse and brown combination swim suit down by the blue Pacific. Yellow is also a new favorite for surf funsters and short grass skirts are going to have a big fall period. Anita Louise, one of the screen crowd's ardent knitters, has knitted one out of yellow string, believe it or not!

BEST DRESSED GIRL OF THE WEEK: Carole Lombard, with Husband Gable, at one of the many benefit broadcasts from out here, innovating a new evening hair treatment. She wore a black maline, a hood, with pieces of the maline coming up over her head and knotting in a huge bow on top. A blonde, such as Carole, looks pretty fetching with the black maline over her hair and it's a wonderful protection against wind if your date shows up for you in an open car. Her evening dress was a sheath of black sequins to her knees, which stopped there and gushed out in a foam of black maline, tier upon tier, to the floor.

It looks as though yellow topaz is the glamour jewel of the year. All the smartest jewelers out here are turning out fabulously large yellow topaz rings, square cut, and bracelets to match. Both Mary Livingstone Benny and Gracie Allen glowed into Ciro's dancery the other night with yellow topaz jewelry.

THINGS TO COME: The Chinese influence in your wardrobe. Norma Shearer and Kay Francis are two of the enthusiastic models for this trend. They are wearing the Chinese coolie shaped hats that set straight on your head and are held there by silk or fabric bands. You will also see Chinese collars on slack coats and sports dresses.

The Inside Story

By BOB WATERMAN You've probably often wondered where studios often showed palatial estates, with acres and acres of ground. These estates obviously are not movie sets, but apparently are the real thing. They are the real thing. The scenes are being shot right on the grounds of luxurious homes in Pasadena, Bel Air, Beverly Hills, and other ritzy communities.

For instance, in Republic's "Puddin' Head," Judy Canova and Slim Summerville come uninvited to a blue-blood party given by Alma Kruger. Before the evening is over, Judy has disrupted the party, her climaxing activity being an Astaire-Rogers dance with Eddie Foy, Jr., which ends in the swimming pool on the grounds. The home used in this instance belongs to a wealthy oil man in San Marino, and covers five acres. In negotiating for the use of the grounds, the studio didn't even deal with the owner; it dealt with the Assistance League of California. This is a league composed of society matrons who look after charities dealing with foundlings and needy mothers.

The Assistance League signs contracts with wealthy families who wish to contribute to charity. These people contribute in the form of loaning their homes and grounds to motion picture companies once or twice a year. The money paid for such locations is then turned directly over to charity.

A representative of the Assistance League is on hand to guard against any accidental ravaging of the estate. Movie insurance covers any accidents to the home, though. So when you see Judy Canova and Eddie Foy, Jr., trip into a big swimming pool in "Puddin' Head," you can be sure it's a real pool, on a real estate and the cause is charity. "Let me add one thing," ruefully commented Miss Canova as we watched her drippingly lift herself out of the pool. "When you fall into this high falutin' swimmin' hole for charity, the water and the bottom of the pool are just as hard as when you fall into it without for charity."

People Due To Hear Hot Race Climax

By DAVE CHEAVENS Associated Press Staff

Senatorial candidates mapping itineraries for that final and tale-telling week of campaigning were gunning for big game.

Fully aware that many a race is decided by what is said, and where, in its last stages, they concentrated their canvassing on the cities, leading in as much radio time and tank town stops as possible.

If the sultry atmosphere of last week's closing days presages what is to come, the electorate is due to get many an ear-full between now and next Saturday, when it will do the talking.

The three-way battle between Martin Dies, Gerald Mann and Lyndon Johnson, with heated charges, counter-charges and denials temporarily at least took the headlines away from the somewhat patterned political procedure of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and his hillbilly troupe.

Johnson planned a schedule that took him to El Paso Sunday; Amarillo Monday; Fort Worth Tuesday; Dallas Wednesday; San Antonio Thursday; Houston Friday.

O'Daniel's itinerary, not including many stops in smaller places, was: Ft. Worth, Amarillo, Vernon Monday; Sweetwater, Abilene, Tuesday; Cisco, Eastland, Breckenridge, Wichita Falls, Wednesday; Mineral Wells, Temple, Thursday; Hillsboro, Corsicana, Ennis, Waxahatchie, Fort Worth Friday.

Dies planned to spend his last week in home territory. His itinerary: Monday, two radio speeches; home town rally at Orange Tuesday night; Nacogdoches, Lufkin Wednesday; Port Arthur Thursday; Beaumont Friday.

Mann's schedule: Angleton, Houston Monday; San Antonio Tuesday; Corpus Christi Wednesday; Waco Thursday; Dallas and Fort Worth Friday.

Another effort was scheduled to be made at Dallas Sunday by Arlon B. (Cyclone) Davis to persuade some of the less well-known candidates to withdraw and concentrate on one of their number, and acceptance had been received from seven of them to appear at a public meeting to continue last week's discussion.

Extension To Pecos Pool Seems Likely

SAN ANGELO, June 21 — The quest of deep oil continued to hold top interest in West Texas development this week. A quarter-mile south extension to the 10-well Abell Simpson sand pool in northern Pecos county appeared likely.

A northwestern Terry county wildcat showed little early response to acidizing. A Cochran county wildcat swabbed oil heavily cut by water and basic sediment after three acid treatments and a southern Andrews county wildcat awaited orders past contract depth.

Magnolia No. 1 Bowman beta, quarter mile south of a producing offset to the discovery well in the Abell field in Pecos county, recovered well saturated Simpson sand in coring to 5,180 feet and ran 7-inch casing preparatory to testing. It is in the north corner of the southwest half of the north quarter of section 5-3-N&T-C.

Logging Simpson after entering the Ellenburger by Magnolia No. 1 J. F. McKee, one mile northeast of the Abell discovery, indicated a thrust-fault and offered a puzzle. The test then went back into the Ellenburger at 5,914 feet, cored fractured dolomite showing oil and was to run 5 1/2 inch casing. It is 2,850 from the south, 900 feet from the east line of section 25-5-N&G-N, an east offset to Geo. T. Abell and others' No. 1 E. J. Rimes, a small producer awaiting gauge.

Wiggins & Hyde No. 1 Stinson and Burley, Martin county wildcat in section 4-35-12-T&P, 5 1/2 miles northeast of Midland, topped the Yates sand at 2,020 feet, 815 feet above sea level, indicating thinning of the shale section, and drilled ahead to 2,960 in sand and anhydrite.

Mascho No. 1 Gulf-University, southern Andrews county wildcat in section 19-9-E, three miles north of the Emma pool and the same distance south of the Fuhrman field, drilled porous lime possibly carrying water immediately above 4,515 feet, 15 feet below contract depth, where it swabbed orders.

Northwestern Andrews wildcat, Mascho No. 1 Texaco-U in section 11-15-U had a slight oil show from 3,995 to 4,000 and drilled ahead below 4,280 in anhydrite, and Magnolia No. 1 Ralph in section 20-A38-pel drilled soft formation with broken porosity and showing sulphur water between 4,854 and 4,997 and continued below 5,115 in lime.

Community Party Slated At Knott Hears Review

KNOTT, June 21 (Sp) — Instead of the regular afternoon meeting of the Knott home demonstration club, Knott and Hi-way clubs will sponsor a community party to be held at the Garner gym Tuesday evening.

The program will be in charge of G. F. Griffin and Lora Farnsworth, county agents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Griffin made a business trip to Anson Friday, last. Ocala, Joe Stewart, commissioner, Judge E. F. White of Mrs. Vernon Mason and son, Barry Jean, of Harlingen, and Mrs. L. R. Hambright and son and daughter, Des Elton and Shirley, of Norton visited Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips and family Tuesday.

Wednesday the visitors and Mrs. Phillips attended a dinner in the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Mason of Big Spring. Others present were Richard Byrd, Nita Taylor of Harlingen, Donald and Twila Frances Phillips.

Mrs. Balton Hill has as her guest this week her sister, Mrs. Dupree Wooten, and children of Chicago.

the governor to resign and accept an appointment to the senate. "But," he asserted, "O'Daniel, 'there was a joker among those nice words. I had only 96 friends in the house but they all voted for this resolution. I knew they just wanted to get rid of me.'"

The governor said that prior to this time he hadn't thought of running for senator. He cited the $2,000 a year out of salary and the fact that he was now getting a rent-free house to live in.

"But I saw a way to make these birds pass a pension bill. I wrote them a nice love letter and said I didn't feel like quitting the governor's job until the pension program was finished, that only if this task was cleared away would I feel like stepping out of the fight."

"Well, sir, you never saw a tax bill pass so fast in all your life."

The address was interrupted as the governor introduced his attractive daughter, Molly. She and one of the entertainers with the O'Daniel orchestra passed miniature barrels to receive campaign contributions.

A good showing of applause greeted the governor's next words: that he had a cinch of going to the senate.

He listed these sources of votes: From old folks themselves, 291, 000 votes and enough to win the election.

From old folks' relatives, a large additional number.

From 247,000 truck drivers in Texas, in appreciation for the higher load limit.

From most all the church and prohibition people because of the O'Daniel fight on liquor; and from the liquor forces, "to get rid of me."

"You're just throwing your vote away if you put it on one of these other boys—and there are some good boys in the race. Everybody should get behind me so Washington will pay more attention."

ton must be of such character as to win the respect and the confidence of his colleagues in the senate, or he will accomplish little," he said.

Mann accused two of his opponents—Lyndon Johnson and Martin Dies—of not doing all they should have to curtail strikes in defense industries as members of the house of representatives.

He read what he said was a photostatic copy of a letter written by Welly K. Hopkins, general counsel for the CIO-affiliated United Mine Workers union to a friend in Texas recommending the election of Lyndon Johnson as senator.

"And this CIO lawyer is in a hotel in Austin right now right in the thick of the campaign to elect Johnson," Mann declared.

Mann recommended that each soldier's base pay be raised to $40 per month, the difference between that and the present $21 to be placed in a savings account and turned over to the soldier when he is released from the army.

He recommended stringent strike control on the premise that if congress can force a man to leave his present mode of life and go into the army for $21 a month, he can force capital and labor to keep the wheels of industry turning.

He suggested that the federal government make its grants of pension money on a population basis, rather than by matching state funds as is now the case.

High protective tariffs were blamed for the present plight of the farmer. "We won't have a sound economy until the farmer's purchasing power is raised to a fair level," said the candidate.

"So I will support parity payments to farmers." He also promised to support all soil and water conservation measures.

Attendance at motion pictures in Japan increased last year despite government opposition to amusements, the Department of Commerce reports.

Library Committee Stresses Importance Of Free Service

The library committee of the Howard County Federation of which Mrs. E. L. Deale is chairman and which is working toward a library for Howard county, has submitted memoranda from addresses by notable national figures, on the subject of the place held by a library in the community.

Teodore Roosevelt: After the church and the school, the free library is the most effective influence for good in America. The moral, mental and material benefits to be derived from a carefully selected collection of good books, free for the use of all people, cannot be over estimated. No community can afford to be without a library.

Andrew Carnegie: I choose free libraries as the best agencies for improving the masses of the people, because they give nothing for nothing. They only help those who help themselves. They never perish. They reach the sapient, and open to these the chief treasures of the world—those stored up in books. A taste for reading drives out lower tastes. I prefer the public free library to most, if not all, of the other agencies for the happiness and improvement of a community.

William Allen White, editor, Emporia Gazette: The public library is America's continuation school. It is the most democratic of America's educational institutions. It is free to every person who wishes to read and who is willing to read. If the schools will only teach the reading habit, the library will educate the world, for the public library of America is free to every new idea, free to every new point of view, nothing is barred because it is new or radical or different. The public library is free from party politics. It is free from religious intolerance and prejudices. The public library provides information on all sides of all questions—so far as its funds will allow.

Secret Villages in Britain

LONDON—Arms workers in Britain will sleep in dormitory villages which are being built in secret places in the heart of the countryside, miles away from the factory towns where there is danger of air raiders. No one else will go to the villages. Fleets of motor coaches will carry the workers to and from factories.

Patents Made in Britain

LONDON—More patent applications than ever before—27,000—were filed in Great Britain during 1940. The inventions included devices for forecasting football match results and gadgets for making vehicles gas-proof and protecting children during air raids.

CUNNINGHAM AND PHILIPS

Editorial -- Big Spring Now In Critical Period

Everyone has come to regard the present time as a sort of a dormant period for Big Spring, when there isn't much to do but mark time and wait for something to happen to pep the town up.

On the contrary, a very critical time in the history of the city is now at hand. Chances are that the future of the town will be determined within the next few years—a very few years at that.

In the past, there's no use denying it, Big Spring has been a bit luck, a succession of oil booms has kept business in good shape. They weren't big booms of the old, unhealthy size, but constructive surges of development that meant

Hollywood Sights And Sounds— Grass IS Often Greener Just Beyond The Studio Fence

HOLLYWOOD — Just to be ornery, let's take a whack today at that old Hollywood axiom that the grass grows greener, for the star-grass, in the fields beyond the studio fence.

The scorebook is full of instances to bear out the notion. It records, outstandingly, the matter of Betty Davis, who didn't amount to a row of luscious until RKO borrowed her from Warner Bros. and set her dramatic ball a-rolling. It records the affaire Lupino, the tale of Ida who didn't wanna be sweet as apple cider. She had to go to Warner's to prove her poison in "They Drive by Night."

There's a big page on Hedy Lamarr, a Metro-creed who didn't bloom until she traveled to "Algers." There are Colbert and Gable, who "happened one night" to get away to Columbia, from Paramount and Metro respectively,

Dorothy Thompson -- War Balance Sheet: Year Ago And Today

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The German armies marched into Paris just a year ago. Now it might be well to take up the balance sheet of twelve months. How do things look for Britain? How for Hitler?

A year ago Hitler considered and announced that the war was over. At the very latest it would be over in September.

There were reasons for his confidence.

Britain had no army except the one evacuated from Dunkirk. The British Isles were completely undefended. The air force was inadequate, and the islands had no heavy guns.

In order rapidly to build up production, Britain was dependent on the United States. The United States was on a cash and carry basis.

Hitler, on the other hand, was in control of all the channel and North Sea ports, had a pact with Russia which protected his back, and was in complete economic control of the Balkans.

Mussolini had a considerable fleet and air force, and was in a position seriously to challenge the British in the Mediterranean.

Now, after a year, let us look at the picture.

Hitler failed in an attempt to get control of the air over Britain in September.

Hitler is still in control of the Balkans, but the fighting in Rumania, Yugoslavia and Greece has disrupted the economic life of those countries, and seriously damaged the transportation system. The Balkans, as a source of food, oil, and metals, are to an incalculable extent, less of an asset to Hitler than they were a year ago.

According to plan, the Italians should have conquered Egypt during the winter, and had actually prepared a huge force for a two-pronged attack from Libya and Ethiopia.

Instead, Italy has been eliminated as a fighting force. More than one half of the Italian navy has been destroyed. Her air force is demoralized. Italy's huge East African empire has been conquered, releasing substantial forces to deal with any attack from Syria. Britain has also reconquered Iraq from an enemy government and possibly in a week or two may have Myria in her hands with the help of General De Gaulle.

Hitler has promised from Stalin that will be reaffirmed over and over again and not kept.

Even if the Germans go into the Ukraine to organize it, what they get will be of doubtful quantity.

In this respect, the experience of the last war must be taken into account. Then, also, Germany held the whole Ukraine. But she was never able to bring order into the Russian chaos.

The political situation in Europe is dreadful.

The German armies have looted Europe once. They cannot do it again.

From Norway to the Iberian peninsula the hatred of Hitler is sullen. It affects the work capacity of the population. Though treated like the worst slaves and watched at every step by the Gestapo, the Polish laborers commit acts of sabotage day in and day out. Norway is defiant. Holland is full of self-appointed agents for the British. Spain is starving, and Portugal has been warned by the president about the Azores, backed up by the government of Brazil.

The whole continent of Europe is now self-supporting in respect to either food or raw materials.

An enormous amount of freight transportation from one part of Europe to another has always been routed by the seaways, which are now blocked by the British.

Meanwhile, what has happened in the United States is nothing short of a miracle.

Despite strikes, opposition and a general feeling on the part of the

THE SACRED DAGGER

by Rita Mohler Hanson

Chapter 11
NEW TRAP

Harry Carey's Movie Roles Many, Varied

NEW YORK—Harry Carey, who came off City Island some sixty-odd years ago to become the legendary cinema hero of all the old ghost towns and boom towns of the painted West, is accepting congratulations from the industry and from his friends for completing a third of a century in the motion picture business. It has been 33 years since the old Trader faced his first camera.

It would be interesting if one could assemble in a sort of ghostly conclave all the characters Harry has enacted on the screen. Once he was a baseball catcher (on the screen, I mean). As Trader Horn, he endured much travail in the African jungle. . . . In Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, he became vice-president of the United States. Currently, he is the kindly old shepherd in Harold Bell Wright's "The Shepherd of the Hills."

and several armed outriders on racing camels.

Said Anne, "From the way the women in the harem walked when I left you'd think this was a funeral instead of a wedding."

"You may be right," said Sherwood in a troubled voice. "Some thing has gone wrong."

"What do you mean?" she asked quickly recalling the Princess' tears at their parting. Her grief had been excessive.

"While you were changing into this black traveling robe I went out into the street where the carriage waited. A crowd had collected as usual. Among them appeared Daddap, still free, though the authorities were combing the city for him. He told me that the Emir's Persian daughter had been accidentally killed in the rioting of the night before, her body identified and the fact concealed by order of her father."

Anne was too stunned at first to comprehend, and as the truth finally dawned on her she cried: "You knew I was an impostor!"

Sherwood nodded.

"But the Princess wasn't aware of his knowledge."

"Not at first. You speak of the walling in the harem last night."

"They knew last night and wouldn't tell!"

"It looks that way."

"The Princess let me give her all my money. She began crying when she took it. . . . said I wouldn't have use for it any more. I thought it was strange so I explained I was doing it because I felt grateful and would be with my parents tonight."

"The Emir has also discovered that you're the girl to whom the priest gave the sacred dagger of Shy-a Nago. He'd rather have that treasure than his present throne."

"Then why did he let me go, and let me keep the dagger? Gratitude to you?"

"Hardly," said Sherwood with a mirthless laugh. "I can't conceive of a spark of gratitude in his corrupt carcass. I've always distrusted him. He let that dagger go because he's afraid of it. He has a wholesome respect for Nagara prophecy."

"But if Nagara prophecy says the man who marries me is entitled to the dagger—"

"He considered that, the lama tells me, but decided it was no good."

"Thank heavens," murmured Anne devoutly. "No wonder I have been feeling depressed and didn't know why."

The carriage stopped at a serai for a change of horses. Anne drew her veil across her face. Mackey rode up beside them. He was in high spirits.

"Did you get the one you bargained for?"

"Bargained for?" Anne demanded, lifting her clear wine-brown eyes.

"Didn't he tell you?" Mackey queried. "The princess came to him. 'Will you bargain to marry the white girl?' she asked."

"Mackey," Sherwood objected, "I have just swallowed his tongue trying to say 'yes ma'am' quite enough. They bargained and she promised to put a bug in the Emir's ear — recommend that he award the fellow his Persian daughter in marriage."

"Along with a castle in the desert," interrupted Sherwood. "What did he mean by that? I'd understand a castle in the mountains or in an oasis."

No Secret

Mackey put up a hand to stop him and went on with his story. "—and she promised to substitute you for the dusky gal if this same fellow would promise to deliver a shipment of arms to a certain station on the border when he arrives in Shani Lan."

"Well," gasped Anne.

"Then," Sherwood laughed, "she gave me your note. She's some schemer."

"Note? What note?" demanded

But before, and after, and in between, Harry has spun his genial magic in boss operas, where the mushroom towns of the border and the frontier have remained in fancy despite the inroads of a streamlined civilization.

Ghost towns, boom towns, mining towns. . . . Towns with false fronts and gaudy legends on the tombstones. . . . Towns with no sidewalks, with dust six inches in the street, and hitching posts warped in the sun.

One afternoon I sat for three hours with Harry Carey in the hunt room of the Astor, over on Broadway, and listened to his endless anecdotes of the West. . . . Some laugh wrinkles. . . . He is a master debunker.

"The hell with Westerns is that you get to wear two guns. . . . That's a laugh. . . . No, it isn't a laugh; it's sad. . . . Because gunmen didn't tote two guns. . . . If a man had walked into a saloon in those days with two fancy six-shooters strapped around his waist the boys would have split their sides laughing. . . . Most likely they'd have taken them off him and kicked him into the street. . . . The truth is, you didn't have time for two guns in those days. . . . If you didn't get your man with the first gun, you didn't live long enough to get out the second gun."

All this from a New York boy, a City Island boy, a boy from the big town who grew into a ghost town legend. . . . When Harry Carey was a boy in New York he used to trap muskrats. . . . He used to shoot rabbits and pheasants. . . . He used to run down to the water's edge and go swimming in the raw. . . . There was a graveyard on the island and near it was a tavern called the Dead Quiet Inn. . . . He used to drive down to the station with old Judge Carey, and the Judge shot squirrels from the buggy seat.

Harry was 7 then. The first show he ever saw was Frank Mayo in "Old David Crockett." . . . "There was a lot of shootin' on the stage and it scared hell out of me." . . . Himself, Harry hit the grease paint trail in an old Yorkshire theatre in a romantic dramma called "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

"And how long ago was that, Mr. Carey?"

"About then."

"What do you mean, 'then'?"

"About the time that knighthood was in flower."

"Does Pats know that you spoke with the lama?" Anne asked.

"You saw—he was so busy talking that I didn't have a chance to tell him. But if we're on the right road maybe there's nothing to worry about and the Emir has good reasons for sending us safely along." She was aware however that he didn't believe the statement.

The horses had slowed to a trot and then to a walk as boulders and fresh slides made the road all but impassable.

"I wonder if I could take off this hot robe?" said Anne restlessly.

"What are you wearing underneath?" Sherwood demanded, fanning her with his helmet.

She laughed. "The tread I wore in the airplane."

"It may be a shock to our driver and footman to see the Emir's daughter expose her face and emerge in American clothing."

"Do you care?"

"Not at all." But before he helped her remove the garment he looked back for Mackey and received a reassuring shout and wave of the hand from among the mounted men. "Since the Emir knows," he still debated, "can there be any harm in letting these men know?"

"Perhaps they know already," Anne suggested.

He leaned forward to speak to them and received respectful answers. "They know who you are," he said presently, reaching an arm across her shoulder to help remove the garment. "And they've given me some new information. They declare that the Nagara tribesmen are pledged to avenge you should you be—this sounds rather gruesome but the word they used was 'murdered.' So it appears that you're pretty safe."

"But you're still worried," she accused.

"Doddap was crying when he left me today. He implied though, that I would find my reward in heaven — which is really longer than I wish to wait," he ended with that engaging smile of his. Friendly Enemies

She laughed and allowed his charm to have its way with her now that they were about part. "Tell me more of Doddap's prophecy."

"When he first began to see you in his visions and to tell me you were coming he vowed that if I'd go to you, just stay in your vicinity, put myself in the hands of the 'invisible one' as he worded it; make no plans, simply carry out each day whatever activity came to hand, then fate would give me the right to explore and preserve Shy-a Nago."

In spite of herself Anne felt stirred. "Do you believe it?"

"I don't seem to believe anything until I experienced it. But

I was so desirous of such an ultimate fate that, as I told you before, I performed the initial act of faith—flew to Jus Masor that Saturday and found you there as he had predicted I would. You can imagine my emotions.

They were passing close to the water's edge with the river less turbulent here in preparation for a falls below. A pair of Mandarin ducks lit on the stream and went swimming about like a little team held together by an invisible harness. Anne leaned forward to look at them across Sherwood.

"Symbol of conjugal felicity, according to the Chinese," said he. "A fine omen for us."

"Do you talk like this to all the girls?" she asked plaintively.

He shook his head. "Only those I marry."

She glanced at him with shrewd amusement. "Would you give up your association with the Government of Shan Lun for me?"

"Sorry," he said, looking straight ahead.

"Or your idea that an American museum should not carry away the relics of Shy-a Nagot?"

"Afraid not."

She looked at her stained fingernails distastefully. "I told the Princess that you can take awfully good care of yourself where a girl is concerned."

"I can take darned good care of the right girl, too. Don't you want me to be that way?"

"Of course I do. I admire people who can take care of themselves, know what they want out of life and go after it."

He turned and rested an arm along the back of the seat.

"Would you give up your parents for me?"

"Why do you ask that?"

"A wife is supposed to give up her father and mother and brothers and sisters and cleave to her husband."

"A girl is supposed to marry a man who can get along with her parents. Besides, you're not my husband," she flushed lightly. "I didn't sign any papers."

"Women aren't supposed to be able to write in this benighted country. Nor have they the right of divorce."

"I wish," she murmured, "that I knew what you are really thinking back of all these idle words."

He gave her a swift glance. "Smart girl," he commented. "Truth is, I'm afraid if I don't guardian of the Dardanelles, might clamp that vital strait shut, thus closing Russia's exit to the Mediterranean from the Black sea.

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Here is the text of Hitler's proclamation as reported by the CBS:

It was a difficult step for me to send my minister to Moscow in order to attend to work against the policy of encirclement of Britain. I hoped that at last it would be possible to put away tension.

Germany never intended to occupy Lithuania. The defeat of Poland induced me to again address a peace offer to the allies. This was declined because Britain was still hoping to bring about European coalition. That is why Cripps (Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador) was sent to Moscow. He was commissioned under all circumstances to come to an agreement with Moscow. Russia always put out the lying statement that she was protecting these countries (evidently Lithuania, Estonia, and Latvia, the Baltic states).

The penetration of Russia into Rumania and the Greek Iason with England threatened to place new, large areas into the war. Rumania, however, believed she was able to accede to Russia only if she received guarantees from Germany and Italy for the remainder of the country. With a heavy heart I did this for if Germany gives guarantees, she will fulfill them.

We are neither Englishmen nor Jews. I asked Molotov (Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign minister) to come to Berlin and he asked for a clarification of the situation. He asked:

"Is the guarantee for Rumania directed also against Russia?"

I replied:

"Against everyone."

And Russia never informed us that she had even more far reaching intentions against Rumania.

Is Germany prepared not to assist Finland, who was again threatening Russia?"

My reply was that Germany has no political interests in Finland but another attack on Finland could not be tolerated. Especially as we do not believe that Finland is threatening Russia.

Molotov's third question was:

"Is Germany agreeable that Russia give guarantees to Bulgaria?"

My reply was that Bulgaria is a sovereign state and I did not know that Bulgaria needed guarantees. Molotov said Russia needed a passage, through the Dardanelles and demanded bases in the Bosphorus.

A few days later she (Russia) concluded the well known friendship agreement which was to incite the Serbs against Germany. Moscow demanded the mobilization of the Serbian army. When I still was silent, the men in the Kremlin went one step further. Russia offered to deliver war material against Germany. This was at the same time that I advised Matsuoaka (foreign minister to Japan) to bring about a lessening of the tension with Russia. Serb officers flew to Russia where they were received as allies. Victory of the axis in the Balkans at first foiled the plan to involve Germany in a long war and then together with England and with the hope of American supplies to throttle Germany.

Now the moment has come when I can no longer look at the development. Waiting would be a crime against Germany. For weeks the Russians have been committing frontier violations. Russian

Britain Gains In Naval Strength

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—An estimate that Great Britain, despite heavy losses at sea, had gained in relative naval strength over the axis powers in the last four months came today from the navy department.

A completion of fighting ships built and building for the seven principal naval powers debited the British Empire with a net loss of 22 combat craft since February 19, Italy with the same number and Germany with the loss of the new battleship Bismarck.

New Defense Classes Will Start Monday

Three more defense training classes are due to be organized here Monday, school officials announced as enrollment swelled to around 250.

Demand for an adult aircraft sheet metal class was sufficient by the end of the week to warrant organization of such a unit. The first class in this work was set up a week ago for out of school youth.

In addition, two new welding classes were contemplated. One would be for adults and the other for out of school youth. Schedules call for the adult sheet metal class to meet from 7 p. m. to 11 p. m., the adult welders the same hours, and the out of school youth welders from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Currently the program, being offered by the local school system in conjunction with state and federal educational units, includes seven welding and two aircraft metal classes. Information may be had by calling the school administrative office.

American homes and restaurants use approximately 60 per cent of the sugar consumed, the Department of Commerce reports.

Conn-Louis Fight Films Show Steps Leading To K. O.

Billy Conn's aggressiveness, the element that carried him mighty close to a heavyweight championship, was also the element that brought his undoing, a glance at the Louis-Conn fight films show. The entire 15-round, blow-by-blow version is included in special reels which are on the screen at the Queen theatre today and Monday.

The films are particularly clear, and contain slow motion sequences of the most exciting parts of the fight.

The camera reveals that Conn's offensive was paying off through the middle of the setto, and that the brown-skinned Joe Louis was tiring visibly. The stirring 12th round, when it appeared Conn might take the decision, shows Joe on the receiving end of a flurry of blows in a fashion never before experienced in his ring career.

The final 18th, however, indicates that Conn was over-anxious in carrying the fight to his opponent, and Joe ripped through with several stunning blows before landing the knockout right to Billy's head.

What appeared to be the hardest rap of the fight was one delivered by Conn in the 12th, when Louis was rocked on his heels.

The young Fitzburger proved adept in evading the negro's gloves until the final round, and it looked like that Louis was missing more punches than has been his custom. Conn was able to keep him tied up for most of the scrap, and rolled with what punches he did absorb so that he wasn't hurt badly.

The weight advantage held by Louis is demonstrated clearly in the films—a factor that Conn followers believe told the final story. Those who see the fight films will find basis for belief that Conn may yet be the man to dethrone the Brown Bomber.

seemingly, to be a comparatively permanent proposition.

Start now telling your friends in surrounding cities about the fireworks display to be presented here the evening of July 4. With just a little boosting, it will attract 10,000 people. Penny for penny, it is the cheapest and most efficient means of bringing a crowd to town.

Passing of W. M. Wilkinson at Stanton last week reminds us again that the pages in the pioneer book of West Texas are fast running out. The old is giving away to the new. Stalwart frontiersmen are being replaced with a new and different kind of economic and cultural adventurer.

If you helped with the initial registration last Oct. 16, you could be of service again on July 1 when a new crop of 21-year-olds must be registered; and whether you helped or not, the draft board may need your assistance. The telephone is 758.

Some idea of what the National Youth Administration is trying to do may be had Thursday when Big Spring is invited to inspect the resident center on the highway south of here. Most people will be surprised at the completeness, variety and the efficiency of the program.

It's one of those things we never seem to get excited about, but nevertheless, our apathy doesn't dull the contribution three Bible schools made to the community in giving children two weeks of well rounded training. Whether we notice it, it all has its effect in due time.

Amphitheatre Program Group Meeting Set

Matt Harrington, a nounced Saturday as general chairman of the amphitheatre series this summer, has called a meeting of his steering committee, for Monday evening to plan for the season's opener on Friday.

The initial program not only will be an inaugural event for the second season, but it will be in the nature of a build-up for the big July 4 celebration which will include a $500 free fire-works display.

Harrington announced that representatives of various organizations had been placed on the steering committee for this season and that the group might be increased. Those listed were Jeanette Barnett, B. & P. W.; D. S. Riley, Lions; C. O. Nalley, ABClub; Herbert W. Whitney, Kiwanis; and R. W. Thompson, Rotary.

The meeting Monday will be at 7:30 p. m. in the chamber of commerce office.

Under the plan in operation here last year, all entertainment is presented by amateur talent in this area. Three prizes are given to the trio selected by judges for that particular evening, and at the end of the season top winners are presented in a concluding feature. It is probable that there will be some exchange programs this year—that is Colorado City, Midland and Odessa may stage programs here in return for similar ones at those places by Big Spring artists.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Harris have left for a two-week vacation. After a brief stay in Dallas, they plan to continue on to Little Rock, Ark., where they will be guests of Mrs. Harris' sister and family.

Local Leaders, CAA Officials Will Confer

City and civic representatives were to leave today for Fort Worth to confer with regional CAA authorities concerning plans for the Big Spring airport project.

Meanwhile, some equipment was already received here for the runway excavation work. Included were two maintainers, and six trucks were due over the weekend. A quantity of machinery appeared assured with issuance of purchase order.

At Fort Worth the group will lay plans before CAA in an effort to get a commitment on the building program. In turn, final approval of the project will then be sought of WPA. In the interim, work is due to progress on the port job.

E. V. Spence, city manager, left Saturday for Fort Worth, and Mayor G. C. Dunham, J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, and E. J. McDaniel, city engineer, were to leave early today.

Sweden's iron and steel industry is now concentrating on commercial iron, according to the Department of Commerce.

American Airlines Ship Forced Down

FORT WORTH, June 21 (AP)—An American Airlines Skyliner, eastbound to New York, was forced down about 9 p. m. near the Tarrant-Dallas county line, officials of the firm announced. The ship left here at 8:28 p. m.

None of the 13 passengers or crew members were injured and the Douglas plane was undamaged except to the wheels and belly of the ship which was scraped in the landing. Reports here were that the two motors of the ship failed.
