Repair Work Is Authorized By City Commission On Streets, Drainage

Some repair work on city streets was authorized at the Monday night meeting of the Slaton City Commission.

Grady Elder, Street Department Superintendent, was authorized to take out some dirt, and replace it with caliche, on streets adjacent to lots seven through 12, block 73, South Slaton Addition, and lot three, block 83, South Slaton Addition and to fill and repair the east side of the 1,000 block on South Eighteenth Street. Also, Elder's department will cut down and open the drainage between 20th and 21st Streets on Dayton, Geneva and Jean Streets and will work with County Commissioner George Green in correcting drainage on North 20th.

The commission also authorized City Secretary J. J. Maxey to get engineering advice on drainage facilities on South 13 and 14th Streets, as urged by commissioner L. O. Lemon.

The group voted to send G. F. McGuire, of the Water and Sewer Department, to a meter repair school to be held in Plainview, January 4th through 8th, at a cost of $14.00 in tuition, plus mileage and meals.

Overtime work was voted for George Willis, Water and Sewer Department Superintendent, on changes to be made on the meter account number map.

The commission voted to match the county's raise in salary to Chief of Police Eugene L. Martin and included a raise for the City Secretary.

The city will continue burning dead grass and weeds off vacant lots in the community, it was decided, and will furnish paint for the police office and jail.

The next meeting will be held on the night of January 12th as the commission voted not to meet on January 11th, its regular meeting night, in order not to conflict with the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Greetings To All

We come again to the New Year, the beginning of another era. We are blessed with another handful of precious time.

Were it not for the observance of a New Year, the passing of time might be monotonous and meaningless. We might watch the endless pattern of days and nights without fully realizing that time, like money, must be wisely spent, else it is wasted. That is why we need the New Year — to remind us that precious time has been spent or wasted, and even more valuable time is ours to use or to idle away.

Let us look to this New Year with courage and with purpose. Let us strive to do better for ourselves and for the community. Only then can we turn this new handful of time into a Happy, Prosperous New Year.

(Editor's Note: We got a couple Santa letters too late to get in last week's paper. But, wouldn't you like to read them now?) Dear Santa,

I would like a boy doll that wrinkles his nose and a buggy for my girlfriend, Dorothy, so we can go driving. I like you, Weldon Neugebauer

Dear Santa, I live at Idalou. I would like a betsy wettsy doll and a new boy friend. I love you Santa, Lucy Werkamp

Censorship Through Taxation

Today, the average citizen or business is confused by the multiplicity of rules emanating from the Internal Revenue Service. This condition was brought into clear focus by its decision that taxpaying electric power companies cannot charge to operating expense the cost of advertising and publicity opposing tax exempt government power projects built with taxpayers money, which compete with and endanger the savings of tax-paying company investors. Now amendments are proposed to regulations relating to lobbying expenditures under which the ruling on electric companies was made.

According to the new proposals, in order to promote "good will," a company can run advertising encouraging the purchase of United States Saving Bonds or participation in similar causes and deduct the cost. In like fashion, expenditures for advertising which present views on economic, financial, social or other subjects of a general nature, but which do not involve activities for lobbying purposes, the promotion or defeat of legislation or the carrying on of propaganda, are deductible. How will the wording be interpreted?

Presenting views on "economic" subjects would seem to fit advertising that discusses government ownership, wage contro controversies, and tax questions. If such issues are not "economic" subjects affecting the very life, expense of operation, and earning power of a business, what are? It is but a step from business expense censorship of advertising and publicity, to restriction of editorial comment by disallowing costs of editors who write opinions for or against controversial political issues. Gradual suppression of opinion by various means is the forerunner of dictatorship.

Yardstick Of National Well-Being

There's a great deal of controversy over Russia's economic and scientific achievements. But one thing is sure—the Soviet leaders are masters of propaganda. The Russian people are deluged day and night with words designed to make them believe that communism does more for the masses than any other system. And Russian visitors to this country, from Khrushchev down the line, take every conceivable opportunity to try to "sell" Russia's progress and superiority.

Well, no one can blame them for that—it's their job as dedicated communists. But when we get down to facts, the picture takes on a very different hue.

There's only one way to judge the material well-being of a people—and that is by the yardstick of how much the average man's income will buy in the market place. With one month's wages, an American can buy 6½ suits and 24 pairs of shoes. With one month's wages, on the other hand, a Russian can buy half of a suit and a single pair of shoes. The situation is comparable in the case of most other consumer goods beyond the bare-necessity level.

In Russia, the government produces practically everything and practically everything is sold in government stores. Government decides all questions—what shall be produced and sold, of what quality, at what price. There is no competition.

In America, on the other hand, there's competition every inch of the way from the source of raw materials to the finished goods offered at retail. The producer or retailer who is able to offer the widest choice and best quality at least cost gets the trade. And that's one of the main reasons why the American worker, with his month's pay, can buy so many suits and shoes if he so desires—and the Soviet worker so few.

Mass merchandising methods, pioneered in the United States, give customers super services in foods and all manner of personal and home necessities not enjoyed elsewhere.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—For millions of Texans, nothing will seem so important this week as being "home for Christmas." Some will overlook the crucial importance of getting home alive. For the waiting families of accident victims, this Christmas and many more will be ruined.

Department of Public Safety has predicted 111 traffic deaths during the holidays. It's a massive death sentence. Gov. Price Daniel is calling on Texas motorists to disprove the prediction with their own extreme driving care.

Nearly 11,000 letters have been mailed by the governor to college and public school officials, local traffic safety officials, local law enforcement agencies, news media and others, asking them to join in the safe Christmas campaign.

Over the years, December has been the deadliest month, traffic-wise. Ironically, Christmas Day, the day of peace and good will, is frequently the worst for highway killing.

If this year's estimate of 111 fatalities comes true, the 1959 holiday season will be one of the saddest in recent years. But Governor Daniel believes the estimate can be cut. He cites last year when the estimated toll was 95, but after a massive safety campaign, was held down to 63.

Law enforcement officers, the governor reminded, put in many overtime hours during the holidays, "helping motorists in trouble and removing from the highways those speeding, drinking, careless, reckless and law-breaking drivers who threaten the safety of others."

Governor Daniel directed a special plea to high school and college students who make up a big part of the swollen stream of holiday travel. Past figures show the odds are heavier against these young drivers. Those from 15 to 24 years old have 18 per cent of the drivers' licenses, 29 per cent of the accidents. A disproportionate one out of every four of last year's holiday accident victims was in this age bracket.

With each of these deaths, said the governor, we lost "a promising young Texan" and part of our hopes for the future.

Accentuate Positive—Texas' safe drivers will be rewarded to the tune of a $20,000,000 saving in auto insurance rates next year, says the State Board of Insurance.

State insurance officials are accentuating the positive in talks on the new merit system insurance plan to go into effect January 1.

An expected, there have been some protests about penalty features of the plan.

Insurance Board statistics show a majority of drivers will benefit from lower rates. Additionally the Board feels the insurance rewards will be an incentive to reducing the accident toll.

Of 23 family car owners, says Board Member Robert Strain, 13 will qualify for a 20 per cent discount, and four will pay the same rate they've been paying. Of the remaining six, he says three will pay 20 per cent more one 40 per cent more, and the remaining two from 60 to 100 per cent more.

Persons with no accidents or moving traffic violations for the past three years get the discount. Those with one accident or violation pay the same rate. Others pay higher rates.

Most criticism centers on the whooping increases assessed drivers with blots on their records. Each accident or violation counts against the driver for a period of three years.

Usual fine for stop sign running could be upped as much as 900% by the time extra insurance costs were added on. People caught on inadvertent or relatively minor traffic errors are expected to kick up the dust when faced with the pay-through-the-nose penalties of the new insurance rates.

Insurance company officials, however, back up the board in saying the plan is statistically sound. One company executive called it a timely reminder that "the majority has been paying the costs for the recklessness and negligence of only a comparative handful of motorists."

How well the public will adjust to the change will be known only after it has been in effect a few months.

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

"No Room In The Inn" (Luke 2:1-20)

In Luke we read once again the beautiful story of Christmas. This story stands out in our memories as one of the most beautiful that was ever given, even though it is an old, old story. For in it, we see the Christmas Gift of our Lord God to sinful mankind—His Son. Even though Christmas is now over we can still meditate upon an important happening in the Christmas story.

Our narrative has to do with a little hotel or inn in the town of Bethlehem and an order for every family to return to their home town. For Caesar Augustus, who was then emperor of Rome, had issued an order for a census of the then-known world, and everyone had to go to his home town to register.

So when Joseph, the carpenter from Nazareth, arrived with his weary bride, everything, in modern hotel language was "full up." Here we see why Jesus was born in a stable. It was not because the people were vicious or hostile, but it was because everything was filled up. Every room was taken up by people who had business to attend to and money to spend. The Bible merely tells us, "There was no room in the Inn."

People's lives are sometimes like that inn. Many people do not have time for anything besides their daily work and daily habits, which are weary tread-mills upon which their lives are ground away. This is not Jesus' idea of what a life should be.

Against these young drivers. Those from 15 to 24 years old have 18 per cent of the drivers' licenses, 29 per cent of the accidents. A disproportionate one out of every four of last year's holiday accident victims was in this age bracket.

With each of these deaths, said the governor, we lost "a promising young Texan" and part of our hopes for the future.

JUST TALK
BY A. M. J.

At this time of the year I always think of an uncle who used to visit in our home in Paris, Texas. One of his favorite expressions was "he who expecteth nothing shall not be disappointed."

While I never did get into his sad predicament, for I always expected a lot more than I got, in fact I am sure now I was a greedy little brat, I was usually disappointed for my highest hopes were always for a pony, which I never did receive, but even now I cling to the fact that one should keep trying even if there is little chance that ones hopes will be granted.

There was a certain hopeless certainty to my uncle's attitude which showed in the way he looked, in the way he dressed and it seemed that he had more hard luck than most folks. He was the chief engineer for the Texas and Pacific railroad and made a considerable amount of money for those days and times. His head was full of what sounded like them, some wild and most unusual ideas. He was the first man to endeavor to raise rice in Texas. He succeeded in growing an amazing crop of the stuff the first year but he might as well have planted cockle burrs for there was not a market for untreated rice within ten thousands of miles. Twenty years later rice growing became a profitable undertaking in the area of his experiment. He also was the first man to try to raise goats in the hill country of Texas for their mohair but like the rice there was no established market for the mohair and most folks looked upon him as a screw ball, perhaps he was.

He was quite a character and in my estimation a very amusing man and quite often in my past I have thought of his maxims. As there is very little I want these days I can think of the one quoted above and say that I can no longer be disappointed.

Great plans were made several years ago, and no little amount of money spent for the merchants and their employees to park their cars on the parking spaces that were paved and arranged for them on the city hall square so that their valued customers could use the parking spaces on the streets. Well, the paving on the city Hall square looked nice and neat and vacant all during the Christmas shopping season although there were many hours of the day when there was not a parking space to be found in front of the stores. It must be that the merchants and their employees all walked to town, left their cars at home and saved a lot of gasoline and again there are other possibilities.

You can always tell when a woman has wrapped a package, at least one who is what is popularly known, and gives her occupation as a "house wife." It comes in a light weight shoe box, or box that was designed to barely hold together until you could get the merchandise home. Around this is yards and yards of wrapping paper and yards of knitting yarn or string that she has saved from the morning paper. It is cross tied into little patches one or two inches square and usually there is something dripping out of it when it arrives.

Last week I was discussing this age old custom of the house wives with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Holt and Mr. Holt remarked that he had read in some magazine where some one had suggested the best thing for packing is popped popcorn. Now that is what I call a good idea particularly for those who are in the popcorn business. Just think next year you may receive your packages all wrapped up in a shoe box, with crocheted yarn tied around it and open it up to find that it is packed in popcorn all sweetened and ready to eat with a mixture of jelly or preserves and broken glass. It might even help if the popcorn were salted and buttered before it is used for packing. It is all I can do to wait until next Christmas to see how that popcorn idea is going to work.

Had a phone call last week from Bill Brown, who is employed by the Santa Fe in the office here in Slaton and reported that he is the proud owner of an old Oliver typewriter. According to his investigations the last Oliver typewriter was made in 1917 or 1918.

It would look mighty pretty setting in Bruce Pember's antique office along with his umbrella stand, easy riding desk chair and roll top desk. To see it would probably bring tears to my eyes. It was on an Oliver that I first taught myself my four finger method of typing which is the little and index finger of my right hand and the middle finger of my left. It is very inaccurate and causes me a great amount of anger at times and no doubt the linotype operator, Mr. McBride, at the Slatonite, has blasphemed me to no end, but I hide behind my

Gloomy 1959 Report In Texas Traffic Death

The Texas Department of Public Safety has released information on traffic deaths and injuries through the month of October, 1959. The report presents a gloomy picture for year-end statistics since deaths are up 4% over last year and injuries an amazing 15%!!

Commenting on the report, Murrell R. Tripp, President of Southwestern Insurance Information Service, Dallas and Tulsa, noted that "these frightening statistics are what the Texas Legislative Council had in mind when they suggested that the State Board of Insurance devise and put into effect a plan that would penalize reckless drivers and reward safe drivers. The Texas Safe Driving Plan was the Board's answer and the Council, the Board, and the casualty industry are hopeful that it may result in more careful driving and lower accident rate."

"Disciplinary measures are no more popular with adults than with children and adoption of the Plan necessitated courageous action on the part of the Board," Tripp said. "For companies and agents the Plan means greatly increased paper work and record keeping which is already burdensome. For the plain citizen, it means keeping that foot light on the accelerator and eyes on the road for law violations and negligent collisions will send his insurance rate skyrocketing."

In the past ten years it has become apparent that simple rate increases were not the answer to the rising number of claims and cost of settling them. Twenty per cent of the drivers are the troublemakers that cause a high percentage of the claims and claim costs. Some way was sought to charge these drivers more and the cautious drivers less. It seems perfectly fair that now an accident-free driver may earn a 20% bonus on his liability and collision insurance."

"No plan is perfect and every plan contains imperfections which time and experience will correct. If we can discipline Texas drivers into a decreasing fatality and injury record, we will accomplish a great deal. Each driver should consider that an improved Texas traffic

Around and About Slaton

There are no doubt hundreds of visitors in Slaton and the area who are here for the New Year and hundreds more who were here for the Christmas Season and equally as many went from here to other parts. It would tax the facilities of the Slatonite to list them all though it would be a pleasure to do so, just the same we wish to extend a Happy New Year to every one who reads this column.

The work of remodeling and adding to the Methodist Parsonage is just about completed and Rev. Rollo Davidson and his family are about settled again. The Reverend is afraid however that his meals will be well seasoned for some time, with sheet rock dust.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barry are visiting their son and his family in California.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kuss and their family spent Christmas day with M. J. Kuss and his family in Hermleigh. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kuss are the parents of the busy local electrician.

Jackie Warren, whose home is Klamath Falls, Oregon, is a holiday visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Warren who are his grandparents. He is attending College at Weatherford, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ayers, Ray Madison and Ann, spent the Christmas holidays in Corpus Christi with Mrs. Ayers mother.

Weather prediction: It will be hot, cold, wet, dry and medium during January followed by snow, rain and dust followed by flu, colds, sniffles and the doctor.

A one man, galloping report from curb side farmers like Judge Smith, Charley Austin, Heywood Basinger, Leonard Hoard and others, is that 1959 has been just a moderate good year, not as good as 1958 and not near as good as 1960 is going to be.

New Year!

What secrets hold your days;
What mysteries conceal;
What to merit praise,
And what of woe or weal?

What pathway lies before;
What danger, fortune mine;
What clouds above thee lower,
Or lights amid thee shine?

What heart-ache will you bring;
What longing will you fill;
What to make me sing,
Or what my soul to chill?

What e'er your store may be
To please and satisfy;
What to blight or rob me,
Or what to gratify - - -

Grant me strength of manhood,
And hope, my way to ply;
Grant me zeal for good,
Nor faith in God deny!

Wm. B. Waldrop

HIGHLIGHTS and . . .

He is a native of Lufkin. State Health Board also elected Dr. J. B. Copeland of San Antonio as its chairman; Dr. Hampton C. Robinson of Houston, vice chairman; and Joe B. Winston of Mercedes, secretary.

Happy Hospital Christmas—
A state hospital for the mentally ill must have been a pretty grim place on Christmas Day back in the days when people called them "insane asylums."

Few would know, because not many went around an "insane asylum" if they could help it.

Today, happily, it is different! This year every one of the more than 25,000 patients in the state hospital system will receive a Christmas present, and many special parties and festivities will be held.

Volunteer Services Council for the Hospital System spearheads this monumental work performed by more than 32,000 persons at no cost to the state.

Change began some 10 years ago when church, civic and social club members began collecting items the patients needed, visiting them, and holding parties and classes. Many church circles and clubs "adopt" a ward each year, give a party a month, and get each patient what he especially wants at Christmas.

As the volunteers became more at ease in their work, their revised attitudes and terminology became more general. "Asylum" was replaced by "hospital" or "school" and "inmate" by "patient" and sometimes "friend." Some Austin churches proudly number in their membership, patients who have recovered and resumed normal community life.

Youth Recommendations—
A host of suggestions aimed at lowering juvenile delinquency and improving health, welfare and education of Texas children has been released by the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth.

Making kindergartens a part of the public school system and making the child labor law apply to those 14 and under were primary recommendations.

Judges Announced For Livestock Show

Judges have been announced for the 27th Annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show, scheduled for March 21-23 at the Panhandle South Plains fairgrounds in Lubbock.

Judges for this year's show include, Dean W. L. Stangel, Texas Tech, who will be judging the Fat Steer division in his 26th year of judging; Ray Mowery, professor from the Texas Tech animal husbandry department, judging the Fat Lamb division; and Stanley Anderson, also a professor in Texas Tech's animal husbandry department, who will judge in the Fat Barrow division.

Catalogs for the show were mailed this week to all area county agents and vocational agriculture teachers, announced Charles Signor, general chairman of the Fat Stock Show.

The Fat Stock Show is sponsored annually by the Panhandle South Plains Fair Association and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce with the general aim of "stimulate and advance the practice of feeding surplus feed to livestock for home and commercial use by the people of the South Plains and adjacent area."

A significant change in this year's show is evident in the medium Hereford steers with 25 premiums being awarded, an increase of 10 over previous years. Similar premium increases have been made in the Angus and Shorthorn Steer division.

The show will conclude Wednesday, March 23, with an auction sale of premium-winning livestock, beginning at 10 a. m.
